FFA Member Receives State Award

HEATH CAMPBELL

Heath represented the Motley County FFA chapter as voting delegate to the convention. In this capacity, he helped determine the outcome of issues that will affect the Texas FFA for years to come. In addition to voting on and amending the Texas FFA Constitution and by-laws, the delegates elected a new state officer team, state sweetheart, and state talent team.

Heath was one of the approximately 1400 members from across the state to receive his Lone Star Farmer Degree at the convention. This is the highest degree awarded on the State level and was bestowed on each member by Donnell Brown, immediate past state president from Throckmorton.

Other members from Motley County qualifying for the degree were Jarrett Jameson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Franklin Jameson of Northfield; Brand Cruse, son of Mr. and Mrs. Donnie Cruse of Flomot; and Walter Linson, son of Marie Linson of Matador.

Heath Campbell, son of Mr. and Mrs. Guy Campbell of Matador, attended the 61st Texas FFA Convention in Houston, July 12-14.

KEEP TEXAS BEAUTIFUL

Keep Texas Beautiful, a theme I've heard, but never realized what it is really all about.

By attending the 22nd annual Keep Texas Beautiful meeting in Houston at the Double Tree/Post Oak Hotel, June 28-30, I certainly learned how extensive this program is.

First it is a program that 80 cities entered this year for the Governor's Community Achievement Awards. This program had a record year of participation in 1988. They gave 358 schools in 55 communities a special "A+" Award from Keep Texas Beautiful.

KTBB encourages youth, schools and senior citizen participation, as well as business organizations and all citizens to Keep Texas Beautiful.

Some communities are enforcing the litter laws, small communities are getting involved with the recycling. The recycling is one way to begin to address the solid waste disposal needs which will help reduce problems with landfills, (aluminum cans, glass and plastic containers are all recyclable).

Keep Texas Beautiful is a partner with the Texas State Department of Highways and Public Transportation. They are working together to solve the state's big litter problems. This is part of the combined efforts of "Don't Mess With Texas" and the highly popular Adopt-A-Highway program. Because of these programs the Texas Highways are 59% cleaner. Texas has done in 2 years what other states took 7 to 11 years to achieve, and at half the cost.

The program for the 3 day meeting consisted of a Youth Day with a ceremony for awards to outstanding Texas Youth working to Keep Texas Beautiful, a bus trip to Humble, Texas to tour the Atascocita Landfill, owned and operated by Waste Management, Inc.

Programs and clinics on Ideas to keep your city clean and beautiful, recycling, adopt-a-highway and city property to keep clean; planting wildflower seeds, city clean up campaigns and solid waste symposiums.

The most stressed area in educating Texans is starting in the schools and teach our future citizens the importance of Keeping Texas Beautiful and free of hazardous waste.

The meeting provided lots of delicious food, times to visit with people from all walks of life from Texas and one special time of entertainment by Johnny Dee and The Rocket 88's (also a preview of their new Don't Mess With Texas commercial).

Governor Bill Clements ended the 3 day event by giving the Governor's Community Achievement Awards at the final luncheon.

The first place winners were Bluff Dale, Surfside Beach, Electra, Yoakum, Pearland, Halton City, Midland, Beaumont and Austin. Second place winners were Deanneville, Tye, Gun Barrel City, Dalhart, Burkburnett, Harlingen, Grand Prairie, Mesquite and San Antonio.

All in all it is a very worthwhile program that should concern every citizen, so lets help 'Keep Texas Beautiful' by keeping Motley County clean, too.

There are many things happening in our neighboring counties. In Briscoe County, the people of Quitaque are working to upgrade economy. The following article is reprinted from the "Comings, Goings & Doing" newsletter published occasionally by the First National Bank in Quitaque.

Things are beginning to happen in Quitaque and the surrounding area, for the realization has finally begun to sink in that "tourism" could be the magic key that will provide an ECONOMIC UPLIFT to the economy of this area. Tourism is already the number three industry in Texas, and the Quitaque area is abundantly blessed with BEAUTIFUL SCENERY and many of the NATURAL HISTORIC RESOURCES that have a wide appeal for tourists. And the good thing about it all is that most tourists spend a lot of money when they travel! Though often frugal in their expenditures at home, tourists usually will spend money on trinkets and pleasures that they'd never look twice at in their own communities. One of our good friends, the late Marshall Formby, once remarked in a speech that he made before a U.S. 385 Highway Association meeting in Odessa, that "twelve tourists entering your area each day are worth as much to your city as a plant or an industry with a $100,000 a year payroll." Those remarks were made over twenty years ago and the benefits are probably worth TWICE that much to a community today. He went on to point out that everyone in a community should be aware of the attractions in his local area, and when visitors stop in the community, they should be given a courteous Texas welcome and be encouraged to SPEND SOME TIME in the area. His message is as timely and applicable for Quitaque residents today - and perhaps even more so - than it was in those farming-based days when he first made it.

We know there is a PROFOUND TRUTH in the above message and over the years we've seen time and time again what can be accomplished when a community bands together and sets its sights on a common goal. It is always exciting to be a part of what transpires, and over the years we've seen the people of Quitaque band together on many occasions and accomplish things that were seemingly impossible. We can sense that we're now on the threshold of another new UNITED COMMUNITY EFFORT, this time centering on the prospect of tourism. The Quitaque Chamber of Commerce was the first to recognize that the first step to get ready for tourism is to "prepare our town", and some community-wide cleanups and other measures are ALREADY UNDERWAY to get this accomplished. As Beautification Chairman Ronnie Chestnut told a group recently, "Our purpose is to work together as business leaders to help beautify and improve our town...to promote every aspect of the area...to make everything look attractive, desirable and most of all inviting to tourism, industries and young families. All of us know what a great place this is, but we've got to let others see it too." He went on to point out that tour schedules have already been made that will include stops in Quitaque and the surrounding area, and that the local Chamber of Commerce has had several meetings with the Chambers in Lubbock and Amarillo to be certain that this area is included on their itineraries for 1990 and the years that follow.

Council Members Fail to Attend Meeting Again Meeting Canceled Due to Lack of Quorum

The Matador City Council met Thursday, July 20 for a called meeting at 7:30 a.m. with Mayor Gary Lancaster, Councilmen, L.B. Campbell and Doyle Rose, Travis Jameson, Sonny Jackson and L.J. Barkley were absent. Due to lack of quorum, the council could not officially take care of city business.

Janie Campbell, Shane Jones and Tony Rose, representing the City Park Committee, asked if the City Park belonged to the city.

L.B. Campbell explained that years ago it was given to the Garden Club for maintaining it with the provision that the city would help in the mowing.

The Committee said that citizens were willing to work and make it a nice place if they knew the City would help with the mowing.

The Council could only suggest that the Committee get estimates for mowing and present to the next Council meeting and hopefully they would have a quorum and could officially elect to or not to help them.

Tax Payments

AUSTIN, Tex. -- State Comptroller Bob Bullock said recently that local sales tax rebates across the state continued to climb this month, increasing by 12 percent over last year's July payments.

"National economic indicators seem to be showing a slowdown, but the trend in Texas remains upward," Bullock said. "Our diversifying economic base should ensure that we continue to do well."

Bullock added that Texas' economic growth is becoming apparent in almost every sector of the economy.

"Oil and gas, construction, banking and real estate appear to have bottomed out. And some of the areas in Texas that lagged behind in economic growth are beginning to show signs of improvement," Bullock said.

Rebate checks totaling $68.7 million were sent Monday to 939 cities that impose local sales tax at either one or one-half percent, Bullock said.

Houston's allocation of $11.2 million was the largest in the state. Dallas' check was the second-largest, with a payment of $7.6 million, Bullock said.

The state's six metropolitan transit authorities and one city transit department received $34.5 million, an increase of 16.1 percent, according to Bullock.

Another $6.9 million was allocated to 92 counties that collect the one-half percent county sales tax.

July's checks represent collected by monthly filers in May and reported to the Comptroller's office by June 20, Bullock said.

Motley County totals are as follows: Matador: net payment this period, $1,041.63; comparable payment prior continued on page 5

Roping Under The Hill

EDITOR'S NOTE: This article was taken from the program from the Burleson Memorial Roping. The annual memorial roping was held this past weekend at Flomot. Proceeds from the roping go to the Burleson Scholarship Fund, Clarendon Jr. College, Ranch Management Program. Results from the Roping will be printed in next week's paper.

by Marisue Burleson Potts

Rodeoing at Flomot, Texas, is a long standing tradition in the Burleson family. As early as 1939, W.E. Burleson and Norman Martin sponsored and promoted the Flomot Rodeo a few miles down the road.

Wanting more than the customary makeshift arena made by parking cars in a circle, Burleson and Martin, set to work building the Burleson-Martin Arena.

The downtown Flomot Daredevils, as the group of working cowboys (and one cowgirl) were dubbed by Douglas Meador of the Matador Tribune, were making a name for themselves at all the local rodeos. Known for their toughness, skill and competitiveness were Dude Barton, later to be named to the Cow Girl Hall of Fame, John Bourland, Rooster Gilbert, France and Clayton Barton, Bob Echols Jr., Buster Durham, Pete Keeling, Martin and Burleson.

Many Sunday afternoons were spent roping, often in sandstorms, which the cowboys claimed improved their times since there were used to such conditions, while their opponents were not.

Among those placing at Flomot were John Stotts, Motley County Sheriff; Houston Schweitzer, famed saddlemaker; John Hamilton, district attorney; Leland Timmons, winner of the Turkey-Memphis Pony Express race; Nig Reid, Silver-ton's championship roper; Grady Timmons, Twister Ware, Wild Horse Warren of the Matadors, Nash Blasingame, Ollie Nall, Walter Russell, J.C. Burleson and others. Youngsters winning in steer riding and calf roping were Billy Joe Stevens, Herb Martin, Lane Decker, Morris Stephens, and Dude Barton.

S.C. "Teen" Burleson is continuing the tradition of rodeoing at Flomot on land that's been in the family since his great-grandfather, I.E. Martin, homesteaded here in a dugout about 1891. Teen wanted to create a place for novices, as his son Dusty was, to practice and compete with their peers, gaining experience and poise in the rodeo arena.

Fourteen local artists exhibited and sold their western art in the barn at "Head quarters" from which Teen's grandfather, J.C. Burleson, ran his ranching enterprise in Floyd, Motley, and Briscoe Counties.

In 1952, J.C. along with his son, W.E., and the family of H.H. Campbell, including sons L.B., Harold and Vance, bought the Mott Cattle Corporation, one of fifteen corporations formed to facilitate the break up of the Matador Ranch. Soon thereafter, W.E. and his wife Mollie Barton Burleson moved to the Mott Camp, historic line camp of the Matadors since 1889. Teen joined his father and grandfather as part of the ranching and farming team in 1958, and continues to live at Cedar Hill with his wife Lou Belew Burleson.

Any proceeds made from the invitational roping at Burleson Arena go to the Clarendon Jr. College Ranch management Program, where Dusty was a student. Many young men from the school and local cowboys and youngsters have been invited for a day of roping and riding activities under the hill.

As true today as it was in 1940 when Meador wrote: "Where Flomot riders appear, there is action without let up. Broken bones, dislocated joints, burns, 'skint' places don't keep these punchers from competition...the saddest but toughest of all is the forelimb cowboy who rides and ropes with the rest of the crowd - in spite of a broken heart."

WTU Announces Management Changes

West Texas Utilities Company has selected William R. Elmore for the new position of vice president for business development. The announcement was made by Glen D. A father was taking his boy on a tour of the zoo and they stopped in front of a den of lions. "Daddy," asked the boy, "if the lions get out and eat you up, how do I get home?"

One day our Lord was talking to some young men about our heavenly home. One asked, "How can we know the way?"

Our Lord answered, "I am the Way."

In Him we have more than advice, we have access to God. He comes to us, and walking with us, He takes us safely and surely home to heaven.

You're going somewhere, make it heaven. You're on a way, make it the way by trusting in God's Son, won't you?

Deanna Durham - Ed Logan Exchange Marriage Vows

Mr. and Mrs. Ed Logan

Marriage vows were exchanged Saturday June 24 at 6:30 p.m. between Miss Deanna Jean Durham and Edward Jerome Logan at the First Baptist Church in Matador.

The Rev. Jerry Golden, of Lorenzo, formerly of Matador officiated at the double-ring ceremony.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Billie D. Durham of Matador and Mr. and Mrs. James Logan of Helotes, Texas.

Vows were exchanged before an altar setting of three candleabras, coming together to form a semi-circle, surrounding the bride and groom. Centered with a basket arrangement of white gladiolas and greenery.

A kneeling bench trimmed with white satin bows, centered the altar area.

At the closing of the ceremony the couple lit the unity candle with the candle previously lit by their mothers.

The aisle was marked with white satin bows centered with wedding bells.

The guest were registered and programs given by Robyn Scott of Tulia.

The guest were ushered by Billy Wallace of Snyder and Dudley Wenzel, of Kerrville, Texas.

Scelenda Cumby of Tulia provided traditional wedding music and sang "All of Me". Stanley Martin sang "There is Love" and "Nobody But You," accompanied by Melissa Martin and "Flesh of My flesh" was sung by Stanley and Melissa Martin of Andrews, formerly of Matador.

The bride was given in marriage by her father.

The bride wore a romantic gown of white crystalline organza over satin. The bodice encrusted with sequins and pearls on Schiffli embroidery motifs, featured a sweetheart neckline, fluted ruffled sleeves and a deep basque waistline. The full skirt enhanced with a fluted ruffled train flowed into a cathedral train. The bride wore guantlets accented with appliques, pearls and sequins. They were a gift from the groom.

The bride wore a finger-tip veil, made by the bride and her mother. The tulle was accented with pearls and the headpiece was encrusted with pearls and iridescent sequins.

The bride carried a cascading bouquet of pink calalillies and white roses with pearl accents.

The traditional something old was her fathers wedding band, tied into her bouquet, something new was her wedding ensemble, something borrowed was a pearl necklace and earrings, borrowed from Mrs. Louise Robbins, something blue was a blue garter. The bride wore a penny in her shoe as a token of good luck.

The honor attendants were Matron of Honor, Barbara Wallace, sister of the bride, of Snyder. Bridesmaids were Tammy Logan of Helotes, Kelli Montgomery, of Stephenville, Holly Lee, of Plainview and Renee Renfro of Dallas. They wore tea length dresses, made of pink satin with a basque waistline, with tiers of ruffles in the back. They were accented with headpieces of pink tulle and pearls attached to pink satin bows. The head pieces were made by the mother of the bride. They carried long stemmed calalillies.

The groom wore a white tuxedo with a pink cummerbund and tie, accented with a white rose boutonniere.

Marijuana and Inhalants Handicap American Youths

Growing up is tough enough without the added stress of using drugs or alcohol, says the Texas Medical Association. Yet it is estimated that two-thirds of American youth use an illicit drug before they finish high school, one in five smokes cigarettes daily, and almost half report they have been drunk on at least one occasion.

The United States population is changing in relation to alcohol and drug abuse. If you are 35 years or older, the first drug you tried was probably alcohol. If you are 35 years or younger, you also are likely to have experimented with marijuana. In 1965, the average age of introduction to alcohol or drugs was 13 years old; now youths are trying these substances as early as 9 years or younger. The result is that we now have a more drug-oriented than alcohol-oriented population of people, although for adults, alcohol is still the most commonly abused drug. However, among our youth, marijuana is the most frequent drug of choice.

According to Dr. Lawrence Wharton, TMA member and recently retired psychiatrist at the Faulkner Center (for substance abuse treatment) in Austin, there are some big problems with the public's perception of marijuana. First, on the street (or in the schoolyard) advice is that marijuana is not medically harmful, yet, medical advice now says this drug is indeed very harmful. Dr. Wharton explained that the myth that marijuana is a harmless drug was perpetuated in the sixties when most of the research was conducted with marijuana that was 1/10 the potency of pot available now.

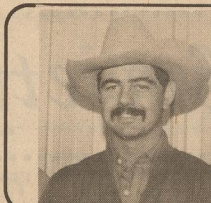

Studies now show that marijuana causes brain deterioration in rats four times faster than alcohol, said Dr. Wharton. In human users, "a motivation syndrome" occurs. This is indicated by loss of motivation or drive to complete a task or achieve a goal. In adolescents, Dr. Wharton feels this is a very real loss because young pot users have "a lot of potential, but no outcome, tremendous dreams and nothing to get there." Marijuana also impairs short term memory, and since all learning is dependent on this skill, the lack of short term memory represents a serious handicap for a young person. In addition to harming the brain, marijuana is especially harmful to the developing bodies of young users. THC, the most potent ingredient in marijuana, is stored in the fatty tissues of the body, therefore it targets organs richest in fat, including the brain and the gonads. As a result, physicians are seeing more birth defects as a result of marijuana use, and increased infertility in men and women.

When choosing a drug, cost and availability are major factors, so for some, this rules out a relatively expensive drug like marijuana. When looking for an affordable drug, young people often turn to a category of drugs called "inhalants" and this includes gasoline, paint thinner, correction fluid, ethyl chloride or "poppers", a solvent called "Rush", paint, spray paint, and glue. Like marijuana, inhalants never should be considered harmless. In fact, they are more toxic to the central nervous system than most other illicit drugs. It is extremely easy to overdose on inhalants because if oxygen is cut off from the brain for more than 20 to 30 seconds, the user can die. In addition, heavy sniffing can result in senility and permanent brain damage.

To assist young people in overcoming pressure to use drugs during a very difficult period of their lives, the Texas Medical Association urges you to show interest in your youths' activities, and help cultivate new interests by introducing them to sports, music, books, and other hobbies. Support their growing independence and encourage responsibility. And finally, show your youth that you love and respect them. In this way, you can help ease the pains of their growing up by pointing them away from substance experimentation and abuse.

The Texas Medical Association is a professional organization with more than 29,000 physician and medical student members. It is located in Austin and has 116 component county medical societies around the state.

County Agent's Comments

by Rocky Vinson

Boll weevils are moving into cotton fields in Motley County.

Trap counts have declined a great deal which means many overwintered weevils have starved while others are searching for squares on which to feed and deposit eggs. As squares reach the one-third grown square stage, the boll weevils will deposit eggs in those squares. Up until that time, boll weevils may deposit eggs in the squares; but the squares will not be large enough to support the developing boll weevil larva.

Cotton begins to produce squares about 21 days after seedling cotton plants emerge from the soil. From the time you can see a square until it is about one-third grown is about seven days. Fields that are squaring now, or soon will be, should be checked closely for overwintered boll weevils and their damage.

The damage of the overwintered boll weevil appears as black leaves in the terminal of the plant. The boll weevil feeds down the leaf petiole or on the base of the leaf, causing it to turn black. Boll weevils will also feed on small squares. When fleahoppers feed on small squares, they cause them to dry up, turn black, and fall off the plant. When boll weevils feed on the squares, they also cause them to dry up and turn black, but there will also be a definite hole in the squares where the boll weevil fed.

If there are two or more boll weevils per 100 plants or five per 100 feet of row, control of overwintered boll weevils should be carried out. Boll weevil traps can also be used to determine if overwintered boll weevil control measures are needed. If during the week prior to one-third grown squares, four boll weevils are captured per trap, control measures are needed for overwintered boll weevils. But if there are fewer than four boll weevils captured per trap, the fields should be inspected to determine if control measures are needed. Information on the use of pheromone traps to determine if overwintered boll weevil controlled methods are needed is available in V-1209, "Management of Cotton Insects in the High Plains, Rolling Plains, and Trans-Pecos Areas of Texas."

This publication is available at the County Extension Office.

Overwintered boll weevil control, when applied prior to the one-third grown stage, will destroy overwintered boll weevils in the field before the eggs are deposited in the squares. When boll weevils continue to emerge into that field, two or three insecticidal applications may be needed. The insecticide applications will be needed as long as weevils continue to emerge into that field.

By controlling overwintered boll weevils prior to the one-third grown stage, the need for insecticidal control of the weevils can be delayed to much later in the growing season. If overwintered boll weevils are controlled effectively little insecticides will be needed for weevil control until after mid-August. However, if overwintered weevils are able to deposit eggs, damaging populations may build up before that time.

Be careful to follow all the commands of the Lord your God, that you may possess this good land and pass it on as an inheritance to your descendants forever. 1 Chronicles 28: 8b

Vacation Planning Include Children In Planning

Every family should have a planning session long before a vacation begins, said Dorothy Taylor, family life specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

Even though parents may have the final say about vacation plans, they should listen to their children, she said. Each family member should have the chance to express his or her wishes.

If children don't want to go the same place as their parents or are not having a good time, it could ruin the holiday.

It's not just, "It's a good idea. Let's go for it," Taylor said.

Families should always consider the developmental stages of its different members and the amount of money and time spent on the vacation when planning, she said.

Texas Housing Agency to offer Low-Interest Mortgage Loans

If you have been planning to buy a home, now may be the time to give that purchase serious consideration.

Approximately $114 million in low-interest mortgage money will become available to first-time homebuyers in Texas beginning July 17, 1989, a Texas Housing Agency official announced Thursday.

The FHA-insured loans will be offered to eligible low and moderate income borrowers at a fixed interest rate of 7.69 percent or 8.69 percent, with the lower rate generally reserved for buyers of the least expensive homes.

"With the latest cycle of home financing, we have been able to provide the citizens of Texas with the lowest interest rate financing ever offered in our 10-year history," said Tim Kenny, Executive Administrator of the housing agency.

"A low-to moderate-income homebuyer needs about 24 percent less income to qualify for a below-market loan using our financing as compared to market-rate financing, Kenny said. "The monthly principal and interest payments on a $40,000 loan financed at 7.69 percent interest would run about $300 as compared to $363 on a 10 percent market rate loan. This monthly savings tallies up to $18,878 over the life of the loan."

The housing agency has established maximum income limits and a ceiling on home prices to direct the program more effectively to households least able to afford conventional interest rates.

To qualify for a home loan, an applicant generally must be a first-time homebuyer and be of low to moderate income. The maximum permitted income for a household of 2 or fewer persons is $33,065 a year. In major metropolitan areas, slightly higher incomes are permitted. In addition, an applicant must be considered a reasonable credit risk.

At the time of application, borrowers will be expected to provide one of the Texas Housing Agency's participating lenders with a copy of a valid sales contract on a house; copies of their tax returns for the preceding three years; general credit information; and a fee to cover a credit report and appraisal. Maximum loan and home price limits vary, depending on the location of the home and whether or not the property is new or existing.

Prospective homebuyers may call (512) 472-7500 to obtain application information, a program brochure, and a list of participating lenders.

The Texas Housing Agency was created by the state legislature in 1979 to provide affordable home financing to low and moderate income families. It fulfills its mission by managing two rental housing programs and two homeownership programs, all of which are self-supporting. The Agency receives no state or federal appropriations. This newest cycle of mortgage funds is expected to finance 2,075 homes.

Directors of Lubbock-based Plains Cotton Growers, Inc. July 12 approved a 1989-90 budget of $294,075, almost nine percent above the $270,000 budgeted for 1988-89 and the largest budget since 1986.

The 1989-90 figure is the projected amount needed to conduct the producer organization's wide range of research, legislative and other services to cotton producers in its 25-member counties on the High Plains. The budget was adopted as presented in detail to the 50-man Board by Wayne Huffaker of Tahoka, PGC's Secretary-Treasurer and Finance Committee Chairman.

Funding for the organization's activities come from 25 cents per bale producer dues, supplemented by dues from oil mills, compresses, banks and others either directly or indirectly benefiting from cottons contribution to the High Plains economy. PGC calculations show a farm level value of the area crop in excess of one billion dollars for each of the past two years.

In other action the Board re-elected its Nominating Committee and elected three new members to its Executive Committee for the 1989-90 year.

Newly named to the Executive Committee were Donald Christian of Farwell, Mike Burris of Wellman and Frank Jones of Lamesa. Christian and Burris replace Miles Caudle of Hereford and D.C. Newsom, Jr. of Plains, respectively, two long-time directors who did not seek reelection from their counties in 1989. Jones replaces Bruce Key of Tarzan in Martin County. Returned to the committee were R.H. Reaves of Levelland, Henry Kveton of Petersburg and Don Langston of Lubbock.

The six elected members will serve with current officers, including President Steve Verett of Ralls, Vice President Larry Nelson of Tulia, and Huffaker, plus the two most recent past presidents, Myrl D. Mitchell of Lenorah and Tommy Fondren of Lorenzo.

Re-elected to the Nominating Committee were Jones, Kveton, Rex McKinley of Lubbock and Jarrell Edwards of O'Donnell. These are automatically joined on the committee by the three most recent past presidents, Mitchell, Fondren and Gerald Caswell of Brownfield.

The Board also named Verett to serve as PGC's voting delegate to a caucus of cotton interest organizations in August for the selection of Texas representatives to the National Cotton Council, the Cotton Board and Cotton Incorporated.

In response to a query from area members of the House Agriculture Committee in Washington, the PGC group decided on what was termed "the lesser of three evils" under discussion in a hearing where the committee is deliberating a budget reconciliation measure to reduce farm program cost. Posed for consideration were (1) a five percent cut in the 1990 target price, (2) a five percent increase in the Secretary's 25 percent maximum acreage reduction program allowable, or (3) a two percent origination fee on Commodity Credit Corporation loans.

Board members first voiced an emphatic "none of the above" vote. But, if forced to choose one of the three, the group agreed that option number three would be least costly. It was noted that either of the first two options would result in an inescapable five percent reduction in deficiency payments, whereas market conditions might permit the loan origination fee to be avoided.

Letter To The Editor

First, I would like to tell you of part of my day recently. Second, I would like to ask our community to please hear my plea.

THURSDAY, JULY 6, 1989: My son, Todd has been asleep for three hours for his afternoon nap. He usually sleeps only an hour or so. I went to check on him. The kitchen is between his room and the living room where I've been with my son, Wilburn. When I walked into the kitchen, the smell of butane would knock down a mule, Butane Leak! I ran to Todd. What I saw when I got to him made me want to die. Todd was lying there with his eyes half open; he wasn't breathing; and his chest was sunken in. I couldn't feel a heartbeat, either. I picked him up and ran to the living room and tried to give him mouth-to-mouth. But, since I always figured I'd never need it, I have never learned how to do it. so, I didn't know anymore than what I'd seen on T.V. He did start breathing a little. By then, I could feel a faint flutter in his chest. So, thank goodness, I didn't try C.P.R.

After a rush trip to Motley County Clinic and an Ambulance ride to Floydada and on to Lubbock; I found out I'd done the mouth-to-mouth all wrong. The only reason I got him breathing was because I was holding him so his airway was open. He wasn't as far gone as he looked and with the airway open, he started breathing alone basically. I might have got a little air into him, but not enough to have saved him if I had been a minute a so later.

My baby's life was in my hands and I didn't know what to do or how to do it. And they told me that if I'd tried C.P.R. the way they do on T.V. on adults, I could have crushed his heart. I could have killed him, trying to save him!!

So, please, learn from the lesson that I learned from. Don't wait til you need it. Take C.P.R. lessons. Tony Rose teaches them, but the last time he tried to get a class together, he couldn't get enough people together. Please, let's all learn. It's well worth it. We should all know how to save our loved ones in case of an emergency. Wouldn't you want someone to be able to save you? And don't think that by reading an article in a magazine will prepare you. I had done that, but I still did it wrong. Classes are the answer. Please, let's all contact Tony Rose and go learn how to save our loved ones. My baby is fine now, but you can't imagine the guilt I feel because I never learned how to save them. His being alive is because God was looking out for him, not me.

Please, contact Tony today!

Social Security Tips For Motley County

Over 4 in 10 social security beneficiaries are not at home waiting for the mailman on the third of the month. They are visiting, vacationing, taking care of business, or doing whatever else they want to do.

Why? Because they have direct deposit. In other words, they have their benefits deposited directly into their account at a bank, credit union, or other financial institution.

These people have discovered some distinct advantages to direct deposit. For example:

- * Their money is safe. No thefts, muggers, or lost checks to worry about.
- * They save time and money. No lines to stand in. No extra gas to buy to go cash the check. The government saves money, too, by paying you this way which means more money is available for other benefits and services.

If you are now getting social security or supplemental security income (SSI) checks and want direct deposit, just call any social security office.

Even if you have direct deposit, you still must notify social security promptly if you change your address. This is because important notices are mailed directly to you from time to time.

For more information or to file a claim call 1-800-2345-SSA.

Effective July 31, 1989 our new office hours will be 8:45 a.m. til 4:30 p.m.

Bring the full tithes into the storehouse, that there may be food in my house; and thereby put me to the test, says the Lord of hosts, if I will not open the windows of heaven for you and pour down for you an overflowing blessing. ## Traveling Cross Country

by Steve Zabielski

This will be the last of my reports concerning our bicycle trip. It seems now, in hindsight, that the trip went by so quickly, yet we were on the road for more than 40 days. At times I wished the trip would get over sooner, but for the most part I enjoyed everyday and every moment. I am already planning future trips. It's a great way to see the country, meet lots of people, and get into shape, all at the same time. When I do take another trip I'll write the Tribune and share my route and destination.

We arrived in Pittsford, N.Y. at 1:30 p.m. Nancy (Stevie's Mom) saw us riding up the street and brought Stevie out to witness our arrival. It was an exciting moment for everyone. I was particularly exhilarated by the fact that this was the moment for reunion with my daughter. We had been separated for 3 long months. This may not seem a long time to an adult, but I did a calculation months earlier that showed 3 months in Stevie's life proportionally equaled to 7 years in my life. In view of this I was prepared for Stevie not to immediately recognize me. Remember, she's only 7 months old. A child psychologist I consulted in Boulder informed me that my voice would be more of a factor in her memory, than my face. And the short time after Stevie left for N.Y. I sent her and Nancy a 45 minute tape I had made earlier of Stevie and I talking, playing and singing together. Nancy played this tape almost daily for Stevie.

When I pulled up the driveway, rather than rushing up to Stevie, I simply kept a little distance and spoke to her. It was apparent that initially she did not know who I was, but as we spoke I could see a light of recognition grow brighter and brighter in her demeanor towards me. Within an hour she seemed quite cognizant of who I was. She excitedly showed me around her home and kept rushing up to me to be picked up and hugged.

The next day Tim and I took Sue to the train station. She had pressing deadlines with friends and family further east, so off she went so soon after our arrival. Tim and I both miss her. When 3 people do an adventure the likes of which we did, there is a very strong tendency to grow together. The 3 of us certainly did and it hasn't been the same since she left. The characteristic about Sue that we have both spoken of most and miss the most is her very positive attitude. We could always depend on her to offer levity when times were tough. There were many times that, if she was not with us, we may have dwelt on a negative experience. Instead she would make some remark that would bring laughter to our hearts, and from this happier state we could see the nature of a situation that had gotten us down. I hope to visit her this summer in New Jersey, and we have already taken steps to Bike from Boulder, Colo. to the Canyon Land of Southern Utah next summer. We'll be stopping midway in the trip near Aspen, Colo. for a 5 day conference sponsored by readers of The Urantia Book.

Tim, Sue and I set off on this trip with a strong faith and trust in God; knowing that He would care and provide for us all along the way, and the three of us many times prayed together and offered heartfelt thanks for the many blessings He bestowed upon us during the trip. We have no doubt of His overcare, and because of this we're able to take this journey without fear or trepidation. In fact, so many miracles occurred in each of our lives just to make the trip possible, that we left Boulder certain that the trip was even part of His will for us.

Now that it's over we are even more convinced of His love and presence in our lives. The trip was an endless testimony of the abundance found only in Him, and the greatest manifestation of this abundance was in the friendliness and kindness of all His children we met along the way. People really are good! This was made so plain to us. I know this is a point to be argued but I'm convinced people are ultimately good and kind. And I'm equally convinced that since this was the vision we brought to each of our numerous encounters along the way, we experienced the results of such a vision.

So this is where I'll end it. Thank you so much for your interest and enjoyment of my reports. I really enjoyed writing them. And I'd like to thank my Mom and Dad for encouraging me concerning this trip and to Carla who extended the invitation for me to write a weekly piece, and for typing my messy handwritten reports.

Love you all!

Sir John Franklin was an English pioneer in Arctic exploration. Before he started out on one of his trips he revised the map of the world.

Others had been marking unknown territory with phrases as, "Here Be Dragons!" and "Here Be Demons!"

But he wrote, "Here Be God!" For in the most distant, most lonely, most inaccessible places, God is. You can't outreach His love or outrun His mercy.

God's before me, He'll be my guide. He's behind me, no ill can'er betide. He's beside me, to comfort and to cheer. He's around me, why should I fear?

CORRECTION

We are sorry for this mistake and hope no one was offended. Thank you.

CORRECTION

It was reported in the Jr. Rodeo results printed in last week's paper that Andy Paul Jones had won the Flag Race. The correct name of the winner should have been David Whitaker, son of Mr. and Mrs. Brent Whitaker of Matador. We are sorry, David!
