Big Tree Contest Winners

This large mesquite tree is in the backyard of Mr. and Mrs. Kenny Barton in Matador.

Over twenty trees, representing an interesting array of species, were submitted by proud owners for the first Big Tree Contest sponsored by the Matley County Historical Commission.

Leading the field with the number of trees nominated was the team of Leo and Joyce Archer who live on the Dutchman Creek in the southwestern quadrangle of the county. Although Mrs. Archer's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. I.E. Martin, planted many trees around their ranch home in the early 1900's, the old cottonwood is located on the creek where early Indians and later the Dutch man, for whom the creek was named, camped.

Only one mulberry tree among the many the family planted remains. "The tree, like the family," explained Mrs. Archer, "has many new limbs and the old ones die off each year. If only this tree could tell of all the good times!

"The old dirt tank was for overflow from the house windmill - the tank was used for swimming and fishing in summer and ice skating in winter. An old swing was hung in one of the bigger cottonwoods."

Mrs. Archer concluded, "That mulberry tree stands with a full view for miles in each direction. If only it could talk, it could be 'Our Family Tree.'"

This southwestern part of the county produced the most entries, probable because of the seep springs which allowed the trees to survive drought and the protection from the harsh plains winds.

Wes Campbell said of the majestic black walnut on the Campbell Farm & Ranch, "My granddad, H.H. Campbell, told us the tree was there before he was born which would make the tree well over 100 years old."

From the Campbell Ranch headquarters, Harold Campbell notes a sixty year old apricot tree which has survived with no care and an 85 year old elm.

On the old Randolph place belonging to Waybourn Gunn, among the sandstone cliffs on the headwaters of the Middle Pease, is a wonderful grove of white oak trees. Since the trees are not thought to be native to this area, Indians are given credit for planting the first acorns. The Bois d'arc tree of Osage-Orange was planted by the early settlers, tradition says it grew from a fence post, near the old brick-making site.

Except for B.L. Peacock, residents of the tree oasis of Roaring Springs did not submit entries. Peacock's trees were planted by Mr. McDorman and are watered by the subsoil moisture provided by the Tongue River or South Pease.

Barbara Jameson stated she and her Dad Gus Bird used to picnic under the huge hackberry on the Bird Ranch, then she would climb the tree and play on the branches, which two of them made good "hobby horses."

In Matador the Inez Bailey's elm tree was described by Hazel Donovan as "the oldest tree in town" so far as she knew. June Dirickson who lives on Hackberry Street submits, what else? an eighty year old hackberry tree.

Kenny and Olivia Barton recall the colorful history of their giant mesquite tree. "The tree has been here for as long as anyone can remember. It grew on the old Roy Burleson place in Matador, then on the Harry Campbell place. Like many owners, the Bartons noted that the trunk was much larger when measured below the designated four and one half foot mark.

Anyone can nominate a champion by submitting the name of the species of tree and its measurements. Champion status does not afford a tree any special protection, other than recognition.

To receive a registry of Champion Big Trees in Texas, send a stamped, self-addressed envelope to Big Tree Program, Texas Forest Service, College Station, Texas 77843.

Here are the trees to beat: the winners of the 1989 Big Tree Contest. The circumference of the tree trunks are measured by owners at 4 1/2 feet above the ground; the largest and smallest diameters of the tree's crown are averaged for that total.

Roaring Springs City Council Says Yes To 911

The Roaring Springs City Council met Tuesday, June 13 at 7:30 p.m. with Mayor Eugene Watson; Council members Devonne Dillard, Joey Thacker, Bill Hand, Don Wilson. Bill Moose was absent due to a death in his family.

Karen King and Tim Pierce of SPAG were present to explain the revolving loan fund plan they had ready to present to TDOC (Texas Department of Commerce.) This plan is a book of requirements set up for the city to use when loaning money for the economic development grant money.

Pierce informed the Council that since 1977, Motley County was designated a redevelopment county. They need an Advisory board to okay this revolving loan plan so SPAG could service this plan and meet State requirements.

King reminded the Council they would still have to meet with the $70,000 match for the EDA (Economic Development Administration) application. King also stated that the bids could possibly be higher than the original 2 years ago.

James Gillespie and Rodney Williams of the Motley County Fire Department presented the 9-1-1 Emergency petitions to view and the contract and resolution to sign. After brief questions and answers the Council passed the resolution and signed the contract.

The Minutes and bills were approved as read, with the Council electing to place funds on hand in an interest/checking account until the matching grant was ready.

Other business approved was a request for the Dream Cafe to trade in 2 side-by-side refrigerator/freezers for one large refrigerator at Thacker Supply; to replace the roof on the Confection Technology building by New Shield Roofing of Spur; a bid from Fred Thayer CPA to do the City Audit for $2,700; for Bill Moose to represent the Council on the county Tax Appraisal Board.

The Council heard a report from James May. He is still working on the helmhoff at the City Sewer Plant. May requested some more tools to keep working on the City pickup. The Council wants to hold off on trading pickups at this time.

A decision was made concerning flooding on 2nd Street. After a lengthy discussion, the Council elected to request a guy wire be removed that keeps the ditch from being cleaned out so the water can run down the ditch and not through yards and homes.

Anna Wilson announced that the council was to meet in Vernon on June 20 with the FmHA and also hold 2 public meetings for FmHA, July 6 and 18 at the Depot. Wilson requested to attend a Community Development Block Grant Application Workshop in Plainview June 22. Request was granted.

The Council elected to go into closed session at this time.

Ann Richards Announces Bid for Governor

Calls for old values and new beginnings

AUSTIN -- Calling for an ethical campaign that addresses the future of Texas and the need to build a strong new economy for the 1990s, Ann Richards announced Saturday, June 10, she is a candidate for Governor.

"This campaign is about Texas," Richards said, "about the future we build together -- about saving the best of our old values and traditions and creating new beginnings that measure up to the high standards of our history."

"It is a campaign about a very select group of Texans, about the children and young people who are with us here today and those all across this state," Richards said.

"We're going to attempt to carry out this campaign on the highest level, to talk about what the people of Texas need and what they expect from their elected officials," she said.

In an appeal for honest leadership with no financial secrets, Richards made available her income tax statements for the seven years during which she has served as state treasurer. She challenged all other gubernatorial aspirants to do the same.

Richards said that an understanding of state finances is key to future leadership. As treasurer, Richards earned the state $1.5 billion in new non-tax revenue and will soon have made more money for Texas than all other treasurers combined.

"We need leadership that understands the state budget and state finance," Richards added, "leadership that knows how to give the taxpayers the most for their tax dollars and won't be shy about eliminating waste or mismanagement."

School Board Hires New Teachers

The Motley County ISD Board of Trustees met June 14 with Guy Campbell, Donnie Cruse, Coy Franks, James Palmer, Alvin Alexander, Leslie Jameson. L.J. Barkley was absent. Also present were Don Ewing, High School Principal, Oran Hamilton, Elementary Principal and Ron Cummings, Superintendent.

Cummings read the minutes of the past meeting and explained the budget amendments. The Board passed these and voted to pay the bills.

The Board elected to advertise for bids for Depository Funds.

Ewing explained the At-Risk program that House Bill 1010 has set up. This bill was designated to keep a low drop-out rate. This plan was adopted.

Hamilton distributed and went over the Student/Teacher Handbooks. They are not complete. No action was taken.

Cummings explained the present bus situation. He stated that except for minor repairs and clutch replacements on a few of the buses, they had one small bus to sell and none to purchase this year. The Board passed the sale of the one 14 passenger bus.

Donnie Cruse had a question from a landowner in the Flomot area. A road going across his land is used at times by the school bus and he wants to close this road off if the school doesn't need it. The question is, is it a county designated road or has it been used by the public for approximately 30 years, was discussed. The consensus was to check into this, for they could need it for future use.

Cummings explained the career ladder. They have 3 types of ladders to choose from to set up for the 1989-90 ladder. The Board received a list with only eligible points, with no names. The Board chose, 4 votes to 2, to add one new member, placing eight teachers on the list.

Cummings handed out resumes for 3 teacher positions. These were read and discussed. This passed 5 votes to 1 for. Assistant Coach and Teacher, David Oldham; Spanish and English, Shanna Monroe; Irene 'Sis' Stephens for 6th grade.

Cummings reported on the following: The TEA Audit only required minor adjustments; Lawyer, Tom Hamilton, was negotiating with the hospital and insurance Bankruptcy Court.; read report on State Finance from Bob Bullock's office;

Impact Aid will be finalized July 12 and the funds should be in by Sept. 1;

Cummings, Carolyn Ewing, Judy Woolsey and Bettye Stevens attended a software course in Alpine.

The board elected to go into closed session at this time.

SUMMER WORKERS: Leah Barton, Joely Ewing, Brian Marshall and Brent Marshall, 1989 Motley County graduates, are working the summer for the Highway Department.

"Let no one be found among you...who practices divination, or sorcery, interprets omens, engages in witchcraft, or casts spells, or is a medium or spiritist or who consults the dead."

Deut. 18:10-11

Little Nancy was glad, but her grandpa was gloomy though godly. Wandering out to the barn Nancy spotted a mule with a sad look. "Poor donkey," she sobbed, "you've got grandpa's religion too."

But not God's. His is one of joy, and of it Jesus said, "No one can rob you of that joy."

The Devil can't, for the Bible says, "Submit yourselves to God, resist the Devil and he will flee from you." Sin can't, for the Bible says, "Sin need never again be your master." Trouble can't, for "I can do all things through Christ who strengthens me." Death can't, for "I shall dwell in the house of the Lord forever."

Want joy? Take Jesus, won't you?

"All that is necessary for the forces of evil to win in this world is for enough 'Good People' to do nothing..."

Senior Citizens Report

by Iris Blevins

Monday, the bus went to Lubbock and they had a bus full of people riding. Tuesday was our regular luncheon day and we had 22 people sign the register. We were so pleased to have Pansy and J.D. Spray to join us for lunch and play games with us, and we want you to come be with us any and all the time. Roger, we were happy to have you again and we will be glad when Elga is well enough to be back with us, and we were happy to see Duke and Vena again. Glad you were feeling better, Vena.

Our president, Norabelle Dunning, called the house to order at 11:45 a.m. for a short business meeting. She also gave the reading of the minutes. Everything stands approved as read.

Happy Birthday was sung to Iris and Happy Anniversary was sung to Bill and Norabelle.

Thursday, the bus made its regular run to Plainview with eight people riding. We all ate Hamburgers for lunch and they were delicious. And we arrived back in Matador at 5:00 p.m. We used some of our time in an Antique Shop. There were so many pretty things, and a lot of History.

Friday evening is our time for games and a lot of visiting. We had one table of eighty-four and we finished the games with a tie. We had eight people to enjoy our get-together.

Be kindly affectioned one to another with brotherly love; in honour preferring one another; Not slothful in business; fervent in spirit; serving the Lord; Rejoicing in hope; patient in tribulation; continuing instant in prayer; Distributing to the necessity of saints; given to hospitality.

Mickey Meador Inducted Into National Honor Society

On May 3, 1989 Mickey Meador was inducted into the National Honor Society for a Social Society for Social Workers. Alfa Beta, the chapter at Monmouth College, is one of the many chapters nationwide.

In order to become a member, students must be nominated by the department chairman, must be actively involved in the social work program, and must be in the top 20 percent of their class.

The induction involved a brief ceremony presided over by Dr. Mark Rodgers, DSW. There was also a guest speaker and refreshments were served following the ceremony.

Mickey is a junior at Monmouth College and is pursuing a Bachelors in Social Work degree.

She is a 1982 graduate of Patton Springs High School. Mickey is the wife of CPT Danny Meador and daughter-in-law of Dena Meador of Matador.

Barbara Waybourn West Receives Teacher Excellence Award

Editor's Note: This article was taken from the Childress Index. Mrs. West is the former Barbara Waybourn, daughter of Edna Waybourn, formerly of Matador and the late Gerald Waybourn.

Randall High School homemaking department head Barbara West of Amarillo, formerly of Childress, was the recipient of the Teacher Excellence Award at the school's graduation ceremony recently.

She is the daughter of Mrs. Gerald Waybourn of Childress and late Gerald Waybourn.

When the award was announced, West was greeted with a standing ovation and received a plaque and flowers.

The former Barbara Waybourn, is a graduate of Matador High School in 1957 and a graduate of Texas Women's University at Denton in 1961 with a degree in home economics education. She has taught in Childress Independent School District for four and a half years and Canyon Independent School District for 13 years.

Teachers nominated their peers for the award, which cites time given to students, helping with student problems and over-all interest in students. A ballot based on the nominations was produced and RHS students voted secretly at the school's baccalaureate service.

TEXAS Musical Drama Begins In Canyon

"TEXAS" opens its 24th season with gala celebrations honoring the members of its producing non-profit organization, The Texas panhandle Heritage Foundation on Wednesday, June 14th.

The story highlights the early struggles between the cowboys and the ranchers as they fight each other and nature's elements, eventually combining efforts to bring great personality and prosperity to the area.

Audiences have been known to raise umbrellas as the latest in sound and light technology bring a storm to life. Thunder shatters the silence and a lightning bolt sizzles 600 feet down the canyon wall, exploding a tree.

During the evening, cowboys battle ballet dancing "flame" as a smoky prairie fire threatens, Indians interrupt a party scene, a new town is built and an authentic train whistles across the plains.

Reservations are encouraged and obtained by writing "TEXAS", Box 268, Canyon, Texas 79015 or by calling 806-6550-2181. Tickets are $10, $8 and $6 for adults and $10, $4 and $3 for children.

An optional chuckwagon barbecue dinner is served prior to each performance from 6:30 to 8 p.m. by Sutphen's of Amarillo in the patio area of the theatre for $5 per person.

While in the area see the largest and oldest state museum in Texas, the Panhandle-Plains Historical Museum in Canyon, savor sourdough biscuits on the canyon rim during an authentic cowboy morning breakfast at the Figure 3 Ranch or catch robotic dinosaurs at the Don Harrington Discovery Center in Amarillo.

Dixons Attend Southwestern Rendezvous

Wilda and Spencer Dixon in Rendezvous dress.

by Wilda Dixon

After weeks of sewing period clothing and making all our other preparations, we left on May 25 to attend the 5th Annual NMLRA National Southwestern Rendezvous, held this year at St. Jo, Texas. Upon our arrival at the entrance gate, we registered and purchased a medallion and then drove in and found a place to set up our camp. We unloaded everything and while I returned the pickup to the parking area, Spencer began setting up our wedge tent (seen in the background of the picture). After I returned, we finished setting up our tent and arranged the bedding, ice chests and the other items for camp living. Since we were camped in the primitive camp, we had to keep everything from the 20th Century out of sight or covered up with blankets, burlap sacks or white canvas. We dug our fire pit and arranged the tripod and trivet so we could cook the next day. By this time, it was getting dark and we ate sandwiches, then went over to another camp and visited until bedtime.

Friday morning we had to be dressed in our pre-1840 clothing and after dressing, we cooked breakfast over the fire, which was an experience since I had on a long skirt. I discovered that it was fairly easy after only one meal and even if it is the same things that we do all the time, it is a lot more fun to do the cooking, cleaning up and other chores outside. After the camp was cleaned, we went to trader's row and began looking at all the trade goods that were available. Believe me, a person could purchase everything to set up as a buckskinner, including a Teepee, clothes, footwear, eating and cooking essentials as well as guns, tomahawks and knives.

About the time we finished looking around the first time, more buckskinners were arriving and setting up camp and also other traders arrived. There was one man who is a blacksmith and he makes things for you on the spot because he carries his forge and all the other equipment with him. One of the other traders had Indian Fry Bread meat and fruit pies, plus plain fry bread. He also had lemonade and iced tea. We began meeting many of these people and making new friends and about noon we went back to our camp to eat lunch, which because of the heat we did not try to cook anything. After lunch we again began meeting new people and visiting other camps. After it cooled off a little we went back to our camp to cook supper. About the same time, another buckskinner decided his camp would have to be placed behind our camp and asked if he could walk around our fire to get to it. Spencer helped him unload and carry everything over there and we invited him to eat with us when the stew got ready. At rendezvous, the rule is bring your own bowl or plate and eating utensils and clean them up yourself when you are invited to eat with someone else. (Ladies, isn't that a good idea.)

Early Saturday morning we woke up to the sound of rain and wind, but nothing inside the tent got wet. However, it was very difficult to start a fire for breakfast and finally Spencer borrowed some live coals from another camp to get it started. All day it sprinkled and was misty but a lot cooler than Friday and by night the fog and smoke from everyone's fire sure was thick. Saturday was almost a repeat of Friday, except that about 1:30 p.m. a young boy went through the camp inviting everyone to the wedding at 2:00. We did not attend but we later saw the bride and groom as they walked around camp. They both were dressed in period clothing and the only way to know they were the bridal couple was because they had flowers pinned to their clothes. They were not the only honeymooners in camp, however, because we had met another couple from Louisiana that got married Thursday and came to the rendezvous on Friday and stayed until Monday, when they left to attend their wedding reception!

One thing that was different on Saturday was the man we met who is an expert at starting fires with a flint and steel. Since we want to learn how to do this, we talked to him and he figured out a way for me to do it as well as told us both many things we had been unable to learn from books. Sunday morning there was gospel singing and prayers for those who wanted to attend, but the rest of the day was much the same as the others. All day Saturday and all day Sunday the camp was open to the public and the town of St. Jo was celebrating Pioneer Days, so there were many, many "pilgrims" that came out to visit and see just exactly what a rendezvous is.

All day Monday there were many of the over 100 camps that began leaving to go back to work or to put children back in school. There were several people that lived close enough that they left their tent or teepee set up and were going to come back Friday for the last weekend. Now remember there are no locks on the tents and teepees but they knew their property would be perfectly safe while they were gone.

Tuesday morning we packed up and got ready to leave. After we packed everything back in the pickup, we took showers and put our period clothing back on so we could go back to tell all of our new friends bye. Now folks if you have never taken a shower where the water comes straight from the well to an overhead barrel set atop a platform around which is a tarp for privacy and where you stand on a pallet, you haven't lived yet. Talk about a cold shower!!

As you can see from the photograph, we look like our own ancestors, but it is lots of fun. There is a lot of preparation involved, but that is also part of the fun. Personally one of the best things about buckskinning is getting to meet the buckskinners themselves. The people we have met are some of the nicest people I have ever met. Another nice thing about buckskinning is that it is a family activity. Men, women and children of all ages are encouraged to participate. There are black-powder shooting events, hawk and knife throws and other games and activities for all sexes and ages.

Have you ever wondered about what the life of a mountaineer in 1820-1840 was like? If you have or are interested in finding out or interested in black-powder shooting and in participating in re-enactment activities, please contact us at 469-5321 or leave word at the Motley County Library, 347-2717.

Yes, U.S. cotton should be price-competitive in world markets. And the Secretary of Agriculture should determine and perpetuate an adjusted world price for U.S. cotton that will make it competitive.

But no, the effectiveness of the non-recourse loan program as now administered need not be and should not be sacrificed in pursuit of a competitive price. And the Secretary should not adopt proposed loan program changes that would have that effect.

Those two points will constitute the nucleus of a statement from Plains Cotton Growers, Inc., Lubbock, in response to the U.S. Department of Agriculture's Federal Register notice proposing alterations in the administration of two basic features of the current cotton program.

The first proposal would produce a more accurate and therefore more competitive adjusted world price (AWP) for U.S. cotton. It would give USDA authority, when needed after arriving at an AWP under the existing formula, to inject additional criteria into the formula to give a further adjustment. New factors to be used would include U.S. spot market prices relative to the original formula-calculated AWP, actual sales prices of foreign competitors, the volume of U.S. sales for export compared to world markets, and other relevant data.

PCG is in full agreement with this proposal, and according to Executive Vice President Donald Johnson the organization is recommending that it be activated in accord with guidelines detailed in either or a combination of two suggested procedures developed by the industry through the seven-segment National Cotton Council. One should compare the actual U.S. share of world exports to the traditional U.S. share as a means to determine the need for action to lower the U.S. world price. The other advises an adjustment in the U.S. price at any time the quoted price of representative Memphis territory cotton is not one of the three cheapest growths used in the current AWP formula.

There is also a difference under the two plans in the way the size of any adjustment would be determined, Johnson explains, "and it is our thought" that the authority to use either will give the Secretary the flexibility to make an adjustment that will do the job under the market circumstances that exist at the time.

The objectionable part of USDA's proposed change in the administration of the loan program, Johnson says, concerns the disposition of interest and carrying charges when producers use the option to extend loans another eight months at the expiration of the original ten month loan period. It is proposed that, as a condition of permitting loan extensions, producers be required to prepay the full eight month interest and warehouse charges or provide documentation from the warehouse that the government will not be held responsible for such charges.

That would be a reversal of current policy which allows charges to accrue as they are incurred, to be paid by the redeemer if the cotton is sold, and assumed by Commodity Credit Corporation if forfeited in payment of the loan.

Producers could not afford to use extensions if advance payment of charges were required, Johnson contends, "which for practical purposes means the legal authorization for extensions would be repealed and the effectiveness of the loan as a marketing tool would be reduced accordingly."

Tax Payments

AUSTIN, Tex. -- State Comptroller Bob Bullock said Friday that local sales tax allocations to cities, counties and transit authorities across the state increased 14.2 percent during the first half of 1989, compared to the first half of 1988.

"The Texas economy continues to strengthen and expand, and the local sales tax rebates reflect that growth," Bullock said. "Even payments to economic areas that haven't fully recovered, such as Austin and San Antonio, are improving."

In the first six months of 1989, state-wide city allocations totaled $512.5 million. Last year's payments for the first six months were $465.9 million.

Checks totaling $66.3 million were sent Friday to 875 cities that impose local sales tax at either one or one and one-half percent, Bullock said.

Bullock added that the June 1988 monthly allocation was unusually large, so this month's payments compared to June 1988 payments may appear to be slightly lower than they actually are.

"The best indicator of sales tax rebate trends is the year-to-date totals. One payment won't give as accurate a comparison as six payments," Bullock said.

The state's six metropolitan transit authorities and one city transit department received $33.5 million, an increase of 13.9 percent. This month's rebate is the first to reflect new MTA tax rates in San Antonio and Austin, which went into effect on April 1.

Another $6.8 million was allocated to 92 counties that collect the one-half percent county sales tax.

June's checks represent taxes collected in April by monthly filers and reported to the Comptroller's office by May 22, Bullock said.

Totals for Motley County are as follows:

Matador: net payment this period, $1,027.04; comparable payment prior year, $2,436.57; % change, -57.85%; 1989 payments to date, $11,376.10; 1988 payments to date, $12,657.63; % change, -10.12%.

Roaring Springs: net payment this period, $1,594.56; comparable payment prior year, $524.38; % change, 204.08%; 1989 payments to date, $9,799.40; 1988 payments to date, $5,581.09; % change, 75.58%.

County Total: net payment this period, $2,621.60; comparable payment prior year, $2,960.95; % change, -11.46%; 1989 payments to date, $21,175.50; 1988 payments to date, $18,238.72; % change, 16.10%.

1987 Texas Taxes Lower Than All Other States

AUSTIN, Tex. -- State Comptroller Bob Bullock today announced that a new study by his office shows that Texas collected and spent fewer tax dollars per person than any other state in 1987.

An agency analysis of census data reveals that Texas received $1,168 per capita in general revenue in 1987 and spent $1,148 per person - in both cases, an amount about one-third less than the national average for all 50 states.

According to the study, Texas' total revenue collections per person are the lowest in the nation, largely because the state has no personal income tax.

"Our state government asks less from and basically gives less to each of its citizens than does any other state," said Bullock.

In all, the Comptroller's study indicates that, in 1987, Texas ranked:

- 50th among states in revenue collected per person
- 50th in spending per person;
- 50th in per capita salary and wage expenditures;
- 49th in per capita welfare spending;
- 48th in health spending per person;
- 46th in per capita expenditures on interest for general debt;
- 37th in spending per person on

- corrections;
- 36th in per capita sales tax collections;
- 36th in spending per person on hospitals'
- 35th in highway spending per person;
- 29th in per capita education spending; and
- 25th in per capita motor fuels tax collections.

"Some people would favor a higher level of taxes and spending while others favor a low level of taxes and services. I think these figures speak for themselves," Bullock said.

Census Bureau figures are based on total dollars paid by each state's citizens. The bureau counts some revenue sources, such as motor vehicle registration, as taxes, while others are counted as fees. For the Comptroller's analysis, all such revenues were considered taxes.

Highlights of the study are summarized in the June issue of Fiscal Notes, a financial newsletter published by the comptroller's office and available free by writing to: Bob Bullock, State Comptroller, Economic Analysis Center, P.O. Box 13528, Capitol Station, Austin, Texas 78711-9831.

Social Security Tips For Motley County

by Mary Jane Shanes

If you want to avoid the risk of waiting in line at the Social Security office, or getting a busy signal when you call, you may want to consider making an appointment.

Interviews by appointment have been provided in many offices in recent years and have proven to be very popular. Now the service is being offered by every Social Security office.

To set up an appointment, you merely call the Social Security office. You can either arrange to visit the office at an agreed upon time, or you may arrange to have the Social Security office call you at a certain time. If the office calls you, the interview may be taken by phone and any papers to be signed may be sent to you through the mail. Applications mailed in are handled just like applications taken in the office.

Offices that have used the appointment system note that people tend to be more prepared for the interview. During the initial contact, they have an opportunity to find out what documents they need to handle the matter and can have them on hand during the interview. This decreases interview and claims processing time. And this means a savings for both you and Social Security.

For more information or to file a claim call 1-800-2345-SSA.

DPS TRAINING SCHOOL

Recruiting efforts by the Texas Department of Public Safety are picking up for the next trooper-trainee school, scheduled to begin on September 12, 1989.

"Our field recruitment personnel are informing interested persons about the professional and dependable nature of this state agency," according to Colonel Joe Milner, Department of Public Safety Director. "The Department of Public Safety has a national reputation of excellence in law enforcement, and we're looking for people who will help us maintain this tradition."

More than 100 applicants will be accepted for the 22-week trooper education program at the Department of Public Safety Academy in Austin. A major part of the department's recruiting goal is minority and female hiring.

"We earnestly seek qualified minority persons for employment with the Department of Public Safety," Colonel Milner pointed out. "And, as in the past, we will do our best to start the recruit class with at least 40 percent minority enrollment." Milner also indicated that his agency offers competitive salaries. "The Texas Legislature recently authorized a five percent increase in salaries for state employees, including the commissioned and non-commissioned personnel of the DPS. This action will increase the pay for trooper-trainees to $1,622.00 per month."

"Also, our training does not end on the day of recruit graduation. Throughout the careers of our officers, we offer quality instruction in the DPS Academy to keep them at the top in their law enforcement profession," Colonel Milner noted.

The DPS Director also had a few comments regarding the commissioned ranks. "Our troopers have many opportunities to advance in responsibilities and rank. And we make every effort to make sure that our officers have equal promotional opportunities."

The deadline for submitting an application for the next trooper-trainee school is Friday, July 28, 1989. Colonel Milner requested that interested persons should contact their local DPS Trooper or any DPS Office during normal business hours.

Tick Season Brings Threat of Lyme Disease

Warm weather signals the start of tick season in many areas of the country, including Texas. According to the Arthritis Foundation, the bite of a certain type of tick can also pass along Lyme disease.

"Lyme disease can cause a number of health problems, including arthritis or problems with the nervous system, that can be prevented if people recognize symptoms early and see their doctor," said Judi Moulton of the Arthritis Foundation's Northwest Texas Chapter.

Most people do not spot or remember a tick bite because the tick is so small. People are more likely to spot early symptoms of Lyme disease including a flu-like illness and a skin rash. The rash can appear from three days to as long as a month after the bite and often looks like an expanding red ring with a clear center.

Early treatment of Lyme disease with antibiotics can prevent more serious medical problems, said Moulton. If left untreated, Lyme disease can cause problems with the nervous system, heart, and produce a disabling type of arthritis in the knees. These problems can occur months to years after the tick bite and often are confused with other diseases, such as osteoarthritis in the knees. Treatment is more difficult and less successful if Lyme disease is not recognized until these later stages.

Ms. Moulton explained that Lyme disease can also affect pets and farm animals. Symptoms in animals can often be the first clue that infected ticks are in the area.

There are precautions people can take to avoid tick bites. These include wearing protective clothing, checking for ticks when returning from the outdoors, and clearing your yard of brush and other attractions for ticks.

A free brochure on Lyme disease is available from the Arthritis Foundation by writing: 3145 McCart, Fort Worth, TX 76110 or by calling (817) 926-7733 or outside Fort Worth call: 1-800-283-7733.

VA NEWS

Questions & Answers

Q - I filed a claim with the Department of Veterans Affairs a few years ago for Agent Orange exposure. The claim was denied. Should I file another claim in light of the recent federal court ruling on Agent Orange?

A - No action on your part is necessary. Once the new regulations are in place, VA will begin to review decisions which were affected by the original rules.

All veterans will be notified of the outcome of this review, even if there is no change in the original decision on the claim.

Q - Are VA educational benefits payable for an "incomplete" grade?

A - Yes, provided the incomplete converts to a credit or punitive grade within a calendar year. If the course is not completed within a calendar year, a retroactive overpayment will be created to recover payments made during the period instruction was offered.

Q - Can I get a release of liability from the VA if a non-veteran assumes my VA-guaranteed home loan?

A - Yes. If the buyer meets the income and credit standards of the Department of Veterans Affairs you may be released from liability. If your VA-guaranteed loan was committed to be made after March 1, 1988, you must obtain the approval of the loan holder or the VA before the loan can be transferred or assumed.

The Way It Was

by Emmett Jenkins

L.B. (Bob) Robertson came to Matador in the 1920's. He worked for J.H. Sample in the Spot Cash Grocery.

Later the Mission Service Station was built. It was located where the little park is, and where the Windmill now stands.

Bob made a success of operating this station. However, Bob had a dream. He built his dream on a corner, where U.S. Hwy. and State Hwy. intersect, in the form of an oil derrick which housed a service station.

Two years later he built the adjoining cafe.

He opened for business in 1932, in the very depth of the depression. His dream had come true in the physical form, yet it was to be seen if it would be a financial success.

Bob was a very energetic, enterprising man, with a flair for advertising.

The derrick was lit with hundreds of lights which could be seen for miles, before the town could be seen.

The "Bob's Oil Well" signs could be seen hundreds of miles any direction from Matador.

Bob would drive as far as three hundred miles, to place signs. The speedometer would be read at the outset, and the exact mileage to the location of the sign from Bob's Oil Well, Matador, would be placed on the sign.

Truck drivers would be, furnished with post hole diggers, signs, and paid to place them hundreds of miles away, with the exact mileage to Bob's Oil Well.

People began asking, "Where is Matador" and what is Bob's Oil Well. Others drove out of the way to see for themselves.

Signs were seen on the way to Detroit, Michigan. The state of New Mexico was covered to the Arizona line, and reported from farther out. Even some in Old Mexico. Thousands of motorists read the signs and wondered where Matador, Texas was located.

Bob's Oil Well cards were printed and given to the truckers, who distributed them in Service Stations, Cafes, and everywhere. One was reported seen in a New York Cafe.

Other attractions were added. A menagerie which housed two lions that were acquired from the Denver, Colorado Zoo, as a gift. There was a monkey, raccoon, bobcat, a buffalo and a pen of large rattlesnakes, and other attractions.

There were cars from all over and people looking. The snakes were the chief attraction.

Bill McCaghren worked for Bob for fourteen years. Loyd (Ox) Fulkerson and Buford Williams drove transports, hauling gasoline and oil. Arthur Fulkerson was the bookkeeper, for sometime.

One of the cooks was Ira Haskins, a brother-in-law of Joe Merrel's. He and his wife, a sister of Mrs. Murrel, also worked in the Cafe.

Many other people worked at the Service Station and Cafe. They are too numerous to name.

In 1946 he built the rock building, south of the oil well, it housed a modern cafe. The kitchen was all stainless steel. A soda fountain bar and mirrors were moved from Childress and installed. The bar was decorated with petrified wood, found in this area. The furniture was elaborate. The Cafe was a success from the opening day. It was also a credit to a town of this size.

Bob started his business in the midst of the worst depression in modern history, and made a brilliant success. Bob had a dream, and he made it come true.

Jan 13, 1947, tragedy struck. Bob was found dead in his room at the Motley Hotel.

The business began to flounder. The rock Cafe, under different management was the first to close.

The small Cafe was re-opened and was run in conjunction with the service station. It changed management several times. The Cafe and station locked for the last time in the late 1950's.

The buildings are now boarded up and in a sad state of dis-repair, overgrown with weeds.

There are no more welcoming lights shinning from the tower.

What a sad monument for the ingenuity and years of labor, to the man who made it come true.

That's the Way it Was.

(Thanks to Bill McCaghren for the information which helped me to write this story.)

Stormy Times

by H. Soltwisch

As I listened to the thunder;
Saw the lightning flash;
Watched the wind-whipped limbs reach to the ground in a frenzied, unrelent lash;
I wondered, Lord;
Is the tornadic wind jealous of the beauty of the trees that it would bend and break them or just bring them to their knees?
All your creations are not fragile
By any standards that we know
But are they jealous, critical or partial,
Unthinking as they go.
As I sometimes listen to the thunder;
Watch clouds mingling with the sun;
The wind whipping up new mysteries
When the day is done;
I know there is a God
Who is watching over all more closely in our stormy times
And answers when we call.
God is so good!

Let us praise the name of the Lord, for his name alone is exalted, His splendor is above the earth and heavens.

June 14, 1989

Dear Friends,

We haven't made much progress since the last report. Presently we're held up by rain in a border town named Spread Eagle, Wis. A very gracious family of 3 sons and two daughters have provided us with shelter and comfort. It's a beautiful summer home overlooking a lake. We've equipped for guests. The parents are at the year-round family home nearby. The children range in ages from 19 to 29. Their names are Lars, Nils, Kristin, Robert and Trina Rahm.

Last night they took us out to a club called Joe Bug. We had a good time meeting their friends, shooting pool and sometimes being a little crazy. Today, Tim is out with Robert cruising the lake in the family boat. Sue went with Lars to rent some movies. I'm here, alone, enjoying a quite moment with Van Morrison's Avalon Sunset album.

Things were fairly uneventful from Ashland to Eagle River, Wis. The only new experience was riding the roughest, narrowest, and busiest road thus far on this trip. Approximately a 10 mile stretch of road on 70 leaving St. Germain, Wis. was hazardous. It had no shoulder and was full of pot holes. Traffic was congested with many bigger trucks, which seem to compete with one another in how close they can get to bicyclist without actually hitting them. We were thankful for the end of that stretch.

In Eagle River we stayed at a camp called Chain-O-Lakes, owned by Sue's Uncle and Aunt. Our expectations were throughly proven inaccurate when we arrived. We planned to spend a couple of days with our tents set up in a shady spot next to a lake. We figured that we would have the same bout with mosquitoes and ticks, as we've had regularly since entering Minnesota and Wisconsin. What we experienced, though, was a luxury 3 bedroom condo with all amenities. Our own boat dock with a canoe and rowboat. A heated swimming pool, laundry room, camp store, the friendliest people, and no mosquitoes or ticks!

From the moment we arrived until our departure 3 days later we were given the red carpet treatment. Friday night we were taken out by Gordon and Lois Parntzke, (Sue's aunt and uncle) for an all-you-can-eat fish fry. Saturday night we played blackjack under the Big Top with about 25 other campers. Prizes were given away at the end. Later we parted with some retired couples who now camp full-time. The local newspaper even sent a reporter to interview us and do a story.

Sunday we packed up, gear all scrubbed and clean, and biked away through a crowd of well wishers waving and blessing us with warmth and friendship.

Sunday night we camped in a National Forest after biking 40 miles. Monday it was raining and we biked about 20 miles to Florence. It was here that Lars and Robert approached us as we ate lunch in a cafe, and invited us to take refuge with them. It's now Wednesday, the rain has not let up, we're hoping for a late afternoon clearing that's predicted. If so, we'll be off in the early morning and hopefully bike a couple of hundred miles by Saturday.

Until next week, peace and blessings.
