PASTOR PREACHED FAREWELL SERMON SUNDAY

REV. A. F. LOFTIN

Rev. A. F. Loftin, pastor of the First Baptist Church of this city preached his farewell sermon last Sunday night to a packed house. Rev. Loftin served the local church 5 years.

Pastors of the other churches of Spearman called their own services off and conducted a short program honoring the dean of Spearman pastors.

Rev. and Mrs. Loftin have been successful in every phase of the church work and have built up the Baptist church spiritually, numerically and financially, during the 5 years they have labored as pastor of the organization.

Mrs. Loftin's work with the young people has been outstanding. The Women's Missionary societies have trebled their number under direction of Mrs. Loftin.

The Sunday School and BTU has been completely departmentized under their supervision. Annex was added to the church accommodate Sunday School classes.

Spearman, both Baptist and those of other denominations are very fond of Rev. and Mrs. Loftin and this town will be a better place to live because of the influence they had here.

Future plans of theirs have not been announced.

The gigantic parades to be held each morning on the ninth and tenth will serve as the opening event each day. The rodeos to be held each afternoon and night on the ninth and tenth at Roadrunner Park, promise thrills equal to any rodeo in the country. All rodeo stock will be furnished by Beuter Brothers and the arena specialties consisting of trained animals, fancy riding, and clowns, will be more than worth the price of admission.

Rainfall Measures 4.45 Inches For May

With a rain practically every day, the total moisture received in May was 4.45.

Land owners declare the abundant rainfall will insure much more wheat production than first expected. The soil is in excellent condition for row crops, some optimistic individuals insisting we already have sufficient moisture to mature row crops.

In the southeastern part of the county some farmers fear more moisture will cause their grain to shrink and start to rust.

May has been a month of extremes, on May 8th a heavy frost was recorded with an emperature of 31 degrees. Sunday May 29 Hansford county people were given a taste of what to expect this summer when the mercury rose to 96 degrees.

Rains on May 28 and 30th brought the following tabulation:

May 1	.90
May 2	.89
May 3	.02
May 4	.18
May 15	.50
May 16	.20
May 18	.22
May 21	.31
May 22	.52
May 28	.16
May 30	.55
Total	4.45

Last year during the month of May Spearman received 4.66 inches of moisture. You will remember that the April drouth killed the wheat last year, while this year April rains were above normal.

Swirling Duster On Plains In 1923 Described As 'Thrill of a Lifetime'

"The Thrill That Comes Once in a Lifetime" was the description of a "duster" which hit the plains country in 1923 and was described and pictured in a pictorial edition of the Hooker, Oklahoma Advance in 1928, a copy of which was found this week among other editions kept on file at The Herald office.

Such a rarity were the dust storms in the plains section a few years ago that the residents never suspected that the more frequently occurring storms could do the damage which has resulted.

A part of the story in the Advance follows:

"Every section of the country has its reverses from time to time. Florida has its floods; mountainous regions have their blizzards which are followed by blinding snow storms and low temperatures; the south has its droughts and the cotton section is no exception. In the west a great while western Oklahoma, Colorado, Kansas and Texas have their play just the same as any other community.

"Back in early days—when settlement was just beginning, a great sand storm stretched itself over this country; then again on March 17, 1923, St. Patrick's day the whole of the west was again visited by another dust storm. Great clouds of dust that looked like the whole heavens were at war, put in an appearance on the northern horizon and gradually covered a scope of country for hundreds of miles. At first a lull appeared—the heavy dust settled round about you as a heavy cloak—the wind arose and for about an hour the elements of the air battled with themselves.

"Many people who have never witnessed scenes of this kind thought the world was coming to an end, and they did not realize they would be on earth following its passage. But it was just one of those old-fashion dust storms that gather the loose dirt of the fields, and with a whirling and twisting carries it into the air that casts a blackness over the country as dark as night.

"But this is not an every day—nor an every year occurrence. This happened back in 1923, so you see they are incidents in the lives of the people located here.

"These occurrences do not mar business transactions, nor crop conditions—they only prove to be one "thrill that comes once in a life time" to people of this section.

The picture which accompanied the story in the Advance was taken by George Risen in Hooker and was said to be the "only true one in existence."

State Highway Department Spreading Hopper Poison

The following letter was received from W. J. Van London Division Engineer of the Texas State Highway Department:

I have been advised that many farmers and ranchers are somewhat reluctant to poison grasshoppers on their property because their fields may again become infested by grasshoppers from highway rights-of-way.

The Highway Department started spreading poison on the right-of-way in the area south and west of Amarillo on May 29th and will continue the work until the rights-of-way on all highways in the Panhandle have been worked.

We will spread poison through the cultivated areas first and will spread poison through the range areas at the same time that adjacent ranches are being poisoned. We will appreciate information from property owners adjacent to highways in regard to the time they expect to spread poison in order that we can cooperate with them, and it is requested that property owners contact our foremen or resident engineers in the various counties. We expect to complete the work about June 15th.

$1,000,000 Needed By Red Cross To Help Stricken War Area

Responding to a request from Norman H. Davis, chairman of the American Red Cross, that all Red Cross chapters renew efforts to raise funds for refugee relief in China, Mr. R. L. McClellan, chairman of the local chapter, pointed out that the number of sufferers in devastated areas in China was increasing daily.

"The need that exists for our help in many sections of China is appalling," Men women and children are dying for lack of adequate food and medical assistance, and every donation, no matter how small, will be of great help in handling this relief problem.

Mr. McClellan pointed out that for an American dollar one refugee could be clothed, fed, and housed for a month in China. Hundreds of refugee stations, he

Over 100,000 pounds of hopper poison mash has been put out by local farmers during the last week, according to records from the County Agent's office.

Farmers are cooperating about 100 percent in the fight against the hoppers, said county agent Joe Hatton.

The mixing station is now operating 3 shifts daily. Many farmers are using mechanical spreaders, about 80 spreaders are in operation at the present time.

It is important that the pests be destroyed before they sprout their wings which will occur in about 2 or 3 weeks.

Many farmers are reporting 80 percent kills by using the hopper poison.

Hatton warns users of the poison that from 10 to 18 pounds to the acre is enough, any amount over 20 pounds per acre is waste.

New York, Business — Lack of favorable news last week was reflected in lower prices for stocks and most major commodities. Wheat growers are disturbed as July wheat dropped to about 72 cents a bushel. A year ago, when a domestic winter crop of 885,000,000 bushels was forecast, the price was around $1.27 a bushel. Threshers are beginning to work in southern Texas and soon they will move northward spreading out into Oklahoma, Missouri and Kansas, leaving behind a crop of some 754,000,000 bushels, second largest on record and representing at present prices new wealth amounting to about $535,000,000. In St. Louis, the National Association of Purchasing Agents was told by recognized economists that things should be looking much better by the November elections, that buying programs for the rest of 1938 should be based on the assumption that business activity will increase and commodity prices rise in coming months.

Washington — In a surprise move the Senate sent the wages and hours bill to conference with the House. The expected filibuster of southern senators to hold up the bill did not develop. The conference committee will be free to incorporate in a final bill the geographic wage differentials contained in the Senate bill passed several months ago. The House bill provides for the nation-wide and a maximum work week of 44 hours. This, it is said, would cause undue hardship in the south.

Modest and sincere, she is totally unspoiled by any false ideas of her importance. She told me she doesn't care whether there is so much as a gravestone to mark her last resting place.

As everyone knows, she has often played children's parts on the screen; and the reason that she did it was because she longed to capture, in the world of illusion, some of the fairy delights of childhood that had been denied her. I asked Miss Pickford if there weren't thousands of girls in America just as pretty and charming and capable as the stars in Hollywood. She said, "Yes, of course. Success, however, depends so much upon opportunity, and opportunity is just another name for what we call 'the breaks.' So perhaps the stars in Hollywood are the persons with ability who got the breaks."

MY CHURCH

Before I was born My Church gave to my parents ideals of life and love that made my home a place of strength and beauty. In childhood My Church joined my parents in teaching me of Christ and of salvation in His name. My Church enriched with the Romance of Religion and the lessons of life that have been woven into the texture of my soul. Sometimes I seem to have forgotten and then, when else I might surrender to foolishness and futile ideals of life, the truths My Church taught become radiant, insistent and inescapable. In the stress and storm of adolescence My Church heard the surge of my soul and She guided my footsteps by lifting my eyes toward the stars. When first my heart knew the strange awakening of love My Church taught me to chasten and spiritualize my affections; She sanctified my marriage and blessed my home. When my heart was seamed with sorrow, and I thought the sun could never shine again, My Church drew me to the friend of all the weary and whispered to me the hope of another morning, eternal, and tearless. When my steps have slipped and I have known the bitterness of sin, My Church has believed in me and wondrously She has called me back to live within the heights of myself. When the children came dearer to me than life itself My Church helped me to train them for all joyous and clean and Christly living. My Church calls me to her heart. She asks my service and my loyalty. She has a right to ask it. I will help her to do for others what she has done for me. In this sense in which I live, I will help her keep flame and life the torch of the living faith. GOE F. BRADFORD For The Pastors Association

Summonsed for failure to show up for jury duty, T. V. Montgomery explained that he had been in jail. Murray's home to tell his wife of a prize he had won for careful driving. Earl Cook of Detroit was arrested for speeding. Three undertakers delivered coffins to Miss Florence Lee of Chicago on orders telephoned by some practical joker. tion are exceedingly slim, for 150 years 'the exclusion of government from business by a kind of mutual agreement was a basic factor in the American expansion and was one of the reasons why the elder Morgan—for instance—did not think it safe to sell America short."

"But there has been in the U. S. a nationwide shift in the concept of the state and its proper relationship to private enterprise." The first big impetus came with the World War when government actually ran the railroads and had its finger in practically every business in the land. Thereafter government became more and more preoccupied with economics.

"This shift has been an inevitable response to the basic fact that in operating the capitalist economy, American business has consistently misappropriated the principles of democracy. American business has made use of those principles to its own enormous profit, but it has failed entirely to grasp the social implications of its profit making.

"As representing the capitalist economy, business has an obligation to build a workable economic system. But by 1932 it was evident that it had failed to do this. It had failed, and it has since failed, to provide approximately one third of the American people with work, and hence failed to provide them with a livelihood, to say nothing of democratic opportunity.

"So business is confronted with a realistic political fact: namely, that a majority of the American people, with the penniless third as a nucleus are beginning to measure the virtue of their government mainly in terms of the guarantees it makes concerning their income. This bloc of citizens possesses more votes than any other single bloc, not excepting the far less solid South. These votes are economic votes—dollar votes and business has delivered them into government's hands.

"But the failure of the marriage between free capitalism and political democracy has not been a failure of the principle of private enterprise or the democratic principle. These are still intact. What failed was the doctrine of laissez faire, which made the fundamental assumption that the economic system was not the concern of the government.

"As a marriage bond between a complicated political system and an intricate economic system, this doctrine proved inadequate. It was put forward by the early theorists in the belief that the sum total of the economic forces acting upon capital would cause the capital to work for the good of the greatest number. And so long as the economy was expanding, laissez faire did in fact accomplish this result.

"But with the advance of industrialism the automatic controls of the laissez faire system became less effective. Indeed, today the controls appear to operate sometimes in reverse. Today, although there is scarcity on every hand, modern industry limits its production, and although demand is slight, it raises or maintains its boomtime prices. The results are half-speed operation and masses of unemployed.

"Whether the present situation is permanent or temporary is beside the point. Every business man who is not kidding himself knows that he does not know how to guarantee, without government intervention, the markets with which alone his free, competitive capitalism can function. Every business man who is not kidding himself knows that, left to its own devices, business would sooner or later run headlong into another 1930.

"And every business man who is not kidding himself ought to know that as long as these things are so the electorate will force government into his affairs. It is neither possible nor desirable for a democratic government to sit by while a third of its citizens starve and almost as many more fear for their jobs.

"The path ahead of American business is indeed a narrow path, but it is perfectly clear. If the principles of democracy and of private enterprise are to be preserved, it is evident that private enterprise must admit into its affairs as representative of the people, a government profoundly concerned with the successful operation of the economic system.

"It should in the future be the object of business not to obstruct government intervention at any cost, but to see to it that the intervening government is enlightened in economic matters. At this crucial point not only has business let the New Deal down but the New Deal has let business down, and the result has been a number of profound economic errors.

"There are, of course, two alternatives. If the present system is allowed to work badly enough for long enough, it is conceivable that the people, seizing the economic power, will rise up against the principle of capitalism and abolish it in favor of public ownership of all industry and finance. This would be a 'solution' along the lines of Communism, effected at the expense of private enterprise.

"Or again if the system is allowed to work badly enough for long enough, it is conceivable that the people will tire, not of capitalism, but of democracy itself, and will accept the leadership of some powerful persons, who, by controlling alike the industrial forces and the political forces will be able to guarantee them a livelihood. This utter sacrifice of liberty for security would be a 'solution' along the lines of Fascism.

"Between these two unpalatable extremes lies an American economy. It is not an economy that any single man, any bright economist, can now define. It is not an economy that can be found by good luck or by a single victory at the polls. It can be established only by business working with government, and government working to-

Business has only itself to blame for government interference in its affairs, Fortune magazine declares in its June issue.

The magazine points out in an editorial that the failure of business to provide employment for one third of the American people has created a class of persons for whom income and sustenance are more immediately important than the preservation of those political assumptions upon which business grew to power.

Fortune explains that although the (rights) of business under the constitu-

R. V. CONVERSE SAYS:—

If we keep buying Japanese canned salmon we can hardly expect to keep the Japanese from catching the salmon in the Alaskan waters. It looks as if the Japanese are determined to see if our new navy is being built for efficiency or political effect.

It looks to a great many in this locality like Ernest Thompson's idea of repeal of the poll tax law is a worthy platform, and his ability to get things done is another recommendation that is very outstanding. It is strange indeed to hear a citizen in the Panhandle profess an inclination to support a candidate in the Primary who lives in the far end of the State.

Robert W. Babson says the New Deal is slipping and that there is a chance for the anti-New Dealers to throw in with the Republicans and nominate a conservative Democrat for president. I am wondering if Mr. Babson thinks it is possible to have a democrat nominated in a GOP convention. The Republicans have been out so long that it is the writers opinion they will stick strictly to Republicans as nominees, however, they might be willing to divide patronage with the anti-New Deal Democrats for their support.

Over in the 29th district of Pennsylvania Norbert Fitzgerald was nominated on the Democratic ticket to take the place of Charles N. Crosby, the present representative and an analysis of the result of the election shows plainly that Crosby's denunciation of the Townsend National Recovery Act was the cause of his defeat. Crosby introduced the General Welfare Act of 1937 and later deserted the bill. As the Townsend members gradually pick off the boys who are not loyal attention will be drawn to the General Welfare Act and its final passage will be hastened.

Out at Broadview Farm there is a Jersey cow that has just presented her second pair of twin calves, evidently she is not in league with the Department of Agriculture's idea of reduced production.

There is no chance to escape a low price for wheat is the opinion of a great many farmers in this locality and the grain men are very largely of the same opinion, how low the price will go probably be fixed by the net the farmer can get out of the proposed Government loan.

A great number of preachers in various parts of the United States are becoming very active in support of the General Welfare Act on the grounds that it would be Christianity applied if this bill would be Christian to provide work for the thirteen million people out of employment, and lower the taxes for the suppression of crime, and the tremendous expenditures for charity.

ENGINES WILL BE WORN LESS THIS SUMMER

But you want to know exactly why. You're leery of general statements that won't save you one piston ring or one quart of oil. So you want what the doctors call a specific. And that's what you get from your change to OIL-PLATING. Only patented Conoco Germ Processed oil from Your Mileage Merchant's station can give your engine OIL-PLATING. Other oils can't. No matter how they're refined they cannot surpass the correct refining of Germ Processed oil. But refining only takes things out, while Germ Processing adds in the patented man-made substance that forces oil to "join up" with the working parts, keeping them OIL-PLATED. All the while Germ Processed oil is used, you have permanent OIL-PLATING. Like all plating, OIL-PLATING keeps wear away and it never drains down nor waits for the oil pump! Before other oils could even begin to circulate, OIL-PLATING will lubricate! Hence no "dry starts" with your engine OIL-PLATED. And platings don't fly off at Summer speeds, or frizzle away in the heat. So the heat indicator stays on the safe side, and the gauge-stick says "Still full of Conoco Germ Processed oil!" Have your Mileage Merchant OIL-PLATE Your Engine. Continental Oil Co.
