Street Fighting On In Capital: Nazis Doomed

By RICHARD KASISCHKE LONDON, Oct. 14 (AP)—Russian and Yugoslav Partisan units broke into the Yugoslav capital of Belgrade today and began fighting in the streets against a doomed German garrison whose commander and staff fled, Marshal Tito's headquarters announced tonight.

The fall of the 2,000-year-old fortress city was expected shortly as the Allies quickened their swift clean-up of Germany's collapsed Balkan structure. Berlin acknowledged the Russians had reached the city with "strong motorized forces."

Moscow said Russian troops had reached Belgrade's outskirts, apparently allowing the Yugoslavs the honor of being the first to announce major developments inside the capital. Kumodraz, on the edge of Topcider Park, which is on the southern edge of Belgrade, was among the Yugoslav localities swept up, the Russian communique said.

A Bulgarian communique also announced the fall of Nis, key junction on the Belgrade-Athens and Belgrade-Sofia railways 128 miles southeast of the Yugoslav capital. Yugoslav partisans combined with Bulgarian units under General Stancheyev in the liberation of that town, Sofia announced. Many prisoners and much booty was seized, it said.

Sixteen miles north of Nis Russian and Yugoslav partisans descending the railway captured Aleksinac, the Soviet bulletin said, and also Paracin, 26 miles northwest of Aleksinac.

South of fallen Riga in Latvia the Russians captured 10 localities, the bulletin said, including the rail station of Baloz, four miles below the Latvian capital and Plakani, nine miles outside the city. German troops were fighting a savage delaying action as the Russians pressed them westward into the encircling arms of other Soviet troops that have sealed off northwestern Latvia.

Eight Cub Scouts Injured In Wreck

Eight Cub Scouts were injured when the pick-up truck in which they were riding collided with a passenger car at the intersection of Aylford and W. 4th streets Saturday morning at 11 a. m. The pickup, which belonged to D. M. McKinney, was driven by Pat McKinney and was struck by a sedan driven by Billie Gene Morris. The occupants of the pick-up were en route to the review being held at the Big Spring bombardier school.

DeGaulle Charges Allied Peace Plan

PARIS, Oct. 14 (AP)—With bitterly worded reference to the lack of political single-mindedness among the Allies, General De Gaulle told the French people tonight they would have to depend "not on the benevolence of others," but on their own efforts to raise France to her former greatness. In his first radio "fireside chat" to the French nation, De Gaulle said that while militarily united, "in other respects the Allies are states, each one of whom, while fighting the same enemies as we, pursues its own interests and makes its own policies." The general, well known for his blunt speech, added, "certainly many Frenchmen would wonder and grieve at the place to which the other great powers have actually relegated France in everything that concerns the conduct of the war and preparation for the peace."

British Troops Occupy Athens

By NOLAN NORGAARD ROME, Oct. 14 (AP)—British and Greek troops, put ashore by the British navy, occupied Athens today, a little more than three years after they were driven out by German troops at the height of Hitler's Balkan conquests, a special communique announced tonight. The nearby port of Piraeus also fell as British and Greek infantry and some British airborne troops landed.

There was no mention of fighting, tending to substantiate earlier unofficial reports that leaving the capital in the hands of Greek patriots. The Cairo radio said the Germans had withdrawn from all Attica, and that fighting had broken out at historic Marathon, 14 miles north of Athens. To the west the Greek island of Corfu, at the entrance to the Adriatic, fortified by the Germans and believed to be strongly defended, surrendered to other British landing forces without a shot being fired. The special communique said the liberation of Athens was greatly facilitated by U. S. warplanes, who plastered the airfields of southern Greece to hamper enemy evacuation by air. Cruisers, aircraft carriers and destroyers of the British Mediterranean fleet, including units of the Greek navy, also cleared the way by scouring the islands of the Aegean Sea.

The Cairo radio said the morale of the Germans, beginning the 190-mile trek northward to Salonika along the roads over which they sped so confidently in the spring of 1941, had been broken. (The Ankara radio said the seventh Bulgarian division had begun the evacuation of Greek Thrace and Macedonia under terms of the Bulgarian armistice with Soviet Russia. It quoted a dispatch from Sofia, and added that the withdrawal probably would be finished within ten days.) The fall of Corfu came with surprising suddenness.

Polish Groups Meet In Moscow

By DANIEL DE LUCE MOSCOW, Oct. 14 (AP)—Rival Polish regimes from London and Lublin agreed to reopen formal negotiations tonight for a combined government, faced with grave differences but aware that the Allied powers plainly are agreed on the urgent necessity for some sort of solution to their problems. Although still at loggerheads over the question of the uprising in Warsaw, the Poles have decided to let bygones be bygones, and exclude the Warsaw tragedy from their impending conversations. Premier Stalin and Prime Minister Churchill spent from 7:30 p. m. last night to 1 a. m. today conferring with the Poles. Their meeting with Stanislaw Mikolajczyk, premier of the London regime, and members of his delegation, lasted for two hours during this period. W. Averell Harriman, U. S. ambassador, was an observer. This afternoon Mikolajczyk conferred for two hours and a half at the British embassy with Churchill. Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden and British Ambassador Sir Archibald Clark Kerr. Yesterday's British-Soviet discussions with the Poles took place not in the Kremlin, but at Spiridonovka palace, two miles away, and in phrasing, at least, British and Soviet aims are most probably similar—creation of a free and independent Poland and assurance of Soviet-Polish friendship.

It seemed definite that any agreement would require Mikolajczyk to oust Polish elements associated with Gen. Kazimierz Sosnkowski, former commander in chief of the exiled regime's armed forces. But it might allow the premier to be nominal head of a new fusion government which would include a limited number of his London colleagues.

Scouts Attend Post Review-Presentation

More than 40 Cubs and a few Scouters, accompanied by Postmaster Henry Norris, witnessed the military review and medal presentation to Lt. Grover E. Myers, Jr., Saturday morning at the bombardier school. Those in uniform stood review before Col. Ralph C. Rockwood and were photographed receiving congratulations from him.

Allies Shove Stubborn Germans Back Along Entire Italian Front

By LYNN HEINZLERING ROME, Oct. 14 (AP)—British and American armies shoved the stubborn Germans back along virtually the entire front in Italy today, and Canadian infantry and tanks struck brilliantly across the southern edge of the Po plain to within four miles of strategic Cesena. Cesena is 17 miles northwest of the Adriatic seacoast jump-off point of Rimini, and 13 miles farther up the Via Emilia on the route to Bologna lies Forli, an even more important highway town and objective.

Only the coastal sector north of Rimini where they are dug in along the Fiumicino river were the Germans holding firm. The Canadians drove on without regard to this force on their right flank.

The American Fifth army to the west was fighting steadily over the mountains. It was within nine miles of the Bologna-Rimini highway at two points and was engaged in a bitter battle ten miles south of Bologna itself.

The Canadian advance along the Bologna-Rimini highway was so skillful that one bridge was seized intact and tanks were rumbling across into the fighting before Cesena.

The dominion troops herded strong enemy rearwards before them and reached main German positions at the Scolo-Rigosa canal, which with the Rubicon-Cesenate canal farther north forms natural tank obstacles to a breakout upon the plains of the Po.

A few miles south of the Canadians, Eighth army troops beating through the foothills captured the village of Casale. Mines and considerable artillery shelling were slowing the advance.

American troops to the west cleared the Germans from the mountain village of Gesso, nine miles southwest of Castel San Pietro on the Bologna-Rimini road, in heavy fighting.

Air Fleet Pours High Explosives On German Rails

By HOWARD COWAN LONDON, Oct. 14 (AP)—U. S. troops converged from three directions tonight on the heart of Aachen, which at least for the moment was left to its fate by German columns so badly mauled outside the stricken city that for 24 hours they have been unable to muster a counterattack. From the northeast, the east and the southeast, the infantry dug the dwindling German garrison from houses and cellars, moving slowly through the rubble to hold down casualties, while long lines of civilians streamed from the burning city into the American positions.

The U. S. First army could afford to take its time, for the half-mile wide corridor leading from the city was as good as closed after a few small units were believed to have slipped in last night to swell the garrison to perhaps 2,000 men.

Furthermore the crack German infantry and tank divisions which threw the British out of the Arnhem bridgehead, then rushed south to Aachen, lay bleeding in the fields northeast of the city, numbed by aerial and artillery bombardment that knocked out more than 80 tanks.

Every effort to bring up more tanks in an attempt to throw the Americans from hard-won positions at the entrance to the great German plain had been frustrated, a high American officer said.

The British Second army to the north, moving up its lines toward the Maas river facing Germany midway between Arnhem and Aachen, hammered out a half-mile gain south of Overloon. They fought through mire across the bodies of Germans who refused to yield an inch.

Canadians on the seaward flank were under large-scale assault from strong enemy forces who were trying to drive them from positions astride the South Beveland estuary, where dominion troops have cut off escape by land for Germans on the islands in the Schelde estuary.

On the southern end of the 460-mile front, the German communique said the U. S. Seventh army had gone over to the attack in strong force on a broad front east of Remiremont, 30 miles north of Belfort.

The U. S. Third army cleared the Germans from three-fourths of the forest of Farroy, a sore point east of Nancy from which the Germans have been mounting counterattacks, but no other changes were reported.

A spokesman for the German high command took advantage of the lack of important Allied advances to boast tonight that "we shall use the sixth winter of war to turn the offensive next spring and to carry war back again to French soil."

The Paris national radio joined this war of words by claiming that a free German committee had enlisted more than half of the German prisoners of war interned in France in a move to fight the Nazis.

Blake Talbott Is Killed In Italy

Message from the war department that Pfc. Blake Talbott, 21, son of Mr. and Mrs. F. H. Talbott of Big Spring, was killed in action in Italy Oct. 2 was received here Friday night.

Pfc. Talbott is a graduate of Big Spring High school and well known here. His wife and 7-month-old daughter, Sherrin Gay, have been staying at Coahoma with Mrs. Talbott's parents, Mr. and Mrs. B. Henry.

The war department message stated a letter would follow. Details of the manner in which Pfc. Talbott was killed were not given.

He had been in military service since February, 1943, and was stationed at Fort Lewis, Wash., Moscow, Idaho, in ASTP training at Jacksonville, Fla., at Fort Smith, Ark., and a Wisconsin post before going overseas July 15 of this year. He landed in Italy and went into combat soon afterward.

Two letters have been received from him by the family in the last few days. Survivors in addition to his wife, baby and parents, include a brother, T-Sgt. W. S. Talbott, and two sisters, Ann Talbott, student at Hardin-Simmons university, and Bonnie Lou of Big Spring.

Efforts were being made Saturday to reach the brother in service and arrangements for services were pending communication with the brother. Memorial services will be conducted.

While in high school here, Talbott played basketball and was active in student affairs. He attended Baylor university a year.

Presidential Race Is Feverish

By The Associated Press The tempo of the presidential race which many politicians are calling a close affair is beginning to take on the feverish aspects of a stretch drive with both major party candidates considering the booking of speeches in key states. President Roosevelt's political aides indicated yesterday he had high on a tentative speaking calendar such cities as Philadelphia, Cleveland, Chicago, in addition to the foreign policy talk he has already scheduled for next Saturday night in New York City.

Gov. Thomas E. Dewey, meanwhile, added a speech at Pittsburgh Friday to his growing list. He will speak in St. Louis tomorrow night and will talk on international affairs on the New York Herald-Tribune forum Wednesday night. The president turned down an invitation to speak on the forum the same night, but reporters seeking a reason were referred to Chairman Robert E. Hannegan of the democratic national committee. In New York Hannegan said he had written a letter to Mrs. Ogden Reid, vice president of the Herald-Tribune, explaining Mr. Roosevelt's action. Mrs. Reid's secretary said it had not been received yet.

Other political developments yesterday: Adolf A. Berle, Jr., assistant secretary of state, charged in a letter to the president that Gov. Dewey made a "surprisingly dishonest effort (in his Charleston, W. Va., speech) to claim that your administration was secretly trying to set up a communist system."

Berle's letter was released by the White House which also gave out a letter to the president from Maj. Gen. Lewis B. Hershey, director of selective service, likewise bearing on a matter Dewey has mentioned in the campaign.

Reviewing The Big Spring -Week-

Joe Pickle

Have you made your contribution to the community war chest of Howard county? If not, do so this Monday or the first thing this week. It makes no difference whether the goal is reached or not as far as you are personally concerned unless you have given, and have given as you are able.

Cotton harvest is now well underway, but farmers tell of difficulty in securing pickers. This is the factor now, for cotton is turning out better than expected (doesn't it most always?) and estimates are being revised upwards to above 20,000 bales.

George Gentry, formerly principal of the high school here and now school superintendent and head of the junior college at Temple, has been nominated for vice-president of the Texas State Teachers association. Remembering George from the days when he made many a district 3-AA committee meeting more than interesting, we venture the TSTA could not have a more positive figure for an officer.

Police are turning on heat on professional gamblers, as witness a raid on a local hotel room last week. These brethren are usually pretty good about taking tips, and thus they might take a tip on what happened to women who persisted in upping the VD rate here.

Chamber of commerce directors voted last week to see that the city filed a brief in support of request for consideration if and when additional veteran's hospitals are built. We might not win, but we sure can't if we don't ask.

Sixteen calves have been selected for 4-H club feeding. We dare say that the 16 as a whole are far superior to feeders as a class than boys have started with before, and thus, this year it is up to the boys (See THE WEEK, Pg. 12, Col. 3)

Twenty-Five Murders In Ritz Screen Attraction

Off the record, they get away with murder at Warner Bros. Not one murder, either, but twenty-five!

They're all in "Arsenic and Old Lace," a comedy, if you please, which deals with killings, madness and love, and which is confidently intended to slay audiences with laughter when it arrives at the Ritz theatre today.

Briefly, it deals with Cary Grant's two mad maiden aunts, and their frenzy to kill more old gentlemen than Cary's brother, Raymond Massey, has already killed.

For most of the film, aunts and nephew go along neck and neck, with twelve corpses accounted for apiece. It's only in the stretch that the ladies' fine capacity for disposing of men via a glass of wine liberally spiked with arsenic, wins out, and they emerge triumphant, with the winning thirteenth corpse.

They're insane, of course—So is Massey. And so is a character who wanders in and out of the film under the pleasant misapprehension that he is President "Teddy" Roosevelt. It's through such confusion as this that Cary, freshly married to Priscilla Lane, tries and tries to stabilize his marriage.

The excellent cast includes three members of the original stage company—Josephine Hull and Jean Adair, as the zany aunts (Abby and Martha Brewster, and Priscilla Lane gives Cary Grant a good swift kick when she finds out there's insanity in his family in Frank Capra's "Arsenic and Old Lace" showing at the Ritz today and Monday.

John Alexander, the bugle-toting "Teddy" Roosevelt.

Sinister Peter Lorre plays Dr. Einstein, accomplice of the criminally insane and murderous Jonathan Brewster (Raymond Massey) and Jack Carson is cast as a sensitive cop with playwrighting ambitions.

Other outstanding players in the film are James Gleason as Inspector Rooney; Edward Everett Horton as Mr. Witherspoon, superintendent of a much-needed booby hatch; Happydale; Edward McWade, Edward McNamara and

'Master Race' Booked At Ritz For This Week

A pathetic human drama caused by war, a woman's ordeal typical of the heart-break that follows the German occupation of invaded countries, is propounded with stark realism in "The Master Race," the Edward Golden production for RKO radio, to be shown Thursday, Friday and Saturday of this week at the Ritz.

While the men of the village are forced to hide in the hills and the underground in order to carry on their fight against the enemy, the women are left to the mercy of the incoming army of occupation. In "The Master Race" is highlighted the plight of a woman who fought a lone battle and lost, owning a child innocently unaware of the strange world to which it was born. It is a tense situation that only the strong can face when she is forced to lay bare her shame before those she loves—her father, brother, and finally, her husband.

Realizing the great problem before her, the unfortunate mother has attempted to run away before facing her men folk but fails, and they are shocked at discovering the child. After the first pangs they grow to accept the little one with sympathetic wisdom. The reunited family works toward a better understanding through their period of re-adjustment.

Osa Massen as the victim of Nazi cruelty, gives a poignant characterization of Helena, the mother of the child. She meets the problem with typical fortitude of women caught in the maelstrom of war. Little Ghislaine Porreau plays the child; Morris Carnovsky, the grandfather; Lloyd Bridges, the brother and Herbert Rudley, Helena's husband, all performing impressively. Eric Feldray and Jason Robards will make a personal appearance on the Ritz stage Sunday, Oct. 15th at 3:16 p. m. They will be interviewed on KBST at 3:45. Feldray and Robards will also appear on our screen October 19-21 in the Master Race, sensational expose of German plots of the third World War.

Nancy Gates appearing in this picture is a Texas girl her home being in Denton. Many Big Spring residents remember her as she has visited her brother, Pete Gates, in Big Spring, who was a former announcer for KBST.

'You're A Lucky Fellow Mr. Smith' Features Evelyn Ankers At The Lyric

Blonde, Junoesque and ambitious, actress Evelyn Ankers, was understandably enthusiastic when she was assigned by Universal to play Allan Jones' leading lady in that studio's elaborate new comedy-musical, "You're A Lucky Fellow, Mr. Smith," now at the Lyric theatre.

In a succession of too many "horror" films she felt she had appeared either as the cloying, defenseless maiden upon whom a variety of villains and inhuman monsters entertained evil designs, or as the sweetly uninteresting girl whose lot was to be gallantly protected by a series of dominating he-men.

Returns To Normal But in "You're A Lucky Fellow, Mr. Smith," Evelyn found she was a normal, wholly believable young woman, possessed of the average assortment of virtues and foibles peculiar to the human race.

She was even a bit of a minx, tricking a young chap into a hasty marriage for the sake of several thousand dollars. Her distortion of true values was only temporary, to be sure, and in the end she finds love has no price. Evelyn, however, admittedly enjoyed being mercenary and unscrupulous while it lasted.

So it is a new Evelyn Ankers, onetime "Horror Queen" of the movies, that film fans encounter in "You're A Lucky Fellow, Mr. Smith."

Also in the cast are Billie Burke, David Bruce, Patsy O'Connor, Stanley Clements, Luis Alberni and The King's Men.

The film was directed by Felix E. Feist, with Edward Lilley as associate producer.

Chees gets its name from the Persian word "shah" meaning king.

When Americans Free Philippines Texas National Guard To Be There

By ROBERT EUNSON
Associated Press

When American land, sea and air forces liberate the Philippines, the chances are that General Douglas MacArthur will have with him the old 112th cavalry outfit, a regiment close to the hearts of Texans.

Invasion of the Philippines seems close at hand, judged from blows falling on strategic enemy strongholds in the far Pacific. But this is the story of the first wedge. The wedge the 112th, of the old Texas national guard, drove into the Japanese outer defense perimeter.

Before American forces could move into present springboard positions, that outer Japanese ring had to be cracked.

More than 7,000 miles from the Alamo, where the Lone Star flag was first enshrined in battle, several thousand long, lean Texans drove onto the shores of Arawa, New Britain, Dec. 15, 1943. Although there are freshly planted little wooden crosses on the beach that night, marking the graves of boys who had died in battle, by sundown the Texas flag had been firmly planted beside the Stars and Stripes.

The Japanese outer defense perimeter ran along a 2,000-mile arc from Java to Rabaul. It had been girded into a belt of stone and steel, studded with air and sea bases that included Hollandia, Wewak, Madana, Alexishaven, Saidor and Sio on New Guinea, thence across the Vitiaz Straits to New Britain's Cape Gloucester, Arawa, Gasmata and anchored to Rabaul.

MacArthur decided to ram a hole through the Vitiaz Straits. The main blow was to be thrown at Gloucester, but realizing an attack into the front door might be disastrous, the cagey American general devised a tactical plan that called for a diversionary strike at Arawa. This landing on New Britain's south coast, about 60 miles east of Gloucester, was to attract the enemy's attention and draw his secondary defenses off balance.

In boxing parlance it would be a feint with the right and a left hook to the body. Arawe would be the crack in the wall, Gloucester the hole.

Auto Store To Be Moved To Scurry

Fred Scraggs, manager of White's Auto store, said Saturday that arrangements have been completed for moving the store from its present location on West Second street to a new location at 202-206 Scurry. Final arrangements for the change were made October 9.

The actual moving date of the store has not been set, but it will be as soon as the building is repaired and improved. Scraggs stated that the building will be given a complete new front and new floors and ceilings. The present stock will not be moved until fluorescent lighting fixtures come and the date of their arrival is indefinite.

Scraggs said the new store will be 100 by 150 feet as compared with the old store's dimensions of 40 by 80 feet. The stock of the new store will be enlarged to include a complete line of furniture of nationally advertised brands.

Pete Lost; But Back

SHEPPARD FIELD, Oct. 14 (AP) — Pete, turtle mascot, was left behind when the 313th Technical School squadron left Sheppard Field.

Pete disappeared. Today, a year later, Chief Warrant Officer Benjamin Franklin found a turtle at a nearby post building. On its hard gray and yellow shell was inscribed "313th TSS."

For years, Ward Week has been a tradition. Millions of American families have awaited its coming each Spring and Fall. Months ahead Montgomery Ward store managers in every part of the country planned together, bought together to make Ward Week a time of exceptional values. Then came the war . . . with its urgent call for materials and production. An event like Ward Week, with its huge assortments of civilian goods, seemed out of step with the nation's march towards victory. So, Ward Week was shelved . . . until now.

Today merchandise is still far from plentiful and we urge you to buy only what you need. But once again we can invite you to shop and save in Ward week. In every department of our store, you will find timely values. See them all but, please, buy only the things you need and let your neighbors have their share.

Permian Production Is Indicated In Dawson

By JOHN B. BREWER

SAN ANGELO, Oct. 14—Indicated opening of Permian lime pools in south central Crockett and northwestern Dawson counties and development of production from the Holt zone of the Clear Fork section of the Permian lime 1-8 miles west of San Andres wells in the Emma field in southern Andrews county highlighted West Texas oil development this week.

Garrett M. Smith of Fort Worth No. 1 L. B. Cox, Jr., in Crockett county, C SW NW NW 26-2-J&GN, pumped an estimated 20 barrels of oil in six hours after acidizing the San Andres from 947 to 1,001 feet. Seven-inch casing had been cemented at 947 feet after the San Andres was entered at 940 feet, 1,265 feet below sea level.

The strike is 12 miles south of the Todd Deep Field and the same distance southwest of Orona. Richmond Drilling Co. No. 1 J. W. Nelson in northwestern Dawson county filled 2,500 feet with pipeline oil from lime between 4,805 and 4,854. It bailed at 4,874 feet in lime for a swabbing test. Location is the C SE SW 34-M-EL&RR, 2 1/2 miles north of the one-well Welch field and 14 miles northwest of Lamesa.

Lion Oil Refining Co. No. 1-B University, Delaware sand strike in Ward county, headed an estimated 200 barrels of oil with a small amount of water after shooting with 43 quarts of nitroglycerin from 4,975 to 4,990 feet, the total depth, and was shut in for storage. It topped the Delaware sand at 4,970 feet, 2,315 feet below sea level. The well is in the C NE NE 43-18-U, three miles west of Poyte.

The Texas Co. No. 1-L University, Holt zone discovery west of the Emma pool in Andrews county, C NW SW 41-9-U, flowed 214 barrels of pipeline oil in seven hours after acidizing with 2,000 gallons through perforations between 5,310 feet and was shut in for storage.

Its scheduled quest of Ellenburger production terminated at 8,563 feet by lease expiration Nov. 2. Champlin No. 1-B University, southwestern Andrews wildcat C SE SW 8-11-U, swabbed salt water only on its first tests through perforations, from 8,440-79 and from 7,750 to 8,530 feet.

Stanford No. 1-D University, wildcat C NE SW 5-11-U, 1 1/4 miles southeast of the Champlin test, drilled ahead below 8,500 feet in lime and shale to explore the Ellenburger after promising production from the Devonian. It is five miles northwest of the Embar Ellenburger field.

Sun No. 2 Gardner, 1,175 feet southeast of No. 1 Gardner, 1 1/2 mile west extension to the Means field in northeastern Andrews county, was finished at 4,545 feet with a daily flowing potential of 242.98 barrels of oil following a 320-quart shot. It is in the north-west quarter of section 17-A35-psl.

Woodley Petroleum No. 6-B O. B. Holt estate, producing from the Holt zone on the northwest side of the South Cowden field in southern Ector county, registered a daily potential of 389 barrels of oil for completion at 5,152 feet after acidizing with 8,000 gallons. Most of the South Cowden production is from the Grayourg at around 4,200 feet. No. 6-B Holt is in section 18-A-psl.

Shell and Cities Service No. 1 Texas Pacific Land Trust (TKL), indicated Devonian lime strike in northwestern Ector county, continuing to the Ellenburger, had passed 8,861 feet in lime and chert.

Failures include Duncan Drilling Co. No. 1 Modley, eastern Howard county in section 19-30-18-T&P, at 3,083 feet, and Woodley No. 1 Ruth Goggin in Yoakum county, C NW 249-D-John H. Gibson, at 5,505 feet. Both encountered water.

A quarter mile west extension was assured the Wheeler Ellenburger field in eastern Winkler county near the Ector line by Tide Water No. 1 R. A. Wheeler, C SE SE 12-B8-psl, which flowed naturally through perforations from 10,635-660 feet after two runs of the swab.

It is a west offset to Superior No. 1 Wheeler, which in mid-week became the fourth completed well in the field, rating 856.8 barrels of 44.1 gravity oil daily plus 16.3 per cent water through perforations from 10,666-698 feet. The gauge was through a half inch tubing choke. Location is the C SW SW 10-44-18-T&P, a north-northwest offset to Stanolind-Shell No. 1 W. D. Blue, the pool opener.

Gulf Oil Corp. applied for permits to drill six tests to 10,800 feet or Ellenburger pay on the south side of the Keystone Ellenburger field in north central Winkler county. No. 55-E Keystone will be in the C NW NW 14-B2-psl, No. 56-E C NE SE 6-B2-psl, No. 58-E C NW NE 6-B26-psl, No. 60-E C NW NW 6-B2-psl, and No. 60-E Keystone C NE NE 10-B3-psl.

Humble No. 1 J. M. Parrott, eastern Upton county wildcat C SE SE 3-EL&RR, which last week showed oil and gas on a drillstem test from 7,537-99 feet in amount promising production, recovered 200 feet of oil and gas-cut drilling mud 500 feet of free oil and 20 feet of water on a 65-minute drillstem test of the lower Permian from 7,537-99. It drilled ahead below 7,728 feet in shale.

ABC Holds Weekly Meeting At Settles

The A.B. Club held their weekly meeting Friday at noon in the Settles Hotel.

It was announced that the "Soldier Shacks", located on various highways leading out of Big Spring had been completed. These were financed by the club, and should be of great help to those soldiers traveling via a thumb to and from our city.

Guests of the club were H. V. Crocker, F. W. Bettie, R. R. Fields and A. D. Meador, all of whom gave short talks on fire prevention. Especially emphasized was the fact that this should not be limited to one week out of every year, but every day of every week of every year.

Colorado City Will Observe Armistice

COLORADO CITY, Oct. 14 — Plans for the annual celebration of Armistice day were made this week in meetings of the Orin C. Hooker post of the American Legion here and of the Legion auxiliary.

Breakfast will be served at the Legion hut at 7:30 Armistice morning to Legionnaires and their families. The traditional evening bean feed with the members of the Texas State Guard is guests is scheduled for the city-county building. Members of the auxiliary made further plans for Buddy Poppy days, November 10 and 11.

Livestock

FORT WORTH, Oct. 14 (AP)—Cattle 200; calves 125; nominally steady; mostly medium and low grade slaughter yearlings 9-11.50; beef cows 7.00-9.00; good and choice fat calves 11.50-12.25; the few stockers that arrived were carried over to Monday's market.

Hogs 200; nominally steady; top 14.55 for good and choice 180-240 lb. butchers; a few lots of good 155-175 lb. hights 14.14.50; sows 13.50-13.80.

Sheep 14.00; nominally steady; medium grade lambs 11.50; medium to msty good yearling sheep 10.00; common to good ewes 4.50-5.00.

Under the retrenchment policy by the Office of Defense Transportation, Howard county has been included in the Lubbock area instead of San Angelo, where a district office has been abolished. Martin, Mitchell, Midland, Ector, Glasscock and Sterling counties also are in the Lubbock area. The ODT move is calculated to drop 1,000 from the payroll over the nation.

Ted Grobel Takes Over Westex Oil

Ted O. Grobel, active in business and civic affairs in Big Spring, Saturday announced the termination of a partnership of 17 years standing with his brother, Al P. Grobel, and the coincident acquisition of all holdings and assets of the West Tex Oil Company.

Operations, both in distribution of Shell products and in production, will be continued under the same trade name, said Grobel.

Al Grobel has acquired and will devote his time to several ranch interests, some formerly jointly held, in West Central Texas. The partition, said Ted Grobel, will permit each to devote full time to major interests.

While operations of Westex were curtailed considerably during the emergency — branches being closed at Hobbs, N. M., Sundown, Denver City, Odessa, Monahans and McCamey, Ted Grobel indicated that an expansion program is being mapped now to increase servicing of industrial accounts throughout the Permian Basin area.

"We are doing considerable post-war planning," he said, "so that those of Westex personnel returning from the armed forces will have bigger and better jobs." Grobel said that the plans entailed expansion of both wholesale and retail outlets as rapidly as conditions permit. Likewise, production in the Snyder, O'Daniel, Jordan, and Wasson Fields is being maintained.

Basic policies will be maintained and revised to meet public needs, said Grobel. Decision to secure and operate the business under his personal management bespoke his faith in Big Spring and area, said Grobel, who has found time to be active in club and civic affairs, having been a chamber of commerce president and four times a county war bond chairman.

The Eiffel Tower in Paris was erected by the engineer Alexandre Gustave Eiffel as a feature of the Paris Exposition of 1889.

Alamo Scouts Are Tough But Kind

By MURKIN SPENCER
AN ADVANCED NEW GUINEA BASE, (AP)—An Alamo scout patrol brought back the report: "We could find no trace of the missing American airmen."
But they had tried. Five scouts commanded by Lt. Robert Sumner of Portland, Ore., had staged a war in miniature, with a single Australian Beaufighter as their air force and a PT boat as their navy.
Three enlisted men of the army air forces were reported down on Pagan Island in the Mapia group. The scouts were asked to go in search of them.
The PT moved slowly to within 500 yards of the island shortly after midnight and the six scouts waded ashore. It was 4 a. m. when they reached the beach and began moving inland. The island was so small they could see across it. Low, thin brush and gulleys barely two feet deep provided the only cover.

They saw a village in which was a house larger than the others with a white, picket fence and chickens roaming the yard. They assumed it belonged to the Japanese commander.
It was hazardous business moving about in daylight with the island seemingly swarming with Japanese. As they moved to the east the point man saw two Japanese on the right flank and Sumner saw two more. While they watched, the Japanese suddenly took cover. The scouts had been discovered.
The patrol began pulling back to the takeoff point on the west side and as they moved they could hear the enemy following them.

Sumner signalled for the PT to take them off and a rubber boat was started shoreward. It reached a reef far offshore and stopped. Sumner ordered his men into the surf and they waded out, walking backward to await the appearance of the Japanese soldiers behind them.
They had moved barely 25 yards when bullets from the brush on the beach splattered in the water around them.
They returned the fire but more Japanese opened up with rifle fire from the left flank 150 yards away. The situation was precarious.
One scout carried a portable radio on his back. He called the PT and the little craft in turn signalled an Australian Beaufighter circling overhead.
The scouts were only 50 yards offshore when the plane dropped down for its first run. It sprayed the beach with machine-gun bullets and the fire against the scouts diminished by half. Again the Beaufighter made its run and the fire ceased. The scouts made their way to safety. But they never saw the airmen and believe they are dead.
They are tough, rugged men, these Alamo scouts. But an American missionary, one of the more than 100 helped back to American lines by Lt. Sombar's patrol told me of how they helped carry the older nuns over mile after mile of trail knee deep in mud.
"Even the German missionaries said they never knew a soldier could be so kind."

Oil Brought Magical Changes To Wink Area

(Editor's Note:—One of a "Texas oil history" series in connection with Texas Mid-Continent Oil and Gas Association's 25th anniversary.)

The magical changes that oil brings were perhaps never more strikingly displayed than in Winkler County which, in 1920, had a population of 81. Kermit, the only town, had two families, and there was only a rough trail leading to Monahans, the nearest railroad point, 25 miles away.

Roy A. Westbrook started a printing shop at Fort Worth. Business was so light that he taught himself how to set type so he could help turn out the work. Being only 21, he felt that he should do something to remove the handicap of a youthful appearance in soliciting business, so he grew a mustache.

Soon Westbrook was receiving many orders. One customer was J. W. Grant, who specialized in obtaining large blocks of acreage in wildcat territory. From him, Westbrook acquired a lease on the Hendrick ranch in Winkler county, 32,000 acres, for 30 cents and acre.
Westbrook's lease was 75 miles from the nearest lime production, being about midway between Artesia, New Mexico and Big Lake, Texas. (The wheat field in Loving county, "sand" production, was 50 miles away.) It was Westbrook's belief that there might be a limestone reef between the lime-producing areas of Artesia and Big Lake. The most striking feature of the dreary landscape was the writhing Pecos river. The Artesia and Big Lake fields were on the east side of the stream and about 35 miles from the bank. So Westbrook decided to get back 35 miles from the Pecos and drill.

But the obligation of drilling a well was too heavy for the young operator and, at this point in the story, Stanley A. Thompson and W. L. Stewart enter. Without them, Westbrook declares, the field would not have been discovered.

Oscar Yates had charge of the drilling. There was a great deal of water trouble. Oil was struck but after 1,200 barrels had flowed or had been haled out, there was no more: it had been only a "pocket." But around 2,700 feet, in November, 1926, more oil was found — this time, they had a real well: 125 barrels a day. The quantity was far less important than the proof that there was a structure capable of holding, and which actually did hold, oil.

Some acreage had been sold to major companies. Then the Westbrook Oil Corporation sold the well and 500 acres to the Southern Crude Oil Purchasing Company for $510,000, half in cash, half in oil. Still with 17,000 acres, the Westbrook Oil Corporation made a trade with the Southern Crude on a 50-50 basis, with the latter company developing the property.

Up to midsummer of 1944, a total of 179 wells had been drilled on the 17,000-acre lease. On the entire ranch, about 600 producers have been drilled. Oddly enough, the field never got off the ranch, the producing south and about four miles area being 14 miles north and wide. One well in the field was rated as capable of making 80,000 barrels a day. Peak year was 1928 when the yield of the field was almost 59,000,000 barrels and it became the first field in Texas to be prorated under a State Railroad Commission order, though the Yates field had already instituted voluntary proration.

Kermit became a bustling spot and the old frame courthouse was a busy place. Stores sprang up and citizens swarmed in. The discovery of the Kermit field followed. A completely new town, Wink, arose near the Hendrick discovery well. When the first Wink school opened, three teachers found themselves facing more than 400 children!

The Texas & Pacific Railroad built from Monahans to Kermit and Wink; paved highways replaced the trails that motorists had never traveled without carrying along a shovel with which to dig out of drifting sand; oil companies provided recreation halls, playgrounds and swimming pools; trees, shrubs and vines were set out; and taxable values increased by millions of dollars.

The United States purchased the Territory of Alaska from Russia in 1867 for $7,200,000.

Miss Emily Josephine Dabney, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Dabney of Big Spring, and Pvt. James A. Raoul were married in a ceremony at 8 o'clock Friday night in the home of the bride's parents.

The bride wore an olive green woolen jersey dress, with brown accessories. Her corsage was of white carnations.

Attendants Given

The maid of honor was Ruth Cauthen, who wore a gray woolen dress with red accessories, and a corsage of red roses.

Pvt. James Taylor was best man.

A reception was held afterward at the bride's home. The wedding cake was topped with a miniature bride and groom, and was baked by Mrs. Theo. Andrews, long-time friend of the bride and her family. Mr. and Mrs. Andrews and Ray Lewis, brother of the bride, were present for the ceremony.

To Live Here

The couple left for a trip to Carlsbad, N. M., and will return to Big Spring Tuesday to make their home.

Mrs. Raoul is a graduate of Big Spring high school. She is employed as bookkeeper by Burton-Lingo Lumber company.

The bridegroom is from San Antonio, where he was graduated from high school and attended business college. He was a civil service employe before entering military service.

Betty Burleson, student at Texas Tech in Lubbock, is home for the weekend visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Burleson. Patricia Doyle of Dallas accompanied Miss Burleson home.

Expecting a Baby?

Mother's Friend helps bring ease and comfort to expectant mothers.

MOTHER'S FRIEND, an exquisitely prepared emollient, is useful in all conditions where a bland, mild anodyne massage medium in skin lubrication is desired. One condition in which women for more than 70 years have used it is an application for massaging the body during pregnancy. It helps keep the skin soft and pliable, thus avoiding unnecessary discomfort due to dryness and tightness. It refreshes and tones the skin. An ideal massage application for the nuchal, tingling or burning sensations of the skin... for the tired back muscles or cramp-like pains in the legs. Quickly absorbed. Delightful to use.

Mother's Friend Highly praised by users, many doctors and nurses. Just ask any druggist for Mother's Friend—the skin lubricant. Try it tonight.

Church School Is Regarded Success

A five-day Cooperative Leadership school conducted by the Methodist, Presbyterian and Christian churches closed Friday night, and was considered successful by the pastors of the sponsoring churches.

"We feel the school was very successful and laid the groundwork for a similar school next year," said Rev. J. E. McCoy, first Christian pastor and dean of the school. Similar sentiments were expressed by Rev. H. Clyde Smith, pastor of the First Methodist church, and Rev. James E. Moore, pastor of the Presbyterian church, he said.

Approximately 80 persons enrolled, and several others visited sessions. Forty-one credit cards from the International Council of Religious Education were issued to persons successfully completing the course after having attended or made up for at least four class lessons.

Several from out of the city attended.

"If My People—"

Book By Helen Smith Is Answer To Problem

Based upon a Biblical verse and drawing its title from the same verse, "If My People," by Helen Reagan Smith of Big Spring, is a 171-page book applying Biblical teachings and promises to individual problems and national needs.

Copies of the book go on sale at the Book Stall Monday.

Serving as theme for the entire book is the verse, "If my people, shall humble themselves and pray, and seek My face, and turn from their wicked ways; then will I hear from heaven, and will forgive their sin, and will heal their land," from II Chronicles 7:14.

The book was published recently by Helms Printing company of Dallas and copies have been received locally. It is dedicated to memory of the author's sister, Lucille Reagan, missionary to Africa.

Drawing illustrations and explanations from the Bible and using examples taken from daily living, the book deals largely with the sorrows of a nation as it went from depression to dust storms to the present conflict and of the sufferings of individuals, presenting reasons, purposes and results or remedies of suffering.

In her opening paragraphs the author cites present conditions and states, "Evil seems to sit enthroned watching us with mocking laughter." She brings the question, "Where is the power of God? Suffering is on the rampage. Death, starvation, and wickedness stalk through the universe. Goodness and mercy seem to have lost their hold. What has happened? Why Does God let it happen?"

The remainder of the book might well be considered the author's answers to those questions as she has found them in the Bible and in daily living.

She applies two Bible verses to transition of a nation from blessings to sorrows. In Deut. 28:1-10 she quotes the promise of blessings. From Deut. 28:15-37, she quotes curses. She applies them to the present day. In one paragraph she asks, "What would happen in America today if we — just those of us who call ourselves Christians — would seek the Lord, praying forgiveness for our sins and the sins of our friends; right about face, cutting out the petty faults we have allowed ourselves to overlook in our own lives, seeking Him with our hearts, not just our lips? What would happen?"

Her answer is, "In proportion to the sincerity of our prayers, the black future of the United States would lift and we would be saved from worse things to come."

In her next chapter, "Honor bearers," she deals with the phrase, "... which are called by my name," in one of the closing statements saying, "Yet it is we, those of us who call ourselves Christians, who will by the quality of our worship, determine whether America will rise to greater powers or be lost."

In the third chapter, "God Versus Us," she deals with "... shall humble themselves," quoting from the Bible in discussing abomination of pride and humility.

"The Power House" is the subject of her fourth chapter, in which she discusses prayer.

In her fifth, she discusses "If my people . . . seek my face," under the subject, "Looking at God."

"If my people . . . turn from their wicked ways" is the theme of her sixth chapter, "Correcting Faults."

In the seventh chapter, "Open Windows" she discusses the promise, "... Then I will hear from heaven." In her eighth, she discusses "Forgiveness of Sins."

Next she deals with need for patience and faith in the chapter, "Waiting in Faith," citing Abraham and his waiting for fulfillment of God's promise that he would be father of a great nation; of Joseph and the promise he would rule over his father and brothers; of David and his exile after he was anointed next king of Israel.

In her final chapter, "Our responsibilities," she leads up to the conclusion in which she discusses America as the world's big brother and says "Today the whole world about us is hungry, shelterless, and naked," and that, "America alone has the riches and the ability to meet the world's need." She says, "We must give of our time, our labor, our materials, and our profits. We must let our own desires be crushed under our own heels until we have met this great need of our fellow man."

After her final quotation of the theme verse, she writes, "Our actions reveal our reply. What shall our answer be?"

In her acknowledgements, the author gives "special appreciation" to her pastor, Rev. Dick O'Brien, pastor of the First Baptist church, "for his patient reading of the manuscript in its formative stages." She also thanks Chaplain James L. Patterson of Big Spring Bombardier school and Sue Haynes for their comments and suggestions.

Mrs. Smith, wife of Tracy Smith, lawyer and city attorney, is the daughter of a pioneer Big Spring couple, Mr. and Mrs. B. Reagan. She was reared here. She is the mother of three children, "If My People" is her first book.

In the foreword, by Grace Noll Crowell, the book is recommended as "powerful and timely."

Mrs. Crowell, outstanding Texas poet, says, "One cannot read it without his faith being strengthened; without a clearer vision of a Christian's responsibilities and privileges; without closer acquaintance with God, Himself." "The writer is a profound student of the Bible. She lives as she writes—beautifully and sincerely. She has delved deeply and has brought

Party Given Friday For Junior Scouts

Mrs. W. D. Wilbanks was hostess to the Junior Boy Scouts Friday at a party in her home to celebrate September and October birthdays of Cubs.

Regulars May Drop Out To Favor GOP

DALLAS, Oct. 14 (AP)—Harry L. Seay, chairman of the state democratic executive committee, predicted tonight that the Texas Regulars, new party formed by anti-Roosevelt democrats, would "go through the motion of withdrawing in favor of the republican candidates for presidential electors."

Seay issued a formal statement which said: "I predict that the little group of frustrated politicians who call themselves the Texas Regulars are going to go through the motion of withdrawing in favor of the republican candidates for presidential electors."

"They are not going to do this to add their puny strength to the republican minority, but to save their faces, which will be very red if their names are still on the ballot Nov. 7."

Bobby Layne Sparks Longhorn 20 To 0 Win Over Oklahoma Sooners

DALLAS, Oct. 14 (AP)—Blond Bobby Layne, a 17-year-old freshman, passed and ran Texas to its fifth straight victory over Oklahoma in their annual inter-sectional football battle today as the Longhorns triumphed 20-0 before a crowd of 23,000.

Texas punted out and the ever-present Layne bobbed up to intercept a Lebow pass on the Oklahoma 44 from where the Longhorns paraded to their first score. Layne arched a high one from the 16 to Bechtol in the end zone for the touchdown. Layne kicked the extra point.

Texas scored its last two touchdowns in the fourth quarter. The first came after Lebow's short low boot carried only to the Oklahoma 40. Bell made three at right end then stepped back and looped a pass to Leroy Anderson on the Oklahoma 25. Anderson whipped down the sidelines for the score without being touched. Billy Andrews drop-kicked the extra point but a penalty took it away. The final counter was a part-gift to Texas. The Longhorns had the ball on the Oklahoma 46 after a short Sooner punt. Interference was called on a Layne pass to give Texas the ball on the Oklahoma 27. Then Layne flipped to Bennett for the touchdown. Andrews passed to Layne for the extra point.

Irish Roar Over Indians 64 To 0

BOSTON, Oct. 14 (AP)—Note Dame's fighting Irish ran up their highest point total since 1932 as they crushed Dartmouth, 64-0, today while making their first New England football bow in 30 years between showers at Fenway Park. It was the most humiliating setback the Indians from Hanover, N. H., have suffered since their Yale game of 60 years ago.

Using a total of 12 speedy backs in the one-sided action, the Irish scored in every period while rushing the ball for a total of 429 yards and 19 first downs. The Dartmouth carriers made 54 yards overland but, thrown for total rushing loss of 72, wound up with a minus 18 total and six first downs.

The Irish broke loose for four counters in the second period and again the finale, while scoring only single touchdowns in the first and third. The only weakness the Irish displayed was in their extra-point kicking department, for they missed six of their ten post-touchdown chances.

Tulane Trounces Rice Owls 21-0

NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 14 (AP)—Tulane's flashy Green Wave pocketed their fumbles in the second and third quarters here today to score a 21-0 victory over a game but outclassed Rice Institute team.

After two fifteen-yard penalties and fumbles had stalled Tulane's first quarter drives, the Greenies' second team executed a 65-yard scoring drive that paid off in the last minute of the first half. Freshman Fullback Marvin McCain crashed over the one and one half yard mark and Dub Jones came in to kick his first of three placements.

Tulane's first team struck for two quick touchdowns in the third period. Fullback Harry Robinson driving between guard and tackle from the 3 yard line after a 63 yard drive. Jones Renfro and Robinson alternated in advancing the ball in the scoring drive which took only five plays.

Slick-hipped Dub Jones got the third and final touchdown a couple of minutes later when he took in Bucky Sheffield's punt on the Greenies' 35-yard line and slipped down the east sideline where he picked up good blocking and scored standing up.

Army Tramples Pitt

WEST POINT, N. Y., Oct. 14 (AP)—For a few minutes at Michie Field today, it appeared the Army and Pittsburgh football teams had just one thing in common, a determination to hold down the score—Army's score—but after that neither team could do it with the result the Cadets smothered the hefty but verdant Panther eleven, 69 to 7.

The flashy speedy Army team punched over just one touchdown in the first period, but after that a parade of touchdowns rolled up the largest score since the Cadets defeated Knox college 67 to 6 back in 1931.

Lamesa Opens Game With Early Score After Cook's Quick-Kick Goes Bad

Coming from behind to shove themselves out of the cellar in District Three AA competition the Big Spring Steers nosed out a valiant but outclassed Lamesa Golden Tornado eleven 7-6 Friday night in McCullom Field at Lamesa with a last half comeback that completely overshadowed the stiff fight put up by the losing team.

It was Pete Cook who won the game with an accurate kick square between the uprights, his first kick was nullified by offside penalties on both teams, after he had getting started.

Tommy Clinkscales proved true to all predictions and turned in one of the finest performances of the evening at his guard slot, slicing through time and again to halt sustained drives, and in the last half blocking a punt. But Clinkscales was not alone in his outstanding play as I. B. Bryan, acting captain for the night, played his best ball game of the year. Bryan was the big hitch in the Tornadoes running game and aided Steer backs with some exceptionally fine blocking. Kenneth Huett and Joe Cunningham had trouble all evening with wide end sweeps but proved equal to the occasion by running Lamesa backs across the field before secondary defense men came in to make the tackles.

Ladd Smith was also outstanding at the center post, intercepting one aerial in the last quarter and starting an almost scoring drive. In the opening half the Steers received and after a series of downs punted. The Tornadoes went to work and made a first down in three plays, then were forced to kick. Big Spring took over on their 15 and were forced to kick. After another exchange the Steers were still on their own 29-yard line when Cook got off his bad kick to the 39, which Lamesa returned to the 25, and Rhoades carried over four plays later.

The Tornadoes held the locals during the second period, and the half ended with the host's starting victory in the face with a 6-0 lead. In the third quarter the Steers returned to the field with signs of spirit returning and jumped on an early break when Kenneth Huett pounced over a fumble by Boone on the Lamesa 29-yard line. With Cook and Cochran doing the work on ball juggling the locals moved down to the five in seven plays. Then Cochran dropped a nice pass between two Tornado men into the waiting arms of Cook. Cook converted and the score stood 7-6 favoring the invaders.

In the fourth period the Steers moved down to the nine yard mark where passes twice and two runs failed to gain, the Tornadoes taking over. After Lamesa kicked the locals got rolling again and moved down for a first on the two. Again the Tornadoes held in the shadow of their goal and took over. A sneaker pass by the Tornadoes on their own 35, Rhoades to Hawkins, brought the fans to their feet and the ball out to the 50 as the game ended.

The invaders were evidently the superior team, outweighing and with more experience than their hosts, but a ragged first half and lack of a scoring punch led to a close ball game.

In the matter of statistics it was Big Spring having a big edge with nine first downs to four for the Lamesa eleven, but penalties offset this edge with eight netting 75 yards against the winners, while Lamesa received two for 10 yards. On the ground the Steers netted 194 yards against 93 for Lamesa and completed four of seven passes for 66 yards while the Dawson boys completed one of six for 15 yards. The Lamesa boys fumbled nine times with two recoveries by the Steers.

Starting lineups were: For Big Spring, Huett and Cunningham at ends, Bryan and Harris at tackles, Rusk and Clinkscales at guards, Smith at center; Cook, Cochran, Hardy and McLaren in the backfield.

Substitutions were Barron, Richardson and Douglass. For Lamesa: Hawkins and Hoffmann at ends, Matlock and Fortenberry at tackles; Roberts and Bizzell at guards, Shillenburg at center; Self, Rhoades, Taylor and Boone in the backfield. Substitutions were Hurley, Netman, Horton and Britt.

Garden City Downs Water Valley 20-6

Garden City sent Water Valley home smarting under a 20-6 defeat and Coshoma entertained Courtney by dropping a 31-20 decision in district six-man football play Friday.

Baker, Whetsel and Calverley furnished the fireworks for Garden City, building up a 20-point lead before permitting Water Valley to score on a 30-yard pass completion in the closing canto. Baker scampered 50 yards to stake Garden City to a 6-0 half-time lead. Whetsel scooted off end 20 yards for another in the third and Overton passed to Calverley for the final Garden City counter. Calverley kicked two extra points.

Courtney had too much power for Coshoma. Cross ran wild behind potent blocking to score six touchdowns. One of the Courtney counters came on a 70-yard punt return. Larry Borden, quarterback, gave Coshoma fans a thrill when he pulled in a Courtney pass and raced 60-yards to score. Borden also counted again and passed to Dennis Turner for another. Woodson picked up two extra points.

Coshoma entertains Garden City Friday. Forsan, only possible threat to Courtney, goes to Water Valley. At Garden City, starting line-ups included: Water Valley, Miers and McKeska, ends, Phillips, center; Cope, quarter, Teel, half, and Johnson, fullback; Garden City—Gaker and Hunt, ends; Overton, center; D. Cox, quarter; Calverley, half, and Whitsel, fullback.

Colorado City Wins 25-0 Over Snyder

In their third conference eight A tilt the Colorado City Wolves scored in every period to trounce an outclassed Snyder Tiger eleven 25-0 Friday night on Colorado City's Cantrill Field.

Colorado City ran the ball game to the Tigers and took an early lead, which was never threatened. They racked up 10 first downs to three for the losing eleven. After line plunges and end sweeps Bodine carried over for the winners in the opening quarter. In the second period Thomas roared over the double stripe to bring the score to 12-0 at the half.

In the third it was Tiller who raced across the last stripes to reach paydirt, and Carter added the final score in the last quarter with another drive across the goal. One of the kicks after touchdown found the uprights, but three other tries were no good. Colorado City has tied Hobbs and defeated Baird in other conference tilts.

H. C. Burrus On Potent Ramblers

RANDOLPH FIELD, Oct. 14 — First Lieutenant Harry C. Burrus of Lubbock, who played high school football in Big Spring, Tex., is now holding down an end position on the mighty Rambler football aggregation at this headquarters of the AAF Central Flying Training Command.

The lieutenant, a physical training officer, moved on to Hardin-Simmons after high school career and earned all-conference and Little All-America honors. He played in the North-South game in 1941.

L. L. Burrus is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Burrus, 503 Avenue R, Lubbock. Married, he is 23 years old and weighs 185 pounds. He once won a Rocky Mountain badminton championship entering the Army in May, 1942, he was commissioned in August, 1943.

Application Blanks Received For Soil Conservation Practices Here

Application blanks for payment for soil conservation practices have been received at the AAA office, M. Weaver, administrative assistant, announced Saturday. Weaver estimated that Howard county farmers and ranchers probably would earn around $100,000, which is under the potential. There are no crop benefit payments this year.

Most of the payments will come from contour listing and farming, which pays 75 cents per acre; tanking, which pays 15 cents per tuble yard, and terracing (no limber) roughly at $75 per mile. There will be a number of green manure payments ranging from 75 cents to $1.50 per acre and comparatively few payments for mesquite, prickly pear and cedar eradication, which varies from $1 to $5.

Although no applications have been handled, interest appears to be mounting in either holding grain sorghums privately or putting it in the loan.

M. Weaver, administrative assistant for the Howard county conservation association, said Saturday between 50 and 75 farmers had secured lumber permits for construction of grain bins. A number already have these facilities.

The loan is pegged at $1.69 for No. 2 grain, which covers most of the crop, which promises to be good in general. Notes, however, mature April 31, 1945, carry three per cent interest, and at expiration date the Commodity Credit Corp. may call for delivery to car.

Applicants must make a $3 deposit for inspection, this to be credited on the service charge of 1 cent per bushel. Grain must have been in storage 30 days before it is eligible for loan. No insurance is required, but the holder must exercise reasonable precautions for its safety.

Grain averages 56 pounds per bushel, said Weaver. Anyone who grows grain is eligible to place it in the loan. The market currently is around $1.20. Some have indicated that they plan to hold their grain without going into the loan.

Rumorang Gains Popularity On Western Front

WITH THE AEF IN FRANCE, Oct. 7 (Delayed) (AP)—"Pass the potatoes," said the captain to the lieutenant, adding "did you hear about that new division that's going to deliver us in ten days?"

The lieutenant looked at his watch, turned to another lieutenant, and said solemnly, "I win. Three hours and ten minutes."

He had just scored another point in a new game which is fast gaining popularity among the western front.

It is "rumorang" and bears a marked similarity to the game of "gossip" which most of the soldiers played as children.

It consists mainly of throwing out a rumor and then seeing how soon it comes sailing back at you. The speed required for your "rumorang" to return is the main point of the game, but it has many side angles.

For one thing, like "gossip," it is important to see how much the original rumor changes in transmission from person to person. Also a basic rule of "rumorang" requires that you specifically state when first starting the game that what you are passing along is only a rumor. Then, if it comes back camouflaged as an absolute fact, you practically have scored a grand slam.

Also it is important to see what source is given for the "fact" when it comes back.

"I had several rumors return as straight from Gen. _____ by way of his aide," said one grinning captain who gets a big kick out of the game. "Naturally coming from him they are not rumors anymore. They are the straight goods—if they had come from him."

Generally speaking it is considered poor sportsmanship to start a rumor resembling some actual fact. Several high-scoring officers have been bitterly accused of this lately by less fortunate "rumorang" players.

The whole idea is to place the game entirely on the basis of human nature, gullibility and wishful thinking.

Navy Wins 7-0 From Blue Devils

By JOHN F. CHANDLER
BALTIMORE, Oct. 14 (AP)—In a bruising battle between two hard-fighting lines, Navy squeaked through to a 7-0 victory today over Duke, but the Blue Devils of Durham scared the pants off the Middies as they dominated last half play and drove deep into scoring territory on three occasions.

Hal Hamberg, triple threat star of Navy's powerful 1943 outfit, grabbed a punt by Gordon Carver on the Sailor 43 and blasted back 12 yards to Duke's 48 to start the touchdown assault. Clyde Scott lugged three cracks at the line for another first down on the 15.

Russell Owen, making one of Navy's six fumbles of the day, finally recovered his own miscue on the 23. Hamberg made that up with a pass to End John Hansen, but the Middies were offside, and there penalized to the 28. This didn't bother Hamberg, who stepped back, spotted Guy Breering off to the left, and dumped the ball into his arms on the 21. The big end shook off two tacklers as he banged through the rest of the way. Vic Finos placekicked the extra point, but Navy was penalized 15 yards for holding, and the point-making specialist made the second try good from the 17-yard marker.

News Supports Dewey

DALLAS, Oct. 14 (AP)—The Dallas Morning News, in an editorial, came out tonight in support of Thomas E. Dewey, republican nominee for president.

The editorial, headed "We choose Mr. Dewey," closed with "in the very nature of the democratic process there must be—Mr. Roosevelt once said—an occasional new deal. We need one today."

Sliding Down The Sports Chute

with BILL

"Well, my pre-game predictions came out very well with 2 of 3 for Friday night in the district contests and today I am breaking my arm patting Bill's back. Sweetwater showed quite a surge of power in trouncing Midland 26-6, while Ahlens upset my apperect and took a 14-7 win from the Odessa boys. The latter may prove quite a headache for favored San Angelo while Sweetwater is a headache anyway, and has been all season.

The local game rather proved that I am over-optimistic in regards to local talent. However I still contend that we have a three-touchdown better team than Lamesa. The Steers certainly looked terrible the first half, and if their second-half breaks had not come like they did we might still be wondering what happened.

That goal-line stand of the Tornados, however, draws a very special congratulations from this corner. Those lads were outwitted and beaten in every department, but they stopped a heavier line for four plays on the goal line, and did it twice. One department they seemed to have the edge in was fight. The Steers played in spurts but Lamesa was battling all the way, and did a good job of it. Coach Dibrell was lucky to bring home that victory . . . Thanks, Pete Cook for doing a fine job of ball playing, and especially for that educated toe you follow around.

Word has come to us from Shorty Gideon out at the Municipal Golf Course that he has his greens in fine shape. A water shortage has hindered their care with an ordinance against watering them, but recent rains have aided the growth of the grass considerably while a little well placed fertilizer and extra-good care have brought them into good condition. For the interest of local golfers it might be said that they will find those greens out there in good condition and ready for accurate use of the putter.

I received a letter from my friend Pvt. Herb Tannenbaum out at the Bombardier School the other day. Herb is in a great state of excitement about the public address system that is lacking at Steer Stadium. He says it is badly needed, but compliments the spirit shown by the high school students. He says they have more than most large high schools he has seen. (I'm sorry Herb but space limited my printing your entire letter.)

I quite agree with the private about the p. a. system. It would certainly add a lot to the game for fans if such was installed. I have probed into one or two corners with no success, but will keep trying.

If any of you local supporters know of a system that can be obtained please notify me, and I will contact Coach Dibrell and others and we will get something done as soon as possible. I think an announcer could be found very easily for such a purpose and also believe that local fans would support such a move. They certainly deserve a little more help for the support they have been giving the team this year. Let's give it a try. . . . See you . . .

Michigan Wins 27-0

ANN ARBOR, Mich., Oct. 14 (AP)—The University of Michigan's Wolverines overpowered the Northwestern Wildcats 27-0 here today for their second victory of the Western conference season. The Michigan ground attack sent Gene Derricotte across the goal line in the first quarter. Bob Nussbaumer twice in the second and Bob Wiese in the fourth.

ALABAMA WINS, 55-0

TUSCALOOSA, Ala., Oct. 14 (AP)—Alabama overwhelmed the Millsaps Majors, 55 to 0, here today in the Tide's final warmup contest.

The Tide first stringers, sticking chiefly to straight football, failed to score until late in the first period, when Fullback Norman Hodges plunged over to end a 66-yard drive, and for the remainder of the game Coach Frank Thomas gave his reserves an opportunity to show their wares and they responded with six touchdowns in the second half.

Ensign Jess R. Collins, son of Mrs. Ida Collins, has been promoted to the rank of lieutenant (j.g.). He is stationed somewhere in the South Pacific.

OKLA. ZOOMERS DOWN HOGS 27-7

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark., Oct. 14 (AP)—A comparative unknown, Fred Enke, 19, son of Basketball Coach Fred Enke of Arizona University, outshone his teammates, Leonard Eshmont and Emil Sitke, Norman, Okla. Navy Zoomer backs, as the heavy service team downed the University of Arkansas Razorbacks 27 to 7 here this afternoon.

In the second quarter Enke set up the first score for the Zoomers by advancing the ball to the one-foot line on a series of brilliant passes. Then he went through center for the touchdown. In the same period he passed to Richmond over the goal line.

The Navy boys scored twice more in the fourth. The last two came on a short forward from Sitke to Eshmont, who went over from the five yard line on a three-yard dash by Roy Coble of South-west Oklahoma. Enke had taken the ball to three after Coble had run it to the nine. Miller added three extra points for the Zoomers on placement kicks.

Arkansas finally tallied after a sustained drive from the Porkers' own 37. Donoho and Little Gordon Long sparked the touchdown march and Long passed to Frank Schumcheyk for several nice gains. Brother Schumcheyk, Frank's big brother, got off for a 14-yard dash around end to the Zoomer 10, and was carried out of the game with an injured leg.

With but a few minutes left Long tossed a pass to Anderson for the score and Young converted.

Second AAF Tramples NMU Lobos Easily 89-6

EL PASO, Oct. 14 (AP)—Second Air Force crossed Mexico University's goal line six times today for an 89-6 triumph and a new scoring record at K. Field, site of the New Year's Sun Bowl.

A crowd estimated at 10,000 watched in 90-degree sunshine the Superbombers from Colorado Springs, Colo., rolled up 621 yards on the ground and in the air. The team held New Mexico's Navy trainees to a net gain of eight yards on ground and 149 by passes.

Glenn Dobbs, Superbomber America player from Tulsa, turned the second half opening kickoff 92 yards for a touchdown in the longest run of the day. He scored another touchdown in the completed seven of nine passes including touchdown tosses to Medovitch and Nick Soseff.

Normal temperatures for so birds is 110 degrees, Fahrenheit.

Early long distance roads in Europe were laid out and used by traders gathering amber.

Capacity For Discipline

Of course, our water problems are not yet over, but the peak of danger has been passed and we think time is ripe to pay a richly deserved tribute to the people of Big Spring.

Consumption has been held consistently between 1,200,000 and 1,500,000 gallons daily during the spring, summer and early autumn. This figure is cut less than 60 gallons daily for every person served by the system.

Consider that this was achieved in the face of one of the most chronic droughts in a quarter of a century, and you begin to get proper appreciation of the degree of cooperation given by industry, institutions, installments, business and the people.

The Texas and Pacific Railway company stepped into the breach by hauling in sizeable quantities of water until its lake south of town, fortunately caught a good supply from two local showers.

The Big Spring Bomber School shared the situation admirably with the city and held its consumption in check. Business houses watched plumbing and switched to circulating air conditioning systems.

Everywhere the people conserved water at home, repairing leaky faucets, held off irrigating although forced to watch lawns and in some cases their shrubs parch and die. Others drained off bath water to keep plants alive in hopes of giving them ample water next year.

While holding consumption to the remarkably low figure and thus permitting the city to get through one of the most crucial periods of its water history is the amazing fruit of public cooperation, we think the almost negligible amount of fudging is equally as impressive.

It is true there were a few who couldn't bear to lick the same log, but in the main people took the shortage in good spirits. They didn't try to alibi to other towns. They even joked about it.

Although there were ordinances to control use of water, the thing that controlled it was public sentiment. Soon we will have in a new and enlarged supply of water, and we hope our worries in this direction will be over for some time to come.

Out of this unpleasant interlude Big Spring has clearly demonstrated its capacity for self-discipline. This can be used to great advantage in the future.

This One's Different, Anyhow

Highly amusing, if not interesting, is a "survey" released by "Free Enterprise," a campaign sheet issued by a non-partisan Texas organization opposing the New Deal.

"Extra," says the offering, "Extra. Dewey Winning Texas." Then it mysteriously touches upon the means by which 350,718 votes, or 37 per cent of the potential, have been conferred upon the Republican nominee and the remainder in the Democratic column divided nearly fifty-fifty between the Roosevelt and anti-Roosevelt forces.

When you speak of equality of sacrifice, think of the Sullivan and Borgstroms and numerous other American families who have given from one to four or five sons to the cause of human liberty, and see if you can determine in your own mind whether it would be possible for anybody to make a comparable sacrifice, except in kind. Money? Time? Weariness? Business? Annoyance? Inconvenience? Conversation? Hate! All these are pretty cheap when compared to human life, to the giving up of a loved one.

Washington—

Roosevelt Has "Whipping Boys"

WASHINGTON — Until now President Roosevelt has been politically fortunate in having had probably more whipping - boys than any other candidate for public office.

Even now, he has Sidney Hillman, head of the CIO political action committee, with Secretary of Labor Frances "Ma" Perkins, Interior Secretary Harold "Curmudgeon" Ickes and several state and city Democratic "bosses" coming in for their share.

But for the first time in 12 years his opponent for the presidency has chosen the direct personal attack. Starting with his Oklahoma City speech, Gov. Thomas E. Dewey abandoned for the time being at least the campaign policies of his predecessors.

Instead of centering his fire on policies and appointees, he started swinging at "the Champ" himself. The political wisdom of this can only be written in returns from the ballot boxes in November.

There doesn't seem to be any dictionary definition of a political whipping - boy, but any successful politician could hold forth for hours on the importance of having several around when the sledding gets rough.

Actually, it is someone who can bear the brunt of opposition lashings for mistakes, someone who may be tossed or "into the street" by his chief if necessary. Some of the President's whipping - boys have been sacrificed; others still sit at the presidential family table.

No Equality Of Sacrifice

The Declaration of Independence says that all men are created equal, which is an unassailable proposition, if you are careful to make a distinction between God's intent and what happens to a man after he is born.

God performs the miracle of creation, but man usually disposes of the fruit thereof. A genius is born of quite ordinary parents, with quite ordinary backgrounds; a scoundrel is born of good and wise parents with the finest backgrounds.

We got to thinking along this unhealthy line the other day by hearing someone speak of the "equality of sacrifice," with reference to people's attitude toward the war and the sacrifices they make, or refuse to make, in behalf of victory.

Obviously, equality of sacrifice, like that of birth, is non-existent—it is just an ideal that could never be attained even under the most perfect government on earth. Always we would have those who gave their all, always we would have some who gave nothing.

The case of the Sullivan brothers who died in a single disaster at sea, and we imagine having a destroyer named for them was poor compensation to their parents. Life ill-used the Sullivans, but being grand people of the sort our civilization is built on, they bore their affliction gallantly and without recrimination.

We have just come across a case that almost exactly parallels the Sullivans' sacrifice. This time the surname is Scandinavian instead of Irish. (Have you noticed how often the names on the casualty lists read like a Notre Dame football team line-up?) Particularly, had you noticed how many Mexican names are on the lists from Texas? What's in a name? Nothing, so long as the wearer is an American.

When you speak of equality of sacrifice, think of the Sullivans and Borgstroms and numerous other American families who have given from one to four or five sons to the cause of human liberty, and see if you can determine in your own mind whether it would be possible for anybody to make a comparable sacrifice, except in kind. Money? Time? Weariness? Business? Annoyance? Inconvenience? Conversation? Hate! All these are pretty cheap when compared to human life, to the giving up of a loved one.

The Thrill That Comes Once In A Lifetime

Ernie Pyle: First Night In Battlefront Camp Brings Eerie Feeling to Reporter

Editor's Note:— This is the 29th of the Ernie Pyle war columns we are reprinting while Ernie is on leave.

By ERNIE PYLE NORTHERN TUNISIA — April, 1943 — We moved one afternoon to a new position just a few miles behind the invisible line of armor that separates us from the Germans in Northern Tunisia.

Nothing happened that first night that was spectacular, yet somehow the whole night became obsessed with a spookiness that leaves it standing like a landmark in my memory.

We had been at the new camp about an hour and were still setting up our tents when German planes appeared overhead. We stopped work to watch them. It was the usual display of darting planes, with the conglomerate sounds of ack-ack on the ground and in the sky.

Suddenly we realized that one plane was diving straight at us, and we made a mad scramble for foxholes. Two officer friends of mine had dug a three-foot hole and set their tent over it. So they made for their tent, and I was tramping on their heels.

The tent flap wouldn't come open, and we wound up in a silly heap. Finally it did open, and we all dived through the narrow opening all at once.

We lay there in the hole, face down, as the plane came smack overhead with a terrible roar. We were all drawn up inside, waiting for the blow. Explosions around us were shatteringly loud, and yet when it was all over we couldn't find any bomb holes or anybody hurt.

But you could find a lot of nervous people. . . . Dusk came on, and with dusk began the steady boom of big guns in the mountains ahead of us. They weren't near enough for the sound to be crashing. Rather it was like the lonely roll of an approaching thunderstorm — a sound which since childhood has always made me sad with a kind of portent of inevitable doom.

We went to bed in our tents. A nearby farmyard was full of dogs and they began a howling that lasted all night. The roll of artillery was constant. It never stopped once in 24 hours. Once in a while there were nearer shots which might have been German patrols or might not.

We lay uneasily in our cots. Sleep wouldn't come. We turned and turned. I snapped on a flashlight. "What time is it?" asked Chris Beesie, or Beatrice, friend of Ida's joins her. "Every time I plan a simple pleasure, like having my fortune told," says Ida, "that Sherman wants me. I've got to find out what simply catastrophic thing is about to happen to me. Since you're kidding, aren't you? Of course you are — come on, Beesie, quick — before he changes his mind."

Carelessly attired Gregory Ratoff, collar open, trousers baggy, is directing Joan Leslie in a U. S. O. canteen kitchen scene for "Where Do We Go From Here?" Or rather, he is directing mountains of dirty dishes, being piloted on trays by uniformed extras to join other mountains of dirty dishes waiting to give Joan dishpan hands. Blond little June Haver, the other girl, is on the sidelines.

But to a spectator any scene directed by Ratoff is Ratoff's scene. He proclaims his readiness to proceed by shouting "I'm in dishes are wheeled in, calls for a moom!" He gets excited, as the re-take. "Seemly tee-ree-ic, BUT—" In his excitement, he trips over his walking stick, takes a flat fall, joins in the general guffawing. After the scene is done — and no dishes broken, by some miracle, — he exclaims: "I'll buy

Today And Tomorrow

The Dumbarton Agreement

By WALTER LIPPMANN

There were two ways of going about the organization of peace. One was to do again what President Wilson did in 1919—to dissolve the war-time alliance and then to reassemble the separated nations and seek to bind them by the terms of a covenant. The other way was to preserve the war-time alliance by transforming it and adapting it to the post-war world.

Each of these two basic conceptions has had its earnest supporters both inside and outside the circle of those who have worked on the problem. . . . The first conception, which may properly be called the Wilsonian, has the apparent advantage of a clean break with the past: its charter would express the ideals of a world in which nations put their whole trust in the new organization, denouncing all special strategic precautions, their natural alliances and partnerships, promising to purge themselves totally of what it is now the fashion to miscall "power politics."

In the second conception there is no break with the immediate past: on the contrary, the comradeship-in-arms by which the nations have assured their survival, is regarded as a deeper bond than the terms of a charter, and the paramount consideration is how this war-time alliance can be made to evolve into a lasting peace-time association.

In the main the Dumbarton Oaks conference chose the second way. The name which the delegates have given to the proposed organization is the name of the grand alliance of this war, namely the United Nations. This is of the utmost significance, and it is the master clue to an understanding of the whole project.

For the charter does not create an association which did not exist previously. On the contrary, the charter was drafted by the authority of an alliance which already exists, and it will be submitted to this alliance as an instrument which the United Nations can use to maintain peace after they have won it. The association, the coalition, the grand alliance, is to the charter what a nation is to its constitution: it is the living organism which acts through a framework of agencies and under laws and agreements that are its own creation.

That this charter is an instrument of the United Nations, which preceded it, which will adopt it, will use it, and may, of course, amend it, is shown by the fact that it is not to be the only instrument. In respect to the enemy states, the United Nations will act not through the charter but through conventions and treaties dealing specifically with the enemy states (cf. chapter XII, 2). In respect to the present members of the United Nations themselves, and also in respect to neutrals which may or may not join them, they will act through this charter. They may also act through other agreements—for example, regional agreements—provided, of course, they do not act contrary to the purposes and principles of the great charter.

Just as the nation conducts its affairs by means of a federal constitution, state constitutions, and municipal charters—and yet is always the same nation — so the United Nations will preserve the peace through conventions dealing with their principal enemies, through the Dumbarton charter, and through other agreements of association, some of which, like the Pan-American and the British commonwealth, already exist, and other which may in the future be made.

Once we accept this controlling conception we must see, I think, in a different light some of the difficulties which have troubled many ardent workers for international peace. There is the question of the great powers and the others. The charter recognizes the fact which the war has shown: that the leading military powers are Great Britain, the Soviet Union and the United States, and that France in Europe and China in Asia must necessarily be intimately associated with them.

It recognizes that another great war in the foreseeable future can be prevented, but only by the united—that is to say the unanimous—action of these five powers. They alone, as long as Germany and Japan are disarmed, can wage great war. If they should go to war among themselves, it would be a great war even if it were called a war to enforce peace. If they cannot agree to preserve the peace, then no organization can preserve the peace. Any attempt to preserve peace except by their agreement is sure to fail. Any attempt to enforce peace against one of them dot — but west Zanuck's money!" Fred MacMurray, new to the 20th lot, tells us he likes Ratoff but has to "learn" him better. "Everything is seemingly tee-ree-ic," he says, "so I have to learn when it really is simply tee-ree-ic."

The Great Sphinx of Gizeh in Egypt is believed to have been built to protect neighboring tombs from evil spirits.

matter, and we should not be too concerned because this organic reality cannot be formalized easily in the mechanics of voting. The authors of the Dumbarton charter were obviously aware of this, and in addition to the rather awkward system for "electing" six smaller powers to the council, they have provided that any nation concerned with an issue, or involved in an important way in enforcing peace in some particular place, shall be invited into active participation (see for example chapter VIII, section B, 9 and also chapter VI, section D, 4).

The Dumbarton Oaks conference has labored hard and well. Though its conclusions are described as tentative, on the fundamental issue of what kind of international organization to create, the great decision has been taken. It has been taken wisely. No one need doubt, I think, that the delegates took the right road to peace, or that they have made very substantial progress along that road.

For these reasons the maintenance of peace demands that they be permanently responsible for it and continuously in fundamental agreement. . . . To say this is not to say that nothing else is required to prevent war, or that the other nations have no part to play. In fact, they have an indispensable part to play and they are bound to play it.

Thus we shall mislead ourselves if we lay much emphasis on the mechanics of voting in the council or on how to have the smaller powers "represented." For example, as a matter of fact before Great Britain would think of casting her "vote" on any vital issue of war and peace, London would inevitably consult all the dominions, it would consult France and the Low Countries, and almost certainly the United States. Before Washington cast its "vote," it would certainly consult Mexico, Brazil, and the other countries of Pan-America. It would consult Great Britain and, of course, Canada—on any question in the Pacific it would consult Australia, New Zealand, the Netherlands, the Philippine Republic, and of course Great Britain. What is more both Great Britain and the United States would be certain to consult the Soviet Union on any world question, and China on any Asiatic. Thus in fact the so-called "vote" of the great powers would in fact be the consensus of a very large number of great and small powers.

This would be the reality of the matter, and we should not be too concerned because this organic reality cannot be formalized easily in the mechanics of voting. The authors of the Dumbarton charter were obviously aware of this, and in addition to the rather awkward system for "electing" six smaller powers to the council, they have provided that any nation concerned with an issue, or involved in an important way in enforcing peace in some particular place, shall be invited into active participation (see for example chapter VIII, section B, 9 and also chapter VI, section D, 4).

Iron Lung Fund Has Large Jump

Amazing response from a generous public Saturday had rocketed the VFW Iron Lung Fund just over $2,500.

Officials of the VFW next Saturday were preparing to put machinery in operation to secure the equipment. Jess Thurman, post commander, said a committee would advise with physicians concerning the type to secure.

The Forsan-Chalk communities and others in the oilfield area, touched by a paralysis case recently, responded with over $250, funds being turned in to C. M. Adams and Pancho Nail. Coahoma raised around $100. J. Y. Blount, whose efforts during the week accounted for more than a fourth of the total, had more contributions to report. Several organizations kicked in generously. Mrs. J. T. Corcoran and Mrs. Myrtle Sentell each reported sizeable amounts.

Over 700 separate entries, and counting $45.10 raised by Forsan school as one, had accounted for $2,508.21 Saturday night. Acknowledgment of names necessarily will run days behind. Additional donors follow:

For $100 donations were Charles Campbell, Mrs. Adie Lane, Mrs. Lavelle Marion, Mrs. Jack Shaffer, Charles Staggs Family, A. B. Harley, Sterling J. Parish, S. E. Healey, Mrs. J. Y. Blount, J. Y. Blount, Jr., Willie Mae Witt, D. L. Massey, J. C. Bryans, D. L. Knightstep, M. R. Creighton, J. Tom Rogers, C. A. Key, Mrs. C. J. Engle, S. A. Davis, William Smith, Mrs. W. H. Power, Mr. and Mrs. Allen Griffith, Hollis Hall, R. H. Bishop, Grady Dorsey, W. R. Hill.

Dorothy Lee Broughton, G. W. Dabney, C. T. Clay, L. A. Webb, Jessie Henderson, A. F. Moore, Floyd White, W. L. Harrell, J. A. Glover, Roy Chandler, Curtis Ray, H. O. Sandlin, Henry Harris, Oliver Hudgins, a friend, L. O. Kaderil, T. M. Collins, O. A. Goodman and Oscar Watts.

Odd sums, G. Denton, W. E. Simmons, L. D. Hopper, J. D. Hodges and J. R. Layfield.

Giving $2.00 were L. A. Davidson, C. E. Hammock, R. E. Satterwhite, Cecil Leatherwood, J. J. Throop, Mrs. Wayne L. Thomas, R. L. Warren, Erda Lewis, C. Y. Clinkscales, T. T. Boatler, Dewey Colium, Claude Winans, B. T. Anderson.

Giving $2.50 were Allen Hull and Mrs. Allen Hull, and $3.00 were Marvin Wood, Petty Brothers, R. A. French, Bud Hanson of Garden City, Rufus Davidson and O. J. Gatlin.

Donating $5.00 were Lone Star Chevrolet, Phillips Tire Co, Ben McCullough, Homan Auto Supply, Oscar Glickman, Ray Godfrey, Omar Pittman, B. S. Transfer Co., Charles M. Harwell, Dr. Pepper Bottling Co., Paul S. Limer, Staggs Auto Parts, H. G. Cross, J. D. Biles, W. J. McAdams, E. B. Dozier, J. H. Greene, J. N. McGinnis and C. V. Hewitt.

In the $10 donations were Elrod Furniture Co., Shroyer Motor, Settles Hotel, Swartz's.

Smith And Atkins Return From Meet

H. W. Smith, president, and T. B. Atkins, delegates from the local club, returned Friday from Ft. Worth where they participated in the annual district conference of Kiwanis International.

They were accompanied by Mrs. Atkins.

Nib Shaw, Abilene, was elected lieutenant-governor of the district and Neel Audrey of the Dallas Oak Cliff club was installed as governor. Among speakers addressing the convention, which was shorn of frivolity, were Lt.-Gov. John Lee Smith, Dr. E. B. Hawk of S.M.U. and Dr. Gordon Singleton, Mary Hardin-Baylor college.

Trotter Named Extension Head By Aggie Board

COLLEGE STATION, Oct. 14 (AP) — The Texas A. and M. College Board of Directors today elected Dr. Ide Peebles Trotter director of the Texas A. and M. College Extension Service.

Trotter has been head of the school's department of agronomy.

The election of Trotter, who came to Texas A. & M. in the fall of 1936 after 13 years service with the Agricultural Extension Service in Missouri, was by unanimous vote during a session in which the directors heard an outline by President Gibb Gilchrist of his objectives for the school, and his program for attaining the objectives.

Trotter's election is subject to confirmation by the U. S. Department of Agriculture, under a procedure in which the president of the college recommends the appointment; the board of directors acts on the recommendation, and the national extension service confirms or rejects it.

The board elected Dr. Howard W. Barlow dean of engineering and acting director of the engineering experiment station of the college. Barlow has been acting dean since May 25, when Gilchrist, who then occupied that post, was made president.

After adopting a six-point list of objectives from Gilchrist, the board approved his recommendations for a complete set of revised rules and regulations. The meeting continued into the night as Gilchrist outlined his program for attaining the objectives.

to do a real job. With good calves and good feeding, we have a sporting chance to show favorably.

Firemen are to be commended for the series which they presented in form of a quiz program before various groups last week. It was a nice painless and effective way of getting over the idea of fire prevention.

While this is not a good agricultural year in Howard, we are nevertheless interested in the county farm exhibit set for Nov. 4. No matter if drought has hit us, there is always the opportunity of informing some and re-educating the rest of us on what this country can raise on a few drops of rain.

The safety council's special committee to organize a safety engineering class has been crowned by singular success. Instead of a mere 20, the group rounded up 34 applicants. This program is outstanding in Big Spring, and one, like fire prevention, which pays dividends.

Milk Shortage Here Will Be Relieved

Condensed milk from northern dairy states will begin to come into Big Spring Sunday, Oct. 15, for recombining locally, according to E. R. Nichols, city sanitarian. The first milk of this type will probably be distributed on Oct. 16.

City officials provided that imported milk will be used for a trial period of 30 days. The reconstructed milk will be handled by only one dairy, and the increase will be about 100 per cent, or about 7-800 gallons a day.

Nichols reported that the dairies on the San Angelo highway had been inspected and they had been found to be in fair shape. Some of them, he said, needed minor corrections. He stated that there had been a slight increase in the production of retail raw milk, due to the fact that one dairyman increased his herd.

The health official warned that all persons selling milk must have a permit to do so, and that at present, there are a number of dealers who have no such permits. This offense is punishable by fine and violators may be fined for breaking both state and city laws. The minimum fine for the state is $25 and for the city $50. The maximum is $200. These permits are obtained at the city-county health unit.

Early attempts of Europeans to settle on the Solomon Islands were balked by the cannibalism of the natives.

Myers Decorated For Extraordinary Gallantry in Action As Bombardier

For extraordinary achievement and gallantry in action as bombardier of a B-24, 1st Lt. Grover E. Myers, Jr., of Portsmouth, Va., Saturday was awarded the Distinguished Flying Cross at a full military review in his honor at the Big Spring Bombardier school, where he received his training a little more than a year ago.

Col. Ralph C. Rockwood, commanding officer, made the presentation.

Although their ship was riddled with holes, one engine knocked out and burning, and the rudder destroyed, the crewmen remained at their posts and shot down five enemy fighters and claimed five probables when 90 enemy planes rose to defend an Austrian aircraft factory with aerial rockets and cannon on Feb. 23, 1944.

While under continued enemy opposition and forced out of the protective formation, they made a highly successful bombing run, and when no longer able to maintain control of their ship, bailed out deep in enemy territory.

Facing gruelling hardships and dangers for days, they eventually made their way safely to Allied lines.

Holder also of the Air Medal and the Purple Heart for injuries received in the parachute jump,

Lt. Myers recently returned to this station as an instructor after five months combat in the Italian theater.

Col. Rockwood also decorated with an honor ribbon the guidon of cadet class 44-44B, winner in Saturday morning's inspection.

Lt. Col. James F. Reed was in charge of troops and on the reviewing stand with Col. Rockwood were Lt. Col. Gerald F. Keeling, Lt. Col. Alan B. Partridge and Maj. Conrad O. Frazier.

Col. H. M. Wittkop, former commanding officer now commander of the 34th Flying Training wing, who dropped in on his return from man inspection tour in Kansas, witnessed the review.

WOUNDED: Pfc. Lonnie Doyal Grace, son of Justice of Peace and Mrs. Walter Grace, has been wounded in action, according to word received by his parents. He was injured in the battle for Fellen. Previously, he had been in the Cape Gloucester campaign.

When the original draft of the U. S. Constitution was displayed at its sesquicentennial celebration in Philadelphia in 1937, it was insured for $500,000.
