Motley County Commissioners Examine Delinquent Tax Roll

The Motley County Commissioners met Monday, July 10 in the Motley County Courthouse. Judge Billy J. Whitaker called the Court to order, asking Commissioner Franklin Jameson to give the invocation, following the minutes, which were read by Clerk, Lucretia Campbell, which were read to the following Commissioners, John M. Russell, Bill D. Washington and Fraiser Watson. After the minutes were approved, the bills were reviewed and approved for Precinct I, $1,381.04; Precinct II, $1,141.64; Precinct III, $3,820.20; Precinct IV, $869.93 and the General Fund (excluding salaries), $3,042.67.

Commissioner Watson stated the Tongue River Bridge had been completely repaired and was now open. Judge Whitaker handed out a copy of the Financial Statement to be reviewed. Judge Whitaker read a letter from Swisher County Judge Jay Johnson asking if Motley County would be interested in using a jail for overflow prisoners that were in holding for transfer to TDC. Swisher County was considering construction of a new jail with capacity to serve this area for the next thirty years. The court thought this would be beneficial for Motley County. The reports were read with the J. P.

plained that 97% of the taxes were paid, leaving only a balance of $20,195.83 on the books at this time. Judge Whitaker received a letter from the U.S. Department of Agriculture that approved Motley County as a disaster county caused by tornados, flooding and severe storms. This approval gives the farmers access to emergency loans. A letter was read from the Texas Water Commission informing the Court of a contamination incident from an underground gasoline storage tank in Roaring Springs. This is being monitored and corrected. Washington read the ruling from J. L. Barnhill, County Attorney, concerning the trailer tied to a fencepost blocking a road in his Precinct. The ruling explained this was a class B misdemeanor. Meeting adjourned.

Emergency Farm Loan Applications Being Accepted

Applications for emergency farm loans for losses caused by tornados, flooding, and severe storms which began May 4, 1989 are being accepted at the Farmers Home Administration (FmHA) office located in Spur, TX, FmHA County Supervisor, Larry J. Clements, said today. Motley County is one of 60 in Texas recently named by Secretary of Agriculture Richard E. Lyng as eligible for loans to cover part of actual production losses resulting from the damages and losses caused by tornados, flooding, and severe storms which began May 4, 1989. Clements said farmers may be eligible for loans of up to 80 percent of their actual losses or the operating loan needed to continue in business or $500,000.00, whichever is less. For farmers unable to obtain credit from private commercial lenders, the interest rate is 4.5 percent. "As a general rule, a farmer must have suffered at least a 30 percent loss of production to be eligible for an FmHA emergency loan," Clements said. Farmers participating in the PIK or Federal Crop Insurance programs will have to figure in proceeds from those programs in determining their loss. "Applications for loans under this emergency designation will be accepted until February 26, 1990 but farmers should apply as soon as possible. Delays in applying could create backlogs in processing and possible over into the new farming season," Clements said. FmHA is a credit agency of the U.S. Department of Agriculture. It is authorized to provide disaster emergency loans to recognized farmers who work at and rely on farming for a substantial part of their living. Eligibility is extended to individual farmers who are U.S. citizens and to farming partnerships, corporations or cooperatives in which U.S. citizens hold a majority interest. The FmHA office in Spur, TX is open from 8:00 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. Monday through Friday.

LIBRARY NOTES

BY JIMMIE HUNTER

On Wednesday, July 5, after a long Fourth of July Holiday, sixteen (16) children came to the Motley County Library for the meeting of the READ TO ME CLUB. They saw the film "THE REMARKABLE, RIDERLESS, RUN-AWAY TRICYCLE." Mrs. Kellie Meyer read a "fishy" story, then with the aid of several mothers, she helped them make a take-home octopus by tracing around their own fingers on a folded sheet of paper and cutting them out for a cut little 8 legged creature. Each child gave his two big eyes and took his pet octopus home after checking out three books to read and adding their names to some more popped corn kernels representing 10 books read to them.

Thursday, 15 older children met for the CREATURE FEATURE CLUB under the direction of Kellie Martin. Margie Guerrero showed the film "THE CONTEST KID." Mrs. Beverly Darscy read a story about "Jamie's Dog", then they were asked to assume the personality of a dog and write an entry in the "Dairy of a Dog". You may read some of these by dropping by the Library where they are displayed and see how many chocolate chip cookies they have fed the "Book Monster" by reading five (5) books.

It isn't too late to join this summer fun by showing up at 10:30 on Tuesday if you are two or older through those who just finished kindergarten this year.

Earline Vaughn returned from her vacation just as I had to take off to get started on two root-canal jobs. One upper and one lower. It's great to have a dependable staff like, Earline, Bessie Hibbetts and Margie Guerrero. Wilda Dixon met with the Library Board Thursday afternoon while I was on my way home from Lubbock with an ice pack under my jaw. She is still making great progress in getting files straightened out and learning more about the Library everyday.

Visitors: Ruth Stapleton Harris, El Paso; Jason Ellis Sutton, Tucson, Arizona; Sandy Logan, Joshua Logan, Amy Logan, Becky Logan, Helotes; Jim Logan and family, Helotes; Mildred Shaddix, Plainview; Angie Rugica, Buckholts; P.K. cross, with a large crystal in the center. This crystal one hung in a window in Mrs. Morris' home, and the rainbow it cast across a mirror fascinated Mrs. Traweck. This cross was a symbol of death in the days of Jesus. This was how thieves were killed. The Cross to Jesus as that agape (the sacrificial love); that dedication of one's self to a cause. This is what Jesus did.

Other symbols featured in the window are the heart and the Easter lily. The heart stands for love. The love of God. The sacrificial love of God. Out of the heart comes the love of God. Dr. Albert and Irene loved their family, friends and nature (which is God).

The Easter lilies stand for eternal life or a new beginning. The Easter lilies in the window tells us not to worry but to remember that life goes on. There is a new beginning. Isn't this really what Easter means. Even if we do die, which we will, we, if we believe in Christ, and that He arose from the dead, will live again. It is the symbol of new life.

These points about the symbols in the window were brought out in Rev. Louder's dedicational message.

Following the service a surprise birthday covered dish dinner was held in the fellowship hall, to celebrate Dr. Albert's 91st birthday, which was Tuesday of this week. A large cake with a design of a doctor, on the icing, was the focal point. The hall was decorated with colorful balloons and banners. On display was an original painting of the first Methodist Church in Matador, painted by Mrs. Clarence (Gussie) Jenkins. This church was the one in which Dr. Traweck and Irene Lowler met 66 years ago.

The food committee was Mrs. Billy (Marihelen) Wason, Mrs. Skeet (Earlyne) Jameson and Mrs. Billy Ray (Fay) Slover, as chairman.

Relatives attending this special occasion were: Mr. and Mrs. Bill Lowler, Lewis, and Mary Lowler, Mr. and Mrs. Awalt Landgraf, Dallas; Ollie Traweck Dockendorf, Baytown; John Haynesworth, San Antonio; Mrs. Stanley (Dorothy) Hanesworth, Houston and Mrs. Ned (Fran) Morris, Houston. Their brother, Frank was unable to attend.

Other out of town guests were: Mrs. Jerry Luster, Amanda and Lisha, Cisco; Monique Dupree, San Antonio; Mrs.

Lizzie Lou Bridge, Christi Ethridge, Dickens; Tom Hamilton, Plainview; Debbie Read and Chris, Lubbock and Mrs. Howard (Carolyn) Limmer, Snyder.

Future Agriculture Leaders Attend Convention in Houston

Jim Cooper and Motley County FFA members are attending the FFA Convention which began Wednesday, July 12. Houston's 6,000 seat Astroarena will fill to near capacity when more than 5,000 Texas FFA members and guests attend the 61st annual state convention.

Organized in 1928, the FFA is a national organization of students enrolled in agricultural education in 50 states, Puerto Rico, Virgin Islands and the District of Columbia.

Texas now has 947 FFA chapters with nearly 55,000 active members and more than 600,000 former members. Each state association is required to have a minimum of four chapters and at least 125 members.

The convention's keynote address on Wednesday, July 12 will be delivered by Frederick D. McClure, assistant to President Bush for legislative affairs. A former national FFA secretary and Texas state FFA president, McClure received his bachelor's of science degree in agricultural economics from Texas A&M University where he was student body president.

He went on to earn his juris doctor degree in 1981 from the Baylor University School of Law and worked as a trial lawyer with the Houston law firm of Reynolds, Allen and Cook.

Additionally, McClure is a former Houston Livestock Show and Rodeo four-year scholarship recipient, having received his award in 1972.

During this year's state FFA convention, more than $535,000 worth of educational scholarships will be presented to selected FFA members. The Houston Livestock Show and Rodeo will give away 50 four-year, $8,000 scholarships at a cost of $400,000, almost 75 percent of the total scholarship money to be awarded.

The state convention is a highlight of a year's worth of activity by FFA members and all chapter members are invited to attend. Delegates from each chapter conduct the business of the state association and elect officers to represent them in the coming year.

The convention will be divided into five general sessions, with the first session beginning at 9 a.m. Wednesday, July 12 and the last session beginning at 9 a.m. Friday, July 14.

These sessions will include the election of the 1989-90 state FFA president from the state FFA officer candidates nominated by the 10 area FFA associations. From 10 area nominees, voting delegates also will select the state FFA sweetheart to represent the state association during 1989-90.

Other session activities include reports of retiring state officers, the national officer election runoffs, presentation of numerous awards and degrees, recognition of individual and chapter achievement in FFA contests and award programs and the installation of new state officers.

Through active participation in the FFA, members learn by taking part in and conducting meetings, speaking in public, participating in contests based on occupational skills, earning awards and recognition and becoming involved in cooperative efforts and community improvement. Every member carries out a supervised agricultural experience program as preparation for an agricultural career.

The ultimate objective of the organization is to produce future leaders for American agriculture with its vital role of producing food, fiber and agribusiness employees.

A display featuring the May 1, 1984 Matador tornado won a first place prize for an Illinois boy's exhibit at his school's Science Fair this spring.

Adam Kelsven, 8, a third grade student last year at Revis Elementary School in Lansing, Illinois was the first place winner. The son of Mr. and Mrs. Logan King, he is the grandson of Mrs. Kathryn King of Matador.

Theme of the exhibit was "Tornadoes" and shown in the picture with Adam, are pictures of the Matador tornado, being the lower eight photos. The upper three pictures are of other Texas tornadoes. Besides the pictures, which had been sent to Adam by his grandmother, the exhibit explains "Tornadoes - How are they formed?" and "What Do They Do?"

Traveling Cross Country

by Steve Zabielski

We're 19 miles out of Rochester tonight. We're in a campground just 3 miles north of Leroy, N.Y. It was a long day biking - 70 miles. We thought about pushing on another 20 miles to Pittsford where Stevie lives, and the actual destination of our journey, but it would be better to arrive midday tomorrow, all showered and clothes washed. After all, first impressions are important. I will meet many of Stevie's maternal family and friends. We don't want to have the odor of a stockyard on wheels.

We left Naomi's in Thessalon, Canada around noon that misty day last week. Our next camp was in Serpent River. I have no good news to report of that day. The riding was hazardous and the mosquitoes were the worse ever. The next day we finally got off 17 east and headed south on Highway G. This was the single most scenic road of the entire trip. It winds through mountainous terrain with pristine lakes all along the way. We then crossed the bridge to Manitoulin Island, the largest fresh water island in the world. The town of Little current was place of residence that night. A wonderful young man named David Stephen Soari put us up for the night. Such a gentle soul. We stayed up til 3 a.m. playing Euchre. He taught us the game and said that since we were beginners he wouldn't cheat. In the morning he made us a great pancake breakfast and bid us farewell. We all plan to stay in touch with him.

We made it this day to South Baymouth where we ran into our old biking friends, Rod, Mike and Laura and a woman they met earlier named Sonka. We set up camp in the city park. Sonka is a free spirit of the first degree. She's from Berlin, West Germany and was biking Canada on a 5 speed bike which was at least 25 years old. She wore billowing clothes, brightly colored. Tim said she looked like a gypsy queen cruising down the highway. She even biked in sandals. The next day we caught the ferry to Tobermory.

Twenty miles out of Tobermory, Tim and the others took a route different than Sue and I took. They went a rough route and since Sue was now having bike trouble, she and I stayed on Highway G. A few miles later the problem worsened and we had to hitch to Owens Sound, Canada. Unfortunately when we arrived the bike store was closed and since it was Saturday we had to lay over til Monday.

But it actually proved a blessing.

In Owen Sound we met Mike and Nandine Gibbins. They let us camp in their back yard, cooked breakfast for us Sunday and Monday and prepared a steak feast for us Sunday afternoon. It was such a pleasure to visit with them. We met them at the Canadian Legion. We were directed there by an elderly lady we met on the sidewalk in front of the bike shop. She said if we wanted the coldest and cheapest beer in town, that was the place. So off we went. Once there, we were indulged with warmth and friendliness. Our story of biking across the country charged everyone with enthusiasm. Food and beer was placed in front of us at a rate we could hardly keep up with. Our effort to pay were invigorously denied. Before we knew it a genuine party was underway. How much Sue and I cherish those moments.

Monday we met up with Tim at the bike shop and by noon were on our way again. We hadn't biked too far when we decided to take a break at Inges Falls. This is postcard scenery and I got my Nikon out for a few shots. There was a couple sitting on the rocks where the water fell and since they were in the pictures I took, I approached them and said if they gave me their address I'd send them a copy. Well one thing led to another and before we knew it we were staying with them in their cabin on a lake.

Now some of you might know of this fellow. His name is Tom Hagey and his friend's name is Mary Jo. He has authored two hilarious parody's - Playboar and Cowsmopolitan. They're sold in bookstores around the world. I had read them in Boulder, Colo. and remember well, being in stitches while doing so. He has two others soon to be published. One is

Sex Without College and the second will be Penthouse published by Bob Getyaponi. He has done quite well with the first two and the two to come will certainly also be successes.

The following morning, while we prepared to leave, he decides he wants to take us to his hometown to meet some friends and his parents. So we arrange for him to meet us 60 or so miles down the road.

Well he does, and guess what? He's rented a van, so we loaded our bikes and off we went to Cambridge, Canada. There we find, that he's rented hotel rooms for us, so we take our things in and shower. then, guess what again? He's made reservations for us at a great restaurant that brews it's own beer. The following morning he figures we're now probably way behind schedule and offers to drive us to Niagra Falls. We had biked as far as Guelph, Canada. The roads had again become narrow, no shoulder, many potholes and the traffic was worse even than in St. Germain, Wisconsin. So we bite the bullet and said, in unison, "Hell yes!" In Niagra we had a farewell lunch with Tom and thanked him for his generosity. We will all certainly stay in touch with him too.

The Falls were, of course, our next stop. It was very crowded. I never saw such a tourist attraction as this. Around 4 p.m. we then headed out of town. Since it was late we made it only as far as Lockport, N.Y. It was getting late and we were having a hard time finding a place to camp. We had been directed to bike along the Erie Canal. After a few miles we stopped at a small restaurant named Wide River, to seek information about camping. The owner, Bob, said, "camp out back." Since this vanquished our rush to find a spot we stayed and visited with him and some of his friends. Well, again one thing led to another and before we knew we were having another great time! In the morning he and his manager arrived early, cooked us a hearty breakfast and after refusing any money from us, sent us off with bellies full.

Well that was this morning. It's 70 miles later and it's our last night on the road. Tomorrow I'll be reuniting with my little angel, Stevie Lynn. I am very excited about this. So until next week when you read my final report, please be of good cheer!

Court Reporting Course Scheduled At Wayland

PLAINVIEW, TX (Special) -- A course in court reporting will be offered by the lifelong Learning Center at Wayland Baptist University beginning July 3.

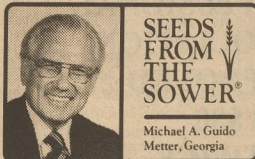

The course will follow a unique open-ended format aimed at preparing students to pass the state exam for certified court reporters. Classes will be held from 7:30 a.m. until 1:30 p.m. Monday-Friday on a continual basis. Students may register for the class at any time.

An estimated 28,000 shorthand reporters are employed in the Court systems of the United States to record trial and hearing proceedings and depositions, provide closed caption television reports, and produce transcripts.

As the demand for certified court reporters increases, many others are employed by or own freelance reporting firms that also serve the judicial system.

"There is currently a great demand for skilled, certified reporters across the nation and persons entering this field can expect good pay and many opportunities," said Amelia Cline, director of the Lifelong Learning Center. "This course is designed to be an on-going process culminating with certification."

Students completing the course will receive continuing education unit credits. To enroll or gain more information, contact Mrs. Cline at the LLC offices, 708 Yonkers, or call 296-5521.

When David Livingstone volunteered for missionary service, he was asked, "Where are you willing to go?"

"Anywhere," he answered, "so long as it's forward."

Many haven't gone forward. They have the same habits. They make the same mistakes, and they yield to the same temptations.

But God wants you to go forward. If He meant for you to go backward, He would have given you eyes in the back of your head.

Life is an incline. If you don't go up, you go down. If you don't grow in grace, you go into disgrace. If you're not a better Christian, you're a worse Christian.

It's going forward that costs, but it's going forward that counts. I'm going forward with God. Care to join?

Social Security Tips For Motley County

In recent years we have stressed the need to plan for retirement as early as possible. However, it should be noted that the earlier one plans to retire, the more planning is required.

Age 65 is the age for full benefits from social security and is also used by much of private industry. However, most social security beneficiaries retire before age 65, and a recent study indicated that age 62 is the most frequent age of retirement in private industry.

Reduced social security retirement benefits have been available at 62 for men since 1961 and for women since 1956. Benefits are reduced for each month before age 65 a person receives retirement benefits. At 62, a person receives 80 percent of the full benefit rate.

Reduced benefits are available at 60 for widows and widowers. Payments to widows and widowers range from 71-1/2 percent of the deceased spouse's benefit at 60 to 100 percent at 65.

People who work in some types of jobs - firemen, policemen, military service - may retire as early as age 55. In addition, some employers encourage workers to retire early as a means of cutting back on their payroll. This may mean several years of no earnings that could result in lowering the lifetime average earnings amount on which benefits are based. People who start a second job after retirement, as many do, not only earn extra income to meet current living expenses, they also protect their social security benefits for when they finally retire age 62 or later.

People who retire before 65 generally have to worry about what to do about their health insurance coverage since medicare does not begin until 65. Social Security officials recommend that they retain their job-related group health insurance until they reach 65. A person may also consider joining a health maintenance organization with the provision that the coverage will be changed to supplement medicare protection at 65.

People who decide to delay their retirement until after 65 should note that a delayed retirement credit of 3 percent a year increases their benefit for each year after 65 they postpone retiring. These retirement credits will increase gradually from 3 percent per year for workers 65 before 1990 to 8 percent per year for workers who reach 65 after 2008.

People who decide to retire early should be sure to check with their social security office. The information we can provide can make the difference between a smooth road to retirement or a rocky one.

CAPITOL JOURNAL

STEVEN A. CARRIKER
State Senate

AUSTIN - The Senate will soon have an opportunity to provide a much needed incentive for the Texas oil industry.

I have sponsored Senate Bill 195, proposed by Railroad Commissioner John Sharp, to stimulate new oil production in Texas with a 10-year reduction in the state's severance tax to oil produced from new enhanced recovery projects.

The bill is pending before the Senate finance committee.

More than 117 billion barrels of Texas oil are still in the ground, and much of these reserves can only be produced by enhanced recovery techniques. More than 50 percent of production right now comes from Enhanced Oil Recovery (EOR) projects, but the 1986 price collapse severely impacted the number of new EOR projects being developed.

SB 195 addresses the problem by exempting 50 percent of the production of crude oil from severance taxes for EOR projects approved during a four-year period. However, no tax breaks are given to projects unable to offer proof of beneficial results. This will eliminate unjustified projects from receiving the tax reduction.

Commissioner Sharp has estimated that we could see tens of millions of barrels of new oil production, as well as thousands of new jobs each year as a result of this measure. That would mean millions of dollars in benefits to the state economy, as well.

Comptroller Bob Bullock has called the proposal "the best we've seen - or are likely to see."

The chance for passage of this measure looks very good. A companion bill has already been approved in the House of Representatives.

The bill has been endorsed by North Texas Oil and Gas Association, West Central Texas Oil and Gas Association, the Texas Independent Producers and Royalty Owners Association, the Texas Mid-Continent Oil and Gas Association, the East Texas Producers and Royalty Owners Association and various other industry groups.

When words are many, sin is not absent, but he who holds his tongue is wise. Proverbs 10:19

Farmers in the 25 counties represented by Plains Cotton Growers, Inc., Lubbock, have contracted to take 1.412 million acres of program crop bases out of production under the 10-year conservation reserve program (CRP) established by the farm act of 1985.

That's 17.5 percent of the 8.07 million acres that would otherwise be allocated to production and/or other acreage reduction programs for cotton, corn, grain sorghum, wheat, barley and oats, say PCG officials who compiled the totals from county figures supplied by the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service. Covered is the acreage enrolled in the CRP through eight completed sign-up periods, held from early 1986 through February, 1989. A ninth sign-up is scheduled July 17 through August 4 this year.

Cotton accounts for 723,017 acres and over half the CRP acreage on the Plains, which is equal to 15.4 percent of the area's 4.685 million total base cotton acres.

Farmers are obligated for 10 years to devote the idled acreage to conservation uses such as permanent grasses. USDA agrees to pay half the cost of establishing grass or other approved conservation measures, and pays an annual fee to compensate producers for loss of crop production income. Rental amounts are determined by bid. The maximum bid accepted by USDA in the High Plains area has been $40 per acre.

To avoid excessive damage to the economy in any given area, except under special circumstances the law prohibits enrollment of over 25 percent of the available cropland in a county.

The accompanying chart shows county total base acreages of the six program crops, CRP acreage from all bases, total cotton acreage bases and cotton bases in CRP.

Dickens Electric Retires $135,000 In Patronage Capital

Total Represents Largest Member Refund Ever

Dickens Electric Cooperative has announced that the Cooperative's capital credit checks have been mailed. The capital returned to those who were members of the Cooperative in 1970 totaled $135,693.96. The checks were sent to 1332 persons and businesses. The recipients will receive checks in a pro-rated amount according to the patronage they contributed during that year.

The amount of each individual check is determined by totaling the revenue left over after all expenses, then dividing it among those who used the service at that time on a patronage basis. The members who used more electricity will receive larger checks while those who used less power will receive smaller checks, according to what percent of the Cooperative's total revenue they contributed.

Quit smoking.

Slow down your electric meter!

You can help slow down your meter and lower your cooling bills by following these tips:

- Set your thermostat on 78° or higher and use ceiling or portable fans to help circulate the air
- Have your air conditioner serviced annually and once a month, check the filter. A dirty filter can keep your air conditioner from working efficiently.
- Keep doors, windows, and drapes firmly closed to keep cool air in and heat out.
- Protect ceiling and walls with adequate insulation. Make sure cracks around windows, doors, pipes and wiring are tightly sealed with caulking and weatherstripping.
- Use heat producing appliances, like ranges, dishwashers, and dryers during the cooler part of the day.
