Since the extraordinary scenic grandeur of the Rockies plays such an important part in Director Alan J. Pakula's conception of what the land means to the characters in "Comes A Horseman," it was only natural he would turn to cinematographer Gordon Willis, who as his collaborator on the exceptionally beautiful visual style of "Kluge," "The Parallax View" and "All the President's Men." Considered by many to be the finest American director of photography, Willis' creative and unique way of lighting and composition has added immeasurably to such films as "Annie Hall."

JAMES CAAN

Pausing pensively at the door of her Model T, Jane Fonda reflects on the problems of retaining control of her land in "Comes A Horseman." United Artists release opening, Feb. 21 at the Lyric Theatre.

The class of 1941 is very well disturbed this week. One of their star members is in the hospital, St. Anthony's, Oklahoma City. And, it is none other than our own Newell Allen. He underwent knee surgery, an old football wound, just before Thanksgiving, and is still ailing.

Newell is receiving all of the newspapers from the Hansford area, and we want to urge him to hurry and get well, and come home. His wife Dickie, visited with him over the weekend, and once again we want to wish Newell a speedy recovery from everyone in Spearman and Hansford County.... The editor

Hightower To Serv On Choice Subcommittees

(Washington, D.C.) Congressman Jack Hightower has been selected to serve on two choice subcommittees by virtue of having a seat on the influential House Appropriations Committee.

Hightower, chairman of the Texas Democratic Delegation, will continue to have an impact on issues that confront the American farmer in an expansive role by serving on the Agriculture subcommittee that oversees funds for the operation of the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

The Subcommittee on State, Justice, Commerce and Judiciary, and the Department of Commerce and their related agencies.

"I can think of no two subcommittees that compliment each other so well as the manner of these two subcommittees," Hightower said. "A part of our problems in agriculture can often be traced back to the State Department not playing the role they should overseas in dealing with foreign nations. Increasing exports at a fair return for American producers of all goods is vital to this country's well-being."

"The Department of Commerce can plan an even greater role trying to see that government actions and policies have a positive effect on the economy of this country. It is important that these two agencies are useful to our national interest and making the best use of the tax dollar. I hope I can effect positive measures through the appropriations process," Hightower explained.

Such agencies as the Small Business Administration, the International Trade Commission and the Federal Trade Commission's budgets all come under the scrutiny of the latter subcommittee.

Price Plans To Create Gasohol Act

AUSTIN...Senator Bob Price, Republican - Pampa, plans to introduce legislation before the Senate this week dealing with Gasohol.

The legislation will create the Texas Gasohol Development Act. Under the act, the Texas Energy Advisory Council will make available five matching grants of up to $4 million for the construction of grain alcohol plants or related facilities. Any city, county, corporation, partnership, or individual may apply for the matching grants.

Another bill will provide for tax exemption status for fuels containing a minimum of ten percent by volume of alcohol derived from Texas agricultural or forest products.

A bill entitled the Texas Gasohol Pilot Plan will provide for the state funding of a pilot gasohol plant. Senator Price hopes that such a pilot gasohol plant will be located in the heavy corn producing areas of The Texas Panhandle.

Finally, a fourth piece of legislation will be needed to actually legalize gasohol which is currently illegal in Texas.

Senator Price says that not only can gasohol help to relieve some of the demand on oil and gasoline, but will also provide another market for Texas farmers.

Senator Price also said that other states including Iowa and Nebraska have gasohol programs already in operation.

"In these days with talk of gas rationing, dollar a gallon gas and low prices for farm products, a gasohol program is desperately needed in the state of Texas," said Senator Price.

Highway Construction Contract Let

AMARILLO -- The State Highway and Public Transportation Commission has awarded Gilvin-Terrill Inc. of Amarillo and Washburn the contract for highway improvement work in Spearman and Borger.

Gilvin-Terrill's bid of $318,177 was the lower of two received on the three projects, said A.L. McKee, State Department of Highways and Public Transportation Amarillo District Engineer.

McKee said an asphaltic concrete pavement will be placed on Farm to Market Road 759 in Spearman, on State Highway 207 in Borger from the traffic circle north to FM 1559, and on Loop 140 in Borger from 10th Street north to the traffic circle.

An underseal surface treatment will first be placed on the brick pavement in Spearman and on S.H. 207 prior to the asphaltic concrete overlay. McKee said two applications of the underseal will be made on Rock Creek Bridge on S.H. 207 before the overlay is placed.

The underseal and overlay will improve riding comfort and safety and prevent the intrusion of moisture into the pavement structure.

Jay L. Hawley of Borger, SDHPT Supervising Resident Engineer, will direct work on this contract.

Social Security News

About 270,200 needy aged, blind, and disabled people in Texas received $314 million in supplemental security branch manager.

Of that amount $159.5 million was paid to aged recipients, $6.3 million to the blind, and $148.2 million to the disabled. Weatherly said.

Nationwide, 4.2 million persons are receiving SSI. Payments totalled $6.4 billion in 1978, including $4.9 billion in Federal funds and $1.5 billion in State funds.

Supplemental security income is a Federally-administered program that pays monthly checks to people in financial need who are 65 or older and to people in need at any age who are blind or disabled.

The aim of SSI is to provide monthly checks so that needy people 65 or older, or blind or disabled, can have a basic cash income—$189.40 a month for one person, and $284.10 for a couple.

Not every person gets that much in his supplemental security income check every month. Some people get less because they have other income.

Supplemental security income is not the same as social security, even though the program is run by the Social Security Administration. The money for SSI checks comes from general funds of the U. S. Treasury. Social security benefits are paid from contributions of workers, employers, and self-employed people. Social security funds are not used for SSI checks.

People who get social security checks can get SSI checks, too, if they are eligible for both. But a person does not have to be eligible for social security to get SSI.

If you think you may be eligible for SSI, or if you want more information, call your social security office at 806-669-3381.

Census Bureau Recruiting Employees

The U. S. Census Bureau has a number of temporary jobs open during the next few weeks in Hansford County to help prepare address lists for use during the 1980 census.

Temporary census workers usually will work three to four weeks each and will be paid on a per-address collected basis. For an eight-hour day, the average worker will earn $27 to $30 per day plus 17 cents per mile for any driving done in a private vehicle. Applicants for the jobs must be 18 years old or over, a U. S. citizen, and pass a written test.

The work involves driving or walking to compile lists of addresses of each dwelling unit in designated areas of the county. These address lists will play a vital role in taking the 1980 census. They will be used to produce mailing labels for the census questionnaires to be sent to each household in America on March 28, 1980. Then, a few weeks following the April 1 Census Day, census officials will use the address lists to determine which households have not returned their completed questionnaires. Census takers must then be sent to each non-responding household to collect the information required on the census form.

The 1979 address collection activity in the county is part of a Census Bureau program involving 35,000 temporary workers nationwide to compile lists containing approximately 30 million addresses. Another 50 million addresses have been purchased from commercial mailing list companies.

The Census Bureau is an equal opportunity employer.

County residents interested in applying for the temporary census jobs should contact your nearest state employment agency office or write:

Rotary Club News
Amendment For Relief

Douglas R. McClelland, Spearman Branch Manager of Refco, spoke on "Commodities" to the Spearman Rotary Club Monday noon, February 19, at Martin's Steak Garden.

Altho commodity futures trading volume increased seven-fold in 15 years, McClelland said, the fact is that most people don't understand futures trading. They're naturally apprehensive about getting into a fast-moving market that can provide big profits--and big losses.

Individuals and companies buy and sell contracts for future delivery of "carloads" or lots of agricultural products, so-called because every-day agricultural contracts specified delivery of enough of a commodity to fill a railroad car. All contracts specify the quantity, delivery period, the date on which trading terminates, approved delivery points, and delivery procedure for each commodity traded.

Participants in the futures market may be classified into two groups: hedgers, who use the market as an insurance policy; and speculators, who use it for the reason implied by the very term.

When the producer, processor, warehouse, and marketer can plan ahead successfully, the consumer is likely to find food (and other) products available throughout the year at more stable and reasonable prices.

Speculators on the other hand, do not grow, process, or otherwise handle a product. Rather, they use their risk capital to try to take advantage of price fluctuations in the futures market. They buy and sell futures contracts in an attempt to make profits. The key word is "risk". The speculator should use only money which, if lost would not materially affect his way of life or deny him the necessities or comforts of one's normal life.

By next winter wheat should be selling for better than $5 a bushel. China and Russia will be buying our agricultural commodities and beef next year in large quantities and probably increasingly so. Russia's entertaining the Olympics will lead them to buy our surplus food commodities.

The stock market is in serious trouble and it will probably get worse.

People shouldn't speculate in the market unless they have a lot of money and if they panic at losing occasionally.

Visitors Monday noon were Rotarian Gene Schneider of Borger, Rotarian C.D. Riggins of Perryton, Jim Benson of the Spearman YMCA, and Douglas R. McClelland.

Members present were Carrie Marie Berry, Eschol Blankenship, J.L. Brock, Kim Brock, Roy Bulls, Archie Burrell, John R. Collard, Jr., Robert Elliott, Pete Fisher, Ed Freeman, Ed Garner, Kerry Henton, John Hutchison, Ed Limbocker, Junior Lusby, Jim McLain, Jack McWhirter, Frank Oglesby, Coy Palmer, Jim Shirley, Lenis Simpson, Gary Sims, Vance Snider, Jerry Taylor, Don Wirsdorfer, and Tim Woodington. Larry Murphy was the only member absent.

AUSTIN... Senator Bob Price, Republican of Pampa, has joined Senator Bill Patman, Democrat of Ganado, on SB 318 proposing a constitutional amendment for the relief of certain consumers of residential gas and electricity.

The Texas Department of Human Resources may establish a program providing grants or other forms of payment to or on behalf of the aged, disabled, or blind persons who are Supplemental Security Income Recipients who are not residing in nursing homes or state institutions for the purpose of providing relief from the cost of residential use of natural gas, liquefied petroleum gas, and electricity.

The amendment would be primarily for persons sixty-five years and older and solely for gas and electricity utility bills. The bill provides for the dedication of one cent of the seven and one-half cent per dollar natural well head tax, which last year would have generated close to $70 million towards utility bill relief. The natural gas well head tax then brought in $517.8 million.

Statistics show that one out of every three older Texans lives in poverty. A Supplemental Security Income Recipient will have an income of less than $3500.00 per year. A Supplemental Security Income Recipient living alone will have an income of less than $2300.00. The average Supplemental Security Income Benefit was $99.00 as of August 1978. The average Supplemental Security Income benefit has increased by only $16.61 in the last five years, a gain of less than $3.50 per year.

Of Supplemental Security Income Recipients in Texas, one in every seven have no indoor toilets; one in nine have no drinkable water piped into their homes; one in five have no hot water from an indoor faucet; one in six have no bath or shower; two in three use open windows or open windows with an electric fan as the only ventilation in the house. Elderly Texans use less energy than any other age income group but will spend a larger portion of their budget on fuel cost than any other group.

"Realistic utility bill relief like this can help people who need it most," Senator Price said. "The elderly suffer the most from the escalating cost of utilities."

The proposed amendment calls for Texas voters to give their approval or disapproval in November of 1979 and, if approved, their vote again in 1984.

Texas voters will have the opportunity to review the program and decide after five years experience whether to continue it. The two referenda approach is something no other constitutional amendment in Texas has had before.

The Senator feels that the "nothing can be done" attitude of the past is unacceptable. Something must be done, and this is an effort that can succeed. By 1980, population projections indicate that a major portion of Panhandle counties will exceed the anticipated state percentages in growth of those sixty-five and older.

Senator Price said he would welcome letters of inquiries on the subject of the constitutional amendment from any interested person. His capitol address is Box 12068, Capitol Station, Austin, Texas, 78711.

Close Introduces State Funds Reform Act

Representative Bob Close (R-Perryton) today introduced House Bill 951, the State Funds Reform Act of 1979, a landmark piece of legislation representing a progressive concept in the field of state money management.

Representative Close stated, "Few Texans realize that over 60 state agencies have over $275,000,000 in public money that is not deposited in the State Treasury. This situation exists because some Texas statutes allow, or even direct, these agencies to retain revenues in depositories other than the Treasury.

"Passage of my bill will remedy this current undesirable situation. The bill's intention was prompted by my deep belief in the need for uniform control, management, and auditing of all state funds collected by public officials and agencies for public legislative control over such funds through the appropriations process."

Under the Texas Constitution, all funds required to be deposited in the Treasury become subject to expenditure only by appropriation.

Representative Close's bill requires that, as of September 1, 1979, all fees, fines, penalties, taxes, charges, gifts, grants, donations, and all other funds received by a state agency must be deposited in the State Treasury within seven days after receipt. The Act does not apply to institutions of higher education or to those agencies whose jurisdictions apply only to a particular geographical portion of the state, such as river authorities and navigation districts.

Representative Close continued, "At my request, the Legislative Budget Board has prepared a survey report dated January 1979 which contains the most recent available audit figures for monies not in the Treasury. The statistics reported in this survey are shocking. In brief, they show that 62 state agencies did not have any, or, in some cases, only a portion of their funds in the Treasury. These figures show that, as of the most recent audit period available for each agency, a total of $275,279,485 in state funds was not deposited in the Treasury.

"I am opposed to giving these agencies, and the individual or individuals that head them, unfettered control over where they elect to deposit over $275,000,000 of the taxpayers' money. In several instances, agency funds outside the Treasury involve sizeable amounts. For example, the General Land Office and Veterans' Land Board has $26,874,587 of its funds in the Treasury, but has $109,698,655 on deposit elsewhere. The Texas Turnpike Authority has $18,626,969 deposited outside the Treasury and none in it. The State Banking Department has $39,985 in the Treasury, but $997,316 outside. Also, the Texas Savings and Loan Department has no funds in the Treasury, but $524,376 deposited elsewhere.

"When one individual or three or four board members have the sole discretion as to where hundreds of thousands or millions of state funds may be placed, it allows that individual or group unwarranted influence should not be extended to officials charged with the public trust.

"Our state agencies should regulate fairly and without favor those whom they are mandated by law to supervise. The loopholes in the current law may well open the way to the regulators being, in fact, regulated by those they are supposed to regulate."

Representative Close's bill has, reportedly, the support of the Comptroller of Public Accounts, the Director of the Legislative Budget Board, and the state Auditor.

In conclusion, Representative Close stated, "I am aware of the fact that my bill, as a matter of political reality, will generate sustained and vocal opposition from the various special interest groups that benefit from the way our public funds are presently handled. I predict that a majority of the members of this Legislature will agree that my bill is a desirable step toward improving and safeguarding the way the money of Texas taxpayers is handled by their state officials."

Tax Return Due For Farmers

March 1, 1979, is the deadline for some farmers to file their 1978 federal income tax return and pay any tax due, the Internal Revenue Service said.

Persons who earned at least two-thirds of their 1978 gross income from farming and did not file a declaration of estimated federal individual income tax by January 15, 1979, or pay any amount of estimated tax by this date, must file their return and pay all tax due by March 1, 1979, to avoid a penalty.

IRS Publication 225, "Farmer's Tax Guide," and 505, "Tax Withholding and Declaration of Estimated Tax," provide additional information and are available free from local IRS offices.

Waterway Functioning Properly

Waterway-Kenneth Irwin Farm - Waterway Functioning Properly.

Waterways are channels shaped to smooth surface and seeded to grass. The purpose of the waterway is to carry flood water across the farm at a non-erosion grade. It will protect ponds and streams from silt and pollution. Grassed waterways can be used for grazing or hay production. They will make an outstanding wildlife habitat for dove, quail and pheasants. If you have a waterway that needs to be seeded to grass now is a good time to seed it.

Conservation Cropping System

Agronomy -Wheat-Irrigated on Mickle Hill farm.

A sound conservation cropping system will help insure adequate protection against erosion. During the critical time of the year when soil losses from high winds are at their highest levels.

A cropping system is defined as the growing of different types of crops in a rotational system to improve and enhance the physical condition of the soil.

Among the many things that a well managed cropping system can do is aid in the control of insects, weeds, and disease.

Also it will help to conserve moisture and provide a means by which to accept any moisture that may fall.

In short it will help to insure the farmer a more economical return on his investment and at the same time protect his soil.

There are several factors which should be considered in a cropping system among these are: (1) The types of crops especially those which produced a large amount of residue and cover. Also how this residue will be managed to improve the soil structure.

(2) The applicable tillage methods and (3) The fertility programs.

Special considerations in any cropping system should include the type of soil, local climate and availability and quality of water.

Every operation is different and should be tailored to meet the needs and objectives of individual farms. The Soil Conservation Service in Spearman is available to anyone who would like any assistance in planning a conservation cropping system for their operation.

Vast Improvements In Money Management

State Treasurer, Warren G. Harding, stated "It is with great pride and pleasure that I announce to the people of Texas that interest income from the investment of State's funds during my sixteenth month tenure in office amounted to $185,230,502.02, an increase of $46,726,624.46 over the previous sixteen month period.

Mr. Harding also stated that improvements the office of State Treasurer has made in the area of interest earned for the State and the percentage of funds invested has resulted in increased earnings to the taxpayers of Texas.

Since being sworn in as State Treasurer on October 7, 1977, the percentage of funds invested has steadily been increased from 84.8% to an unprecedented average monthly percentage of 94.2% during the month of January, 1979, which is an alltime historical high. During Harding's sixteen month tenure interest rates have been increased from 6% to 9%, and total interest earned on the State's operating funds has amounted to $185,230,502.02, an increase of 33.7% over the previous sixteen months.

During the month of January, 1979, interest earned for the State from improved management of the current operating funds amounted to $13,963,330.57, an increase of 46.1% over interest earned from the same source a year ago.

Mr. Harding's policy to maximize the earning power of the State's funds has direct bearing on reducing the amount of revenue that would otherwise have to be derived from taxes.

Mr. Harding was optimistic in his outlook for the future of Texas. "We are the most fortunate people on the face of the earth. We live in a sunbelt State and have a very healthy economy in Texas. We have low unemployment, no personal income tax, the lowest per capita indebtedness and our cities are booming. I predict that Texas will continue to grow and prosper in the years ahead. I am highly honored to serve the people of Texas as State Treasurer, an office of high trust."

Family Workshop At PSU

The Department of Accounting, Divisions of Business at Panhandle State University will offer a short course titled Family Corporations. This educational program will be held February 26 and 27 and March 5 and 6 from 6:00 to 10:00 p.m. in room 139 of Hamilton Hall and will offer one hour of university credit for completion.

Family Corporations will emphasize the income tax savings and the consequences, estate tax and savings, and the relationship to wills, trusts, gifts and other estate planning tools as they pertain to family corporations. The course is designed for families with funds and small business holdings. Recent changes in tax laws have made it advantageous for some to consider forming a family corporation. The course is also considered to be a continuation of the first course offered in Estate Planning during previous years.

Doug Lyle, CPA from Beaver, Oklahoma, will be the instructor of the course. The Beaver native received his BS degree in accounting from Oklahoma University. He has worked for a CPA firm in Oklahoma City in the areas of accounting and estate planning. Mr. Lyle later returned to Beaver and opened his own CPA firm.

Enrollment for the Family Corporations course will be held the first night of class in room 139 of Hamilton Hall on the campus of Panhandle State University. Cost of PSU tuition and fees will be $15.70. For more information concerning the course, contact Dr. Russell Edensborough of the PSU Accounting Department, (405) 349-2611, ext. 241.

Center Board Plan Finance Projects

Golden Spread Center board met Monday, February 5 at 5:00 p.m. at the Center. The meeting was called to order by chairman Orvil Brummett, and led in prayer by the Rev. Edward D. Freeman.

Those present at the meeting were Goldie Bowling, Colene and Orvil Brummett, Rosa Lee Butt, Ed Freeman, Alva Garner, Frances Loftin, Marsha Murphy, Thelma Scott, and Lenis Simpson.

Minutes of the previous meeting were read by Thelma Scott and approved. She also read the treasurer's report and it was accepted and all bills were ordered paid.

Further remodeling was discussed and the buying of dishes was discussed.

Baker & Taylor donated a fire extinguisher and a first aid kit.

It was moved to have Lenis Simpson buy another small fire extinguisher.

Hospital Auxiliary will be hostesses for both pot-luck dinners on February 6 and 20.

The finance department announced that we shall have another radiothon on KRDF on Thursday, April 26, and the program will emanate from the Golden Spread Center. The telephone is to raise money for the next payment on the building.

Martha Batton has made an afghan and it was decided to sell chances on it in connection with the annual bazaar held on Hansford Days.

February trips on the center's van-bus will be a trip to one of the dinner theaters in Amarillo and a trip to Forgan, Oklahoma to see the museum and to have dinner.

Nominating committee suggested Orvil Brummett, Lenis Simpson, and Rosa Lee Butt, whose terms expire in April, to be elected to a three year term. Marsha Murphy was nominated to take a one year term to replace Freeman Barkley, who has resigned from the Board. By-laws call for an annual meeting in April. It was decided to hold the meeting in conjunction with the radiothon on April 26.

Rosa Lee Butt and Marsha Murphy were appointed to a committee for the annual bazaar. Marsha will be coordinator. While the radiothon takes care of building payments, it is necessary to have the bazaar and sustaining membership drive to take care of remodeling, maintenance, and on-going expenses. Craft classes to make things for the bazaar will be organized as soon as the weather is more cooperative.

It was decided to send sympathy cards to families of active members who pass away. Golden Spread Center will be glad to receive memorials and will send cards of appreciation to contributors.

A street light was discussed. Finance committee was instructed to prepare a budget for the annual meeting.

At present there is a sewer-rout problem and a plumber is working on it.

A request to have the Center open every Tuesday night for unsupervised table games was to be brought up at the next pot-luck dinner.

It was discussed about taking a bus load to visit other senior citizens centers, especially in towns the size of Spearman.

The request to rent the building for judo classes was tabled for the present while there is still remodeling going on.

The meeting adjourned at 6:30 p.m.

It Is With Great Pride That Buick Announces Motor Trend Magazines Selection Of The 1979 Riviera S As "Car of the Year"

Motor Trend Magazine states "the Riviera S offers luxury with taste and performance with comfort. Though it is plush, it rides and handles extremely well for a car of its type. It's styling is crisp and modern, but not at the expense of utility. Though it bounds with innovative engineering, the Riviera S is well within the tradition that made the original Riviera a classic...it offers excellent value, especially when compared to cars costing twice as much.

These honors once again confirm Buick's dedication toward offering their customers the finest in personal transportation.

Go see Buddy Hooper or Wayne Crotts to become a part of this great tradition.

Wise home energy management helps you KEEP THE HEAT YOU PAY FOR

Thousands of home owners each winter do not keep what they pay for. They let valuable home heat escape through uninsulated walls and ceilings, unsealed cracks, and unprotected windows. If you are one of these homeowners you are actually paying for this lost home heat. So doesn't it make sense to safeguard your valuable energy dollars? Insulate ceilings, walls, and floors. Install storm windows. Seal cracks with weatherstripping and caulking. Close off unused rooms. And make sure fireplace dampers are tightly shut when not in use. Any of these steps can help stop wasteful heat loss, and allow you to get more for your energy dollar. Call us today for more energy management tips.

Jazz Musician To Give Concert

Dizzy Gillespie, trumpeter, band leader and composer will present a concert at 8 p.m. Feb. 23 at the Borger High School Auditorium.

Admission to the concert brought here by the Tri-City Community Concert Association is by membership only.

Dizzy Gillespie is one of the most renowned figures in music today. Together with the legendary Charlie Parker, he revolutionized the jazz world of the 1940s with the music called "bebop", creating an impact still felt today.

Born in Cheraw, S.C., Gillespie was introduced to music by his father, an amateur musician who taught him proficiency on several instruments. He started playing trombone at the age of fourteen, switching to trumpet the following year, and studied harmony and theory at the Laurinburg Institute of North Carolina until his family moved to Philadelphia in 1935.

For the next decade his reputation grew steadily, along with the music and lifestyle called "bebop". He has played with all the great musicians of our time. With a list of records so immense it almost defies cataloguing, Dizzy's music has been preserved, from his earliest days with Teddy Hill's band at the Savoy Ballroom. Right up to today.

In 1956, the jazz musician reorganized a full-sized band and he became the first jazz musician ever invited to tour overseas on official good will missions for the U.S. government.

Always ahead of his time, Gillespie was one of the first American musicians to appreciate the sound of the new samba rhythms, which he heard during a visit to Brazil, and which he recorded on an album out early in 1962. The bossa nova craze erupted in full force later that year.

But it is only in live performance that one can fully appreciate this dynamic man.

DIZZY GILLESPIE

revered throughout the world as an artist of unflinching inspiration and genius.

When John Birks "Dizzy" Gillespie is around, the world suddenly seems brighter. Even before he puts his distinctively-shaped trumpet to his lips the atmosphere is charged with a unique kind of excitement—for Dizzy is the supreme entertainer. Not only is he a consummate musician with absolute mastery of his instrument and seemingly unlimited musical ideas, he is an ebullient, witty personality who makes a fan out of every listener.

AUSTIN--"Texas Public Schools: Democracy in Action." That's the theme for the annual observance of Texas Public Schools Week, scheduled March 5 through 9.

The Texas State Teachers Association is joining with other education organizations and Masonic bodies throughout the state in urging teachers, students, and the public to participate in the 29th annual observance of the special week.

TSTA President Virginia Stacey of San Antonio is calling on members to lend their support to the statewide observance in this 125th year of free public school education in Texas.

In a letter to members, Mrs. Stacey points out that TSTA is on the eve of its own 100th birthday anniversary, having been established in Mexia in 1880.

Gov. Bill Clements recently signed a proclamation designating March 5 through 9 as Texas Public Schools Week and urging citizens to take part in local observances.

The first school week in March is set aside each year to give Texas citizens a special invitation to visit their public schools.

Many school buildings participate with open houses, classroom displays, and special exhibits of student work.

"We want parents and other school patrons to meet teachers and get a better understanding of the way their schools operate," Mrs. Stacey says.

"They will discover that Texas teachers care about their children and need parental support in their everyday efforts to help children learn."

The Texas State Board of Education has cooperated with Texas Masons in their sponsorship of the special week since the first observance in 1951.

Public School Open House in Spearman will be held Tuesday, March 6th, 7 til 9 P.M.

40% of Texas Citrus Crop Lost in Jan. Valley Freeze

AUSTIN—An estimated 40-45 per cent of this season's citrus crop was lost to the January 3 freeze in the Lower Rio Grande Valley, Agriculture Commissioner Reagan V. Brown has announced. However, fruit is expected to continue moving to the fresh market for the next few weeks.

Brown said freeze-damaged fruit is still being sold to juice plants, but "a considerable amount of citrus that fell to the ground has ruined and will not be recovered for juice. This condition was brought about by a lack of processing facilities, labor and trucks to haul fruit to plants."

Fruit that Texas-Federal Inspection Service inspectors eliminated from fresh market sale at packing sheds because of dryness is still of juicing quality and is being accepted at juice plants. Brown also noted that tree loss could not be estimated accurately until March when the trees put out new growth. "From past freeze experience we feel that we will have a loss in next season's crop," he said. "Just how much remains to be seen after the trees leaf out and bloom."

The commissioner gave the following figures on other crops damaged in the freeze:

Cabbage--About 70 per cent of the winter crop was lost, but new cabbage will be ready to harvest in about a month.
Lettuce--Apparently 50-60 per cent of lettuce was lost. Harvest of new lettuce will begin in a couple of weeks and run through March.
Onions--Onions were burned on the tops, but are making recovery. Harvest of 24,500 acres in South Texas will begin in mid-March. Reduction in onion-size will result in volume loss.

Fuel-Saving Cars

The increasing likelihood that gasoline-burning automobiles will encounter future fuel crunches focuses attention once again on fuel-saving cars. CBS recently filmed scenes in several U.S. communities showing electric cars driving forty miles a day on an overnight charge.

In France, large-scale experiments are taking place and in other countries possibilities are being actively explored. A boom in the electric car field would certainly result if science develops batteries enabling motorists to drive farther and faster on a charge.

Meanwhile, the sale of diesel-fuel automobiles is increasing. Diesels get better mileage than high-octane burners; some believe diesel fuel not as subject to future shortages. As yet, few have revived the idea of steam, but there was a time when fire trucks and other vehicles utilized steam.

While the trend toward more fuel-efficient automobiles logically progresses, the fact remains that if Americans collectively determined to drive only five or ten percent fewer miles—easily possible—there would be no fuel shortages, for some time at least.

Oral History Project Conducted

"The passing of every old man or woman means the ending of some tradition, some... of sacred rites possessed by no other; consequently the information that is to be derived from the life of these old men and women must be secured at once or the opportunity will be lost for all time."

will be able to know a little more about our heritage and be able to slip back in time and dream of the frontier.

Our history is not just about cowboys; it is also about the building of towns as shown through the recollections of Thomas Ewell Noel, a former banker in Hall County.

"Jobs in a small town were not very plentiful for a young man, however, I kept busy most of the time at odd types of work. I was janitor at school, worked in a gin, an oil mill, picked cotton, and shucked corn for a livery stable located just across the street from our hotel.

In 1912 I moved to Memphis where I was employed at the First National Bank for 37 years. The years 1922 to 1924 were very dry. Prices were low for farm products and most people could not pay their taxes. John D. was president and I was secretary of the Memphis Independent School District during this period.

Without tax collection we could not pay our teachers and other creditors. Scrip was issued in denomination of $20 bearing 4% interest. This medium of exchange was accepted by most everyone and was used to pay house rent, board bills, grocery store accounts, such as Neal Grocery whose slogan was "Meat, Bread and Molasses", and Hogan Mercantile Company, Greens Dry Goods, Bradford Grocery, and others.

In addition to the recollections of the old-timers, there are recordings of the histories of the early churches, clubs, banks, schools, and other institutions of Hall County.

An oral history project is also being conducted by the Armstrong County Historical Commission. Mrs. Terrell Christian of Claude is the chairman of this committee. Mrs. Christian and her committee have secured several interviews, including ones with a former wrestler, veterans of World War I, and an early resident of Washburn, Texas.

Panhandle County Historical Commissions and organizations are urged to follow the splendid example of the citizens of Hall and Armstrong Counties in collecting oral history while the people who recall it are available.

For information and assistance in beginning this program, you may call Claire R. Kuehn, Panhandle-Plains Historical Museum in Canyon, Texas.

Child Abuse In Texas

No less than 283,000 children in Texas aged 14 and under are likely to be the victim of child abuse during 1979. The figure may be as high as 400,000.

The finding is the result of a survey conducted by the Survey Research Program of the Criminal Justice Center at Sam Houston State University for the Texas Council of Child Welfare Boards.

A scientifically selected sample of 1339 Texans participated in the study which was designed to measure the extent of child abuse and neglect in Texas, as well as what the people of Texas would like to see done about the problem of child abuse and neglect. The study was conducted by Allen Sapp and David Carter, research associates at the Criminal Justice Center.

A total of 14.3% of the respondents reported that they were abused or neglected as children. Also, 8.5% reported that their children have been abused or neglected. 15% reported that their children have been abused or neglected, 15% reported that children of their close friends have been abused or neglected, and 16.7% reported abuse or neglect of neighbors' children. Regarding the reported cases of child abuse, it was found that 67% had experienced emotional abuse, 54% physical abuse, 37% sexual abuse, and 26% had experienced neglect. Moreover, 98% of the physical abuse cases and 93% of the sexual abuse cases were accompanied by some type of emotional abuse.

Of the respondents who reported that they have been abused as a child, 54% reported physical abuse, 37% sexual abuse, 67% emotional abuse, and 26% neglect. Many of these respondents reported that three or more types of abuse occurred. However, only one-fourth reported the abuse to anyone. The primary reasons for not reporting were fear of retribution, did not know who to report to, or a belief that other children were treated the same way.

Of the respondents who indicated that their own child had been abused, 47% reported physical abuse, 13% reported sexual abuse, 67% reported emotional abuse, 23% reported neglect. Over one-half (54%) of the abuse cases took place in the home, 21% occurred in the outdoors, 21% in an automobile, 17% at a relative's home, and 5% in a movie or public place. Only one-fifth indicated that alcohol was even a factor in this type of abuse activity.

The findings also revealed that less than one-half of the abuse or neglect cases involving the children of close friends or neighbors are reported. With regard to close friends, about one-third of the cases were reported to someone in authority and four out of every ten cases involving a neighbor's child were reported. Reasons for not reporting included ignorance of where to report the abuse, a belief that others would control the situation, and fear of lawsuits or reprisals.

Approximately one-third (35%) of the respondents expressed the belief that abusing adults should be handled by the criminal justice system (police and the courts) and 31% indicated that abusing adults should be handled by a counseling or treatment agency (mental health/mental retardation, psychiatrist, psychologist). Another 13% indicated that this problem should be handled by a minister. Other responses included the family physician and the county welfare board. Regardless of who the respondents felt should be responsible for the abusing adult, the study did reveal a strong concern that not enough is being done with this type of person.

According to Sapp and Carter, the most revealing finding was that three-fourths of the respondents believe that state tax money should be used for the care of abused and neglected children. Also, over two-thirds believe that state tax money should be used for treatment of adults who abuse children.

Only 54% would like to see federal tax money used for treatment of these children, 49% would approve of county tax money being used, and 36% would approve of city tax money being used. A similar pattern was found regarding treatment of the abusing adult. Only 49% would like to see federal tax money used for this purpose, 37% would approve of county tax money being used, and 26% would approve of city tax money being used.

Respondents could, of course, indicate approval of more than one source of tax money being used for these purposes; however, it is noteworthy that in this day of dependency on federal funds, Texans would prefer to see state monies used for care of both the abused child and the child abuser.

Dr. Raymond Teske, Jr., Director of the Survey Research Program at the Criminal Justice Center, confirmed that this is the first comprehensive survey of the people of Texas regarding the problem of child abuse and neglect. Also, he indicated that the sample of 1339 Texans representing 178 different counties is statistically representative of the Texas adult population.

Mrs. Eleanor Tinsley of Houston, President of the Texas Council of Child Welfare Boards, acknowledged that "this carefully and scientifically researched document can lead the adults of Texas to recognize the extent of the serious problem of child abuse and neglect and demand responsible solutions."

HEADING TO AUSTIN

Five local men went to Austin Wednesday to testify in favor of HB 1, a bill submitted by Rep. Bob Close that would be of great benefit to irrigation farmers. From left are Delbert Timmons, Harold Courson, Dan Pletcher, Dean Slaughter, Ralph Blodgett, and Bob Lemon. Lemon did not attend, but has helped in support of the bill.

A group of five local men went to Austin Wednesday to present before the House Agriculture Committee, a bill, submitted by Rep. Bob Close, which should prove to be of considerable benefit to irrigation farmers. Upon their return, the men were optimistic about the outcome.

"I feel sure the House will accept it," said Ralph Blodgett of Spearman, one of the five men to make the trip.

Blodgett explained that HB 1, would make it possible for a land owner, whether or not he is a mineral right owner, to have the right by law to purchase at a negotiable price near wellhead price, up to one eighth of total production of casing head gas or dry gas that has or would be drilled on the property.

This would mean that irrigation farmers would have the right to purchase the gas being produced on their land at the negotiable price, instead of having to purchase the gas from a company at consumer cost.

At the present time, some landowners are being paid 54 cents per MCF (thousand cubic foot) for natural gas and in turn pay as much as $1.96 per MCF for gas with which to run their irrigation motors.

The fuel being pumped out of casing head gas wells or dry gas wells, would therefore be used locally by irrigation farmers instead of being sent through pipelines to out-of-state consumers.

In years past, it has been standard that land owners, with mineral rights, received one eighth of the production, Blodgett said. Many land owners since then, sold the surface land, but retained the mineral rights.

HB 1 would provide the owners of surface land the right by law to purchase gas, being produced on their land, at the negotiable price near wellhead cost. This gas would then be used for irrigation purposes.

The owner of mineral rights would still receive the one eighth returns.

Resistance to the bill comes mostly from big oil companies who want to use the one eighth raw gas produced, Blodgett said. Shamrock, Panhandle Independent Royalty Producers, Texas Independent Producers, and Mid-Continent Producers appeared to give testimony against the bill, when it was presented to the House Agriculture Committee.

"I would not say that it was a hard testimony," Blodgett said, "But the companies wanted some protection."

The companies, who already have negotiable contracts with pipeline companies, were seeking some protection, so they would not be liable in a law suit from earlier contracts. Here would be only a small amount of gas diverted from the pipelines and used by the irrigation farmer.

Blodgett said that when Bob Close presented the bill, he appealed to the fact that irrigation is necessary in the Panhandle area, for soil conservation purposes, and game refuge.

Close requested that some of the five local representatives return within the next few weeks, at which time the bill will be presented before the House.

The bill was passed last year by the House of Representatives, but was never decided upon by the Senate, due to a lack of time.

Blodgett said that this year's bill has since been worked on and re-worked, and he feels sure the bill will be accepted.

Other local representatives who went to Austin and testified before the House Agriculture Committee were Mayor Harold Courson, Delbert Timmons, Dean Slaughter, and Dan Pletcher.
