An Expression Of Gratitude to the People of

Spearman And Surrounding Areas

We, of the Santa Fe, are deeply grateful to the citizens and our friendly neighbors of Spearman and surrounding areas for the magificent and efficient assistance rendered our company during recent severe weather conditions.

To those who helped and whose names we have been able to learn, we have sent personal letter of appreciation.

But, in addition, many other local citizens and neighboring residents rendered real service to Santa Fe employees in aiding passengers on our trains that were affected by the severe storms.

We do not know the names of these people.

Therefore, we are taking this opportunity to express our gratitude publicly.

To everyone who helped, we send a sincere and grateful "thank you" from the Santa Fe.

All the children except Dwight are students at the Morse school where their grandfather, Walter Gillispie was Superintendent for more than 10 years.

Jack and his brother Ben (who is 2 years older than Jack) operate 5500 acres of farm and ranch land in Hansford county. Their improvements include an irrigation well and they water 400 acres of wheat and maize each year. The two aggressive ranchers have a foundation herd of 180 cows and raise a calf crop each year, and usually keep their steers until they weigh about 800 pounds before they sell them.

Mr. and Mrs. Gillispie are leaders in civic and church affairs of the Morse area, and are active in all the agricultural activities of the area.

Judge Johnnie Lee Wants To Know Desires Of People Dear Judge Lee:

I have found it very helpful in the past to try to determine, early in a cogressional session, the nature of the problems with which Texans are mainly concerned. And I have learned that nobody is better equipped to give me this information than the County Judges of Texas.

You are close to the people of your county. You see them every day. They come to you with their problems and they discuss their ideas with you. You know what they need from Washington.

I want to be as helpful as I can in meeting their needs. You would be doing me a great personal favor if you would sit down and write me a letter giving me your ideas about how I can best serve your people. And, of course, I would welcome your own opinion on any pending or suggested legislation.

Naturally, I wish to reciprocate. My greatest desire is to give all Texans, in every section of our State the kind of representation they deserve to have in the United States Senate, I wish to be of service here in whatever ways I can to you and the people of your county. Your advice and counsel will help me do this. All good wishes to you

Yours sincerely,

Lyndon B. Johnson Judge Johnnie C. Lee wishes to ask citizens of the area to let him know their wishes and view points on the above letter from Senator Lendon Johnson. So he can reply and express the desires of the people to Senator Johnson
