Extension Service Highlights Program of Past Four Years

Motley County Extension Service has just completed a four year educational program which began in 1986. In the beginning of the program citizens of Motley County were asked to identify issues of concern to Motley County. The four year plan was then developed to address the critical issues. Highlights of address the Christian states. In ging in the programs are listed below.

In agriculture issues included Soil Conservation, Irrigation Management and Agricultural Profitability. Educational events and activities which addressed these issues were planned by the Extension Agriculture Committee, and the sion Agriculture Committee and the County Agent. A peanut production Field Day has been held each year to give peanut productors the latest information on production systems, conservation, varieties, irrigation management and disease insect and weed control. Cotton ease, insect and weed control. Cotton farmers have been given information on managing insect and weed pests, soil and water conservation, as well as improved varieties and cultrual practices

Through Extension Education, Mot-Inrough Extension Education, Mot-ley County ranchers have kept in pace with beef production technology includ-ing record and budget keeping, reproduc-tive efficiency, feed efficiency, and herd health management. Gardeners and lawn keepers have ob-tained information on fertility, varieties tained information on fertility, varieties, water management and pest management.

In the area of Home Economics, Health was identified as a major issue. Several residents in Motley County are diabetics and have asked for training in preparing diets for diabetics. Plans are in the making for a health Fair to be held in January 1991. Knowledge gained from health Fairs has been used to save costs in health care. Wellness is being targeted as a savings for senior citizens. A series of programs on cholesterol and food preparation of low fat diets has been promoted.

During the past 4 years 4-H has provided educational, as well as recreational programs for the youth in Motley County.

The traditional projects in agriculture and home economics were provided, along with programs such as leadership, citizenship, and public speaking. 4-H'ers have represented Motley County in District, State and National events. The 4-H youth have an outstanding record in Method Demonstration and Illustrated Talk competition. In 1990 there were 28 participants in the County Food Show, which was a substantial increase. There was also an increase in Fashion Show participants with 13 youth.

The Motley County Extension Service will have an information booth at the First State Bank of Matador on Wednesday, December 12, 1990 from 11:00 a.m. to 2:00 p.m. This booth will have information describing Extension program in agriculture, home economics, 4-H, and community development. We will also introduce educational plans for the next

Holiday Greetings From The North Pole

Want to add some Christmas cheer to your holiday cards this year? Why not get your Christmas cards specially postmarked from the North Pole, Alaska? This year - like every year - the North Pole, Alaska Post Office is postmarking thousands of cards and holiday letters with their special town cancellation. Cards are already starting to arrive from around the world.

Togetyour North Pole postmark, insert your holiday envelope or envelopes, addressed and stamped, inside another envelope or container. Include a note to have the mail inside be either machine or hand canceled with the North Pole post-mark. Then send it to the following ad-

Amy's Anecdotes

by Amy Woolsey

Well, this is a little different from my usual articles, but I decided I needed to write you and tell you what I want for Christmas!

Christmas!
Let's see, where should I start? I've already got the greatest gift of all - the love of my family and friends. I would really like for you to give peace throughout the world. I would also like clothes, a new car, (but I can understand if you can't et me that), more clothes, and a White

Dear Santa.

How are you? Have you been really busy this Christmas? I wrote this letter to busy this Christmas? I wrote this letter to have clothes, diamond earrings, more clothes, and if you can handle it, a NEW CAR! (I'll understand if I don't get that car) I hope you bring a white Christmas when you come down. Tell Mrs. Claus hello for me.

Of course you know I've been a good girl this year. I won't ask for much this year since I know you're very busy. The most important thing I would like to ask for is for my cousin, Michael, to get to come home soon from Germany. I would also like for our family to be together and healthy this year. The last thing I am going to ask you for is please let everyone elses family to be as happy and joyous as my family is, and to remember this was the day Jesus Christ was born! These aren't really gifts but they are the most important things to me! Send my greetings to everyone at the North Pole.

Dear Santa.

I want a Lambroghini. 10 million dollars, and five playmates of the year women. I better go ahead and get a house too, because I won't be living at home

P.S. I also want a new 91 model chevy Merry Christmas! I've been a real, real good girl this year and I don't want a whole lot. I would love lots of clothes, a CD player, more clothes, and snow. If you could come up with a new car. I would definately take it.

That's about it, except for helping everyone else to have a great Christmas too! Tell everyone at the North Pole "Hi".

Tonya

Dear Santa.

I have been extremely good this year. For Christmas I would like a new car for my mom, and a new car for me, (I don't care what kind, as long as it's new and looks good). Also, I am in need of a coin

Time goes on forever, there's never a day when it dies. Except when the Lord takes us and forgives of our lies. God sent Christ to us, so we could love, But we didn't believe, so he died on the cross above! He died because he loved us and to forgive us of our sins,

But if you don't trust now, you won't get into Heaven at the end! So beleive in the Lord all you can, And when in time you need it, He'll reach out a helping hand! Whatever may happen, don't worry, it'll be alright, Because the Lord is there for you, yes, there by your side!

Letter to the Editor

It's been a month now since my mother died and I am still getting notices of memorials that have been sent to different organizations, The Texas Boys Ranch in Lubbock, The Senior Citizens in Roaring Springs and Matador, The Roaring Springs Cemetery Fund, The Roaring Springs Park Fund and The First Baptist Church in Roaring Springs in Mama's name. I have tried very hard to send thank you notes to everyone who sent theseyou notes to everyone who sent these-memorials, flowers, food or helped in any way, but there have been so many I have surely missed someone so please print my thank you again to everyone and my apology to anyone I have missed.

I sure miss Mama, but I know she is in Heaven and I am very happy for her. God gave me the following poem that keeps me in my time of loneliness. I would like to pass it on to your readers that it might help someone else who is experiencing loneliness from the loss of a loved one.

A NEW STAR IN HEAVEN

by Corky Marshall

On October the twenty-seventh nineteen ninety, A decision was made by God almighty. He spoke to St. Peter with Love and Grace, The Light seems dim up here, let's brighten up the place.

Make a suggestion, that's what I have you for,

Yes Master, I think we need a new star. I know a grand Lady, whose been on earth a great while, who brightens everyone around her, with her beautiful smile. She would brighten up Heaven, tho they would miss her on earth, speak and she will be here, like you did at her birth. So God spoke His word on His throne from afar, now Mama is with Jesus and Heaven has a new Star.

God Bless You!

In late October the casual High Plains visitor with even an ounce of poetry in his soul saw a beautiful sight — field after field of cotton shimmering whitely under the autumn sun as far as the eye could see. Now, proving beauty truly is in the eye of the beholder, that scene has been lost to the visitor and has become something even more beautiful to High Plains producers — a sea of murky brown dotted by tons and tons of "white fold" stored in the relative safety of eight to ten-bale mod-

The prevalence of the latter sight means most producers in the area have now won the harvest race against the threat of losses to winter weather. And threat of losses to winter weather. And one by one they are finding time to mult over plans for 1991. However, according to Charles Cunningham, Chief of the U.S. Department of Agriculture's Program Analysis Division, completion of such plans faces what may be a protracted delay pending top-level decisions on details of the 1991 government program. Fortunately, he adds, one of the most important announcements, the size of the acreage reduction program (ARP), may be out by mid-December. Other details, he says, will be slow in coming. Although the new flexibility feature

Although the new flexibility feature of the 1990 farm act adds another dimension to the always difficult projections required to determine the ARP, Cunning-ham says his division has completed the initial number-crunching. A few weeks ago he and others in USDA and in the industry had talked of an ARP in the range of 10 to 15 percent. But that talk has subsided of late and Cunningham declines to even hint at what size ARP may be indicated by his latest projections. All be indicated by his latest projections. All he will say is "Somewhere between zero and 25 percent." Assuming the Secre-tary's office has no problem making its decision or with getting the required approval from the Office of Management and Budget, which Cunningham says would be a rarity, an announcement could come as early as the first week in Decem-

Meanwhile, judging from questions being fielded by Lubbock-based Plains Cotton Growers, Inc., most producers still lack a clear understanding of the new law. Especially confusing is the law's so-called "triple-base" flexibility plan which along with cutting the number of payalong with cutting the fullmeter of pay-ment-eligible acres of each commodity, grants unprecedented planting options. "Admittedly these are uncharted waters," says PCG Executive Vice President Donald Johnson, "And on balance they'll no doubt make for an unpleasant experi-ence." However, Johnson adds, by taking advantage of new planting freedom some producers should be able to at least miti-producers should be able to at least mitigate the adverse effects.

Born of budgetary restrictions, the foundation of the whole triple-base concept, PCG explains, is the removal of payment eligibility on an acreage equal to 15 percent of the crop acreage base for each commodity. It's important to understand, Johnson notes, that 15 percent of the full acreage base, to 15 percent of permitted acres. is the acreage incligible permitted acres, is the acreage ineligible for payment. Put another way, the maxiact. With a 25 percent ARP, it's easy to see that the reduction in payment-eligible see that the reduction in payment-eligible acres would climb to 20 percent.

The 15 percent of crop acreage base that cannot under any circumstances draw a payment is known as the MNA or Maximum Non-payment Acres. At the producer's option, MNA acreage may be "flexed", or shifted, or any other program or non-program crop, excluding fruits and vegetables.

Then there's the Optional Non-payment Acreage, or ONA, which equals another 10 percent of each commodity's base acreage. The ONA also may be flexed to other crops, bringing the total flex acres to 25 percent of all crop acreage bases on a given farm.

bases on a given farm.

None of the acres flexed from one program crop to another will be eligible for payment, but all will be eligible for

for payment, but all will be eligible for loan programs.

For one oversimplified example, assume a 15 percent ARP for cotton, 15 percent for feed grain and 15 percent for wheat, on a farm with a 100-acre base for each crop. On such a farm a producer could plant a maximum of 135 acres to cotton, (85 permitted acres ± 25 flaved). cotton (85 permitted acres + 25 flexed from feed grain + 25 from wheat. Only 70 acres (85 permitted - 15 MNA) would be eligible for payments, but all 135 would be eligible for the loan. On the same farm if the producer didn't want to voluntarily sacrifice, payments fighle acres of any if the producer didn't want to voluntarily sacrifice payment-eligible acres of any crop, he could plant a maximum of 115 acres to cotton (85 permitted + 15 MNA from feed grains + 15 MNA from wheat). In either case, if the full ARP for all crops is met, all bases are protected. However no base building for any crop can occur on any farm with any crop enrolled in the program. For other purposes, both cross and offsetting compliance are banned as conditions of program. ance are banned as conditions of program

A deer hunting venture was successful for a Mt. Pleasant man last week as Todd Box dropped a large whitetail while hunting on private land ten miles south-east of Roaring Springs in Motley County. The ten-point buck dressed out at 119pounds and had an eighteen inch spread.

Using a Savage 270, Bushnell scope, and 130-grain "warm"hand-load ammunition, Box shot the buck in the heart from a distance of about forty yards. The deer was taken to Caprock Meat Com-

"Go away, Mom," cried a boy who had been bad. "I want to talk to God.

"Can't you tell me, son?"
"Yes," he said, "but you'll scold me, and God will forgive me and forget it."

That's the most wonderful thing about God. Confess your sins to Him, and He'll forgive you. And He promises, "I will never again remember their sins."

Because of your behaviour? No, because of the blood of Christ. In its divine chemistry two things are erased - the mischief and the memory.

Sinned? Confess it. Like the boy said, "God will forgive it and forget it."

Notice

PUBLIC NOTICE

On July 19, 1990, GTE Southwest incorporated ("GTE-SW") filed revi-sions to the company's tariff pertaining to the features and associated equip-ment for providing emergency number services (9-1-1).

In this filing, GTE-SW proposes to modify its existing 9-1-1 tariff and to add more than 200 new service offerings. The new items of service and equipment in this application have been added to meet the company's increasing 9-1-1 customer demands and to allow GTE-SW to compete more effectively in the 9-1-1 equipment

The product line in the new offerings consists of a mini-computer and spe-cialized console package for larger communities, as well as a personal computer with Automatic Number Identification (ANI) display for smaller communities. (ANI displays a caller's telephone number on the emergency dispatcher's computer screen.) In addition, the product line will include AN and Automatic Location Information (ALI) display units compatible with and similar to, those offered by Southwestern Bell Telephone Company and other local exchange carriers in Texas (The ALI feature displays a caller's address on the computer screen.) The rate charged existing 9-1-1 customers may be revised at the expiration of their contracts with GTE-SW if the proposed tariff is approved.

This filing has been assigned Docket
No 9667. The hearing on the merits is scheduled for February 25, 1991, at the offices of the Public Utility Commission of Texas. The deadline to inter vene in this docket is December 31, 1990.

Persons who wish to intervene o otherwise participate in these proceedings should notify the commission as soon as possible. A request to intervene, participate, or for further infor mation, should be mailed to the Public Utility Commission of Texas, 7800 Shoal Creek Boulevard, Suite 400N, Austin, Texas, 78757. Further information also may be obtained by calling the Public Utility Commission Consumer Affairs Division at (512) 458-0223 or (512) 458-0227, or (512) 458 0221, teletypewriter for the deaf.
