The Church Is The Answer To Satanism

EDITOR'S NOTE: The following is the second part of the article on Satanism, which was printed in last week's paper. This article is taken from THE EAGLE PRESS in Fritch and was written by Eddie Marcum, former Pastor of the Matador and Roaring Springs Methodist Churches. He is now Pastor of the First United Methodist Church in Fritch.

I was very impressed by the turnout of people who attended the seminar on Satanism and the Occult which was presented by Officer Wayne Beighle. I could not help but wonder how many of the

He also daughter is involved in Satanism or has said we need to communicate with our children and build a rapport with them so that they can share anything with us. And we should not be shocked. Mr. Beighle mentioned how important it is to build self-esteem in our young people as well as give them self respect and a sense of

He made me realize that there are certain influences in our media that can lead up to and persuade our young people to take notice and interest in Satanism, such as Heavy Metal Music, certain movies and even certain cartoons that can not help but wonder how many of the people who attended the seminar were doing so because of their Christian beliefs in Satan and his evil schemes and/or desynthetize our children to the point of being unable to differentiate reality from the people who attended the seminar were such as Heavy Metal Music, certain movies and even certain cartoons that can desynthetize our children to the point of being unable to differentiate reality from the people who attended the seminar were such as Heavy Metal Music, certain movies and even certain cartoons that can desynthetize our children to the point of being unable to differentiate reality from the people who attended the seminar were such as Heavy Metal Music, certain movies and even certain cartoons that can desynthetize our children to the point of being unable to differentiate reality from the people who attended the seminar were such as Heavy Metal Music, certain movies and even certain cartoons that can desynthetize our children to the point of being unable to differentiate reality from the people who attended the people desynthetize our children to the point of because of the recent news in Matamoras, Mexico. At any rate, those who came I fantasy, Forexample, achild who watches know were very interested in their kids and their community.

I think that Mr. Beighle made a very good presentation. He was well prepared and knew his facts. He made some very good comments in the program such as:

committed suicide. The facts are there. Teenage suicides have greatly increased in this country and many have been linked to the influence of the Occult.

We do need to be aware of what our children are doing with their lives. We need to be aware of their interests and what they are involved in. If for no other reason than purely in the name of love and concern.

Naturally, as a pastor and a believer in Jesus Christ as my personal Lord and Savior, I wanted the speaker to go a step further. We need to get our young people involved in the church and with Christ. It is in the Chruch that our young men and women ought to feel definitely loved and respected. It is in our churches that our children's self-esteem should be built up and realized to the fullest.

They need to know Jesus Christ as their personal Lord and Savior. And be brought into a fellowship that involves Bible Study and prayer. The chruch should be should be the beautiful to the control of the saving the savin be a place where our children can have old fashioned fun and joy. A place where they can be themselves and share their joys as well as their frustrations and personal problems

I think it is my responsibility to teach young and old alike that the Devil is a real foe of God. And we must learn to stand firm in our faith and trust in Christ's strength to fight the battle for us. I don't have to tell anybody how real and how many the temptations are out there in the world. I once heard someone say that prayer is the bunker for safety against the battle of Satan. That is absolutely right. And it is about time that we all learn to pray. Because whether we accept or not the battle is real! (1 Peter 5: 8-9; Ephesians 6: 10-18; Revelation 12:12) But praise be to God, I know who will win the war! Just read Revealtion 20 and 21.

Rural Landfills May Face Problems

EDITOR'S NOTE: The Tribune will be publishing a series of articles concerning the new Solid Waste Management laws. Material was compiled from a number of printed articles made available to the Tribune.

Due to new bills passed by the 71st Legislature, there are strict regulations on maintaining landfills, known in small communities as the 'dumpground'.

America has approximately 160 million tons of solid waste to dispose of a year. The Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) laws are becoming stricter and stricter and cost prohivitive. They want citizens to look far into the future to protect our soil, water and therefore our health and environment. But his look at protecting our environ-ment could cost cities and counties a mountaineous and unrealistic expense.

Yes, we need to be aware of protecting our soil and water and no, this problem didn't arise ovenight. In the next issues, we will try to publish information to inform you, the citizens, of small rural

Folk Art Craftsmen to Present Wares in Lubbock this Weekend

This Original Folk Art Show and Sale, that today attracts thousands of visitors across the country, grew from one person's search for a piece of folk art.

In 1978 Robbin Ely necede one par-ticular item to finish decorating her home in the "country" style.

She began her search, and quickly grew frustrated. There was no single place to shop for original folk art. She found it difficult to track down craftsmen, who often worked alone in their homes. They seldom advertised and had few outlets for marketing their wares. She also discovered that other folk art enthusiasts shared her frustrations.

Ely saw an opportunity to help both groups. She decided to select the most talented craftsmen and artists and provide a place to present their wares to decorators and collectors.

"It seemed such a simple concept at first," Ely recalls. "We had no idea it would come to benefit as many people as Friends of the Library have done it again! They hosted a very successful "happening" at the Modley County Library Saturday, September 9, when Mr. and Mrs. John Lincoln came in from Roaring Springs for an autograph party for his book, "Rich Grass and Sweet Water" fresh off the Texas A&M Press (a month earlier than we had expected). There were six books that had been pruchased ahead of time and waiting for Mr. Lincoln's autograph when he arrived at 2:30 to get the "lay of the land" and settle in before party time. It was good that he had time to autograph them before that he had time to autograph them before 3:00 p.m., when a steady stream of people began flowing in and out. After buying their book, getting it autographed and visiting with Mr. and Mrs. Lincoln, most of them had time to enjoy the refresh-ments furnished by members of Friends of the Library and competently served by Joan Patton from the table so beautifully arranged by Earline Vaughn and Marisue Potts. In spite of rain and fog, Luke Taylor Derrick Griggs, Brenda Gillespie, Michael King, Emily Hurt, Charissa Conner, Amanda Hurt, Brittany Perryman, Kyle Neal, Clint Cooper and Zack Daniel came to the first session of the Library School for the 1989-90 year on Tuesday, Sept. 12. Lola Pohl was here with the Cassio and Winifred Lee helped with the singing, since Brenda Cruse could not be singing, since Brenda Cruse could not be here. We learned a poem about a little turtle who lived in a box, saw a film strip about "The Smallest Turtle" who safely made his way to the sea, and a movie called "Zoo". It was hard to decide whether the animals watching the people, or the people watching the animals were the most amusing. They all made a paper plate turtle with moveable head and tail under the direction of Mrs. Lee.

interactive workshops that will explore more specific topics related to rural health

There are no simple solutions to the problems in our state's rural health care delivery system," Jim Shannon, presi-dent of the TRHA, said. "However, the Legislature creating the Center for Rural Health Initiatives assures that we can look forward to some real improvements." Shannon's role as TRHA president is one facet of his public relatons position at Brazos Electric Cooperative, headquar-

"Our goal at Brazos Electric is not only to provide dependable, economical electricity, but also to enhance the quality of life for residents in our service area," said Richard E. McCaskill, Brazos Electric's executive vice president and general manager. "The Texas rural health care delivery system is now in very poor condition, and we feel it needs all the help condution, and we reen theeds an inener we can give it."

Currently, 52 Texas counties have no hospitals and 14 counties are without physicians. The number of Texas rural residents affected by the health care crisis exceeds the total populations of Alaska, Delaware, Nevada, Vermont and Wyoning combined.

Hand - Alexander Exchange Wedding Vows In Roaring Springs Ceremony

Mrs. Russell Alexander (nee Kimberly Dawn Hand)

Miss Kimberly Dawn Hand and Russell Don Alexander exchanged wed-ding vows at 2:00 o'clock p.m. Saturday, September 2, 1989 in the First Baptist Church in Roaring Springs.

Church in Roaring Springs.

Rev. Rory Burge, pastor of the First Baptist Church, performed the double ring ceremony before an altar flanked with identical heart shaped candleabras entwined with greenery and large rose satin bows. A unity candle on a white lace covered table, centered the altar area.

Baskets of greenery and ivy planters were on each side of the altar.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Billy Hand of Roaring Springs and Mr. and Mrs. Richard Alexander of Claren-

Presented in marriage by her father, the bride wore a "Mary's original design" gown of white beaded organza over satin with a sabrina neckline and appliqued long fitted illusion sleeves. Pearl droplets accented the back keyhole. The elabo-rately beaded appliqued basque bodice was attached to a chantilly re-embroi-dered skirt with the same hem. Bows cascaded down the elegant cathedral train. The bride wore a fingertip veil of whisper illusion with the headpiece of silk roses and sprays of seed pearls and small flow-

The bride carried a cascade bouquet of white roses, gardenias and stephanots accented with pearls. Royal blue and dusty rose colored carnations and roses were added to the bouquet along with long streamers in matching colors.

She carried a new cross-stitched hand-kerchief given to her by her Maid of Honor and borrowed a tennis bracelet from her Matron of Honor. In memory of her maternal grandmother, Pearl Gage, she wore her gold wedding band. The blue was in her wedding bouquet. Pen-

FALL WEBWORMS ARE APPEARING

You may have been noticing unsightly webs in trees and shrubs around the county lately. These are the work of fall webworms. The webs may enclose the leaves and twigs of small branches; occasionally, small trees are almost enveloped.

The fall webworm larvae feed upon the leaves within the webs. Fall webworms will attack most shade, fruit and ornamental trees except conifers. Pecan, Black Walnut, American Elm, cottonwood and persimmon trees are their

There are two generations each year.
The first generation fall webworm develops in the spring. The larvae feed for four to six weeks, then crawl down the tree to pupate. In late summer the adult moths emerge and deposit eggs in masses. The fall generation which we are now seeing than the spring generation.

When the fall webworm infestation is caught before the webs are very large, the webs may be pruned out of the trees. Once a large dense web has been formed, insecticidal control becomes difficult. For this reason you should watch for webworms and control them as soon as they appear. When applying an insecticide, saturate the web and the leaves above and below the web. Information on insecticides that can be used is available from the County Extension Office.

Be sure the material used is labeled for use on the plants to be treated.

PROPOSITION NO. 1 ON THE BALLOT

ON THE BALLOT

House Joint Resolution 102 proposes a constitutional amendment that would increase the salary of members of the legislature to one-fourth of the Governor's salary and increase the salary of the Lieutenant Governor and the Speaker of the House of Representatives to one-half of the Governor's salary. The annual salary of members of the legislature, the Lieutenant Governor, and the Speaker of the House of Representatives is currently $7,200. Under this provision, the annual salary of the annual salary of members of the legislature would be $23,358, based on the Governor's current annual salary of $93,432. The increase for the Speaker and the members of the legislature would take effect when the legislature convenes for its regular session is January 1991. The increase for er and the members of the legislature would take effect when the legislature convenes for its regular session in January 1991. The increase for the Lieutenant Governor would take effect when the term of that office begins in 1991. The salary increase for the Lieutenant Governor would not make members of the legislature ineligible to run for the office of Lieutenant Governor.

The proposed amendment will appear on the ballot as follows:

"The constitutional amendment to limit the salary of the lieutenant governor and the speaker of the house of representatives to not more than one-half of the governor's salary and to limit the salary of a member of the legislature to not more than one-fourth of the governor's salary."

PROPOSITION NO. 2

House Joint Resolution 13 proposes a constitutional amendment that would authorize the legislature, by general law, to exempt from ad valorem taxes property owned by nonprofit veterans organizations that are chartered or incorporated by the United States Congress.
The proposed amendment will appear on the ballot as follows:
"The constitutional amendment to authorize the legislature to exempt property of nonprofit veterans organizations from ad valorem taxation."

PROPOSITION NO. 5
ON THE BALLOT

Senate Joint Resolution 11 proposes a constitutional amendment that would provide an exemption from ad valorem taxation for goods, wares, merchandise, other tangible personal property (including aircraft), and ores (other than oil, gas, and petroleum products) if the property is acquired in or imported into the state and is destined to be forwarded out of the state, regardless of whether the intention to forward the property existed when the property was acquired or imported into the state, if it remains in Texas for 175 days or less for assembly, storage, manufacture, processing, or fabrication. The proposed amendment would authorize the governing body of a county, municipality, school district, or junior college district to prevent the exemption of this tangible personal property from taxation by taking official action before April 1, 1990. A county, municipality, school district, or junior college district could reseind a decision to tax the property, in which case the exemption would become effective in the year of the rescission and the property could not thereafter be taxed.

Confrontation with the U.S. Department of Agriculture over the treatment of replacement crops under the 1989 Disasreplacement crops inder the 1969 Disaster Assistance Act goes on.

The act provides about $897 million in payments to producers of virtually all crops that sustained heavy losses due to weather-related disasters in 1988 and 1989. Payments to cotton producers who brought multi-peril crop insurance under the Federal Crop Insurance Corporation are to be paid on losses above 35 percent of normal yields, at a rate equal to 65 percent of the cotton target price, or 47.71 cents per pound. Farmers without crop insurance are to be paid at the same rate on losses above 40 percent.

However the law requires that the value of any second crop planted after the primary crop was lost must be deducted from the disaster assistance payment. And USDA's initial plan was to deduct an amount equal to the yield of the second crop times an average market price. There was to be no allowance for the second crop's production and harvest cost.

Plains Cotton Growers, Inc., Lubbock, the Texas Wheat Growers Association and others protested loudly, both through their congressmen and senators and directly to U.S. Department of Agriculture officials. With much of the credit going to Texas legislators, the protests were heard and, to an extent, heeded. But according to PCG Executive Vice President Donald Johnson, USDA's response was "pitifully inadequate."

PCG's protest was accompanied by budget showing typical production and harvest costs of grain sorghum, soybeans, sunflowers, blackeyed peas and pinto beans, the most common replacement crops used on the Plains. The budgets show production and harvesting costs under various conditions ranging from just over 80 percent to 130 percent of the crops' gross value.

But, instead of using these figures, USDA on September 1 issued a release saying disaster payment reductions would be cut by only 25 percent of the replacement crops' gross yadies.

Although better than nothing, this action was "sorely disappointing," Johnson says. "It appears to tell us two things. First, USDA officials have acknowledged their authority to administer the replacement crop provision of the law in a fair and reasonable manner. And second, they have chosen to use only about a fourth of that authority."

The Texas congressional delegation, voicing similar reactions, have proposed legislation to force the Departments hand. Democratic Senator Lloyd Bentsen, Republican Phil Gramm and Republican Representative Larry Combest all have introduced legislation that would require Secretary of Agriculture Clayton Yeutter to use no more than the net value of replacement crops in calculating disaster

The weight of budgetary considera-tions is going to make it difficult, legisla-tively or administratively, to get any modification of the Secretary's decision, Johnson concludes, "but we aren't giving up until we've exhausted every possibil-ity" doxine) has been linked to incapacitating nerve damage that can be permanent. The daily dietary recommended allowance (RDA) of the viatmin for adults is two to 2.2 milligrams, but militivitamin tablets frequently have as many as 500 milligrams, according to Shelley Fillipp, R.D., outpatient dietitian at Methodist Hospital.

THE BENEFIT...

Vitamins and minerals are essential for growth and health maintenance, but the average adult body requires only small amounts. Nutritious, well-balanced meals are the best source of B-6 and all other vitamins. Dietitians are available to help plan personalized meals that contain all the necessary ingredients of a good diet.

Recently, vitamin B-6 was thought to have been a treatment for problems such as water retention, kidney stones, and nausea during pregnancy. Other rumors promised that large doses of vitamin B-6 would build muscles. These theories escalated the abuse of the vitamin, but there is little scientific evidence to support these claims

Symptoms of the nerve damage caused by megadoses of vitamin B-6 include unsteadiness (to the point of being unable to walk without a cane) and numbness or tingling of the feet. Discontinuing the large doses of the vitamin will reduce or eliminate most symptoms. However, adverse effects can linger for more than a year in some cases.

Avoid self-medication with large doses of any vitamins, but particularly vitamin B-6. Although vitamins are part of a good diet, some can have toxic effects if the dosen is to a large.

> SPC, HOSPITAL JOIN IN DAYCARE OPERATIONS

by Tricia Palmer

Students and faculty members with children will have an opportunity to have children cared for on or near campus next year, according to a preliminary plan by SPC and Methodist Hospital to create a jointly operated child care facility.

Frank Hunt, technical-vocationaloccupational dean at SPC said early re-turns from a student, SPC faculty and Levelland High School faculty survey appear promising that the child care facility would be well utilized. Of the 894 surveys forms distributed, 360 have been returned. Of those, 213 respondents were in favor of the day care center and the other 147 did not have children.

The facility will accommodate infants to children 12 years old. Those surveyed will have the first opportunity to utilize the facility. Planning is still in the preliminary stages and cost for the use of the center has not been determined, according to Hurt ing to Hunt

The center will consist of a small infirmary and provide activities for the children.

The center will keep care for 150-200 children. SPC and Methodist Hospital have a common interest in the day care center because it will provide security for the parents especially after normal workthe parents especially after normal working hours, according to Lisa Brooks, director of nurses at Methodist Hospital. Plans for ground breaking are scheduled for early 1990. The goal is to have the center completed by the fall 1990.

"The reason for the day care center is to enhance the quality of work for the hospital and college," said Brooks.

An agreement has not been made; however, plans are that Methodist Hospital will build the building across from the Hospital. South Plains will provide the land for the development. The center will

Ralls Fall Fantasy Set for November 4

The Seventh Annual Ralls Fall Fantasy, an Arts and Crafts Festival and Sale, will be held Saturday, November 4 at the Ralls Elementary School Cafetorium, announced Luanne Bourland, Chairman for the event. The affair is being spon-sored by the Women's Division of the Ralls Chamber of Commerce and Agri-Applications for participation, open to area artists who have original work in able. For applications or for more information, area artists are urged to contact the Ralls Chamber of Commerce and Ag. at Box 807, Ralls, Texas 79357; or Luanne Bourland at Box 581, Ralls, Texas 79357; or by calling 806/253-2342 or 806/253-2319.

First to explain what is being done. The city of Roaring Springs still has individual trash barrels, in which people burn their trash and then it is collected by an individual and hauled to the Dickens landfill. Matador has dumpsters with a dumpster pickup-truck which carries it north of town to the city landfill (dumpground) and burned. The farmers and ranchers who live and/or work in the country, dump in pits or ravines on their property or haul to the city dump.

property or haul to the city dump.
As of August 31, 1989 the new EPA regulations ban burning at landfill sites; they require plastic liners be used in all opened trenches, which could be punctured in installation, and mandate the daily coverage of all solid waste with six inches of clean topsoil. The landfill sites can be required to install three monitoring wells, with several samples of water taken from each semi-annually. This means a cost of about $12,000 a year could be spent just for sampling, beside a possible cost of $100 per ton just to handle the waste, of which some materials are banned, such as batteries, tires, etc. Some of the solutions being discussed are a regional landfill and recycling the paper, aluminum and tin, glass and plastic. Some of the problems with this is transporting the waste (for a fee) using space at the landfill (for a fee). The recycling would cut down on the amount of waste with only proce needed for biss. waste, with only space needed for bins to place the recyclable material in.

There are no immediate solutions and the ones available could be costly. This appears to be just the beginning of a ishrooming expense that doesn't seem actical for small and sparcely popu-

Social Security Tips For Motley County

From time to time people ask me thether it is possible to make a gift to Social Security. I'm always pleased to tell them yes. In fact, in the 17 years since receiving the authority to accept gifts, social security has received more than $3 social Security can accept gifts as long as three conditions are met:

* The gift must be voluntary, and

* The gift must be in some form of money, such as cash, a check, a money order, a returned social security heapfit order, a returned social security benefit check, or a request for deduction from your benefits, and

* The gift must be unconditional except you may designate a specific trust fund to receive the gift.

To be sure that anyone making a gift to To be sure that anyone making a gift to be social security understands these conditions, we ask that a written statement be made at the time the gift is made. The statement should indicate that the gift is voluntary and unconditional and should indicate both the amount of the gift and, if you chose to designate it, the trust fund to which it should be paid.
