MOVIE CHATTER

(By A. Rogue)

"Exclusive Story"

Thursday night being watch night there are twenty reasons for attending the show. A very good show is in store for those who attend, the title of which is "Exclusive Story" starring Franchot

Tone and Madge Evans with Stuart Erwin. Ladies, don't forget that Franchot Tone is the husband of Joan Crawford and if you don't know him, get acquainted.

Jackie Cooper will furnish plenty of excitement in "Exclusive Story", where the power of the press days base the "Numbers" racket.

"Yellow Dust"

Here is just the story you have been waiting to see—not just the common type of western picture
we see, but one that takes us back to the gold rush days—The yellow streak of mother earth ran red with greed and glory when Bob Culpepper, (Richard Dix) proud

and daring, ranged the red Sierras
to strike pay dirt and love! See Leila Hyams as the proud beauty of that colorful day in love with the powerful Dix. The name of the story is "Yellow Dust" and Andy Clyde furnishes plenty of comedy. The date is Friday and Saturday. You'll think of covered wagon days when you see this picture.

"Petticoat Fever"

Can you imagine anyone having petticoat fever? Well, believe it or not, that's just what's going to happen at the Rogue Sunday and Monday. Robert Montgomery is the victim and Myrna Loy is the young lady who is the cause of all the suffering. If you should get trapped like these young lovers
then you, too, might have "Petticoat Fever". See this picture! Also Major Bowes—What could be better than hearing Major Bowes?
Seeing him, of course and that's what you can do when you see
"Petticoat Fever". Major Bowes, himself, and his entertainers will be on the screen Sunday and Monday at the Rogue.

Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Stearns made a business trip to Plainview Wednesday.

What Must A Church Do To Live

Prepared and given by Clay Gilbert for Men's Night May 1st at the Methodist Church. Published by request of Rev. D. D. Denison.

In the beginning I will base my talk on the following scripture found in Matthew. "Upon this rock I build my Church". First let me compare the Church with any other structure. A structure can be no stronger than the foundation that supports it. No great building, no great bridge that spans a river, no great tower can ever be expected to stand any length of time without a strong foundation. A foundation that is securely placed far into the ground so there can possibly be no settling or slipping. So it is with a Church. In order for a Church to stand the storms and winds and rains of time there must be a truly great foundation. But the Church has the advantage of an ordinary structure for there has never been known a building to be erected and then a foundation built. With a Church it is different, regardless of how weak or how strong a foundation it can always be strengthened. New concrete in the form of willing workers, new steel in the form of converted sinners and new members, new rocks in the form of carefully planned programs can be poured, placed and packed under the Church until it is indestructible to the wildest of the storms of life and the tempests that can be caused by man alone.

We are the foundation under our Church. We ordinary human beings, strengthened by the Grace of Almighty God are made into the strongness of concrete, into the toughness of Damascus steel and into the firmness of marble or granite. We then, are the materials with which can be wrought a great or a weak foundation. We are the rock on which God builds his Church or we are the sands on which the man build his house, the foundation under the structure which the Gates of Hell shall not prevail against or the crumbling, shifting sand under the house that is swept away by the winds and rains. Let us then broaden our shoulders with the strength that is given from God only for the asking, let us build for ourselves bulging muscles so we may more ably hold up this mighty Church that God has built for us. Let each of us say from the depth of our hearts that by the Grace of Almighty God we will do our part in making of an impregnable foundation. Let each of us use as our warcry "On this rock I build my Church and the Gates of Hell shall not prevail against it."

Now let me talk to you about the necessity of carrying the Church home with you. Your part in the Church does not begin when you enter the door on Sunday morning nor does it end the minute you leave the office and go to your home. I wonder how many of us are guilty of just going to church and then going home with a contented feeling that we have done all that is required of us. Do we say, "Well, I have gone to church and listened to the preacher so I guess that is pretty good for me?" Well, let me tell you that if we hear and do not heed or try to do anything about it, it isn't going to do us much good. I say take the Church home with you. Live with it, talk about it and above all do something about it. If we can only do honest we are not doing very much for the good of humanity. There are too many homes today that lack the spirit of good old-fashioned Christian fathers and mothers. Mothers that will teach their children and other peoples children to turn their thoughts and actions toward God. So I say one of the best ways to keep the church alive is to take it home with you.

Now for another angle on keeping the Church alive. What I'm thinking of is publicity. How many of us are boosters for our Church? How many of us tell others what a great thing the Church is? Why don't we? Are we ashamed of our Church? Do we want to keep our activities a secret? Do we want to deprive others of having wonderful experiences in our Church? To the first two questions I think I can answer—not very many. As to why we don't boost our church I don't know but of this I am sure that if we talk our Church more each and every one of us could induce some outsider to come and taste the goodness that we now enjoy. A church is not like a piece of candy or a pie to be eaten and enjoyed by a very few but rather a pitcher of Baccus with a never ceasing flow of milk and honey to be enjoyed by all who care to eat and drink thereof. So let us not be selfish with our Church, let us talk it and share it with all we can induce to partake. If large manufacturing firms can sell their wares by advertising, why can't we? Just remember this that a word said for the church may pay big dividends in the form of conversions and new members and consequently more boosters for the Church.

I will now paint for you another picture. Let us look at a large tree spreading its branches in all directions. Dense foliage covers it. Beneath this tree is a clearing truly a haven to a weary traveler who seeks rest. Now let us see what cause this tree to be there and what maintains it. God created it to begin with and supplied it with roots with which to be nourished. Tiny roots to begin with are blossoms and fruit. These tiny roots grow and reach farther and farther in search of food with which to feed the tree finally sprouting more roots itself to gather nourishment until a veritable network of gathers are reaching in all directions. Now comes the ugly part of the scene. Along the branches are clumps of mistletoes. Of course they are beautiful but parasite just the same, content to just grow there and allow the tree to nourish them.

So let us compare the Church to the tree. The Church is the body and branches and leaves and fruit and we are the roots. We must spread ourselves out in all directions in order for the church to have succulence and flourish. Each root from the smallest to the largest has a distinct part to play. Each root that is cut off from the Church causes it to become sicker and if all the roots are cut off the Church must surely die. So let us not be mistletoe but real live active roots and spread out to gather material and send our offsprings in the same direction.

Let me say just a few things about the leaders in the Church. In all things as well as the Church there must be competent leaders. There are usually about two percent leaders and ninety-eight percent followers. So let us pick out a good man or I should have said some good men and follow them; if we can't all be leaders we can at least be good followers. And it is going to be up to the leaders to try out and test all the new members to see if they would make good leaders. Only too often good material is passed up in men because they have never been given the chance to prove their mettle. So let us not pass anyone up without giving him a chance to prove his qualities.

Another thought I would like to leave with you is that Christ is at the head of the Church. From him comes all blessings and through him alone can we receive eternal life. Our minister is a chosen emissary from God through whom all his messages are sent and it is our duty and privilege to co-operate with him. In all our thoughts and deeds let us bear in mind that all things come from the Almighty.

In closing let me repeat "On this rock I build my Church and the Gates of Hell shall not prevail against it".

GLEANINGS FROM THE TEXAS PRESS

Those candidates for governor who are trying to make political capital out of the fact that Governor Allred has visited a great many Texas communities during his term and officiated frequently at such affairs as bridge openings, cornerstone-layings and queen crownings, do not seem to be showing good judgment. To criticize the governor for attending these functions is to criticize the communities which invited him. Governor Allred has not gone anywhere except when urgently invited to do so. To jeer at him for participating in community affairs is to slap at the communities themselves. Which isn't real good politics.

There is another angle to this business and it is time for some politicians to realize it. It is just this: Texas has had enough provincial governors, and it doesn't want any more. There have been governors in the past who seemed to think that 98th meridian was the western boundary of Texas. West Texas, into which Governor Allred has made a number of trips is glad that he has made the most of every opportunity to get acquainted with this section and its needs and problems. It is not inclined to look with favor on candidates who so blatantly proclaim their provincialism.

Texas, the Centennial celebration state, is as large as Main, New Hampshire, Vermont, Massachusetts, Rhode Island, New Jersey, Connecticut, New York, Delaware, Pennsylvania, Ohio and Illinois.

You'll be safer on Royals

You'll finish your trip (but not your engine) with alloyed oil...Lots different!

Maybe you've streaked four or five hundred miles since sun-up. In safe places perhaps your speedometer hit "tops." And it was hot enough for you all day. But you're not one of those drivers who lie awake wondering what happened in the engine. It didn't happen if you started out with Germ Processed, the alloyed oil, and there are positive reasons why.

The big reason is that alloyed oil goes far beyond plain oil-film protection. It's true that the patented Conoco Germ Process of alloying oil—unlike other

"latest methods"—actually steps up film strength tremendously. But alloying does something even greater. It enables oil and metal to UNITE. All surfaces—even the most sensitive bearing surfaces in any engine become completely PLATED with this alloyed oil. It's IN all working surfaces, and then the extra-strong Germ Processed oil-film slides between!

Here's a combination only alloyed oil can give you. All you've got to do is to swing in at the sign of the Red Triangle. Continental Oil Company.

"Exclusive Story"

Thursday night being watch
night there are twenty reasons for
attending the show. A very good show is in store for those who attend, the title of which is "Exclusive Story" starring Franchot Tone and Madge Evans with Stuart Erwin. Ladies, don't forget that Franchot Tone is the husband of Joan Crawford and if you don't know him get acquainted. Jackie Cooper will furnish plenty of excitement in "Exclusive Story", where the power of the press days base the "Numbers" racket.

"Yellow Dust"

Here is just the story you have
been waiting to see—not just the
common type of western picture
we see, but one that takes us back
to the gold rush days—The yellow
streak of mother earth ran red
with greed and glory when Bob
Culpepper, (Richard Dix) proud

and daring, ranged the red Sierras

to strike pay dirt and love! See
Leila Hyams as the proud beauty
of that colorful day in love with
the powerful Dix. The name of the story is "Yellow Dust" and Andy Clyde furnishes plenty of comedy. The date is Friday and Saturday. You'll think of covered wagon days when you see this
picture.

"Petticoat Fever"

Can you imagine anyone having
petticoat fever? Well, believe it
or not, that's just what's going to happen at the Rogue Sunday and Monday. Robert Montgomery is
the victim and Myrna Loy is the
young lady who is the cause of
all the suffering. If you should get
trapped like these young lovers
then you, too, might have "Petticoat Fever". See this picture! Also Major Bowes—What could be
better than hearing Major Bowes?
Seeing him, of course and that's
what you can do when you see
"Petticoat Fever". Major Bowes,
himself, and his entertainers will be on the screen Sunday and Monday at the Rogue.

What Must A Church Do To Live

Prepared and given by Clay Gilbert for Men's Night May 1st at the Methodist Church. Published by request of Rev. D. D. Denison.

In the beginning I will base my talk on the following scripture found in Matthew. "Upon this rock I build my Church". First let me compare the Church with any other structure. A structure can be no stronger than the foundation that supports it. No great building, no great bridge that spans a river, no great tower can ever be expected to stand any length of time without a strong foundation. A foundation that is securely placed far into the ground so there can possibly be no settling or slipping. So it is with a Church. In order for a Church to stand the storms and winds and rains of time there must be a truly great foundation. But the Church has the advantage of an ordinary structure for there has never been known a building to be erected and then a foundation built. With a Church it is different, regardless of how weak or how strong a foundation it can always be strengthened. New concrete in the form of willing workers, new steel in the form of converted sinners and new members, new rocks in the form of carefully planned programs can be poured, placed and packed under the Church until it is indestructible to the wildest of the storms of life and the tempests that can be caused by man alone.

We are the foundation under our Church. We ordinary human beings, strengthened by the Grace of Almighty God are made into the strongness of concrete, into the toughness of Damascus steel and into the firmness of marble or granite. We then, are the materials with which can be wrought a great or a weak foundation. We are the rock on which God builds his Church or we are the sands on which the man build his house, the foundation under the structure which the Gates of Hell shall not prevail against or the crumbling, shifting sand under the house that is swept away by the winds and rains. Let us then broaden our shoulders with the strength that is given from God only for the asking, let us build for ourselves bulging muscles so we may more ably hold up this mighty Church that God has built for us. Let each of us say from the depth of our hearts that by the Grace of Almighty God we will do our part in making of an impregnable foundation. Let each of us use as our wares "On this rock I build my Church and the Gates of Hell shall not prevail against it."

Church home with you. Your part in the Church does not begin when you enter the door on Sunday morning nor does it end the minute you leave the office and go to your home. I wonder how many of us are guilty of just going to church and then going home with a contented feeling that we have done all that is required of us. Do we say, "Well, I have gone to church and listened to the preacher so I guess that is pretty good for me?" Well, let me tell you that if we hear and do not heed or try to do anything about it, it isn't going to do us much good. I say take the Church home with you. Live with it; talk about it and above all do something about it. If we can only do honest we are not doing very much for the good of humanity. There are too many homes today that lack the spirit of good old-fashioned Christian fathers and mothers. Mothers that will teach their children and other peoples children to turn their thoughts and actions toward God. So I say one of the best ways to keep the church alive is to take it home with you.

Now for another angle on keeping the Church alive. What I'm thinking of is publicity. How many of us are boosters for our Church? How many of us tell others what a great thing the Church is? Why don't we? Are we ashamed of our Church? Do we want to keep our activities a secret? Do we want to deprive others of having wonderful experiences in our Church? To the first two questions I think I can answer—not very many. As to why we don't boost our church I don't know but of this I am sure that if we talk our Church more each and every one of us could induce some outsider to come and taste the goodness that we now enjoy. A church is not like a piece of candy or a pie to be eaten and enjoyed by a very few but rather a pitcher of Baccus with a never ceasing flow of milk and honey to be enjoyed by all who care to eat and drink thereof. So let us not be selfish with our Church, let us talk it and share it with all we can induce to partake. If large manufacturing firms can sell their wares by advertising, why can't we? Just remember this that a word said for the church may pay big dividends in the form of conversions and new members and consequently more boosters for the Church.

I will now paint for you another picture. Let us look at a large tree spreading its branches in all directions. Dense foliage covers it. Beneath this tree is a clearing truly a haven to a weary traveler who seeks rest. Now let us see what cause this tree to be there and what maintains it. God created it to begin with and supplied it with roots with which to be nourished. Tiny roots to begin with are blossoms and fruit. These tiny roots grow and reach farther and farther in search of food with which to feed the tree finally sprouting more roots itself to gather nourishment until a veritable network of gathers are reaching in all directions. Now comes the ugly part of the scene. Along the branches are clumps of mistletoes. Of course they are beautiful but parasite just the same, content to just grow there and allow the tree to nourish them.

So let us compare the Church to the tree. The Church is the body and branches and leaves and fruit and we are the roots. We must spread ourselves out in all directions in order for the church to have succulence and flourish. Each root from the smallest to the largest has a distinct part to play. Each root that is cut off from the Church causes it to become sicker and if all the roots are cut off the Church must surely die. So let us not be mistletoe but real live active roots and spread out to gather material and send our offsprings in the same direction.

Let me say just a few things about the leaders in the Church. In all things as well as the Church there must be competent leaders. There are usually about two percent leaders and ninety-eight percent followers. So let us pick out a good man or I should have said some good men and follow them; if we can't all be leaders we can at least be good followers. And it is going to be up to the leaders to try out and test all the new members to see if they would make good leaders. Only too often good material is passed up in men because they have never been given the chance to prove their mettle. So let us not pass anyone up without giving him a chance to prove his qualities.

Another thought I would like to leave with you is that Christ is at the head of the Church. From him comes all blessings and through him alone can we receive eternal life. Our minister is a chosen emissary from God through whom all his messages are sent and it is our duty and privilege to co-operate with him. In all our thoughts and deeds let us bear in mind that all things come from the Almighty.

In closing let me repeat "On this rock I build my Church and the Gates of Hell shall not prevail against it".

You'll finish your trip (but not your engine) with alloyed oil... Lots different!

Maybe you've streaked four or five hundred miles since sun-up. In safe places perhaps your speedometer hit "tops." And it was hot enough for you all day. But you're not one of those drivers who lie awake wondering what happened in the engine. It didn't happen if you started out with Germ Processed, the alloyed oil, and there are positive reasons why.

The big reason is that alloyed oil goes far beyond plain oil-film protection. It's true that the patented Conoco Germ Process of alloying oil—unlike other

"latest methods"—actually steps up film strength tremendously. But alloying does something even greater. It enables oil and metal to UNITE.

All surfaces—even the most sensitive bearing surfaces in any engine become completely PLATED with this alloyed oil. It's IN all working surfaces, and then the extra-strong Germ Processed oil-film slides between!
