Earning A Slick 25 Shillings

An English Labor Ministry official recently admitted some British housewives were up to a little trick which earns them twenty-five shillings per week for six months every year. The trick consists of collecting jobless benefits from the British Government under somewhat duress.

Two housewives agree to employ each other as clothes-washers for six months they pay each other the same amount for the weekly washing, and then, at the end of the six months period, they fire each other. Since they are out of work they go to the Labor Ministry and claim unemployment payments twenty-five shillings a week. Since they are technically unemployed, they are eligible for payments six months of the year and when their payments end, they rehire each other and start the business over again.

Too many dollars in the wrong man's pocket soon crowds out the sense in his head.

Something To Think About

It is only natural for man to take pride in his religion convictions. The man who has no conviction is in a miserable state, and of little value to himself or his God. However, the fact that we have conviction does not necessarily mean that the thing we profess is always right. The fact that it seems right to us is no assurance that it is right, for "There is a way that seemeth right to a man but the end thereof are the ways of death." (Prov. 14:12) And so it is that we are repeatedly warned of the weakness of man, the power of Satan, and the negative influence of false teachers. The Devil's greatest victory lies not in his power to entice men to commit sin, his greatest victory lies in his ability to cause men to stubbornly refuse to admit that he is in error. There is hope for the man who is willing to admit that he is wrong, and one who will take the necessary steps to correct that error - but when reason than pride, prejudice, and some preconceived idea - when we refuse to admit error, we are in a good way to be eternally lost.

All the forces of Satan combined could not forestall that noble step. And we find too, that many of them were already religious. Lydia, the eunuch, Cornelius, Saul of Tarsus all of these were sincere followers of some religious conviction. But even so, they learned a lesson that is needful today, they learned that it is possible to be religious, a devout church member, and still be condemned in the sight of God. They learned that conscience is not a good dependable guide. They learned that what one thinks about a matter is of no value when compared with the will of God. They learned that "Not everyone that saith unto me, Lord, Lord, shall enter the Kingdom of God, but he that doeth the will of my Father which is in heaven." (Matthew 7:21)

One of the great needs of mankind today is a sincere, honest, humble desire to know the will of God. The individual who imposes these qualifications will, when he learns the truth, obey it regardless of pride, worldly influence, family or any other hindering cause that might intervene. "The gospel is the power of God unto salvation" (Romans 1:21). It is the only dependable guide from earth to heaven, from mortality to immortality. Each of us would do well to measure our religious convictions by this infallible yardstick.
 Paul Smith, Minister.

Don't Name It

Old Man John Santa Fe proved to be a friend of the Panhandle country again the past week. Mr. Santa Fe has always been kind to the North Plains and it has been through the cooperation of John Santa Fe that we have reached the peak of prosperity that we now enjoy.

However, this comment was not started to enumerate the many advantages of having a Soules. Cooperation, that does have a SOUL as a partner, but to specifically thank Mr. Santa Fe for the valuable gift donated Spearman last week. The incident happened about our press time and we were crowded for time and space to express our sentiments in the news story. The facts involved are that J. T. Anderson, Superintendent of the Santa Fe division at Amarillo, presented Mayor C. A. Gibner the 100,000 gallon steel water tank and tower and quite a bit of cast iron pipe.

Accompanying Mr. Anderson were W. H. Clark, division engineer, H. J. Wheeler, division water service superintendent and Geo. N. Sell, roadmaster of the division of Shattuck, Oklahoma.

The presentation was made and then Mr. Anderson informed Mayor Gibner that the engineering department of the R. R. and the water service personnel of the company were available to aid the city in any of their water problems.

Personally this writer greatly appreciates this gift to our city. It will aid materially in our program of expansion. It should not have come at a more opportune time. We plan to spend about 130,000.00 on our water system soon, and we feel sure that Mayor Gibner and Manager Leo Dacus can use this property to a good advantage.

THANKS MR. SANTA FE

High Lights And Side Lights From Your State Capitol
 By VERN SANFORD
 Texas Press Association
 AUSTIN, Tex.—Austin is full of "land-grab" investigations.

Attorney General John Ben Shepperd blew the lid off veterans' land sales to start the movement and the lid is still sailing.

Both houses of the legislature have the town investing committee. Also peering into the "land block sale" scandals are grand juries in Travis and Dewitt counties.

Planning to conduct a full investigation, the House set up a committee composed of Representatives Joe Burket, Wade F. Spilman, Virginia Duff, Reagan R. Huffman and Jesse Osborn. Burket is chairman; Spilman vice-chairman.

Recalled by the Senate investigating committee, headed by Sen. Dorsey B. Hardeman, was Attorney General Shepperd, for testimony under oath. This at the request of Sen. Jimmy Phillips.

Because of Phillips' line of questioning, Rep. Leroy Saul charged that the senator was preparing to run for attorney general and using the investigation for personal publicity.

Shepperd testified that minutes of the Veterans' Land Board showing him present and voting for individual applications were erroneous. He said that the board didn't pass on the applications—that it was an administrative matter turned over to the chairman—former Land Commissioner Bascom Giles.

The same practice is being followed under the new chairman, J. Earl Rudder, Shepperd said.

Shepperd also said he didn't use his influence as a board member to get favors for any applicants. He further stated that a 1933 letter from G. Curtis Jackson Jr. of Zavala County attorney, complaining of block land deals by C. O. Hagan, was not seen by him until after the investigation started.

Bascom Giles, who quit as land commissioner and veterans' land board chairman on Jan. 1, Giles refused to testify before the Senate committee on his business relations with Sheffield and other land operators.

Rep. Dolph Briscoe Jr., author of the House investigation measure, also introduced a bill providing 10-year prison terms and fraud or duress on veterans, or false or forged documents in land deals.

Corrective insurance bills have run into a slow-down.

Four were heard by a House Committee including one to regulate insurance company securities. All were sent to a sub-committee for two weeks.

In the Senate the insurance committee heard two bills. One would fix a 375,000 minimum capital and surplus for new legal reserve life companies, all in cash. One requires examinations of legal reserve life agents. Both were attached as monopolistic—for the big companies and were sent to sub-committees.

Legislative committees moved slowly on a mass of other bills awaiting their action.

Several labor bills were heard. One by Sen. George Parkhouse, dealing with "the Port Arthur situation", won favorable action. It would permit picketing only by employees representing a majority of the workers of a struck firm.

Another bill by Parkhouse would prevent pickets from interfering with common carrier service to a struck plant; and would fine or jail common carrier employees for refusing to cross a picket line.

Water Committee Busy
 Two committees studied water legislation.

Rep. Harold Parish's constitutional amendment for a $200 million bond issue and a 1-cent property tax, was reviewed by the constitutional amendments committee, and held over for action.

Another House committee heard arguments on a bill for setting up a water commission. In the Senate, two rivals plans convened his fifth annual law enforcement conference in Austin with David Brian, "Mr. District Attorney" of TV, as a featured speaker.

A new drive for more stringent prohibition law, including the possibility of an attempted constitutional amendment for something like the old prohibition law, is in the air.

Everybody's been—just kidding if they were not. All habits of some lead

SHEPPERD FILES SUITS
 This testimony came as Shepperd filed the first two of a prospective long list of suits to forfeit block land deals and recover the money paid land operators.

G. Curtis Jackson Jr. was a defendant named in one of the suits. Shepperd testified that Jackson was identified in one of the land deals.

Shepperd's first two suits were against L. V. Ruffin and B. R. Sheffield, both of Brady, and J. Paul Little, G. Curtis Jackson Jr. and H. R. Stallings, of Crystal City. The Brady group was sued for $36,274; the latter for $150,000.

Sheffield has been identified as a former business associate of
