Voters Pass School Bond

As a result of the school bond election held Thursday, December 20, Motley County students will be in a new school a year from now. Six hundred forty eight voted in the election, with 465 voting for and 183 voting against.

According to school board president Roy Hobbs, the new school will be built on the existing cement slab and existing plumbing can also be used.

The new building should have a steel super structure frame and be brick and masonry on the outside. The floor plan will be different from the former building to include a computer room and additional space for special education classrooms. Using the existing slab will save the school $150,000, according to Hobbs.

The bond will be paid for with tax dollars in ten years, from an interest and sinking fund. After 10 years the taxes will be lowered again.

Superintendent Charles Johnson said the school board appreciates all the support they have received and the turnout of voters. The school board normally meets 13 times during a 12-month period. The Motley County School Board has met 29 times since May.

Ranch Headquarters, (both buildings) and 3rd place winner was Mrs. Lewis Bostick.

The winners in the Commercial Lighting contest were 1st, Motley County School Building and 2nd, Don's Conoco Station for their window display.

The Matador Lions Club would like to thank all the residents and businesses who participated in the annual contest.

INFLATION-FIGHTING FOOD IDEAS

Top Rice Custard With Season's Best Peaches

Rice Custard is one of America's all-time favorite desserts and it's even more luscious when topped with the best of the season's peaches, laced with brandy and dotted with crunchy coconut.

PEACH AMBROSIA RICE CUSTARD

- 1-1/2 cups cooked rice
- 5 eggs, beaten
- 1/4 teaspoon salt
- 1/2 cup sugar
- 2 teaspoons vanilla extract
- 1-1/2 teaspoons grated lemon peel
- 3-1/2 cups milk
- 2 cups sliced fresh peaches, sweetened to taste*
- 1 tablespoon lemon juice
- 2 tablespoons brandy
- 1 cup shredded coconut

Combine all ingredients except peaches, lemon juice, brandy, and coconut. Turn into a buttered 2-quart baking dish. Set dish in a pan of hot water filled to within 1 inch of top. Bake at 350° for 1 hour, uncovered. After first 30 minutes insert spoon at edge of custard and stir from bottom. Near end of baking time insert knife near center, and if it comes out clean, custard is done. Combine peaches, lemon juice brandy and coconut; toss lightly and chill until serving time. Arrange on top of custard just before serving. Makes 8 to 10 servings.

*Or use two cups drained canned or frozen sliced peaches.

Hints For Homemakers

HOME AND BODY SHAPE-UP

Before you tackle housecleaning, here are a few tips to make it less of a struggle. Make a list of all the things you need to do on a room-by-room basis. Check your inventory before you get started and stock up on any cleaning products you'll need. Spread your cleaning over a few days or even a few weeks to avoid wearing yourself down. Try listening to your favorite music while cleaning, so you can sweep to the beat.

Before starting, stretch for a few moments. This limbers up your body and helps you to reach, kneel, bend and move freely when you're cleaning.

Cleaning may be drudgery, but it can help you keep in shape. Scrubbing and dusting help strengthen arms, bending and vacuuming help firm legs, and your hip and waist measurements will improve when you mop or sweep. Besides, it's a well-known fact that housecleaning burns calories! So remember, while you're sweating to improve your home's appearance, you'll be improving your own appearance, too!

Removing spots, fingerprints and greasy soils from washable surfaces is a good way to begin. For best results on painted woodwork, use Spic and Span in a bucket of water. Rinse with clear water. Burning calories is easy when you "dance" with your mop. If you have a no-wax floor, be sure to use Mr. Clean, which safely washes it and leaves virtually no film behind. Make the first go-round wet enough to pick up deepdown grime from floor crevices, and the second lighter one will wash dirt away.

Before washing fine crystal and china, place layers of paper towels on the bottom of the sink. Then use warm water and a mild dishwashing liquid, like Joy.

To make your bathroom sparkle, clean tub rings and the area around faucets with an old toothbrush. Cotton swabs help clean holes in toothbrush holders. To shine your faucets/fixtures and remove old water stains, use paper towels and a window cleaner. To avoid hurting your back while scrubbing the tub, try a long-handled carwash brush.

Cleaning doesn't have to be a bore. With a few simple housecleaning tips, both you and your home will be ready to face the world—and come out shining.

OLD FASHIONED HEROES

The Vietnam Veteran

Making life better for the Vietnam veteran is the goal of an organization of wartime veterans who have faced similar problems.

They risked their lives for the United States—the three million veterans of the Vietnam War. For many of these veterans, adjusting to life after the war has been difficult. They've had to face problems ranging from health care and disability compensation to proper education opportunities and employment. Fortunately, there is a unique organization that has been working on behalf of the veterans to solve these problems and more.

Men and women who have shared many of the Vietnam veterans' experiences belong to a group called The Veterans of Foreign Wars (VFW), an organization of wartime veterans who served overseas in the Armed Forces and today work to assist veterans of all ages and conflicts at the group's 9,700 posts.

Accomplishments on behalf of Vietnam veterans is a high point in the continuing success of the nation's oldest veterans organization, established in 1899. VFW was:

- Instrumental in establishing Vietnam Era veterans GI Bill benefits, passed in June, 1966.
- The only major veterans organization to support extension of education entitlement beyond ten years delimitation for educationally and economically disadvantaged Vietnam era veterans.

- Supported establishment of Vet Centers—Vietnam Era Veteran Psychological Readjustment Counseling Centers, and supported improvements in Vocational Rehabilitation programs to increase participation by disabled veterans.

- Played a major role in the passage of the Agent Orange/Radiation legislation that places the burden of proof for the award of disability compensation on the government rather than on the veteran.

- Supports Veterans benefits and preference in federal and public employment and supports action that would require that non-selective service registrants be automatically removed from consideration for any government job.

- Supports appropriation for the Veterans Administration which will adequately maintain the integrity of the VA hospital and medical care system and the Dependency and Indemnity Compensation (DIC) and pension programs.

County Agent's Corner

By Ray Minkley

Selecting top quality, high performing beef cattle takes more than a sharp eye.

While a cattleman with a trained eye can select cattle for structural soundness, muscling, height and length, the bottom line for measuring an animal's ability to grow is performance and progeny testing.

Dr. L.R. Sprott, beef cattle specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service and Waller County Extension agent David McGregor worked with the Four G Ranch at Hempstead in a demonstration regarding the use of progeny testing to increase herd productivity. They started in 1978 on a herd improvement program using seven different sires. Records showed that two of the sires were consistently producing superior performing calves. Using these calves as replacement heifers and through selection of other superior sires, herd weaning weights were increased almost 100 pounds over a four-year period.

The Matador Ranch here in Motley County is in the process of a similar program, numbering each of its Hereford cows so that individual records can be kept. With these records, selection of heifer replacements and sires can be done based on performance along with visual appraisal, thus increasing herd efficiency.

Make Your Life A Bed Of Roses

By Carl Totemier
Member, The American Horticultural Society

Roses are heavy feeders, and they must have fertilizer applied at certain critical times, if they are to be vigorous and productive.

Everything could come up roses for you if you treat your roses right.

Roses should be heavily fertilized in the spring for bountiful blooms. You can enjoy your roses almost throughout summer and fall by providing a continuous supply of plant food starting when the second crop of flowers begins to bud.

Dry fertilizers are difficult to apply with accuracy and slow to take effect. Water soluble fertilizers, such as Stern's Miracle-Gro All Purpose Plant Food, are already dissolved when applied. This allows quick penetration to the roots as well as rapid absorption into the plant. A water soluble fertilizer is easily applied with a watering can or ordinary pail. There is no danger of "burning" if package directions are followed.

Miracle-Gro fertilizers will not damage the foliage. In fact, foliar application is beneficial—especially so if nutrient deficiencies are evident. Foliar absorption is even quicker than through the roots.

Cotton Show Boasts Array Of Activities

Something for almost everyone will be featured at the second annual Rolling Plains Cotton Show Jan. 7-8 at the Wichita Falls Activity Center.

An address by U.S. Rep. E. "Kika" de la Garza, chairman of the house Agriculture Committee; a fashion show featuring Jeanne Hogge, South Plains Maid of Cotton, and a public speaking contest to choose the area's "Cotton Youth Ambassador" are among the key events. There also will be a quilt contest and demonstrations of quilting styles; selection of the region's best cotton; a poster contest for youths, and a series of educational seminars ranging from a report on new developments in cotton breeding to cotton's new role in the food industry.

In addition to a display of the hundreds of cotton plants entered by producers in the cotton contest, area farmers will also view a wide array of commercial and industrial displays featuring the latest in equipment and products for the cotton industry.

The show, encompassing producers in 32 counties, is jointly sponsored by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Rolling Plains Economic Program and the Rolling Plains Cotton Growers Assn.

The counties are Archer, Baylor, Callahan, Childress, Clay, Coleman, Concho, Cottle. Also, Dickens, Fisher, Foard, Hall, Hardeman, Haskell, Jones, Kent, King, Knox, Mitchell, Motley, Nolan, Runnels, Scurry, Shackelford. Rounding out the list are Stephens, Stonewall, Taylor, Throckmorton, Tom Green, Wichita, Wilbarger and Young.

Competing cotton producers in these counties had to select one plant from their field and then hand harvest 13.1 feet of row from that field. The harvested cotton was ginned at the Texas A&M University Agricultural Research and Extension Center in Lubbock. Each sample was scored on micronaire, grade, staple length, uniformity ratio, fiber strength, yield per acre and percent turnout.

The selected stalks will be judged the afternoon of Jan. 7. Factors considered will include number of bolls, boll distribution, initiation of fruiting, plant conformation, stormproofness of bolls and insect and disease damage.

The contest has two divisions: dryland and irrigated. First place awards will include two tons of cotton seed donated by G&P Cottonseed Co. of Aquilla and Paymaster Seeds. Special awards will be made to the most strippable and the highest quality cotton in each division.

Finalists in the "Cotton Youth Ambassador" speech contest will be judged Monday Jan. 7. Contestants must be from cotton producing families in the 32 counties. The winner will receive a $1,000 college scholarship from the Rolling Plains Cotton Growers Assn. and will serve as spokesperson for cotton at various events during the year.

Quilts and posters entered in those events also will be judged Jan. 7.

The displays will open to the public at 9 a.m. Tuesday, Jan. 8. Demonstrations and educational seminars begin at 10 a.m. and will be held concurrently throughout the day.

De la Garza will be the keynote speaker at a noon luncheon Jan. 8. From Mission, he served six consecutive terms in the Texas House of Representatives, from 1955-65. He was elected to the 89th Congress in November 1964, and took office in Jan. 1965. He has been re-elected continuously since.

In his first term in Congress, de la Garza was awarded a seat on the House Agriculture Committee, where he has served ever since. He became vice chairman of the committee in 1979, became its chairman in 1981 and was re-elected chairman in 1983.

He has been active in promoting research programs to permit American agriculture to meet growing domestic and world needs. He also played a key role in drafting and enacting laws dealing with pesticide use and safety and animal health.

Another highlight of the luncheon will be a fashion show with Miss Hogge modeling her cotton wardrobe, which she chose for her appearances Dec. 27-29 in the National Maid of Cotton competition in Dallas. A native of Plainview, the 19-year-old brunette is a sophomore at Texas Tech University, majoring in interior design. She will greet visitors and sign autographs throughout the day.

The educational sessions during the day Jan. 8 will include:

Pointers For Parents

One of the most important decisions for working couples or single parents to make is choosing the right child care environment for an infant or toddler. Finding a center that provides a warm, loving, "close to home" feeling for your infant will be easier if you keep these questions in mind:

- Is the director a professional who inspires confidence?

- Does the center provide adequate stimulation for infants and toddlers?
 - Is it filled with colorful decorations and educational toys to help develop new abilities?
 - Are there suitable "napping" conditions?
 - Are you encouraged to visit any time and participate in special events?
 - Will the care giver provide a daily report about your child's eating and sleeping habits and developmental progress?
- Parents considering child care for the first time should also be aware that part of the cost of child care is a credit on income tax.

FREE BROCHURE

To help parents make a wise choice in child care, a brochure called "Checklist On Child Care" is available free by writing to: Kinder-Care Learning Centers, Inc., P.O. Box 1563, Atlanta, Ga. 30301.

THEN NOW!

Man and mosquito have been going at it for centuries. Here's a brief history of the weapons we've used in the war of wills with the pesky creatures.

THEN: Egyptians used mosquito netting and smudgepots to fight off the insects over 3,000 years ago. Others from the distant and not-so-distant past coated themselves with mud and other sticky substances, often trapping the bugs in the goo. Early settlers of this country tried smearing their bodies with fat from bears, sheep or cattle and eating huge amounts of garlic. These remedies did little to deter mosquitoes, but it's likely they repelled people very effectively.

NOW: Fortunately, we are better off today. Effective insect repellents were developed during World War II and even more efficient repellents have been developed since. A chemical named diethyl-metoluamide—DEET for short—seems to be the most effective. It's a primary ingredient in Cutter Insect Repellent, which has been used for more than 20 years by serious outdoor people. The famous formula is available in a variety of forms—easy to spread cream concentrate, aerosol spray convenient for spraying clothes and large areas of skin and a stick that keeps repellent off the hands and is easy to apply to young children.

Tips To Help You

Today's growing emphasis on healthier living has given new importance to methods that allow foods to be cooked while retaining more of their vitamins and minerals as well as their natural flavor and color.

One method that's been used for generations is enjoying regained popularity. It's called Minimum Moisture Cooking. It allows foods to be cooked at low temperatures in their own natural moisture, with little or no added water.

One new line of cookware with a patented MultiCore® construction process is designed especially for this healthful cooking method. A unique merging of metals has created the five-ply construction process that combines durability with heating efficiency. Each pan is fashioned with inner and outer layers of stainless steel that resists pitting, cracking and chipping. Sandwiched between is a core of gentle-heating carbon steel that spreads heat evenly to all areas of the pan. A thick base of aluminum is bonded to the bottom of each pan and the fifth layer is a stainless steel plate to prevent warping and add strength.

Each utensil in this line from West Bend® is designed to form a special relationship with its cover. When cooking begins, the natural moisture present, as well as that clinging to food after rinsing, begins to vaporize. As the vapor condenses on the inside of the cover, a thin film forms between the cover and pan. This is known as the "water seal."

This seal prevents vapor from escaping and the moisture drops back in the pan to thoroughly baste cooking foods. The success of Minimum Moisture Cooking depends on the use of only medium and low heat.

WORD of GOD

Jesus said:

Jesus answered and said unto him, Verily, verily, I say unto thee, Except a man be born again, he cannot see the kingdom of God.

John 3:3

For all have sinned, and come short of the glory of God;

Romans 3:23

in every thing by prayer and supplication with thanksgiving let your requests be made known unto God.

And the peace of God, which passeth all understanding, shall keep your hearts and minds through Christ Jesus.

Philippians 4:4,6,7

For the wages of sin is death; but the gift of God is eternal life through Jesus Christ our Lord.
