Judge Boyer Announces For Re-Election

Judge Max W. Boyer, of Perryton, has authorized the Spearman Reporter to announce his candidacy for re-election to the office of District Judge of the 84th District of Texas. He was appointed to the vacancy by reason of the death of Judge Jack Allen. Judge Boyer has been serving as presiding judge of this court since December 21, 1957.

The present jurist had been active practicing attorney in Perryton for almost twenty nine years before his appointment. He relinquished his law practice before he assumed the duties of District Judge and has devoted his entire time to the office.

Judge Boyer is 52 years of age, married and has one son, Don, who is 13 years old. His wife, Addye, spends much of her time in activities for the benefit of children in the community. He is presently Chairman of the Hale-Aiken Committee on education for Ochiltree County and has held many offices in the Parent Teachers Association. The Boyer family belong to the First Methodist Church at Perryton. Judge Boyer has served as County Attorney of Ochiltree County for several terms and was a member of the Texas House of Representatives for four years. Long active in legal circles, he was the first President of the Northeast Panhandle Bar Association of Texas, is a member of State Bar of Texas and at the time of his appointment as District Judge, was Chairman of the 18th Congressional District Grievance Committee of the State Bar.

He resigned this post, upon his appointment as Judge, and the Committee later passed a resolution commending him for his outstanding work in seeing that complaints of misconduct on the part of lawyers were promptly handled.

In authorizing his announcement for this important judicial office, Judge Boyer issued the following statement: "Since the time that I assumed the duties as Judge of the 84th Judicial District I have devoted my entire time to the office. I gave up my law practice, which had been established over a period of twenty nine years and have no connections or obligations to anyone, except to see that all citizens are afforded equal justice as to their personal and property rights. My decision to run for the unexpired term, which is only two years, existing by reason of the death of Judge Allen, has been made with humility and is influenced largely by the fact that I have been fortunate in having experience, which is generally agreed, helps to qualify one for this important post. I leave it to others, who have observed, as to my judicial temperament, judicial ability, and sense of fairness and as to whether the business of the Court in the district, has been conducted promptly and efficiently. If, on the basis of my qualifications and experience, my candidacy merits the support and influence of the citizens of the 84th Judicial District, I shall be pleased and gratified. I am proud of the present status of the docket, and invite inquiry by each citizen from those who are familiar with the manner in which this has been accomplished. The splendid co-operation from the officers, the attorneys, the litigants and the jurors, during the more than three months I have presided over the Court is greatly appreciated. I have no promise or favor to offer to any person as an individual, but state that if elected for such unexpired term, I shall continue, with the help and prayers of all citizens, to administer justice throughout the three counties of the District."

A. L. Wilson, representative of the South Coast Life Insurance Company in Spearman attended a meeting of the agents at a Barbecue in Amarillo March 29th.

Spring Meeting Scheduled At Gruver Church Of Christ

B. J. Garnett Predicts Dry Weather

Spearman's outstanding weather prophet, B. J. Garnett, notified the weather department of the Spearman Reporter, that the month of April would be dry. He says April showers will not bring May flowers this year. His reason for this prophecy, are that when it stays cloudy for a week and doesn't rain, it will dry up.

However, for the month of May, we will have four inches of rain, to make smiles come back to the wheat farmer, and cow men. B. J. never misses, so you can figure this as an official weather forecast.

Cattle Leave Wheat In This Area, April 1

Most farmers and ranchers have moved the cattle of wheat as of the 1st of April. Death losses have been pretty heavy this year from wheat poisoning. Monday night of this week was an extremely bad night, with some cow men reported as high as 5 deaths in one night.

The cattle market is higher on stocker cattle, than it has been since the war. An abundance of wheat, and shortage of stocker cattle has strengthened the market substantially.

COMMUNITY

Would it be better for an organized hunting group to contact someone who had hunting land, make the proper arrangements and lease or buy hunting rights by the day, month, year or years, or rather wait until the hunting season rolls around and hope for a place to hunt?

If a group has access to some ranch for hunting privileges through the years it would seem to me that this group would be more interested in the propagation of game on "their" hunting area than they would be if they could only hunt by the day with the rest of the season going to hunters who were also only day hunting. "I have paid so much for today's hunt and may never again be able to hunt here so why not shoot quail until I get my limit, even though the birds are being over hunted," they might decide.

If a group, with not too many shooters in the contract, leased a certain amount of game range and applied all of the knowhow available, the game population would increase to large proportions. Just, for example, suppose you and a few more leased ten sections of good range and fed the deer and turkeys with self-feeders over the ranch, there is no telling how many bucks and gobblers could be harvested annually from the hunting preserve. This is not a suggestion but, rather an idea. As it is with most game areas there is one great provider of the game and that is Nature alone.

This reminds me of a neighbor who once and probably still does live down in Comanche County, Texas, on the south fork of the Leon. He made the remark about raising chickens. "Nature will take care of chickens better than anyone can." He did keep a few wild hens around the barn but they were few and wild. His hens might have kept him supplied with eggs if he wasn't much of an egg eater.

Another time this same neighbor was plowing a blackland field of corn that was about four inches high while the Johnson grass was about eight inches in height. He remarked that he was in the process of running two cultivator sweeps near the corn, clipping the grass and then would be plowing the middles of the rows, thus leaving the corn field perfectly clean and free of the dredded grass. This sounded fine but in the meantime it rained for a few days and the grass was soon waist high. A few days later the corn crop was lost, and in looking across the creek I saw the field was full of cattle and sheep.

If we leave it to Nature there will be a certain amount of game, but if we wish to perform a few very needed practices from a game management angle, the game population will jump. Johnson grass or corn, a seed stock of game or a heavy harvest of the surplus? It is left up to the managers of the game birds and animals.

Speaking of the Weather
There have always been supposedly, signs with which to predict the weather. When the corn has a thick shuck the winter will be severe. Three days of strong south wind will always blow up a rain. When there is a bank in the west on Wednesday or Sunday night it will rain before the following Sunday or Wednesday. During a thunderstorm take refuge under a hackberry tree—lightning will never strike a hackberry (old Indian sign courtesy Bob Harlan). One of the surest signs about rain is another old Indian adage—when it is raining all around and pouring down in the middle, rain is likely.

Wildlife has already had an early spring this year. Two weeks ago, Ray Moore, postmaster at Clarendon, said that a few days before that he had found two mourning dove nest with two eggs each in the nests. About the same time the bob-white quail were whistling bob-white in the eastern parts of the Panhandle. This is the mating call for these quail. Turkey gobblers have been strutting for more than two months.

Last fall some of the weather forecasters were predicting a severe winter. The winter turned out rather mild with enough moisture to produce winter weeds and grass, and the wildlife, utilizing the additional food to the extent that they made it through in fine shape. Viamin A plays a large part in the reproduction of bob-white quail. Greens, or green plant food, it loaded with this vitamin, therefore the quail population is only awaiting a few warm days in which to begin the prediction is that with a fair amount of rain in the hot months of the summer we can look forward to a large bob-white quail crop this fall.

Agricultural Fillers XXX XXXX
There is still time to take soil samples and send them to the soil testing laboratory at Texas A&M College before most 1958 crops will be planted. If the samples are submitted in the very near future, they can be processed and recommendations returned in time for use this spring, says W. F. Bennet, extension soil chemist.

Plan before you plant is a basic rule for successful vegetable gardening, says B. G. Hancock, extension horticulturist. Many vegetables grown in home gardens are wasted because too large a quantity of one vegetable matures at the same time. To avoid trouble, Hancock suggests a succession of plantings in order to keep wastage to a minimum. More garden fresh vegetables are available over a much longer period of time.

Crankcase Crisis!

It seems this nice old lady drove into a Phillips 66 Station to fill up with Flite-Fuel. When the attendant checked the dipstick, he found she had only about a quart of oil left in her car. When he pointed this out, she replied: "Fine... as soon as I use that up, I'll put in some more!"

Of course the Phillips Dealer explained that she needed five quarts of oil for adequate lubrication!

Now that spring is here, it's time to think about the oil in your crankcase. If you are still using "winter grade" oil, it's time to change it. But why use two, when one will do? Better switch to Phillips 66 Trop-Artic* which gives you the effects of 10w, 20 and 30 grade oils. Compared to old-fashioned oils Trop-Artic Motor Oil can actually double engine life. Drive in today for your spring change-over. *A trademark

The vote on the bond issue for the swimming pool carried by a majority. All we have to do now pay for it, and that means we were for the swimming pool, but it is a reminder that you can't get something for nothing. Let us hope that we don't wake up 400 years from now.

Did you know that Mrs. Bobby Close has a fine greenhouse. She always knew she had a "green thumb", now we think she has a whole green hand. If you want fine tomatoes and other things go down and see Josephine.

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Spivey were back in town for the last time. They like their new home very much, but they still love

Gruver, and cannot stay away too long at a time.

The Orville Walkers had a kind of family reunion last week. We have been trying to get Alice Walker on the phone all morning to get the details, but she must have been out. So we contacted some of the others who were present. They all had a wonderful time together. In addition to Orville and Mrs. Walker, there were Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Spivey, Mrs. Jessie Earle Gainey, Mrs. Lottie Reed, Mr. and Mrs. Tom Spivey, Mr. and Mrs. Ross Walker, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Walker, Jr., and Mrs. O. V. Walker, Jr., and Ward and Elizabeth Spivey. Of course all of the grandchildren were on hand to liven things up.

We are sorry to report that the little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jewel Ward is very ill. They took the little girl to a Perryton Hospital where she was given blood transfusions. They have City for treatment. We understand she has a very serious ailment.

Miss Larus Cator, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Speck Cator is in a Perryton Hospital. She has just been operated on for appendicitis.

Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Gruver, Uncle Joe Gruver, and Mr. and Mrs. Dave McClellan are down in Port Aransas, fishing.

You all remember Dollie Thompson. She is now Mrs. Val Henson

Development of the electro-ejaculator to collect semen from bulls now makes it possible for cattle producers to evaluate the semen quality and determine how effective their bulls are in making cows conceive. During recent months semen was collected and tested from over 1,200 bulls. L. A. Maddox, extension animal husbandman, says that about six percent of the bulls checked were sterile while another eight percent had semen of such low quality that their value as breeders was very questionable.

Explaining Away Some Egg Law Fears

Anything new is eyed with suspicion, and often we tend to place blame for our disappointments on something foreign to us either because we don't understand or because of convenience. So it is with the new Texas Egg Law. Some misunderstandings and fears have come up on occasion which, although without real basis, are genuine fears and therefore need to be explained. Reports have reached the Texas Department of Agriculture that certain retailers and buyers have refused to handle eggs from small producers with limited flocks falsely blaming the Texas Egg Law as their reason for not doing business with the farmer who wants to sell only two or three dozen eggs at a time. There is no such trade-restricting provision anywhere in the law, noting whatsoever that interferes with or prohibits this longstanding business relationship between producers and buyers. A retailer, dealer, or other egg handler can purchase any amount of eggs from a producer at any time. A small producer can market his eggs in the same manner as he has always done—either graded or ungraded. If he claims a grade he must comply with the provisions of the law. In other words, eggs do not have to be graded at any level or trade. Ungraded eggs may be sold in the channels of trade but they must be represented as ungraded eggs. However, it is better for all concerned if producers and handlers do participate in the egg grading program so that high quality eggs will not be sold without the quality being represented by the advertised grade which attests to the value and quality of the eggs. When a grading system is used, cartons or containers have to be labeled according to actual size and grade of eggs. Anyone having a question on the egg law and its effect is urged to contact the Texas Department of Agriculture in Austin. All inquiries will be full and promptly answered.

Manager of the Amarillo Social Security Office. Workers or self-employed persons who have been disabled for 6 months or more should file for disability freeze as soon as possible John R. Sanderson said. Failure to file by June 30, 1958, may cause a loss of rights to disability insurance benefits payable at age 50 and to benefits payable at retirement age. Failure to file could also cause survivors of the disabled person to lose survivor's benefits in case of the death of the worker. All social security payments are based on your average earnings over a certain period of time. If you are disabled over a long period of time and had no wages or self-employment income this could cause you to lose your insured status. Filing for a disability freeze could have the effect of freezing your record during the time you are disabled. This period would not be counted when your average earnings figured. John R. Sanderson said. If you have been disabled for 6 months or more and have been unable to work because of your disability you should contact your nearest social security office, if you have not already done so. If you know someone who is disabled and has not contacted the social security office you would be doing him a favor if you told him of this important date John R. Sanderson added.

Farm News

Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Taft Benson today announced that more than 1,000 farmers and ranchers either are starting on complete farm or ranch plans in the newly launched Great Plains Conservation Program or have applications awaiting action. The USDA's Soil Conservation Service reports 68 of these plans for faster application of soil and water conservation have been launched in seven states. (Texas, North Dakota, Nebraska, Kansas, Oklahoma, New Mexico and Colorado). The contracts signed involve 74,399 acres of farm and ranch lands, an average of 1,100 acres per unit. Cost-sharing is guaranteed by the Federal government to cover periods of conservation work of from three to 10 years. The 1,100-acre average size is not far from what is recognized generally as necessary for a family to earn a fair return in agriculture in much of the Great Plains area, the Secretary said. Texas, with 65 of its western-most counties taking part, leads with 51 contracts signed for units totaling 42,588 acres. Oklahoma, with 14 counties, is next with seven contracts and 17,020 acres. New Mexico reports four contracts on farms totaling 6,446 acres. Regrassing practices lead at present in the interest of farmers and rancher, with cost-share help provided in most of the 10 states at about 80% of the cost establishing grass. There is much interest too, in water conservation practices. Many of the soil conservation practices which a plan may call for must be applied at the owner's own expense. Congress has authorized $150,000,000 for a 10-year program of helping farmers and ranchers in the 10 Great Plains States stabilize their lands and, as a result, their economy through stepped-up soil and water conservation. In most cases the operators want to finish their jobs as soon as possible—in three, four or five years. A total of $10,000,000 was provided for the first year of the program's operation, and another $10,000,000 has been recommended in the new budget for the succeeding year.

White House Tea Mrs. Rogers came home the other evening with a glowing account of how beautiful the White House was decorated inside and how lovely Mrs. Eisenhower looked. It seems that Mrs. Eisenhower interrupted her vacation to come back to Washington in order to entertain at a tea that had been scheduled for some time. The White House was decorated in appropriate Irish fashion. Mrs. Eisenhower in keeping with the decorations, was attired in a green dress and received the guests in the Green Room. From the accounts that I heard, it was a lovely and impressive tea. Visitors Amarillo High School can certainly be proud of a fine group of their students who stopped in Washington en route to the Columbia Scholastic Press Association Convention in New York. This group of 16 high school journalists with their sponsors, Mrs. Mickey Hodge and Mr. J. F. Paschal, included Velma Arnold, sure wish my good friend Bill Burran of Clovis would fix up the old Burran building here close to the Reporter. I am sure he could get a profitable renter if he would fix up the building. It is basically a good building, but has been vacant so long and let deteriorate that it will take quite a slug of money to make it attractive to folks who want to rent a business building in Spearman. If there are any of you folk who could use this building, I suggest you get in touch with me, and I will in turn talk to Bill Burran. There was never finer folks on the face of the earth than the Burrans, and I know that Bill will either fix up the building for a renter, or will sell it reasonable so a prospective renter can buy the building and fix it up himself. Its nine-foot wing-spread makes the condor the largest bird that flies. Polo was developed in India. Congressmen cannot be arrested for traffic violation. Pennsylvania has no seacoast, yet has a navy yard. Buenos Aires is called the "Washington of South America." The River Rhine in France is the swiftest in the world. A man whose normal weight is 150 pounds would weigh about 50 pounds if all the water in his system were dried up.

THE AMERICAN FARMER
The spotlight is again upon the American farmer. The reason for this is several elements in the nation's Capital have underlain in the past several years completely destroyed the welfare of the agricultural segment of our economy. Their efforts have been toward making a whipping out of the American farmer and making him appear, in the eyes of the city dwellers, as a dynamic scoundrel who is receiving subsidies and causing high prices. At a traffic intersection, the S. Mail truck has the right of way over all other vehicles, at all times. The country is now beginning to reap the fruits of these false and many cases, malicious charges and practices against the American farmer. The propaganda producers have been able to sell their bill of goods to the city dwellers and make them believe that the American farmer is living off the fat of the land, receiving subsidies from the taxpayers, receiving high prices for his products, and causing a shortage of food. This is not the first time in our history that this has happened. It has happened several times, and every time it occurs our country pays the same identical price, to wit, a recessionary period that on occasions, has entered into our lives. We must not let this happen again. The fully debated and indicated that we have a farm price level lower than a resolution he simply provided ration could not sort of average congress had the also appropriate ice support and laws. Mrs. Rogers came home the other evening with a glowing account of how beautiful the White House was decorated inside and how lovely Mrs. Eisenhower looked. It seems that Mrs. Eisenhower interrupted her vacation to come back to Washington in order to entertain at a tea that had been scheduled for some time. The White House was decorated in appropriate Irish fashion. Mrs. Eisenhower in keeping with the decorations, was attired in a green dress and received the guests in the Green Room. From the accounts that I heard, it was a lovely and impressive tea. ## THE AMERICAN FARMER

The spotlight is again upon the American farmer. The reason for this is that several elements in the past several years have completely destroyed the welfare of the agricultural segment of our economy. Their efforts have been toward making a whipping out of the American farmer and making him appear, in the eyes of the city dwellers, as an economic scoundrel who is receiving subsidies and causing high taxes and high prices.

Much more could be said on the subject but the cold, bare truth is, whether you like it or not, you cannot drive the agricultural people off the land and into metropolitan areas without doing violence to the economy of this country. Statistics can be produced to prove or disprove anything, but the facts of life remain the same whether it be 1956 or 1958. Our present economic troubles can be cured, but in order to provide the proper remedy, we must get to the source of the difficulty. Stabilize agriculture and it will do more to correct the economic situation than any other thing that could be done.

Government Price Daniel appeared before the Ways and Means Committee of the House of Representatives last week in support of legislation imposing mandatory limitation on imports of foreign crude oil products. He made an excellent statement, pointing up the problem well, and supporting his position with an outstanding array of information and figures. The plight of the independent oil producer is very much akin to that of the American farmer. Both are being required to borrow money and to buy equipment, goods and wares of all kinds on a highly protected market, while at the same time, they are being required to compete in the sale of their own products with foreign markets where the standard of living is far, far below that in the U. S., and where the cost of production is equally below that in the U. S. The Governor, in his closing remarks, made a statement that should be weighed well by all, including those against whom these remarks were directed. I quote the exact words that were contained in Governor Daniel's statement:

"Today foreign imports are determining the amount of production to be permitted from domestic wells, and five large American owned companies and one foreign firm control over 90 percent of the oil imported into this country. They and their desire for big profits should not be permitted to destroy the conservation, economy and security of our nation."

The Texas State Society in the Nation's Capital gathered together last week for a chile dinner and election of new officers. The new President is Mrs. Harvey Young, who hails from Corsicana, Texas, and the first Vice-President is Congressman Jim Wright, who hails from Fort Worth. There were about 300 present, and everyone had a good time.

Visitors to Washington last week included Mr. Thorton Dewey of Amarillo, Mr. Tom Moran of Dumas, Mr. R. G. (Dick) Hughes ofampa, and Mr. Jay Taylor of Amarillo. They were all in town on business matters and visited Capitol Hill during their stay.

Storm Cellar Good Insurance

If you were to see the destructive, black funnel of a tornado rushing directly toward your home, where would you and your family go for protection and safety? No, this question is not far-fetched. In fact, many Texans have experienced this and other similar disasters from time to time. Many of them had never realized the value of a safe place just as we never miss the water until the well goes dry.

But, why not construct a storm cellar before a tornado strikes to remind you that you need one? It can be constructed easily without any special skills and only a few special tools.

Since tornadoes generally move from southeast to northeast, the storm cellar should be located southwest of the house. Its entrance should face northeast. It should be located far enough from the house that a falling wall, large trees or other debris will not block the entrance. Too, select a well drained site which can be landscaped to harmonize with the home surroundings.

Storm cellars should be constructed strong enough to withstand the impact of falling debris. It should also be watertight, economical and relatively easy to keep.

The size of the cellar depends on expected use. For an extended period of comfortable occupancy, allow about 10 square feet of floor area per person. Short occupancy requires only about two square feet per person. Adequate ventilation should be provided.

Instructions on constructing a storm cellar, such as other information, are available from the U. S. Dept. of Agriculture, Office of Extension Services, Washington, D. C.

Temporary Pastures Dependable Grazing

Summer temporary pastures provide the most dependable source of summer grazing that is available, according to E. M. Trew, extension pasture specialist. Too, he adds, they usually supply better quality grazing than is available from permanent pastures.

But these are not the only advantages of summer temporary pastures, points out the specialist. They permit resting permanent pastures and provide grazing all through the summer. They also provide some reserve feed. Any excess grazing may be put up as hay or silage, something very few livestock raisers have enough of.

Sudangrass and yearling millet make the best summer pastures, with sudangrass being the best. However, pearl millet will be the choice in East Texas and certain Central Texas soils. The pasture can be planted from the time danger of frost is past until moisture is too low in the summer. The growing season may be extended by planting as soon as danger of frost is past and using making additional plantings of three or four week intervals.

Proper fertilization will pay big dividends with good growing conditions, he says. A soil test is the best way to determine the soil requirements. The dollar for a soil test is the best fertilizer dollar that can be spent.

Rotation grazing and mowing should be practiced in order to get the most out of the pasture, advises Trew.

Rotation permits resting the plants between grazings, giving higher yield and permits use of the plants while they are in their most palatable and nutritious stage. Too, blocks not needed may be put up as hay or silage.

For additional information, Trew suggests obtaining L-279, Sudangrass, and L-331, Pearl Millet, from local county agents or from the Agricultural Information Office, College Station, Texas.

Garden Planning Increases Production

"Plan before you plant" is a basic rule for successful vegetable gardening. So says E. C. Hancock, extension horticulturist.

For instance, many vegetables grown in the home garden are wasted because too large a quantity of one vegetable matures at the same time. With few exceptions, vegetables remain edible for only a short period after they reach maturity. Top quality is even more important.

One way to avoid having too large a crop at once, he says, is to make succession plantings of the same vegetable, suggests Hancock. Plant only enough seed of crops like sweet corn, radish, and beans to provide the amount that can be used within a short period. Then, after two or three weeks, plant another lot to mature after the first harvest has been exhausted. Or, if the variety used will not do well later in the season, plant other varieties that mature later.

This kind of planting calls for a careful study of seed varieties and must be done well ahead of planting time. It may also require the purchase of more seed, therefore a somewhat larger investment. But these things pay off in greater satisfaction at harvest time.

Another thing to look for in studying the seed varieties is the height to which they will grow. Tall-growing crops should be planted together and low-growing ones together (preferably to the south of the taller ones) to avoid shading the lower plants. Vegetables need about 8 hours of full sunlight to produce well.

"Your tree cheating yourself out of possible production when your land needs lime and you don't apply it," says W. F. Bennett, extension soil scientist.

Even if the correct amount of fertilizer is applied, your soil will not produce the new profit side return unless sufficient lime is available. So, test out the chemical soil test to be the only method for determining just how ## much fertilizer and lime is needed for a particular field.

There is still time to take samples and send them to the soil testing laboratory at Texas A&M College before most 1958 crops will be planted. If the samples are submitted on the very near future, they can be processed and recommendations returned in time for use this spring.

The chemist advises farmers to use the soil test information they receive from the lab not only for applying lime and fertilizer but also as a guide in buying the recommended plant food.

Farmers who depend upon general fertilizer recommendations usually get close to the right amounts, but guessing at the need for lime is another story. Only a soil test will give that answer, says Bennett.

"With fewer acres in cultivation it is more important than ever to make the highest possible production per acre. To make this production, it will be necessary to use the right kinds and amounts of fertilizer and lime," Bennett says.

"Too, if this high production is to be made at the best possible profit, farmers will need a guide in fertilizing the crops grown. Soil test give this guide," concludes Bennett.

Mrs. E. N. Williams and Miss Opal Gaulton left Thursday for Odessa, Texas, to visit their sisters, Miss Elma Williams and Mrs. Ruth Smith, for an extended visit.

Hereford, Tex., Man Reports— more Maize On Fewer Acres Using Phillips 66 Ammonia

Bud Holt, Hereford, Tex., says: "I harvested more grain from 250 acres of irrigated maize fertilized with Phillips 66 Ammonia than I got from my previous larger acreage which received no ammonia. And I got this increase using only one irrigation well for the entire 250 acres."

Other Southwestern farmers have discovered that 82% nitrogen from top quality Phillips 66 Agricultural Ammonia helps them get more profit per acre through higher yields. They get more cotton that classes higher at the gin... yields of sorghum grain and ensilage are increased... more marketable vegetables are harvested... and profits on wheat are increased through higher yields of grain and extended grazing periods.

Phillips 66 Agricultural Ammonia contains 82% nitrogen and gives you more nitrogen per dollar than any other form of commercial fertilizer available.

McKay, Farmers Home Administration State Director, according to Robert J. Holloway the agency's local County Supervisor.

Formerly eligible applicant had to own a farm that produced a more substantial part of the operator's annual cash income.

Loans may be made to build, improve or repair farm houses or other essential farm buildings, and to provide water for farmstead and household use. Mr. Robert J. Holloway said that in addition to financing major construction, the loan funds can help meet many other needs for farm and farm home modernization such as adding bathrooms, utility rooms, better kitchens, and many other improvements to the home as well as to farm service buildings.

While tenants and farm laborers are not eligible, the owner may borrow to do the construction work or make improvements for them.

The loans are made to farm owners who need credit to finance building improvements or repairs, but find that adequate credit is not available through banks or other regular credit channels. The interest rate is 4% and loans may be amortized over periods up to 33 years.

Eligibility for loan assistance is determined by the three-member County Farmers Home Administration committee, and applications are now being accepted in FHA county offices.

UNCLE LUKE IS A SKEPTIC

To be truthful about it, Uncle Luke is plumb "ornery" about a lot of things. He rents at the blasted "airplanes" that scare his chickens... he fusses about the way women dress nowadays... he's never been to a picture show... and one of his pet hates is those "lx*x"? squawk boxes" somebody around the house is always turning on while he's trying to read his newspaper. Oh yes! Uncle Luke likes his newspaper... dots on it, in fact. Says it's the only way a feller could tell what's really going on in this crazy world nowadays.
