Year's First Meeting Planned By PTO

The Motley County Parent Teachers Organization will hold its first meeting of the 1983-84 school year next Tuesday night, Sept. 6, at 7:30 p.m. in the school cafeteria.

PTO is an organization which has been formed as a local organization to strengthen the relationship between parents and school administration, faculty, and staff.

During this first meeting, new projects to help our children and their teachers will be discussed. The playground project of the past two years is nearing completion, and it is now necessary that we look to the future and begin making some new plans.

The new slate of officers will be elected and plans will begin for the 1983 Halloween carnival.

All parents are urged to come to this meeting in order to meet both teachers and the parents of other students in your child's class. The dues are $1.00 for the year, and as all our funds are now kept in our county for our school, your ideas for projects and improvements are needed.

We are looking forward to this meeting as the beginning of a great year and hope that all parents will attend.

Wayne A. Muse Completed Training

Wayne O. Muse, son of Waymon O. Muse of Bonita, Calif., and nephew of Moette Muse of Matador, has completed training in fundamental military skills at the Army ROTC basic camp at Fort Knox, Ky.

The basic camp is designed to give junior college graduates and college sophomores who have not taken ROTC courses the chance to enter the program. The camp also qualifies high school graduates for the ROTC program at any of the nation's six military junior colleges.

During the encampment, cadets received training in basic rifle marksmanship, military drill and ceremonies, communications and individual and small unit tactics.

Muse plans to enter the ROTC program at San Diego State University.

He is a 1980 graduate of Sonora High School, LaHabra, California.

Memorial Service Honors Early Pioneer Settlers

By Lila Meador

In memorial services Thursday morning at the 60th anniversary of Motley-Dickens counties Old Settlers Association in Roaring Springs, tribute was paid to early settlers, ranch founders and industrialists of the area. Speaker for the occasion was Dr. David Murrah, historian, archivist and director of Southwest Collection at Texas Tech University, Lubbock, and author of several books, including his latest, "Pitchfork Ranch and Cattle Company."

Dr. Murrah's address concluded the impressive service which opened with music by Mrs. Winn, the former Sue Cross, who sang a number of religious songs with background recordings, invocation by Rev. Johnny Williams of Lubbock, retired Methodist minister, recognition of the oldest residents in both counties, and reading of lists of deceased in each county, since last year. Dickens County Judge Bill Young was master of ceremonies.

H. I. "Skinny" Yeates and Mrs. Flora Rich were honored as the oldest man and woman living in Dickens County the longest, and Marvin Patton and Mrs. Clovis Murphy were the man and woman living the longest time in Motley County. Rev. Mrs. Jean Bowen of Banning, California received the corsage for traveling the farthest distance. Oldest living person from Motley County was Emmett Lawrence, 94, and the oldest person from Dickens County was Mrs. Stubblefield.

The Dickens County deceased list of 97 names was read by Mrs. Nelson Rape, and the Motley County list of 61 names (three were later added) was read by Mrs. John Hamilton.

In tracing the early history of this area, Dr. Murrah displayed an original map of the Roaring Springs townsite laid out in 1913, and noted that this marks the 70th anniversary of the community.

"Individuals had a lot to do with the settlement of this area," Dr. Murrah said, but pointed out the part that the vast reaches of the Matador Cattle Co., the Pitchfork, 6666's and other ranch empires contributed to the development. He paid special tribute to Sam Lazarus, the man responsible for the founding of the Quanah, Acme and Pacific Railway (QA&P). Originally established in 1903 to connect gypsum mines at Acme, Tex., with the Frisco railroad in Oklahoma, the QA&P eventually pushed westward to Floydada.

The records of the 120-mile railroad that brought settlers and commerce to several West Texas communities, including Roaring Springs, have been preserved on microfilm by the Southwest Collection.

"The Matador Ranch papers, furnished by the corporate headquarters in Scotland, and from various headquarters around the country form the heart of the Southwest Collection, in terms of completion and national importance," Dr. Murrah said.

"We are here today to honor those who came before us. God has rewarded us with this heritage and we are grateful to the pioneers who played such a major role in developing this great country."

The Southwest Collection covers three and a half miles of shelf space in five floors in the building in which it is housed on the Tech campus, and is still growing with files, ledgers, manuscripts, photographs, microfilm, and loose pages of material, all of which are available not only to Tech students, but to outside researchers.

In a business meeting at 1:00 p.m. Sally Jones was named as a director, replacing Dan Brandon, who had resigned his place on the board. The current slate of officers, Jerry Slaton, president; Bob Forbis, vice president; and Bill Whitaker, secretary/treasurer are serving a four-year term, and the six directors each serve three years, with elections every two years for alternate terms.

DPS Estimates 51 To Die During Holidays

The Texas Department of Public Safety has estimated as many as 51 persons will be killed in traffic accidents during the Labor Day holiday. The estimate includes traffic deaths which may occur on urban streets and rural highways.

Colonel Jim Adams, DPS director, says Texas has about 14 per cent fewer fatal accidents now than at the same time during 1982.

"We are hopeful the trend will continue downward for the remainder of the year. However, holiday weekends always seem to bring higher death tolls than do other times of the year," Adams said.

The DPS reported 50 deaths during Labor

Day last year. However, the inclusion of subsequent deaths due to traffic injuries received during the 78-hour period raised the final count to 57.

"During the 1982 holiday, 27 people were killed in accidents where DWI or speed was a contributing factor. This represented close to half of all the fatalities which occurred during that particular holiday," said Adams.

The DPS director called for sober driving, use of seat belts and a reduction in speed.

"We know alcohol contributes to about half of our traffic deaths, so it is obvious that a driver should not drink and drive. Also, we can prove the lifesaving effects of seat belt usage and our statistics show that slower speeds enhance one's chances for survival if an accident occurs," said Adams.

The DPS said the most recent holiday, July 4th, was one of the most deadly recorded in the past decade.

"We had 55 persons killed during the Fourth of July and some are still seriously injured and will probably die before the year is over. This makes that holiday the deadliest 78-hour holiday since 1970," he said.

Withholding Tax Law Has Been Repealed

Local and area banks will not withhold 10 percent of their customers' interest and dividend payments now that the withholding tax law has been repealed. President Ronald Reagan signed into law legislation repealing income tax withholding on interest and dividends late last week.

Reagan had opposed the legislation and at one time threatened to veto it. That probably would have been futile, though, as the measure passed both the House and Senate by margins wide enough to override a veto, after a massive lobbying campaign by the banking industry.

About six weeks ago, Jack Hightower's office reported he had received 13,500 letters from his constituents in the 13th Congressional District concerning the tax withholding law.

The law would have required banks and other financial institutions to withhold 10 percent of interest and dividend payments to promote taxpayer compliance and speed tax collection.

Sharon Brown of the First National Bank of Amarillo is a member of the American Bankers Association Marketing Committee which was instrumental in organizing bank customers for a letter-writing camaign to their legislators.

"Part of the reason for the campaign was to inform the public and let them know about the tax," Brown said. "We also wanted to give them the opportunity to respond to their legislators."

"We didn't expect the response to be as great as it was, but we knew it would take broad consumer response to get the bill repealed," Brown said. "I think it is important for the public to understand that if they will speak out, their representatives in Washington will listen."

Is Jimmy 40 Today?

Happy Birthday

IT'S A FACT!

An estimated 468,000 children ages 3-5 have vision problems. A young child can't tell you when he or she has one.

The National Society to Prevent Blindness, now in its 75th year, suggests that it's up to parents to have a youngster's vision checked—before school age. A primary concern is the eye condition amblyopia (lazy eye).

The affected child has a weak eye that won't do its part, and the child favors the other eye. Undetected and untreated, amblyopia can result in permanent reduction of vision or even blindness in the weak eye. It is easily detected at an eye exam, and can be effectively treated if found before age six.

To learn how to take care of your child's eyes, contact your state Society to Prevent Blindness or the National Society to Prevent Blindness, 79 Madison Avenue, New York, N.Y. 10016.

Will America find mercy from God

By ANN BROWN

WE CAN sing "God Bless America" all day long, but God cannot bless any nation that constantly condones so many things He hates. Surely every God-fearing American has trembled since 1973, when the Supreme Court usurped legislative powers and legalized abortion.

They rationalized that women will have abortions anyway, and they will be safer if they are legal.

Safer for whom? Is it safer for the 12,000,000 babies aborted since 1973? Or is it safer for the mothers who are willing to kill their own babies?

Could we not use the same rationalization for the legalization of other crimes? Rape, for instance. The Rape Crisis Center in Amarillo reports there is a rape every 10 to 15 minutes, with only one out of 10 reported. They estimate we have 185,000 rapes annually.

Then there is murder. We have at least 25,000 murders—in addition to the 26,000 murdered by drunk drivers. Think of all the tax money we could save if we legalized rape, murder, robbery, etc.

If we sold a license or charged a fee for those crimes instead of paying out all that money to prosecute the perpetrators, we could probably balance the federal budget.

Two prominent legislators have confessed to consorting with young pages in the halls of Congress. One with a girl, and the other with a boy.

If those miscreants get off with a mere reprimand, and are allowed to remain in our "hall of justice" how can we pray God bless America? One of the lawmakers openly admitted he was homosexual. And it is common knowledge homosexuals are usually on the prowl for partners.

Recently it was reported that a homosexual went ragging down a street in San Francisco screaming, "Are there no straight men left in this town? All I can find are faggots!"

The other legislator involved with the girl is the father of six daughters. How would he like for a fellow legislator to seduce one of his daughters?

Then there is blasphemy. Who would use the name of his worst enemy as a byword? Yet God's name is the most common byword in America. How can we continue to insult God, and expect Him to bless us? (Prov. 29:2)

People will glibly repeat the "Lord's Prayer" . . . "hal- lowed be thy name . . ." in one breath, and rip out an oath in the next.

Our nation has already made many efforts to repudiate God: Children cannot pray in school. Teachers cannot read the Bible to students, etc.

Public school children are free, of course, to read the writings of Hitler, Karl Marx, Charles Darwin, or Madalyn O'Hair. They can study communism, fascism, transcendentalism, and every other ism under the sun.

But they dare not even mention the name of God in reverence. It's quite all right, of course, to use His name as a curse word.

God does not balance His books every Saturday night, but will America find mercy when He does?

Instant Household Hints

By Catherine Henderson

1. Heat exhaustion and heat stroke can be prevented. Wear light colored, loose-fitting clothing and a hat when in hot sun. Drink plenty of water and slightly increase normal salt intake with meals.
2. Keep scraps of old carpet in the car during cold weather. A piece of carpet in front of each back tire provides traction to pull the car out of ruts.
3. To identify your house key from other keys, paint the top of the key with bright colored fingernail polish.
4. If a sweater develops balls of fuzz that won't brush off, give it a once-over lightly with a safety razor. Brushing afterwards will fluff the nap to look like new.

Spotlight on HEALTH

Less Cholesterol Lowers Risk Of Heart Disease
In the United States alone, heart disease takes almost 100,000 lives a year. Learning about the causes -- and treatment -- of coronary heart disease can prevent needless suffering. A recent international symposium of leading physicians in the field of cardiology revealed that reducing cholesterol intake causes a corresponding reduction in the risk of coronary heart disease. These findings were presented in the First Live International Satellite Symposium on Atherosclerosis: Effect of Hyperlipidemia Management on the Morbidity and Mortality of Coronary Heart Disease. The symposium, devoted to the cause-and-effect relationship between high cholesterol and coronary heart disease, was produced by Healthmark Communications under an education grant from Merrell Dow Pharmaceuticals, Inc. The symposium's panel of distinguished physicians agreed that lowering cholesterol levels reduces the risk of cardiac problems such as atherosclerosis, a condition in which arteries become obstructed with fatty deposits. Studies presented by the panelists clearly established a close relationship between saturated fat intake and heart disease, and that dietary changes reducing cholesterol intake significantly reduced the incidence and severity of coronary heart disease. Also during the symposium, all participating physicians agreed that a comprehensive low-fat dietary program was a key element in reducing cholesterol. When diet alone fails to reduce cholesterol to desired levels, then it is sometimes necessary to adopt a combined diet and drug therapy using cholesterol lowering drugs. The symposium was shown live as a Continuing Medical Education (CME) accredited program for physicians under the auspices of Cornell University Medical College. The telecast reached thousands of doctors in the United States and Latin America, and it is hoped that the findings and treatments presented during the symposium will aid in the struggle to conquer this number one killer.

Cattle Grub Control Improves Animal Health

Each year between June and September, Texas livestock producers can effectively control costly grubs by applying livestock insecticides.

Grub control can be achieved with a variety of systemic treatments which includes sprays, dips, pour-ons, spot-ons and feed mixes. However, insecticide impregnated ear tags being used for biting fly control do not control cattle grubs.

During late fall and winter, grubs appear on the backs of livestock. It's too late to begin control measures then since most of the damage has already been done.

In addition to controlling cattle grubs, an insecticide used now will also provide contact control of horn flies for two to three weeks. This makes the overall cost of treatment favorable.

Insecticides suggested for grub control include coumaphos (CO-Ral); phosmet (Prolate); trichlorfon (Neguvon), famphur (warbox) and fenthion (Tiguvon).

Read and follow directions on the insecticide label before treatment. Cattle that are sick or under stress should not be treated.

Dosage is determined by the body weight of the animal.

The cattle grub is the larval stage of the heel fly. The adult fly has no mouth parts, so it causes no pain to the cattle. However, it frightens cattle, making them difficult to manage. Animals often seek relief by standing in shade or shallow water.

The life cycle begins when the heel fly lays its eggs on an animal. The eggs, glued to hairs, hatch within a few days, and larvae (worms) enter the skin at hair follicles. The immature stages then migrate through the animal's body for six to eight months and reappear in the animal's back in the fall and winter, forming knot-like marbles or cysts.

Cattle grub losses are displayed in a variety of ways. Besides damaging meat and hides by their feeding activity, they lower beef cattle gains and reduce milk production throughout the year. Profit losses are estimated to cost Texas cattle producers $8 - 10 million each year.

THE W.R. DIRICKSON FAMILY in February 1938, when they were together following the death of Mr. Dirickson. From left, they are, Bill, Noble, Hasle (Dick), Mrs. Dirickson, Vesta, Orvel and Melvin. (Property of June Christian, daughter of Melvin Dirickson.)

Dirickson Family Members Here For Week End Visit

By Lila Meador

A son and a daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Dirickson, each accompanied by a daughter, were here during the week end visiting other relatives and with former friends at Old Settlers in Roaring Springs.

William R. (Bill) Dirickson of Hobbs, N.M. was accompanied here by his daughter and her husband, Mr. and Mrs. Dorril Nabours, with whom he makes his home, and they were guests of his niece, Mrs. June Dirickson Christian and her mother, Mrs. Fay Dirickson and her family. Mrs. Nabours will be remembered as the former Dolores Dirickson.

Mrs. Vesta Dirickson Thorman and her daughter, Mrs. Paula Patton Son, of San Antonio came to join the other relatives during their visit here. L. H. "Dick" Dirickson, Matador resident, was out of town and missed being with his sister and brother.

Although she left Matador in 1932, Mrs. Thorman has returned on several occasions, to visit. This was Bill Dirickson's first visit here in 25 years.

The W. R. Dirickson family came to Motley County in the fall of 1914 from Cottle County, where they had arrived that spring from their former home in Mountain View, Okla. There were six children in the family, Melvin, Orvel, Vesta, H. L. "Dick", Noble ("Wishy") and Bill. Mrs. Thorman recalls that she and Bill rode horseback, herding cattle while others in the family drove two wagons and a buggy in making the trek to West Texas.

Mr. Dirickson homesteaded a section of land which he purchased ten miles east of Matador, and in 1921 moved his family into town, purchasing the former T. T. Bouldin home in northwest Matador. Mr. Dirickson passed away in February of 1938, while visiting relatives in Oklahoma. After her husband's death, Mrs. Dirickson found the two-story structure too large for her needs, and had it replaced with a modern, stucco dwelling.

Mrs. Nabours recalls staying with her grandmother and attending school here when she was in the sixth grade, after her parents moved away, and later returning here after she graduated from high school in Albuquerque, N.M. when she worked at the local telephone exchange when Allie (Mrs. B. C.) Cox was manager.

Mrs. Dirickson passed away in 1962, preceded in death by her son, Noble in September of 1958. Two other sons died within five years of each other. Orvel passed away in 1972 in Corpus Christi, and Melvin in May, 1977, in Richards Memorial Hospital in Paducah, while living in Matador. He had made his home here continuously since about 1940.

Time To Stop Cotton Irrigation

If you are irrigating cotton, it's time to cut the water off. Irrigations beyond August can delay maturity and increase the risk of poor fiber quality and harvest conditions. Any bolls that are set this late in the season have little chance to mature. The only requirement is that there be adequate moisture to mature those bolls already on the plant.

Peak requirements for water use by cotton is in the pink bloom and heavy fruit stages of development. Water needs drop off rapidly as first bolls open. Any additional water at this time will contribute to excessive lush growth and continued development of fruit that will not contribute to the yield.

Boll weevil infestations can be expected to increase in watered fields that continue to produce squares at a higher level. The squares will mature or drop from the plants resulting in less food and reproduction sites for boll weevils. Therefore, fewer weevils will be produced this fall to go into overwintering habitat.

Once the number of squares drops below 67,000 per acre, bollworm populations have little opportunity to develop. Bollworm moths select fields that are in a green lush growing condition in which to deposit their eggs. They tend to concentrate in the fields that are watered later.

By cutting off water now, the level of damage caused by both boll weevils and bollworms can be reduced and in some cases several insecticidal applications may be avoided.

School Rules Announced For Morning Arrival

The following rules were announced by school principal Hayden Moore, stating reasons for which students may enter the school building between 8:30 and 9:00 a.m.

(1) Student may come inside to put his or her books up. (2) Student may come inside to eat breakfast. (3) Student may use bathroom on the way to breakfast or after putting books up. (4) Student may come inside for an activity or to study as long as his or her teacher will supervise.

A student may not come in to visit other students or come back in just to use the restroom. All we are trying to do is stop the wandering around inside the building. It is easier to supervise students outside with fewer teachers. Inside, it takes one teacher to every room plus one in the hall.

Former Resident Visits Friends

The Rev. Mrs. Jean Bowen of Banning, Calif., (in the Los Angeles area), visited here last week in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Cecil (Grace) Shelton. She also visited many other friends in Matador, including Mr. and Mrs. J. P. (Jimmy and Tommie) Sturdivant.

She was pleasantly surprised to see Mrs. Sturdivant's sisters, Mrs. Merle (Tinkey) Franklin from Santa Maria, Calif., and Mrs. Dorothy Lane from Denver, Colo., who were guests in the Sturdivant home. Jean, Tommie, Tinkey and Dorothy attended Broadmore School near Paducah in the late 1920's, and Mr. Sturdivant taught in the school.

Jack Bearden, also a schoolmate at Broadmore, joined the group at the Sturdivant home for a time of reminiscing and viewing old childhood pictures.

Rev. Bowen and her late husband lived in Matador from 1945 to 1949, when he was pastor of the Assembly of God Church, and were neighbors of the Sheltons.

WORD of GOD

Fulfillment (New Testament) Jesus Said:

The Spirit of the Lord is upon me, because he hath anointed me to preach the gospel to the poor; he hath sent me to heal the broken-hearted, to preach deliverance to the captives, and recovering of sight to the blind, to set at liberty them that are bruised,

And he began to say unto them, This day is this Scripture fulfilled in your ears. Luke 4:18, 21
