Verlin Reeves Retires, 38 Years in Classroom

WHEN the school doors closed behind Miss Verlin Reeves here Monday, she completed an outstanding career as a teacher. She has retired from her chosen work after 38 years in the classroom.

A teacher in Matador's school system for 22 years, Miss Reeves received tributes of praise from parents (many of whom had been her pupils), fellow teachers and students. Her influence as a home rich fruit as evidenced by all who have known her and her work.

Miss Reeves began her teaching career in Stratford in 1913 with a first grade class of 77 pupils which later increased to 104. Later the class was divided and by the end of the year she still had 60 youngsters in her room; the largest class she ever taught. She was a teacher in the Stratford school for two years, taught one year in Dalhart, four years in Mineral Wells and five and one half years in Abilene. She taught two years in Matador, 1922-24, and returned here in 1934 and has been a member of the faculty since that time. (continued on back page)

County Areas Have Planting Moisture

A SERIES of rainstorms spreading across the Texas Panhandle for the past week has brought some relief to the drought emergency.

Some scattered areas of Motley county have received ample moisture to insure planting, while other sectors have reported little more than a trace. The rainfall here has totaled about .60-inch.

Whiteflat and Hornica areas have received 2 inches or more. Some parts of the Teepee Creek country has registered over two inches. Reports from Teepee Flat say 1 to 1 1/2 inches has fallen since the rains started. The southeastern part of the county apparently has received ample rain to insure planting.

Farmers in the Whiteflat community are waiting for their fields to dry sufficiently to start planting cotton.

Four inches of rain and hail were reported in Silverton Monday night. Previously in the week Silverton had registered four inches. Heavy hail reported to have damaged wheat east of Tulla in the Monday night rain and storm front.

Several tornadoes were reported to have been sighted on the South Plains Monday night, although little damage was reported. Amarillo received more than an inch of rain Tuesday night with some hail and wind. The wind destroyed the wall of a church under construction, according to reports.

Life Without Religion Is Void, Seniors Told

"IF you become detached from Jesus, you are void" was the subject of Rev. Ray Manning's message to 15 Matador High School graduates in the Baccalaureate service held in the First Baptist Church Sunday night. He chose his subject from John 15:1-5.

"I am not going to advise you," the dynamic young pastor said, "you have had enough of that—I am going to give you a sermon to live by."

Christ said: "I am the vine, ye are the branches. He that abideth in me, and I in him, shall bring forth much fruit; same bringeth forth much fruit; Fur without me ye can do nothing to live by."

Rev. Manning stressed the opportunities before the graduates as they assume their places as men and women in the world. "All women are not ladies," he said, "in this country of ours to day more women are employed as bar maids, than attend all the colleges."

Returning to his text, he said: "Without Christ there is no incentive, no influence—if you become detached from Jesus, you are void."

Organ professional and recessional were by Mrs. John Stevenson. Scripture reading was by Rev. H. T. Harris. Announcements were made by Supt. Bert Ezzell. Rev. Harris also gave the invocation and benediction in the absence of Rev. W. J. Denham and Rev. L. D. Cleveland.

Commencement for the class was held Monday at 8 p. m. in the high school auditorium, and features of the program was presentation of the class gift by Stanley Neighbors, president. The gift was an audiometer, a piece of equipment needed by the school for testing the hearing ability of the pupil.

More Than She "Bargained" For

Dad Baker retired from active dairying—seven or eight years ago—but still keeps a half-dozen par-breds more or less as a hobby.

Dad goes all-out for these six. Temperature-controlled bars, expensive feed... the works. As a result his milk has a low bacteria count, a high butterfat content. And as a favor to neighbors, he sells it just two cents above the ordinary price.

Recently, a neighbor complained—asked if she couldn't get the milk "at cost." Dad agreed, sent her a bill for exactly what the milk cost: 75¢ a quart.

From where I sit, it's easy to misunderstand if you don't get all the facts. That's why we ought to consider the other fellow's viewpoint before we talk out. For example, you have your reasons for liking particular beverages. I have mine. And whether we're talking about hot buttered milk or beer... let's try to respect each other's point of view.

GOOD LUCK TO YOU

The Diary of Mary White

March 5, 1956, Monday

Nothing happened today that the reporters would want for a headline or even a by-line. Guess some of you would like to hear more about Alaska itself—descriptions of the country, wild life, aurora borealis and such but I am not an ardent observer of nature. I can drink the beauty from an unusual sunset or respond to the rhythm of a pounding surf but taken day in and day out nature does not hold my attention. People are so much more fascinating and I get so engrossed with watching them that I forget I'm in Alaska, or that this country is different from Washington or Texas. I'm oblivious of the fact that my children are Eskimos and I've even ceased to smell them. (My nose is a faithful servant in that it soon grew accustomed to strange smells). I wish some of you could see my little Rosie. Somehow she came into possession of a red bandana kerchief. When she puts it around her head gypsy style she is the perfect one. She sits near the front and near my desk. Several times when I've been busy in the back of the room I've looked up to see Rosie sitting at my desk and holding my book. I look at her and she grins and climbs down. Just seeing how it feels to sit in teacher's place!

My little half-breed, Sonya, already saying "I don't like to live in this dirty little old house" and she is only eight years old. Very intelligent and very beautiful she is. Her father was a Norwegian, employed by CAA and living in Anchorage. He was killed in a plane crash and the Eskimo mother returned to her people in Elim. She is sure to find her "half-breed" status distasteful for, though every so-called white man I know is a mixture of nationalities, the white man in Alaska will not allow her to forget she is half Eskimo. I'm afraid much heartache awaits the mother who is most ambitious for her in the white man's world.

It is cases like this that make me want to hold the white man's head under water until he won't come up. Where, oh where, does he get this white "supremacy" stuff that he swaggers about? There's nothing supreme about looking down the nose at another human being. He's a supreme technician, I grant, and add that he is also a supreme egotist but in the art of love thy neighbor as thyself the Eskimo far out distances him. Those unduly proud of their white skin remind me of the "spoiled rich child". It was by no merit of his that he was born into a rich family; yet he acts as though he personally accomplished the fact. By no merit of mine was I born white. There may I be judged by the things I may accomplish or achieve and let my skin be what it was intended for—a covering for the body—and not a criteria of merit.

As I was checking on lunch during the morning recess period the postmaster's wife came in to get a refill on some medicine she had been taking. I knew her husband had been seal hunting the day before so I inquired as to his luck. She said he got only one and they couldn't eat it because it was a gasoline seal. That struck me as a strange remark so I kept asking. She explained that certain seals smelled exactly like gasoline around the head and flippers. The meat, when cooked, tastes like gasoline. Now, having read that oil deposits are a product of one time marine life my unenlightened mind started wondering what, if any, could be the connection. Needless to say, I didn't have enough scientific knowledge to come to anything more definite than an "I wonder"!

March 7, 1956, Wednesday

The teacher awoke with a feeling that she would like to skip this day. The children didn't want to study and it was too cold to go outside so it doesn't even take imagination to know what this day was like. Started reading Treasure Island and combining word study with it. They like this much better than formal English and so does the teacher. We use our movies to learn new words and bits of history and geography.

that tangent for I did want you to meet some more of my little people. There's Maggie, ten-years old, beautiful brown eyes, startlingly talented in art and by heart could wish. She talks lovingly of a mother she has not seen in two years. The mother is resting in the way they say it. (TB Sanatorium) Billy, my fifth grade boy, who reads incessantly, is an introvert, and will not talk. His mother tells me she hears him crying in his bed sometimes late at night when all others are asleep. He is a dreamer and, ah, I wonder where he goes when he soars away from this drab world in which he lives. I pray that he will find the place God has for him. That he may work out his dreams to the benefit of himself and his people. There's Charlie, with his passion for mathematical precision and his inquiring scientific mind.

Then there's Anna—my secret love. Dependable as the stars and yet as timid and shy as the shiest. She blushes and lowers her eyes when asked for an opinion; yet, when we talk of possible careers or things to help Seward Peninsula she listens intently. I remarked once that I was reading a new book and the author had said "you can be what you want to be. You can have anything you want". I explained what he meant and then quoted, "seek ye shall find, knock and it shall be opened unto you." When I asked if they believed that possible I didn't get a yes or a no from her but I saw her eyes shine and I knew that hope and resolution both crept into her thinking.

I could go on endlessly but I meant only to justify my statement that I was not an ardent naturalist. I am, however, an ardent member of the Read in Bed Club so I shall now indulge in the pleasure of pursuing another's thoughts over the printed page.

sick. She wants me to give them penicillin for she thinks it is a magic cure-all. However, I can't see that either needs penicillin. The boy has stomach trouble which I think is caused from sucking on a funnel through which gasoline had been poured. The girl has large knots swollen on the right side of her jaw. As usual, no radio so can contact neither Nome nor Kotzebue.

AF RESERVES OFFERS CHANCE FOR EDUCATION

AUSTIN, Texas—Now is the time for all good men to come to the aid of their country. These familiar words are particularly applicable to the young Texans of today, says Major General Lewis S. Griffing, Chief of the Texas Military District.

"The Armed Forces Reserve has a program whereby all qualified young men can come to the aid of their country," General Griffing explained, "and with the least interruption to their civilian careers."

General Griffing pointed out that the U. S. Army is implementing a program designed especially for the youths of America. This program is a young man to fulfill his educational obligation while on active duty.

Here's the way it works: A young man who has not finished high school or is in the first year of college can join the Reserve and receive a full college education while on active duty.

Normally he will have to leave during the summer months to attend school. In most instances, he will be called away from school two weeks each summer to attend training camp.

Fifteen In 8th Grade Started Together; Program Features "Building Of The Ship"

Eight years ago, forty first grade pupils were enrolled in Matador Grade School in a formal beginning of their education. Monday morning fifteen of the number received their diplomas in Eighth Grade graduation exercises, together with ten other graduates.

One of the charter members, Riley Rigby, was unable to receive his diploma in person. He had the mumps and had to remain at home, although he had been staying away from home in order not to take the mumps from other members of the family, and also had recovered from injuries received in a recent tractor accident. Longfellow's poem, "Building of the Ship" was the theme of the commencement program, which was "launched" by Clinton Burns in his Salutatory address. The "building" idea was carried through in the class history by Ed D. Smith, class will by Daphne Lynn, prophecy by Thomas Edwards and valedictory address by Linda Seigler as each preceded his or her paper with excerpts from the famous poem. The class poem was given by Linda Kay Rattan, and as their song, the class sang, "Moments to Remember". "Graduation Day" was sung by the Melodettes: Jan Barton, Linda Kay Rattan, Barbara Lane, Edna Williamson, Linda Seigler and Carolyn Pohl.

Processional and recessional were played by Mrs. L. D. Wilkerson, Invocation was by Mrs. I. W. Fish and Benediction by Mrs. Josephine Hamilton. J. E. Edwards, Grade School principal presented the class with their diplomas.

The fifteen graduates who started to school together were: Daphne Lynn, Carolyn Pohl, Jan Barton, Linda Beth Seigler, Robin Darsey, Ed D. Smith, Carl Thompson, Thomas Edwards, Gary Jenkins, Riley Rigby, Jimmy Irwin, Verna Watkins, James Renfro, Andy Fish, and Clinton Burns. The others in the class were: Pete Chambliss, Billy Crenshaw, Leonard Glasscock, Harry Hamilton, Bill Martin, Billy Ray Nivens, Helen Walding, Edna Williamson, Barbara Lane and Linda Kay Rattan.

Mrs. J. E. Edwards is class sponsor. Class motto is, "A quitter never wins and a winner never quits", and class flower is white carnation.

Decorations Outstanding

Form of a ship, complete with waves, decorated the stage and carried out the class colors of blue and white. White and colored tissues in shades of light and dark blue gave a floral appearance to the arrangement. The numerals "56" were in dark blue on the side of the light blue hull of the ship, and twisted crepe streamers in dark blue formed guys and masts. White gulls on the backdrop curtain further accentuated the scene.

Mesdames Edgar Lee, Homer T. Jenkins and Frank Pohl were assisted by other room mothers in decorating the stage.

Grade School Commencement was held at 10 a. m. in the school auditorium, and for the High School Commencement at 8 p. m., the numerals "56" and guys were changed to red to complement the senior colors of red and white.

RELATIVES HERE FOR GRADUATION

A number of week-end visitors in Matador were relatives of Matador Grade School and High School graduates, who came to attend Baccalaureate and Commencement exercises.

Mrs. C. L. Knierim of Bronte was the guest of her daughter and family, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Pohl and Carolyn, an eighth grade graduate. The Pohls accompanied her home Tuesday night and remained over the Memorial Day holiday Wednesday.

Mrs. B. L. Caldwell and small daughter, Carla Lynn of Paducah, were here for all programs. Mrs. Caldwell's brother, Alvin Lynn, was a member of the high school graduating class and their sister, Daphne, was an eighth grade graduate.

Miss Zada Barton of Wichita Falls, was here to see her niece, Edna Williamson, graduate from the eighth grade.

Relatives of Stanley Neighbors, high school graduate, here for Commencement Monday night were his brother and family, Mr. and Mrs. Billy Ray Neighbors and small son, Billy Jud of Fort Worth, and sisters, Barbara Neighbors of Levelland and Mrs. Bill Myers and Mr. Myers of Seagraves.

Mrs. L. J. Bratton of Rochelle was the guest of her sister and family, Dr. and Mrs. Albert Tra-week, Jr., and attended Frank's music graduation recital and also his graduation from high school.

Mr. and Mrs. Sonny Russell and daughters, Marilyn, Linda and Caron of Colorado City, Texas visited their respective parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Russell and Mrs. W. W. Carpenter, and attended the exercises. Mrs. Russell's brother, Maurice Cox, and Mr. Russell's cousin, Richard Hamilton, were high school graduates.

have always considered it unfair for a District Attorney to take advantage of his office to practice civil law and represent vested interests such as the Southwestern Bell Telephone Company and insurance companies. Too often these large corporations are buying the prestige of the District Attorney's Office rather than employing a lawyer. It is unfair to the other lawyers in the District who must earn their living from their private practice without being subsidized by a salary such as the District Attorney draws, and it is unfair to the people, because many times the duties of the office are neglected in order to serve private clients. You can not serve two masters, and for that reason I HEREBY AND NOW PLEDGE TO THE PEOPLE OF THIS DISTRICT THAT IF ELECTED DISTRICT ATTORNEY I WILL NOT ENGAGE IN THE PRIVATE PRACTICE OF THE LAW. I will devote all of my time to the duties of the District Attorney's office and be available at all times to talk with and counsel the peace of the district and other citizens who are interested in fair and impartial law enforcement.

In order that you might know something of my background, I would like to make a few brief statements of a personal nature. I have lived in Dickens County for 41 years and practiced law for 27 years, having served as County Judge of Dickens County for 8 years. As a trial lawyer, I have actively participated in the trial of many cases all over West Texas, and I invite a comparison of my trial experience and ability. My first wife passed away in 1931. We had four fine children, three boys and one daughter. My oldest son, Carlos, is in business in Lubbock, Texas, is married and has two children. His wife teaches in Lubbock Schools.

My second son, Winston, is a lawyer in Lubbock, Texas. He was formerly County Attorney of Dickens County, Texas, and is now a partner in the law firm of Brummett & Kimmel. He is also married and has four children. My youngest son, Dudley, is also a lawyer. He was County Attorney of Lubbock County, Texas for two terms and is now serving his first term as County Judge of Lubbock County. He is married and has two children. My daughter is now Mrs. Rose Q. Smith and lives in Dallas, Texas. She is married and has four children. Although my children came up through the depression, I am proud of the fact that their mother and I gave each of them a college education, and I am proud of the success they have made.

Two of my three sons were in World War II, and Dudley was a bomber pilot. His plane was shot down while on a bombing mission over Germany, and he was a prisoner of war until liberated. I have always tried to be of help in all community matters wherever I lived. For years I served as a member of the Dickens County draft board under appointment of President Roosevelt and President Truman. For six years during the depression I served as United States Conciliation Commissioner for Dickens, Kent, King and Garza Counties and helped distressed farmers who were threatened with foreclosure. I am a member of the Methodist Church.

In 1956 I married Mrs. Harriette Hatcher, a fine lady, who is now County Home Demonstration Agent in Floyd County, Texas. Prior to serving Floyd County as Home Demonstration Agent, she was Home Demonstration Agent in Dickens and Yoakum Counties. We now have her 18 year old daughter in college. We have lived in Floydada, where I am actively engaged in the practice of law, since May of 1955. This district is composed of Floyd, Briscoe, Murray, Dickens Counties, and I see each voter of the district personally. However, if I have an opportunity to see you personally, I hope you will appreciate your candidate. Sincerely yours, H. A. C. Brummett (Paid Post)

Poultry Disease Outbreak Reported

An outbreak of coccidiosis (one of the most destructive diseases of poultry) is reported by County Agent Bill Palmeyer.

"The disease is intestinal," Mr. Palmeyer said, "with each of the eight species of coccidia attacking a particular part of the intestine. The disease organisms go through their life cycle largely in cells of the intestinal lining causing severe hemorrhages when infection is heavy."

"Use of preventative drugs called coccidiostats is widespread, to prevent severe losses and at the same time allow light infection that will develop immunity. This protection is provided by using low preventative levels of certain drugs, in feed until birds are 8 or 9 weeks old."

Mr. Palmeyer said full information on control of the disease might be obtained from his office in the courthouse.
