Ships Rushed To Scene Of Navy Battle

British, French Vessels On Alert In Trouble Area

LONDON, Sept. 8 (AP)—Three British destroyers and three French warships sped today to the scene of a Mediterranean naval battle between Spanish insurgent and Spanish government ships.

The order sending British warships to the area came just as the British cabinet adjourned for lunch after a "crisis" meeting in the midst of an alarming rift between Italy and Soviet Russia over charges of "piracy" in the Mediterranean.

The British destroyers were ordered to the battle scene, off Tenece, west of Algiers, by the naval commander at Gibraltar.

The French torpedo boats and the French destroyer L'Impetueux put out from Algiers to the vicinity of the engagement.

Second Note From Moscow
The Soviet Union added fresh fuel to the dispute in a second bitter message to Rome. The note declared Italy's denial of the Soviet charge that Italian submarines sank two Russian ships was "entirely unacceptable."

Officials emphasized, however, that the state department has not broadcast any general warning to American shipping to stay out of that area.

Hull reiterated that the United States government is continuing to maintain a hands off policy in Spain in accordance with its determination not to interfere in the internal affairs of other countries.

Hundreds Of Civilians Are Killed As Chinese Refugee Train Bombed

Three-Power Neutrality Proposal Rejected By Both Sides; Foreigners In Shanghai Face Greater Peril

SHANGHAI, Sept. 8 (AP)—At least 300 Chinese non-combatants were killed and 400 injured today in one of the worst disasters caused by Japanese air bombs in the three months of undeclared war.

Five railroad cars, packed with 1,500 Chinese refugees from the war zone, were blown from their track by Japanese bombers at Sungkiang Station, 30 miles from Shanghai.

The bombs fell without warning. A Chinese spokesman declared the train carried no soldiers, and that the station was serving no military purpose.

Red Cross officials rushed aid from Shanghai. Both Chinese and Japanese meanwhile took action that increased peril to foreigners remaining in China and virtually blasted last hope for an American-British-French neutrality proposal.

The Japanese, answering the three-power note, demanded that Chinese troops be withdrawn from a much wider area in the Shanghai environs even than had been suggested to assure the safety of foreign residents and interests in the international area.

The Japanese response followed a Chinese refusal to evacuate positions in Pootung, across the Whangpoo river from the international zone, unless foreign navy concentrations guaranteed that Japanese troops would be restrained from landing there.

The Chinese foreign ministry also warned all foreign officials here of the danger to their shipping from Chinese air attacks, declaring that Chinese warplanes and other coastal defenses would launch reprisals against Japanese warships to counteract the Japanese blockade of China's south and central coast.

It requested foreign navies and merchant marines to identify their vessels clearly and give Japanese ships a berth.

Then, authorities were told, the bridegroom changed his mind, threw away the ring; the bride tossed away her engagement ring and the bouquet; bride and bridesmaids fainted; the pastor announced the wedding was off.

Officer Slain; Three Sought

Armed Men Make Escape After Gunfight At Gulfport

GULFPORT, Miss., Sept. 8 (AP)—Police of two states were searching today for three men, armed with pistols and a machine gun, who fled in a stolen automobile after one of them fatally wounded Patrolman J. O. Wolff in a sudden riot of bullets on a Gulfport street.

The officer, shot yesterday afternoon, died early today in a hospital here.

Two Gladewater, Tex., men, alleged companions of the gunmen were jailed without charge pending the outcome of the manhunt.

Patrolman Edward Van Zandt who was with Wolff when the gunman's bullets cut him down, said he learned from the jailed suspects that the fugitives were wanted in the mid-west for a series of crimes.

Van Zandt said the shooting started when he and Wolff stopped two men on a Gulfport street to question them about a pair of extra license plates discovered by filling station attendants when the pair left the car to be refueled.

Yield Per Acre Is Estimated To Be At Record High

Govt. Figure Half-Million Bales Up From Month Ago And Above Private Guesses; Prices Plunge

WASHINGTON, Sept. 8 (AP)—The department of agriculture reported today a cotton crop of 16,098,000 bales of 500 pounds each is indicated for this year, basing its estimate on the acreage and condition of the crop Sept. 1.

The census bureau announced 1,871,403 running bales of cotton of this year's growth, counting round bales as half bales, had been ginned to September 1, compared with 1,374,247 a year ago, and 1,135,090 two years ago.

A month ago the department reported an indicated crop of 15,593,000 bales, based on August 1 conditions. Production last year was 12,398,882 bales.

Last month's estimate was based on 33,429,000 acres—the area in cultivation July 1 less the 10-year average abandonment. Today's estimate was based on the area left for harvest after abandonment since July 1.

Indications are for a yield of 228.5 pounds of lint cotton to the acre, compared with 197.6 pounds last year, and 169.9 pounds, the 1923-32 average.

The average remaining for harvest, condition of the crop on September 1, and indicated production, by states, includes: Texas, 12,667,000; 70 and 4,622,000. The census bureau's report on ginnings to September 1, by states includes: Texas 1,678,604 and 460,962.

Prices Shump A Dollar A Bale
NEW YORK, Sept. 8 (AP)—Cotton futures sold down nearly $1 a bale today as the government's September cotton crop report indicated the highest yield per acre on record and an increase in the production forecast over the previous official estimate.

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 8 (AP)—Cotton prices dropped more than one dollar a bale here today after the department of agriculture indicated the fifth largest cotton crop on record.

Author Files Injunction Suit Against 'Gone With The Wind' Episode At Frontier Fiesta

FORT WORTH, Sept. 8 (AP)—The best seller, "Gone With The Wind," was the basis of a suit filed in federal court here.

Billy Rose, the New York producer, the Frontier Fiesta association and the Territorial Production corporation of Fort Worth were named defendants in an accounting and injunction suit filed late yesterday by Mrs. Margaret Mitchell Marsh, the book's author, and the MacMillan company of New York, its publisher.

Filing of the suit, James F. Pollock, general manager of the fiesta said, will not interfere with the show in any manner.

The Territorial Production corporation is a Rose company. The Fiesta association has a contract with the producing corporation.

The petition asks defendants to account for and pay over to the plaintiff, Margaret Mitchell Marsh, all gains, profits and advantages derived or realized by respondents from infringement on the copyrighted literary composition and novel, "Gone With The Wind."

It also asks an injunction restraining the defendants from "directly or indirectly performing, presenting, publicly producing or advertising a dramatization of 'Gone With The Wind.'"

The petition alleges that the defendants "illegally copied and used parts of the novel in a dramatization of the book."

Yachts Bombed
Six Chinese civilian sailors were killed and three injured when Japanese bombing planes dropped explosives on foreign-owned yachts anchored at Mingchong up the Whangpoo. Two of the pleasure craft were sunk.

The Japanese, counter-attacking after a day of blows from the Chinese, were reported in late afternoon to have advanced nearly a half mile inland along the banks of the Whangpoo river from the Jukung wharf area toward Woonung.

Chinese reinforcements were being landed up the Yangtze at Lihuo.

Discuss Plans For Hospital

Construction Work May Be Started By December 1

Plans for an early start on construction of the new Big Spring state hospital for the insane moved a step nearer realization Tuesday with a conference between the board of control and the three architectural firms employed on the job.

Board engineers estimated that it would require about six weeks to complete preliminary plans and that there was very little likelihood that bids could be received before November 1.

December 1 was given as the earliest likely date for start of construction work of the new institution which will start with an eight-building unit costing $817,000.

W. T. Strange, Big Spring, of the firm of Haynes and Strange, was in Austin for the conference. He holds contract for drawing plans and supervising construction on three of the buildings.

Meanwhile, the eleemosynary committee of the chamber of commerce is working to overcome defects in the abstracts on four tracts of land in the hospital site. The committee hoped to clear up clouds on the title so that the land could be purchased soon after the city opens bids on the $50,000 issue next Tuesday.

School Fund May Benefit From Gold And Quicksilver

AUSTIN, Sept. 8 (AP)—The state school fund, enriched by oil developments, had the prospect today of sharing in gold and quicksilver discoveries in Brewster county.

State Senator T. J. Holbrook of Galveston asked Attorney General W. C. McCraw and Land Commissioner W. H. McDonald to ascertain whether the state still owned the land or whether it had been deeded to the federal government as part of the Big Bend park development project.

He also conferred with McCraw and McDonald with a view to the state's retaining mineral rights on any land which might be deeded.

Streams In Panhandle Flooded

AMARILLO, Sept. 8 (AP)—Flooded streams fed by torrential rains in the mountains westward and by local downpours disrupted train and highway traffic in the north Panhandle, eastern New Mexico and the Canadian area today as more moisture fell in widely separated sections of the plains.

A washout on the Fort Worth and Denver railroad near Texline disrupted traffic, throwing the freight and passenger schedule hours late. A damaged bridge near Stinnett caused minor delays on the Rock Island near Stinnett. The main line of the Santa Fe was out at Canyon until noon. A washout in a small draw by a six-inch rain caused the trouble.

Traffic on the main highway westward from Dalhart to Denver was creeping across a bad detour near Dalhart after the highway bridge was closed by head rises from the mountains.

Nearly six inches of rain fell in an hour between Des Moines and Clayton, N. M., last night. This heavy flood was the main cause of the trouble in the north Panhandle.

Many sections of the north plains of Texas received rains measuring as much as three inches. Eastern New Mexico, western Oklahoma and Southern Kansas also received good rains.

Chamber of commerce directors will convene in their regular directors meeting at 7 a. m. Friday to discuss a program of work. J. H. Greene, manager, announced Wednesday.

Their discussions of a program will be based upon returns from a referendum asking for suggested activities.

Greene disclosed that thus far the referendum had shown that a majority of people were in favor of promoting the road to Andrews county with second choice running to a general highway program.

Other suggestions received by the chamber include the appointment of a welcoming committee, widen streets, beautify the town, build up the chamber of commerce membership, etc.

Tax Increase May Hit Oil

Texas Solons, Needing More Revenue, Study That Source

AUSTIN, Sept. 7 (AP)—Threat of higher taxes is drawing too close to the Texas oil industry for comfort.

Governor James V. Allred is expected to ask the legislature at its special session to impose additional taxes. Oil seems certain to be one of the first sources to which representatives will turn.

However, the senate has the same members who four months ago refused to have anything to do with a house bill proposing to boost the oil production tax from 2.34 to 6 per cent of value. Many senators have said few if any new taxes are necessary.

Whether the house again will vote to raise the petroleum levy remains to be seen. During the regular session, it refused to sanction corresponding increases in the imports on natural gas and sulphur.

THE SPORTS PARADE

BY HANK HART

Marion Pugh, North Side's, Fort Worth, brilliant back of last year, dropped around while on his vacation to state that he was positively convinced that he would be a good news to Gene Spence.

The 184-pound block of charging dynamite was approached by coaches of several schools before deciding on A. and M. but elected to attend the College Station school because he could study petroleum engineering.

The all-state half back, star of the state-wide high game held at Waco recently, said he had heard of Blundy Cross' pan and couldn't see why the Angelo scribbled wanted to take it out on him. We explained to him that Blundy Cross was a well-known name in the state and that he would be a good news to Gene Spence.

Marion was accompanied by J. W. Wright, one of the greatest Aggie boosters in that entire organization of A. and M. exes. Pugh's report to the Ag freshman coach around September 16, that the West Worth star was struck with the hospitality of West Texas people, saying he didn't know every one could be so nice. He believes the other boys are making a mistake when they choose out-of-state schools.

The Anderson, Devlin returned Tuesday night from their trip into Yankee country. The entire squad took a sightseeing tour while in the north, going to Niagara Falls and over into Canada.

Two of the boys evidently didn't appreciate the trip, however, according to reports. From the time Ben Daniel was forced to use discipline in order to control their antics. The two boys didn't deserve to get the honor of making the trip and chances are that they will not be invited again.

The fight pictures at the Lyric theatre over the weekend clearly showed that Referee Arthur Donovan was right when he gave Joe Louis 13 of the 15 rounds of the championship brawl. Joe, in our estimate, took the edge in every round but the eighth and the 15th, when Tommy opened up and had a shade the better of the bouncing. The fight, as a whole, was dull and flat.

REFEREE CLEMENTS LOOSE IN BSAC FINALS

Hagen, Watkins Whale Ray To Mat

The manner in which Jackie Hagen whaled Sailor Watkins, the methods Watkins employed to exterminate the Louisiana Lammer and the fashion which both utilized in conking Referee Ray Clements around the ring wasn't exactly good on old clothes but it did get the job done.

The referee, billed as the main event of the Big Spring Athletic club last night, had a questionable ending. Clements revived from his slits long enough to raise the sailor's hand in victory but he motioned for the wrong man.

Watty was beaten soundly for the first time this year. Only Hagen could crawl through the ropes to the dressing room under his own power after it was all over. The tar was twisted into so many ways that he looked like a contortionist on a "busman's holiday."

No Fun For Ray
Everyone but the referee got in on the fun. Jackie got so disgusted with the proceedings he bowled over the Lubbock twice with stiff rights to the jaw and the Panhandle giant hit his shell.

The second time Jackson clouted Mr. Clements across the mat the arbitrator bounced off the ropes, did an acrobatic stunt through the air and then plopped to the mat as cold as yesterday's hash.

Ray awoke only long enough to pat Watkins on the back when Hagen was down under but the woe of the Louisiana could have gotten was a draw.

Tarzan Krutze stalked Tex Hagen around the ring for 20 minutes of the special event and then the two shook hands when it was all over.

Everything went the same way in the semi-final between Gus Johnson, Seattle, Wash., and Cyclone Mackay except the two didn't shake each other's hands.

Next week's card will be postponed to Friday night, according to promoter Fuhrer, because of observance of a Jewish holiday.

Experts May Be Wrong

WACO, Tex., Sept. 8.—"I hope!" That is all that Coach Morley Jennings can say concerning his 1937 Golden Bruins as the hour for practice sessions approaches. The Baylor Bears, as all followers of the sport know, are slated for the "humpsteents" time to be on the bottom of the ladder.

Only twice in the past decade have they ended a season in last place, yet the wise ones persist in giving them such a berth. They don't take into consideration the fact that Baylor has two things not present on the average football team and the average campus, to wit: (1) A dominating "right to the last second, regardless the score" attitude; and (2) a superb coaching staff.

The Bruins have approached the championship rung in the Southwest ladder since 1924, but have never managed to win. They have only mediocre teams, defeated champions and been the downfall of the nation's favorites, yet the fans are content to let the prognosticators on the fun with predictions that "again the Bears will be on the bottom."

Weak On Paper
It is true that on paper the Bears are weak. Any team would after losing three such first-flighters as Lloyd Russell, triple-threat back fielder and two all-Southwest linemen, Owen (Ox) Perry, Dallas, guard, and John D. Reynolds, one of the best centers in the nation.

Russell's shoes will be hard to fill, but there's Hillsboro's Billy Patterson, who flings a football like a Baugh, and he is likely to set southern woods afire this year.

The center post will come from inexperienced timber—inexperienced when viewed through eyes of the Southwest conference follower, but they are men who have had considerable training at the pivot post in high school and on the freshman squad.

Practically all of the high school stars of last year are drifting to other schools—as usual. There will always be prospective Lloyd Russells among the "uncountables," however, and they will land in such schools as Baylor, Russell, it will be remembered was refused at Southern Methodist university. They wanted bigger names.

Gladewater Official Softball Champion

OVERTON, Sept. 8 (AP)—The Texas Oil Products team of Gladewater planned to entrain today for the softball world series in Chicago beginning September 10.

The Houstonians had walked off the field when the score stood 4-2 in favor of Gladewater, after the umpire had ruled that Hurier Stearn was pitching illegally.

Cubs Entrench For Giants

Chicago Slices Lead Of New York By Card Victory

By DREW MIDDLETON (Associated Press Sports Writer)
The Cubs are going to give the Giants a little party soon and if the neighbors do their bit, the city slickers from Gotham will go home in a barrel.

Counting heavily on the aid and abettance of the Cards, Pirates and even the lowly Reds, Charlie Grimm's men see the three game series with the New Yorkers, starting Sept. 21 as their entire into the world series. It is their last chance.

The steady lead of mid-summer has faded to a two and a half game deficit; the once matchless infield is stumbling.

The schedule shows nine more games for the Cubs with the Cards and, as they proved yesterday, the Mississippi mudcats are the Chicagoans' cousins. That may help. But Boston and Pittsburgh are tough for the Cubs, and there's the inevitable series with the Giants.

As they start a whole string of "reoccal" series, the Giants have a neat but not gaudy edge.

No team has had more ups and downs than the Cubs. Stricken with injuries in the early season they bounced back to take first place and dream of a runaway race American League. They may get rebound from this latest slump.

Lee Too Good
Certainly they showed signs of it yesterday when Bill Lee staggered through to his 13th victory of the season, defeating the Cardinals 5-5. Phil Cavaretta pumped in four runs with a brace of doubles and a single. Phil was the boy shined in at first base when Ripper Collins broke his ankle. Lee finished strongly, allowing one hit in the last five frames, a homer by Don Padgett.

The Cubs' front office added Carl Reynolds, former American league, to the squad. Reynolds, a 23-year-old veteran of four American League clubs, has been hitting .358 with the Minneapolis Millers.

In the only other National League game, the Brooklyn Dodgers trimmed the Boston Bees 6-1 in the rubber game of a three game series. Cookie Lavagetto's homer was a big factor in the Dodger attack.

The once-proud Red Sox bowed twice to the Washington Senators 11-5 and 5-4 in the only American League games. Jimmy DeShong and Monte Weaver held the Sox at bay while the Nats pummeled Rube Walberg, Jose Gonzales and Ted Olson in the opener and Johnny Marchant in the nightcap.

BAUGH LEAVES TO JOIN PROS

FORT WORTH, Sept. 8 (AP)—Sam Baugh, passing star of Texas Christian university for three seasons, planned to leave by plane today to play professional football with the Washington Redskins. Baugh said he would not play with the all-stars against the Shamrocks in Boston Friday night.

His decision to join the Redskins came after he had announced he would be here Monday to start coaching the Frog freshman teams. He explained later that a contract offered him by George Marshall, owner of the Redskins, called for such a salary that "he could not decline." He conferred with Coach Dutch Meyer of TCU, who advised him to accept.

Tarleton To Revamp 1938 Dallas Lineup

DALLAS, Sept. 8 (AP)—The Dallas Steers club will undergo a revamping process for next season, it was disclosed yesterday by Business Manager Bob Tarleton when he purchased Garey Clarke, third sacker, of Macon, Ga. Clarke had a batting average of .346 Sept. 2 with 71 runs.

Tarleton said he planned to dispose of all members of the present club with the exception of Shortstop Jim Levey. Second Baseman George Meyer and some promising young pitchers. Some of the gaps are expected to be filled in trading at the winter meeting of the minor leagues in Milwaukee and in aid from the Chicago White Sox and the St. Paul Saints.

Padres Strengthen Standings By Win

By The Associated Press
San Antonio defeated Galveston 3 to 1 last night while other Texas league baseball games were postponed on account of rain.

With Oklahoma City leading the league race, the battle for second place between the Tulsa Oilers and the Fort Worth Cats was delayed because of rain. The Oilers and the Cats officially went into the pennant playoffs.

Beaumont, in fifth place now, still has a mathematical chance to overhaul the fourth-place San Antonio Missions. But even if Fort Worth and Tulsa should lose all their remaining eight games and Beaumont win seven straight, the Exporters could not catch either club.

Von Cramm Plays Bit Grant While Hare Meets Riggs

FOREST HILLS, N. Y., Sept. 8 (AP)—Some of the girls playing through sun and rain and mud in the national championships look to the untrained eye like pretty good tennis players, and it comes as a shock and a disappointment to learn on high authority that they are selling plasters compared to the fully-dressed giants who used to roam our courts.

Molla Bjurstedt Mallory, one of the greatest of the old guard, says so, positively. Jadwiga Jedzejowska, the terrible Pole; Anita Lizzi, the chic Chilean; Alice Marble, Helen Jacobs, Ray Stannard and all the other pretties romping around in shorts these days are about a dime a dozen in Molla's book.

Six Times Champ
The famous Norsewoman, who won the American women's championship six times from 1916 to 1928, gave a judgment yesterday while watching Helen Jacobs struggle through three sets to defeat Joan Ingram of England.

clubby English girl who isn't even ranked in her own country.

"Why, Suzanne Lenglen could have cleaned out this field without ever using her backhand," she said. "I could have cleaned them out myself. I honestly don't think of these girls could have competed with us, even if pictures of us in our long skirts do look funny now."

The only player around who seems able to make faces at the girls is Johnny Van Ryn, who at the ripe old competitive age of 31 has reached the quarter-finals again. He'll meet the youngster Frankie Parker, tomorrow.

Only the four quarter-final matches in the lower brackets, two in the women's, two in the men's, were scheduled today. Anita Lizzi was up against Mrs. Marjorie Van Ryn. Alice Marble faced Dorothy Bundy.

Baron Gottfried Von Cramm was paired against Bryan Grant. Bobby Riggs of Los Angeles faced Charlie Hare, last of the English hopes.

582 Members In AP Hole-In-One Club

NEW YORK, Sept. 8 (AP)—Every state except Louisiana, Mississippi, Nevada, New Mexico and North Carolina was represented today as the latest count showed 582 members of the Associated Press National Hole-in-One club.

A. F. Meyer, Northfield, Minn., scored the longest ace of the late returns with a perfect 287 yard poke.

Max Opal S. Hill, Kansas City participating in the Missouri women's state tournament, sank an ace on the 157-yard third hole of the Indian Hills club at Kansas City.

Among others to score ace were: F. C. Supinger, San Antonio, Tex., 2nd hole, 170 yards, Brackenridge Park.

George Huff, San Antonio, 2nd hole, 170 yards, Brackenridge Park. Tom Lawrence, San Antonio, 3rd hole, 155 yards, Riverside.

A. L. Long, Waco, Tex., 7th hole, 120 yards, Spring Lake. John L. Watt, Dallas, 15th hole, 215 yards, Cedar Crest, C. C. hole.

Handrahan Gone But Dartmouth Potent

By BILL KING
HANOVER, N. H., Sept. 8 (AP)—The Dartmouth Indians will be weaker during the coming football season than last year but before their Ivy League rivals start cheering, it would be well to heed Earl (Red) Blaik's warning he will start his fourth season in Hanover with a dangerous and colorful team.

Eleven of the most dependable players on last year's once-beaten club graduated last June.

Most of last year's reserves have had at least one season under Blaik and his only acute problems are filling in for Fullback Johnny Handrahan and Dave Camerer, the 60-minute left tackle.

The nucleus of the 1937 tribesmen is formed by Captain Merrill Davis, right end, left and right Halfbacks Fred Hollingworth and Bob MacLeod and Larry Hull, a 1935 regular who is ready to take over the portable wing position after a year of ineffectuality.

Blaik has a wealth of promising backfield material, but he will miss Gordon Clark, one of the most consistent passers and punters on last year's squad, who was killed in a recent automobile accident.

The Dartmouth schedule: Sept. 25, Bates; Oct. 2, Amherst; 9, Springfield; 16, Brown at Providence; 23, Harvard at Cambridge; 30, Yale at New Haven; Nov. 6, Princeton at Princeton; 13, Cornell; 20, Columbia at New York.

ALL PLAYERS OUT

WACO, Tex., Sept. 8 (AP)—All prospective Baylor university football players were on hand today for Coach Morley Jennings' second morning workout of the fall season. The coaching staff felt optimistic. The gridgers will scrimmage tomorrow.

Work Is Pushed On Third Street

Contractors are pushing operations as rapidly as possible in an effort to open W. 3rd street to traffic by Oct. 1.

Concrete curb and gutter on the 55-foot street is now being poured. That type of the work may be finished in two weeks. There are few structures to be poured, also, a task which may require several days.

Caliche base will be hauled in as soon as curbs are set and the new structures will stand weight. Once all the street from Lancaster to the west city limits has had the base material installed, the stretch will be opened to traffic in order to compact the street.

Widening and paving of the street will transform not only the road, engineers believe, but also the western end of town.

READING AND WRITING

MASSACHUSETTS: A GUIDE TO ITS PLACES AND PEOPLE

Future volumes of the American Guide series compare with the books so far issued, the series is likely to be a major American literary service.

The Washington book is a treasure. Vardis Fisher and his co-workers have done excellently with Idaho. A special Cape Cod book proved charming. Now the many workers of the Federal Writers' Project provide "Massachusetts: A Guide to Its Places and People."

Its general features are intelligent design, a substantial binding, readable type and not too many maps and charts—even though there are enough. The amount of research has been huge, and although it may have its faults, the good-humored approach has done a lot to make the book readable for its own sake.

Maxine Kirk and her "Melody Men of Swing" will appear in Big Spring Friday to play for a dance sponsored by the Country Club to be given at the club.

Maxine Kirk is a performer of assured American fame and well established as a performer of assured American audiences. She has scored triumphs on the stages of the largest presentation houses in America and her appearance in films, both short subjects and features, and a new short just completed, have met with critical and popular acclaim.

The twenty-year-old leader of the all-male orchestra is en route to Hollywood to make another film and will be engaged in Dallas Thursday night before coming here on Friday.

New York called her "America's newest sweetheart of charm"; Pittsburgh added "the glorious glamorous melody Miss"; Chicago contributed "the vivacious eye-filling and ear-filling"; and now Texas shouts her praises with "siren of song—symphonic—riotous rage of rhythm."

Maxine Kirk has in four short years scored a success in all departments of the entertainment world. She has been in vaudeville, and played the Palace theatre in New York, when it was the ambition of every performer in the business for an opportunity to appear before the footlights there.

The band is composed of 21 men. A floor show is in connection with the dance, which begins at 10 o'clock.

10 Degrees Lower At Cost Of $10

Air conditioning experts may call it blasphemous, but Shine Phillips has rigged up a $10 plant which lowers the Cunningham & White's drug store an average of 10 degrees.

The cost figure does not, of course, include the total investment, for Shine already had a blower fan and tiny booster pump.

When air conditioning estimates ran to several hundred dollars for their original store, Shine had constructed a big box. In the front end he had cut a hole for the fan. The other he enclosed with half wire. The top of the box was equipped with a sprinkling system and the box filled loosely with excelsior.

From the bottom the small booster pump hoisted water to the sprinkling system at the top. Thus the excelsior is kept moist at all times. The fan sucks air through the moisture-laden straw and circulates it, much cooler, about the building.

Operation cost is negligible. The contraption requires about 40 to 50 gallons of water a day and a small amount of current for the fan and pump.

What To Do--

If Your Clothes Catch Fire

- 1. Do not run—that will fan the flames. 2. Wrap up in a rug, overcoat or some other heavy material. Drop to the floor and roll over slowly to smother the blaze. Do this even if you have no wrap. 3. Douse yourself with water if there's any around. Roll in the water that's spilled. 4. Cover your face with your arms and try not to inhale any flame. 5. Call a doctor.

If that is necessary. If the person suffers from shock after the fire is out lay him on his back with head low. While waiting for the doctor, keep the victim warm, rub his limbs toward the body, have him smell aromatic spirits of ammonia and drink water, tea or fruit juice to help keep the body fluids from being depleted. If the burns are slight, dust on dry baking soda through a clean, thin cloth and bandage to keep the air out. If the burns are severe (skin blistered or broken) apply a paste of baking soda and water and then bandage.

Tomorrow, if your child talks back to you.

Washington Daybook

By Preston Grover

WASHINGTON—Congress has adjourned, but not politics.

Take Colorado for instance. Senator Adams, a democrat, is up next year for re-election. In private life, the senator is a banker at Pueblo, usually conservative. While he did not speak publicly against the president's court bill, he was commonly numbered among the opponents.

He has fought blanket appropriation bills, but because he is a major figure on the appropriations committee he has had to shoulder much of the work of drafting them and putting them through Congress.

Adams' political opponents in Colorado hoped Senator Edwin C. Johnson, a former governor, would break with him and help bring about his defeat. No break occurred. In one of his first statements to the press in Colorado upon his return from Washington, Johnson told the Sterling Advocate that "I am interested in the renomination and re-election of the four democratic congressmen of Colorado."

Adams has foes in Colorado. He was not always on good terms with Senator Costigan, a pronounced liberal, whose retirement because of failing health made possible Johnson's rise to the senate last election.

Boom for Lee
 On another front, in Oklahoma, friends of Senator Josh Lee are pushing him as a democratic vice presidential candidate in 1940. Lee, for several years an elocution instructor, orated himself into the house and then into the senate. Recently he has been speaking in several parts of the country in support of the administration. He looks almost boyish, although during the world war he was over 60 for 10 months. His family has been democratic a long time. His father's name was Thomas Jefferson Lee and his middle name is Bryan.

And down in Texas, Roy Miller, who is sort of ex-officio Jim Farley in that state, is promoting Vice President Garner for president in 1940. Garner would be 70 then. The argument is that he would carry the South and that his type of conservatism would go well in the East and Midwest.

The idea surprises some of Garner's close friends who believe he wants to retire from political life.

War on Cotton Ed
 South Carolina, in turn, finds Gov. Olin D. Johnson contemplating a race against Sen. Elliott D. Cotton Ed Smith in the primaries in August, 1938. Johnson calls himself "a 100 per cent follower" of President Roosevelt. Smith has been bitterly critical of much "new Deal legislation and could see no need for a farm bill this year although the season ended in such a clamor for one that congress virtually pledged it at its next session. Governor Johnson tells those who ask about it that it is too early to announce.

Smith has been in the senate 28 years, is a chairman of the important agriculture committee, a member to which he was elected during the Hoover administration, when Republicans had a majority on the committee.

He and President Roosevelt do not see eye-to-eye on many subjects. He is a great admirer of Senator Elymus D. Sisson, re-elected last year, also drifted slightly out of his once close contact with the president. But he is not "at outs" by a long stretch.

HOLLYWOOD—The tales of two POWells—Eleanor and Dick—have greeted previewers. Unpleasant it may be to say it, but Dick comes off best.

Miss Powell continues in "Broadway Melody of 1938" her zooming career as a leading feminine exponent of the tap, and it is no fault of hers that this tune-film is less sprightly than its predecessors. Nor is it the fault of the cast, nor even of Robert Taylor, Eleanor's co-star, who will need only one or two more roles like this to send him to a back seat.

Another Hackneyed Plot
 The new picture, as is customary nowadays, has everything: Squads of talent including songsters, comedians, and hostess. Spectacular sets including one that is literally colossal. Expert direction by Roy Del Ruth. And a plot that is backstage musical and dialogue replete only by an occasional sparkle.

The time they've combined backstage with horse-racing. Eleanor is the horse-loving girl who wants to make good on Broadway. Taylor is the young producer. He is backing from an angel (Raymond Walburn) whose wife wants Taylor for herself and withdraws support because Taylor won't drop Eleanor from the cast. The picture ends with the show—which didn't fold after all because Eleanor's horse won at Saratoga.

Taylor, with little to do and doing that little ineptly, is overshadowed by dancing George Murphy who gets the applause while Bob gets the girl. Sophie Tucker is grand, and little Judy Garland scores especially with "A Love Letter to Clark Gable." Other salvage is offered by Buddy Ebsen. While Howard, Helen Troy and Charles

The Saga Of The AP

Rare is the individual in the world today who does not know the meaning of the double initial—AP—following the dateline of a news story in a modern newspaper. "Associated Press" has come to mean in the world of news-gathering and news reading a symbol equal in significance to "sterling" or silver.

Now it is announced by David O. Selznick, president of Selznick International Pictures, that a motion picture will be made using the story of the AP, from its founding in 1848 to its accomplishments of today, as the background of theme of the production.

If the proposed picture catches the romance of the AP, if it rightly interprets the meaning of "AP," it will bring the world a story that is, in effect, the story of almost a century of civilization's progress, as well as a story of the constant fight for the freedom, integrity and truthfulness of the American press.

Few organizations carry within their archives such a saga of service and achievement as the heritage of the Associated Press today. Founded, and always continued, as a non-profit organization, its sole purpose in existence is to bring its 1,400 newspaper members in this country the news of all the world. From the highest chancelleries of government to the most forgotten atoll in the oceans of the world, the news-gathering arm of the Associated Press extends, combing the four quarters of the earth and the utmost reaches of the seven seas to bring to the homes of the nation all of the news, fully and accurately told.

Largely the work of the men who have made the Associated Press the great organization it is today, the men who have built, day by day, its reputation for fair, unbiased presentation of the news, has been anonymous, in so far as the outside world is concerned. They have done their duty, often in the face of severe handicaps, and, in some instances, with lonely death as reward, imbued with the spirit of the true newspaperman.

Mr. Selznick will find, if he delves deep enough and if he sees with the eye of understanding, a cavalcade of world advance enshrined in the records of an organization that has done much to make advance come true. He will find a panorama of unflinching fidelity to an ideal and a sage of service that should make a picture to rank with the half-dozen greatest in all the history of the screen.

Man About Manhattan

By GEORGE TUCKER

NEW YORK—It has been seven years since the girl who became the eternal Sadie Thompson of "Rain" was carried to a rain-soaked cemetery in Kansas City, and in all that time no one has come forward to take her place.

There have been other actresses with golden-red hair and fiery temperaments who aspired to Jeanne Eagles' shoes—good actresses who apparently had all the requisites of so glamorous a role—yet for some reason they never quite succeeded. And Broadway is still waiting for just the right girl and just the right play to recapture a fragment of the emotional hysteria which threatened to blast the town apart when Jeanne first introduced her throaty-voiced languor to first night audiences.

Saved Play For Jeanne
 For awhile it was believed that Francine Larrimore, a star in her own right before Eagles died, would inherit the "Rain" soaked mantle of Jeanne. Indeed, Miss Larrimore became Jeanne's "ghost" when she slipped into several roles originally intended for the star. It was in "Chicago" that Francine first succeeded the tempestuous Jeanne, and later, in "Storm Song," she captured the glory which would have been Jeanne's had not death stepped in and wrote an abrupt finish to her career.

There is a chapter of interesting theatrical history to this play which Sidney Buchman wrote especially for Jeanne. The heroine was the wayward daughter of a ship captain who teamed with beach combers and roamed the south seas in junkers and freighters, but it was thought no actress but Eagles could play it successfully. But just at that time her explosive temperament led her once more into difficulties and Equity banned her from the theater for a year.

Rather than entrust the drama to another actress, a producer paid royalties on it for a year, holding it against the day when she would be permitted to act again.

It was a happy Jeanne who plunged into rehearsals after her exile, and then—like that—came the stunning news that she was dead.

New Season At Hand
 Later Tallulah Bankhead, with her husky throatiness and her wine-red hair, gave a remarkable performance of the much harassed Miss Thompson in a revival of "Rain" but 10 years had left their mark on the play—it was found to be irretrievably dated—and though Broadway cheered Tallulah, it could not forget the shadow of that other girl who had thrilled New York with one of the most exciting first nights ever seen on Broadway.

Now comes the heraldry and pageantry of a brand new season. The tom-toms are beating, and perspiring producers, their horror masks in place, are shouting new authors, new plays, new casts.

Will there be a new "Rain" or a new Eagles among them? Broadway doesn't know. Broadway does not disdain. But Sphinx-like, it is watching and waiting.

DOUBLE WEDDING
 THE NEW EXCITING SERIAL ROMANCE

CHAPTER XII
 Margit, upon realizing that the figure reposing in the upper bunk of Charlie's trailer was indeed Waldo and not a tramp—which she had at first suspected—made a normal exclamation. She exclaimed, "Waldo!"

Waldo looked at her. His eyes were bloodshot. His hands were trembling. "What are you doing here?" he said finally.

"I might very well ask the same question of you," Margit replied. "You might have the same question of me. But it would be presumptuous of you, Margit. For one thing, I asked you first. For another, I am an independent male citizen of the United States of America and I have a right to be where I please. But you are the sister of my fiancée—my former fiancée—and you have no business whatever to be in the bedroom of her present fiancée." He looked at her. "If you get what I mean."

She said, "Waldo, you're drunk." He hopped down from the bunk.

"I was drunk," he said agreeably. "Now I'm suffering from a hang-over." He stuck his head out of one of the windows of the trailer and yelled at the top of his lungs, "Spoke!"

A cheery Italian voice floated back. "Hello, Mr. Beaver! How're you feeling?"

"Terrible. Send me a whisky sour."

"Coming up," Waldo pulled his head back into the trailer.

Margit felt uncertain of herself but she realized that action was necessary. She said, "Waldo, you're not yourself!"

He shook his head. "On the contrary that's just what I am. Myself."

"How did you get here? What did you mean last night when you said you were tired and wanted to go to bed early? You were lying!"

"Sure. I sneaked out across the porch roof and walked into the village. I had an appointment with Charlie."

"Waldo looked calmly at Margit. "Two things. To dispose of Irene."

Margit gasped. Waldo went on impassively, "and to be psychoanalyzed."

About that, Margit had nothing to say.

But Waldo had plenty. "Charlie has made a study of me and he's cross-good enough to tell me the real reasons for my behavior. He said, 'Waldo, with your new personality and with your statement that you're still in love with Irene—there's only one thing left to do. Get an automobile—or a horse if you prefer it—walk up to Irene—tell her you're going to marry her—and carry her away to a minister.'"

Waldo looked at Margit with glowing eyes. His jaw sagged. "Maybe she'd protest."

"Sure she'd protest. But you know what to do. Just say phooey! Say, 'We're getting married, willy-nilly.'"

He nodded. "Not a bad idea. I just walk up and sling her over my shoulder. I could carry her, you know. I used to be a pretty good soccer player when I was in eighth grade, and I learned the firman's lift when I was a Boy Scout."

Margit's hopes were high. Fire was slowly kindling in Waldo's eyes. But her brilliant effort to rescue her sister from the clutches of Charlie Jones did abhorning. Mr. Jones himself entered the trailer at that point. His appearance completely deflated Waldo.

So did his first words. "Just been talking to Irene," he said. "Hello, Waldo, old man. How's the fight?" He turned to Margit. "We're going to take a little trip up to the Adirondacks. Irene's packing right now."

And now Margit is worried again. Irene is actually going to elope with the unspeakable Charlie. Is there any way that she can stop them? Don't fail to read tomorrow's buoyant episode.

THE WATTI IN THE WEST INDIES (Excerpts from a report of Mrs. Edith Irvine-Riviera)

Those who have not lived in the West Indies can have but a vague idea of the problems and difficulties which arise in the development of our W.C.T.U. program. Each island has its different traditional setting—each its perplexing social problem.

Jamaica—
 One of the most interesting islands of the West Indies is Jamaica, with its superb scenery, delightful climate and cultured people.

Many obstacles presented themselves as we attempted to spread the total-abstinence message in Jamaica and to organize some unions for the first time, in 1932. Many of the churches listed but avoided taking on a definite total-abstinence program, but PRAYERS CHANGES THINGS and soon God blazed the way and made it possible through the cooperation of Mrs. Nellie Olson to finally organize 20 local unions and do some Local Temperance Legion work.

Cluster of Gems—
 There are three countries in the West Indies which seem to form a cluster of gems—the Dominican Republic, Cuba, and Puerto Rico. The Dominican Republic is no less important field than Jamaica. On our last visit to this most in-

THE WATTI IN THE WEST INDIES (Excerpts from a report of Mrs. Edith Irvine-Riviera)

Those who have not lived in the West Indies can have but a vague idea of the problems and difficulties which arise in the development of our W.C.T.U. program. Each island has its different traditional setting—each its perplexing social problem.

Jamaica—
 One of the most interesting islands of the West Indies is Jamaica, with its superb scenery, delightful climate and cultured people.

Many obstacles presented themselves as we attempted to spread the total-abstinence message in Jamaica and to organize some unions for the first time, in 1932. Many of the churches listed but avoided taking on a definite total-abstinence program, but PRAYERS CHANGES THINGS and soon God blazed the way and made it possible through the cooperation of Mrs. Nellie Olson to finally organize 20 local unions and do some Local Temperance Legion work.

Cluster of Gems—
 There are three countries in the West Indies which seem to form a cluster of gems—the Dominican Republic, Cuba, and Puerto Rico. The Dominican Republic is no less important field than Jamaica. On our last visit to this most in-wounded have been pouring into Shanghai hospitals. Japanese casualties appeared equally heavy. Japanese military authorities estimated the Chinese strength in the area had been increased to 26 divisions, totaling 350,000 men. Japan has some 60,000 ashore with an equal number waiting to be landed. The Japanese fleet tightened their blockade of China's 2,900 mile coast line. The British river steamer, Tais, was halted by a warning shot across her bow from a Japanese destroyer just outside British waters in the mouth of the Canton river. Japanese inspected the ship's cargo and passenger lists and detained the steamer 35 minutes. Heavy cannoning erupted closer to Shanghai last night. Several shells struck in the northern part of the city. Japanese men-of-war in the Whangpoo pumped shells into the Chinese positions. New fires were sweeping over the already blackened section.

Relief Work To Be Probed

Group Gathers Data On Operating Federal Agencies

WASHINGTON, Sept. 8 (AP)—Committee experts began gathering data today for an extensive senate investigation of the worth of the emergency agencies engaged in administering federal relief.

Alan Johnston, counsel for the special senate committee to investigate unemployment and relief, asked the agencies to supply him with comprehensive information on their activities.

These agencies include the Works Progress Administration, the Public Works Administration, Civilian Conservation Corps, and the Federal Emergency Administration, the latter now defunct.

Johnston said the data would be used to prepare an agenda of work which he will recommend to the committee when it convenes here probably early in October. Public hearings, he added, may start in November.

Appointment of the committee, headed by Senator Byrnes (D-S-C), grew out of an unsuccessful attempt by Byrnes and other senators to slash the administration's $1,500,000 relief budget by one-third. Both opponents and proponents of the cut said insufficient data was available on the extent and nature of unemployment and the need for federal assistance.

TWO DIE IN AUTO MISHAPS NEAR CORSICANA

Funeral services are planned this afternoon at Cotton Gin, Freestone county.

H. F. Shelton, 22, son of T. M. Shelton, prominent Kerens farmer, died in a local hospital early today from injuries received Sunday in an automobile accident. He did not regain consciousness following the accident. Shelton's death was the eighth of the year.

Fifteen other persons were injured here in a series of auto accidents during the Labor Day weekend.

YOUTHS WILL FACE ASSAULT CHARGES

MARSHALL, Sept. 8 (AP)—Harris county officers said today that charges of criminal assault against two Shreveport youths would be submitted to the county grand jury, now in session.

The complaints named as defendants Frank Hall and Claude Jett. They were held without bond after an examining trial.

Constable Felix Jones of Hallsville said he arrested the youths after a motorist reported forcing an automobile into a ditch. A woman in the automobile was taken to Hallsville, Jones said, and the two youths, also occupants of the car, were jailed.

Soil Conservation Meeting Will Be Held At Temple Next Monday

TEMPLE, Sept. 8—The first state convention of the Texas Soil Conservation, an organization of farmers and farm-operators of Texas, will be held in Temple, Monday, September 13, with V. C. Marshall of Heidenheimer, Bell county, state chairman presiding.

Every section of the state will be represented at the meeting which will effect a permanent organization of the present temporary set-up.

The meeting was called at Temple because of the central location, but also because Temple is the headquarters for the first and largest soil conservation project in the country.

The association's program will be to effect a practical cooperation between the federal and state government and the farmer and to see that the most effective soil and water conservation program possible is put into effect in this state.

Joseph C. Peacock, formerly of Palestine, is executive secretary of the association, which was organized early this summer in Austin. Temporary offices are in the Professional building, Temple.

The convention will be held in the Temple municipal auditorium with important state leaders in conservation work on the program.

Meat Prices Likely Will Remain High

No Change This Year, Agriculture Dept. Forecasts

WASHINGTON, Sept. 8 (UP)—Butchers' prices on pork, beef and lamb will continue at the present "relatively high levels" at least during the remainder of this year, department of agriculture economists predict.

Feeder stock of the three principal meat animals are far below normal, and marketings this fall will be higher and present prices probably will be maintained, the bureau of agricultural economics said.

The light supply is a result of the 1934 and 1936 droughts. Many farmers were forced to sell their stock. High prices of feed increased the cost of finished animals and caused farmers to keep little breeding stock.

Change in Spring
With bumper feed crops in prospect this fall and prices of feed considerably lower, the number of hogs, cattle and sheep on farms may be expected to increase considerably, the economists said. Increased marketings, however, may not begin before next spring.

Marketings of hogs this fall and early winter probably will show a smaller than usual seasonal increase because the large corn crop will induce farmers to feed hogs to heavier weights, the bureau said.

The price to farmers may decline about seasonally, but the price to consumers may not vary greatly. Storage supplies of pork are below normal, although six percent larger than a year ago. Storage holdings of lard are 34 percent greater than a year ago.

Fewer Hogs
Hogs slaughtered in July were the smallest number in 41 years of white prices for the best hogs and August was the highest since 1926.

HEAD ASSN.

V. C. MARSHALL

JOSEPH C. PEACOCK

Consumers may expect lower pork prices late next spring or early summer, it was believed.

"Prices of the better grades of slaughter cattle probably will continue, through early fall at least, at or near the present relatively high levels," the bureau said.

The number of cattle on feed in the Corn Belt states on August 1 was 29 percent smaller than a year earlier and was the smallest for that date in many years, the bureau said. Prices may decline some in the late winter or early spring, it was said.

The bureau reported prospects for a strong feeder demand for lambs this fall and predicted that prices of both lambs and wool will be maintained at near present levels through November.

More lambs will be fed in the Corn Belt this fall feeding season than last, but about the same number will be fed in the western states, the bureau said. Prices to growers may average about as high as a year earlier, the bureau said.

SUFFERS INJURIES

VOTE TABULATED ON AMENDMENTS

TRAIN DERAILED

MIGHT GET ROUGH

FORT WORTH, Sept. 8 (AP)—The T. C. U. Horned Frogs may put on their "hats" today.

That means that Coach Dutch Meyer may yell for the helmets and send his hopefuls into a little rough work. He said this morning that no formal scrimmage is planned Saturday or Monday but indicated that today's sessions of blocking and tackling might wax tough.

LINES THEM UP

DALLAS, Sept. 8 (AP)—Passionate Matty Bell had his Southern Methodist grid candidates heaven the ball all over the place. The morning in their second day. Southwest conference football drill Bell's double purpose was to get a line on prospects for another "aerial circus" and to loosen muscles stiffened in yesterday's work-out.
