Russians Close On Budapest

Reds Advancing Steadily Before Stiff Defenses

By DANIEL DE LUCE
MOSCOW, Nov. 2 (AP)—Russian armored spearheads were reported within 30 miles of Budapest today and advancing steadily against stiff but gradually weakening resistance on the rolling plain southeast of the city.

Soviet field dispatches said advance elements of the Red army had penetrated beyond Lajsmizse, 33 miles from the Hungarian capital, following an advance in which more than 100 occupied places were captured.

Among the latter was the important railway center of Kecskemet. The Germans and their Hungarian allies were reported falling back upon defenses which the people of Budapest have been forced to dig outside the city.

The Russians were encountering hard going. Great numbers of anti-tank weapons have been concentrated by the enemy on the broad treeless plain over which the Red army is advancing.

The Germans lost 300 dead in an unsuccessful attack on Soviet positions south of Pulutak on the Narew river above Warsaw in Poland, the announcement said in its only reference to fighting on that front.

Marshal Rodion Y. Malinovsky's army scored important gains in northeast Hungary, taking more than 40 communities along a front about 100 miles from Budapest. His troops linked up with the Fourth Ukrainian army of Gen. Ivan Petrov between Csap and Mandok.

In the Philippines, which Pres. Sergio Osmena predicted would be completely freed within "a few months," American ground forces neared a junction at Carigara on the Nipponese escape route and possible potential site of a Japanese stand.

Dismounted cavalymen were reported fighting in Carigara town on the northern shores of Leyte island in the Philippines. Infantrymen and tanks of the 24th division were a few miles to the south.

Nipponese reinforcements continued to land at Ormoc on the west coast in the face of punishing attacks by U. S. planes and PT boats. A freighter, a lugger and a troop laden barge were sunk.

A 10,000 ton Japanese tanker, carrying a deckload of explosives, was blown up by fighter planes off Borneo. Two other tankers were damaged.

In northern Burma the 36th British division captured Mawlu, important railway junction 2 miles southwest of Mitykina and 180 miles north of Mandalay. Chinese patrols in a parallel thrust to the east were operating 18 miles from Bhamo, near the China border.

Chungking admitted Japanese drove wedges deeper into Kweilin, with bitter fighting underway near the northern railway station. Southeast of Kweilin the invaders laid siege to Pinglo and advanced 12 miles from Funchuan, apparently intent on linking with other columns pushing toward Liuchow, U. S. air base.

British In Greek Port Of Salonika

ROME, Nov. 2 (AP)—British forces have entered the Greek seaport city of Salonika, where they were received enthusiastically by the populace, Allied headquarters announced today.

The Germans announced yesterday they had evacuated the city, Greece's second largest and the principal seaport on the Balkan peninsula. It is approximately 190 miles northwest of Athens.

Previous advices said the Nazis engaged in considerable demobilizations before withdrawing from the city, whose prewar population was 240,000.

Allied patrols pushing north of Salonika ambushed the withdrawing Nazi columns, an Allied headquarters communique said.

Polish-Indians Take Predappio
ROME, Nov. 2 (AP)—Polish and Indian troops, advancing several miles northward from captured Predappio toward the Po valley highway junction of Forli, have joined a bridgehead won by other Eighth army forces advancing westward across the Ronco river above Meldola.

Meldola is seven miles south of Forli. Steady progress in expanding the bridgehead just to the north has been reported since it was won early in the week. Other eighth army troops some days ago were reported only two miles from Forli along the Ronco immediately eastward.

South of Bologna on the central sector American troops cleared the Germans from the village of Casetta, the communique said. German field guns continued to pour shells into Allied positions along the Fifth army front, but there was a marked decrease from the intense shelling of recent days.

In the west coast region a heavy German counter attack in the vicinity of Catagna forced a withdrawal of British troops to less exposed positions.

On the Adriatic sector, Canadian troops of the Eighth army reached the main Fosso-Ghiala crossing on highway 16 less than five miles from Ravenna.

Canadian Defense Minister Resigns
OTTAWA, Nov. 2 (AP)—Canada's defense minister Col. J. L. Ralston resigned today, protesting against the government's refusal to compel military conscripts to serve overseas.

Use of the home defense army, numbering about 70,000 men, has been an issue in Canada several years and brought on the crisis in Prime Minister W. L. Mackenzie King's cabinet. Under the government program, men called of compulsory military service may not be sent overseas unless they volunteer.

McNaughton, until last September commander of Canadian forces abroad, is expected to support the government's program. The resignation of Angus L. MacDonald, navy minister, also was believed possible.

NO SETTLEMENT
TOLEDO, O., Nov. 2 (AP)—Hope for early settlement of an inter-union dispute which has resulted in walkouts by 4,500 members of the Mechanics Educational Society of America in 25 Toledo war plants faded last night after a four-hour conference between officials of the unaffiliated union and the CIO United Automobile Workers failed to produce a truce.

GOVERNOR TO CONFER WITH EXES, FACULTY TO IRON OUT TROUBLE
AUSTIN, Nov. 2 (AP)—Governor Coke R. Stevenson today agreed to confer with ex-students and faculty representatives in an attempt to iron out the situation at the University of Texas caused by the discharge of President Homer P. Rainey.

He deferred until after the conference an answer to a student plea that he request all members of the board of regents, including three who had resigned, to meet here with the students Saturday morning, and explain why Dr. Rainey was discharged and elect a new president.

The student request was made to the governor by Malcolm Wallace, student body president, while thousands of undergraduates demonstrated on the Capitol grounds.

The governor revealed that he had already invited W. H. Francis of Houston, president of the ex-students' association, to confer with him here today.

The request of students asked the governor to send to all regents

Peace Plans Are Progressing In Satisfactory Way

WASHINGTON, Nov. 2 (AP)—Plans for completing the structure of an international peace organization are "going along satisfactorily," Senator Connally (D-Tex.) said today.

The Texan, chairman of the senate foreign relations committee, told a news conference that while the date for a United Nations meeting has not yet been fixed it will be called "as soon as practicable after congress reconvenes."

Discussing the recall of General Joseph W. Stilwell from China, Connally said it "presents rather a serious situation," adding:

"Large policies are involved and the details are not known, but I feel sure the high command and the president will work out the matter so as to keep unity of action in that area. General Stilwell is a magnificent officer and has had many difficulties since he was sent to China."

Asked if in his opinion China remains one of the "big four powers," Connally replied: "Certainly. We expect to use Chinese bases in attacking Japan. She's got to stay in the war until it's over."

Japan Expects Invasion

TOKYO REPORTS TANK TRAINING; KURILES BOMBED

By LEONARD MILLIMAN
Associated Press War Editor
Japanese tanks are training to meet an expected American landing on the northern shores of Japan, Tokyo radio reported today in the wake of another bombing raid on the Kurile islands, stepping stones from the Aleutians to Nippon.

The broadcast followed an official Nipponese statement that the reported flight of Superforts over Tokyo yesterday "was confined to reconnoitering."

In the Philippines, which Pres. Sergio Osmena predicted would be completely freed within "a few months," American ground forces neared a junction at Carigara on the Nipponese escape route and possible potential site of a Japanese stand.

Dewey Charges Roosevelt Will Ruin Hopes For World Peace If Reelected

Associated Press Staff Writer
Governor Dewey lashed out anew today at what he viewed as a threat to world peace hopes in the event of President Roosevelt's reelection.

In an address prepared for a campaign rally in a downtown Baltimore theater, the republican presidential nominee said a "good start" has been made toward creating a world security organization, but "there must be mutual confidence and teamwork between the president and congress."

Noting that congress must approve the terms and scope of this country's participation in such an organization, Dewey said:

"If we are not to run the grave danger of seeing this whole program wrecked upon the rock of one man's arbitrary will we must install next January 20 an administration that wants to work with congress and that deserves the confidence of the people and their elected representatives."

His Baltimore appearance, the first of three speeches on Dewey's slate today, was made while Mr. Roosevelt interrupted his work on a radio address tonight (8 p. m., CWT, over NBC) to talk with Donald M. Nelson, the president's only caller today.

Mr. Roosevelt himself is down for a 15-minute talk from the White House (over NBC) in a democratic program running from 8 to 8:30 o'clock CWT. After an 11:30 a. m., CWT, extemporaneous speech at Baltimore, Dewey carries his anti-fourth term drive to Pennsylvania with speeches in Wilkes Barre at 7 p. m., and Scranton at 8:15 p. m. None of his talks today will be broadcast. He speaks again at New York's Madison Square Garden Saturday night.

It is Mr. Roosevelt's next to the last major call to the voters; his last is to come Saturday night at Boston where howling republican enthusiasts last night heard Dewey,

Commandos Hit Past Domburg As Battery Seized

LONDON, Nov. 2 (AP)—British and Canadian assault forces, making rapid strides toward clearing the approaches to the port of Antwerp, have hurled stubborn German defense troops out of all but the northern outskirts of the fortress city of Vlissingen (Flushing) on Walcheren island, a field dispatch said today.

British commandos and amphibious forces which struck the island's west coast yesterday near Westkapelle have expanded their beachhead to the northeast, bypassing the village of Domburg and seizing an enemy coastal battery employed in the Dunes beyond, Associated Press Correspondent William F. Bond reported from Canadian First army headquarters.

South of the Schelde estuary a stubborn knot of enemy defiance was all but erased. A Reuters field dispatch said the German general commanding in that pocket and 2,500 of his men had been captured. Allied troops there were well inside the coastal village of Knoeke.

The Canadian attack across the 1,000-yard long causeway from South Beveland was disclosed to have been pulled back yesterday out of ruinous Nazi crossfire from the Walcheren side, but overnight the Canadians drove back and this morning once again held a small and fiercely-contested bridgehead a few hundred yards deep.

Below the Maas in south central Holland, enemy rearguards were fighting off Allied attacks on the escape bridges with the same bitter determination. Resistance was savage on the approaches to the Moerdijk bridge over the Hoolandsch Diep. Farther east, the Allied troops held 4 1-2 miles of the south bank of the Maas, and were fighting in Geertruidenberg.

In Eastern Holland, where the enemy last week struck out with a heavy attack west of Venlo in an unsuccessful attempt to relieve pressure against the crumbling front above Antwerp, the British counterattack rolled up fresh gains, advancing two miles beyond Liesel, which was recaptured yesterday. With tank support, British infantry also cleared the enemy from a stretch along the banks of the Deurne canal.

In the region of the northern Vosges, units of the Seventh army captured three villages—Burliville, Habillyville and Azerailles—southeast of Luneville, and north of Bacarant. New gains in the wooded country southeast of Rambervillers also were scored.

Ex-University Head Declares He Could Not Sacrifice Stand
HOUSTON, Nov. 2 (AP)—In a fighting statement, Dr. Homer Price Rainey, discharged as president of the University of Texas Wednesday night by the board of regents after a hectic two-day secret meeting, declared today that he could not compromise or sacrifice his stand because of their fundamental importance to the university.

The board voted to fire Dr. Rainey and appointed Dr. T. S. Painter, biology professor, acting president.

Dr. Rainey said the university is in good hands with Dr. Painter acting president, assisted by Vice President J. Alton Burdine.

The action climaxed a series of clashes between the president and board, which extends back almost to the time of his

Rainey Fired As TU President

On behalf of the university student body whose degrees are at stake, I request you and other members to convene in Gregory gym at 10 a. m. Saturday Nov. 4 in open meeting in order to explain to the students the basis of the Houston decision and to elect a president. I am accepting no resignations.

Students returned to the university when Wallace announced to them the governor would give his answer to the request after the conference with Francis and faculty representatives.

Rainey's discharge and the resignation of three regents, Chairman John H. Bickett of Dallas, H. H. Weinert of Seguin and Dan J. Harrison of Houston dumped into the governor's lap an unprecedented responsibility for the future of the state university.

The regents said in a statement Rainey was discharged because in their opinion he had "failed and refused to conform and be guided by the rules, regulations and policies of the university."

The request of students asked the governor to send to all regents appointment six years ago. The differences were brought to a head following the publication of 16 points of differences by Dr. Rainey between him and the regents last month.

"I regret that it was impossible for me to meet the regents' demands x x x that I withdraw the statement which I made to the faculty Oct. 12. This, in clear conscience, I could not do.

"The views of this controversy go to the very roots of American higher education. They are the issues of academic freedom and sufficient freedom in academic management to enable the university to function in accordance with the principles of all great universities everywhere.

"The values x x x are of such significant to the welfare of a great university that I could not compromise or sacrifice them.

He said he believed the proposed settlement statements of the faculty and ex-students association, in which he cooperated, was "a reasonable, fair and constructive basis for mutual cooperation."

"I have great faith in the future of the University of Texas," he declared. "It has opportunities beyond those of almost any other university of becoming one of the truly great universities of America.

"If the people of Texas will fully realize what a great university is, and ought to be, and will support it morally and financially, as I am confident they will, nothing can prevent it from fulfilling the founders' dream of a university of the first class. It has been the greatest joy and privilege of my life to serve as its president."

ulations and policies of the board and to properly and efficiently discharge x x x many of the terms and conditions of the trust committed to him by the board."

His discharge and the trio of resignations capped long standing dissensions between the administrator and the board.

The governor has not acted on the resignations of the three board members.

If all these resignations take place, Gov. Stevenson on Jan. 1 will have the unique task of naming an entire new nine-member board of regents because the terms of three members expire on that date.

Under Texas law, regents are appointed by the governor, subject to confirmation of the state senate. The regents have broad powers, constitutionally and by statute, to direct policies of the university.

The clash between Rainey and the board has already participated investigations by the American Association of University Professors and the Southern Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools. The AAUP is an organization of college teachers; the Southern association is an accrediting agency.

McKinney Rites Scheduled Today

James Samuel McKinney, 72, pioneer West Texan whose writings recalled days of the open range to many early settlers of this section, was to be buried here Thursday evening.

"Jim" McKinney, as he was known, came to Howard county originally more than 50 years ago and his penchant for remembering details enabled him to contribute numerous accounts of pioneer lore to newspapers.

Active and remarkably clear in memory, he was back here for the Old Settlers reunion this year and helped to barbecue for the event. Afterwards he went to visit a brother, Albert, in El Paso and then to visit a brother-in-law in Blackwell, where he died at 5 p. m. Tuesday.

Rites were to be at 5 p. m. at the Eberley-Curry chapel with the Rev. W. L. Porterfield of the Wesley Methodist church officiating, and burial was to be beside the grave of his sister, Mrs. Elizabeth Taylor, who succumbed in 1943.

Among survivors are his brothers, B. F. (Bud) McKinney, Coahoma; Albert McKinney, El Paso; one sister, Mrs. Ellen Tatten, Los Angeles, Calif.

Nephews of Mr. McKinney were to serve as pallbearers.

Some Blue Tokens Not Yet Returned

The local banks which handled the receiving and distribution of the blue tokens that became invalid October 7, reported that only 33,602 of the blue tokens were returned to them to be destroyed.

The total of the tokens distributed by the banks amounted to 220,000, which leaves approximately 186,398 which were not used for processed foods nor have they been turned in. The Howard county ration office said that a few of the tokens were turned in there by persons not having accounts at the banks, but that the number was very small.

Inventor Found Dead

COLUMBUS, O., Nov. 2 (AP)—Thomas Midgley, Jr., 55, the inventor of Ethyl gasoline, was found dead in bed today at his home in nearby Worthington.

He had been an invalid and confined to a wheel chair for four years. Sheriff's deputies said he apparently had been strangled in his sleep by a harness he had invented to help himself in and out of bed.

Gain Reported In Postal Receipts

A gain of $3,327.66 in postal receipts as compared to October of 1944 of last year was announced Thursday by Postmaster Nat Shick.

Receipts for October, 1943 amounted to $11,540.47, while receipts for October, 1944 totaled $14,868.13.

From January 1 to October 31, 1943, postal receipts were $103,674.69, and from January 1 to October 31, 1944 they amounted to $114,387.33, showing a gain of $10,712.64 for the first 10 months.

Shick said they lacked just $5,675.68 as being as much as the whole of 1943, and they still have all of November and December to account for.

Connolly Says Demo Candidate Sure To Win

WASHINGTON, Nov. 2 (AP)—Senator Connolly (D-Tex) predicted today that President Roosevelt would receive a majority of at least 50 votes in the electoral college.

"That's a just rough guess," he told a news conference. "My authority is not as good as that betting commissioner in St. Louis and I haven't got any money up — I don't have any money to bet."

He predicted that Roosevelt would receive from 65 to 75 per cent of the popular vote in Texas and that Oklahoma would go for the democratic nominee.

Officers Seek Escaped Murderer-Burglar

WARSAW, Mo., Nov. 2 (AP)—Scores of officers, aided by planes and bloodhounds, searched the rugged Ozark mountains today for the slayer of Sheriff Louis J. Miesner, who was shot to death in the Benton county jail yesterday, evidently with his own machine gun.

Harold (Buster) Goff, 27, a prisoner awaiting transfer to the state penitentiary to start a term for burglary, is being hunted. He escaped following the shooting.

Mud Slows Yank Italian Advance

By LYNN HEINZERLING

ROME, Nov. 2 (AP)—The campaign which has ground 500 miles up through Italy and cost at least 90,000 casualties in American forces alone was slowed in the mud of the Po valley and peaks of the Apennines today. Gen. Sir Harold Alexander, Allied commander, said he saw no signs of the Germans pulling out of Italy.

He made no effort to conceal the fact that the powerful offensive launched against the Gothic line last August has now halted almost completely.

"I can't tell how long it will take to drive them out, but it will be done," Alexander told correspondents. He declined to hazard any dates on the Italian or any other campaign but remarked that he could not imagine the war in Europe continuing beyond 1945.

Alexander said the original plan for attacking the Gothic line had been altered because of the withdrawal of all French divisions and some American divisions for the invasion of Southern France.

Correspondent Says Robots Due To Hit U. S.

LONDON, Nov. 2 (AP)—Walter Farr, Daily Mail correspondent, said today in a Stockholm dispatch he had been informed the Germans soon could "certainly" launch rockets against the United States.

Farr said he was told the Germans had completed a new series of experiments and were satisfied they could send V-2 rockets against England "on a fairly large scale."

His informant was termed an authority in a position to know what progress the Germans had made with secret weapons.

Farr quoted his informant as saying, although the Germans could reach the United States with the rockets, they appeared to be concentrating on production of V-2s for Britain.

Back in the states now after 28 1-2 months overseas in the European theater is Sgt. Durward H. Hartin, nephew of Mrs. V. B. Soape, 511 W 4th street. An air corps soldier, he is to be assigned to the Eighth service command as a supply clerk.

Interest Centers On International Aviation Council And Post-War Plans

By JAMES J. STREIB Associated Press Aviation Editor CHICAGO, Nov. 2—Interest in the international civil aviation conference centered today on an exposition of the main issues to be met in deciding on post-war use of the skies.

Thus far only British empire countries have defined their aims for the future of world flying. They want an international authority with economic controls over global air service equivalent to that exercised by the Civil Aeronautics Board over domestic airlines in this country.

The United States view—generally described as favoring a limited authority having control over rates and economic practices, but not over routes and schedules—has been known informally for some time. There has been no official statement.

Adolf A. Berle, Jr., chairman of the American delegation, promised yesterday that one would be made, along with formal outlines by the United Kingdom, Canada, France and probably others.

The conference, bringing together 51 nations for three weeks of deliberation, opened formally Wednesday afternoon with a message from President Roosevelt reminding delegates that they were "engaged in a great attempt to build enduring institutions of peace."

Declaring that air commerce "has reached maturity and is a pressing necessity," Mr. Roosevelt said: "I do not believe that the world of today can afford to wait

SPORTS ROUNDUP

NEW YORK, Nov. 2 (AP)—There's always something going on in Brooklyn... General Manager Tom Gallery... ex-coach Pete Cawthon of the football Tigers still are exchanging words hot enough to make the Gowanus canal burn when Branch Rickey, at whom the bleacher birds have been believing "cheap, cheap," all season, comes along and buys a quarter interest in the Dodgers.

Everything Was Jake Alex Robb of the thoroughbred racing association (Inc) comes up with this one about Jacob Pincus, a famous horse trainer in the old days and later a race starter... Seems that several years for its air communications. There is no reason why it should.

"It would be a reflection on the common sense of nations if they were not able to make arrangements, at least on a provisional basis, making possible the opening of the much needed air routes. I hope when your conference adjourns, that these arrangements will have been made. Then, all that will be needed will be to start using the air as a great peaceful medium, instead of a battle area."

one day at Jerome Park, Pincus was having trouble with a start, especially with a horse ridden by an English amateur rider... Finally Pincus sent the field away but the Englishman was left... hoping it was a false start, the amateur asked: "Is it a 'go' Mr. Pincus?" "Yes," said Jacob, pointing up the track. "And I thing they went that way"

Color Chart Harold Green, who fights Rocky Graziano at the Garden Friday, is trained by Freddie Brown. He used to be called "Red" but his flaming hair recently turned black. His opponent's trainer is "Whitey" Bimstein... and if the fight doesn't draw, Mike Jacobs, naturally, will be blue.

Shirts and Shells The reason the winter golf tour will start in Portland, Ore., is that after an exhibition last summer, Bob Hudson asked Jug McSpaden how much it would cost to put on an open tournament. McSpaden replied $10,000 and Hudson hauled out a check and wrote one for that amount... What's this story that Col. Bob Neyland, ex-Tennessee coach now in China, is headed for Yale after the war? Sounds just ridiculous enough to be true, and Yale is one place where "The Majah" always wanted to go... Bob Wooten, Oklahoma end who has kicked 16 out of 19 points after touchdowns this season, never even tried one before this year.

Sport Shots By HAROLD V. RATLIFF Associated Press Sports Editor DALLAS, Oct. 31 (AP)—The Southwest conference is showing a big increase in attendance over last year, not only in intersectional play but in home games—and the latter are what count in the evaluation of football interest.

The six teams have played 16 home games this season and drawn 172,467. Last year for the same period they had played 14 and 102,642 turned out. Two more games would not have made that much difference.

There are several reasons. Rice, for instance, is 50,000 ahead of last year because it has played two more home games and because in 1943 the Owls were not even rated strong and performed accordingly, while this year they were heralded as top title contenders as far back as the summer and lived up to expectations.

Arkansas showed a gain of 2,000 although playing one less game. Here, too, a better rating helped. For the first time in history the Texas-Arkansas game at Little Rock was a sell-out.

Texas has drawn 10,000 more than last year for the same number of games but it's difficult to figure this out since Texas is not as strong and has a poorer record. Texas A. and M. has 2,500 more for the same number of games. Can't figure that out either because the Aggies also are not as strong.

Texas Christian is 7,000 behind although playing two home games to one last year. Class of opponents is the major reason; lack of local interest because of so many strangers on the squad is another.

Southern Methodist is off almost 6,000 for the same number of games. S. M. U. played Tulsa last year; this season none of the opponents have been of that caliber.

Speaking of hard-luck football teams, go down to San Antonio and hold the head of George (Red) Forehand, coach of Brackenridge high.

The team lost its best tackle with a kidney injury, its top back with a broken foot, its best guard with an intestinal operation, the other guard broke his elbow and has had to play with the arm in a cast, the full-back developed gall-bladder trouble and has been limited in his play and the fastest back dislocated a knee to go with an ulcerated stomach.

Railroad Commission Gives Hearings Today

AUSTIN, Nov. 2 (AP)—The railroad commission gave notice today of the following hearings: Nov. 29—to determine whether production in the North Rincon field and Cameron field are one and the same; also whether the two fields should be combined into one.

Nov. 28—to consider Plymouth Oil company's request that Rule 2 (a) of the field rules applicable to the Plymouth field, San Patricio county, be amended.

Nov. 18—to consider Skelly Oil company's application to dually complete eleven wells in the Carthage field, Panola county.

Nov. 13—to consider Sun Oil company's request for exception to Rule 23 of East Texas field rules and to East Texas proration program as it affects their Horace Schuyler "A" lease, Rusk county.

REGULAR GRIND

DRIP GRIND, TOO

Plain facts about really good coffee

COFFEE that's wisely purchased and carefully brewed will be really good coffee. Here are some plain facts about buying and brewing it.

BUYING COFFEE Choose the blend that you find most satisfactory to your taste. Some are smooth and mild—some are rich and robust. But if you like it, that's the blend for you, no matter what the price tag says.

Buy fresh coffee, whether it comes already ground or packed under vacuum, or is ground to your order at the store.

Get the grind that is best suited to your coffee maker. ("Regular grind," in vacuum-packed coffee, is suitable for all coffee makers. "Drip grind" is favored for drip or vacuum makers—store-ground coffee can be specified for percolator, vacuum, drip or coffee pot.)

BREWING COFFEE Clean containers and coffee makers are required, if you want really good coffee. Keep vacuum-packed coffee in its own container. Before transferring store-ground coffee to your pantry container, make sure that all the old coffee has been removed (a thorough washing with soap and hot water, followed by thorough drying, insures the right result). Even a little old coffee can spoil the new). Thoroughly wash and dry the coffee maker similarly, every day; once a month, boil it out in soapy water to freshen it.

Use enough coffee in your coffee maker. As a general rule, for average strength, 1 rounded tablespoon or 2 level tablespoons for each standard 8-ounce cup of water.

Surplus Property Selling Program Opens This Week

A national selling program of surplus property was announced this week by Russel C. Duncan, Deputy in charge of Sales and Merchandising of Treasury's Office of Surplus Property.

It will no longer be necessary for persons to contact each of the eleven regions to determine what surpluses are available. A "surplus reporter" will be issued from each office which will advise firms on the Treasury's mailing list what there is available to sell and information about obtaining it.

Present mailing lists are being completely revised and those on the regional lists are being sent forms to check and return for the information they desire. Texas is included in Region VII, along with Arkansas, Louisiana, Oklahoma.

Among those commodities which will be available for resale are furniture, both household and industrial, machinery for farming, industry, mining and construction, automotive equipment and medical and surgical supplies. Paper products and hardware fixtures can be obtained. General products which may be put up for resale are electrical appliances, several types of radios, optical equipment, phonographic materials.

Streetcars And Buses Roll Through Dallas As Army Ends Work Stoppage

DALLAS, Nov. 2 (AP)—Streetcars and buses rumbled through Dallas streets on schedule today following intervention by army officials which broke a 12-hour transportation strike here late yesterday.

The action was taken just in time to prevent the stranding of thousands of homeward-bound business and war workers.

Streetcar operators, some motorcoach drivers and a few shop men stopped work yesterday when they learned that eight supervisory positions had been given to non-union men. E. N. Rhodes, president of the Amalgamated Association of Street, Electric Railway and Motorcoach Employees (AFL) local 1336, said.

Rhodes added that "the strike was unofficial" and said it had been called by the rank and file in protest of the promotion list.

Operators refused to take out their vehicles on early shifts and W. R. Burns, president of the Dallas Railway and Terminal company, and G. I. Plummer, vice-president, were called to the Oak Cliff barns before dawn.

There were no reports of violence and there were no pickets. As the stoppage continued through the day and more transportation workers joined the protest, hastily organized emergency transportation plans were prepared by retailers, manufacturers, war plants and business offices.

Preparations to meet the crisis included car pooling, use of private trucks for makeshift buses, and issuing of extra gasoline to "A" card holders by the Office of Price Administration.

Business suffered, and downtown stores reported a slump in sales. Hundreds of workers were late to their jobs.

Col. W. H. Nelson, chief of the labor branch of the Eighth service command, appeared during the afternoon and brought about a compromise which started the transportation system rolling in time to move workers home.

A. F. Steele, international organizer for the union, asked Nelson to announce the terms of the compromise by which only four of the eight non-union employees were promoted.

Nelson also told operators at the Oak Cliff barns, where the stoppage started, that "most materials" for the fighting fronts were at stake and at 4 p. m., as crowds began to collect at car stops and others resorted to emergency measures to get home, the army intervention succeeded in ending the stoppage.

"The Fighting Ninth Evac" Has Had Three-Week Lull In Two Years

By HAL BOYLE
WITH THE 9TH EVACUATION HOSPITAL IN FRANCE, Oct. 25 (AP) — (Delayed) — "The Ninth Evacuation will lead the way to health and victory!"

That was the refrain line of a pep song sung by nurses of the Ninth Evacuation Hospital when they left England for Africa two years ago this month.

The girls don't sing that now — they are long past the pep song stage — but they still are living up to it in their daily lives.

In two years overseas most military outfits change personnel so much they hardly are recognizable, but not "The Fighting Ninth Evac."

"We still have about 75 per cent of our original personnel," said Col. William E. Stone of Booneville, Mo., their commander, "and that applies to doctors and nurses as well as enlisted men."

He has been a good shepherd. There have been only two deaths — both in auto accidents — among his 47 officers, 53 nurses, and 294 men.

"We've had a few shells land near our area, but no actual casualties," said Stone.

"We've been idle only three weeks in 25 months overseas," he continued, "and in that time we treated just under 40,000 soldiers — including about 7,000 since we landed in France."

That isn't a record. One or two other evacuation hospitals — those through which were funneled wounded from the bloody Anzio beachhead — have handled more casualties, and two hospitals beat the Ninth Evac into action by a few days. But there isn't a better-known hospital along the battlefront.

Just as certain battle units such as the First and Third Infantry divisions distinguished themselves by combat vigor and valor, the Ninth Evac has made a name for itself by its tight-knit unity and one of the finest surgical records in any theater. Its personnel is as proven as a scrappy football team.

They like being referred to as "The Fighting Ninth Evac" but are getting a little bashful about using it themselves.

Mussolini's Property Ordered Confiscated

ROME, Nov. 2 (AP) — Benito Mussolini's personal property and real estate were ordered confiscated by a Rome court today at the request of the customs superintendent's office.

The order also provided for seizure of the property of Mussolini's immediate family.

Rome newspapers said the greater part of Mussolini's goods had been transferred previously to Brazil by planes of a transatlantic airline, of which Vittorio Mussolini, son of the former dictator, was president.

Pressman Predicts Wage Ceiling Ban

WASHINGTON, Nov. 2 (AP) — A confident prediction came from CIO Counsel Lee Pressman today that President Roosevelt will take the lid off wages even before victory in Europe is in sight.

The lawyer, who presented the steelworkers' case before the War Labor Board for a general increase which would puncture the administration's wage ceilings, also ventured the opinion that the board will dispose of corollary issues of vacations, guaranteed annual wages, etc., this month.

The board started yesterday to consider the auxiliary demands, side-tracking its public members' unfinished report for the president on general wage policy until the day after election.

Chairman William H. Davis said last night one member had been asked to draw up a tentative conclusion on the first of these extra issues — a guaranteed annual wage — after at least partial accord had been reached on that point. He would not say the demands could be disposed of this month.

Some of the members are believed to favor continuance of the present wage controls until V-E day or at least until victory over Germany can be foreseen.

But Pressman told reporters he is sure the Little Steel formula, keystone of the wage policy, will be breached by Mr. Roosevelt before that time.

Senator Connally To Speak To WTCC

Senator Tom Connally will be the chief speaker before the West Texas Chamber of Commerce directors and referendum assembly in Abilene on Wednesday, Nov. 8, the WTCC announced this week.

M. C. Ulmer, regional chamber president, said that all West Texas congressmen, state senators and representatives are also being invited to the luncheon honoring Senator Connally.

Two formal presentations will be made to the senior senator at the luncheon, one in which he will be thanked for his services in fathering or supporting measures which Texas has gone all out for. In the other, he will be presented a portfolio showing how the 146 WTCC affiliated towns have voted in this fall's referendum on federal questions contained in the nine-point ballot of 1945 policies and activities.

The federal questions, all post-war, in the ballot are referendum planks Nos. 6, 8 and 9, relating to the social security program, the national budget and tax program and reconversion.

The luncheon of West Texas officers, directors and committee-men, and chamber of commerce managers in the area, will start at noon on the 8th in the Crystal Ballroom of the Hilton hotel. Clifford B. Jones of Lubbock, a past president of the WTCC, will be toastmaster and present the senior senator. Musical entertainment will be supplied by servicemen from Camp Barketeey.

Use Of Kerosene To Kill Mesquite

By DURWARD LEWTER, County Agricultural Agent

It seems certain that it takes more kerosene to kill a mesquite in some soils than it does in others. An application of kerosene should reach all the buds under the ground on the base of the tree so that these buds will be killed by the kerosene and will not sprout. Some of these buds may be located several inches below the ground surface.

When anyone plans to use kerosene on mesquites, it is suggested that he make a test on the depth of the penetration of kerosene into the soil around the trees, before he begins the deacidening of any considerable acreage of mesquite.

The depth that a certain amount of kerosene will move down into the soil, will likely depend not only on the kind of soil, but upon how much moisture is in the soil, and possibly the temperature, especially if diesel or fuel oil, is used.

We would expect to get the deepest penetration with a certain amount of kerosene where the soil is sandy, not wet, and when the weather is warm.

A suggested test is to select six or eight trees of about the same stump diameter and use a different amount of kerosene around each. For example, if the stump diameters are about 4 inches each, pour a quart pint around one, a half pint around another, a pint around another and so on until the heaviest application is well above what is thought to be sufficient. A record of the quantity of the application around each tree must be kept. A notation should be made as to whether the ground is wet, moist, or dry, and of the temperature, as a matter of record for future use.

The final results of the applications as to whether or not all buds have been killed cannot be determined for a year or two, but in a week or so after the applications have been made, one could dig the soil away from the bases of the trees and find out how deep the kerosene had moved down each tree base.

Other similar tests should be made with several trees of larger diameter, if such are on the acreage to be deacidened, and with several trees of smaller diameter. The whole purpose of these tests would be to determine, within a few days, just about how much kerosene is needed to cover a tree base of a certain size down to a depth of some 6 or 8 inches below the ground surface, under the conditions that exist.

It is a waste of both time and kerosene to apply an insufficient amount of kerosene to a tree.

Washing Windows

By RHEBA MERLE BOYLES

Clear windows add much to the convenience and comfort of the home, especially on dark fall and winter days, and often save on lighting bills. The time for fall window-washing is before freezing and just before storm sashes go on. Nevertheless, many a window is likely to go dingy this season because war-busy housewives no longer have time for the long and arduous pane-polishing they did in prewar days.

Ways to make window-washing speedier and easier-frequent dusting of windows is advised so that washing will not be necessary so often. Every few weeks go over the glass with soft tissue paper. Brush off outside window ledges and dust inside sills and frames. Remove all screens before winter not only to save the screen but also to keep the outside of the window clean. Rain beating through dusty screens soils windows.

Avoid soap in washing windows. It streaks the glass and makes the job difficult. Use either one of the solutions sold for the purpose or warm water containing a little household ammonia, alcohol, or vinegar. Alcohol and ammonia help "cut" greasy dirt on the pane. Vinegar helps loosen such dirt as road dust and smoke. In cold weather these solutions keep water from freezing on the glass. For washing use chamois or a soft lintless cloth. Chamois has the advantage of absorbing moisture readily and leaving no lint. Dip the chamois or cloth in the solution, squeeze dry, then wipe the window from the top down. If very soiled, rinse the chamois and wipe again. Dry with a clean cloth or chamois. Bright clear weather speeds the work by making it easy to see whether the glass is clean.

After finishing the window, wipe the sash, sill and frame so dust will not blow back on the glass.

Three Hellcat Pilots Chase Jap Formation

By MORRIS LANDSBERG ABOARD A U. S. CARRIER IN THE PHILIPPINE SEA, Oct. 27 (Delayed) (AP)—The Navy's top carrier-plane ace—with 30 planes to his credit—said today he and two other Hellcat pilots chased a formation of Japanese fighters and bombers all the way to Manila on the day he himself shot down nine of the enemy aircraft in a single flight.

One of the trio was Lt. (jg) A. C. Slack, route one, Lufkin, Tex. The ace, Commander David McCampbell of Los Angeles, said "there were only two of us at the outset against 40 Japs. We really scrambled like wounded eagles for help."

"The top enemy fighter was at 22,000 feet, so my wingman Lt. (jg) Roy Rushing, 22, of McGehee, Ark., and I went to 24,000 before attacking. The Japs must have thought there were more of us because they made a couple of circuits and headed back for Manila."

After three years service in the Southwest Pacific battle zones Pfc. Cecil M. McCollough has returned home on furlough for a visit with his sister, Mrs. Monroe, 511 Nolan street, Big Spring. McCollough was in the invasion of Arawa and New Britain Islands, serving with the 112th Cavalry, and returned to the United States from an Australian hospital.

Want To Make A Slipcover?

By VIVIAN BROWN, AP Newsfeatures Writer

Now, more than ever, slipcovers take a definite part in the decorative scheme of the home. Many women prefer to purchase new chairs and couches finished only with a muslin cover, so that the room decorations may be changed with the seasons.

Slipcovers are easy to make. You can turn out a professional looking job with sewing machine attachments that make binding, scalloping and all the other decorator finishes as easy as stitching up a straight seam.

There are standard slipcover patterns which may be altered to fit any chair. Or a pattern can be made of paper or muslin. If you have even a shadow of a doubt about your ability or any question about fitting or other decorator tricks, stop in at your local sewing center where you can learn all the modern short-cuts that make slipcover sewing easy.

To estimate the amount of yardage required for your slipcover, consider the full width of the material. Decorating fabrics usually come in either 36 or 50-inch widths. When using a 50-inch width, you often can cut the smaller sections from the sides, after main pieces have been cut. Take the total of the back length from top to floor, front, back, seat, front from seat to floor; the side measurement over arm to seat doubled; the length of the cushion doubled.

A "tuck-in" allowance of three inches should be added to each piece that will receive strain when the chair is used, and a generous three-quarter inch should be allowed for each seam. Reduce this total to yards. Generous estimates should be used in buying the material with a repeat design has been selected which requires matching and placing, allow 1 to 1 1/2 yards more, depending on size of motif.

Following your measurements, cut muslin or paper in lengths, corresponding with measurements plus generous seam allowances and tuck-in. Be sure to follow the grain of the fabric. Keep the lengthwise pieces up and down, and crosswise grain across the chair, following the grain of the original upholstery. Place each in its position and pin fit carefully, making a seam wherever one appears in the original upholstery.

When all pieces are fitted to satisfaction, take a piece of colored tailor's chalk and mark seams along pinned line. Then mark each section for identification, as back, front or seat. Make matching notches on all sections before removing pins. The notches are particularly necessary where a slight fullness in one section is to be eased in, when joined to the corresponding section.

Cut material for your chair from this pattern. Place pattern on fabric so that motifs of the printed design are placed where they should be.

The opening for the slipcover should be made at the side of a back leg, using a long zipper, applied as you would in a jacket. If there is a separate cushion, the opening should be made near the seam across the back or one side, on the underneath side. If snap fasteners are used instead of side fastener, use plenty of them.

Your slipcover may be made with French seams or with a variety of wetting and fringe finishes.

Yearlings Play At Home Tonight With Hermleigh

Stepping onto a vacant spot left by their big brother-Stears the Big Spring Yearlings take the spotlight in the only football classic of the week pitting local talent against outside opposition and meet the Hermleigh Cardinals tonight in Steer Stadium with the initial kickoff slated for 8 p. m. and 60-minutes or classy football expected to follow with the Cards ruling favorites.

The Yearling will be hanging to a 500 per cent average tonight with an early-season loss, and a revenge for that defeat in winning from their original victors the Tahoka B team, and a tie in their third game with the Midland Pups. Also in the minds of the local offerings will be a sound 21-0 loss they sustained at the hands of these self-same Redbirds last season, when the majority of the present roster was still running on the third team for the maverick youngsters.

Hermleigh lost to Abilene 8-0, won two others and tied one game and has nearly every advantage in speed and experience and are the easy favorites. Being a senior high team they are mostly above the 15-year mark which tags most of the Yearling group. These small-school boys also play a pretty rough brand of football and are usually victors in their matches with larger-city eleven.

For the locals George Worrell, Ervis Campbell, Gordon Madison and Paul Shaffer will probably step into the spotlight as individual stars in the ball carrying department. In other games this year the four men have shown little difference in ability and all have done their share in drawing the praise of fans. Worrell is a fast and powerful runner through the line, and Shaffer is a scab back with plenty of speed, besides being an excellent pass receiver.

Pete Fuglar and Wesley Rogers at the guard positions and Marvin Wright at his tackle slot have been three of the outstanding contributions of Yearling coaches in the line. These boys have done excellent work defensively, blocking, and Fuglar and Wright made some nice running gains for the Yearlings last week on tricky reverses.

Expected to step into the lineup, though not listed as a starter is 14-year-old 150 pound Gerald Burrow, who will fill what has proven to be the local's weakest spot this year, the center slot. Burrow got into some of the rough-stuff out in practice the other day and showed foes very quickly that he was ready, willing, and very much able.

Starting for the teams will be Jones and Thomas at ends, Collins and Wright at tackles, Fuglar and Rogers at guards, O'Brien at center, Madison, Campbell, Worrell, and Shaffer in the backfield.

For Hermleigh the starting lineup bears the names of Smith and Bayless at ends, Blankenship and Campbell at tackles, Miraz and Sims at guards, Brackeen at center, with Hale, Kinzey, Herriey, and Corbell in the backfield.

West Ward Battles East In Top Game Of Junior Football Games

With the best expected last the Ward school football league will enter its fourth week this afternoon at Steer stadium with East and West battling in the curtain finale of the day in what promises to be the classic of the afternoon. North and South ward eleven meet in the opener with both teams seeking their first win of the year, and College Heights meets the once-beaten Central ward eleven.

In the curtain raiser the game little squad from South ward again is the underdog team against a group of larger but still-winless North squad who should have little trouble in beating the diminutive orange shirted eleven. The North has lost to College Heights, West, and Central, with the South losing to College Heights, West and East wards.

The second game of the schedule may also prove to be thriller. The Central ward eleven has dropped one game, that one to East ward by the narrow margin of 7-6 while the College Heights team they will play has lost none but has been tied once by the potent West ward team. If Central can work out a defense to stop "Rusty" Rusk and can shake their heavyweight speedster Jackie Kilway loose then they might take a win. The game, however, shows College Heights the favorites with a very slight edge.

In the last game the West ward will pit its Leslie Sherrod and Lewis Gilbert plus a strong line against a husky young fullback in Eddie Hooper and a smaller speedster Howard Jones in the game that will probably prove the highlight of the day. The East ward team has dropped one game, their season opener to College Heights, and have come to the front in the last two games, giving them a better-than-even chance to take the big-red team.

The first game is slated for 3:45 with six minute quarters and each successive game will be played as soon as the dust and teams can be cleared away. This afternoon marks the last day of play before the finals next Thursday. College Heights and West ward lead with two wins and one tie for each team, with Central and East ward tied for second with one loss and two wins, while the North side Dogies and South ward eleven seek their first wins to date.

Sliding Down The Sports Chute

with BILL

It came to my attention late Saturday night that Big Spring is sponsor of quite an athlete in the field of bowling in the person of one Pete Howze. Pete, as you remember, bowled a perfect 300 not long ago in league play.

Some nine days later the same Mr. Howze slammed over the pins to rack up a score of 299, just one pin off that perfect tally . . . in case you are not a bowling fan, that, my friends, is something. It was known before that Pete might receive national recognition . . . now it is a certainty. Congratulations to Big Spring's present No. 1 bowler and next time I'll tip the pin boys so that one pin will not be left to mar a perfect score.

An old friend of Big Spring, and a long-time idol of yours truly, Mr. Pete Cawthon recently announced his resignation as head coach of the professional Brooklyn Tigers. That is the greatest mistake the Tigers ever made . . . in letting him go. It is a certainty that if Pete can't win games his successors will not, at least with the material on the roster now.

Pete picked my alma mater, Texas Tech, up in 1930 and from junior college competition brought it to the front in national football. The Red Raiders became noted for their winning ways and almost every state in the nation played host to the colorful Pete and his boys.

Upon Pete's wide and brawny shoulders have gone a very bad reputation, and I think a very wrong one. It is reputed that a Cawthon team is a dirty playing one. That is very untrue, and even if instances prove they received more than their share of penalties it was not Pete but the competitive spirit of wanting to win he placed in every man who ever played an hour of football under him.

I have often discussed with ex-Cawthon men (and they were all men too) the reputation garnered by his teams. They tell me that they never heard Pete tell any man at any time to try any unnecessary rough-stuff against any foe . . . and they were not trying to hide secrets from me . . . most of them were friends of mine.

At any rate it is my hope that Pete will return to college football some day soon. In times where color and spark, as well as spirit and will-to-win playing are missing so much, the sport needs him and any college would be well off if they had his ability. And you can bet your last dollar on one thing. . . . Pete will always be coaching football and his record at Brooklyn was not all his fault as is proven by the Detroit Lions. So to a grand guy and an excellent coach

Midland Meets Bobcats; Angelo Heavy Favorites

By BILL BARNETT

All will be quiet on the grid front in Big Spring Friday night but over at Abilene the picture is anything but that as the Eagles of that city clash with the Sweetwater Mustangs in the top game of District No. 3 in what promises to give predictions on who will do what against the defending San Angelo champions. Midland also will be a hot-spot of activity when the Bulldog eleven plays host to the invading title holders, with most of the activity expected from the visiting team.

Sweetwater rules a slight favorite due to the fact they are undefeated and tied this season, and have two conference wins to their credit over Midland 33-13 and over Lamesa 47-6. The Eagles on the other hand have dropped two games to Amarillo and Breckenridge with two conference wins over Odessa 14-7 and Midland 25-19. The latter game tends to make them the underdogs in comparative scores while their entire schedule shows a much tougher slate than the Ponies have encountered this year.

Cries of "Who have you played?" have been arising from Abilene fans directed toward the Mustangs, and reports from Coach Mack Alexander's boosters say the answer will be given Friday night.

Towner Leeper, fast stepping star of the Mustangs, will vie with Jim Harrison, ace scorer for the Eagles, in individual antics. However, the game looms to be a passing one as Sweetwater has done best in that department this year, and if their line can hold up against the powerful forward wall of the host eleven a better-than-average game should develop. It will most certainly sponsor plenty of running plays (from the Eagles) and this will be speeded with one of the best passing attacks in the state (from Sweetwater and Leeper).

Midland boosters have compared their lineup man for man and position for position with the champion Bobcats and claim it every bit as good. They lay claim that their heralded passing attack will outscore the Bobcats as it almost did the Eagles, but other sources consider the felines will be the pinch victors.

Bill Richards of the Bulldogs will vie with George Graham, the district's leading scorer, of the Cats for individual honors during the night and the fur will most certainly be flying when the big Angelo line begins their almost-perfect blocking for the powerful fullback.

In Odessa and Lamesa, as well as locally, there will be no activity with bearing on the district title. San Angelo comes to Big Spring next week, Abilene follows November 17, and the Steers Journey to Sweetwater November 23 for the final game of the season.

whose players never let him down, and who never lets his players down go my best wishes for the future and I know they carry the same for anyone who ever knew him.

I noticed in Blondy Cross' Sunday column that some of the Odessa fans thought Coach Jewel Wallace made it unnecessarily rough on the Bronchos when he let his San Angelo Bobcats run wild over the heretofore heralded Hopkins eleven 7-0.

As well as I remember it was Coach Hopkins and these self-same fans who not too many weeks ago answered in kind to Big Spring complaints . . . "we did not come over here to give you anything."

That is a very good answer for Blondy and Angelo to give Odessa, although the Bobcat third team saw a lot of action against the outclassed Pony team, which is more than they say for Odessa against the locals. Too bad, Odessa . . . your memory must be getting bad.

See you . . .

Major Leagues Seek Hurlers For 1945

CHICAGO, Nov. 2 (AP)—Baseball's major league strategists, already preparing for their fourth wartime season, apparently are determined to keep their batteries well-charged over the winter.

When officials of 13 clubs spent $137,500 in less than 15 minutes at their annual draft meeting yesterday, they went hot and heavy after pitchers and catchers, who comprised 10 of the 19 players selected from minor leagues.

The first three players selected were hurlers. Charles Spruell, 16-game winner for the champion Milwaukee club of the American Association, was the No. 1 choice of the Philadelphia Phils who got the first crack at the draft bargain-counter.

The Washington Senators, making the first American league pick, drafted Marino Pieretti (26-13) of Portland in the Pacific Coast league. The Brooklyn Dodgers, who shopped the hardest in grabbing three players, all pitchers, had the next bid and took veteran Tom Seaver (25-13) of the San Francisco Seals.

Neither of St. Louis' 1944 champions, the Cardinals and the Browns, made a bid while the only other club that failed to dip into the minor league barrel was Detroit. The Tigers sought three players, but all were ineligible because of previous selections from their clubs.

Cawthon To Detroit As Brooklyn Burns

BROOKLYN, Nov. 2 (AP)—Hot words are still flying around the Brooklyn Tigers football office as the result of the "resignation" of Coach Pete Cawthon followed by charges.

Cawthon received a check for $4,186.40 in our offices Monday. In return he agreed in writing not to harass, impede or interfere with our club. But he went downstairs to cash the check immediately and then began sniping at us.

Cawthon signed yesterday with the Detroit Lions as associate to Coach Gus Dorais.

GI Joe Is Due A Break

Ever wonder what men at the front think about, what their outlook on the "post-war" era is? We have one from a former Big Spring man which ought to give a lot of food for thought. We quote:

"Whatever gave the people back there the idea this affair would be wound up in the next month or so? Old Jerry is taking a licking and will be beaten eventually but in the meantime he's not showing any inclination to quit. The top Nazis have nothing to lose by continuing the war as long as possible because they are dead pigeons anyway and the people have been fed so much stuff anyway about what is going to happen to the German nation and its youth if they lose the war that they are willing to go to the most desperate lengths to prolong the war in hopes of tiring out the Allies... They're not exactly fighting for Hitler. They're fighting for their homes and country if they are to believe everything they are told.

"I'm like that old Confederate general—eventually we could beat the other side in a fight with cornstalks, but the sons-of-gun aren't using cornstalks so it will take a bit longer. Sooner or later Jerry will realize he has more to gain by stopping, but until then he will put up a plenty tough scrap."

Looking ahead he hopes "all lines of work keep a fairly decent wage level when this war is over because the fellows are not going to be satisfied with a bare living after going through all the misery and downright hell that war can be. The soldiers read about the big money being made by those back home and I believe they are of the opinion they should have their innings when this blooming mess is over. They feel they've earned a certain degree of advantage and, by George, I'm inclined to agree with them. Old GI Joe has been sent all over the world to make things better for other people but you can bet your bottom dollar he has not forgotten some pretty firm convictions concerning what is better for GI Joe."

Surely none of us at home can argue that those coming to grips with the Germans don't know what they are talking about. Such talk ought to put a damper on some of our wish-ing instead of cold, hard thinking.

And, there is a lot in what he has to say about GI Joe. Some are over there by choice, some because they were obliged to go — but everyone of them is standing between us and the savagery of the enemy. Why shouldn't that earn them special consideration. Not all people make the big money our friend writes about — for millions who stay faithfully to old jobs were caught by wage stabilization. These, however, will be the first to say give Joe a little better deal, please. The guy with the far fatter pay check will be the one to call the veterans radicals.

The War Today

by Dewitt Mackenzie Associated Press War Analyst

There's this satisfaction to be had from the developments growing out of the Chiang-Stilwell fuss: When the lid blows off the kettle, Jack can see what his supper is.

The Allied governments (and their publics) now know what's cookin' in China. And since they don't like the dish overmuch they needn't waste further time dishing for it but can seek other fare—that is, unless Chief Chiang decides to change the menu.

In short, the United Nations are in position to tighten up their plans for the final assault on Japan, without expending unnecessary effort in trying to iron out China's mountainous problems, which Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek prefers to handle in his own way. Fortunately the Allies are so favorably situated that they can adjust themselves quickly to an altered strategy if need be—and there are signs that the change already is on the way.

Our mastery of the Japanese navy, together with the successful invasion of the Philippines, will permit us to make direct attacks on Nippon without the elaborate preparations necessary to turn a shattered China into an efficient fighting machine. The Allies could defeat Japan even without China. If Russia provided bases—and could do it anyway in the long run.

I don't suggest for a moment that the Allies intend to abandon their efforts to aid China in every feasible way. Presumably the Burma road will be reopened to handle a greater volume of badly needed supplies, and there may be an Allied invasion of China's southeast coast to establish a base for military operations. Still, hopes of setting a huge, well-trained and properly equipped Chinese army to work to oust the Japs from the continent are pretty well smashed. It will have to be got at in some other way.

More Than Face

One of the most pertinent comments of the moment comes from a gentleman who observes that it is time, the Japs stopped worrying about losing face since it is apparent they are going to lose a great deal more.

Ernie Pyle: French Officers Muchly Set On Not Going Into Nazi Cherbourg

Editor's Note—This is No. 45 of the Ernie Pyle war dispatches that are being reprinted during Ernie's vacation.

ON THE CHERBOURG PENINSULA, June, 1944—Just a column of little items—

The other day a friend and I were in a mid-peninsula town not many miles from Cherbourg and we stopped to ask a couple of young French policemen wearing dark blue uniforms and Sam Browne belts where to go to buy a certain article.

Being quite hospitable, they jumped in the car and went along to show us. After we had finished our buying we all got back in the car. We tried to ask the policemen where they were going. They in turn asked us where we were going.

Knowing it was hopeless in our limited French we explained that we were going to our camp up the road, we merely said Cherbourg, meaning our camp was in that direction.

But the Frenchmen thought we meant to drive right to Cherbourg which was still in German hands. Quick as a flash they jumped up, hit the driver on the shoulder to get the car stopped, shook hands rapidly all around, saluted, and scurried out with a terrified "Au revoir." None of that Cherbourg stuff for those boys.

Some of the German officers are pleased at being captured, but your died-in-the-wool Nazi is not. They brought in a young one the other day who was furious. He considered it thoroughly unethical that we fought so hard.

The German was so outraged he never even got the irony of his own remarks—that madness though it be, it works.

Another high-ranking officer was brought in and the first thing he asked was the whereabouts of his personal orderly. When told that his orderly was in the hands and accused us of depriving him of his personal comfort.

"Who's going to dig my foxhole for me?" he demanded.

You remember that in the early days of the invasion a whole bevy of high-ranking Allied officers came to visit us—Generals Marshall, Eisenhower and Arnold, Admirals King and Ramsey—there was so much brass you just bumped two-star generals without even begging pardon.

Now generals, it seems, like to be brave. Or I should say that, being generals, they know they must appear to be brave in order to set an example. Consequently, a high-ranking general never ducks or bats an eye when a shell hits near him.

Well, the military police charged with conducting this glittering array of generals around our beachhead tried to get them to ride in armored cars, since the country was still full of snipers.

But, being generals, they said no, certainly not, no armored cars for us, we'll just go in open command cars like anybody else. And that's the way they did go.

But what the generals didn't know was this: taking no chances on such a collection of talent, the M. P.'s hid armored cars and tanks all along their route, behind hedges and under bushes, out of sight so that the generals couldn't see them, but there ready for action just in case anything did happen.

The most wrecked town I have ever seen so far is Saint Sauveur le Vicomte, known simply as "Saint Sah-Vure." Its buildings are gutted and leaning, its streets choked with rubble, and vehicles drive over the top of it.

Bombing and shellfire from both sides did it. The place looks exactly like World War I pictures of such places as Verdun. At the edge of the town the bomb craters are so immense that you could put whole houses in them.

A veteran of the last war pretty well summed up the two wars the other day when he said:

"This is just like the last war, only the holes are bigger."

So far as I know, we have entered France without anybody making a historic remark about it. Last time, you know, it was "La Fayette, we are here."

The nearest I have heard to a historic remark was made by an ack-ack gunner, sitting in a mound of earth about two weeks after D-day, reading The Stars and Stripes from London. All of a sudden he said:

"Say, where's this Normandy beachhead it talks about in here? I looked at him closely and saw he was serious, so I said: "Why, you're sitting on it!" And he said: "Well, I'll be damned, I never knewed that!"

Profits Tax Presents Phenomena

By JACK STINNETT WASHINGTON—The excess profits tax and a growing consciousness of the need for "old age security," have produced one of the great industrial phenomena of recent years—the amazing growth of retirement and pension plans for workers in private industry.

The story comes from the commissioner of Internal Revenue, a thrust whom all such plans must be cleared if they are to be taken into consideration on tax returns.

Before the war fewer than 500 companies had private pension plans for retiring workers. Since then more than 4,500 companies have filed applications with the commissioner for approval. Between 1,000 and 2,000 of these have been cleared, but review procedure has been stepped up to a point where all probably will be approved or rejected by the end of the year.

In 1942, virtually unnoticed, Congress set up standards for these pension plans. In the debate it was asserted that some companies were attempting to salt away funds for high officials of the firms. To offset that, Congress specified that if these funds were to be deductible from federal taxes, they must be on a basis of share and share-alike for workers and officers of the companies. They also stuck in the very important specification that if at any time the plan was abandoned, any contribution the employer had made would belong to the employees.

The whole set of standards is too complicated to go into, but in general they are designed to stymie tax dodgers. It should be pointed out here that there's no law against any retirement-pension plan. But those employers who wish to deduct their contributions from the Excess Profits tax must meet government standards.

As to why there has been such a phenomenal growth in these plans, government officials give two reasons: (1) the desire of employers to make the future secure for loyal workers; (2) the realization that employe goodwill can be obtained at the cheapest rate in industrial history.

The first needs no elucidation and there certainly shouldn't be any wholesale condemnation of employers who are motivated by the second. Many merely are trying to share something with their employees.

Today And Tomorrow Nazis Invite More Misery

By WALTER LIPPMANN

Last Friday Goebbels made an address to the German people in which he admitted that in the past three months "events of decisive significance have taken place on the military and political battlefields." Though he threw in a phrase about how some of these events were "partly" in Germany's "favor," his purpose was to tell the Germans that they have lost the war, and then to explain why, though the war is lost, they should fight on. "It is certain," said Goebbels, "that we would have only hell on earth to expect if we were to lay down our arms."

Now, in so far as Goebbels himself is concerned, he does not need to worry about hell on earth. He knows quite well that the surrender of Germany would not mean that he would live in a hell on earth. If, as no doubt he appears to be doing, he is thinking about hell, it is not about hell on earth.

The personal position of Nazi leaders like Goebbels is the controlling fact in the present German situation: the Germans are ruled by men who know that they themselves cannot surrender. For these men an armistice means that if caught they will be arrested and executed, or that they will be hunted down to the ends of the earth if they try to escape. Therefore, since only by continuing the war can they continue to live, they will stop at nothing, not even the hanging of their own generals, to prevent the German Army from surrendering.

So what the Germans are fighting for now is not for the difference between a hard peace and a soft peace. They are fighting to give Hitler, Goebbels, Himmler et al a stay of execution. That is all they are fighting for. Thus the terms they would get today are certainly no softer than if they had laid down their arms last July when the generals wanted to surrender.

In the interval they have bombarded England with the robots, they have perpetrated additional crimes in the occupied countries, and caused more destruction, especially in the Netherlands and in Poland. All that they have accomplished by fighting on is that the Nazi leaders have now lived, say 90 days longer. But the German people have not improved their prospects for the future.

The one thing that can be said with absolute certainty is that by fighting on the German people can only make their prospects worse. What they dread is, of course, retribution and what they must hope for is mercy. They will get mercy. The Allies could never exact full retribution for what has happened: it is in the nature of things that only some of those who are flagrantly and directly responsible can be punished, that the great mass of adult Germans who have connived at their crimes and are morally responsible will, because nothing else is possible, be given amnesty, and above all, that the sins of the parents will not be visited upon the children.

The Germans who have been Nazified may be unable to believe this now. They may be unable to believe that since we are not Nazis, we shall not and cannot act like Nazis: we cannot punish the innocent, the helpless and the unborn, and even the guilty we shall be able, because it is indelible in our way of life, to punish only when their crimes are obvious and are flagrant.

By fighting on the Germans will not, then, make the Allies less vengeful or more merciful. But what will surely happen at the end of the campaign is that the German situation will be so much worse that all the angels of mercy could not save the German people from the terrible consequences.

happened: it is in the nature of things that only some of those who are flagrantly and directly responsible can be punished, that the great mass of adult Germans who have connived at their crimes and are morally responsible will, because nothing else is possible, be given amnesty, and above all, that the sins of the parents will not be visited upon the children.

The Germans who have been Nazified may be unable to believe this now. They may be unable to believe that since we are not Nazis, we shall not and cannot act like Nazis: we cannot punish the innocent, the helpless and the unborn, and even the guilty we shall be able, because it is indelible in our way of life, to punish only when their crimes are obvious and are flagrant.

By fighting on the Germans will not, then, make the Allies less vengeful or more merciful. But what will surely happen at the end of the campaign is that the German situation will be so much worse that all the angels of mercy could not save the German people from the terrible consequences.

For a winter campaign in Germany all that the Germans can get is another three or four months reprieve for their Nazi masters. The price of such a campaign will be enormous. During a winter campaign in which we must concentrate our resources for the fighting fronts, we shall be able to furnish relief only on a small scale to those who have the first call upon us, the people of the liberated countries. We shall be able to do very little indeed to rehabilitate the productive capacity of Allied Europe while we have to fight the German Army.

During a winter campaign the condition of Germany will go from bad to worse, and when the inevitable surrender comes, the German supplies will be exhausted, the German transport and productive economy will be so shattered and dislocated, that the problem of how to keep the Germans from starving to death will at once confront the Allied military governors. They will not want the Germans to starve to death, but their ability to cope with the situation will become less the longer the war lasts.

This is the truth which Goebbels must conceal from the Germans in order to prolong his own life. No terms of surrender the Allies could contrive can now avert the fact that the German government, the German economy and the German social order will be so thoroughly ruined by Hitler's preparation for the war and by the course of the war that it will take years of sacrifice and labor to rebuild anything from the ruins.

The fundamental German problem will be what to rebuild and how to rebuild it: resistance cannot solve this problem and must make it more insoluble. For resistance cannot reduce the Allied terms. But it can and will, not as a matter of Allied policy but of inexorable fact, aggravate the misery of defeat and reduce further the power of any one to alleviate that misery.

New Psychological Murder Is Best

By JACK O'BRIAN AP Drama Editor (One star means poor, four excellent.)

... 15 "The Woman in the Window," with Edward G. Robinson, Joan Bennett, Raymond Massey, Edmund and Dan Duryea.

Here is one of the most gripping and intense psychological murder films of any year. For sheer scariness, it ranks with one of the best provokers of the creeps ever turned out in Hollywood: "The Uninvited."

The credit for this excellent film must be spread amid many capable persons. Fritz Lang probably deserves the major back-pat, since he directed it with polish, an expert feeling for the macabre and a minimum of the cliches which usually crop up in a murder film. The script is adult, the lines complimentary to grown-up movie fans' sensibilities and the players are uniformly expert.

The story concerns a mild little assistant college professor who meets a young lady while looking at a painting in the art store window. It turns out the girl is the same one who modeled the canvas on display and the two start a conversation which ends in his walking the young lady home. While he is there, a man with whom the girl has been having an affair unexpectedly appears and in a madly jealous rage tries to kill the professor. On attempting to fight him off, the professor is forced to stab him with a scissors to save his own life.

Because the situation made it appear that the man was killed during a fight between the girl's rivals, the professor and the girl get rid of the body, hoping to escape prosecution.

From then on the suspense mounts as the police get closer and closer. The professor is pulled into it as a seemingly disinterested onlooker because one of his best friends is a criminal investigator assigned to the case.

You will have to see the movie to learn how it turns out. It wouldn't be fair to peach, since the whole affair would be spoiled if you knew in advance how it ended.

Nunnally Johnson is the producer of this fine film. He, also, should receive a kudo for getting together such a splendid cast and corps of technicians. They have fashioned a really distinctive collection of goose-pimplers.

Mechanical Cotton Picker Dream May Be Realized

Dreams of a mechanical cotton picker, so persistent that 800 patents have been granted on models since 1850, are being accelerated with predictions that only mechanization can keep the cotton industry competitive after the war.

Now, according to an article in the Extensioner, monthly publication of the Texas A. & M. extension service, a machine designed by International Harvester is attracting considerable interest.

Two models have been constructed, one referred to as the high-drum picker for tall growing cotton, and the low-drum model which is used for cotton of shorter stalk. The high-drum machine is mounted on the rear of a tractor with the tractor running backwards. Cost at the present time is $3,750 f.o.b. Chicago. The low-drum type price is $1,875. Both figures include the cost of the tractor.

E. A. Johnston, generally credited with contributing most to the development of the machine, pointed out that the main difficulty in the perfecting of a machine of this type lies in the fact that not all of the cotton bolls mature at the same time and only the mature bolls must be picked. The machine must leave the immature fruit and the plant undamaged.

Major criticism is that the mechanical picker gets some green leaves mixed with the lint which are hard to remove from the lint. For this reason, the company prefers that the machines be used in a territory that has gins equipped with driers.

The grade of the machine harvested cotton is reduced in grade but in sections where the machine has been put in operation, there is an increase in profits despite a dockage in price sometimes up to $10 a bale.

"The cotton is not plucked from the bolls," the article states, "but the lint is wound upon finger-length spindles synchronized to move backward at the same rate the harvester moves forward straddling the plant. The high-drum model contains 600 barbed spindles and the low-drum model employs a little more than half that number."

The lint is removed by rubber doffers after it is withdrawn from the plants by picker spindles mounted on cam-activated bars. The spindles are kept clean by passing under moistened rubber pads before coming in contact with the plants, but the cotton is slightly moistened in the process. This is another reason why the drier is a necessity in ginning mechanically picked lint.

The process is continued says the Extensioner, by drawing the cotton by vacuum into a separating chamber where trash is removed. Next it is blown into the storage basket.

The picker moves at about two miles an hour on heavy yields but about three for lighter yields. At such a rate, the manufacturers estimate that the harvester will replace 40 or 50 hands. In a field of open cotton of some five-eighths bale per acre yield, 1,500 pounds of cotton can be gathered in two hours and 20 minutes.

Checking results on a test in the Mississippi Delta the average for three years picking was $5.39 per bale picked with a mechanical harvester in comparison with a three-year average cost of $32.14 for hand picking. Accounting for the loss of grade, the average net saving for machine picking was $16.46.

Turkey Will Be Thanksgiving Scarcity

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON, Nov. 2 (AP) — You're beginning to think now, aren't you, of whipping up that Thanksgiving dinner?

Here are your prospects, outlined by the boss of the nation's pantry, the War Food Administration:

Turkey—there won't be any over-supply in spite of an expected record production. The military services want a lot more turkey than last year. Near the turkey-raising areas there'll probably be enough to meet demand. Elsewhere, there may not be enough.

Onions, beets, rutabagas, carrots—don't expect trouble here. There's a good supply.

Beans—you'd better look for the canned kind. The supply is pretty good. There'll be few fresh beans.

Cranberries—the crop, short, is only about half of last year's. Mostly you'll have to use fresh cranberries. The canned berries have gone largely into the war services.

Potatoes—a little short for November.

Sweet Potatoes—these are short in the middle states, worse in the west, better in the east.

Peas—you'll be able to get practically no fresh peas.

Cabbages—not so good. They won't be plentiful.

Turkeys again—last year we produced 468 million pounds of turkey, dressed weight. This year the production will be about 500 million pounds.

But—last year the military services took 35 million pounds. This year, being larger than last year, they're taking 60 million pounds.
