The "Victory Bell" at the First Baptist Church pealed out Friday night following the second consecutive conference victory for the Matador Matadors."

EARLY DEADLINE FOR NEXT WEEK'S PAPER

Due to Thanksgiving, our paper will be printed a day early, on Tuesday instead of our regular Wednesday print day, next week. We will have an early deadline for next week's paper.

All news and ad copy must be in our office by no later than noon Monday, November 24, for our Thursday, November 27 issue. Items may also be brought to the office on Friday, November 21, which will help greatly. Papers will be mailed out on Tuesday afternoon and will probably be in your mail box on Wednesday morning.

Thank you for your cooperation. Our office will be closed for the Thanksgiving holiday next Thursday and Friday, November 27 and 28.

Christmas Paper Deadline Coming Up

The deadline for the annual Motley County Tribune Christmas edition is coming up soon! The Christmas edition will be our December 25th edition, Christmas Day, but will be printed on Tuesday, December 23rd. But the deadline for all Santa Letters, special Christmas stories, pictures, etc. will be Friday, December 12. All regular news copy, ads, etc. for that week must be in no later than Monday, Dec. 22, and would be better if some items could be in on that Friday.

We realize that this sounds very confusing, and we apologize for that, but due to Christmas falling on a Thursday, and early print dates, we have no other choice in order to get everything done for that issue.

We appreciate your cooperation!

Chamber Board Meets Tonight

The Motley County Chamber of Commerce Board of Directors meet tonight at 7 p.m. at the Library for their regular monthly meeting. The main agenda topic will be planning for the 1998 Shannon Davidson Pony Express Days. Chamber members and interested community members are always welcome to attend. Call Jeff Thacker or Charles Keith if you have questions.

Three McAdoo Businesses Burglarized November 5

NOTE: This article is from The Texas Spur.

A series of break-ins in McAdoo is currently under investigation by the Dickens County Sheriff's Department.

Three McAdoo businesses were burglarized in the early morning hours of Wednesday, November 5.

According to Dickens County Deputy Sheriff Jimmy Land, the three

LEARNING EVERYDAY — Third grade students, Marc Henzler, Herman Garza, and Angelica Mendoza, are learning something new from their workbook, as their teacher, Mrs. Tonya Price gives them instructions. This week is American Education Week. Mrs. Price is only one Motley County teacher who deserves a pat on the back during this week of recognition to the unsung heroes of education.

American Education Week Time to Celebrate Unsung Heroes of Education

During the week before Thanksgiving, communities coast to coast will pause to give thanks to the people who work to educate America's children. American Education Week, now in its 76th year, will be observed November 16-22.

"American Education Week is a time to celebrate our schools and salute the unsung heroes of education," explains Bob Chase, president of the National Education Association (NEA). "It's also a time to recognize those small miracles that happen every day in our classrooms, and to acknowledge the thousands of success stories in schools across the nation."

Public School Teachers
The teaching profession is highly regarded by the American public. Americans believe teaching is the profession most beneficial to society, according to a poll conducted by Recruiting New Teachers, Inc. and the Advertising Council. And a recent Harris Poll found that the only professionals held in higher esteem than teachers were doctors and scientists.

Today's public school teachers are better educated and have more classroom experience than their predecessors. More than half (56.2 percent) hold one or more advanced degrees. Half have been educators for at least 15 years, and more than one-third (38 percent) have taught for two decades.

Teachers are dedicated professionals. They spend more than $400 of their own money to meet the classroom needs of their students. And, they work an average of 49.3 hours a week, some thirteen hours more than the average school contract requires.

Public school teachers are working to improve the quality of their students' education by promoting the implementing school reforms. More than half of all teachers are participating on decision-making committees involving the operations of their schools.

The total number of public school teachers for grades K-12 is 2,644,000. Two million new teachers will be needed over the next 10 years to replace an aging teaching force and a growing student population.

Public School Students
Student test scores are up, the number of test takers is more diverse, and students are taking difficult courses. The results of three major tests of educational achievement -- SAT, ACT, and National Assessment of Educational Progress (ANEP) -- have shown steady gains over the past two decades. In addition, fourth graders made impressive scores in math and science, outperforming their counterparts in most other countries, according to the Third International Mathematics and Science (TIMSS) study.

The projected public school enrollment in grades K-12 reached 46,353,000 students in the 1997-98 school year.

Public Schools
The American public supports public education. According to the latest Phi Delta Kappa/Gallup Poll, most Americans believe their local schools are doing a good job of preparing children for jobs of the future.

Community Thanksgiving Services Set for Matador and Roaring Springs

Community Thanksgiving Services will be held Sunday, November 23. Services for the Roaring Springs Community will be hosted this year by the First Methodist Church of Roaring Springs at 5:30 p.m. The Reverend Willie Windham, pastor of Mt. Zion Baptist Church, will bring the message. There will be special music from each church. The public is especially invited to attend.

Thanksgiving Services for Matador will be at the First Assembly of God, 910 N. Bundy, beginning at 7:00 p.m. The Reverend Monte Wike, pastor of First United Methodist Church of Matador and Roaring Springs, will be the speaker. His message is entitled

"Supper's Ready!" Special music is planned. An offering will be received for the Ministerial Alliance of Matador/Roaring Springs for their help with needy and transient families. A fellowship will be hosted afterwards at First United Methodist Church, 902 Dundee. Everyone is welcome.

RS Community Volunteers Receive $20,000 Grant

The Roaring Springs Community Volunteers were recently notified by the Hillcrest Foundation that they have been awarded a $20,000.00 grant to be used for their community center. The grant, given by the Hillcrest Foundation, founded by Mrs. W.W. Carruth Sr., is headquartered in Dallas.

The Community Volunteers also have a commitment from the CH Foundation in Lubbock for a $10,000.00 grant to be given in December.

Matador City Council planning to purchase acreage for landfill expansion

The Matador City Council met Thursday, November 13 at 7:30 a.m. All Council members were present. Also attending the meeting were City Employees, Terry Carson and Steve Barton, and City Secretary Seven Alexander.

Councilman James Meador gave the invocation. The meeting was called to order by Mayor Gary Lancaster. Minutes and bills were read and approved.

The Council acted on a resolution to sell some city lots by allowing the Mayor to act in the City's behalf to sell the lots. Glenn Woodruff purchased the lots.

Council discussed landfill expansion. The Council is now in the process of having some land surveyed to purchase more land for expansion.

Mayor Lancaster read a letter from the School Board asking the City for help concerning speeding on Scotch Street. The Council voted to post 30 mph signs at both ends of Scotch Street and Bundy Street.

Meeting adjourned.

ATTENDS FIRE SCHOOL — Motley County Farm Bureau President, Darrell Cruse, presents Lee Jones with a check for a Fire School he recently attended. The Texas Firemen's Training School was held at Texas A&M University. The Municipal Fire School offered many courses in firefighting, rescue, and fire department maintenance operations. Lee completed the Firefighting I course. He is a 1996 graduate of Motley County High School and the son of Jerry and Shane Jones of Matador.

HERD OF DEER — This large herd of deer were grazing just west of Matador when this picture was taken. Large groups of deer have been seen close to highways, with many crossing, so caution has been urged to watch for deer when driving.

We all have had teachers who were big influences in our lives. I guess all my teachers made some kind of impression in my life. When you think of that - how much of an influence our teachers are on our children's lives, we really do need to appreciate the work they do.

I remember my first grade teacher, Mrs. Sloan. Of course I learned all the first, new important stuff in her class, but what I remember most about her is her white hair and that she always smelled like a peppermint. She kept them in her purse for a recess treat.

My second grade teacher, Mrs. Miller, taught us the Lord's Prayer. It's a shame they can't teach those kind of things in school now. When we learned it, she rewarded us with a Bible bookmark, which had the Lord's Prayer written on it.

My third grade teacher, Mrs. Stearns, was our best friend. I remember thinking that Mrs. Stearns was the most beautiful teacher in school. She was tall, slim, dark haired and stately. We, third grade students admired her so much.

For some reason my fourth grade teacher must not have made much of an impression on me, I'm ashamed to say that I can't remember her name. Isn't that terrible?

But my fifth grade teacher, Mrs. Keahey, I will never forget. She ruled her class with an iron thumb. When she told us to do something, we knew we better do it. When she wanted us to learn something, you better believe we learned it. Mrs. Keahey made quite an impression on every student she ever taught, I'm sure. When I grew up and looked back on my elementary years, I think I remember what I learned in fifth grade more than any. In later years, as a young mother, I was a neighbor to Mrs. Keahey. I thought she looked the same as she looked as my fifth grade teacher. But somehow now we were friends and neighbors. We enjoyed visiting, and she was always so sweet and caring to my son. And Jeremy adored her. When we moved to Matador, we missed her so.

There were also Jr. High and High School teachers who I will never forget. Mrs. Timmons, my high school English teacher for one, and Mr. Martin, my Government teacher, or Mrs. Darsey, my typing and shorthand teacher. I will always be thankful to Mrs. Darsey for my typing techniques, because they led me into my career.

My son also had several teachers who made big impressions in his life and in mine. I could go on and on. As I said, I know we all have had important teachers in our lives. During this week of American Education Week, let's take the time to thank one of our teachers and let them know we appreciate them for the work they do.

Get the facts about Texas libraries: Nearly 75 percent of Texas' public libraries serve communities with less than 25,000 citizens. Sixteen communities with fewer than 1,000 citizens have public libraries. (Information courtesy of the Texas Library Association).

I want to thank Earline Vaughn for filling in at the library for me last Friday and tomorrow, also. Tomorrow I will attend a meeting of the West Texas Library System, the organization that helps us buy books. We will discuss and vote on budgets for the next year. Without Earline's willingness to give extra time to the library, I could not attend and we would not have a voice on these important money matters.

New books in the library include Larry McMurtry's Comanche Moon, James A. Thom's The Red Heart, Susan Wittig Albert's newest, Love Lies Bleeding, and James Patterson's Cat & Mouse. For the younger readers we have Philip Pullman's The Subtle Knife and Steve Augarde's Tractor Trouble.

For children of all ages, we have the four new books based on Louisa May Alcott's Little Women. These are called Meg's Story, Jo's Story, Beth's Story, and Amy's Story. All these new books and many more are ready to be checked out from the Motley County Library.

Nelda Laney presented a book on the Texas Capitol to the Motley County Library when she presented a program on renovation at the Texas State Capitol, Sunday at the Library. Mrs. Laney is the wife of Texas House Speaker, Pete Laney.

Jeff Thigten Guest Speaker at Do Gooders Club Meeting

Jeff Thigten of Childress, area business manager of West Texas Utilities Company, was the guest speaker at the Do Gooders' Club, Wednesday afternoon, November 5 at the Community Center in Flomot.

Mr. Thigten presented a very informative and educational program on Renewable Energy. He had a video showing how wind and sun could be converted into electrical power. He said at the present time, it is too expensive a project for general use, but at the sites where it is in production had proven successful. It is a future endeavor to extend this energy service.

Thanksgiving decor was on display throughout the building. Mrs. Edith Washington and Mrs. Erma Washington presided at a table laid with a lace cloth. The centerpiece was a colorful sunflower arrangement encircled by autumn leaves and turkeys. They served hors d'oeuvres, applesauce cake, cookies, spiced tea and coffee.

Mrs. B. Rogers conducted the business session. They reported good attendance and profit on the Club's Bazaar held Nov. 1. They voted to see about accommodations needed for mounting and exhibiting of Flomot School pictures.

Members attending were Mesdames Alma Shorter, Jimmie Hunter, Judy True, Barbara Payne, Nada Starkey, Tommie Jo Cruse, Annie B. Cloyd, Trula Martin, B. Rogers, Edith

Central Texas author of mysteries, Susan Whiting Albert. Mrs. Albert is famous for her novels that feature the name of a plant or herb in the title. She and her husband, William J. Albert, collaborate on Victorian mysteries, writing under the pen name Robin Paige.

The author of the popular True Women, Janice Woods Windle was also a presenter at the festival. She was on the panel with Doug Richardson and Mary Willis Walker. Their presentation, entitled "I Liked My Book Better: Surviving Film Treatment", detailed their trials and tribulations with the film industry as their books were made into movies.

The Texas Book Festival was a marvelous showcase of Texas authors, illustrators, and story tellers, and it was quite enjoyable. For all you "book-a-holics" the festival will be November 13 and 14 in 1998. If you like books, you will find the Texas Book Festival to be an exciting experience and well worth the effort to attend.

Washington and Erma Washington. Guests were Mrs. Oma Lee George and Mrs. Sue Barrett of Bovina and Mr. and Mrs. D.M. "Ikie" Gilbert of Quitaque.

Look Who's New

Ty Garrett Adams

Dylan Adams would like to announce the arrival of his little brother, Ty.

Ty was born October 24, 1997 at 12:26 p.m. at Methodist Hospital in Lubbock. He weighed 8 pounds 11 ounces and was 21 1/4 inches long.

Dylan and Ty are the children of James and Jennifer Adams of Roaring Springs.

Grandparents are Debbie Maines of Comanche, James and Pat Palmer of Eureka, Kansas, and Harold and Cheryl Adams of Drylake.

Great-grandparents are J.D. and Zella Palmer of Roaring Springs, Dorothy Seavone of Stephenville, Bonnie Hudson of Dickens, and Leo and Lillie Mae Griffin of Stamford Lake.

Karlee Clay Kleibrink

Lori and Kevon Kleibrink of Clifton are the proud parents of a baby daughter, Karlee Clay, born at 6:37 p.m., Monday November 3, 1997 at Hillcrest Hospital in Waco. She weighed eight pounds, fourteen ounces and was 21 1/2 inches long.

Welcoming the new arrival is her three year old brother, Kyles; grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Ike Clay of Flomot and Mr. and Mrs. Von Kleibrink of Clifton; great grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Bud Driver of Stephenville and Mr. and Mrs. Bill Kleibrink of Clifton.

Suzanne Abbott, Motley County Librarian, right, and Patricia Green of Roaring Springs attended the 1997 Texas Book Festival held in Austin recently.

Motley County Librarian Suzanne-Abbott, and Patricia Green attended the Texas Book Festival in Austin, November 1 and 2, held on the Capitol Grounds. The two ladies served as volunteers the first day and enjoyed the session the second day. The following is their account of the Texas Book Festival.

Last year the Texas Book Festival raised $127,000 which was distributed as grant money to small public libraries. This year more than 100 Texas authors participated in panel discussions, book readings, and book signings in order to raise that much money or more which will also be available in grants to libraries.

First Lady of Texas Laura Bush opened the Festival in the House Chamber by welcoming the participants and introducing keynote speaker Larry McMurtry and his collaborator Diana Ossana. Mr. McMurtry opened his presentation by saying that he was glad to see so many book lovers in the Chamber on the opening day of Quail Season. In describing his writing process, Mr. McMurtry revealed that he still uses a manual typewriter to produce a set, five pages a day, seven days a week, until the book is done.

Mr. McMurtry is currently in the process of making his hometown, Archer City, into a "book town". He has moved much of his private collection of books into a store there called Booked Up, Inc. Mr. McMurtry mentioned that on any given weekend there will be 80 to 90 people in Archer City, browsing through his store.

After the opening session, Texas authors participated in panel discussions or gave readings of their works.

When each session ended, the authors then went to the book signing tent where the public could have a book signed by the writers.

Special tents were set up to house children's activities, story telling and book signing. One of the most popular authors at the children's venue was John Erickson, creator of Hank the Cowdog. Since illustrations in children's books are so important, a very popular session was the illustration demonstration by Felicia Bend.

One of the most popular adult sessions was that by Kinky Friedman, reading from his latest mystery novel, Roadkill. Mr. Friedman also gave a musical performance in the Festival Entertainment Tent.

Selecting a session was difficult since many ran simultaneously and there were so many choices. "Outlaws and Lawmen: The Good, the Bad and the Ugly" featured Suzann Ledbetter, Mike Cox, and Preston Lewis telling how they choose which outlaw and which lawman to write about since Texas has so many famous ones in each category. Suzann Ledbetter's latest book Pure Justice has a frontier woman seeking revenge against John Wesley Harding. Mike Cox, the newspaper columnist, writes Texas Ranger stories and Preston Lewis, the Director of Development and External Relations for the Texas Tech University Library and Southwest Collection, has written 18 western novels. Mix-Up at the O.K. Corral is his latest work.

Elmer Kelton gave two presentations and could be seen in attendance at many others. Also present was Friendship is a beautiful thing. Such a relationship describes the union of two kindred spirits, two hearts that are joined by some common bond. These unions are often very strong and extremely durable, surviving such stresses as change, distance, even time. What would you do for your friend, how far would you go?

One of the key factors in friendships is loyalty. Loyalty in its essence is the ability and desire to support someone no matter the cost. Such relationships also require commonality in direction and purpose. How would you describe your best friend? What kind of things do you share with each other? How has your friend affected your life?

Our friendships affect who we are, and how we live. It is for this reason that the Lord warns us to prayerfully consider who our friends are and what influence they have on us. "Do not be deceived: Bad company corrupts good morals" I Cor. 15:33.

The most important consideration is our friendship or allegiance with the world. While we must live in the world, we must take care that we are not led or influenced by the world. God's direction and the direction of our world are not parallel or compatible. We need to habitually remind ourselves that we are children of God's, redeemed for His purpose. When we are making decisions, charting our future, seeking to balance our time, prioritizing our activities, let us be influenced by God. Let us live as God's best friend.

A teacher asked a boy, "Can you give me some proof that we have religious liberty in America?"

"Yes, ma'am," he answered. "Anybody can join any church he desires, and then attend the meetings as seldom as he wants to, and still remain on the roll."

How true!
But when a farmer stops plowing his land, stops planting the seed, and stops harvesting, he has stopped doing the things that identify him as a farmer.

When a Christian stops reading the Bible, stops praying and stops going to church, he has stopped doing the things that identify him as a Christian.

The Bible says, "Let us not neglect our church meetings, as some people do."

School District Recognizes Local Veterans

by Charles Keith

The Motley County Independent School District, assisted by members of the Mator American Legion Post 337, held a Veterans Day Program last Wednesday morning, November 12.

The program was presented entirely by students to make the student body and community more aware of Veterans Day and its true meaning, and to recognize the veterans of Motley County. A special addition to the program was the appearance of the Marine Corps Color Guard in their dress blues. Members of the Color Guard were Marines from Direct Support, Motor Transport Company B, 6th Motor Transport Battalion, 4th Force Service Support Group in Lubbock.

Students assigned key roles in the program: ShaVonne Taylor, Kim Ashley, Kareema Johnson, Scott Smith, Ryan Martin, Keane Cruse, and Margaret Mangram. The Motley County High School Choir, under the direction of Beverly Mars, presented a medley of patriotic songs that were well received by all in attendance. The program ended with everyone singing

"God Bless America", then TAPS was sounded, and at the conclusion, the Color Guard retired the colors.

Motley County Veterans in attendance and receiving special recognition were: World War II - Luther Green, Blake (Bud) Barton, James Meador, Bill Hand, Jewel Lawrence, and Gene Brannon; Korean War - Bill Hemphill, R.C. Giesecke, E.G. Reed, and Pete Williams; Vietnam War - Charles Keith, Jerry Green, Michael Crowley, Gerald Pipkin, Jesse Turner, and Alan Bingham. All the veterans present were proud and felt honored to be recognized with a special program.

Have a good week!

TxDOT Joins Forces With Criminal Justice Agencies To Maintain Roadways

(Austin, Tx) — With the passage of House Bill 2825 this past legislative session, the Texas Department of Transportation (TxDOT) will get some much welcomed help in maintaining state roadways from an unlikely partner - the criminal justice system. In its monthly meeting recently, the Texas Transportation Commission authorized TxDOT to develop a program to work with criminal justice agencies. Under legislation by Rep. Allen Place, D-Gatesville, the Texas Transportation Commission can contract with criminal justice agencies, including community supervision and corrections departments and county sheriff's departments with a county farm, workhouse or correctional center program for inmate and probationer labor. The legislation allows TxDOT to use inmates and probationers to assist in highway improvement projects. Anticipated projects include activities such as cleaning debris under bridges, trimming trees and brush, painting, and removing graffiti and picking up litter from rights-of-way. TxDOT already has a similar agreement with the Texas Department of Criminal Justice (TDCJ). In fiscal 1997, TDCJ inmates participated in more than 300 roadway improvement projects around the state, logging in more than 130,000 hours. "We are grateful to Rep. Place for help in maintaining the state's massive roadway system," said David Laney, Texas Transportation Commissioner. "This legislation allows us to broaden our relationships with the criminal justice system, and with our growing responsibilities, TxDOT looks forward to working with other agencies for the benefit of Texas." In the coming months, TxDOT will develop policies and procedures to implement this new program.

OVERHEARD

When I was a student, I was quiet; I didn't protest, I didn't riot; I wasn't unwashed, I wasn't obscene. I made no demands on prexy or dean. I sat in no sit-ins, I heckled no speaker, I broke not a window, few students were meeker. I'm forced to admit, with some hesitation, All I got out of school was an education.

Global event celebrates contributions of rural women

Last month, governments, private organizations and individuals from around the globe celebrated the work of a group that comprises more than one-quarter of the world's population - rural women. October 15 marked the second annual World Rural Women's Day, an event recognized by almost 100 organizations in over 40 countries to honor the countless contributions of women to food security and rural development around the world.

World Rural Women's Day was conceived shortly after the 1995 United Nations Conference on Women in Beijing by organizations concerned with raising the visibility and status of women whose role in feeding and clothing their countries has gone largely unrecognized.

According to the International Federation of Agricultural Producers, women provide much of the management and labor necessary for food production around the world. For example, women produce 60 percent to 80 percent of the basic food stuffs in sub-Saharan Africa and the Caribbean; they provide over half of the labor for rice cultivation in Asia; and they perform 30 percent of the agricultural work in industrialized countries.

Despite their essential contributions to agricultural production, however, 500 million rural women live below the poverty line. In developing nations, many women struggle for access to property rights, financial loans and even basic technology that could drastically improve the standard of living for themselves and their families.

To help highlight World Rural Women's Day in this country, Linda Reinhardt, chair of American Farm Bureau's Women's Committee, headed an informational campaign that reached agricultural leaders across the United States, including the chairs of the state Farm Bureau women's committees and members of the Country

Women's Council. Reinhardt said she was glad to spread the word about the achievements and challenges of rural women. "Even though our farming practices may be different from place to place, we have the same goals in mind - to provide food security and make a living for our families," she said.

A&M Research and Extension Center Marking 25 Years of Service to Region

Vernon -- Consistency and change are keystones of a quarter-century of service to the people and agricultural industry of the Rolling Plains for the Texas A&M University Agricultural and Extension Center here.

That bustling complex of scientific research and community education, located four miles southwest of town on U.S. Highway 70, now reaches across 25 area counties and impacts other part of Texas, nearby counties of Oklahoma and even foreign lands. Established in 1971 and opened in September of 1972, the center is quietly observing its 25th anniversary this fall.

The center was designed to provide research by scientists of the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station and educational programs by faculty of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service to agricultural enterprises and families throughout the Rolling Plains. Both agencies are off-campus arms of the Texas A&M University System.

The local facility consists of a cluster of modern and serviceable buildings on a 51-acre tract, which serves as a headquarters for more than a score of scientist and educators, and for more than 50 county Extension agents of Extension District 3. It also is headquarters for satellite stations at Chillicothe and Munday.

In addition to the original 51-acre tract donated by the Lockett family, an additional 25 acres of farmland across U.S. Highway 70 was donated by Pioneer Seed Company in 1988. Area commodity groups, businesses and the E. Paul and Helen Buck Waggoner Foundation have provided financial support for the work of the center.

"From the beginning, this center has brought the latest and best scientific knowledge and technology to bear on the needs of crop and livestock producers of this area," said Dr. Donald Robinson, resident director of research with the Experiment Station. "We continue to do that, but the problems we address are those which producers and landowners face today or will face tomorrow. This includes greater emphasis on the prudent use and maintenance of natural resources to ensure a healthy, desirable environment and lifestyle for all people." Educational programs for producers, families and youths still focus on needs identified by the people of the area," said Elaine Houston, Extension Service district director for family and consumer sciences.

"Many of those basic issues, such as farm and ranch profitability, are still the same" said Galen Chandler, Extension district director for agriculture. "But in addressing those issues we now help producers stay abreast of current rules and tools for such things as marketing, risk management and environmental concerns."

Facilities at Vernon include the administration building, with offices for scientists, specialists, directors and support staff, a library and a large meeting room. Two other buildings house a shop, laboratory, offices and storage for special equipment. A greenhouse complex includes controlled environment growth chambers, a cold storage unit and four greenhouse structures.

Farmland at the center is dedicated to small plot research involving wheat varieties and evaluation of new or specialized crops. Crop research in cotton, wheat and grain sorghum is conducted at the 250-acre research station, located near Chillicothe, site of the first hybrid grain sorghum development.

The research station at Munday is 250 acres of owned and leased land in a major irrigated region within the Rolling Plains. Originally established to foster vegetable production, research is now conducted on the major agronomic crops and forage grasses for livestock production.

Cultural practices that control insect pests and tillage systems that conserve soil and water have been major research areas at both Chillicothe and Munday.

Range and livestock research is conducted on private ranches through cooperative arrangements with local ranchers. Grazing intensity and frequency in combinations with burning of rangelands are being evaluated as tools for controlling brush, improving range condition and animal productivity, and increasing profitability in a 34,000-acre study on the Waggoner Ranch. Additional studies to evaluate brush control, cedar fly control, water runoff and groundwater recharge under different range management practices are being conducted on other ranches.

Extension Service Sets Cow-Calf Nutrition Workshops

Clarendon -- Area cow-calf producers and ranchers are encouraged to participate in a four-part series of workshops focused on cow-calf nutrition issues.

All workshops will be held from 7 to 9 p.m. in the Ranch and Feedlot Building on the campus of Clarendon Junior College. Texas Agricultural Extension Service is sponsoring the series to be led by Donley County agricultural agent Leon Church and Dr. F.T. "Ted" McCollum, area beef cattle specialist.

Program topics include nutrient requirements of beef cows, selecting supplements (including forage quality), mineral nutrition, and health issues. Producers will be offered training in the use of proven decision-aids such as forage testing and fecal sampling. Additional presentations will provide demonstrations of several computer software programs currently available to the cow-calf operator. Body conditioning scoring techniques also will be demonstrated.

The workshops are free and open to area producers or anyone interested in improving beef cattle nutrition and health. The first workshop was held Friday, Nov. 17, with others on Dec. 8, Jan. 5 and Jan. 19.

To register and receive additional information, contact Leon Church at (806) 874-2141, or Ted McCollum at (806) 359-5401.

McAdoo Burglaries

burglaries are connected and have possible links to seven or eight burglaries which occurred in Crosby County on the same night.

Burglars entered the McAdoo Co-op office through a front door and broke into a locked file cabinet. Among the items taken were a pair of gloves, batteries, flash lights, and cash.

The burglars also broke in to the McAdoo Post Office where they did an estimated $800 to $1000 damage. Although nothing was taken, the burglars did try to pry open a locked safe and succeeded in opening two locked drawers. The burglars damaged two interior doors.

They also broke in to a store located across the road from the Post Office where they stole two transistor radios.

Land said that the Post Office break ins makes the crime a federal offense, and the United States Postal Inspection Service is investigating. The U.S. Postal Inspection Services is offering a reward of up to $10,000 for information and services leading to the arrest and conviction of any one involved in the burglary.

Those who have information should call the Postal Inspectors at 806-762-7821 (collect), the Dickens County Sheriff's Office at 806-623-5533, or call Crime Stoppers at 592-TIPS. All information will be kept confidential.

A Note of Thanks

How could words ever describe the thankfulness we feel to everyone for their prayers, and concern given to us during our difficult time. We will always thank God for the miracle we have received with our precious Ty. May God bless everyone for your care and love.

James, Jennifer, Dylan & Ty Adams

Thanks to everyone who participated in any way in the Full Gospel Church Bazaar. Your help and support is greatly appreciated. We know God will richly bless you all.
