A Second Glance

By Leon Watson

When someone gets hurt or is heartbroken it is usually because someone else has a BIG I AND LITTLE YOU attitude toward their family, neighbors or friends. It is a "what's mine is important and what's yours isn't" attitude.

There was a tragedy in the life of a seven-year-old boy here over the week end. While another boy was riding his bike down the street, two dogs were following him. One was a little dog belonging to the boy's cousin. The other was the seven-year-old's larger cow dog. As the boy stopped at an intersection the dogs turned to go back home, cutting through the back of a local lady's yard.

The lady, supposedly worried the dogs would damage her yard, opened fire on them with a rifle. The larger dog was hit; a neighbor ran out and grabbed the smaller dog to prevent it from being shot.

Wounded, the dog lay kicking while the lady beat it on the head with a stick. Finally the neighbor told her to shoot it again if she meant to kill it, to get it over with. The lady pumped more shells into the dog, while children watched.

We received this from one of the involved parties, a mother of a brokenhearted child:

To Whom It May Concern:

Everyday we hear labels put on ourselves and our children. Such as "mean little kid", "juvenile delinquent", "teenager", etc. But I ask you, have you ever heard a label on our "senior citizens"? No! We have always been taught to respect our elders and we try to teach our children to respect the "senior citizen." But how do we explain to our children why someone can shoot and kill his puppy for no apparent reason, and get away with it. We try to explain that the laws of the country and city are for his benefit and that he must not break the law. Also that he cannot shoot his B-B gun in town because someone may get hurt and that it is against the law. But I ask you, how can we expect our children to respect the "senior citizen" when his puppy has been shot and killed before his eyes. The trauma of seeing one's puppy shot and dragged away is a lasting impression. The nightmares that have accompanied such a sight will be with us for quite sometime. I can only hope that something can be done to prevent such happenings in the future, and that I never have to witness my son's heart breaking in such a matter again.

A Concerned Mother

Now, there are always two sides to every story, and this would not be a fair judgement without seeing another point of view. People who do not like dogs feel they shouldn't have to put up with neighbors dogs running loose. While there are no leash and licensing laws here, dog owners should be aware of their dogs whereabouts and activities. The dogs also could be kept within a fence.

Dogs running loose, damaging private property, or bothering neighbors should not be tolerated.

On the other hand, those people who want to keep nice yards could also put up fences.

It was a tragedy for the dog to be shot. A stray bullet could have hit a child playing in the neighborhood. There is a state law against shooting a gun inside the limits of an incorporated town, which Matador is.

By John R. Ratliff
Paducah, Texas

The Senate of the United States will be discussing the proposed new Tax Treaty with Great Britain by the time this article is published. This treaty is being supported by the Carter Administration plus heavy lobbying by representatives of large multinational companies and corporations. This treaty contains a number of questionable provisions, but perhaps the most controversial is Article 9 (4) which limits the states abilities to tax United Kingdom controlled corporations. If accepted by the Senate, this provision could serve a precedent for fashioning internal tax policy via agreements with foreign governments - a method that circumvents the taxwriting committees of both the House and the Senate.

Mr. William D. Dexter, General Counsel of the Multistate Tax Commission has called upon the Senate to reject the proposed treaty. He states that the treaty restricts the right to use the unitary method of taxing business income of United Kingdom Corporations. Under the unitary method, states can tax their portion of a multinational firm's overall, world wide profit, determined as a unit.

Not allowing the states to use the unitary method would force them to rely on a separate accounting for in-state operations, which, in turn, must depend on the arm's length method of pricing. According to Dexter, there is often no evidence of what an "arm's length price" for a produce or service may be, either because there is no market, or because the product or service is unique. States do not have the resources necessary to audit multinational corporations under the separate accounting method, says Dexter, and they should not be forced to adopt an income allocation method that is beyond their capabilities.

Personally, I see this proposed treaty as a power grab by the Federal Government through the use of taxation. At the present time the state (state and local) Governments of Texas has its own control of taxing large multinational companies and corporations. If this treaty passes, the state of Texas will be subject to more federal control. Plus increasing the number of public employees working for the State Comptroller office. As a tax paying citizen of Texas, I want less federal bureaucracy and fewer employees supported by the public tax dollar.

Miss Teresa Lee Homecoming Queen

In an exchange of royalty Saturday night, Miss Teresa Lee, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Orville Lee of Flomot, was crowned 1978 Flomot Homecoming Queen. Former queen, Mrs. W. R. Ware of Cedar Hill, the former June Ross, presented Miss Lee a floral bouquet as Ex-Student and Teacher Association president, Doyle Calvert, placed the crown on the newly elected queen and presented her a watch. Glen Calvert escorted Miss Lee to the dais preceded by her lovely attendants, Kani Bynum, Shay and Shawna Degan, Prissy Roys and Celeste Sperry. Piano music was provided by Mrs. Stanley Degan at the keyboard. Electing a new queen was the crowning feature of the program which was viewed by a capacity house.

Sgt. Barney Joe Martin with the Texas Department of Public Safety in Sherman was the guest speaker. He was a 1948 Flomot graduate. "Events during our school years helped us form attitudes and habits that we use today and helped us to choose the road of life we would follow. Flomot was a community that

Poem Receives National Recognition

Mary J. Stephens' poem "America" and her picture will be featured in National and World Book of Poetry of Who's Who, 1978.

Mrs. Stephens, of Clovis, N.M., formerly of Flomot, sent a copy of the poem to the Flomot Homecoming to be read at the joint church services on Sunday. She is the former Mary Jane Bumgarner.

"I attended most of my grade school and high school years in Flomot," Mrs. Stephens said. "I was a member of Flomot Baptist Church for many years and married Elec Stephens."

Four of her oldest children were born in Flomot, and attended their first Sunday School at the old First Baptist Church, now removed.

"My poem covers 200 years in America," she said. "I have received recognitions from many high-up people for its merit."

The poem became part of the White House Bicentennial Collection in 1976. One of the highest honors is the recognition by National and World Book of Poetry. We publish a copy of the

Bulletin

The Sunshine Club will meet Tuesday, July 11 for their monthly luncheon.

In an endeavor to display their good sportsmanship, following their defeat in the Matador-Plainview Jaycee Donkey Ballgame, the Plainview Jaycees presented the Matador Jaycees with a prize trophy, "Jaycilla the Chicken" this past Thursday during the baseball games at Forest Park. Jaycilla began her career as a prize trophy when the Whiteface Jaycees presented it to Plainview following 270 man miles. The Plainview have a record of 300 man miles so in order for the Matador Jaycees to be able to pass Jaycilla on, they must first travel 301 man miles to take part in a Jaycee event.

Screw worm Cases Confirmed Here

Two confirmed cases of the dread screw worm have been reported in Motley County on the Bird Ranch 18 miles southeast of Matador. The county's first case was in a wire cut on one of the ranch's horses.

James Bearden, owner of the horse, took the animal to Dr. Charles Overstreet in Dougherty for positive identification. Samples of the maggots and eggs collected from the wound were sent to Mission, Texas for testing.

A helicopter dropped several hundred sterile screw worm flies on the ranch, and around the location where the case was discovered, in an effort to reduce the spreading of the screw worm population.

"The idea behind dropping sterile flies is that the females will only mate once," County Agent Bill Pallmeyer said Monday. "The plan is to overwhelm the wild screw worm population with sterile male flies until the last female produces sterile eggs."

Pallmeyer encourages local cattlemen who do not have eradication sample kits to get them, and carry them in their pickups or saddlebags. When a suspected case is discovered the sample of maggots or eggs needs to be sent to Mission before the cattlemen can receive aid in fly drop or spraying. The state will give free aid to the cattlemen if a proper sample has been submitted.

The true screw worm is only one of a large group of flies of which are referred to as common blow flies. The screw worm maggot is a true parasite that infects only wounds of warmblooded animals.

If screw worms are suspected, Pallmeyer says these larvae need to be collected and shipped to the Screw worm Eradication Program laboratory, Box 969, Mission, Texas 78572, or brought to his office. Vials and containers to send samples to Mission are available in his office.

Since larvae of the screw worm fly feed on living flesh - humans and pets as well as livestock - livestock owners are advised to check animals frequently. All wounds should be treated with approved insecticides. Owners should also treat wounds made by branding, earmarking, dehorning and castration. Ranchers are also encouraged not to dehorn or castrate animals at this time, but wait until cooler weather.

On Rockefeller

Robert M. Bartell

WASHINGTON (Liberty Lobby News Service)—An interesting thing happened to David Rockefeller the other day: he smiled all the way to the bank. With his money you might think he smiles every time he enters his office at Chase Manhattan Bank . . . but this was a special occasion.

It seems that a Paris-based Chase Manhattan Bank executive made a secret trip to Hanoi last month and met with top Vietnamese officials to discuss normalization of relations with the U.S. Now you may ask, "What's a bank official doing discussing American foreign policy with a recent enemy?"

Remember that this is not the first time David Rockefeller has engaged in what he refers to as "personal diplomacy." It's also not likely to be the last—unless the entire U.S. Congress tells him he can't. He has more money than all of them put together, so it's no exaggeration to say that's not very likely to happen.

It's interesting that the State Department issued a statement following Ridgeway Brewster Knight's visit to Hanoi. They said that the former American diplomat and now Chase Manhattan Bank's director of international relations in Europe didn't carry any message from President Carter and in no way was negotiating in behalf of the U.S.

Just what was he doing there then? Probably the very same thing that David Rockefeller himself did when he went to Red China almost two years before Henry Kissinger visited the country—setting up business deals profitable to the bank and its international compatriots around which American policy in that country would be built.

Chase, of course, pooh-poohs the affair, claiming so little money is involved that they can hardly be accused of selling out American interests. Well, if that's the case, how is it that our trusted ally and long-time friend, Nationalist China, on Taiwan, is being sold down the river? Carter has made no secret of the fact that he intends to turn to the Chinese mainland and inevitably leave Free China to twist in the wind slowly, slowly.

The Republic of China is our oldest friend in Asia. As if to insult them with malice aforethought, National Security advisor Zbigniew Brzezinski scheduled his arrival in Peking recently to coincide precisely with the installation of a new head of state in Taipei. Also, the U.S. declined to send a representative to the inauguration of the new president.

The current Free Chinese ambassador, James Shen, has been told that when he departs his post, the U.S. will not accept a replacement. Since 1973 the number of American forces on Taiwan has been steadily reduced from 10,000 to 1,000.

Obviously the skids are being greased. Why? No one seems to know . . . or if he does he isn't talking.

Does it have anything to do with David Rockefeller and the great oil deposits recently discovered in China? It might be wise to remind Mr. Rockefeller that the Russians and the British have recognized Red China for 30 years. It hasn't done them much good.

And if we do indeed scuttle our friends on Taiwan, we'll have proved to be indeed faithless friends, letting the international bankers call the shots instead of Congress. If we get into trouble in the Pacific, the Republic of China would be on our side without a second's hesitation. Would Red China? Would the Soviet Union?

Don't bank on Chase Manhattan. Money isn't quite the same as honor and integrity.

worked and played together when I was a resident and I find on my return, it is still the same," the ex-students were told.

In a Memorial service conducted by Mrs. C. W. Bond, names of the deceased since 1975 were read. D. M., "Ikie" Gilbert recognized Costel Clements of Tacoma, Washington who traveled the farthest distance; Sam Tibbits of Snyder earliest ex-student and Mr. and Mrs. Sam Tibbits as earliest teachers.

Mr. Clements who traveled 2,200 miles was a 1930 graduate and received this same recognition in 1954. Mr. Tibbits attended Flomot Schools, the former South Quitaque School that was located 1/4 mile northwest of Flomot Cemetery, in the late 1890's. He and Mrs. Tibbits taught in the Flomot Schools in 1914.

Newly elected officers of the Flomot Ex-Students and Teachers Association are Bill Dean Washington, President; Herb Martin, Vice-President and Mrs. Stanley Degan, Secretary-treasurer.

An Open-Air dance was held Saturday night featuring the Nashville Sound Music of Morris Stephens of Whiteflat, Mrs. Pete Jones of Henrietta, Billy Mullins of Turkey and Dr. Charles Overstreet of Dougherty.

Sunday morning church services were held with the Rev. Charlie Lummis, Baptist minister, delivering the sermon and Wilburn Martin conducting the community choir. A barbecue luncheon catered by Walter Jones of Matador was served to 301 guests.

The Homecoming was declared one of the most successful with everyone expressing appreciation for the well scheduled activities.

Letters to the Editor

Dear Editor:

Jimmy Carter's decision to suspend beef import quota limits will have a direct and dramatic impact on the economy of rural Texas. From published reports his decision appears to have been a compromise—apparently he actually gave serious consideration to removing all import limits, — a move that would have bankrupted most Texas ranchers and beef producers and would have had repercussions throughout rural Texas.

It is interesting that Carter's decision came only days after John Hill went to Washington, D.C. to pay respect to his president and receive congratulations for beating Delph Briscoe.

When Hill returned from his trip to Washington, he announced that he and Carter had had a wide ranging exchange on a number of different topics, including the plight of Texas farmers and ranchers.

This is one more of a series of decisions Carter has made that puts him in the opposite corner to Texas, including the Panama Canal and gas act and vetoing the farm bill to name a few.

It is obvious that John Hill supports Carter and it is also obvious that he is unwilling to stand up and fight Carter for Texas. My opponent is ineffective.

Raising the beef import quota will only hurt Texas cattle raisers. The solution to the current farm price problem is to open up the free markets of the world and let Texas products flow into those markets with parity considered.

Roaring Springs and ribbons were furnished by the CowBelles. Stock producer was Runt Sloan, Newcastle. The judges were Donald Hurt, Guthrie and Dickie Garrison, Matador. Peck Thompson, Matador served as arena director and Don Warren, Matador was in charge of the dance. Timers were Alfred Cooper and Butch Renfro, Matador.

Others assisting in the operation of the rodeo were B. D. Halford, Roy Hobbs, John Stotts, H. A. Stephens, John Briscoe, Ros Bearden, Joe Campbell, Charlie Johnson, Tutt Garnett, Elaine Hart, Beth McFall, Ben Grundy, Kenneth Marshall, and Mrs. Marion Woodruff, Matador; Mr. and Mrs. Billy Joe Whitaker, Flomot; and Bennie D. Dillard, Elmer Parks and Bill Hand, Roaring Springs.

Donna Thompson assisted as secretary and Leola McKelvey was in charge of the concession stand that was operated by 4-H leaders, parents and members.

The officers and directors of the Motley County 4-H Rodeo Association express their gratitude to all who helped make this junior event a success and hope that no one who assisted has been overlooked, and invite the general public to attend their next presentation which will be the Playday, July 22 starting at 9:00 a.m.

Goal of the 4-H Rodeo Association is to build a livestock showbarn that can be used for Motley County Community activities. The old drive-in movie south of Matador has been secured for this purpose, but enough funds to start the project have not yet been obtained.

"AMERICA"

The Pilgrims, landed on American Soil
We The People, seek a new land to toil
God must be first. The Pilgrims prayed
The day would Come, when all was free.

We look to the future. In toil and strife
We seek a free land, for Home and Life
A Great Harvest was witness, to people's delight.
In God We Trust, His way of Life.

The Pilgrims cut trees, built homes of wood,
Then foundations of rock, and structure too—
Great cities and castles, and ranches too—
Was not just a dream in America's land.

Then progress paved a new way of life
From horseless chariots, to Electric lights.
Highways were built, and bridges too
From Earth to Moon, and across the Sea's.

Inventors dreams fill many needs
With great machines to count our deeds.
The echo voice, it routes our way
As we travel the airways, by night or day.

Wars do come, and then they go
Around the world to new fields of woe.
Great Leaders shout Victory, a battle is Won
In America. In God We Trust, our life to be.

weaken our defenses and helping our enemies.

2. Certain Senators were promised 'favorable White-house action' on 'pet' federal projects in their States. These would be tax funded projects. By intent, our funds are used against us.

3. President Carter exercised 'franking' privileges (postage free mail) to lobby for ratification of the aborted canal treaties. These millions of letters overloaded our inept bureaucratic postal system and used public funds to defeat our will. I certainly received one such letter with the HONORABLE eagle stamped on the envelope.

What CAN we do — what WILL we do? We can meet our individual responsibility or we can continue to do what we have been doing. If we do the latter and the "one-Worlders" continue to do what they have been doing, then we are going to become part of a socialistic slave state. Teddy Roosevelt said: "We are obligated to support our duly elected officials ONLY to the EXACT degree that they properly serve, all in accordance with their oath and the articles of our constitution."

"On the other hand, we are OBLIGATED to OPPOSE any and all failures, on their part, to so serve."

TEXAS should remove Bentsen, California should remove Johnston and Hayska . . . and etc. LET'S CLEAN HOUSE NOW.

Most Sincerely,
Aaron E. Coff-

Question: I saw a magazine ad for a metal Medicare card. I think a metal card is a good idea because it won't wear out. Is there any reason why I shouldn't buy one?
 Answer: Permanent Medicare cards made of metal or plastic, which are sold by some manufacturers, are not a substitute for your officially issued Medicare card. Whether or not you buy a metal card is entirely up to you. But, doctors and other health care providers may not accept it as a record of your Medicare protection since it is not your officially issued card.

SPUR TOURNAMENT

Forty-eight players were in tournament play at Spur Country Club on Wednesday ... Paducah (4); Tahoka (8); Childress (2); Snyder (8); Jayton (1); Floydada (2); and these from our club: Laverna, Geneva, LaVoe, Louise, Mary, Tommy, Winifred and Hazel. Also Donna Pernell and RuNita Robinson (Dougherty) but from Floydada CC. There were 5 tables of bridge in play at the Bank club house ... Lillian and Mamie enjoyed this session.

We received balls, "Lite" tees and ball markers when we registered and were served coffee and doughnuts ... Bought "Mulligan" tags (to be used in lieu of a stroke ... where most needed) but some of us either couldn't decide when it was most needed -- or else forgot to use it! Snacks and cold drinks were provided on the course.

After an enjoyable morning of play -- gathered for a super luncheon at the club room. Tables were covered with nasturtium decorated (paper) cloths and napkins centerpiece of yellow and white daisies and baby's breath. Place favors were yellow net bags full of lots of goodies, tied with colorful yarn ties. Small pot plants decorated the tables.

Sandy Dubois presided and named winners and awarded prizes: Diana Ratcliff (Paducah) won long drive. In second flight Mary and Tommy won first place (88) and received beautiful German Lead hand-cut crystal bowls. In championship flight Finnie Seale and partner (Snyder) won second place (76).

Many door prizes were given -- Louise, Mary, Tommy, Lillian, Mamie and Hazel were among the lucky ones.

Sandy recognized all the men who helped with the tournament -- really handy in assisting players with their bags -- onto the carts -- and then back into players' cars after play was over.

SOME ADDED MUSINGS -- Tee boxes were specially marked with potted shrubs -- yucca plants and boxwood.

So much enjoyed seeing Marie Ratliff ... she was busy selling chances on driving No. 5 green and visiting with players as they came by -- perfect setting with an umbrella-table!

Minnie Ola Stewart gave pictures (3) she had painted -- (and me with no luck).

Tish Orr telling that she and the Doctor were leaving Friday for the Bahamas -- and taking their golf clubs (as did Buzz and La Voe on their recent trip to the Islands).

Shower Honors Recent Bride

Mrs. Noel Dean Scoggins, nee Patricia Ruth Green, was honored with a bridal shower on Saturday, June 24, at the home of Mrs. E. A. Day. Guests called from 9:30 until 11:00 a.m. and were registered by Mrs. Bill Dunning.

The refreshment table was laid with a white linen cloth and centered with a candle arrangement featuring daisies, roses and baby's breath in the bride's chosen colors of yellow and white. Refreshments of cookies, tiny blueberry muffins, nuts and mint were served. Mrs. Fred Risser poured spiced tea and coffee from the silver service.

Dr. Jesse Cocke (left), Texas Agricultural Extension Service entomologist, checks the records on a steer that's wearing an insecticide-impregnated ear tag. The Rabon Cattle Ear Tag - a product of Shell Animal Health - is used to protect cattle against the Gulf Coast tick and attendant problems of the screwworm larvae. Government tests show the tag provides 95-100 percent effective control of the tick for a three-month period and equally effective against horn flies, a nagging problem for Texas cattle. This photo was taken at the Lon Cartwright ranch, Dinero, Texas. Cartwright is shown at right wearing a hat.

Early Rise In Screwworm Reports Trouble Experts

A rash of infestation along with favorable moisture conditions across Texas, New Mexico and Arizona has prompted predictions of one of the highest screwworm outbreaks since 1976. The results could cost Texas cattlemen millions of dollars in damage and destroyed livestock.

The Gulf Coast tick, and particularly the screwworm fly, have become a serious threat to the Texas beef industry in the past few years. Adult ticks attack the ears of the cattle causing open wounds in which the screwworm fly lays its eggs. According to entomologists who have been monitoring the problem, screwworm larvae feed in these wounds and in extreme cases can kill the animal.

A Texas Agricultural Extension Service survey, conducted by area extension entomologists, showed that a screwworm infestation can cost a cattleman as much as $81.50 per head. This includes all categories of loss - death loss, loss of weight, medication expenses and the extra expenses associated with transportation and labor. In the same survey, screwworms produced an estimated $283 to $375 million loss to the Texas general economy during 1976.

"We've already had more cases of screwworm infestation this year than at the same time last season," says E. H. (Elmer) Ahrens, research entomologist with the USDA Screwworm Eradication Laboratory, Mission, Texas. "At the same time, we are seeing a sharp increase in the number of screwworm reports from Arizona and New Mexico. This all points to the possibility of real screwworm problems this summer.

Jesse Cocke, area entomologist for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, is working closely with the screwworm eradication program and agrees with Ahrens who points to favorable high-moisture conditions as yet another indication of increased tick and screwworm problems this summer.

"According to weather predictions, many parts of Texas are still anticipating rainfall," Cocke says. "If the rains do come this summer, conditions could become favorable for screwworm and tick infestation."

Ahrens, who has been working with area entomologists, says that cattle from Arizona and New Mexico are particularly to blame for the higher number of screwworm cases in Texas.

Cocke, who works with the "Screwworm Watch" monitoring program from his headquarters in Weslaco, says one of the few methods of protection cattlemen have in the war on screwworms are newly-developed insecticide-impregnated ear tags.

"Really, these tags are the surest safeguard for cattle," he says. "They are economical and labor efficient."

Two manufacturers - Shell Animal Health and Y-Text Corporation - have developed such tags. Both tags are effective against the Gulf Coast ear tick. In comparative tests, government researchers found the Shell Rabon Ear Tag provided 95-100 percent control of the Gulf Coast ear tick for a three-month period. Additionally, the Rabon tag provided equally strong protection against horn flies, a nagging problem for Texas cattle.

"The situation is so volatile, due to the weather and other factors, that we just can't pin down how severe the Gulf Coast ear tick and the screwworm problem will be this summer," Ahrens cautions. "The important thing is for cattlemen to provide sufficient protection for their animals and participate in the 'Screwworm Watch' program so we'll know where the screwworm problems are."

County Agent Pallmeyer Says

Anaplasmosis continues to cause more than $100 million in losses to the cattle industry, and Motley County is no exception.

Anaplasmosis is an infectious disease of cattle caused by a small parasite that destroys red blood cells, and is spread by insects, primarily biting insects such as flies. Ticks spread the disease, as do the use of contaminated vaccinating needles, de-horners or ear notchers.

Infected animals generally show no visible symptoms during the 4 to 6 week incubation period, but then they become weak, may go off feed and refuse to drink. Later they may become constipated, stay away from the herd, or become unduly excited.

Advanced cases become pale around the eyes, muzzle or teats, or show yellowish-tinted skin. Seriously infected cattle either die or begin to recover in 2 to 4 days after symptoms appear.

Older cattle are more severely affected than younger ones, and calves under 6 months generally do not show recognizable symptoms, but all that do recover are carriers.

To prevent losses, a vaccination program must be started, especially if the disease has been identified in a herd. Tetracycline antibiotics can be used as a continuous feed during the season when flies are most prevalent, or these may also be given intravenously in early detected cases. Fly control will also help to spread the disease.

Finally, cattle showing symptoms should be handled carefully as they are weak and may die rapidly from too much activity or excitement.

Arts and Crafts Club Meets

The Motley County Arts and Crafts Club met on Monday July 3, for the regular monthly meeting in the Woodruff building. Mrs. Bill McKelvey, president, presided at the business session. The Nominating and Yearbook Committees were appointed to bring reports at the August meeting. Members are reminded that their dues are payable by the August meeting.

Plans were made to have an arts and crafts sale on the First Monday of each month at the regular meeting time. This will also include other items for sale at times. Arrangements were made for Mrs. Leon Cloyd to teach a class in oil painting.

Attention Farmers

The Paducah office of the Texas Employment Commission here received calls from numerous crews of hoe hands wanting to come to the Motley County area to work, reports Joe Don Brooks, manager of the Paducah T.E.C. office.

If anyone has a house that they would like to put hoe hands in please call Dee Cox at 347-2385 after 6:00 p.m. or the Paducah office at (806) 492-3727.

If hands can be located in houses at Matador, Mrs. Cox will be glad to assist farmers in placement of hands. There is no charge for this service.
