Senator Has Shower
 Ever hear of a Senatorial shower?

Senator Lyndon B. Johnson has been the guest of honor at a shower that started the day after he went to the hospital in July and has not yet subsided.

The Senator's friends have showered him with gifts ranging from books on major subjects to a baseball autographed by the members of the Washington baseball club. The baseball was sent by Pete Runnels, who calls Lufkin home and who is among the most valuable players of the Washington club.

Senator Johnson, once a chain smoker, hasn't smoked a cigarette since he entered the hospital the night of July 2. Once a big steak and potatoes man, he has cut out heavy meals and his daily calorie intake is now 1,500 per day. He has brought his weight down to 185 pounds from a high of 220, and the tailor had to come to the hospital to take five inches out of the waists of his trousers.

The Senator's doctors say he has responded favorably to every treatment given him. They say that, if he continues to improve at the same rate, he can go to his Texas ranch in a few weeks—provided Lady Bird, his wife, keeps visitors away.

Senator Johnson has his recovery organized like a political campaign. Those who have visited him say he is running hard and looks like a sure winner.

Whether you agree or not with everything President Eisenhower advocated at the Geneva Conference, it must be conceded that he did an excellent job in letting the world know that the American people do not want war. At the same time he let it be known that we do not want a dishonorable peace. His statements are including Russia, that our country is building up and maintaining its military strength solely for the prevention of the type of aggression of which Communist countries have been guilty in the past.

The President's assurance that we would never attack Russia and that we would wage war only in defense of our own country and our allies seems to have impressed Bulganin and his cohorts. Some people are conceding that maybe the Russians have been afraid of our intentions the same as we have been afraid of theirs. If only some type of control and inspection of the armaments of all countries could be worked out as a result of the Geneva Conference, it might be that the world could enjoy honorable peace once more. As I have said before in this column, this would place upon us the responsibility of competing in peaceful ways for the hearts and minds of people throughout the world so that they would not be misled in the future by the dictators of totalitarian faiths. We must let the people of the world know what the Christian and Democratic philosophy of America really means so they will understand and work with us for a peaceful world instead of lining up with our potential enemies.

NEXT GENEVA CONFERENCE
 August 10th to 20 there will be another international conference in Geneva on the peaceful uses of atomic energy. Along with four other Senators on the Interstate and Foreign Commerce Committee, I have been authorized to attend this meeting at which will be revealed the latest peaceful atomic invention from all of the major nations of the world, including Russia.

I witnessed the ruins of atomic destruction in Japan while in World War II service, and now in Geneva it will be a great and pleasing comparison to see the way in which the atom can be used for human welfare instead of human destruction.

ADJOURNMENT DATE
 The biggest question in Washington this week is what date Congress will adjourn. The leaders are still aiming for July 30, but much remains to be done if this is accomplished.

The Highway Bill, the Gas Bill, Social Security Amendments and several other major pieces of legislation should be considered before Congress adjourns.

I witnessed the ruins of atomic destruction in Japan while in World War II service, and now in Geneva it will be a great and pleasing comparison to see the way in which the atom can be used for human welfare instead of human destruction.

SENATOR JOHNSON
 At the time of this writing, Senator Lyndon Johnson was continuing to show great improvement from his recent heart attack. When I saw him last Sunday he was reading a book and watching television at the same time. We had a nice visit, and the doctors say that he had a good chance for complete recovery.

As a result of increased appropriations in the Senate for survey work by U. S. Engineers, the following sums will be spent on surveys of Texas water improvements during the fiscal year:

Lake Liberty on the Trinity River, $75,000.00; Port Mansfield, $3,800; San Bernard River, $2,000; Gulf Outlet, $16,000; Texas City Port Aransas-Corpus Christi Waterway, $5,600; Matagorda Bay-Seawall, $600; Trinity Bay Soil

Salt, Water & Fence Are Listed As Range Management Tools

College Station, July—Tools are equipment used for doing specific jobs. The quality of the tools used is important but equally or more so is how the tools are utilized for doing the job. A. H. Walker, extension range specialist, says the salting and watering facilities and fences on the range are excellent tools, but how well they are used determines their value.

Most operators, either from habit or because of convenience, salt at the watering places. Walker explains that better distribution of plants is secured by salting away from the watering facilities a fourth, half or even a mile away. Research studies, he adds, show that more uniform grazing is obtained from cattle sheep and goats when the pasture and the salt at the watering places. Walker explains that better distribution of plants is secured by salting away from the watering facilities a fourth, half or even a mile away. Research studies, he adds, show that more uniform grazing is obtained from cattle sheep and goats when the pasture and the salt at the watering places.

Walker says place the watering facilities to get a balanced utilization of forage and this means proper grazing distribution. In excessively steep and rough country, water should be available each half mile and in relatively flat country at intervals of one to one and a half miles. Earthen tanks should be deep with a small surface area to cut down on evaporation, in some sections of Texas from five to seven feet of water are lost annually to evaporation, says Walker.

Be sure to build the fence for the purpose intended. Smaller pastures give better distribution of livestock, make deferred grazing possible and lend themselves to systematic range improvement practices, such as brush control and seasonal grazing. Finally, Walker says, use a map to spot these management tools if the most value is to be obtained from their use on your range.

Make School Days Safe Days

College Station, September—September means back to school for millions of American youngsters. Many will be in school for the first time and problems of the day may overwhelm them. They'll be facing new problems and of major importance is their own safety.

The Texas Farm and Ranch Safety Committee says the 4,100 children under 15 killed last year in the nation in motor vehicle accidents is a challenge to every citizen. Life for the generation growing up can be made a safe one if adults and youth alike assume their responsibilities, believes the committee.

Safety training in the home is of the utmost importance for youth are great imitators. They learn much from the examples or habits of their elders. The Safety Committee believes the youngster who has been taught safety and good housekeeping will be able to transfer this knowledge to bicycles and cars.

Adult drivers are warned to expect the unexpected where children are concerned. Safety is often forgotten in the rush to retrieve a ball. Drive slowly in areas where children play or congregate; be alert to all signs, signals, traffic officers and school patrols and especially of the youngsters themselves. One slip, says the committee, might mean the loss of a life . . . and your peace of mind.

Stage Party For Kentucky Friends

David M. Warren, former publisher of the Spearman Reporter, and well known in this area was host to former employees of the Nunn-Warren Publishing Company and other newspaper friends Monday September 19th.

The very enjoyable affair was held at the Amarillo Club in Amarillo, and honored J. Lindsey Nunn, former President of the Nunn-Warren Publishing Co. and his son Gilmore Nunn.

Newspaper men and Radio personnel from a dozen cities in Texas and three cities in New Mexico were present for the party. The program was rather informal, as the various guests were asked to recount some of their respective experiences with the publishing company, or with the two honor guests.

David M. Warren and Mr. Nunn were associated together in publishing 23 newspapers over a period of ten years. Gilmore Nunn broke into the newspaper business and Radio business at Tampa. The Nunn-Warren Publishing Company was sold several years ago, and for a number of years David M. Warren carried on publishing Panhandle, Spearman, Borger, Sunnyside and Hereford newspapers under the Panhandle Publishing Company organization. At the present both Lindsey Nunn and Warren have virtually retired from the newspaper field. Mr. Warren still publishes the Panhandle Herald, but devotes much of his time to the Panhandle and Borger Banks, where he is Chairman of the Board of the respective banks.

The Nuns moved to Lexington, Kentucky, when they left Amarillo and are engaged in Radio and stock farming.

At one time Lindsey Nunn and his family were financially interested in gas, newspaper, public utilities and various other business organizations in 134 towns and cities of this general Panhandle Area. Many of these investments have been sold and Mr. Nunn is rapidly becoming a so called "Gentleman Farmer and Stockman".

Future For Grain Sorghums Rosy

College Station, September—Hybrid grain sorghums are here and seed in limited quantities will be available for planting next year. The expected 20 to 40 percent increase in yields from the hybrids plus grain sorghums' ability to out-produce corn in dry years is apt to push the grain sorghum belt eastward from the Great Plains.

U. S. Department of Agriculture experts credit experiment stations in Texas, Kansas, Nebraska and Oklahoma with doing most of the research work which has resulted in the new hybrids. They received assistance from scientists of the Department's Agricultural Research Service, notably J. C. Stephens working with Texas personnel at the Chillicothe substation, and Dr. John H. Martin, the Department's long time leader in grain sorghum research.

The crop has been gaining in popularity for the South. During the past decade the harvested acreage has averaged near 7.2 million acres annually. Last year approximately 10.8 million acres were harvested and the 1955 acreage is estimated at 13.2 million acres with a profitable yield of 266 million bushels.

Grain sorghums are a major crop in Texas, Kansas, Nebraska, Oklahoma and Colorado and considerable acreage in California, New Mexico and South Dakota is devoted to the crop.

The grain is used in mixed feeds, especially for poultry and more recently in the production of

Pointers On Change To Bulk Milk Handling Offered

College Station, September—The bulk handling of milk is gaining in popularity in Texas. But before a dairyman should make the decision to change, Extension Dairy Husbandman R. E. Burleson says, the question of whether the returns from the dairy enterprise can be increased enough to offset the cost of changing to the bulk tank system must be answered.

Burleson poses the following as factors which tend to increase costs of operation in case the change is made. First, he says, is the purchase price and costs of installing the tank. Next will be costs, in most cases, for change in the wiring system needed to take care of the relatively large compressor used on most bulk tanks. Better consider the interest rate if money must be borrowed to make the purchase and a final item, often overlooked, is the additional cost of maintaining the farm lane or driveway in order to support the tank truck.

On the other hand, he points out these advantages for the bulk installation. Working time may be saved in and around the barn and the time and physical strain of handling 10-gallon cans of milk is eliminated. Too, there should be a reduction in the cost of electricity and a reduction in hauling rate are other advantages listed.

Then the final question which must be answered is: If a tank is not installed will the producer have to sell to another milk plant and if so, will the change in plants affect the milk receipts? Burleson says the safe thing to do is find out what bulk tank users think about the system and whether it is helping them meet the price-cost squeeze.

A tank with the plant manager should reveal his plans for the future operations. Will he shift from cans to the bulk tank method and if so, when? Then plan accordingly, says Burleson.

wisdom to plan the future and to make the country great to live in. It was good to hear these old cowmen relate the stories of their experience around the campfires with the round-up in the spring.

These stories, as you listen to them, will almost raise the hair on the top of your head, to know what they went through with. The good and faithful woman deserves as much credit for the hardships they did endure, and was willing to settle up a new country, as much as the men. The old "nesters" or as they were also called "squatters on claims" would not have any respect for me, if I did not put the women in the front ranks in the development of a new country. The interesting thing to my heart and mind, was to hear them tell of the honor and the honesty of the early settlers. The winchester was the only law for taking care of cattle rustlers and horse thieves in those early days in the west. They needed no locks on their doors. They would always "swing ajar" the door for those who wanted to spend the night or get a meal and move on to another camp.

It has been my pleasure to be in the Blodgett home during Mr. Blodgett's lifetime. There was never a home on the plains which made you feel anymore welcome than being a visitor in Mr. and Mrs. Blodgett's home. In fact, I went with Brother Bogue to the Blodgett farm, to see for my first time the branding of cattle. I am sure I dreaded the branding iron for the calves worse than they did. When they put the branding iron on the calf and the calf put out his tongue and began to bawl, with the smell of singed hair and smoke in the air, I said, "I would not brand them if they were my calves." I shall never forget how Mr. Blodgett looked at me with that natural grin on his face. He then spoke and said to me, "If you did not brand them the other fellow would."

I soon made up my mind it was not any harder for the owner to brand his calf, than it was for some man who was looking for a calf without any brand, so he could brand it for himself. How custom will change our minds! I stood around and watched them brand the calves long enough until I was ready to experiment. I ask if I might brand a calf. They handed me the branding iron and gave me instructions. I branded two at once. My first and last one. The good dinner at the house was the climax of my experience on attending my first branding. An experience which was brand new to me.

What I have said about the Blodgett family, is a spring-board to leap up to another episode of this same family. Mrs. Blodgett has ridden the waves of frontier life. She has seen all the prosperity this country has afforded. She has seen the vanishing of the cowtrails give away to the best highways in the United States, here on the plains. She has seen the change of hauling water, from the old water barrel on the wagon, to modern irrigation, with water running like a river on her grandson's farm. She has seen the fields laden down with golden grain with a bumper crop using irrigation, when only a few feet away without irrigation the crop was a failure. She has seen the country dotted with oil well rigs, which means prosperity for this country. In fact, Mrs. Blodgett came up with all the changes. She still lives on a farm and the same place where they reared their family.

Mrs. Blodgett had the misfortune to fall and break her hip. For several years now she has been a wheel-chair patient. She appreciates an open country and she realizes it is better to be there, where she won't even be crowded out as she would be should she come to town to live. I am sure she would not like to be called a shut-in. She has already proved that by seeing her on numerous occasions in town chatting with friends from her car. It is good to feel the country spirit from the country people who enjoy the wide open spaces. They have that good old community spirit which makes one feel that they are still living where everybody is somebody. They are your friends and neighbors.

Before she met with this misfortune, I am sure there has never been a woman on the plains who was stronger than Mrs. Blodgett. She had energy and nerve to tackle any kind of work and get the job done as she would like to see it done. Every man who has been a success has had a woman at the foot of a ladder to steady it while he went to the top.

The people who visit Mrs. Blodgett will always find her in a cheerful mood. She has a smile for everyone. This is the reason I have infringed in on what Jesus said about people like Mrs. Blodgett: They are the salt of the earth. Always when I would drop by to a visit for a little while and to see how she was getting along, I would always go away from her home with a spiritual uplift. Time and space will not permit me to even touch the hem of the garment on what I could write about this valuable and patient woman in her afflictions.

It would be unfair to Mrs. Blodgett and everyone else, for me not to make mention of her Christian faith in God. The reader would be at a loss for me to just mention the material surroundings in her life. She uses all the time she has in the reading of God's word. Time never hangs heavy over her head nor is it ever wasted. The other things which she can do will occupy her mind. Life is never wasted regardless to our afflictions, if we will only use our time to a good advantage to build us up spiritually and mentally. When we do these spiritual deeds, we will also be helping physically. It gives me great comfort to rejoice with the poet: Our trials today are victories tomorrow. Golden fruit from buds of sorrow. Heartaches and disappointments are universal. No one need expect to escape them in this life. The answer to the trials in life is faith in God. Christianity is not a vaccination or is it a guarantee that we will not have physical or mental suffering in this world. It is a shock-absorber to take off the jolt when sorrows come. We can still smile, come sorrow or joy. This faith will drive away the fog of despair, and the sunshine of God's love will come in. God's abiding love will help us to see by faith, the will of God is best for us, whether we understand it or not. There is a better world than this for the patient and long suffering. Praise His Name.

BY J. H. NICHOLS

THERE IS SOMETHING MAJESTIC ABOUT THE NORTH PLAINS IN THE PANHANDLE OF TEXAS AND OKLAHOMA!

Gladys Close Buchner is the beloved poetess of the Lone Star State. Out on the lone prairies that stretch across the western plains, of the Golden spread, where the handclasp is just a little warmer, and the sun is just a little brighter, where the west begins.

The book of poems, she has written, "My Garden", has lifted both hearts and souls up in joy and happiness. Mrs. Buchner's poems will live in the hearts of western people, for she got her inspiration from people, and mother nature put them in her soul, that gave her the rhythm to set them to music. Her gift from God put them to singing with the laws of harmony, to nature.

Mrs. Buchner has gone to that heavenly garden of her dream land. Where the flowers will be in bloom through out eternity. Jesus will be the answer to her flower garden, she has dreamed of in this life.

The world has been blessed by this good woman living in it. As a faithful wife, and loving mother and neighbor and friend to all. Her Christian faith will live on and on by the good life she lived. Her poems will live on the pages of history, for the coming generations to read.

The human race don't understand life nor death. They are both a mystery, and a blessing for the human race, for God governs both, and His love and wisdom is the answer to life and death.

Life is a dressing room for the next world. Death to my mind is like moving out of the old house that always needs repair, into a new house not made with hands, where the faithful will be with God through eternity. This is a comforting thought to my heart and mind here in this life.

For the families consolation, I will say this: Tears are a good eyewash for a broken heart, whether we understand the mystery of life and death or not. If we were not made in the image of God there would be no tears to soothe our feverish brow, when we are tried in the fire of God's love. The briny tears that trickle down the cheeks of Christian people in trying and testing times, God will turn them into sparkling diamonds, and drive away the fog of despair, and the Sunshine of God's love, will teach us it was best for God to have his way, and we will accept it by faith in Him.

King David had the answer to sorrow: Said, "He weeping may endure for a night, but Joy cometh in the morning." Sorrow and Joy are mixed here. However, substantial our joy in its quality, yet we go through life with a tear in our eye. But after a while we will weep no more. Joy appeareth so natural in the morning scarcely dawns before the birds are laughing and chirping in their birdlike way on the trees, and skipping and dancing in every tree top from bough to bough. The constitutional state of man is to be happy. Oppressed in the night with the responsibilities and the sorrows of the day, when he first opens his eyes next morning he feels a thrill of joy, till memory steps in and ties him on to the cares preceding day. How often the tears of the night dried by the balmy breath of sleep, gives place to smiles in the morning.

The greatest promises we have in the Bible, that God with His own soft hand will wipe ever tear away from our eyes. We may leave this world with our eyes filled with tears, but we will enter the next world, with dry eyes. This is the promise to the Christian. Amen.

Texas Cancer News
AUSTIN — An institutional grant in the amount of $140,100 has been awarded to the University of Texas M. D. Anderson Hospital and Tumor Institution in Houston by the American Cancer Society, Inc., as part of its nationwide research program. It was announced today by Travis T. Wallace of Dallas, president of the Society's Texas Division.

The new grant of funds which covers research at the hospital and institute for the period September 1, 1955 through August 31, 1956 is part of the more than $6,000,000 national research program voted recently by the Society's executive committee in New York, Wallace stated.

Twenty-five cents of every dollar collected during the Society's annual Cancer Crusade in April, Wallace said, is set aside for purposes of cancer research.

The M. D. Anderson grant is under the supervision of Dr. R. Lee Clark, Jr., director of the hospital, and is for the AGS approved project entitled: "Factors regulating growth - hormonal, radiobiological and biochemical study."

"This new grant," Wallace stated, "brings the total of research funds allotted to M. D. Anderson the second largest cancer research center in the U. S. since inception of the nationwide research program of ACS in 1946 to $580,876."

Wallace also revealed that nearly $1,000,000 has been expended in Texas alone on research projects since 1946 by ACS. This has been made possible, he said, only because of the generous contributions of our citizens each April who participate in the Society's three pronged attack on cancer through its programs of education, service and research.

"Although we have made great strides in these three fields of endeavor," Wallace stated, "cancer still remain the number two killer of our citizens in the nation, killing 9,144 Texans last year."

"Research," Wallace pointed out, "holds the only key to conquering the dread disease. However, thousands of Texans are being saved annually through our education and service programs which alert each citizen to a knowledge of cancer, the importance of early diagnosis and adequate medical treatment, more than one-third more could be saved if more funds were available for intensification of our efforts."

New Year For Morse P. T. A. Opened
Mon. Night, Sept 12
A new year for the Morse P. T. A. was opened Monday night with a reception honoring the school faculty. The meeting was opened with the singing of America with the new president, Mrs. A. C. Womble presiding. A short business meeting was held during which Mrs. Karr, secretary, read the minutes. Mrs. Womble mentioned the district P. T. A. meeting to be held in Pampa September 15th and stated that she would like to have some of the members go with her.

Mrs. H. B. Parks and Mrs. Jack Hendrix were appointed as delegates to the County P. T. A. Council. Mrs. Jack Hendrix, social chairman, led the group in some games with the main attraction being the "news interview" of each teacher. There are ten teachers in the faculty this year of which Jim Highsmith is superintendent. There are several new subjects being taught this year: those being, agriculture, band and public school music and speech. We are small in number in our school, there being only sixty-four pupils, but we are proud to have so much to offer.

The meeting was adjourned to the luncheon where pie and coffee was served to some one hundred patrons. Our next P. T. A. meeting will be October 10th at 7:30. The membership chairman is Mrs. Jack Gillispie and she would like to have you as a member—with dues fifty cents each or one dollar for a couple.

HOME IS THAT OF MR. AND MRS. W. E. MAUPIN

... happened to a better man . . .
the lovely four bedroom modern home
W. E. Maupin of Gruver, and points and South. The one and only Squire the 837 acres included in the last Farm back in 1916. He broke out the with the help of his two sons, E. M.
E. Maupin has been raising wheat land for these many years. He re-exceptional wheat yields back in and 1929, averaging near 40 bushels best yield recorded. And getting back opening sentence, we mean that W. E. Maupin allow E. W. and W.

E. to do most of the work of operating their large farm and ranch interest and they spend quite a bit of their time traveling here and there, with much of the summer spent in Colorado and much of the winters spent in Florida or other Southern states.

The farm itself consist of the lovely home, 3 barns, 1 shop, well house, garage and bunk house. The land was purchased from Carmack and Bishop, and has proven to be one of the real rich farm sections of Hansford county.

There is quite a bit of interesting history in connection with the Maupin farm. Squire built a part of the house on the old foundation of the Hotel and Saloon at Farwell, Texas. Back in the early days of this area, Farwell made a bid for the county seat location of Hansford County. It is located about 2 miles East of Gruver, and the little settlement even went so far as to publish a newspaper, The Farwell Topic. We are not sure but we believe a man named Quinn from near Guymon established the Farwell newspaper.

Anyway Squire Maupin says the old Dodge City trail virtually ran in front of his home. Folks stopped at Farwell to spend the night or water their stock or mules at the dug well right in the back yard of the Mystery Farm home. Squire Maupin filled up the well many years ago, but he said that for many years he found printers type scattered around his farm. The Town of Farwell was erased by a cyclone back youn-der in the early days and the newspaper was blown hither and yonder. The town was never rebuilt after the cyclone.

The Maupin family operate the 837 acres with wheat and in normal time they run about 200 head of cattle.

... The senior Maupin and Mrs. Maupin are quite popular among the folk of this area, and they deserve their popularity. They are ideal Hosts and entertain quite often.
