

Rogers - Hurst Vows Read

Vivian Rogers, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Close became the bride of R. E. Hurst of Lorent, Texas, son of Mrs. R. G. Hurst of Tecumseh Oklahoma, in a single ring ceremony performed by Rev. McKinney in the First Christian Parsonage at Perryton, Texas.

Girls visited his mother, Mrs. Roy Kilgore in Pampa Sunday. Mrs. Woodville Jarvis has spent most of the week in Perryton with her mother, Mrs. Lawrence who has been seriously ill.

Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Burns Perryton attended the couple after the ceremony a reception was held in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Bob Schuster with wedding cake and punch served.

Next big event in Hansford county is the Gruver Spring Festival to be staged May 29th and 30th. Last year the Festival was completely rained out, and we wonder if the boys did not make a mistake in not scheduling their party along about juneber the first so we could have already enjoyed the rainfall.

Don't Name It

Judge Sansing has been asking the country editor to take "That Fishin' Trip". Guess he is really desperate for moisture. I would remind him that I took a trip last July and again in February, yet we have not received their promised rainfall. I may get organized to take another trip during May. Hope he got enough moisture to plant maize.

Speaking of moisture, G. C. Brillhart informs this writer that we will make a lot of 5 and 6 bushel wheat in this county. Guess he differs with our son, who headlined the fact that he thought the wheat harvest was 90 per cent harvested by the drought. Have been complimented on the article by Delton Kirk, who said the only error was the fact that the newspaper should have carried the story that the wheat loss was one hundred per cent.

Understand that a great many of the farmers are carrying the Federal Wheat crop insurance. This means that the land can be condemned for the crop, and the farmer will get about seven dollars an acre at a cost of about a dollar and a half an acre carrying charge for the insurance. That will more than put in another crop of wheat next year, but we seriously doubt if it will feed and clothe a family.

We are wondering where all the money we spend is coming from. Know that a lot of farmers have had a loss on cattle and farm products for the past two years, and yet they are in business. The term on the streets is that folks are living off the "Fat". Suppose that represents the savings accumulated during

No doubt about it... Chevrolet trucks must be the best buy!

This year—for the 12th straight production year—truck users are buying more Chevrolet trucks than any other make. That couldn't be true unless Chevrolet trucks offered more of what you want. Already, 1953's official sales figures tell a remarkable story of clear-cut and decisive preference for Chevrolet trucks. But, this is not surprising, for truck users everywhere are discovering how far ahead of all other Chevrolet trucks really are.

They are discovering things like the tremendous new power in advanced Load-master engines in heavy-duty models... the remarkable gasoline economy... the extra ruggedness and strength of heavier, more rigid frame construction. And, in addition to all these advantages, the Chevrolet line lists for less than any other trucks of comparable size and capacity. So, before you buy any truck, stop in and see us.

Your Senator Reports BY Lyndon B. Johnson

FARM REORGANIZATION: A plan to reorganize the Department of Agriculture was sent to Congress by the President on March 25. Under the law, this plan will take effect automatically after 60 days unless disapproved by either House of Congress.

Senator Dick Russell of Georgia, one of the best friends the farmer has in Congress, has introduced a resolution of disapproval. If this resolution is passed by the Senate, the proposed reorganization plan will be dead.

Committee hearings on both the reorganization plan and Senator Russell's resolution of disapproval have been set for May 12.

FARM PRICES: Letters from Texas indicate that many farmers are becoming increasingly concerned about the Administration's attitude toward rural electrification, soil conservation programs, and other matters affecting agriculture.

It seems to me that too many of the new men brought into the Government have big business backgrounds—and too few possess knowledge of the problems facing the farmers. We have plenty of suggestions about how to raise farmers' interest rates—and too few about how to lower the costs. Prices of things the farmer buys keep going up—and prices of things he sells keep going down.

If the farmers get in a bad pinch, all of us will be very seriously affected. Helping to keep agriculture prosperous is a right and noble concern of the Government.

UPSTREAM FLOOD PREVENTION: The idea of a Federal program for upstream flood prevention seems to be catching on. Early in this season, Congressman Bob Poage introduced in the House and I introduced in the Senate companion bills to authorize a broad program of soil and water conservation in upstream areas.

Last week a spokesman for the Agriculture Department told the House Agriculture Committee there is "need to give greater emphasis to conservation and productive use of water high up on the watershed lands."

Congressman Clifford R. Hope, chairman of the House Agriculture Committee, favors such a program.

TIDEPLAINS: By the time you read this, the Senate should have passed the tideplains bill, under the agreement that a vote would be taken Tuesday, May 5. It is good to know that Texas has won this long fight.

During the lengthy speech by Senator Mirre, an opponent of the legislation, I found out how it feels to spend the night in the Senate Chamber with only two other Senators on the floor and a half a dozen spectators in the gallery.

NEWS BRIEFS: Texas who hold Star Route contracts with the Postoffice had better start thinking about other jobs. Star Route setup is being thoroughly shuffled around to "improve service," of course.

People of Zapata County will lose 32,000 acres of land less for Falcon Lake than they had feared. I joined Senator Price Daniel, Congressman Lloyd Benning, and Robert Lee Bobbitt, former Texas Attorney General, in urging this action on State Department officials.

Attended a small dinner Saturday night at the White House, given by the President and Mrs. Eisenhower. Their daughter-in-law Mrs. John Eisenhower, and Mrs. Eisenhower's mother, Mrs. J. S. Doud, were present. Anybody would be proud to have Mrs. Doud for his mother, and the young Mrs. Eisenhower would make anyone an ideal sister.

Washington News Letter by Congressman Walter Rogers

Washington, D. C. June 1, 1953

BEHIND THE SCENES: Two matters that are causing much concern on Capitol Hill at the present time, and which have not been too widely publicized, are the conflict between the administration and the Republican Senate leadership with reference to the Bricker Amendment and the guess-work that is going on concerning the anticipated increase in interest rates. The Bricker Amendment is a proposal by Senator Bricker, of Ohio, to amend the Constitution to definitely spell out that the Constitution of this country shall be the supreme law and providing that any treaty which denies or abridges any right enumerated in the United States Constitution shall not be of any force or effect. At present the Constitution of the United States reads as follows, to wit: "This Constitution, and the laws of the United States which shall be made in pursuance thereof, and all treaties made, or which shall be made, under the authority of

MR. MERCHANT

If some customer should slip on your floor or in front of your store and come up with a broken wrist, wouldn't it be nice to have an insurance company pay for all medical bills. And if this person should hire a lawyer and sue you it would be great to have the expense of hiring an attorney taken care of.

That's just what our storekeeper's liability policy does and we even take care of the legal liability if someone is sickened or poisoned by a product you sell.

of the United States shall be considered in a matter of this kind, Senator Bricker and the proponents of his amendment in the Senate apparently assumed that Eisenhower was favorable to such an amendment and that adoption of the resolution to amend the Constitution would be more or less a matter of formality. As soon as the administration began to function there was a decided coolness toward the Bricker amendment. This situation finally came to a head when the Secretary of State, John Foster Dulles, and President Eisenhower, together with the other high officials in the administration, announced that they had concluded that the Bricker amendment should not be adopted. Truman had taken the same position concerning the Bricker Amendment, and it was thought here on the Hill that much support for the Bricker Amendment was generated by the fact of Truman's unpopularity. However, since the new administration has taken this same position, there will not be some fireworks later on. Senator Bricker and other proponents of the amendment have voiced their opinions in support of it in no uncertain terms during speeches at recent conventions of the American Society of Newspaper Editors and also the Daughters of The American Revolution. The problem concerned is not as simple as it might appear on its face. In fact there are many incidental matters, facets and details that can and no doubt would arise. At the present time the treaties made between this country and foreign countries are of course not binding until ratified by the Senate. The decisions of the courts in the past concerning the priority of the Constitution or the treaties seems to conclude that the two pronouncements are on a parity and that one controlling the other is concerned. In any event, look for some happenings on this front.

The other matter referred to concerns interest rates, that is causing much trouble. Many economists subscribe to the policy that the best and quickest way to start a recession or a depression is to increase interest rates. However, another school of thought in the economic field denies this and takes the position that such a movement would prevent a recession or depression by creating a stabilization of the dollar and gradual deflationary trend which would be a guard against inflation. No matter which school of thought you might agree with, the fact remains that something will probably be done with the rates in the very near future. In fact, some action may be taken before this newsletter reaches you. It has been a matter that has been under consideration by the present legislative leaders and the administration, and we have all been expecting some action every day. A decision must be made on the problem for the reason that at the present time the mortgage market is almost non-existent. This means that many, many builders and contractors over this country find themselves in a vacuum as their business is financed primarily by the disposition of these mortgages as they complete the housing units. It would be utterly impossible for these builders to carry these mortgages themselves, and unless they can dispose of them as they move along, they have no alternative but to cease operations. This means extensive unemployment in many of the crafts, as well as in the common labor fields. It is one that must be made if our economy is to continue. A blanket increase of one-half of one per cent in interest rates would mean that the national debt would be increased by almost 1 1/2 billion dollars. This 1 1/2 billion dollar increase would be payable each year, in addition to the present interest payments that are being made of approximately 6 1/2 billion dollars. This would mean an annual increase in government expenditures of 1 1/2 billion dollars. In ten years this would amount to 15 billion dollars.

The Delphinium Flower Show

Five Steps to Cut Flower Care 1. Cut flowers early. Never use a sharp knife. Never use shears.

2. Stand flowers in deep cold water for an hour or two before arranging. 3. Change water every day. Scrub container clean. No green stem and cuttings in water.

4. Cut the flower stems daily with a sharp knife. Remove any foliage below the water line. 5. Keep flowers cool and moist. away from heat and drafts. Put them in a cool place overnight. These simple suggestions methodically carried out will do a great deal toward keeping flowers longer. These steps are necessary whether you use aspirin or salt water or some of the special chemicals in tablet or powder form, designed to prolong the life of flowers.
