TRAIL DUST

By DOUGLAS MEADOR

CATTLE FOR METHODIST HOME—John C. Russell stands beside his trailer loaded with cattle donated by Motley County ranchers for the Methodists Childrens Home at Waco. Each year Mr. Russell collects the calves and transports them to the home, in addition to always being a contributor. He said that in some past years as many as 30 head had been contributed. Those donating cattle last week were: Curtis Martin, Earl Thompson, Virgil Cooper, Furman Vinson, Gus Bird, W. E. Burleson, Mrs. C.M. Bird, L. B. Campbell, Duke Lipscomb, Hal Vance Campbell and John C. Russell.

SANTA CLAUS is coming to Matador. The Tribune has received assurance that the rotund and white-whiskered gentleman of the far north will be here Saturday afternoon.

He corrected the Tribune, however, on his mode of travel. He will not be on the City of Matador fire truck as previously stated, but will ride in his special conveyance immediately following the truck in the parade.

A number of floats are expected to take part in the Santa Claus parade. Patton Springs High School Band and the Matador Drum and Bugle Corps will also participate.

Santa said he was going to try to meet as many good little boys and good little girls as possible during his visit here.

In his message to the Tribune he said he was scheduled to visit in Roaring Springs, Saturday afternoon, December 16th.

Santa was hoping for some cold weather for the parade. He said the red plush suit he wears gets very uncomfortable when the temperature is anywhere above freezing.

Honors Numerous At Grid Banquet

Annual Matador High School Football and Pep Club banquet, held Saturday night at the American Legion building, was replete with honors, an entertaining program and an inspirational address by Grant Teaff, End Coach of the Texas Tech Red Raiders, Lubbock.

Co-Captain Larry Bostick, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Bostick received the Dayton Graham Memorial Award. Mrs. Cheryl Moore, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Foy Moore of Roaring Springs, was crowned Football Queen for 1967. Coaches David Verner, John Loftin and Charles Johnson were presented an "appreciation cake" by Captains Bostick and Joey Meador, and Mrs. Ronald Davenport and Mrs. A. L. Fair were presented gifts of appreciation from the Pep Club.

Roaring Springs FFA Wins Banners

The Chapter was represented at the annual Plainview District Banquet held in Floydada, December 4th, by Chapter Sweetheart Willita Palmer, accompanied by her mother, Mrs. Bill Palmer, attendant Susan Payne and Advisor B. L. Peacock. James Palmer, Harold Parks, Kirby Davis and Mike Hull.

In a farm demonstration the Chapter received a 2nd place banner. Palmer and Parks were voting delegates, voting on Dist. FFA Sweetheart and talent.

JOHNSON PRAISES MATADORS' SPIRIT

GUESTS of the Matador Lions Club Tuesday at the regular luncheon meeting, members of the Matador Matadors 1967 football squad, heard statements of praise from Supt. Charlie Johnson who is also President of the Lions.

"Despite the disastrous season scorewise," Johnson said, "this is one of the greatest groups of boys I have ever known in my 12 years with the Matador schools. They never gave up and they never complained.

"They have taught me a lesson and they deserve this spot of greatness. Their spirit never broke and in their one win they defeated a team that should have defeated them. They are one of the greatest bunch of boys I have ever known."

Lions Enjoyed Singing

Program at the meeting was the singing of a vocal group trained by Mrs. Ronnie Davenport who accompanied them at the piano.

Repeated applause of the Lions indicated their enjoyment of the voices of the five girls, Patty Edwards, Debra James, Debra Stockton, Laura Jacobs and Jan Higginbotham.

Jeanette Day who is associated with the group, concluded the program with an excellent reading.

Methodist ladies served the Lions and guests roast turkey and "the trimmings."

Lions Secretary Forrest Campbell announced that the Community Chest had received $1,029, slightly over one third of the goal of $3,000, but he said only about one third of the prospective contributors had been contacted. He urged Lions to complete the drive as soon as possible.

Trail Dust Receives Favorable Comment from Press, Customers

RECEPTION of the new book Trail Dust, published by Douglas Meador, continues to increase in enthusiasm, as more newspapers announce its release.

Wes Izzard, editor of the Amarillo Daily News, praised the book in his column last week. Mary Kate Tripp, book editor on the newspaper followed with an excellent review in the Sunday edition.

Brown's House of Books, Amarillo, reordered Monday by telephone for 25 copies. Hemphill Wells in Lubbock has reordered and a Plainview book store reordered Tuesday.

Pre-publication orders have been filled and almost without exception, the customers have commented favorably on the quality of the book, and many have re-ordered for Christmas presents.

Meador is both the author and publisher. The printing was done by a firm in Washington, D. C. Copies are mailed promptly at $3.85 each, plus 15c postage and 8c state tax ($4.08 total).

First weekly newspaper to announce Trail Dust was the Tulsa Herald, published by H. M. Baggerly, who purchased a dozen copies for re-sale.

Deskins Wells of the Wellington Leader also ordered a dozen copies for sale as did Ed Eakins of the Quanah Tribune-Chief. Trail Dust is now on sale in Cokesbury Book Store, Dallas and Frank Tolbert in the Dallas News commented favorably on it in his column.

New Captains Named

It was also announced that three Matador players received honorable mention on the All-District football team. They are, Darrel Marshall, defensive tackle, Joey Meador, offensive fullback and defensive end, and Larry Bostick, offensive quarterback.

The delicious meal was prepared by the school lunchroom personnel and served by mothers of the football team and Pep Club.

Service Dedicates Home as Parsonage

ACROSS DUNDEE STREET north of the First Methodist Church of Matador, the modern brick home occupied by the pastor and his wife, the Rev. and Mrs. J. M. Fitzgerald, was dedicated Sunday in an impressive service, as the church parsonage.

The congregation, which had crossed the street from the church services, stood in the bright sun (and chilling wind) and had a part in the ceremony.

Bishop Eugene Slater of San Antonio, officiated. He had delivered the Sunday morning sermon in the church sanctuary. He said, in part, "Fellow Christians, we rejoice that God has put it into the hearts of His people to build this house in the glory of His name. I now accept this building to be known as the parsonage of the First Methodist Church that we may dedicate it, and so set it apart as the home of your pastor and family. Let us therefore, as we are assembled, solemnly dedicate this place to its proper use."

Honored at the ceremony was Clarence Jinkins, chairman of the finance committee, who is credited with a major role in financing the parsonage and much work in its construction.

Benediction and Grace for the meal in the church basement, was by District Superintendent Rev. W. A. Appling. Great quantities of turkey and dressing and other table delights were waiting. It is estimated that 200, including a number of visitors, enjoyed the meal.

Church Is Merged

During an interlude in the morning church services, Malcolm Jameson of Whiteflat officially merged the Whiteflat Methodist Church with the Matador church. He presented a check for $2,580 to the building fund of the local church. The amount represented the down payment and first monthly payment received from the sale of the Whiteflat church structure to a congregation in Memphis.

Two other significant factors were evident in the services Sunday. The day had been designated by the pastor as a Harvest Festival, when members were privileged to make special offerings to the church's budget. It also marked the climax of the observance of the 75th anniversary of the organization of this church.

CHRISTMAS LIGHTS GLOW IN MATADOR

ARRIVAL of the Christmas season is evident everywhere in Matador, but more pronounced at night when the colored lights glow above the business streets.

Especially outstanding is the decorated water tower with the four white crosses turned to the four directions more than 100 feet above the town.

Store windows both here and in Roaring Springs display colorful decorations and displays of holiday merchandise.

Many homes are being decorated with colored lights and Christmas symbols. Matador Lions will give first and second place plaques to the best decorated homes and the best decorated places of business.

FRED C. KOCH

DEATH CLAIMS FRED C. KOCH

Quannah Tribune—Chief
Issue of Nov. 23rd

Fred C. Koch, of Wichita, was son of a pioneer Quannah who became one of the world's foremost chemical engineers, died late Friday afternoon the age of 67.

with a close friend in Utah. The oil manufacturer and ranching businessman had been shooting ducks from a blind with R. C. McCormick, owner of Broadview Hotel at Bear River, near Ogden, Utah.

Funeral services were held at 2:30 p.m. Monday at Downing East Mortuary. The body was to be cremated. Memorials have been established with the American Heart Association, the Wesley Medical Center, the Wichita Art Association and the American Opinion Book Store.

Mr. Koch was the son of Harry Koch, a Dutch immigrant who moved to this country in the 1880's and in 1889 established the newspaper that was the forerunner of the Quannah Tribune—Chief. His only brother, J. A. Koch, who assumed management of the Tribune—Chief at his father's death in 1942, died of a heart attack in 1946.

Mrs. Carroll Koch who became publisher of the Tribune—Chief at her husband's death, was in Wichita, Kansas Monday for the services.

Surviving are his widow, Mary, of Wichita, Kansas, four sons, Charles, William, David and Frederick.

A chemical engineer, Koch established his engineering empire designing and building petroleum refineries throughout the world, including major installations in Russia, Rumania, England, France, Germany, Italy, Portugal, the Middle East, Burma, South Africa, Canada, the United States and other nations.

One of his companies, Koch Engineering Co. of Wichita, Kansas, is a world leader in building oil refining equipment. The firm constructed the Ploesti-Rumania Refinery which was a major allied target in World War II.

He has vast ranch holdings in Kansas, Wyoming and Montana and is owner of one of the Matador Ranches in Texas. He was director of the Coleman Co., Great Northern Oil Company and Minnesota Pipe Line Co., both of St. Paul, Minn. and the Saskatchewan Pipe Company of Regina, Canada.

Mr. Koch was born September 23, 1900 in Quannah. He attended public schools here, then enrolled in Rice Institute where he attended two years. He graduated from the Massachusetts Institute of Technology in 1922, then went to England where in 1924 and 1925 he was chief engineer of Midway Oil and Storage Co. at the Isle of Grain, Kent. There he became associated with L. E. Winkler of Wichita, Kansas and in 1925 the two organized the Winkler-Koch Engineering Co. Mr. Koch first served as vice-president and in 1941 established his own firm, Koch Engineering Co. From 1944 until 1959 he was president of Wood River Oil and Refining Co. which built and operated a well-known refinery east of St. Louis. When the refinery was sold to Sinclair Oil Co., he founded Koch Oil Corp. in 1943 and served as its president.

A militant anti-communist, Mr. Koch had served as a national director of the John Birch Society. In 1960 he published a book, "A Businessman Looks At Communism" and made a number of speeches over the nation along this theme. His last visit to Quannah was several years ago when he was speaker at the annual Chamber of Commerce banquet here.

Christmas Suit Fund is Started For Boys Ranch

Will Harris, the "Mayor of Goathead Prairie," has continued a tradition that he started when Boys Ranch began, by being the first this year to donate $25 to the Boys Ranch Christmas Suit Fund. The goal of the Christmas Suit Fund is to help brighten Christmas for each of the 348 young men at the Ranch by providing each one of them with a new suit of clothing.

The boys who need a combination of clothing or a dress coat and slacks worse than they need a suit, are allowed to choose a combination of a coat, a shirt, and a pair of slacks.

Ranch President Virgil Patterson, stated, "These suits mean so much to our boys. Of course the boys are happy to receive a gift, but the suits mean more than ordinary gifts. They are important because they show our boys that there are people all over the Panhandle who are interested in them."

For many of the younger Ranchers, these will be the first suits they have ever owned and will be long remembered. For many of the older Ranchers, the suits will replace worn ones that were outgrown months ago. For all the boys, the new suits make Christmas a memorable occasion.

Contributions of $25 for a suit may be mailed to the Boys Ranch Christmas Suit Fund, Boys Ranch Office, Box 1890, Amarillo, or brought to the Ranch Office at 600 West 11th Street in Amarillo.

Mrs. Hub Swearingen of Childress, formerly of Matador, visited friends here Tuesday.

Mrs. Homer Shankle of Big Spring, visited during the week end with her sisters, Mesdames W. N. Pikin, W. F. Jacobs, Robert Darsey and R. E. Campbell Jr.

Mrs. Mary Rogers left Monday

to return to her home in Prescott, Ariz., after a visit here with her sister, Miss Annie Mae Jackson and Mrs. Pat Sheridan and Mr. Sheridan.

City May Obtain Second Buffalo

City of Matador has been offered a second buffalo, according to Mayor Freddie Welling. He said means were being sounded for the feeding for the second animal.

Mayor Welling said plans were being considered to place the animals closer to U.S. Highway 70 as a tourist attraction.

He said the second buffalo is a young female and if obtained, would be named "Kitty." That is to go with Mat (short for Matador) and both of them would be named for leading characters in the television series of "Gunsmoke."

Veterans Land Program Will Get Underway After First of January

by Stuart Long

A $200-million land program will get under way after January 15, now that the Board of Veterans' Affairs has approved a revision of the program which had expired in 1965. The revision of the program was passed by the House of Representatives on November 28. The Board of Veterans' Affairs will decide how much of the $200 million to sell—probably $25 million. Then machinery will be set up on a new basis and the program will be one of the most important of the veterans' programs.

The old program, veterans' land, was set up in 1945 and was administered by the War Relocation Authority. Then they changed it to bring in money for a land purchase program. There would be a six-month wait after a veteran found a tract before the deal could be made.

Commissioner Jerry Sadler, who will administer the program, feels it will be far better, less expensive, to handle the program in this fashion:

One eligible veteran, who was one who was in the service between September 16, 1940, and the end of the Vietnam conflict, will go out and find a tract and he thinks will stand up to an appraisal. Then he will apply for the purchase of the tract to be resold to him. That's the way it is.

The new program allows the purchase of tracts worth up to $100,000 instead of the previous $50,000 limit. The veteran must pay 5 percent down, which would be $5,000 plus $125 in appraisal and closing fees.

He will then pay out the balance in semi-annual payments for 40 years, with interest now fixed to be 5 to 5 1/2 percent. The interest rate will depend on the sort of bids the Board gets when it sells the bonds to the private investment market.

The recent hard-money developments which have raised the interest rates are natural. Some concern that the program might be delayed. The Board cannot pay more than 4 1/2 percent interest, and if it does get bids that low, it cannot launch the program.

Veterans with at least 90 days of service in the armed forces during the eligibility period who have lived in Texas at least five years prior to the date they apply for the loan, can buy farms and ranches through this program.

With some limitations, the tract must be at least 15 acres, and it must be appraised by Board appraisers to be worth the price at which it is offered for sale.

If the price of the land is more than $10,000, and the appraisers agree it is worth that much, the veteran must pay in cash the amount above $10,000, in addition to his 5 percent down payment on the first $10,000. This makes it possible to get partial financing on more valuable tracts, if the veteran can pay the rest in cash.

Commissioner Sadler said that if the Board is able to sell its first batch of bonds, it will be ready to start receiving applications around January 15. He asked that no applications be sent in before that date.

But if all goes well on bond-selling, they'll be in the land business on that date, and veterans with proposed tracts should request applications and contract forms after that date.

The veterans land amendment was approved by the voters along with all the five other amendments offered at that time, including the one allowing county commissioners courts to put all county money into a single general fund, instead of the present four funds. Approved, too, was the amendment authorizing a $75-million expansion of the state park system.

COUNTY AGENT PALLMEYER SAYS:

I attended a Soil Fertility Workshop of Texas A&M the week of Nov. 27-28, and it's not what I learned, but what I can pass on to the people of the county and what they put into practice that will determine if the time was well spent. Any farming practice should strive for the maximum net returns per acre, and the proper use of fertilizers can help you reach this goal. If fertilizers didn't pay, there would be a decrease in their use, not an increase as sales over the world show.

Land, labor and capital are the elements that must be considered, with management the controlling factor of the outcome. When land is limited, it is highly important that the maximum net returns per acre be obtained. We all know that water is essential for crop production, but as it is not possible for all to irrigate, we must do the best with what we have.

Contrary to what many of us believe, proper soil fertility will allow for increased production even in dry years as compared to fields that do not have the proper soil elements present. A soil test is not the entire answer, but it is the guide to start with.

For example, if your soil test indicates a need for 30-0-0, you should try 0-0-0, 20-0-0, 30-0-0 and 40-0-0 on similar land, and harvest each plot separately to determine what level of nitrogen will give the most economical production. Nitrogen is an element that you will need to apply each year, as any carry-over is going to be very slight, and the amount available from the soil about the same level.

Nitrogen is the basic building block of all living matter, both

COW POKES

By Ace Reid

"Them government guys said they wuz lookin' for a poverty area, I told 'em they'd found it, so they gave me these groceries, $5,000 and they're sendin' 35 fellers from the Peace Corps to do my shearin'!"

plant and animal. Plants tend to absorb a high proportion of their total nitrogen requirements during the early growth stages, and young plants have the ability to take up large quantities of nitrogen and hold it for later use. This emphasizes the importance of having the nitrogen in place by the time the plant needs it, emergence and the fruiting stage are the critical periods of need, thus the recommendations of preplant application and side-

Normal applications slightly hasten the maturity of most crops, while heavy applications may cause excessive growth and delay the maturing process of the crop. As nitrogen has many functions in plants, being directly involved in the rapid vigorous growth, increasing seed and fruit yield and improving quality of leaf and forage crops, use of nitrogen must be managed more carefully than phosphorus or potash.

A plentiful supply of nitrogen also means higher protein content in milo and small grains as well as forage crops. Plants deficient in this element are pale in color, grow slow and fire easily. Nitrogen is not a miracle nutrient and cannot replace other elements, that are needed, therefore the need of proper soil fertility of all elements.

I won't load you with all the elements, their uses and needs at one time. Other elements will be covered later, and I hope by the time this series is complete, you will be sold on the use of proper soil fertility. Average returns from the use of fertilizer are $3 to $4 in return for each $1 spent. Do you know of any other place you can trade money like this?

Many are asking about the returns of the cotton varieties we have for test this year. When harvest is over, I will prepare a complete report of all. Some varieties appear very promising, but let me caution you that this is only one year's tests. What does good in 1967 may not be so good in 1968 or 1969. Before any sound recommendations can be made we need to look at these varieties for 3 to 5 years. This is the procedure followed by our Experiment Stations, and is why we can't recommend a crop or variety on one year's results. A crop that does well year after year is a safer bet than one that is tops one year and near the bottom the next year or so, for there is no way to predict what kind of year we will have.

MISFORTUNE PLAGUES PATTON RELATIVES

Mrs. J. D. Craven and Miss Rachel Patton were called to Hale Center, Thursday when their sister-in-law, Mrs. Tom Patton fell at her home and broke a hip.
