Reds Driving On Four Bastions In German Defenses

By HENRY C. CASSIDY MOSCOW, Oct. 14 (AP)—The Red army, now inside or on the threshold of four of Russia's large cities—Kiev, Gomel, Zaporozhe and Melitopol—appeared on the way today to winning some of its greatest victories.

Surging across the mud flats of the lower Dnieper river, the Soviets fought their way into Melitopol, a city of 76,000 inhabitants, after breaking the German hold on the Moiochna river line.

On the middle Dnieper river, Red army forces within two miles of the Ukrainian capital of Kiev hastened their efforts to take the city before the nazis could complete demolitions.

Capture of Kiev would be a prize of the first order for the Red army, at the time of its capture by the Germans in September, 1941, its population numbered 850,000.

Gomel, at the northern end of the active front, became a battle ground as Soviet forces which crossed the Zozh river came to that White Russian center.

A Soviet communique said Russian troops already were fighting in the streets of Melitopol, and were battling the Germans on the outskirts of the other three. Capture of all four cities would jeopardize the whole German position in Russia and might force a gigantic withdrawal of the Nazi armies to secondary defense lines many miles to the west.

Soviet troops, breaching formidable German defenses in the south Ukraine, forced the Moiochna river and surged into the very center of Melitopol in the face of desperate resistance on the part of the defenders, the Soviet bulletin said.

The city is one of the two escape railways open to the German garrison in the Crimea. Its capture would be a milestone in the Russian drive to isolate the Crimea from the north.

Pushes Plans For Freezer-Locker Prospects of a freezer-locker unit for Big Spring looked considerably better Thursday with Marvin Sewell investigating the possibilities of installing a plant.

Sewell said he was checking on building possibilities and that other local arrangements were practically complete. The matter of priorities for the locker equipment, refrigeration units and insulating material would be pressed if the decision to go ahead is reached.

Once before he was interested in such a plant here but backed off pending efforts to organize a cooperative. Since then, however, the war has changed the picture, but only recently restrictions have been lifted to permit the construction of a certain number of freezer-locker units in the interest of food conservation.

"I'm going to do all I can toward making arrangements for a plant, said Sewell, "but if I find I can't, then I'm going to get out of the way and let somebody else try."

War As Usual For Gen. Eisenhower On 53rd Birthday ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, Algiers, Oct. 14 (AP)—It was war as usual today for Gen. Dwight D. "Ike" Eisenhower on his 53rd birthday.

Members of his personal staff gave the allied commander-in-chief a surprise supper at an advanced command post, but otherwise the general spent the day conferring with military chiefs on the progress of the Italian campaign.

CONVOY ATTACKED LONDON, Oct. 14 (AP)—British submarines and torpedo planes attacked a German convoy off northern Norway yesterday but failed to inflict any damage, the Berlin radio said today.

FINLAND TO INCREASE WAR DEBT PAYMENTS WASHINGTON, Oct. 14 (AP)—Finland agreed today to increase its war debt payments to this country by more than $42,000 a year for 20 years in order to overtake a two-year lapse caused by the Russo-Finnish war.

LOWER RATES AUSTIN, Oct. 14 (AP)—The lower Colorado river authority today announced residential and commercial electric rate reductions aggregating $16,000 a year for Lampasas, San Marcos, Flatonia, Lometa, Llano and San Saba which are served at retail by the authority.

GERMAN LINES CRACKED

Biggest Raid In Pacific Smashes 177 Jap Planes, Three Destroyers

By C. YATES McDANIEL ALLIED HEADQUARTERS in the Southwest Pacific, Oct. 14 (AP)—General MacArthur threw every bomber and fighter plane he could risk in a gigantic smash Tuesday at Japan's key sea-air bastion of Rabaul on New Britain, and the resultant devastation prompted the conservative general to say, "I think we have broken its back."

The raid by the biggest armada ever massed in this area "marks the turning point in the war in the South Pacific," declared the airforce commander, Lt. Gen. George C. Kenney. The far-reaching results—they may speed the unhinging of the whole perimeter of defenses anchored to Rabaul—were: Destruction or severe damage of 177 enemy planes, an estimated 60 per cent of the airforce on Rabaul's airdromes.

Sinking of at least 17,600 tons of ships, including three destroyers and three merchant ships, as well as 43 small sea-going cargo vessels and 70 harbor craft. Severe damage to a submarine, its 5,000 ton tender, a 6,800 ton destroyer tender and a 7,000 ton cargo ship.

Wrecking and firing of wharves and waterfront installations at Simpson harbor, one of the finest in the world. These accomplishments cost the Allies five planes out of the participating hundreds, the bulk of which were Americans. The raiders expended 350 tons of bombs, 25 tons more than the bomb load dropped last week on Wake Island, and more than 250,000 rounds of ammunition.

Escorted over Rabaul for the first time in the war by fighters, the Liberators and Mitchells struck by daylight at a base so brilliant with defenses that heretofore attacks were made under cover of darkness. But that was before MacArthur acquired forward air bases on islands north of New Guinea.

The sharp scaling down of Rabaul's striking power followed a series of heavy raids since mid-August which have destroyed approximately 500 enemy planes at Wewak, New Guinea. The overall strategy in this was pointed out in today's communique:

"Recently we crushed the right wing of his (Japan's) air command at Wewak. This time our objective was his left wing at Rabaul. The division of his air forces into two great groups based upon Wewak and Rabaul has made it possible to use our main mass against first one flank, then the other, thus acquiring in each case superiority of force at the point of combat and destroying his force in detail."

Firm Bridgeheads Established Across Voltorno River

By NOLAND NORGAARD ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, ALGIERS, Oct. 14 (AP)—British and American troops of Lt. Gen. Mark W. Clark's Fifth Army cracked the strong German lines along the Voltorno river in a fierce night attack early yesterday and have established several armor-reinforced bridgeheads across that most formidable obstacle in the path to Rome. Allied headquarters announced today.

Gen. Clark struck at a time to take advantage of favorable weather when dry ground allowed deployment of his forces and after a terrific artillery barrage had softened the enemy's defense positions on the north bank.

Engineers bridged the Voltorno to get American tanks across the stream, which for days had been virtually impassable because of high water. But the Germans had rushed fresh contingents south from the Rome area in recent days to meet an expected attack, and as the British and Americans clawed their way up the steep banks fierce fighting graged up and down the north side of the stream.

Seven German divisions were in line across Italy to oppose the Allied advance. This advance was all along the line.

After a heavy fight troops north-west of Benevento captured the town of Guardia, four miles north of the Calore river and only nine miles east of the Voltorno. This advance threatened the left flank of the Germans fighting behind the Voltorno defenses.

The British and Canadians in the center of the line drove forward five miles. They pursued the one- and occupied Gildone, less than a mile southeast of Campobasso, and made other gains to swing the east end of their line forward.

The attack came as one of the war's most dramatic high spots after Gen. Clark had given the word, "Hit them hard."

Apparently aware of the concentration of American and British forces preparing for the blow, the Germans had attempted to strike first and launched a sharp attack in the Capua area.

Some German detachments managed to cross the river and gain a brief foothold on the edges of the town controlling the main road to Rome.

But Clark and his seasoned warriors were ready and drove back every German unit which had crossed to the south bank and then launching their own heavy offensive at many points both east and west of Capua. (See ITALIAN WAR, Pr. 4, Col. 1)

U. S. BOMBERS OVER GERMANY LONDON, Oct. 14 (AP)—U. S. heavy bombers, supported by Thunderbolts, attacked targets in central Germany today.

It was the first daylight raid for the American bombers since they hit Muenster and Coesfeld Sunday. The targets were not specified in the first announcement from U. S. army headquarters, but the use of the description, "Central Germany," suggested the possibility of a fact marked the resumption of major operations which, in addition to the Muenster and Coesfeld raids, included a record, long-distance flight to eastern Germany, Poland and east Prussia last Saturday.

Crash Injuries Bring Death To Gen. Jackson

THIRD ARMY MANEUVER HEADQUARTERS IN LOUISIANA, Oct. 14 (AP)—Major General Stonewall Jackson died last night in the Camp Polk station hospital as a result of injuries received in a plane crash in the maneuver area Oct. 4.

Prior to the maneuvers he was commander of the 84th Infantry division at Camp Howze, Tex. The general died without ever fully regaining consciousness. His body was being taken to Plattsburg, N. Y., for burial.

Staff Sergeant Robert W. Miller of Wichita, Kas., injured in the crash, continues to improve, hospital officials said.

Gen. Jackson was not related to the Confederate general but his father was a cavalry officer under Stonewall Jackson.

General Jackson was commanding a regiment in the maneuver area at the time of the accident. A native of Kentucky, General Jackson was born March 4, 1891. He left the employ of a railroad company to enter the first officer training camp at Fort Logan Roots, Arkansas, May 10, 1917.

He became a brigadier general May 24, 1942, serving as assistant commander of the 88th division at Camp Gruber, Okla., before receiving his present assignment at Camp Howze, Tex.

Paternity Problems—Two young women whose children are shown above. Left is Shirley Evans Hassau, 21, who has filed suit in Los Angeles asking that Actor Errol Flynn be formally adjudged the father of her two-year-old daughter, whom she named Marilyn Evans Flynn, and that he be ordered to pay $1,750 monthly for the child's support, $5,000 for her own hospital and medical care, and $12,000 for court costs and attorney's fees.

Right, Joan Berry, 24-year-old movie aspirant, leaves the hospital with her 10-day-old daughter, Carol Ann, whose father she claims is comedian Charlie Chaplin. The baby will be the subject of extensive blood tests in three or four months in an effort to determine if Chaplin could be the father.

Work Stoppage Closes Mines

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Oct. 14 (AP)—At least 17 Alabama coal mines, employing more than 6,500 men and including several of the state's largest industrial fuel producers, were shut down today in a work stoppage which both union and operator spokesmen said resulted from government release of the mines to their owners.

An early survey today indicated that 12 mines, including the state's largest, joined those idle on the morning shift. Five were shut down yesterday. Approximately 25,000 men are employed in all the state's mines.

The closed mines produce approximately 50 per cent of the coal used in the steel and iron plants of the Birmingham district. Industrial fuel supplies are low.

Shafts closed today include the Edgewater mine of Tennessee Coal, Iron and Railroad Co., with 1,650 employees; Sayreton No. 1 and 2, Virginia and Sayre of Republic Steel Corp., with 1,000; Lewisburg and Flat Top of Sloss-Sheffield Steel & Iron Co., with 1,100 and four mines of the Alabama By-Products Corp., with 1,750.

Ration Signup Scheduled For October 22nd

Date of registration for Ration Book Four was set Thursday by city and county school superintendents for Friday, October 22nd.

The city schools will begin registration at 1:15 p. m. Friday afternoon and continue until 9 p. m. Friday night. Registration will also be held Saturday all day from 8:30 a. m. to 9 p. m., according to word from Superintendent W. C. Blankenship.

The city schools will use the same system as in other registrations by sending out through the school children, lists containing time of registration in alphabetical order.

Those with children in elementary school will register in the elementary school which their children attend, and those with children in high school will register at the high school.

The county schools will have registration on Friday, October 22nd, all day, when school will be dismissed, Walker Bailey, county superintendent said. All books will be issued on that one day, Bailey explained, with teachers handling the registration as in the past.

Stamp 29 In New Book To Be Good For Sugar WASHINGTON, Oct. 14 (AP)—Stamp No. 29 in the new ration book No. 4 will be used for buying sugar beginning Nov. 1, the office of Price Administration announced today.

The new book will be distributed in a school house registration the last two weeks of this month. Continuing the present consumer ration for another two and one-half months, stamp 29 will be good for five pounds of sugar through January 15, 1944.

Stamp 14 in ration book one, good for five pounds since August 16, expires the first day of November, while stamps 15 and 16, which have been used for home-canning sugar, expire on the last day of October.

Two Destroyers Are Lost In The Mediterranean

WASHINGTON, Oct. 14 (AP)—Loss of two American destroyers in the Mediterranean was reported today by the navy in a communique which also told of an unsuccessful Japanese bombing raid on Attu Island in the Aleutians.

The destroyers, the Buck and Bristol, both sank as a result of underwater explosions, the navy said.

The Buck, a 500-ton ship, went down off Salerno Oct. 9 and the Bristol, a 1,700-ton vessel, was sunk yesterday.

The navy said casualty details had not been received and that next of kin of all casualties will be notified immediately upon receipt of information.

Loss of the two destroyers, each of which carried approximately 250 officers and men, brought to 122 the number of naval craft lost since the war started.

The Buck was placed in service in May, 1940, and the Bristol in October, 1941.

The bombing raid on Attu, taken from the Japanese late in May, was the first carried out since American occupation of that little island on the tip of the Aleutians chain.

Ten Japanese bombers flew high over Massacre Bay at a great height, the navy reported. Their bombs were dropped without causing damage.

American fighting pilots flew up to intercept the bombers and they were driven off. No planes were shot down in the engagement.

More Probes Of War Plants

WASHINGTON, Oct. 14 (AP)—Further evidence that congress wants an accounting of war expenditures was given today by a house naval subcommittee which indicated its inquiry into the production failures at the Brewster Aeronautical corporation would be extended to other naval procurement "headaches."

From Under Secretary of the Navy James V. Forrestal and other ranking naval procurement officials, the committee drew declarations that Brewster's delays in turning out fighting planes and bombers could be attributed jointly to "labor troubles" and "weak management."

All members of the committee flatly served notice that the navy itself would be held to an accounting for the situation at Brewster and would be required to explain in detail why it has not cracked down on the management-labor difficulties or cancelled its contracts long ago.

SLOWER NAZI PLANES Carry Aerial Rockets LONDON, Oct. 14 (AP)—American airmen operating from British bases are encountering increasing numbers of slower two-engine German fighter planes, says Maj. Gen. William E. Kepner, "because the Hun has been turning to aerial rockets for defense against our attacks and the rocket apparatus is simply too much for single-engined fighters."

The trouble with the rocket strategy, the commander of the U. S. Eighth air force fighter command asserted today in "Stars and Stripes" interview is that to be effective the German planes must be well within range of American guns.

Club Is Entertained With Latin American Luncheon

District Music Conference To Be Held Here

Members of the Music study club were entertained with a Latin American luncheon in Mrs. R. V. Middleton's home Wednesday afternoon. The affair marked the initial fall meeting of the organization, which has chosen as study for the year, Latin American Music.

The hostess was assisted by Mrs. Roy Green and Mrs. G. T. Hall, and plate favors were Mexican straw hats. The decoration motif was furthered on the table which was centered with fruit and flowers.

During a business meeting which was held, it was announced by Mrs. Roy Green, club chairman of the bond drive, that the group sold $129,750 in war bonds.

Devoting a large percent of club activities to service work, the group buys musical instruments for disabled soldiers, and serves as hostesses at the Big Spring USO club.

Mrs. Omar Pitman, year book chairman, distributed year books and explained the course which has been chosen for the club year.

Plans were discussed for the district conference of the Texas Federation of Music Clubs which will be held here October 30, and Mrs. C. W. Norman was named delegate.

The next meeting will be held in Mrs. W. B. Hardy's home November 10 and a study of Cuba and the West Indies will be started.

Those attending the meeting were Mrs. Chester Barnes, Roberta Gay, Mrs. Roy Green, Mrs. S. H. Gibson, Mrs. W. B. Hardy, Mrs. Harry Hurt, Mrs. J. P. Kennedy, Mrs. Larson Lloyd, Mrs. C. W. Norman, Mrs. Omar Pitman, Mrs. Hal Runyan, Mrs. R. W. Thompson, Elsie Willis, Mrs. H. W. Williams and the hostess, Mrs. Middleton.

Autumn Motif Used In Decorations

Queen's wreath and wild flowers furthered an autumn motif carried out in room decorations at a party given by Mrs. Chess Anderson Wednesday afternoon for members of the Dos Por Ocho club and guests.

Brown and yellow sandwiches were served with other refreshments, and guests attending were Mrs. Eddie McElhannon, Mrs. Nell Hillard and Mrs. Doc McQuinn.

Members present were Mrs. Lewis Murdoch, Mrs. M. S. Beale, Mrs. C. Y. Clinkscales, Mrs. R. F. Bluhm, Mrs. H. V. Crocker, Mrs. Mathis, and Mrs. Garner McAdams.

Mrs. M. S. Beale will entertain the club next.

USO Hostesses Visit The Post Hospital

A group of hostesses from the Big Spring USO club visited the post hospital Wednesday evening and distributed books, flowers and cookies in the wards.

To group included Mrs. W. O. Harper, Marilee Beavers, Betty Jo Pool, Elizabeth Moody, Frances Drake, Maxine Moore, Mozelle Bradley, Arline Robinson and the chairman, Mrs. F. V. Kimsey.

Mrs. Albert Smith returned Tuesday evening from Roswell, N. M. where she visited her brother and wife, Lieut. and Mrs. John G. Davis, Jr., Lieut. Davis is a former resident of Big Spring. Mrs. Smith also visited in Hereford with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John G. Davis, Sr.

Mrs. H. B. Yates of El Paso is visiting Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Wright.

Club Plans Activities

Plans and activities for the coming year were outlined at a meeting of the Service Men's Wives Club when members met at the Big Spring USO club Wednesday afternoon.

The group voted to have two meetings each month in the evening in order that working wives might attend. One of the night meetings will be devoted to business and service activities, (making layettes, aprons for the USO kitchen, etc.). The other night meetings will be entertainments for husbands and club members.

The two afternoon meetings will be devoted to craft classes and bridge lessons.

A cordial invitation is extended to all enlisted men's wives, whether they are employed or not, to join the club.

The next meeting which is scheduled Wednesday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock at the USO will mark the beginning of a membership drive which is being sponsored by the club.

Those attending the Wednesday afternoon meeting were Mrs. C. W. Potts, Mrs. Frank Oranger, Mrs. J. H. Butler, Mrs. Davenport, Mrs. Vernon Barnes, Mrs. C. K. Eckerstrom.

More Wildcat Drilling Seen As Major Need

FORT WORTH, Oct. 14 (AP)—"A veritable avalanche of wildcat drilling" in the oil industry is needed to meet the rapidly decreasing crude oil supply, asserts Wirt Franklin, special field assistant to the deputy Petroleum Administration for War.

Franklin, whose new PAW assignment is to increase oil production, told the annual convention of the Texas Mid-Continent Oil and Gas association yesterday that the indicated deficiency in crude oil supply during the fourth quarter of 1944 was more than 500,000 barrels daily, "unless herculean efforts are made by the oil industry to avert such a disaster."

In urging a tremendous wildcatting program he said "after all, oil is where you find it, and not always where you think it is." Franklin said he had been urging an oil price increase to stimulate exploration and that he was hopeful the "price question will be settled favorably in the very near future."

John D. Gill, chairman of the marketing committee of the petroleum industry war council, said "the denial of the petroleum industry's petition for a crude price increase may be the most significant economic fact of the war."

Maston Nixon, vice president of the Southern Minerals corporation, Corpus Christi, was elected president, succeeding George Stawell. Nixon urged that the savings be taken off the oil industry and that oil men be given a free hand to meet the oil needs of the nation.

Other officers include George C. Gibbons, Dallas, executive vice president and Eugene McElvaney, also of Dallas, treasurer. Vice presidents named were J. Cooke Wilson, Gulf Coast; B. G. Byars, East Texas; J. L. Collins, East Central Texas; J. A. McCarty, North Texas; W. W. McElroy, Panhandle; B. L. LeFever, West Texas; Joseph M. Weaver, West Central Texas and Al Buchanan, Southwest Texas.

Miss Laneous Notes

MARY WHALEY

You know it really isn't fair to make days like yesterday come on a week day when you are supposed to keep your mind on your business. If such a day were Sunday, then it would be perfectly legal to spend the day exploring the great outdoors. But bosses are so funny.

As long as it is a work day, they do not look at you kindly as you sit mooning out a window, or inch your chair over into the sun just to feel its rays on your back.

The guy that hands out the paycheck seems to think that since he hired you to work, you ought to do some of it at least while his eye is on you.

But even if your heart is in the right place and you are working for a raise, it is much better that days like the blue and gold afternoon of yesterday just don't happen.

The air cool but not cold, the sun warm but not hot, the trees green and yellow against a sky of bright blue! How can figures, typewriters, and a desk job compete.

Afternoons like yesterday were made for walks in the woods or hills, excursions into the country, or exploring little used paths. But bosses are so funny (peculiar). That's why they have so little patience with such day-dreaming on your eight to five shift. (The reason they get so crabby is because they want to go, too, but they can't leave either.)

Mrs. Cecil McDonald and Mrs. Joe Pickle, hostesses for the next monthly luncheon, were named as team captains for a membership drive which will get underway at the next meeting.

Those attending the luncheon were Mrs. Lawrence Robinson, Mrs. H. W. Wright, Mrs. Dan Conley, Mrs. John Dibrell, Mrs. B. S. Cox, Mrs. Otis Graf, Mrs. B. J. McDonald, Mrs. B. J. McDaniel, Mrs. Mel Richards, Mrs. Jack Smith, Mrs. K. H. McElgibbon, Mrs. John Coffee and Speedy Nugent.

MODERN ETIQUETTE

Q. When using a knife and fork for cutting and holding meat, your knife is ordinarily in the right hand with the fork in the left. If you are not left handed, the process of changing your fork to your right hand with every bite becomes involved. How can this be done more easily?

Sincerely,
CIG.

A. After a bite of the meat has been cut, it is much easier to pick it up with the fork in your left hand and eat, than to transfer the fork to the right hand with every bite. If you find this process confusing, it is permissible to lay your knife down and eat with the fork in your right hand, even though it is not considered proper.

HELPFUL HOUSEHOLD HINTS

HOW TO CURE THAT STICKY IRON

Don't "cuss" at a sticky sole plate on your electric iron. Here's an easy cure. Heat the iron, then rub the iron over a piece of paper sprinkled with salt. This removes starch or other substances. Then wax the sole plate by rubbing paraffin or beeswax over it. Finally remove the excess wax by running the iron over a clean piece of paper. Burnt starch may be removed with fine steel wool when iron is cool.

OTHER HINTS ON IRON CARE

- Never iron over buttons, snaps, zippers or hooks and eyes. Hard objects scratch the sole plate of the iron.
- Use extreme care to avoid dropping your iron. You may break some vital part that is impossible to replace.
- Be sure iron is cool before putting it away. And don't wrap cord around the hot iron.
- Take good care of your iron cord. Don't let it kink. Pull out plug by grasping plug, not the cord.

How to reline a lamp shade

Roll your own. Lighting benefits can be noticeably increased by relining existing dark-on-the-inside shades with good white paper. Roll the lamp shade on white paper, and pencil mark to cut. Fit this lining inside the shade and fasten seam with Scotch tape.

OTHER WAYS TO CONSERVE LIGHT

- Clean lamp bulbs and reflectors (unlighted) regularly with a damp cloth.
- Use shades with white linings that reflect light instead of absorbing it.
- Keep all lights properly shaded to avoid glare.
- Arrange furniture so one lamp serves two or more people.
- Always turn off lights in unoccupied rooms.
- Have eyes examined regularly by a competent eye specialist.

Suggestions On The Feeding Of Farm Beef Cattle

By O. P. GRIFFIN
County Agent

Since it will not be profitable to market cattle for the next 6 months without feeding them, and in view of the shortage of bundle feed it appears advisable to place cattle on feed before they begin to lose flesh, and give them a 60 to 90 day feeding. This would include all cattle for which there is not enough pasturage to last them through the winter and early spring.

The difference between the market price of feeders and fed cattle is greater now than it has been in a number of years. While feed is higher priced than it was last year, this spread will make feeding profitable compared with selling the cattle in poor flesh.

But because of the higher price of feed better economy must be used in feeding. Feed can be wasted in several ways. Methods of starting animals on feed, feeding a balanced feed and minerals, and care to keep animals from wasting their feed while eating are all important. Feeding has cost 8 per cent more feed per unit of livestock this year largely because of there being a larger number of inexperienced feeders.

Experiments in starting cattle on feed show that it is best to begin with roughage and cotton seed meal or cake. The roughage is fed as much as the animals will consume even from the beginning. Meal or cake should be slowly increased from one pound a day until they are eating two pounds each day. Then begin with grain. Not over two pounds of grain per animal should be fed at first along with the two pounds of meal and all of the bundles they will eat. The grain can usually be increased one-fourth pound per animal each feeding, but that will depend on how much bundles they are eating. As long as they are taking lots of bundle feed, there is not so much danger of overfeeding grain, because they will leave some of the grain if too much is fed at one time. And this is a sure sign that too much has been fed if some is left.

After the cattle are eating a full ration, about 4-4-1 would be an approximate ratio for this feeding. That is for each 4 pounds of grain and 4 pounds of bundles the animal should have 1 pound of cotton seed meal or slightly more to bring the protein in the feed up to the required amount. And 4 pounds of bundles, 4 pounds of maize and 1 pound of cotton seed meal is nearly the amount required for one pound of gain in the animal under very favorable conditions. On full feed the figures would be 8-8-2½ if they will eat that much.

But there are other things that will help to determine what the gain in weight will be. Salt and limestone are important. One-tenth of a pound of each mixed with the feed, or mixed and placed where the cattle can help themselves will add to the gain. Water is still more important. In fact only poor gains, or no gains at all will be had with cattle that are thirsty part of the time. And regularity in feeding is also important, especially during the first month.

Improper feeding at the start is never overcome. If cattle are made sick by eating too much grain at the start or form irregular habits of eating, more or less trouble will be encountered throughout the feeding period, and the gains will cost more.

Single-service paper milk containers were patented in 1906.

Terraces Produce Good Grain Yield

Many farmers have had trouble cultivating newly constructed terraces due to the difficulty of holding ordinary farm machinery up on the sloping sides of the loose terrace.

D. W. Christian overcame this difficulty and according to Christian he had a large increase in production as well as a decrease in the amount of work required.

Soon after the terraces were constructed the ditches on each side were plowed in to permit easier cultivation. At planting time the terraces had not settled sufficiently to permit successful listing so the next best tool was a grain drill. Combine maize was drilled on the terrace using the regular deep furrow wheat drill with the rows approximately 14 inches apart. Recently, Christian said he combined over a ton of threshed maize to the acre.

There was only two operations involved in making this crop, planting and harvesting. This was possibly due to the fact that the terraces were new and the crop was planted late enough that weed competition was low. Had the weeds become a hazard, Christian planned to run over the area with a harrow.

This type of operation has proved successful and it seems to be a very good way to handle loose terraces.

Christian stated that he believed that he made one-fourth more crops over his entire field by having it terraced than he would have without terraces.

Club Women Are Collecting Fats

By RHEBA M. L. BOYLES
Co. Home Demonstration Agent

Home Demonstration club women are helping meet the need for glycerine by pooling their fats. These club women have very little waste fats, after their fats are used as long as possible for food. Once a month these small amounts are collected and brought into the fat collection center before they become rancid.

The need for glycerin now is greater than it has ever been. Glycerin is used in making of explosives which are vitally needed in fighting this war. Glycerin is made from fats; and millions of pounds of fats are wasted each year.

The question has come up many times among our rural people as to the advisability of making soap at home from waste fats. Experiments show that soap can be made at home, valuing the fat at 4 cents per pound, for about half of what the same amount of soap would cost at the local stores. However, in making soap at home all the glycerin is lost while almost all the glycerin, down to less than 1 percent, is extracted from commercial soap. That is why the soap bought today is of poorer quality than during peace time. The appeal now is for the waste fats based on the needs of the nation for glycerin to save lives rather than from the standpoint of saving money.

The Knott, Overton, Hi-way and Vealmoor are cooperating in this program of fat collection.

From where I sit ...

by Joe Marsh

Every time Lem Martin hears about another Jap battleship being sunk—or another Nazi city being blasted—Lem grins his teeth, and digs into his pocket for more War Bond money.

"With our soldiers over there doin' better 'n' better at scorin'," Lem says grimly, "we can do the same at home."

It's easy to think that if the war is going well, we can afford to let down just a little instead of realizing that the bigger our offensive gets the more our boys are going to need equipment and munitions.

From where I sit, here's the way it is ... It's up to everyone of us to put not only our spare money into War Bonds, but to figure out new ways of saving so that we'll have still more money to invest in Victory.

As Lem says: "We asked for plenty of action—and we're sure getting it. All over the world our men have got them Axis fellas on the run. Let's Back the Attack with War Bonds."

Pope Expected To Remain In Vatican

STOCKHOLM, Oct. 14 (AP)—Pope Pius XII apparently intends to remain in Vatican City even if Rome becomes a battleground, reports from Italy indicated today.

The pope has been continuing his usual activities, these unconfirmed advices continued, and, although the papal guard of the Holy See has been increased, the Vatican's defense remains purely symbolical as the Swiss guards are ordered never to use their rifles.

The Germans, with three divisions in Rome, have taken the Vatican "under protection," but German soldiers have not stepped inside the Catholic religious center nor has any move been taken to interfere with the pope, dispatches from Rome said.

With the war zone drawing closer to Rome, however, the Stockholm newspaper Social Demokraten said, it was learned privately that the pope had declined a German offer for a safe refuge in Liechtenstein.

Officers Tell Of Experiences In War Action

Two Howard county men, both of whom have seen lots of action under fire, were guests at the Kiwanis club Thursday and gave brief accounts of some of their experiences.

Capt. Olie Cordill, Jr., convalescing from a back injury received when his plane crashed during a take-off at a North Africa base, told of some of the 12 bombing missions which won him the air medal with Oak Leaf cluster. He related an unusual incident wherein flak hit a bomber, caused a short in a circuit which touched off the emergency bell and caused all the crew to bail out over the target area. It was a surprised captain who brought his empty ship back home, he said.

Lieut. George M. Boswell, Jr., USNR, Coahoma, who has pretty well circled the globe in his more than a year of service with the navy, gave a few glimpses of action in the invasion of North Africa on memorable "Nov. 8." From there his ship switched back across the Atlantic and through the canal for a long period of action in the Southwest Pacific, where Lieut. Boswell said matters were sufficiently interesting.

He and Mrs. Boswell are visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. G. M. Boswell, Sr., at Coahoma while he is on leave. Capt. Cordill is here with Mrs. Cordill and their son, Olie III, for a visit with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. O. D. Cordill. He is on furlough from an army hospital at McKinney, where he was returned following his injury in Africa.

Among the other guests at the meeting was Capt. H. L. Duke of the Big Spring Bombardier school.

Italian War

The Germans fought back fiercely and covered the routes of approach to their positions with machine-gun, mortar and rifle fire and a heavy concentration of shells from their bigger guns back in the hills.

But the Allied troops battled across the 100 to 200-yard river—some by swimming, some in assault boats and others in amphibious trucks.

The Germans threw their carefully hoarded fighter plane strength into the fray. One formation of 16 Messerschmitts was beaten off by Spitfires which shot down two and damaged many more.

Swarms of day and night bombers from Allied airdromes supported the great drive, hitting at communications, highways, bridges and troop concentrations and enemy airfields.

Combat engineers who went in to action with the assault forces, quickly established temporary bridges under fire as soon as infantry footholds had been gained on the north bank of the Volturno, and tanks rushed across.

These began fanning out to blast the Germans from their positions where they were still able to lash the crossings with a hurricane of steel.

The swift movement of tanks and guns prevented the Germans from sealing off the danger point and permitted the formation of a steel wedge which threatened to trap large numbers of their forces still holding the Volturno line near the river's mouth and in the corner to the east at the confluence of the Volturno and Calore.

All through yesterday and last night, the battle raged and it was the belief that the Germans would fight desperately for every foot of ground.

Here 'n There

Jetty R. Cook, son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Cook of Big Spring, has completed a course as an aviation mechanic at the Amarillo Army Air field. Cook will be stationed at some air base where he will be a mechanic on a Flying Fortress.

Word has been received here that A/C John Henry Dny, a graduate of Big Spring High school, has been transferred from Miami Beach, Fla. to Indianapolis, Ind., where he is attending Butler University. John Henry, who was a drummer in the high school band here for four years, is now a member of a 90-piece military band located where he is stationed.

The war department announced Thursday the temporary promotions of several Texas officers including James Calvin McNeill, 40 West 7th Street, Big Spring, who was promoted from second to first lieutenant.

Yeoman Vance Nichols, out of the district recruiting office on temporary assignment to the substation at San Angelo, was here briefly Thursday morning to contact applicants for enlistment in the US navy or the USNR.

Lieut. Charles L. Kee, former Big Spring resident, was graduated from advanced flying school at Douglas, Ariz. October 1. He and Mrs. Kee, the former Charleen Estes, have been visiting here with Dr. Ora Johnson. They also attended a reunion of the Kee family in Graham, and Lieut. Kee left there for his new station at Dodge City, Kans. Mrs. Kee will remain here for a visit and will join him in Dodge City, later.

THE CLUBHOUSE

By CHIP ROYAL
(P) Features Sports Editor

NEW YORK — Pull up those pot bellies—er, pardon me,—pull up your chairs around that pot-bellied stove, and we'll get down to the business of reviewing the past baseball season.

It is time to let the leaves fall where they may and select the most valuable players, gab about an all-star team, and cite those who disappointed or made good on the majors' diamonds.

As long as the National League is the senior loop, let's glance at that first. There are a lot of candidates for the most valuable player award. The Cards have two in Stanley Musial and Walker Cooper, the Reds have Estel Grubbs, the Dodgers, Billy Herman; the Pirates, Rip Sewell; the Cubs, Bill Nicholson, and so it goes down the line.

We'll take Musial, "the greatest hitter to step up in the National League," according to no less a personage than the great Dizzy Dean.

A lot of Walker Cooper fans will dispute this choice, but that's their privilege. Cooper is a whiz of a catcher and has done a lot for the Southworthmen this year, but we dread to think what would have happened if they didn't have Musial's bat.

Stan not only pounded the pill for a .357 average, but made 220 hits and scored 108 runs. He also led the league with 47 doubles and 20 triples, which you must agree is smacking that old pill.

Over in the American League, Spud Chandler of the Yanks stands head and shoulders above Rudy York of the Tigers, Luke Appling of the White Sox, Vernon Stephens of the Browns, and any others you can mention for valuable player honors.

Chandler finished the regular season with 20 wins against four losses and an earned run average of 1.67, the best hurling job in the junior circuit since 1919 when Walter Johnson went 290 innings for an e. r. a. of 1.40.

Going a little further, Spud pitched five shut-outs, nine one-run games, and didn't give an opposing team more than three runs in any one contest. He completed 20 out of 30 games and struck out 134 enemy batters.

Try to find an American League player who helped his team more than Chandler!

The all-star team selected from players of both leagues is next. Here it is:

Their records speak for themselves. The hardest choices to make were Wakefield over Doc Cramer of the Tigers and Vince DiMaggio of the Pirates; and Appling over Arky Vaughan of the Dodgers.

Getting down to the rookie of the year, Johnson is so far ahead of Wakefield, Ed Stanky of the Cubs, Lou Klein of the Cards, Ralph Hodgins and Guy Curtright of the White Sox that there are no comparisons.

The Yankees, from owner Ed Barrow right down to Pat O'Doherty, the bat boy, can't say enough about the capabilities of Johnson. They already are calling the youngster one of the greatest third sackers to wear a Yankee shirt—and don't forget they had Bob Muesel, Joe Dugan and Red Rolfe.

Bill has the finest arm of any infielder in the majors, he goes far and wide around the hot corner, and his bat has been pounding home a lot of runs. Add a swell disposition and a desire to be a really great ball player and you know why he will be one.

Scores Of Cattle Brands Registered

Of the many cattle brands registered with the county clerk's office here, between 50 and 75 of them have been renewed since October 1st, Lee Porter, county clerk, said Thursday.

However, according to the statute which was received recently by the office, cattle owners have two years in which to re-register their brands before they become obsolete.

This law was recently enacted by the legislature and requires the registration of all brands since many now carried on the books have been discontinued or owners have gone out of business.

Slow Death Of Nazi Air Force Demonstrated

By HAL BOYLE
CAPODICCHINO AIRFIELD, Italy, Oct. 8 (Delayed) (P)—The German air force is slowly dying month by month, week by week, day by day, and when you inspect a once-great axis air base such as Capodichino you readily see how its nests are being blasted from it one after another by the never-ceasing pounding of allied bombers and fighters.

The grass grows high on Capodichino field. It has met the same fate that befell El Aouana and Sidi Ahmed fields at Tunis and Biserte in Tunisia, and Comiso and Castelvetrano in Sicily. It has undergone the same systematic pattern of destruction, a pattern German air power never has been able to break.

I drove around the great field which lies just outside Naples, and counted more than 100 wrecks of German and Italian airplanes scattered around the green area. They had been shattered by 'frag' bombs dropped by Flying Fortresses and other bombers, or riddled by incendiary bullets from low-flying fighter-bombers.

The planes were of all types. Ruined German fighters stood by ruined German bombers. Several great six-motored transports had been caught on the field and burned. Of one there was little left, but its skeleton framework looked like the bones of a pre-historic monster and the wind blew through it with a melancholy moan.

One Bunch Of Japs Glad To Surrender

A U. S. TORPEDO BOAT BASE, New Georgia, Solomon Islands, Oct. 12 (Delayed) (P)—Capture of the largest group of Japanese naval personnel ever taken out of the water as prisoners in this war was described today by American naval officers who said the hardest part of their job was in keeping the enemy from swarming in to rescue boats faster than they could be handled.

"If you think the Japanese never surrender you should have seen these," said a PT section leader who directed the rescue, Lt. (j.g.) R. E. Kersey, Montclair, N. J.

Several scores of Japanese were captured by four PT boats. The Japanese were survivors of the Vella Gulf naval battle on the night of Oct. 10 when American destroyers sank one enemy cruiser and two destroyers.

Vealmoor Boy's Pig Is Winner In Local Show

Julian Ray Holsager, 4-H club boy from Vealmoor, Thursday morning was adjudged to have the best of nine Duroc pigs entered in the Sears-Roebuck sponsored show here and was presented with a Jersey heifer.

His Golden May 1st, an eight months gilt, was selected above seven other gilts and a boar by E. M. Regenbrecht, Texas A. & M. extension service swine husbandman.

Second place (along with 100 baby chicks) went to Donald Spencer, Gay Hill club boy, for his Golden Belle, which happened to be the youngest gilt in the group distributed to the boys on the basis of essays submitted last spring. Lawson V. Owens, also of Vealmoor, ranked third with his gilt, Golden Rose Bud, and received a certificate for 75 baby chicks.

Fifty chicks went to Steve E. Gay, Garner, Ray Smith, Vealmoor, Fred Phillips, Moore, Harold K. Simpson, Gay Hill, Oral Cates Zant, Vealmoor, and to Max Zant, who had the boar.

Glasscock county lads exhibited 16 Hampshire pigs one boar and three gilts, and drew down county prizes from the sponsor.

Here for the show were Regenbrecht, J. D. Prewitt, district extension service agent, L. L. Johnson, State Boys Club Agent, O. P. Griffin, Howard county agent, and Berry Duff, Glasscock county agent. Mrs. Arvie Webber, local manager, represented the sponsor.

Band Queen Contest Nearing A Climax

Slogans and programs were being peddled around town with a fury Thursday as the annual election of a high school band queen moved down into the short rows.

Candidates, nominated by the various classes, are: Jackie Raynor, seniors; Marilyn Keaton, juniors; Cecilia Long, sophomores; Mary Louise Davis, freshman.

Votes are determined on the basis of one ballot for each penny from the sale of either the football slogan tags or programs for the Big Spring-Lamesa game Friday evening.

The contest, said Band Director Dan Conley, will close as 5:30 p. m. Friday and the new queen will be presented in a special ceremony at half time at the game, while starts at 8 p. m. The band has drilled on some special formations to be used prior to the actual presentation of the queen.

Soil Conservation Applications Sent To State Office

Around 200 applications for Soil Conservation Payments have been sent to the state office of AAA at College Station, the local office announced Thursday. These will be certified for payment to the treasury department after audit.

Due to shortage of office workers in the state office, it has requested each AAA branch to send its applications into them a few at a time. The local office has around 720 more signed applications ready for shipment to College Station.

Farmers will receive their checks directly from the treasury department when audit is completed.

Belgrade Made Headquarters For Germans

By LYNN HEINZERLING
CAIRO, Oct. 14 (P)—The Germans have established new general headquarters for the Balkans in Belgrade with Field Marshal Baron Maximilian von Weichs as supreme commander and a large staff of generals and other high officers under him, Yugoslavs said today.

The old Yugoslav army barracks, not destroyed by the German bombardments of Belgrade in 1941, are now packed with German troops and two national parks, Topchider and Kochutnjak, near the capital have been turned into military camps.

German troops are reported flowing through Belgrade unimpeded to reinforce the Nazi forces in Bulgaria and Greece.

Yugoslav government spokesmen here said the Germans have turned the Yugoslavs out of the finest residential districts in Belgrade, including the Frankopanova and Miljocha Velikog streets, to make room for the influx of staff officers.

Italy Put In New Classification As 'Co-Belligerent'

WASHINGTON, Oct. 14 (AP)—President Roosevelt, Prime Minister Churchill and Premier Stalin have created a new pigeonhole for Italy in the categories of international law.

Exact definition of "co-belligerency" of a defeated nation with its conquerors has the lawyers stumped.

The Allied announcement of Italy's declaration of war against Germany emphasized that the armistice terms imposed when Italy capitulated to the allies would in no way be affected.

What "co-belligerency" means, then, depends on whatever the allies intend it to mean.

Strictly speaking, Italy is neither an ally, an enemy nor a neutral, but relations with that nation are on a purely military rather than diplomatic basis.

Italy's new status apparently has no effect on Italian prisoners in the United States, England and Russia. Only a change in armistice terms can alter their position.

"Co-belligerency" makes it possible, however, for Italians free at the time of the armistice to fight alongside the allies.

Half Of September Arrests Made For Drunkenness

Police made a total of 101 arrests during September and half of them resulted from drunkenness, monthly reports from Police Chief J. B. Burton show.

There were 47 fines assessed for drunkenness, while another paid a $50 fine for dangerous driving (a mild form of drunk driving so far as the city is concerned), two were transferred to the county for trial on drunk driving, and two were cleared of drunkenness. Unlawful train riding netted 22 arrests.

Vagrancy ranked next with five arrests, and in each case these were either checked or treated at the general disease clinic. Two were picked up for being AWOL, and two others were investigated for draft status. Three persons were transferred to the sheriff here, and nine others to either civilian and military authorities.

Interesting was the fact that the police gave information and assistance in 265 instances, made 177 investigations. During the month they had to lock two doors for business houses—a near record. The police radio handled 1,100 local calls, received 242 from other points and dispatched 94. There were 17 new traffic tickets for the month and the active file increase from 13 to 19 at the end of the month.

Without Painful Backache

Many sufferers relieve nagging backaches quickly, once they discover that the real cause of their trouble may be tired kidneys. The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking the excess acids and waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 3 pints a day.

When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may cause nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or noisy passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

Groehl Honored For War Work

TED O. GROEHL

Ted O. Groehl, who served as chairman of the Third War Loan forces in Howard county, was honored Wednesday by the Lions club as the "Lion who had done most during the month of September to promote the national war effort."

The presentation of a certificate was made by Joe Pond, a past district governor. Groehl's name automatically is entered in a statewide Lions contest.

After Dr. C. W. Deats had read a brief history of the Lions club and Lions International, Boone Home inducted four men into the club. They were Joe Blum, Britie Cox, Carl W. Smith and Marvin Miller, the latter in reality a transfer from the Graham club.

Letters from the club to be enclosed in packages to members overseas were circulated for signatures.

Bond Purchase Reduces City's Cash Balance

The City of Big Spring today carries only a cash balance of $22,577.62 in its general fund, the lowest in more than three years.

This, however, is due to a $50,000 purchase of war bonds late in September, a development which cut the balance sharply. Receipts for September were $26,364 but disbursements, including the bond purchase, stood at $68,818. Expenditures of $4,630 whittled the balance of the interest and sinking fund to $6,311 and the swimming pool fund dropped to $1,772 with a $1,250 expenditure. Other balances for the cemetery, swimming bond fund, airport bond and water and sewer bond fund ran the overall balance to $43,265. Total of all disbursements for September was $74,941.

Other figures in the monthly reports were complete through August only in keeping with the city's cost-accounting system. The report showed a total of $14,767 billed to water consumers during August, which was $1220 less than for July and $1,610 less than August of last year.

Ad-Valorem taxes collected during August amounted to $985. For the first five months of the fiscal year revenues amounted to $103,996, including $74,000 from water service, $4,700 from sewer service, $8,600 from gas and electric franchises, and $3,100 from fines and court costs. Disbursements for the same period (which does not include September) amount to $84,932.

69 Texas Women Are Inducted Into WAC

AUSTIN, Oct. 14 (AP)—En route to Fort Oglethorpe, Ga., today were 69 new Texas members of the U.S. Women's Army Corps, inducted at a ceremony on the steps of the state capitol yesterday.

Recruited in a campaign to enroll 3,500 Texas women for the WAC, the 69 who took their oaths here were told by State Adjutant General A. R. Knickerbocker that all Texas would be watching their progress.

Penicillin Gets Good Results As Syphilis Cure

By HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE
Associated Press Science Editor

NEW YORK, Oct. 14—The use of penicillin to treat four cases of early syphilis, the first time this new drug has been reported for syphilis, was announced to the American Public Health association today.

The treatment was for eight days only. Now after four months the Wasserman and six other tests for syphilis are completely negative on three of the men, and the fourth has a doubtful reaction which may not mean the presence of syphilis.

The penicillin treatment was completely harmless to the men. Arsenic, the standard syphilis treatment, may make patients sick, and when given in the new five-day treatment has caused a number of deaths.

The report was made by John F. Mahoney, M.D., R. C. Arnold, M.D., and Ad Harris, of the venereal disease research laboratory, U. S. Marine Hospital, Staten Island, N. Y.

Dr. Mahoney said the penicillin was first tried on syphilis in rabbits. It apparently cured them. But a year must elapse before certainty in these animal tests. So as a human pilot experiment to guide the animal experimenters, four men were selected for penicillin, given intramuscularly, and with no other syphilis treatment. Eight days was fixed by guess as a good length of time.

Truck Drivers End Strike Temporarily

ATLANTA, Oct. 14 (AP)—Nearly all of the 8,500 striking truck drivers in six southern states returned to their jobs today, but the vote to go back, a Memphis union spokesman said, was coupled with a notice to strike if the War Labor Board does not take action on their raise request in 30 days.

John L. Bigger, president of the Memphis local of the Teamsters, Chauffeurs, Warehousemen and Helpers (AFL), said the week-long stoppage just ended was unauthorized, and the union now was notifying truck line operators of the strike intention.

This 30-day notice is required under the Smith-Connelly act. Bigger said the strike notice was planned to apply to locals in Atlanta, Nashville, Birmingham, New Orleans, Memphis, Mobile and St. Louis.

Soldier Must Hang For Slaying Texan

FORT SILL, Okla., Oct. 14 (AP)—Harry R. Bever, 26, was sentenced to death by hanging last night by a court martial of 11 officers which convicted him of killing Clint C. Wood, an Amarillo, Texas, cafe operator, and also of desertion from the army.

Bever was charged with murdering Wood at the latter's Amarillo home after deserting the army. The case now will go to the Eighth Service Command at Dallas, Texas, for review, then to the adjutant general's office in Washington, D. C., and to the president.

New Appeal Is Made To Trim Gasoline Use

Daily increasing activities by American and other United Nations armed forces on battlefronts and the ever increasing problems of supplying greater amounts of gasoline and oil to our fighters were emphasized by Director Howard R. Gholson of the Lubbock district OPA in a renewed plea to motorists to cut nonessential driving to a minimum.

"It is easy to say that none of us begrudges our fighters one ounce of gasoline and oil used to bear the enemy down," Gholson said, "but it appears that too many of us are not applying this war program to ourselves. Many of us say its all right for the other fellow to cut down on gas consumption, but not ourselves, when as a matter of fact we all need to shoulder this responsibility together."

The director reported that the problem of gasoline supply for civilian motorists was growing more critical daily and there were no immediate prospects for an improved situation. The armed forces are consuming 1,000,000 barrels of gasoline daily on 43 battlefronts. Each month the OPA is assigned a quota of gasoline for passenger car driving and non-highway money realized from the sale of Conservation of Gasoline is necessary to bring the amount of gasoline used for civilian purposes within the amount now available.

Farmers and other non-highway users are urged to reduce their consumption to only that most essential. According to Gholson, "The whole basic oil supply situation is critical and will become more so as our fighting forces gather strength for heavier blows against the enemy on the ever increasing war fronts scattered over the world."

1-8 teaspoon paprika
2 cups boiled noodles
Melt margarine in double boiler, add flour and blend. Pour in milk and cook until creamy sauce forms. Stir frequently. Add fish, vegetables, olives and seasonings. Cook 5 minutes. Pour over hot noodles.

Autumn Fruit Mold
1 package lemon or cherry gelatin
1 cup boiling water
2-3 cup grape juice
2 tablespoons orange juice
1-2 cup sliced oranges
1-3 cup seeded grapes
1-4 teaspoon grated lemon rind
Speck salt
Dissolve gelatin in water. Add grape juice and cool. Chill until partly thick and add rest of ingredients. Pour into mold and chill until firm. Serve unmolded, plain or with cream.

Protection Against Disease
A child may be subject to congenital, nutritional or communicable disease. A prenatal blood test will help to protect him against congenital disease. A proper and well-balanced diet will protect him against nutritional disease. Against communicable disease, avoidance of exposure is very important. Keep the child away from persons with colds or other communicable diseases. Young children should be kept away from crowded places.

There are specific methods of protection against a few diseases. Every child should be immunized against smallpox and diphtheria. In these days of rapid and wide-spread travel, a person may be exposed to smallpox in one place and come down with it in another community. Thus your child may be exposed to the disease at an unexpected time or place. Vaccination against smallpox is simple; but remember that the disease is serious and disfiguring. A child should be vaccinated any time between 3 and 12 months. It should be repeated at 6 and 12 years of age.

Diphtheria is another serious disease against which special protection can be given. Immunization with toxoid is done between 9 and 18 months. The Schick test may be done 6 months after the last injection of toxoid; it determines if the child has developed adequate protection against diphtheria.

Many doctors recommend that inoculations to help immunize the child against whooping cough be given at 8 months or at any subsequent time. Typhoid fever vaccine may be given after the age of 2 years, whenever and wherever the need may arise for its use.

A tuberculin test may be done at 3 years of age and possibly every third year thereafter up to the eighteenth year. This test indicates the presence or absence of tuberculous germs in the body. The family physician is the proper person to consult regarding these procedures. A particle of protection is certainly worth a pound of cure where smallpox, diphtheria, whooping cough and typhoid fever are concerned.

Inexperience In Capital Positions Draws Criticism

WASHINGTON, Oct. 14 (AP)—A congressional committee charged Wednesday that "inexperienced youngsters" holding some of the top personnel jobs in Washington "constitute a real bottleneck to the government's war effort."

The youthful executives lack "the experience and tact" necessary in top-notch management officials," declared the house civil service committee headed by Rep. Ramspeck of Georgia, the democratic whip.

Experienced executives "have been turned down completely or ignored by these younger personnel officers," the report added.

Other findings in the committee's unfinished investigation of federal jobholders:

Government workers are "blowing up" their own descriptions of their jobs and getting salary hikes ranging from $600 to $1200 a year for doing practically the same work.

Some administrators build up "personal machines" of friends on the payroll who move with them from job to job.

"The bald fact is—the uncoordinated departments of the executive branch of the federal government lack an over-all, centralized authority with powers of management control," the committee said. "Until this situation is corrected the taxpayers can expect a continuance of needless hiring and duplication of effort."

Labor Transfers, Particularly Farm Workers, Tightened By WMC

Agricultural workers attempting to enter non-essential or essential industry will find it increasingly difficult to do so under the new War Manpower Commission stabilization plan which takes effect in this area Friday midnight.

The plan proposes stabilization of employment by controls to eliminate wasteful turnover of labor, reduction of unnecessary labor migration, and the direction of workers where most needed in the war program, according to E. C. Logsdon, Abilene, area director of the WMC.

No restriction is placed upon a worker leaving any industry for agricultural work; however, the agricultural worker attempting to enter non-agricultural work will require a statement of availability issued by the WMC only after approval from the county agent.

Nothing in the plan restricts a farm worker from changing from one agricultural employer to another, except where his deferment is contingent upon work with a specific employer. Local employers will be encouraged to hire farm workers for temporary jobs during their idle seasons.

Restrictions on job transfers by workers in non-agricultural pursuits have been greatly tightened. A worker who has been engaged in an essential activity may be hired by an essential employer upon presentation of a statement by the US Employment Service.

A less essential employer may not hire a worker who has been under an essential employer except upon referral or by consent of the USES, but this does not apply for hiring for part time employment of less than seven days duration.

A worker who has lived in the locality the past 30 days and who has not been employed in essential activity during the preceding 60 days may be hired by any employer without re-

SAUERKRAUT
10 lbs. cabbage 1/2 lb. (1/2 cup) salt
Select firm, sound, mature heads of cabbage. Remove outer leaves; wash well. Quarter, remove core, and slice very fine. Put 3 lbs. (about 7 1/2 cts.) shredded cabbage in a pan, add 2 oz. (1/2 lb.) salt and mix with hands. Place in deep crock or tight wooden keg and stamp down firmly with wooden masher to extract juice and force out air. Repeat until all cabbage is used. Press down, cover with a clean white cloth, then with a plate or round wooden board shall enough to fit down inside crock, and weight down with a clean rock or brick to keep cabbage covered with brine that forms as salt draws juice from cabbage. Keep in a warm place, 75° to 85° F. Inspect each day, remove scum with spoon, and rinse cloth in clear water.
The kraut will be fermented or "cured" in 10 to 20 days, depending upon the amount of cabbage and the temperature at which it is kept. Its appearance and taste will tell you when it is sufficiently cured.
Kraut may be left in the crock or keg all winter, in a cold cellar or basement, if care is taken to remove any scum that forms; or it may be canned any time from 1 to 3 months after fermentation is completed. Simply drain off juice, pack and heat into hot sterilized jars to 1/2 inch from top; heat jars to boiling, pour over kraut, seal and store in cool dark place. Do not process.
TO MAKE KRAUT IN JARS
Mix shredded cabbage with salt, using 1/2 c. salt per 10 lbs. cabbage. Pack into clean jars, fill with cold water, adjust covers tight, and ferment where it will keep comfortably warm and where possible overflow of liquid will do no harm. If scum forms remove it. The kraut will ferment for a few days, and will be ready to use in a month. At that time, drain off juice, heat to boiling, pour over kraut again, and seal tight. Do not process.

Prisoners Being Stationed At Texas Camps

DALLAS, Oct. 14 (AP) — Hundreds of German and Italian prisoners of war will be moved within the next ten days into military posts for temporary labor, the Eighth Service Command announced.

The prisoners, now stationed at permanent prisoner camps in the command, will be paid the established rate of 50 cents per day for work which in keeping with provisions of the Geneva Convention which forbids use of war prisoners in activities directly supporting the war effort, the command said yesterday. They will be used as carpenters, painters, automotive mechanics, masons, in various other types of work and in mosquito control and drainage.

Italian prisoners will be sent to Fort Bliss, El Paso, Tex., German prisoners will be moved to these other posts: Camp Wallace, Galveston, Tex.; Camp Berkeley, Abilene, Tex.; Camp Wolters, Mineral Wells, Tex.; Fort Sam Houston, San Antonio, Tex.; Fort Sill, Okla., and Camp Claiborne, La.

BASE IN WEBB COUNTY
WASHINGTON, Oct. 14 (AP) — The war department has announced that a contract for construction costing more than $1,000,000 at an air forces installation in Webb county has been awarded to H. B. Zachry of San Antonio. The work will be supervised by the San Antonio district army engineers.

Proof of the PUDDING

GRAPE JUICE SPONGE: Company pudding.

By MRS. ALEXANDER GEORGE, AP Food Editor

Now that crisp appetite-stimulating fall weather is here again, desserts can become heavier and richer. Which reminds us that molasses, a sturdy favorite in grandmother's time, is on the wartime preferred food list. It is a splendid and easily obtainable source of iron, has good keeping qualities and is flavorful and economical.

One of the better autumn desserts is NEW ENGLAND INDIAN PUDDING, packed with minerals and vitamins and on the thrifty side. It can follow a thick soup or scrambled egg main course. This dessert will practically carry the meal. Pour 4 cups hot milk over 1-3 cup cornmeal placed in double boiler. Add 1 teaspoon salt and cook, covered for 30 minutes, over low heat. Stir frequently. Add 1-2 cup molasses, 1-4 teaspoon cinnamon, 1-8 teaspoon ginger and 2 tablespoons butter or margarine. Bake 2 hours in greased, baking dish in a slow oven (300). The secret of the goodness of this pudding lies in the long, slow baking mixture thickens and is almost set, beat with wire whisk or spoon until frothy. Fold in stiffly beaten egg whites. Turn into one large or individual molds that have been rinsed out in cold water first, and chill until firm. May be piled directly into dessert dishes, if desired. In this case, it is not necessary to unmold. Serve with cream or a custard sauce made of egg yolks.

New Englanders often like to serve their Indian Pudding hot, topped with vanilla ice cream. Plain cream will do, however.

RICE FIG PUDDING appeals to all ages and is another substantial, slow-cooking dessert suggested for chilly days. Cook 1-3 cup rice with 2 cups milk and 1-2 teaspoon salt for an hour in covered double boiler set over low heat. Stir several times with fork. Add 3 tablespoons sugar, 1-4 teaspoon nutmeg, 1-2 cup figs (or dates or currants) and 1 tablespoon butter or margarine. Mix and stir in 1 teaspoon vanilla and 1-2 teaspoon grated lemon rind. Bake 50 minutes in greased baking dish in slow oven. Serve warm or chilled with cream or fruit sauce.

Another pudding filled with fall goodness is SURPRISE BETTY. Mix together 1-2 cups cubed bread, 4 tablespoons butter or margarine (melted), 2-1-2 cups sliced apples, 2 tablespoons molasses, 1-4 cup sugar, 1 teaspoon cinnamon, 1-4 teaspoon each of cloves, salt and grated lemon rind and 1-3 cup orange juice. Bake an hour in covered baking dish in moderate oven. Uncover the last 10 minutes to brown the top. Serve warm with cream, hard or lemon sauce.

BAKED FIG PUDDING is tasty and inexpensive. Mix together 2 cups flour, 1 teaspoon baking powder, 1-2 teaspoon soda, 1-2 teaspoon each of cinnamon, mace, nutmeg, salt and grated lemon rind. Add 1 egg, 1-3 cup sugar, 2-3 cup chopped cooking figs, 1-2 cup sour milk or buttermilk and 4 tablespoons melted shortening. Bake 45 minutes in waxed paper lined shallow pan in a moderately slow oven—about 325. Or bake an hour in a paper lined loaf pan. This pudding is best served warm with fruit or hard sauce.

Steamed puddings require little watching excepting to see that there is enough hot water in the steamer. DUCHESS PUDDING will give an interesting nutritious sign off to a fall dinner. Mix together 1 cup flour, 1-2 teaspoons baking powder, 1 teaspoon soda, 1 teaspoon salt, 2-3 teaspoon cinnamon, 1-3 teaspoon nutmeg, 1-4 teaspoon cloves, 2-3 cup sugar, 2-3 cup dropped suet, 1 cup raisins or currants or figs and 1 cup each grated raw carrots and potatoes, 2-3 cup milk and 2 tablespoons melted shortening. Steam for 3 hours in a greased, covered mold. Serve hot with fruit or lemon sauce.

Only $120 Fire Loss During Past Month

Big Spring got off comparatively light in fire losses during September, reports from City Fire Marshall J. D. Stenbridge show. In all there were seven blazes, two of them in dwellings, two were in other type structures, and the remaining were trash fires. Of a combined value of $4,000 on building and contents involved, the insured loss was only $120.

Stenbridge listed causes as follows: Defective stove connection, rubbish-trash fires (4), ignition of cleaning material, and cigarette on mattress.

Of every 1,000 soldiers in the Army Air Forces, 50 are airplane armorers and 12 are sheet metal workers.

A plastic insole has been developed for U. S. jungle fighters which keeps soldier's feet dry and can be washed with soap and water.

Here's a non-rattled food chock-full of home-spun, hearty flavor—lasting nourishment—and the Scotchman's idea of thriffliness! National 3-Minute Oats is an "all family" breakfast—quick and easy to prepare. Experts recommend a hot cereal. Serve this one tomorrow and often!

Lamofilm

3 PLY PACKAGE Sealed with Rubber!

Admiration's Lamofilm package is no hastily contrived wartime substitute. It's a special coffee container, scientifically designed to preserve the freshness—and therefore the aroma and flavor—of freshly-ground coffee. The inner-liner of the package is made of two sheets of grease and moisture proof paper, bonded together by a patented, rubberized cohesive. Hold a piece of the liner briefly over a match and you'll see. The lithographed paper bag which holds the liner gives added protection, strength—and a third "ply". Thus Admiration comes in three-bags-in-one. But that's not all. These are wrapped and heat sealed in moisture proof cellophane—still another protection. When you open your package of Admiration and you gather in that first, wonderful whiff of aroma—you'll understand what a really revolutionary development the Lamofilm package is. Buy it and save the difference.

Amarillo Carries Staunch Record Against Norman

By The Associated Press

There are plenty of important games along the Texas schoolboy football front this week but the top battle is one that means nothing in a championship way—Amarillo vs. Norman, Okla.

But this game will mean a lot in sectional pride and in showing if all's true that's been said about the Golden Sandies.

Back in 1935 Norman beat Amarillo in Amarillo to break the tradition of Butler field: No Sandie eleven had been defeated on that field since it was installed until the Oklahomaans did it.

Norman returns with one of the finest schoolboy teams in the southwest. It beat Waco last week on two long runs by a lad named Bill Remy. Amarillo has been touted as the No. 1 Texas team all season. Now it's the showdown.

Elsewhere in the state conference games take the spotlight. Five districts feature clashes between teams unbeaten in title play. District 2 has Quannah clashing with Vernon. District 7 has Poly (Fort Worth) meeting Fort Worth Tech. District 11 has the Kilgore-Marshall scrap. District 13 sends Kerrville against Brackenridge (San Antonio) and District 14 features the Harlingen-Edinburg struggle.

District 9 has twice-winner Stephenville marching against Breckenridge, the favorite. District 10 opens full blast with Waco at Corsicana and Temple at Cleburne in the upper bracket's first conference struggles. And so on.

There are 53 games in the state, 35 of them conference affairs.

The complete schedule by districts:

- 1—Friday: Norman, Okla., at Amarillo, Phillips at Pampa, Midland at Plainview, Brownfield at Levelland.
- 2—Friday: Electra at Wichita Falls (conference), Quannah at Vernon (conference), Graham at Childress (conference).

Well Known Golf Pro Expires In Scotland

EDINBURGH, Scotland, Oct. 14 (AP)—Peter Robertson, 62, internationally famous golf professional, died at his home here, it was announced today.

Robertson was professional champion of Scotland in 1921 and 1924 and the only player who shot a two on the famous "road hole"—the 17th—at St. Andrew's.

Starting With One, Then Two, Three, Etc.

TULSA, Okla., Oct. 14 (AP)—Golfer Morgan Jones shot an ace on the 130-yard no. 14 hole.

Five others in the party followed in order—and took two, three, four, five and six strokes.

Jones was the high man for the round with 82—and the Golfer who took six shots on the 14th won with a 73.

Meyer Voices Great Respect For A&M Club

FORT WORTH, Oct. 14 (AP)—Leo (Dutch) Meyer, to whom hedging is something you have around the yard, has put himself on the spot with this comment about the football joust scheduled here Saturday between his Texas Christian Horned Frogs and the Texas Aggies.

"The team that wins this game will win the Southwest conference championship."

Now, it's a safe bet that university of Texas football players and fans won't like that. Texas has been going along feeling it was favored for the title, since most everybody has said so. Yet here Coach Meyer in one sentence eliminates the Longhorns.

At least, that's the way Texas fans undoubtedly will construe the words. If the winner of the Aggie-T. C. U. game will be champion, it's a reasonable assumption that Meyer thinks that team will beat Texas out since Texas has yet to play Aggies and Frogs.

Of course, should A. and M. win over T. C. U., Texas fans couldn't be throwing Meyer's words back at him because there hasn't been any such comment from Aggie coaches.

In fact, Meyer gives his Frogs only a fighting chance.

"I've had a headache since I saw that game at Baton Rouge," he said of his scouting trip to watch A. and M. beat Louisiana State last week. "The Aggies are much better than I expected them to be. The 28-13 score doesn't tell the real story of how badly they whipped the Tigers. It could have been 40 to 0."

He added that the Aggies are in superb condition, imbued with a great spirit, exceptionally fast and agile and "each one was a well-coached high school star and under the able handling of the A. and M. coaching staff those boys have quickly attained surprising team play."

Of T. C. U.'s chances to win he commented: "We have more experience and if we use it we can overcome the greater manpower and natural ability of the Aggies."

Yearlings Take On Hermleigh This Evening

Victorious in their initial start last week against the Midland Bumpus, whom they humbled by a 15-7 count, the Big Spring Yearlings will entertain the Hermleigh football team at 8 o'clock this evening under Steer stadium lights.

The Hermleigh team is a super-dark horse as far as the Yearlings, junior team are concerned. Whether Coach Bishop has much is not known, but the only advance reports indicates he has one powerful lad who alone is capable of making plenty of trouble for the Yearlings this evening.

All the Yearlings are in fine shape, including Ed McClaren, who ran no less than 75 yards for the first score against Midland, and Jackie Barron, the team's passer who tossed to Darrell Douglass, Jr. for a 20-yard touchdown.

Wayne Matthews, coach of the Yearlings, said starters would be: Joe Bruce Cunningham (72) and Darrell D. Douglass (31) on right and left end, respectively; J. Harris (10) and Ray McMillan (70) at tackles; Harry Middleton (62) and Ike Robb (41), guards; Ladd Smith, center; Robert Miller (11), Nathan Richardson (52), Jackie Barron (22) and Ed McClaren (71), backs.

Prices for the tilt will be 10 cents for children and students and 25 for adults.

SPORTS ROUNDUP

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.

NEW YORK, Oct. 14 (AP)—Now is the time to begin revising your football dope sheets. . . . After Saturday the old ones won't be much good. Reason: The term is about to end for navy and marine trainees and by Nov. 1 a lot of them will be missing from the colleges squads and a lot of V-12 "freshmen" will become eligible. For example, Joe (Fordham) Andrejco played his final game for Dartmouth last Saturday, Angelo Bertelli will finish his tour at Notre Dame with the Navy game Oct. 30 and Herman Wedemeyer, the Hawaiian sensation at St. Mary's, is expecting his draft call any day. . . . Princeton (if anybody cares) left two of the season's best Saturdays open because the sailors will be too busy with studies to bother about football.

LADIES' DAY

Ray Dumont, the semi-pro baseball solon, reports he has discovered a first class swump (woman umpire) in Toronto recently and signed her to officiate in the Canada - United States sandlot world series next August. . . . She's Bobbie Rosenfield, former Olympic athlete and now a Toronto sports writer, who brought down the house in the 1943 Canadian sandlot championships by tossing a player out of a game merely for cursing out one of his own team. . . . She'd never get by with that in Brooklyn.

QUOTE, UNQUOTE

Herman Hickman, former Tennessee all-America tackle now coaching the Army line: "If you don't think Duke can give you the acid test, you ought to play against them for seven or eight or ten years."

Tom Kuzma and Julius Franks, co-stars at Michigan last season, are in the same ward at the university hospital recovering from a lung ailment. They share a radio listening to this year's games. Gene Barzen doesn't think there's much chance that five-year-old Gene, Jr., ever will be a top rank golfer. Says Gene: "He's left-handed, cross-handed and doesn't give a hoot for a golf club."

TAAF Tournaments May Be Revived

HOUSTON, Oct. 14 (AP)—John F. Reilly, Houston's superintendent of recreation, says most members of the Texas Amateur Athletic Federation favors reviving major TAAF sports tournaments next year and that such plans will be studied at the annual meeting here Friday and Saturday.

The TAAF voted last year to discontinue all state tournaments for the duration. Reilly said a program to stress athletics among boys to help combat juvenile delinquency also will be pushed.

Sandlot Baseball Is Shy Of Umpires

CHICAGO, Oct. 14 (AP)—The nation's sandlot baseball is confronted with a manpower shortage—not players, but umpires, says President Ray Dumont of the National Baseball Congress.

After he told congress directors yesterday that sandlot baseball would have a shortage of 2,500 umpires next year they approved sponsorship of a free course of instruction in umpiring. Those qualifying will be accepted as officials in leagues and tournaments.

Arkansas A&M Pictures Self In Big-Time

MONTICELLO, Ark., Oct. 14 (AP)—Little Monticello A. and M. College is flabbergasted over its football fortunes this year.

The 1943 team, bolstered by Navy-Marine trainees, walloped Arkansas University of the Southwest conference, 20 to 12, last Saturday—a feat no A. and M. student ever contemplated.

Big-time ideas already are buzzing in the heads of students who used to be willing to play anybody anywhere and take any kind of a licking just for the fun of it.

Since 1935 Bollweevil teams had a grand time going from coast to coast, playing setups with the "we gotta win" schools and charging off a season of defeats to publicity, amusement and travel.

If the Weevils can lick Fort Knox, Ky., at Memphis this Saturday, it will be two wins in a row. There's nothing in recent A. and M. records to match that.

Along with transferred football talent from Southern Methodist, Texas Aggies, Oklahoma A. and M., Arkansas University and other schools, there's a suspicion that some kind of coaching is going on.

"Things seem to be mighty changed around here now," said College President Marvin Bankston, "but I can't tell you much about it because it's a military secret."

Before the war, faculty member Stewart A. Ferguson, now in the navy, accepted the nominal title of coach on condition that he wouldn't be paid, wouldn't have to win any games and wouldn't have to take any advice.

Under the Ferguson system two co-captains took charge, the squad fixed its own training rules, worked out its own plays and executed them. The wandering Weevils usually put on a good show.

Once in New Jersey an opposing coach felt sorry for the team and gave it a pep talk before the game.

Schlitz Adds To Lead In League

The Schlitz Beer Kegglades picked up some of their old steam Wednesday evening and gained a game in the Women's Bowling league by virtue of a 3-0 conquest of the challenging Hesters Office Supply.

In other games, all decided by a 2-1 count, Cosden turned back Club Cafe, J. & L. beat Settles Beauty, and Swartz handled Texas Electric Service.

Schlitz had the high game for the evening at 704, and high series at 2008, while Olive Cauble Swartz, ranked high for individual series with 425 and Wanda Griffith of J. & L. was top on game with 179.

Nix And Stroube Remain Favorites In Senior Tourney

SAN ANTONIO, Oct. 14 (AP)—Defending champion R. H. Nix of Dallas and medalist H. R. Stroube of Corsicana remained favorites as they went into today's second round matches of the Texas senior golf tournament.

Both won handily in yesterday's first round play, Nix defeating W. T. Procter of Corsicana, 5 and 4; and Stroube eliminating Gabe Allen of Dallas, 2 and 1.

In other top matches, Billy Hunt of Houston defeated Bob Houghs of Lufkin, 6 and 5; and John Jester of Dallas whipped Clyde Cunningham of Houston 4 and 3.

NAMED HEAD COACH

FORT WORTH, Oct. 14 (AP)—Charles Turner, assistant coach at Paschal high school, has been named head coach to succeed P. B. Stovall, who leaves this week to join the navy.

Steers Promise To Be 'Tough' For Lamesans

The Steers are going out to win one for the fans Friday evening in a fitting answer to a move to make the occasion of the Lamesa Tornado game "Steer loyalty night."

While they all were exerting enough effort that it was difficult for even the coach to single out any boys who showed up exceptionally well, the general picture was one of "saltiness." Coach John Dibrell admitted that his youngsters were apt to be rougher than at any time thus far in the season.

Another thing in favor of the Big Spring boys is the fact that Dibrell may get to start his regular line-up. That means that Herman Morgan, out from the Odessa game last week with a bruised knee, is ready. Dibrell warned, however, that he might not take the risk, but if Morgan continues to look as good as he had the past few days he will start out and play most of the game.

If he is out, Tommy Clinkscales may go into his guard slot. Tippy Anderson may play some too, or Lee Christian could be shifted in from tackle and Billy Underhill plugged in his place.

Wednesday the boys had a long session minus contact work. There was a spirited period of dummy scrimmage, and the line concentrated on blocking for form while the backs brushed up their timing of plays. All in all, the lads were looking considerably better.

Leo Rusk, burly quarterback, was getting better distance with his kicks and possibly getting them off a fraction quicker. Also, the line and backs were doing better checking, thus giving Rusk—or Pete Cook—more time to kick.

Bobby Barron was showing still further improvement with his passing—but the ends and backs were not keeping pace with their snagging. In fact, this appeared to be one of the weaknesses of the overhead game. More time was spent Wednesday in affording Barron protection, for thus far the only thing that seems to have thrown his aim way off is the fact he has had to chunk before his receivers broke away.

Tickets for Lamesa-Big Spring Game Here Friday at 8 P. M.

Tickets for the Lamesa-Big Spring game here Friday at 8 p. m. may be purchased in advance at the chamber of commerce office in the Settles hotel, thus saving fans much time at the gate.

Elementary Grid Teams To Clash This Afternoon

The second season for the ward school football league was to get underway at 3 p. m. today at Steer stadium with two games on tap.

Central, one of the favorites, was to meet South Ward, a team which had sympathies of the fans last year because it was one grade shorter than other elementary schools and thus pinched on material. The second game, to follow at 4 p. m., was to be between East Ward and College Heights.

The game between North Ward and West Ward was postponed until Monday afternoon because the coach for North Ward had been out and thus the team was unable to get in sufficient practice before the opening game. West Ward won the title last year and is expected to be strong again this season.

Machines of War Feed on Oil

For days the General Staff had been making plans for the invasion. . . . All branches of land, sea and air had been put in readiness; the timing of all movements carefully coordinated. . . . Then came the Big Moment in the grey of early dawn. . . . Paratroops dropped behind the lines. Navy big guns and dive bombers blasted shore defenses, wave after wave of infantry scrambled ashore to establish beach heads—and right on their heels came tanks and jeeps and trucks with food, ammunition and OIL.

NO MATTER how fast a mechanized army can move, it cannot out-distance its supply lines; for to fight, a soldier must have food, his guns must have ammunition, his machines must have OIL.

By devious routes and in many shapes and forms oil finds its way into the smooth operation of every department of our armed forces, even to toluene for T. N. T. (see partial list below).

HUMBLE PRODUCTS FOR THE MACHINES OF WAR: Asphalt, Aviation Gasolines and Aviation Engine Oils, Camouflage Paints, Diesel Fuels, Engine Oils, Univis Instrument Oils, Marine Paints, Navy Symbol Lubricants, Recoil Oils, Rust-Ban Protective Coatings, Stratosphere Greases, Toluene, Torpedo Greases, Waxes, Waterproof Lubricants, Synthetic Rubber for military uses. FOR THE MACHINES OF INDUSTRY: Automotive Lubricants, Cutting Fluids, Cleaners, Diesel Fuels, Gasolines, Industrial Lubricants, Launching Lubricants, Motor Oils, Paints, Petroleum Solvents, Quenching Oils, Rust Preventives, Waxes. FOR YOUR CAR: Products and service to help you care for your car for your country.

Wartimes Boost Argument For A Federal Sales Tax

Settlement for a federal sales tax continues to grow—latest support is given by an official of the United States chamber of commerce — and there is reason to believe that it eventually will be given serious consideration in the Washington legislative halls because a revenue program is finally completed.

Times have changed, to give new impetus to the sales tax idea; one of the most cogent arguments in its favor was advanced recently by Raymond Clapper, one of the top flight Washington commentators. In effect, Clapper said: The sales tax was fought throughout the depression — and properly so, because it is a tax on consumption. It laid a disproportionately heavy burden on the low income earner. It had a deflationary effect when stimulation of business was desired.

But now we need to check inflation, to discourage consumption and to include in the taxation program those groups which are drawing inflated wages and salaries — those making under $5,000. And Secretary Morgenthau is the authority for the statement that this group now draws four-fifths of the nation's income. Some congressional leaders, balking at the treasury's most recent tax program, assert that too much is being asked of the people. That this is false is demonstrated by the hordes of buyers who are seen in every town and city, by the record throngs to be found at every entertainment and sports event. There is still plenty of money.

And there is room for more success. Clapper put it this way: "I wonder if anybody would like to go over to visit the men in the Fifth Army, or out in Gen. Douglas MacArthur's command to explain to them how taxes at home are unbearable. This still is a nation reveling in luxury, compared with any other nation at war. Our only trouble is that our people have so much more money than there are goods on which to spend it that we are under the most serious danger of inflation."

The strongest argument for the sales tax, as we see it, is to make more powerful the brakes on inflation.

Hollywood—Youth Is Doing Turnaway From Slang Talk

By ROBBIN COONS
HOLLYWOOD—Collegiate slang, suddenly and unaccountably, has gone into a slump and jitterbugging is doing a quick fade-out. We've got it straight from headquarters.

Periodically, we drop in on Carey Wilson to find out what's new with youth. He's the producer and the behind-the-scenes father of the screen's best-known American family, the Hardys of Carvel. Keeping up with youth is his business, because Andy Hardy has to keep in step or go into the discard.

Today we found him at his desk blue pencil in hand, carefully attacking a Hardy script. Lines of dialogue, bright snappy stuff, were withering under the blue fire. Carey put his script aside, settled back in his chair, and shook his head.

"I don't know what's happened," he said, "but this stuff that was good four weeks ago isn't right any more. I was paying off one of my 'spies' at U.C.L.A., a sorority girl, and she thanked me but warned that her contributions had better be used.

"She said, 'That slang is all cold now. Nobody uses it any more. It's dead.' And that happened in four weeks!"

"What'll it be now?" "They're talking straight English," said Carey. "A boy or girl who says something right out, in plain talk, is considered very amusing. So Andy's going to follow suit."

Samples of deleted dialogue: "Who put a nickel in you?"—an expression intended to squelch a chatterbox. "Let's get off this committee," signifying the speaker's weariness with a topic of discussion.

Carey Wilson's spies number about 70, half of them in colleges on the Pacific coast, the others on campuses over the country.

His prediction on the decline of jitterbugging was based on his constant activities at the Hollywood Canteen, where stars and name bands entertain thousands of soldiers weekly.

"One night I made an experiment with music," said Carey. "I had the band play a hot fast number, and watched the dance floor.

In the Wake of MURDER

By ADELINE McELFRESH

Chapter 16
Ben Roberts dashed away in the direction Jane had pointed, drawing his revolver as he ran. He had seen nothing—but he was hearing plenty. The intruder, apparently knowing he had been discovered, was crashing through the underbrush like a great, lumbering animal.

Once Ben thought he saw something and fired quickly, but the shot either went wild or he had been mistaken, for the fleeing man crashed his way ahead. Finally, realizing that further pursuit was useless, Ben turned back.

"No go," he told Jane, who was waiting at his post. "Now I wonder . . ."

"So do I wonder," Jane agreed. "Listen, Ben, you should have helped out here. You're so far from the mill and the other men that anything could happen."

Ben chuckled. "I keep my eyes open, Jane," he said. "After all, I don't want Virginia to be a widow yet a while."

His tone was bantering but Jane caught the feeling underneath. Ben was worried. He, too, realized something was going on.

There were just a few couples out there, and most of the boys sat it out. Then we gave them a tune half hot, half sweet, and the dancing picked up. But the third number was all sweet—As Time Goes By — and we dimmed the lights a little for it. For that one, there wasn't a girl in the place who wasn't dancing."

Jitterbugging in its violently acrobatic phases, Carey learned from his college informants, now is practiced only by the experts.

"I'll tell the chief," he promised. "But don't you worry. With I could walk home with you, Jane, but I'm not supposed to leave my post."

Jane nodded that she understood. "Well, take care of yourself, Ben," she cautioned and left after promising to stop in town and see Ben's young wife, Virginia, and their baby.

There was something new about the forest now. It was almost dark, especially where the giant pines reached skyward, their branches sweeping out over the trail so that only a little of the gray light of the winter afternoon filtered through.

Jane walked briskly. She wasn't afraid, but she didn't like to think of what might have happened to Ben — maybe even to her — if she had not seen that man. What had he been doing, snooping around the mill property?

She kicked at a hump of pine needles, angry at herself for refusing to link Brad's name with the man who had fled such a short time before. Why shouldn't she believe that? Hadn't she seen him going to meet Brandt?

Teeth clenched to keep from crying, she strode out of the pines toward the house. Aunt Ella mustn't see her tears. She couldn't bear to face the older woman's questioning eyes.

"Hello, dear," Ella looked up from the book she was reading before the fireplace. "Did you have a nice walk?" Jane nodded. "Very," she said toying her coat over a chairback. "Brr, it's cold, though."

Mrs. Black dog-eared a page and closed her book. She stretched her feet toward the fire.

"Young Forrester has been calling for you, Jane." There was a hint of disapproval in her tone. "I told him you were out and I didn't know when you would be back."

"What did he say?" Jane dreaded the answer but she had to know. Ella shrugged. "What could he say?" she parried. "Would I have you call when you returned?"

"And?" Mrs. Black gave her an odd glance. "And I told him that that was up to you, my dear. Very definitely."

The Chronicle news room seemed colder than usual to Brad, who was trying to concentrate on a story. But Brad found his thoughts straying time and again. He jumped when the telephone on the desk next to his rang. He glanced up every time someone came in. The noise was deafening.

At last, that's what he was trying to tell himself. He didn't want to admit that he was restless because Jane hadn't called.

There was no change in Ed Black, but his wife has been definitely hostile when he asked for Jane. Why? He swore a little because leaving his reporter's job would cause wonder. Not even Mike Patrick knew who he really was. Only Ed Black knew that.

Brad practically leaped at his telephone when it rang. "Forrester speaking," he said. Then: "Jane, I've been waiting for you to call."

"Have you, Brad?" Her voice came to him like that of a frightened child. "Well!"

Brad hesitated. He glanced down at the phone, as though expecting it to tell what was wrong. "Jane," he lowered his voice.

Jobs For Those Men Who Are Disabled In The War

By JACK STINNETT
WASHINGTON—This is a footnote on a series we wrote some weeks ago about the post-war employment and care of veterans of this war, but it deals with a situation that now exists—the employment of disabled veterans of World War II.

It already has become apparent that insofar as the government can force it, disabled veterans are going to be 1-A on the nation's job list.

The Civil Service Commission is the nation's biggest employer. It isn't the only agency concerned about reemployment of disabled veterans. As a matter of fact, it is only concerned with the government employment of such veterans. As such, it already is laying down the blue print for private enterprise because the employment and rehabilitation divisions of Selective Service, Veterans Administration, Federal Security Agency, and War Manpower Commission have declared their determination to do everything they can to see that private enterprise gives disabled veterans as good a break as does civil service.

That's why it is important that the Civil Service Commission, spurred on by Representative Robert Ramspeck (D-Ga.) house civil service committee now is making one of the most extensive surveys of employment of physically handicapped persons that ever has been undertaken by the government.

The commission already has surveyed more than 2,500 types of work in the federal service and classified them with regard to the degree of physical handicap with which they can be performed.

"We have found out what abilities and faculties are needed in particular jobs," says Ramspeck. "Then we have taken persons with these abilities and faculties, even though they may have other handicaps and persuaded appointing officers to use their services. Since October of last year, over 15,000 physically handicapped persons (not all veterans by any means, but many of them) have been placed in federal positions as a result of this program."

"Our next step is to make a study of the manner in which these physically handicapped employes have carried on their work.

This study will be completed within the next few months." The findings of the commission undoubtedly will supply any employer with statistical data on what physically handicapped persons he might give jobs to.

In addition to that, the Ramspeck committee now is prepared to call any placement officer on what physically handicapped persons he might give jobs to.

Back of this are the plans for a vast educational and training program for disabled veterans. But all of it is a tendency to fit the physically handicapped person for a niche in the economic or governmental structure for which he is best suited.

One point that Ramspeck and the commission bear down on is that none of this is charity. There isn't a dehumanized disabled veteran who hasn't his place in gainful employment. The problem is to find it.

Capital Comment — Why Not Call 'Em Gerps?

By GEORGE STIMPSON
Herald Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON—What we need is a short, snappy, headline word to describe the Germans and Japs. "Axis," which originally referred to Berlin-Rome collaboration, is no longer satisfactory since Italy has been knocked out of the war. Italian fascism is dead as a doornail and "Nazi" describes only the German gangsters. The Germans and Japs are equally guilty of international outlawry and ought to be linked together in one stinging term of condemnation. I suggest "Gerps," a combination of "Germans" and "Japs." Can you think of something better?

Congressman Mendel Rivers, of South Carolina, chairman of the House naval affairs sub-committee that investigated and reported on the oil situation, is a tall, distinguished-looking man with long and bushy, but carefully trimmed hair. Since his first name is Mendel and he looks like an artist or musician, some of his intimates in Congress call him "Mendelsohn."

Capitol Hill correspondents don't like the food in the Senate restaurant; so at noon-time those working on the "senate side" all flock over to the House restaurant to eat lunch, with the result it is hard to get a place at the "table for the press."

This is the first war in which women as well as men not in the armed forces are classed as "civilians." The presence of thousands of WACs and WAVEs in Washington is a constant reminder to women not in uniform that they too are civilians.

It's amazing how thoughtful some people are. Cecil Dickson, one of my favorite Washington correspondents, who used to work on the Denison Herald, and was with Associated Press and International News Service at Austin, Dallas and Washington before he recently became Washington correspondent for the Gannett newspapers, took a trip through the northeastern states last week. Passing by a tobacco shop in a New York town, Cecil saw in the window some pipe-cleaners, now scarce as hen's teeth, and, thinking of me, took the trouble to buy a package for me. I could get along if I had to get along without pipe-cleaners, but I would hate to get along without friends like Cecil Dickson.

At the Press Club this afternoon I ran into Sam M. Jones, former newspaper man and now a prominent Washington representative of various industrial firms. Sam is a grandson of "Golden Rule" Sam Milton Jones, who came to America from Wales when a boy and became a pioneer oil producer. Later "Golden Rule" Jones branched out into manufacturing and founded the S. M. Jones Co., manufacturers of oil supplies, with headquarters in Toledo and branch offices in Dallas, Houston, Tulsa and Los Angeles. The present Sam Jones is affiliated with the firm. His father, Percy C. Jones, who died two years ago, drilled the first oil well in Texas.

"Golden Rule" Jones made a fortune in business. He was elected republican mayor of Toledo in 1887 and was three times re-elected on an independent ticket. He died in office in 1904.

His nickname was suggested by the fact that he consistently advocated following the Golden Rule in business and politics. He was far ahead of his time in his attitude toward labor. Splitting profits with his workers, an eight-hour day and improved working conditions generally were among his policies that made him famous. He was popular as mayor of Toledo because he used his office to eradicate graft and dishonesty in public business and politics and to secure the rights of the common man. His grandson of the same name is a very successful public relations man, has a host of friends and is highly respected and liked in Washington.

This morning, between the Capitol and the White House, I had my first ride on a street-car operated exclusively by a lady conductor. She was young and handsome and sped along Pennsylvania avenue as if she had been running street-cars all her life. I doubt whether most of the passengers on the crowded car were aware of the fact that this was the first appearance of a lady conductor on that route. We are so becoming accustomed to the unusual these days that nothing much surprises us anymore.

Training Survey Is Being Made By USES

A survey of local industry is being made to determine if WMC assistance in training is needed in this area. O. R. Rodden, manager of the Big Spring district office for the US Employment Service, said Wednesday.

In event there appears to be a demand for certain types of training, the WMC will send experts in to furnish the instruction. In some cases, these experts also make suggestions concerning arrangement and use of machinery for more production. Industry operators, of course, are free to heed or reject the findings.

A mechanized division consumes 18,000 gallons of gasoline in an hour.

In a normal day, 100 37-mm. anti-aircraft guns use up 127 tons of ammunition.

STORY

"I've something to tell you, I saw Frank at the funeral. He... Jane, what's wrong?"

He heard the tight little gasp. What th hell? he thought.

"Nothing, nothing at all, Brad," she said. "What were you saying?"

"Brandt," he repeated. "He was at the funeral. I knew him from your description. He must have recognized me, too, for he fled when I came out of the grocery store on the corner. I asked the cops to put a man on his tail."

"You called the police?"

There was a decided emphasis on the "you?" A puzzled frown furrowed Brad's brow. He tapped nervously on the desk with his pencil. He was getting nowhere fast with Jane. She wasn't acting like the Jane Carter he knew. Yes, and loved, he admitted to himself now.

"Sure, Jane, why not? They could radio the patrol car at the church and... Hello, Jane, are you there?"

The phone was dead. Nothing but the dull hum of an empty line came to his ear.

Impatiently, he flipped the receiver up and down. When the girl at the switchboard answered, he ordered, "Get me the operator." Then "I was talking to Pine Hill-5163."

"I'm sorry sir. That line will be out of use for 15 minutes while under repair."

Brad thanked her and hung up.

There was something so final about her precise tones.

He had time to straighten out his thoughts as he drove toward the Black home in the country. Jane had sounded so aloof. He had to know why.

The big house looked proud and secure nestling on the hillside, almost surrounded by sentinal pines. Brad cut the motor and let the car coast to a stop in the driveway. He ran up on the porch and rang the bell.

"Hello," he said cheerfully when the door opened.

"Young man," Ella Black drew her plump form up proudly. "Jane does not wish to see you."

Mexico Ready To Send Men To Front

MEXICO CITY, Oct. 14 (AP)—The newspaper Excelsior says that Mexico is ready to send an expeditionary force to the battlefronts and predicted that troops would be on their way within six months.

The plan for more active participation in the war has been espoused by a group of young generals, general staff officers and advisors, Excelsior stated, adding that the government looks favorably upon the idea.

Crash Fatal To Three Soldiers

STEPHENVILLE, Oct. 14 (AP)—Three soldiers stationed at Camp Bowie, Brownwood, were burned to death and another was in a critical condition in the Stephenville hospital after a head-on collision between an automobile and pickup truck three miles east of here at 9 p. m. Wednesday.

One of the soldiers, Henry F. Maher of Hartford, Conn., remained in a critical condition at the hospital with burns covering most of his body. Seriously injured by the impact was T. E. Moore, 45, of Gouldbusk, driver of the truck.

The three soldiers burned to death had not been identified at a local funeral home, George Shields, chairman of the Stephenville chapter of the Red Cross, who was assisting with the identification work, said the bodies were burned beyond recognition.

Witnesses said the sedan in which the soldiers were riding exploded after the collision. A large gasoline container was in the car.

FRONTIER REOPENED

LONDON, Oct. 14 (AP)—The German-controlled Paris radio said today that the Italian-Swiss frontier, which was closed following Benito Mussolini's fall and the subsequent Italian capitulation, has now been re-opened.

Allies Appear Determined To Make Italy Pay For Former Misdeeds

LONDON, Oct. 14 (AP)—Italy's former misdeeds remained strongly alive today despite the Badoglio government's declaration of war against Germany and, most unofficially, against the Allies. The Daily Mail summed it up thus: "Actions will count x x x. The terms to defeated Italy can only be adjusted in the light of the assistance which she gives us. To put it another way—Italy will be punished for her misdeeds, but she may obtain remission for good conduct."

No official comment has been forthcoming so far from the exiled governments of France, Greece, Yugoslavia and Albania—Italy's four chief victims—but men of those nationalities have emphasized that they and their compatriots will not forget easily.

"We certainly are not yet ready to fight shoulder to shoulder with them as Allies," declared one Greek.

A high Yugoslav said he welcomed "anything that will shorten the war" but added that "if it means a move whereby any new Italian regime will be given concessions at the expense of the Yugoslav nation, battling now for its life, we will be disappointed."

The provisional committee of directors of the Italian socialist party in London was frankly antagonistic.

The committee labeled the Badoglio government "an impos-

Military Authorities Find Conditions Here To Be Satisfactory

Concerned over reports from San Angelo that commanders of two army posts there had issued a warning that the city could be cleaned up or declared off limits, city authorities checked with local army officials Tuesday and were assured that local conditions were in the main satisfactory.

For one thing, the incidence rate for venereal diseases here was 8.6 for September, city officials were told. That was about a tenth of the rate at San Angelo. City Manager B. J. McDaniel pointed out that it had been the policy of city health and police departments to work closely with army officers here and that the policy would be continued. Every effort will be made to follow up on all contacts reported in venereal cases, he said.

Texas Ranges Helped Some By Moisture

AUSTIN, Oct. 14 (AP)—Range conditions were improved over a large part of the state by September rains, and favorable farm harvesting weather prevailed over much of Texas during the week ending Oct. 10, the United States department of agriculture reported today.

The northwest livestock districts were the only sections which still suffered from drought conditions. Fair progress was made in harvesting cotton, rice, peanut, sorghums and corn. Scattered showers interrupted cotton and sorghum harvest in the high plains and low rolling plains, but the area as a whole was still below normal in subsoil and surface moisture. Some parts of the area had received sufficient moisture to germinate wheat, but in many counties considerable acreage remained to be seeded and general rains were badly needed throughout the northwest area for germination and to maintain growth.

Range feeds were improved in a large part of Texas. Conditions should show further improvement during October unless early frosts interfere. Some counties in the northwest districts received moisture which helped grass and permitted wheat seeding, but the area was generally deficient with many counties receiving no effective precipitation. Even though the drought has been relieved through a large part of the state, rains were too late for some feed crops and shortages of feed and proteins are reported from a number of present and former drought counties.

The condition of cattle for the state as a whole improved slightly during September, but was considerably below October 1 last year, and 3 points below the 20 year average for the date. Condition of sheep was reported at 2 points higher than a month earlier, but considerably below October 1 last year, and below the 20 year average for the date. Most of the sheep country received good rains in September, especially by the last week of the month, and condition of the stock should improve with better range feed, barring early frosts.

'I Bombed Japan' Club Is Organized

WASHINGTON, Oct. 14 (AP)—An "I Bombed Japan" club has been formed by air crews of the U.S. Army Eleventh Air Forces in Alaska who have participated in bombing missions to Japan's Par-amushiru and Shimshu islands in the Kuriles group. The 156 chapter members predict greatly increasing memberships. Membership cards are made and issued on the spot in a revetment somewhere in the Aleutians. Texans among the charter members include: Keopp, Harry J., first lieutenant, navigator, El Paso. Smith, Leon A., first lieutenant, pilot, 2108 Twentieth St., Lubbock. Germany, Jewell R., Jr., technical sergeant, Athens. Graham, W., technical sergeant, Alice. Dawson, Thomas V., staff sergeant, radio operator, Gatesville. Carter, D. L., sergeant, gunner, Bonham. Payne, Jesse F., corporal, Bangs.
