Randall Eddleman Owns Oil Company For A Day

For about an hour one afternoon in July, students in a West Texas State University economics course either earned millions in the oil industry or experienced disappointment when they drilled "dusters."

The 10 students entered the oil business world as participants in a game of money and risk to help them learn about the business during "Integrating Economics in the Classroom," an economics graduate course.

The course, taught by Dr. Allen Early, director of the WTSU Center for Economic Education, is designed to help area schoolteachers introduce economics to students at all grade levels and is offered during the second summer session.

Two representatives of Conoco Inc., headquarters at Houston traveled to WTSU to play "Oil Is Where You Find It," a game developed by Conoco personnel to educate the public about the economics of the energy industry. The game was developed five years ago by Bill Newberry, formerly of Conoco's coordination and planning department, and Fred Beck of Conoco public relations department.

Introducing the game to the students were Dan Barth, a tubular specialist in the material management group who works with an annual inventory of $30 million, and Paul Ludwig, a buyer in the material procurement group in the purchasing department. The visit to WTSU was Barth's first visit to a college campus to play the game and Ludwig's second.

"We just think the public needs to know our side and not just the negative which we tend to hear much of the time," said Barth.

The game involves a box sectioned into 12 tracts. Each tract represents 60,000 square acres of federal offshore property for lease to oil companies.

Ludwig explained that there are more coal deposits than oil all over the world for energy use, but coal is dirty, nuclear energy is uncertain, hydroelectric power has hit a peak with the damming of rivers and wind energy is risky.

"We're still going to need and rely on oil for the next 20, 30, 40 years," he said. "Onshore reservoirs have been found and we have to go offshore and out of the United States."

Each player receives $20 million to bid on the land tracts and to drill holes for oil. Each player names his or her oil

Tornado Victims Wait But No Relief Yet

As the days pass, Matador tornado victims are still hoping for some kind of assistance in recovering the losses they received May 1, but now, 91 days later, they are running out of hope.

All the assistance the victims have received has been from the Red Cross, although over $30,000 has been sent to Matador for a fund to aid victims of the tornado. These funds came from the City National Bank and private individuals in Plainview, and from Ferrit Smith and Jim Bridges who raised money at a veterans organization in Lubbock.

Matador was declared a disaster area May 26, by Governor Mark White, and the city is to receive state grants through the Texas Community Development Program to rebuild or repair homes of families not covered by insurance or other assistance.

The city submitted a plan for distributing the funds and asked for $547,000. But this plan was turned down. The plan called for $287,000 for relocation payments, $100,000 for rehabilitation assistance, $35,000 for clearance assistance, $45,000 for public improvements, $15,000 for contingencies and $65,000 for the administration of the program.

TDCA turned down the proposal and offered to provide $350,000, and requested a revised budget. Barber-Branon-Traylor Associates of Lubbock is working on the new plan for the city and hopes to have it resubmitted this week.

Relics Sought For Program

As part of the on-going sesquicentennial projects for the Daughters of the Republic of Texas, Mrs. Frank Potts, Mrs. S.C. Burleson, and Mrs. Furman Vinson are seeking furnishings, documents, and pictures relating to the early day settler and ranch era. These relics will be used in a history program in the fall for area Texas History students, Junior Historians, and heritage groups.

Furnishings typical of dugout or homestead living, or early line camps are needed. Rope bottom chairs, tables, bedsteads, wash stands, wash pots and scrub boards, lanterns, coffee pots, stoves are examples of what the history club is searching for, to either keep, buy or borrow.

Documents and pictures relating to early homesteaders or nesters, dugouts, cowboys, line camps, ranch houses, cows and horses, teams and wagons, chuckwagons, buffalo hunters, freighters, and so forth, could be photographed and copied for display, without ever leaving the hands of the owners.

If the project is successful, it could possibly be the start of a historical museum for Motley County. Mrs. Potts has been appointed as chairman for the Motley County Historical Committee, and Mrs. Burleson and Mrs. Vinson have been assisting with the collection of historical data for the county.

If you have some items relating to our county's early history in the attic, back room, or barn, which you would be willing to loan, give, sell, or copy, please call Lou Burleson at 806 983-2977 or Beverly Vinson at 806 469-5284, or write Marisue Potts at Rt. 4, Floydada.

Library To Move From Old School Building----But Where?

By Marisue Potts

School Superintendent Charles Johnson has given the Motley County Library notice that if should move as soon as possible making room for classes to be held in the former Grade School Building.

Several possibilities, ranging from the Roaring Springs school, vacant downtown buildings, old houses, to the hospital building, have been considered by the Library Board. Though not official at this time, the most likely choice, if the City Council and County Commissioners agree, would be the Stanley Hospital Building, which the city recently purchased for $1. The hospital building has the advantage of being ready for use with an adequate amount of space for library purposes.

However, it has the disadvantage of being heated by an old inefficient, probably leaky, water cooled heater system. The fear has been expressed by officials that the system would be very costly to operate, and prohibitive to replace. Another disadvantage would be that the city council offers this as a temporary location for the library.

Since the library's opening, the school district has generously provided the two classrooms with utilities paid at no cost to the county. Now, if the School District which is facing the expensive prospect of re-building the school which was destroyed in the May 1st tornado, can not finance the utilities for the library, other sources must be found. In the past the County has declined to pay utilities, in order to keep the library budget as low as possible.

In order that the school might have time to remodel the library rooms, the move is scheduled for August 9-11. Volunteer help is needed desperately at that time to pack books, disassemble shelving, move over 7,500 books in boxes, provide trucks and trailers, reassemble shelving, and unpack at the new location. This move has to be accomplished quickly so that the library will not be closed long enough that it would lose its accreditation with the state library system.

A Bake Sale is scheduled at Billy's Grocery on August 4, 9:30 to 12:00, by the Friends of the Library to help raise money to defray the cost of moving.

The library has grown to over 7,500 volumes, and is equipped with an Apple Computer and printer, a plain paper copier, a microfilm reader and film projector purchased primarily by grants from the State of Texas. Local help from the county, Roaring Springs, and sometimes from the city of Matador, as well as donations from the people have also added to the net worth of the library.

If financing for a building and utilities can not be found, then the library faces the prospect of returning to the state, everything purchased with State of Texas funds, namely approximately $60,000 worth of books and equipment.

The library is facing a crisis situation. If you or your family, benefit from using the library, or if you believe having a library in our community is important, then please call or write your city councilman or your county commissioner NOW. Show your support! The Motley County Library needs your help.

Evening Of Fun To Benefit School

By Dell Bearden

A fun filled evening of games, "Gong Show" and dance will be held this Saturday, August 4, beginning at 5 p.m. at the Roaring Springs arena to aid the Motley County School and facilities. Jerry Jay and the Armadillo Band from Amarillo will host the event.

Jerry Jackson, leader of the band, was born in Matador and lived here several years before moving to Amarillo with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jim Jackson. He wanted to help in the aftermath of the tornado and said, "the benefit will give me a chance to perform for the hometown folks as well as helping to raise money for the Motley County School."

Walter Jones has volunteered his time and effort to cook and sell Bar-B-Que sandwiches and cold drinks for the benefit of the school. Any excess bar-b-que may be purchased by the pound following the closing of the concession Saturday night.

The activities will begin at 5 p.m. with a "Gong Show" with prizes awarded for the top three acts. Entries will be taken from noon until 4 p.m. at the tabernacle.

Other activities are being planned for the children such as "Bug Races." The Texas Ranger baseball team has sent some prizes to be used for these games. A pennant signed by Ranger third baseman, Buddie Bell, and a baseball autographed by the entire team will be auctioned off during the festivities. Doug Todd, Public Relations Director for the Dallas Cowboys, notified Dell Bearden, Booster Club member, their organization is sending something for the auction.

"Billy Goat Bingo" will be played to help aid the athletic facilities.

The Motley County Athletic Booster Club wishes to publicly acknowledge and thank the following donors for funds and items received this week by the Motley County ISD General Fund and the Motley Co. ISD Athletic Fund:

One Nation Under God

Letter To The Editor

Dear Editor:
It seems that the Democrats will try to use "women's issues" against President Reagan this year as a big part of their campaign attacks, but when the facts are examined, it will be clear that they are barking up the wrong tree.

In fact, the women voters of America support President Reagan and his policies. According to the most recent New York Times/CBS News poll, women support President Reagan by 45 percent in contrast to Mondale's 37 percent.

And there are good reasons for Reagan's popularity. He has set records by appointing three women to Cabinet positions along with selecting the first female Supreme Court Justice in history, and the first female American Ambassador to the United Nations in history. He also has chosen more women for full time top policy-making positions than any other Administration.

President Reagan's economic recovery has profited women more than anyone as several million women have newly entered the work force in the past three years. With inflation lowered to only 2.8 percent, the President's programs are helping families make ends meet.

Before the Reagan reforms, two out of every five dollars in benefits went to people who actually made close to the median earned income for all working Americans, not to those of lower incomes. That situation has changed.

Medicaid still serves one six children of America's needy. The 1984 budget provides 12.8 billion, close to $1 billion more than in 1980.

School lunches are also being provided free to about 10 million low income students-- about half a million more than the previous Administration budget provided.

Retired persons are also enjoying more purchasing power for their money due to the huge drop in inflation.

Tax reforms and other initiatives, such as the reduction in the marriage tax penalty and the expansion of the IRA program other provisions that specifically benefit women.

The 1981 tax act removed the 15 percent income limitation and increased the limits on contributions to IRA's.

Larger tax credits are also now available to working mothers who pay for child care. The credits increased 80 percent for the cost of care of one child.

Clearly these facts, as well as many others, show President Reagan strongly in support of American women. President Reagan has strengthened and expanded the opportunities for women, and he will continue to do so for women as well as for all Americans.

And that's why he leads Walter Mondale in the poll of women voters.

Sincerely,
George Strake, Jr.
Chairman, Republican Party of Texas

The Benefits Of Alcohol

By Eddie Marcum

We have always heard the great benefits of legalizing alcoholic beverages in a city or county. The benefits of greater revenue to better a community and place in which to live.

There are other benefits which come to a community which often times are ignored and kept silent when the issue of keeping a town wet or dry is brought up.

Are we prepared for more crimes within our town? Statistics have proven over and over that the crime rate rises higher and higher when a town becomes wet. Are you prepared for more thefts, assaults, family abuse, suicide, perhaps murder in our community? Are you prepared for an innocent member in your family to be injured or killed by a drunk driver? This fate can happen to anyone, it can even happen to you. Let's face the facts, the risk or car accidents will increase when a town becomes wet.

Dr. E.M. Jellenk, World Health Organization, says, "The death and accident rate in a given community varies according to the average alcohol consumption, and when alcoholism increases, so do deaths, crime and accident rates; followed by a rise in commitments to asylums, hospitalization and delinquencies."

Studies in Texas indicate that crime increases when alcohol is legalized.

For example, law enforcement costs increased 365% when Terrell went wet. 2) D.W.I. jumped 66% in Denison. 3) Moving traffic arrests in Oak Cliff (a large section in Dallas) DECREASED 22.9% and accidents DECREASED 75% when beer was voted out.

(Studies made by Texas Alcohol Narcotic Education, Dallas Texas 75231). Also the American Businessman's Research Foundation reports, "For every dollar collected in tax revenue from alcohol sales, the city must spend $4.80 in added law enforcement, cleanup and repair."

Does legalizing the sale of alcohol really better a community? I think not - in fact the opposite is true. You see the facts before you. Also the people of Matador have taken great pride in the reputation of their community. If Matador does become wet I fear all pride will vanish. Is this really what you want for your community? I hope not.

If the commissioner's court decides to have the election I hope you will join me and many others to vote against the sale of legalized alcoholic beverages.

FARM & RANCH NEWS

County Agent's Corner

By Ray Minkley TAX ASPECTS OF DROUGHT-CAUSED LIVESTOCK SALES

Ranchers who are being forced to sell livestock because of decimated pastures and reduced water supplies should be considering the income tax aspects of their losses, says Joe Pena of Uvalde, economist-management with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System.

"Income from drought sales may be treated two ways for tax purposes, depending on whether the livestock is considered inventory of breeding stock," Pena said. Both types of sales are outlined in the Farmer's Tax Guide.

Income from the sale of inventory stock may be deferred for up to one year, he said.

"Producers can elect to defer the revenue from sales of certain livestock, such as steers, heifers and calves, for one year if the sale was due to drought conditions," Pena said. However, he explained, this particular election does not apply to livestock used for breeding, draft, dairy or sporting purposes.

If, because of drought, a taxpayer, whose principal activity is farming or ranching, sells livestock in excess of the number that would be sold in a normal business year, he may elect to include the proceeds in the next year's income provided that: the cash method of accounting is used; it can be established under usual business circumstances the number sold would not have occurred; and, the drought has resulted in the area being designated as eligible for federal assistance.

Purchased livestock, such as stocker steers or heifers, as well as "raised livestock" will qualify, he said. In addition, sales made prior to an area being declared eligible for federal assistance may qualify, the economist said.

To determine the amount of income to be deferred, a producer must first calculate the average amount received per head sold during the year and multiply this figure by the excess number of head sold due to drought, he said.

When livestock kept for breeding, draft or dairy purposes are sold or exchanged solely because of drought, the sale or exchange is considered an involuntary conversion, Pena said.

A taxpayer may elect to postpone the tax on the gain from sales of breeding livestock if replaced with livestock of like kind within two years from the close of the year in which the gain was realized, the economist explained.

"The taxpayer's principal business does not have to be farming or ranching and the area does not have to be officially declared eligible for assistance by the federal government," he said.

Tax on the gain may be postponed on the number sold in excess of the usual practice. A loss resulting from the sale is deductible in the year that it is sustained, he explained.

In either situation, Pena said, direct losses may be reported either in the IRS Form 4797, Supplemental Schedule of Gains and Losses, or on Schedule F, Farm Income and Expenses, if the livestock were purchased and died or were sold at a loss.

However, basic information covering tax deferral should be reported in IRS form 4797, Supplemental Schedule of Gains and Losses. The tax return for the year of sale should include: evidence of drought; amount of gain realized; number and kind sold or replaced; and number and kind replaced.

Tax returns for the replacement year, Pena said, should include: replacement purchase price; number and kind of replacement; and cost of replacement.

"The cost of replacement livestock must equal or exceed the proceeds of livestock sold due to drought," the economist explained.

Drought losses will be felt over a long period by poor livestock performance, such as lower calving rates, weaker calves and lower weaning weights, he said.

4-H'ers Compete in Fashion Show

The age-old skill of sewing blended with the latest looks in fashion as four young seamstresses took top honors in the Rolling Plains District 4-H Fashion Show (July 24) at the Paducah Public School. The four will represent the district's 21 counties in the State 4-H Fashion Show, September 17-18 in San Angelo.

Educational programs conducted by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service serve people of all ages regardless of socioeconomic level, race, color, sex, religion, handicap, or national origin.

The winners are Melissa Matus of Wilbarger County, tailored daywear; Kathy Hardy of Dickens County, non-tailored daywear; Sarah Henley of Childress County, active sportswear; and Brenda Channell of Childress County, evening and specialty wear.

Those competing from Motley County were: Seniors, Jenifer Davis, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bob Davis and Janice Brown, granddaughter of Mrs. Ossie Brown. Intermediate- Tricia Palmer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Palmer, and Junior Tonya Hoyle, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Larry Hoyle.

Senior division runners-up in the four clothing categories were: Evette Gruben of Fisher, tailored daywear; Desiree Olliff of Wilbarger County, non-tailored daywear; Deana Brooks of Cottle County, active sportswear, and Kristi Brooks of Cottle County, evening and specialty wear. They will serve as alternates to the state contest if the first place winner doesn't participate.

Nine special awards for the best cotton outfits were presented by the Rolling Plains Cotton Growers, Inc. In the beginner division, winners were Lara Richards of Cottle County, Mindy Ballard of Haskell and Tonya Hoyle of Motley County. Intermediate division winners were Lynn Parker of Knox County, Karen Breshears of Wilbarger County and Lori Freemyer of Kent County. Senior cotton award winners were Deana and Kristi Brooks, both of Cottle County and Amy Parker of Knox.

Special awards for the best wool fashion were presented by L.M. McCarroll of the Greenbelt Sheep Growers Assn. Winners were Kristy Compton of Shackelford County, Ursula Richards of Jones County and Yvonne Kunkel of Baylor County, in the senior division; and Jennifer Marquart of Hardeman County, beginner division.

Honored as best models were Lara Richards of Cottle County, beginners; Carye Gruben, Fisher County, intermediates, and Evette Gruben of Fisher County, seniors.

Top seamstresses in the younger divisions were: Jae-Jae Reneau of Knox County, Laci Murdock of Kent, Holly Hayley and Jones and Lara Richards of Cottle, beginners; and intermediates Lynn Parker of Knox County, Katrina Levy of Hall, Michelle Scoggins of Haskell and Karen Breshears of Wilbarger. The juniors and intermediates don't compete beyond district level.

Special citations went to Childress County for having the greatest increase in participation in the fashion show, and to Hardeman County for greatest increase in clothing projects during the year.

A total of 79 boys and girls participated in the district show, which had as its theme, "Flying High With Fashion." The show was narrated by Shirley Long, Kent County Extension agent for home economics.

Contestants were judged on sewing skills, clothing construction and overall appearance of the garment, explained Mrs. Elaine Houston and Ed Garnett, district directors with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. Four-H is the youth development program of Extension, an arm of Texas A&M University.

Participants, their parents and guests were honored by West Texas Utilities Co. with a luncheon preceding the fashion show. The company also donated ribbons and other awards, decorations and photographs of each contestant. Kit Horne of WTU presented the awards.

During the judging, parents, leaders and guests toured the school and took part in computer workshops.

company and is told about competition from other companies during the sealed bid process. The minimum bid is $5 million and drilling costs are $4 million for each hole which is an average cost in offshore drilling in the Gulf of Mexico, said Ludwig.

Statistics and dollar amounts used in the game are based on current industry averages.

The players are told that the government is not obligated to accept a bid and that owners have five years to drill on the lease before the property reverts to the government. A maximum of three wells may be drilled on any one tract.

They also are told they are drilling in about 300 feet of water and an average of three of 10 holes drilled produces oil.

After bids are awarded, each owner comes to the game box, dons a hardhat and begins to poke, with a knitting needle which serves as a drill stem, in the square filled with a sandy mixture. As the drill stem is brought up, the owner will find no residue which means that a "duster" or dry hole has been drilled, or the needle is covered with grease from a cup buried in the square.

Barth and Ludwig then calculate the number of barrels produced from successful drilling.

Conoco experienced a 26 percent success ratio last year in drilling, said Ludwig. He also told the class about Conoco's 12-year pipeline project in Alaska which has cost almost $1 billion.

Oil company owners for a day included Randall Eddleman, who teaches at Motley County High School in Matador; Sue Powell, Hereford High School; Jacqueline Beesley, Dumas Junior High School; Geneva Saenz, kindergarten teacher, Dumas; Bobbie Dillard, Caprock High School in Amarillo; Candis Conard, elementary school librarian at Lubbock Andrews; Barbara Watkins, Rolling Hills kindergarten in Amarillo; Bobbie Diamond, Lubbock elementary.

Local School Budget Calls For Increase

Texans increased spending on local public schools by $552 million last year, as trustees in 1,069 school districts adopted school budgets totaling $9.0 billion. That provided more than $200 in additional funds for each of the 2,727,512 students in the state, according to the Texas Research League.

Local property taxpayers were tagged for an additional $327 million to pay for the increase. The remainder was funded by increases in state and federal aid programs and by higher local fees.

The figures come from the latest issue of Bench Marks for 1984-85 School District Budgets in Texas, an annual publication of the Texas Research League, an Austin-based, educational corporation engaged in governmental research.

School budgets adopted for 1983-84 called for spending $2,713 per student for current operations. Motley County ISD's budget provided for $4,092.19 per student based on the 251 students in average daily attendance in 1982-83.

Four of five of these dollars were spent for salaries. Statewide, payroll expense averaged $2,153 per student, as compared to $3,282 in Motley County ISD. Payroll expense is a combination of salary levels and staffing patterns.

The average salary for classroom teachers paid by Motley County ISD in 1982-83 was $15,871 which was 3.7 percent above the minimum salary prescribed by the state. The average among all school districts in Texas was $19,501 per classroom teacher, or 21.8 percent over the minimum.

Local property taxes were increased by $327 million for a total of $3.6 billion last year. The local ISD's tax levy was increased by 2.1 percent for 1983-84, as compared to a 10.0 percent increase for the average school district in Texas.

School property tax rates in 1982-83 averaged $0.613 per $100 of market value (selling price). The school tax on a property selling for $100,000 was $613 in the average school district. Locally the rate on market value in Motley County ISD was $.455 or $455 on a property selling for $100,000.

If the property were a homestead or owned by a senior citizen, the school tax would be less because of various exemptions. Open-space land that qualified would be valued on its productivity value rather than market value.

Revenue lost from exemptions totaled $679 million, which was $125 million more than that exempted the previous year. To balance school budgets, the revenue loss from exemptions was imposed upon other taxpayers in the school district.

Preparing school budgets for next year, the report noted, will be difficult. Not only did the Special Session of the Legislature provide substantial additional funds, but also changed the method for allocating aid to different districts. School officials also must begin implementing a variety of new educational programs including new curriculum standards.

Youths Display Design Skills

Four-H Club members from Motley County will exhibit their skills in interior design and selection of home furnishings in the Rolling Plains District 4-H Home Designer Event in Wichita Falls, Saturday, August 11.

Taking part in the event at the Sikes Senter Mall will be Jenifer Davis, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bob Davis and Tricia Palmer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Palmer.

Educational programs conducted by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service serve people of all ages regardless of socioeconomic level, race, color, sex, religion, handicap or national origin.

The project helps 4-H'ers acquire knowledge of interior design and develop skills in selecting home furnishings. They must prepare a poster showing a room arrangement and exhibit a coordinating home accessory, explained Mary Streit, Extension Agent-Home Economics with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

At Wichita Falls, youths will display their poster and accessory and be interviewed by judges about interior design and furnishings. Judging will begin at 10:00 a.m.

Awards will be presented at a public ceremony at 1:00 p.m. in the Dillard Court area of the mall.

should hear something in two weeks," Mayor Gary Lancaster said. "All federal funding is out except for SBA. TDCA is the only state program we are aware of."

To add more complications to the red-tape weary victims, they have been told that if they qualify for an SBA loan they cannot receive a grant.

TDCA requires that the victims must first apply to the SBA before they are considered eligible for grant money, but victims were not notified about this until July 10, three days before the deadline to file; "Not in time to request, receive, fill out and send back the application form," a victim said. "To make matters worse the SBA has to turn us down before we qualify for grant monies."

Lancaster said SPAG had made inquiries to get help for the elderly on fixed income, but at his point nothing has come of it.

"Everyone is waiting on TDCA to see what they will do with the grant request," the mayor said.

Many individuals across the country have offered to help the victims, but the victims are still waiting, and waiting, and waiting, and their patience is growing thin.

Obituaries

France Baker, 94

Services for France Baker, 94, of Lubbock were Wednesday in the Broadway Church of Christ with Horace Coffman and Kline Nall officiating.

Burial was in the City of Lubbock Cemetery under the direction of Resthaven Funeral Home.

Baker, a native of Hamilton, died at noon Sunday at his residence after a lengthy illness. Justice of the Peace L.J. Blalock ruled he died of natural causes.

Baker came to Floyd County in 1890 with his parents. His father, James, was a founder of Lockney and the mercantile store there.

On March 8, 1911, Baker married Leo M. Watson in Lockney. She died in 1969. In Lockney, he was president of the First National Bank and, after moving to Lubbock in 1920, became associated with Citizens National Bank, retiring as president in 1932.

He was involved in extensive farming interests in Lubbock and Cochran counties. The early pioneer banker, businessman and farmer was active in development of early churches and civic organizations of Lubbock.

In later life, he collected memorabilia of his past. Each artifact held a story from the land he had helped develop, a personal page of his own story through connection with people of the South Plains.

He was a member of the Broadway Church of Christ.

Survivors include two sons, Lennis W. and James G. of Lubbock; two brothers, Dorsey of Lockney and Norton of Amarillo; five sisters, Nell Deavenport of Boulder, Colo., Mrs. Lee Seaman and Mrs. Dimple McGavock of Plainview and Mary Phillips and Helen Gross of Port Lavaca; four grandchildren; and seven great-grandchildren.

The family suggests memorials to the Lubbock Children's Home or a favorite charity.
