MOTLEY COUNTY, TEXAS

THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 8, 1974 PRICE TEN CENTS

TRAIL DUST

Success in America is a commodity which may be purchased almost anywhere. Some buyers are able to obtain it at special discounts but the price is usually about the same; a fixed purpose, constant industry, sincerity and the faculty of delivering a little more than is expected.

Drunkards seldom complain. It is hardly worth while to attempt to extort sympathy for their physical, financial, moral, spousal and spiritual difficulties.

Time is the thread from which we create the fabric of a lifetime. The shuttle moves with the hours but the design is shaped by each individual's heart and hands.

In youth's final surrender some of our fairest dreams are taken as hostages against possible rebellion.

Half of the cup of glory, filled from the decanter of success, is spilled when taken from modesty's hands.

Any man tied to a woman's apron strings in this age of modern kitchen conveniences is apt to be left hanging in a closet.

Often a child teething on a silver spoon may develop a later neurosis that will cause him to bite a jigger.

Matadors Face Showdown Friday With Sudan Here

By Dan Meador

The Motley County Matadors' explosion for 36 points overcame a first half slump to the Whiteface Antelopes for a 48-16 victory Friday at Whiteface. The Matadors now face a showdown with Sudan for North Zone Championship in District 2-B.

The Antelopes struck first. In the first quarter the Matadors were forced to punt. A Whiteface drive was capped off by a run by the Antelopes' quarterback. With the extras Matadors trailed 8-0. But the Matadors struck back in the second quarter. Castulo Gonzales broke 70 yards to the Antelopes' 10. On fourth down, Steve Stevens passed 14 yards to Joe Campbell on a fake field goal for the touchdown. The extras failed and Motley trailed 8-6.

Then the antelopes' quarterback again scored. The extras were good and Motley trailed at halftime 16-6. BUT the second half was a new ball game. Late in the third quarter Castulo, Gonzales rambled 60 yards deep into Whiteface territory. Two plays later Gonzales ripped 10 yards for the score and Motley trailed 16-12.

Early in the fourth quarter Motley was driving. A 28-yard run by Jerry Pitts set up a 5-yard plunge by Gonzales for the touchdown and Motley led for the first time 18-16.

Jerry Pitts recovered a fumble moments later. Two plays later Gonzales ripped 15 yards for his third touchdown of the night. A Stevens to Welling pass was good for the extras and Motley now led 26-16.

The next Motley drive took only one play. Gonzales dashed 60 yards for his fourth score of the night with Motley leading 32-16.

Cary Hardin recovered a fumble which set up a 16-yard field goal by Stevens to up the lead to 35-16. Whiteface was forced to punt and an excellent return by Gonzales set up a 20-yard run by fullback Joe Campbell. Stevens' kick made the score 42-16.

The final score was set up on an interception by Pepper Nichols. Then four plays later, Nichols hit Jerry Pitts on a 32-yard strike and Motley won it 48-16.

The victory was the eighth straight of the season and topped the season record to 8-1. In district play the Matadors are 5-0.

The Matadors had a big night on the ground as they rushed for 310 yards. Castulo Gonzales, senior tailback, led the rushers with a total of 229 yards. In the air the Matadors went 6 for 16 for 138 yards. Craig Christian led the receivers with one reception for 40 yards.

The Matadors wish to express their sincere appreciation to the members of the Pep Club and the fans who backed them through a sluggish first half.

THIS WEEK the Motley County Matadors play host to the Sudan Hornets at Burleson Field, at 7:30, Friday.

The Sudan game is for the North Zone Championship in District 2-B, with both Motley County and Sudan holding 5-0 in district records. The winner will represent the North Zone against the winner of the South Zone.

"Green Thumbs" Well Underway In Motley County

The Green Thumb program is now well underway in Motley County according to Charlie Long, City Secretary-Manager of Roaring Springs.

Two men are now working on the Roaring Springs city hall and another man is to join them soon.

The school district, the cities, the county, or any other tax supported institutions can submit work projects to be considered by the "Green Thumb" workers. These recommendations are then sent to Waco to the Farmer's Union to be approved.

When projects are approved, materials are the only things that the institution must provide. All wages and bookkeeping duties are handled by the program itself.

Projects submitted by the city of Roaring Springs are as follows: paint the interior of the City Hall-Fire Hall, paint the exterior of the City Hall-Fire Hall, paint the fire plugs and poison vegetation around each one, paint parking stripes on Main Street in the business section, build a fence around the City Community Center, and build planters for placement on Main Street in business section.

Also: plant shrubs, trees and flower gardens in two city parks, install watering lines for two city parks, paint trash barrels and containers located in business section, repaint and beautify Community Center interior and exterior, paint sidewalk corners at intersections on Main Street, paint and repair facilities at Old Settlers Pavilion, sand and refinish floor at Community Center, patch chugholes in streets, clean and repair tennis courts, and number houses on each street.

Gold Star Winners Named At Banquet

HIGHLIGHT of the annual 4-H Achievement Awards Banquet, Monday night was the announcement of the Gold Star and I Dare You awards from the Texas Agriculture Extension Service and Danforth Foundation.

Miss Marilee Martin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wilburn Martin and Steve Stevens, son of Mr. and Mrs. John V. Stevens, were this year's recipients of the coveted honors.

Marilee is District Delegate, County Girls Vice President; Vice President of the Rifle Club and Past-president of her local club. She was State Delegate to the National 4-H Citizenship short course and Heritage Tour. Steve is County 4-H President; District Delegate; President of his local club; Secretary of the rifle Club and was County

Delegate to Texas 4-H Congress.

Steve served as master of ceremonies, and introduced the speaker. Invocation was by Rev. Jim Ritter, pastor of the First Baptist Church, Roaring Springs.

Speaker for the event, held in the Motley County Schools auditorium, was Rev. C. H. Murphy, pastor of the First Baptist Church, Memphis, a former member of Motley County 4-H Clubs and graduate of Matador High School.

He expressed his pleasure at being asked to speak on this occasion, and paid tribute to Extension Agent Bill Pallmeyer for his interest and leadership in the 4-H program in Motley County.

"The 4-H program offers definite qualities for aiding young people in meeting the problems they will encounter when they get out in the world," Rev. Murphy declared.

"One of the greatest needs of today, is a return to family living and Bible reading," he said. He stressed contentment throughout his address and quoted from the Apostle Paul's letter to the Philippians "... for I have learned, in whatsoever state I am, therewith to be content."

"Everyone is searching for happiness, joy and peace, but above all, contentment ... to attain these, a young person must have a proper start ... 4-H is dedicated to helping young people. Parents, school teachers, and Sunday School teachers, all contribute. These all tend to form a sound foundation for young people - whether you withstand the storms and stresses of life depends on how solid is your foundation."

He admonished the youth to give themselves to a worthwhile cause. "There are too many 'wasted causes' in the world today," he stated. "Be careful that you are working for a worthwhile cause ... consider God's plan, and God's will."

"More important than this is what life finds inside of you ... you have little choice as to what life hands you ... the important thing is not what life hands you, but what life finds in the heart. This is what makes the difference."

Approximately 287 persons attended the delicious barbecue supper. Of the group, 109 4-H girls and boys and seven adult leaders received awards. A complete list will be published in a later issue of the Tribune.

Leader awards went to Mrs. Bill Pallmeyer, Matador for 10 years. Bill Peacock, Roaring Springs and Johnny Stevens, Matador, for 15 years service. Mrs. L. A. He helps obtain financial assistance for those needing assistance to continue their education. He also encourages 4-H members to work toward and apply for scholarships in various fields, as offered by the National 4-H Service Committee.

Church and Society

El Progreso Club Aims 'The Fourth Freedom'

El Progreso Club met Oct. 24 in the home of Mrs. W. D. Lipscomb for a program on "The Fourth Freedom." Mrs. R. E. Campbell Jr., club president, welcomed Mrs. Wilburn Martin and her daughter, Marilee Martin, Motley County delegate to the National 4-H Citizenship short course held this summer in Washington, D.C. Mrs. Campbell acted as leader for the afternoon, reading the caption introducing the program: "In recognition of his efforts to articulate the true meaning and significance of the United States Constitution, especially first amendments rights for the American people..." Award of Merit 1962 to Senator Sam J. Ervin, N.C. From the National Newspaper Association of America.

Miss Martin was introduced and presented a very interesting program on the 15-day trip she had with 134 other people to Washington, D.C. Leaving from Dallas they were admonished on their behavior while on this trip, and from all reports they were highly commended on the way they acted, like responsible young people are expected to.

They visited on the way east, the Country Music Hall of Fame in Nashville, Tenn., the Atomic Museum at Oak Ridge, Tenn., and Williamsburg, Va. Their church service was held in a roadside park in a beautiful setting of trees. Upon arriving in Washington, the delegates of the 18th Congressional district were taken on a tour of the Capitol by Rep. Bob Price. "It was most informative and interesting to be able to visit the places where our laws are made and where people of such importance are governing our country," Miss Martin said.

Their final destination was the National 4-H Center in Chevy Chase, Md., where they all attended classes on different topics. Marilee attended the class on government and learned much from talking with people from other states and parts of her own state. This short course is based on patriotism, heritage and citizenship.

take this trip. Any 4-H member can make application through the County Extension Agent's office and have the opportunity to participate in this most worthwhile trip.

Equal Rights Law

Mrs. Furman Vinson gave, for her part on the program, a brief talk on The Equal Rights Law. "This 27th amendment to the U.S. Constitution or the Equal Rights Amendment is not what it appears," Mrs. Vinson declared. "Texas, in 1972, passed a state version of the same thing called the Equal Rights Amendment and it passed by a four to one majority. Both amendments continue to be the subjects of controversy. A group of women in Ft. Worth have organized to have this amendment rescinded. It is dangerous, as things are in this amendment the voters had no idea were there. "If the Equal Rights Amendment passes, women will no longer have the choice to work; men will no longer be the major provider and there will be no alimony or child support - it could become mandatory to put your child in a day care center at age six months."

Mrs. Vinson explained further, "There will be no discrimination in public facilities, including gymnasiums, jails, prisons, rest rooms, dormitories, or hospital rooms. Women will be subject to draft at age 18, with no discrimination in sleeping quarters, training procedures, or bathroom facilities. Churches will be subject to lawsuits; that is, women can bring suit against churches for being excluded from business meetings, serving as church leaders, or serving the Lord's table."

"There will be no such thing as sex crimes; no prosecution for rape. It will mean that women will not be safe on the streets, churches will be governed by the State, homes will disintegrate, immorality will rampage, and privacy will disappear." The group behind all the Women's Lib movement is NOW - National Organization for Women. Mrs. Vinson stated, "The move to let women have equal rights is not a new thing. It has been brought before every Congress since women were given the right to vote. The group NOW is pushing to tear down the home. Lesbianism and homosexuality are their goals for the next year. They want this ERA passed so they can adopt children, get any job - teach children!"

In another field that was thought to be "men dominated," is the area of crime. Mrs. Vinson revealed that "Between 1968 and 1973 serious crime arrest in women went up 52 per cent compared with 8 per cent for men. In federal prisons the number of women inmates has gone up 81 per cent in the last five years. The two federal prisons for women are completely filled and overflow is being funneled to new facilities at federal prisons once reserved for male convicts."

Mrs. Vinson urged the women and everyone to write their Congressman to rescind this act that has passed. "It can be done," she declared. Those attending in addition to the guests, were Mesdames Ben Keltz, D. E. Pitts, Ralph Stapleton, Fred Simpson, A. J. Daffern, John M. Russell, Lloyd Hearn, Bill McCaghen, J. L. Woodruff, Harold Campbell, Frank Pohl, Freeman Thacker, Vance Gilbreath, and Douglas Meador. Miss Mary Keith, Mrs. R. E. Campbell, Jr., Mrs. Vinson and the hostess, Mrs. Lipscomb.

The president handed out the new interesting year-books. The programs are varied, with the emphasis on her theme, "Women Today - Rights and Responsibilities to the World." The next meeting of the club will be on Nov. 14 at the home of Mrs. J. L. Woodruff, for a musical program by her daughter, Mrs. R. M. Dailey of Grapeland.

A former Methodist pastor, later turned evangelist and presently well-known as an artist will speak at the service. He is Rev. Kenneth Wyatt of Tulsa, whose paintings are prized possessions for those who own them.

"The service will begin at 10:45 and as is customary, Sunday School will not meet, to allow time for the preparation of the Thanksgiving dinner which will follow the worship service," Rev. Lloyd Hearn, pastor, announced.

Mrs. Herman Stanfield and daughter, Mrs. Richard Turner and son Ricky, visited in Lubbock Sunday with Mrs. Stanfield's other daughter and family, Mr. and Mrs. Waldo Duke, and with the Duke's daughter and family, Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Roberts and children. They are parents of a new baby son, Eric Landon, who was born Oct. 26 in Methodist Hospital. Their daughter, Lorelei is 2½.

"MY TEMPORARY HOME IN THE ARCTIC (You notice I said temporary)" 10-20-74

Dear Hazel: Enclosed $2.00 for my Ex-student dues. Sure is heart-breaking to have that without me - it will be my first time to miss - but thank the Lord, I'm not in a wheel chair, yet, but am teaching seven little round-faced Eskimos in the North Slope Bush Country (no bushes!) 15 miles from the Arctic Ocean. This is some experience in the Education field. Will tell you all about it when I return. Give everybody my love and best wishes.

To The Citizens Of Matador

The unusually large amounts of rainfall in Matador over the past months has created a situation that the city council must deal with. This is the problem of poor and inadequate water drainage and subsequent flooding in some parts of our town.

We have reached the point where the problem must be met and an attempt made to rectify the situation. In this area we ask the cooperation of the public.

We have retained an engineer to guide us in draining the water as near to its natural flow as possible. We will be attempting to make each tier of blocks handle its own runoff water, and eliminate flooding in lower lying blocks.

This will necessitate opening borrow ditches and building up roadways in many sections of town. Many of the borrow ditches have become clogged and filled in over a period of years until they are higher than the roadways, in many areas.

We will attempt to leave entrances to homes as convenient as possible, and still leave the ditches where they will handle excess runoff water.

We ask, and will certainly appreciate your cooperation in this matter.

Plainsman Recalls Colorful Anecdote

By Chas. A. Guy

The forthcoming is not exactly an earthshaking anecdote, but it does bring into what the more erudite would call "bas relief" two matters which should be of interest to all people who think: actual experience and "book-learning," growing still costlier.

The event in question took place some 20, perhaps 25, years ago in, where else? Matador.

I had arrived in the Motley County capital shortly before noon - I always made it over there by mealtime - for a week-end with my wife's multitude of kindfoks but, mainly, to spend a week-end loafing around town and the ranch with my father-in-law, J. R. "Rufe" Moore. Truth is, I'd rather, in those days, monkey around Matador and the ranch with Mr. Moore than to eat ice cream with a spoon.

After lunch, as always a good one and probably, as usual, including some extra-special, tiny sweetrolls whopped up by a sister-in-law, Bernice (Mrs. Farris) Fish, Mr. Moore said, "Come on with me. I got something I want you to see."

We got into the car and he directed me to the Motley County Boys Calf Show, for which judging had been completed earlier in the day.

As we walked into the Show area, we ran into Hawley Plemons and W. M. Graham. It didn't take an especially smart fellow to figure out right away that the Messrs. Plemons, Graham and Moore already had been communing with each other at the Show that day and wanted to do some more.

The idea, I suspected, was to show a visiting drugstore cowboy something about fine calves.

We looked 'em all over and they were, of course, a fine looking bunch of calves. And who not? Motley County had been producing fine calves ever since - and maybe even before - the Comanches left.

But as we paused before the winners, an air of conspiracy seemed to settle around those three Simons, pioneer cowmen.

"The truth is," said Hawley Plemons, who at that time was running the Matador Ranch's internationally famous Show herd, "that the calf with the blue ribbon should have gotten second place; the one with the red ribbon, first place."

The other two gravely nodded, then all three started talking about conformation, talking lines, level backs and so on.

Quite obviously, they'd studied the animals early and had reached their decisions before the judges did.

"Don't say anything about this in the Avalanche Journal, though," cautioned Hawley Plemons, knowing my reputation for printing anything and everything that might be interesting to readers of the newspaper I then was working for.

"No, don't write anything," said "Rufe" Moore. He added:

"These young fellows from Tech who came over here to judge these calves just did it to be helpful to our boys. They aren't charging anything and they are good people. It's just that what you read in books isn't always what you learn from experience. +++

Those "nice boys," incidentally, were Dean Wenzel L. "Runt" Stangel, of the School of Agriculture at Texas Tech; and Ray C. Mowery, head professor of Animal Husbandry of the same institution. In addition, Dean Stangel was, and for years continued to be, the boss of the cattle division of the State Fair of Texas and a nationally celebrated "expert specialist" in the field.

I didn't want to cause my Matador friends any embarrassment, but I couldn't wait to get home to tell "Runt" and Ray what I'd heard. They took it in good grace, of course, but even more, Dean Stangel added, "You know, they could be right."

"Yep, 'Runt,'" I told him, "they could be. After all, there's a good 150 years, in aggregate, in the cow business between those three men. In my own business I've seen very few journalism professors who could run a copydesk, cover a sensational murder trial, or get a paper out on time!"

"Runt" and Ray were my good friends and I could afford to kid them.

Although I have a college degree and the legal right to tack "Doctor" onto my moniker, I believe, as I always have, that there is no substitute for experience in any line of human endeavor.

Formal education is important, as well as highly valuable to both the individual and the nation.

But in the final analysis, formal education is supposed to fit its recipient for some sort of work and the prosecution of that work, thus enabling the educated one to improve his knowledge through experience on the job.

Dean W. L. Stangel and Prof. Ray Mowery were both outstanding men, academically and professionally. Mr. Mowery has been gone for many years, but "Runt" Stangel, like Ol' Man River, keeps rolling along - still active, still able, a man of tremendous professional reputation.

But let's face it.

"Rufe Moore joined the Matadors in the '80s, as a 17-year old kid; later went into ranching on his own and did very well, thank you. Hawley Plemons, who wound up his long and honorable career as boss of the Dutchman Camp, probably could spot the favor between a calf and its grandmaw.

W. M. Graham, who was on the Baldies and in the Brakes as a buffalo hunter, was a trail-rider in the days when moving vast herds of half-wild cattle was a task to discourage all but the stoutest hearted.

Each of them, the hard way, had graduated summa cum laude in the cow business.

This country long has had a magnificent system of public and private education, from the kindergarten through the graduate school.

The system has paid off, as our country has become the most highly mechanized, the most efficiently industrialized, the most affluent known to man.

But in the last few years, thoughtful people have wondered as we spend more and more on education at all levels, if the quality of education has kept pace with the tremendous outlays of money supposedly required to keep it going.

When so-called "hospitality suites" are run at teachers' conventions by such groups as school book publishers and union organizers from the East - as was the case a week or so ago in Fort Worth - it may be time to wonder.

In these thoughts, countless sound, dedicated teachers like "Runt" Stangel and Ray Mowery, might agree.

Motley English Class Visits Clarendon JC

The senior class of Motley County High School went to Clarendon Wednesday to get some first-hand information on what college English is really like.

They attended a college English class and then Ronnie Null, head of the Clarendon Junior College English department, taught the students as if they were a college class.

Mrs. Grace Timmons, high school English teacher, sponsored the trip.

Meet A Teacher

MRS. STEVENS

Mrs. Morris Stephens had a childhood dream come true in May, 1973 when she received her Bachelor of Science degree in Education from West Texas State University after ten years of work and dedication.

"When I was young, all I talked about was being a teacher. But I got married when I was a junior (in high school) so I didn't really have the opportunity," said Mrs. Stephens.

"But I had a rich uncle who said he would send me to school. He didn't really think I would go because I already had kids. It meant catching three different busses - kindergarten, grade school, and high school," Mrs. Stephens said.

"I would go to school in the morning, work at the Ford Motor Co. in the afternoon, and take care of my children and the house at night."

But Mrs. Stephens has her degree now, along with some definite ideas about education.

"Teaching is my way of paying back all of the people who have helped me. I owe a whole lot to them," Mrs. Stephens said. "The money isn't it at all."

Mrs. Stephens worked at a State School at one time and found that to be a help in her teaching now. "It helped me in working with normal kids. I've found that kids love and respect you for discipline."

A degree isn't the only thing Mrs. Stephens brought from West Texas State though. She also became interested in creative writing there.

"I wrote an article about my first bull ride (when she was 14) and had it accepted for publication. Writing is the first thing I've done that I really wanted to do. Others expected me to go to school and to get married and other things, but no one expected me to write," said Mrs. Stephens.

She also enjoys reading and music. "I sing some with my husband now and would like to learn to play an instrument," said Mrs. Stephens.

Sis, as Mrs. Stephens is known to her friends, grew up in Kansas and Oklahoma and has lived in Matador two years. This is her second year to teach at Motley County Elementary where she teaches 6th grade.

"I feel like I've come home," said Mrs. Stephens. "I've learned a whole new vocabulary too, along with other things - like how to brand a calf."

Mrs. Stephens has five children. Sherry, who lives in Iowa, Had, who is in Kansas, Matt, residing in Oklahoma, Luke, attending college in Oklahoma, and Shonda, who attends school in Matador.

The "American Dream" of achievement, no matter what the odds, is a dream that has come true for Mrs. Stephens.

Attendance Good For Adult Ed

Adult education in Matador now has two classes and an enrollment of 23 according to J. E. Edwards, Motley County Elementary School principal and adult education teacher.

An average daily attendance of seven is needed to continue each class according to Edwards. Because of local response, there has been well over that number.

Average daily attendance for October was 18.9 for the two classes.

Five areas of study are covered in the classes: English, Math, Science, Social Studies, and Literature. Classes meet on Monday and Thursday nights for two and one half hours.

Other teachers in the program are Mrs. J. E. Edwards, high school math teacher, and Mrs. Grace Timmons, high school English teacher.

COMMON COLD "EXTRA COMMON" IN CHILDREN

Ages one and two may be considered "the cold age" for many infants, according to a controlled study reported in a medical journal. A group of researchers studied the common cold in a large number of families in the Midwest and determined that between the ages of one and two, the common cold reaches a peak of 8.28 illnesses per year per infant.

Other "cold" findings reported were:

The common cold accounted for 70% of all illnesses in infants during the first year of life, but were quite infrequent during the first six months.

Work Starts On RR Tunnel At Quitaque

Work has started on the cleaning out and re-opening of the tunnel on the Fort Worth and Denver South Plains railroad near Quitaque.

Plans are to have the tunnel open for rail traffic by January 1, 1975, according to Charles Gullede of Childress, Roadmaster.

Work is being done by the M&S Construction company of Dallas.

When the tunnel caved in several months ago, plans were made for the Burlington to purchase the Quanah, Acme and Pacific Lines from Quanah onto the South Plains.

Those plans were discarded several months ago and plans started to re-open the tunnel.

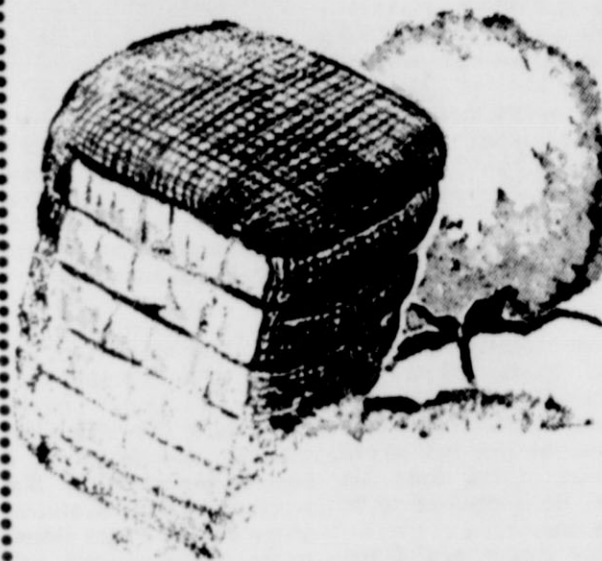

The tunnel is not being "cut" from the top but is being cleaned out and re-stored.

Food Makes A Difference

By Pam Wallace

Have you ever thought about the meaning of the word Food? It could have both "negative" and "positive" connotations. The fact that food means something different to each person is related to a difference in values.

Food has certain social, psychological, and physiological aspects related to it. For example:

Food satisfies hunger and other needs.

An adequate diet helps us resist disease.

Food gives us energy and strength.

Food is a part of social functions.

Food affects mental performance.

Food is used to express feelings and relieve tension.

Food is sometimes used as a bribe.

Food is used to express creativity.

Food affects the way a person grows, feels, looks, and acts. It contains certain

WHY ACCESSORIZE?

(Second article in the Attractive Living news series by Pam Wallace, Assistant County Extension Agent-at-Large).

Decorative accessories not only reflect the mood of your home but also your personality. In fact, it is the personality that makes the selection and arrangement of accessories so important.

They are the things that express your sense of humor, interests, imagination and taste more than any other furnishings.

It has been said that decorative accessories can spell the difference between a well-designed and poorly designed room. This is not so.

No accessory can save a poorly designed or sloppy room. They merely enhance what the major furniture pieces, draperies, and floor coverings have achieved - a warm comfortable atmosphere.

The selection of accessories can make a room more or less formal, brighter up a dark room or tone down a bright one. Keep this point in mind when you plan accessories - you can find any of these types that are truly attractive and suitable for your decorating scheme.

Let your accessories set a seasonal mood for your home. There is no reason why you should have to change accessories with the seasons. Capture the feeling of a total environment.

Wall accessories, such as pictures, mirrors or wall hangings, can be the most dramatic and effective of all the accessories in your home. For one thing, they are used on the largest area of any ther, John Rogers of Muleshoe and by several nieces and nephews.

Mr. and Mrs. Rogers enplaned from Lubbock to Long Beach, Wednesday to attend the services.

Your interests and views may change over the years - accessories are an important area in your decorating plan where these interests can be expressed and shown. There are no rules about the type of accessories you use in your room - the walls. Don't be afraid to mix styles and periods of pictures. Use them in all the rooms of your house. Mirrors can create a feeling of spaciousness in your rooms. However, avoid hanging mirrors that are wider than the pieces of furniture beneath them. Wall hangings are a type of decorative accessory that has fast become one of the most popular. When using a wall hanging, try placing it alone. Such hangings as antique quilts, oriental rugs or macrame designs create very interesting walls.

Decorating is fun, and the one area where you can be daring and break the rules is with decorative accessories. Don't hesitate to mix the old with the new. A tour of antique or junk stores, even garage sales can result in all types of decorative pieces. Try setting some of your favorite objects on window sills. Wall shelves can be decorative as well as functional when designed at irregular levels.

There are no rules about the type of accessories you use in your room's decor. It's all a matter of taste. If you are a collector, show off those collections. Properly arranged, they can be most effective in a decorating scheme.

Every room in your house needs the added warmth and cheer of accessories to give it a complete look. Even kitchens and bathrooms deserve attention. When planning decorative accessories though, remember it's the little things that count. Don't forget about things like furniture pulls, shade pulls, and ashtrays. They all contribute to the total scheme.

BEAT SUDAN

Children attending schools, especially in the lower grades, had a higher rate of incidence of colds.

Mothers who usually spend more time with their school-aged children than fathers had more colds.

Spirited COOKING

An Imperial Meal

There's no need to be chicken about letting your imagination take wing when it comes to making up menus. Even such exotic, exciting dishes from the mysterious East are nothing to brood about. Chicken Teriyaki is not more inscrutable than stew, and you probably already have all the ingredients.

CHICKEN TERIYAKI

- 2 large, whole chicken breasts
- 1/4 cup soy sauce
- 1/4 cup honey
- 1/4 cup vinegar
- 2 tablespoons Bourbon
- 1 garlic clove, crushed
- 1/4 teaspoon powdered ginger
- 1 cup chicken bouillon

Split, skin and bone the chicken breasts. Cut in thin strips. Combine remaining ingredients and marinate meat about 1 hour. Turn occasionally to season evenly. Weave meat strips on small metal skewers or moistened bamboo skewers. Grill on hibachi or in oven broiler about 2 minutes each side. Makes 4 servings; at least 8 for appetizer.

BEEF FOR HOME FREEZER

Buying beef wholesale for the home freezer can be a money saving experience if it's done wisely, says a livestock and meat specialist for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. Deal with a reliable firm. If your family enjoys hamburgers, steaks and pot roasts, buy a complete side of beef. If broiled steaks are preferred, a full loin may be the best buy. A fore quarter provides plenty of pot roasts, and the price is much less than a hind quarter. Buy the "Choice" grade of beef for steaks and roasts to be broiled or dry roasted, as it has more marbling (fat scattered throughout the lean).

Wash foam rubber pillows

by hand in soap or detergent and lukewarm water. Rinse thoroughly several times, then roll pillow in towels to absorb as much moisture as possible. Dry them outdoors in the shade - or indoors away from direct sunlight or heat, advises Lynn Bourland, home management specialist, Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.
