A Statement Of The Nineteenth Century

By Denise Webb

Editors Note: This essay was written by Denise Webb, granddaughter of Ray Webb who served as jail deputy at the Matador Jail for a number of years.

A place that I consider to be quite fascinating is my paternal grandparents' residence. Perhaps the word residence sounds like a cold term to use, but they did not live in a house. No, they resided in a jailhouse.

My grandfather was the jail deputy in the small town of Matador, Texas. The jailhouse was my grandparents' home during my entire childhood. I remember it well.

The jail house was built in 1891. The bricks used for its construction came from the same place the bricks used for the state capitol in Austin came from. It is older than the state capitol. In Texas it is the only jailhouse still standing that has a trap door used for hanging. Because of this fact, in 1976 it was declared a landmark. To me though, it is much more than a landmark! It is my grandparents' old house. I remember it well.

The bottom floor consisted of four rooms. The living room, the middle room, the kitchen and the bathroom. I recall the sound of my footsteps as I walked in the front door. It sounded distinct to me because nowhere else I knew of had a linoleum covered floor. The living room contained a couch, two chairs and a single bed. The bed doubled as a place to seat company. This room also had a television, a heater and a small table. It was comfortable. Many times the card table was set up and dominoes were played while football was on the television.

The middle room was bigger. To the immediate left stood the refrigerator. To the right was the table where meals were served. At the far right was my grandparents' bed and dresser. Adjacent from the table was their chest of drawers and on its right was their chifforobe. What I remember the most vividly about this room is my grandmother's breakfasts. She used fresh country eggs. The yolks in those eggs were a rich amber color. Her sausage and homemade biscuits were delicious. She was an angel and she cooked like one too!

The next room was the kitchen. It was small and at the most, functional. It had a door that led out to the side of the building. The best thing about the kitchen that I can remember is my grandmother's presence.

The bathroom had three doors in it. One of the doors was wood and the other two were steel. The wood door was approximately three and one half feet tall. It opened into a small space that was used for a closet. One steel door was from the kitchen. Since the prisoners took baths in this bathroom, the door had a small door, which was the size of a window, in it. On the side of the bathroom door inside the bathroom was what looked like one half of a circular birdcage. It was around this space where the smaller door opened. The purpose of this was to protect the jailer. When the prisoner indicated that he was ready to go upstairs, the jailer could first look in to make certain that the prisoner was on the opposite side of the bathroom before he opened the door. The other steel door went to the steps leading up to the jail. The main point of interest within the bathroom was the big bathtub. It stood on four iron legs, was made of iron, and was covered with porcelain.

The top of the stairs ended on a fair sized landing. To the right was a cell for women. Around to the left were the men's cells. The first barred door opened into a walk around. This "walk around" was a small aisle encircling all of the men's cells. A second locked door led to the three cells. Each individual cell could be locked. Within the second door is a small area where the prisoners can be together.

I do not remember the actual jail very clearly. We, my cousins and I, were very rarely allowed upstairs and we were never allowed to go upstairs when the jail was occupied.

The feelings I got from the first floor and the second floor are a perfect example of contrast. The bottom floor was filled with life, love, and laughter. The emphasis was on family and togetherness. The jail, however, was ominous and silent. Condemnation and separation existed there. It was cold.

Registration Planned For Men Born 1962-63

Selective Service registration for men born in 1962 will take place during the week of Jan. 5, 1981. Men born in 1963 (and later) should register within 30 days of their 18th birthdays. This is a continuation of the program begun last summer, whereby men born in 1960 and 1961 visited post offices across the nation to fill in the registration form.

The purpose of registration is to build a pool of names and addresses from which Selective Service could draw in an emergency. According to Dr. Bernard D. Rostker, director of the Selective Service System: "Registration directly improves our capability to respond . . . actually reducing lead time by at least four weeks. We think that provides a significant advantage, especially when matched with the very low cost of the registration effort." The direct costs of registration are less than $2 per registrant.

By way of background, one of the basic underlying assumptions of the All-Volunteer Force concept was that the country should always maintain a stand-by Selective Service system of registration. When the draft was ended in 1972, registration was in fact continued until suspended in 1975. Over the next few years, the capabilities of Selective Service steadily declined to an unacceptable level, prompting a total revitalization which began in November 1979. This program — of which registration is a part — is designed to return the Selective Service System to the readiness level required for an emergency back-up to our peace time volunteer armed forces. Other actions underway include the development of greatly improved computer support, and the development of a training program for potential draft board members.

REGISTRATION GUIDELINES:

WHO MUST REGISTER — Male citizens and aliens residing in the United States born in 1960, 1961 or 1962 except those on student or similar visas or who are members of trade or diplomatic missions, and men already serving on active duty with the Armed Forces. Members of reserve components not on active duty must register. Men born in 1963 and later years will be required to register within 30 days of their 18th birthdays.

WHEN: Men born in 1962: during the week of Jan. 5. To help avoid lines, individuals are encouraged to register on a day of the week keyed to the month of birth: on Monday, Jan. 5, for those born in January, February, and March; on Tuesday, Jan. 6, for those born in April, May and June; on Wednesday, Jan. 7, for those born in July, August, and September; and on Thursday, Jan. 8, for those born in October, November and December. Friday and Saturday may be used as "make-up" days for those who are unable to register on the suggested day.

Men born in 1963: within 30 days of their 18th birthdays.

Men born in 1960 and 1961 should already have registered this year; those who have not are encouraged to do so as soon as possible.

WHERE: At any of more than 34,500 U.S. Post Offices throughout the nation, or at embassies or consular offices overseas.

Final Tax Payment Due Soon For 1980

Taxpayers who did not have enough 1980 federal tax withheld, or whose amended income estimates for 1980 changed substantially during the last quarter, are required to pay the final installment of estimated income tax by January 15, 1981, the Internal Revenue Service says.

The IRS notes that there is an exception to this rule for those taxpayers who file their returns and pay all taxes due by February 2, 1981. This exception applies whether the declaration is an original or amended one.

Generally, taxpayers must file estimated tax if their tax is expected to be $100 or more and if they have more than $500 in income not covered by withholding.

For additional information, a free copy of IRS Publication 505, "Tax Withholding and Estimated Tax," can be ordered by calling the IRS number listed in the local telephone directory. If more convenient, it can also be picked up at most IRS offices.

Farmers Must Pay Estimated Tax Soon

Individuals who earned at least two-thirds of their 1979 or 1980 gross income from farming have until Thursday, January 15, 1981, to make a 1980 declaration of estimated tax and pay any taxes due, the Internal Revenue Service says.

However, farmers who plan to file their 1980 income tax return and pay the total tax balance by March 3, 1981, are not required to make an estimated tax declaration, according to the IRS.

Additional information is available in the free IRS Publication 225, "Farmer's Tax Guide," and Publication 505, "Tax Withholding and Estimated Tax." These publications can be ordered by mail using the order form in the tax package, or by calling the IRS number listed in the local telephone directory. If more convenient, they can also be picked up at most IRS offices.

Temperatures Halt Activities Of Small Grains Insects

Area small grain is doing fine with the recent moisture we received. The cold temperatures have halted the activity of the armyworm complex that caused some problems earlier this fall. The reduction in temperatures also stopped the activity of the Lesser Cornstalk Borer which was present in some very sandy fields.

The aphids, which include the greenbug and oat-bird cherry aphid, are the predominate pest in small grains in the winter. Greenbug populations are very low at the present time, but could increase to damaging populations later in the growing season. The recent heavy rain also lowered the greenbug population. Greenbug damage can be detected by yellowed spots in the fields followed by small deadened areas. When checking for greenbugs in your fields, you need to make 5 random checks per 20 acres of 1 foot row. On the small plants, greenbugs can be counted on the plants but on larger plants, you may have to slap a plant against the ground to jar bugs loose. Counting needs to be done in the warmest part of the day when greenbugs are more likely to be exposed. Control levels are as follows: 3-6 inches, 100-3; 4-8 inches, 200-400; 6-16 inches, 300-800.

GUEST EDITORIAL

By Charles H. Hartman, President, Motorcycle Safety Foundation

More and more Americans are taking to the highway on two wheels instead of four. Motorcycle isn't enjoyed just by the young; it's becoming a real part of the lifestyle of many conscientious Americans.

With motorcycling's growing popularity there's even more need for motorcycle safety knowledge among riders. Riding a motorcycle requires plenty of skill. In addition, riders must protect their bodies when they ride, because a motorcycle doesn't afford as much protection as a car. Protective gear includes a helmet, gloves, long sleeves, sturdy pants and boots. The most important piece of protective equipment you can own is a helmet. Reaching for your helmet should be as automatic as reaching for the ignition key. Studies show you're three times as likely to suffer a head injury in an accident if you're not wearing a helmet.

No one expects to have an accident. Researchers have found that most accidents occur less than five miles from home. Since you can't predict when an accident may happen, it makes sense to protect yourself at all times. If you're not wearing a helmet, even a minor accident can have serious or fatal consequences. There are several types of helmets available; prices vary widely. Whatever style you choose the most important thing to remember is: wear your helmet every time you ride, no matter how short or long the trip.

Mercedarian Missionaries To Work In Amarillo Diocese

A new community of religious women, the Mercedarian Missionaries of Berriz, are coming to the Diocese of Amarillo to do pastoral work in the missions in the southeastern area.

Sisters Matilde Gonzalez, Virginia Ituralde, Encarnacion Juste, and Elia Margarita Suarez will arrive in January to take up residence in Spur, where they will work in St. Mary's Parish, and from where they will also care for the spiritual and social needs of the people in Epiphany Church, Jayton; Our Lady of Guadalupe, Matador; and St. Elizabeth's, Paducah.

The Mercedarians, whose U.S. headquarters are in Kansas City, Missouri, have made a commitment to do missionary pastoral work in the diocese.

The Mercedarians, founded in Berriz, Spain, are a missionary congregation with houses on five continents. There are more than 1,500 Sisters in the community.

In Spur the former rectory will become the Mercedarian convent for the four Sisters. It has been enlarged with the addition of a room and bath and has been remodeled, including the installation of a new roof. A small, four-room house purchased for a rectory for Father Hemp. Total cost of the change-over was $25,000. Help to defray this cost is being sought from the Catholic Church Extension Society and elsewhere.

The Mercedarians coming to the diocese are bi-lingual, speaking both English and Spanish fluently.

Site Needed For New Post Office At Roaring Springs, Texas
The U.S. Postal Service is asking for a suitable site upon which to build and lease a new street post office at Roaring Springs, Postmaster Lula Swim said.

The "preferred area" for site consideration is bounded on the north by Walnut Avenue, on the east by railroad tracks, on the south by Poplar Avenue, and on the west by Fifth Street. Minimum site size needed is 15,000 sq. ft. or a lot with dimensions of 100 ft. by 150 ft. Property owners are asked to submit their site offerings not later than January 19, 1981 to Kenneth W. Wood, realty management and acquisition specialist, Field Real Estate and Buildings Office, U.S. Postal Service, P.O. Drawer 239, Dallas, TX 75221.

After a suitable site has been located, the Postal Service will call for construction bids for a building that will be built with private funds and leased to the Postal Service for a long term period.

The proposed post office will have 1,432 sq. ft. of interior floor space.
