* Trouser Leg Too Crowded For Two ***

Herbert Martin of Flomot solved a delicate problem with little deliberation Friday evening. While feeding stock on his father's farm, a snake crawled up the leg of his trousers. The trouser leg was too small for both of them, so with equal courtesy to each other, they both vacated the cramped quarters.

SGT. NELSON, HOME FROM ENGLAND, SAYS TAIL GUNNER FINDS TIME FOR PRAYING

YOUNG HERO of the European air war, S-Sgt. LeRoy Nelson, of the 8th Air Force, back home with the Air Medal and the Distinguished Flying Cross, spoke softly and deliberately as he answered questions as the honored guest at Matador Lions Club meeting, Tuesday. A veteran at 21, the young tail-gunner seemed embarrassed at the standing ovation given by the club membership. Attending the meeting with his father, Lee Nelson of Matador, he declined to make an address but offered to answer questions concerning his experiences.

The reticent young man made no display of the honors awarded him for his part in the great conflict. The two medals were brought to the meeting and passed among the membership against his wishes. He spoke calmly and with studied replies, as if he might be answering questions concerning a football game in which he had taken part. He is a former Matador Matadors grid iron star.

Random Questions Asked

Some of the random questions asked him by the Lions defied an answer, and in these instances Sgt. Nelson smiled and waited for another question. He explained he had completed 25 missions as a tail gunner on a B-17, February 3, 1944 and had been stationed in England since that time. He said his longest mission was 11 hours and 15 minutes. Asked if he had a good view from his position as tail gunner, Sgt. Nelson replied, "It has its advantages." You can see what you have been through, but you can not see that which you still have to go through.

One of the earlier ships to which he was assigned was the "Briny Marlin" which caught a burst of flak in a gas tank. The Ford reached England despite more than 600 holes in its fuselage, wings and tail, 15 direct hits by 20mm cannon shell and three injured men. His next and last ship was the "Full House" (No. 23322). Sgt. Nelson was mentioned on a nationwide newscast, with other members of his heroic crew, after their landing of the "Briny Marlin."

Asked if he could determine when his guns struck an enemy ship, Sgt. Nelson said it was difficult to know. "I have seen my tracer bullets bounce off the armour of German ships," he said, "It is discouraging." Asked if he had had any experience with rocket shells, he said, "Yes, I have seen a number of them, about the size of your head, streaming fire and smoke. However, I have never

HUBERT LEE IS CANDIDATE FOR REPRESENTATIVE

The Tribune is authorized to announce the candidacy of Hubert Lee of Cottle county as candidate for the office of State Representative of the 21st representative district of Texas, and subject to the action of the Democratic primary, July 22.

In making his announcement, Mr. Lee has the following statement: "After having been persistently solicited by my friends over the district, I have decided to enter the race for State Representative of this district, composed of Motley, Hall, Childress and Cottle counties, to succeed our good friend and faithful servant, the late Hon. Paul Eubank, who made the supreme sacrifice in an effort to help preserve our democratic government and American way of life. If elected to this high office I pledge myself to bear the torch for those principals consistent with good government, based in the Constitution and the Bill of Rights of this Nation.

"I am 39 years of age and was born and reared in Cottle county. My parents moved to this county in 1889, where they resided continuously. Until two years ago I had continued to farm the place they settled many years ago, when I sold the land and purchased another farm which I now operate. I have been farming for myself since 1923 and have been closely associated with the livestock business in Paducah for several years. I feel that my experience gives me an extensive conception of the problems of this section of Texas.

"My father is now 83 years of age and inactive. I am thoroughly familiar with the trials and problems of the old folks of this district and West Texas.

"I am married and have three children of school age, who furnish me with first-hand information of the problems of our schools. I am affiliated with the church and various civic organizations. If elected I promise the full and faithful disposition of the duties incumbent with the office, to the very best of my abilities."

Home Paper Read In Fox Hole; Passed On Until It Fell Apart From The Rain

Perhaps you have never tried reading your Tribune in a fox hole with Jap snipers claiming part of your attention. It is doubtful if you ever read your copy of the Tribune on a distant tropical island under enemy fire, re-read it again and then lent it to comrades hungry for word from home, who read your copy until it fell apart from the rain.

Counterparts of the small home-town weekly newspaper which you may read in the comfort of your easy chair after the evening chores are done, are going to the battle fronts where men are fighting to preserve our American way of life. The following letter from T-Sgt. Albert E. Rattan to the Tribune, dated Admiralty Island, April 28, 1944, is graphic in its contents: "Several weeks ago I received a Tribune. You may ask, what is unusual about that? Just this: It was the second day after our landing in the Admiralties. I sat down in my fox hole and read every word of it. It was handed on to others who read it until it fell apart from the rain. I can truthfully say that my morale rose to a point where nothing could stop me.

"That same afternoon we captured our first objective, the Momate airdrome. The next day I received one of the greatest thrills of my life when a B-25 carrying the American ensign, landed on the strip while snipers were still in the nearby trees.

"It is all over now and we are taking it easy, but waiting anxiously for the day when we will be permitted to strike again.

"I say, thanks a million to you and all the people who make the letter from home possible."

The Tribune is grateful for the following unsolicited contributions to the fund for sending gratis subscriptions to men in the armed service, received since last publication: Mrs. A. J. Matlock (Northfield) $2, Mrs. J. H. Sheridan (Amarillo) $2, A. B. Groves $2, Corrine Wilkinson $5, G. M. Acker (Whiteflat) $3, Mrs. Alfred Barton $1, Mrs. Tommy Dodson $2, Mrs. Clayton Bridges (Glenn, Tex.) $1.50 Mrs. J. M. Spray (Whiteflat) $1, W. M. Lawrence (Lockney) $2, and Mrs. C. F. Amonett (Flomot) $2.

Life In England As Seen By Yank

Some interesting impressions concerning life in war-time England, were contained in a letter which Mrs. Marjoria Harper received from her husband, Lt. J. M. Harper, a bombardier in the Air Corps, soon after he arrived overseas.

"We get our news from 'Yank' and 'Stars and Stripes'—a four page daily published for American Armed forces in the E.T.O. (European Theatre of Operations)" he writes, "and one or two local papers. They have Blondie in some of the English papers and 'Stars and Stripes' has 'Lil Abner' and 'Terry Lee'."

"So far the food has been good, including fresh eggs for breakfast. The only thing I can't have that I really want is sweet milk. If I have to stay over here very long I am going to buy a dairy and ice cream plant when I get back and go into seclusion for at least six months. The water is very good and isn't G. I."

"I just came from the P.X. and got my weekly rations, 2 packs of gum, 21 cigars, 2 candy bars, 2 penny boxes of matches and one package of cookies. We can have 21 cigars, 7 packages of cigarettes or 4 cans of tobacco per week."

If you find any air mail stationery without envelopes, send it. We can get only small tablets because of the paper shortage over here. And any time you have time to make some cookies I could use them. We have plenty to eat, but nothing between meals—and you know me.

Sellers Announces For Attorney General

Grover Sellers

Grover Sellers, Attorney General of Texas, has announced he will be a candidate for a second term in that office in the 1944 primary election.

In announcing his candidacy, Mr. Sellers declared: "I am grateful to Gov. Coke Stevenson for appointing me attorney general, following the resignation of Gerald C. Mann, with whom I had served four years as first assistant."

"To the people of Texas I now submit my candidacy. When elected my one effort will be fair and impartial administration of all laws and the constitution as written by the people. I shall continue to work in complete harmony with other officials and state departments in the efficient operation of our state government."

"All Texans have one common thought today—winning the war as quickly as possible. This department, as in the past, shall continue full cooperation with military authorities in prosecution of the war. During the absence of our men in uniform, their welfare always shall be my first concern. In fact, I am the first ever to hold that Texans in uniform can vote."

"I have my candidacy on a background of experience gained as your Attorney General, first assistant Attorney General, judge of the Eighth Judicial District and as an associate justice of the Court of Civil Appeals."

"We have been issued bicycles to ride but they aren't so fast. Everything is so inconvenient here that it takes all our time getting from one place to another."

"Yesterday we had a few hours off, so we got on our cycles and buzzed over to a village near here and took some pictures of an old castle and a church. The castle is about 1300 years old and the church was built about 1300. Queen Elizabeth spent 3 weeks there just before she became queen. The church is Church of England and is surrounded by graves that are very, very old."

"The local clubs are the quaintest places. The people go there to have a glass of beer and chat with Many inquiries from rodeo contestants, entrants in the Quarter Horse show, and other events are being received, according to W. G. Swenson, resident.

The two-day celebration will open with a big down-town parade. Horseback riders, chuck wagons, and relics of the days of the wide-open range will unite with the effects of a nation at war to make this parade one of the highlights of the Reunion.

New officers of the Texas Cowboy Reunion Association will be elected at the annual meeting of
