Reds Swirl Forward In Battle For Berlin

Over Third Of Capital Now In Russian Hands

LONDON, April 24 (AP)—Two victory-bound Russian armies cut deeply toward Berlin's flaming heart today while other Soviet forces drew near waiting American doughboys for an epochal junction of the eastern and western fronts.

More than a third of Berlin was in Russian hands, German reports indicated that fighting was swirling through nearly one-half of the wrecked city last night. Red army troops and tanks advanced from point to point over the bodies of Germans who had been refused permission to retreat.

Southwest of Berlin, now almost encircled, Red army tanks drew up to the Elbe river at a point within 20 miles of American positions.

Berlin was being reduced to rubble building by building. Both the First White Russian army and the First Ukrainian army had hurdled the outskirts and were fighting well inside the central areas.

A Moscow communique announced that Red army tanks had burst across the Belt railroad into the inner city and captured the Metropolitan Gas works, only eight blocks from Alexander Platz, a major commercial center.

The Germans, who said Hitler was on hand directing the battle personally, announced in a broadcast that the Russian forces were fighting in Friedrich's Park and near Koenigs Gate, a mile and one-half from the intersection of Unter Den Linden and Friedrichstrasse.

Swiss and Swedish reports, confirmed by neither side, said the Russians already had reached Unter Den Linden.

Berlin may already have been encircled. The Russians announced last night that their forces to the west were only 16 miles apart. The Luxembourg radio said they had met.

Marshal Gregory K. Zhukov's First White Russian army, driving into and sweeping around the city to the north, captured Oranienburg, 17 miles northeast of the heart of the city. Marshal Ivan S. Konev's First Ukrainian army was closing the southern jaw of the pincers as well as plunging into the city from the south.

The child suffered head and chest injuries and died at 3:20 a. m. Sunday. Survivors include the parents, Pvt. and Mrs. R. D. Burger, formerly of Gallapolis; sister, Carol Ann; paternal grandfather, P. H. Burger, Bidwell, Ohio, and maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Rife of Gallapolis. Nalley funeral home directed arrangements.

Polish Question Passed To Stalin

SAN FRANCISCO, April 24 (AP)—Clement Attlee, deputy prime minister, announced today that Britain will support Russia's demand for three votes in the assembly of the proposed world organization.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 24 (AP)—Secretary of State Stettinius arrived today as America's chief delegate to the United Nations conference, bringing with him the still unsolved Polish dispute of the Big Three powers.

Stettinius stepped from a silvery four-motored transport plane at 10:50 a. m. and declared that "despite the difficulties that we must meet" the conference will succeed in creating a world peace organization.

Easily the greatest difficulty confronting him is the unity-splitting row over Poland which Stettinius, Foreign Commissar Molotov of Russia and Foreign Minister Eden of Britain failed to solve in talks in Washington.

However, a statement there indicated fresh proposals may have been referred to Moscow, thereby putting the next move up to Marshal Stalin.

Anxious delegates looked toward Moscow today for whatever chance there is of Big-Three unity on this fateful issue prior to the United Nations conference opening late tomorrow.

Members of the United States delegation as well as other delegates eagerly awaited the principals for information as to how serious the big split over Poland has become. Many here are inclined to regard it the real key to success of plans for a world organization designed to keep the peace.

United Peace Prayers Today

People of all faiths were urged today to join in prayers for success of the United Nations security conference at San Francisco.

With the Rev. James E. Moore, president of the Big Spring Factors association presiding, united prayer services will be held at 8 p. m. today in the First Presbyterian church.

"This is the one thing that each of us can do toward insuring success of this crucial conference to keep the peace," said the Rev. Moore in asking all residents of this area to participate in the service.

Baby Boy Succumbs To Car Mishap Injuries

The body of Roger Burger, 17-months old son of Pvt. and Mrs. Roy Burger, who died early Sunday of injuries sustained when he was struck by an automobile Saturday, has been shipped to Gallapolis, Ohio, for final services which will be held there.

Demos Consolidate Trade Pact Ranks

WASHINGTON, April 24 (AP)—Democratic lines appeared to be consolidating today behind the administration's proposal to extend its reciprocal trade program with broad new tariff-cutting powers.

A spot check of house ways and means committee democrats indicated that virtually all will vote for the proposal. Some admitted they were "on the fence" when the tariff battle opened last week.

Hurt In Car Mishap

Wanda Juanita Dennis, 23, was slightly injured early today when she lost control of the automobile which she was driving north of Big Spring. Highway Patrolman Burl Haynie reported that Miss Dennis suffered bruises and that the car was almost a total loss.

RUSSIAN THRUSTS IN BERLIN—Russian drives (arrows) in Berlin were reported by Soviet front dispatches April 23 to be pushing along Mueller Strasse from the northwest, fighting in Friedrichs-Hain and along Landsberger and Frankfurter Strassen in the east. From the southeast other Russians fought into the Tempelhof area. (AP Wirephoto Map).

Panic Spreads In Berlin

By EDDY GILMORE
MOSCOW, April 24 (AP)—Panic and demoralization are spreading in the center of Berlin, with fighting taking place among the Nazi defenders, eyewitness accounts reaching Moscow said today.

"It's hell in there," a German civilian was quoted by the correspondent for Ivestia. "Shells are falling all over the place and there is fighting among the officers and men."

The civilian declared a divisional commander shot his driver when the latter suggested capitulation. The correspondent for Red Star told of battling down the avenues leading to the Wilhelmstrasse, and of white flags fluttering from windows along the Berlinerstrasse. On another nearby street 600 Germans surrendered, he said.

Announcement Of Junction Awaited

WITH THE U. S. THIRD ARMY, April 24 (AP)—Lt. Gen. George S. Patton's Third army forces in the Regensburg area drove today to within eight miles of that strategic city in one sector, and reached a point three miles west of the Danube in another.

Meanwhile the three-army assault on the outer ramparts of the German Alpine redoubt burst across the Danube at a third place today, overran the traffic center of Ulm and carried to within 105 miles of Hitler's hideout at Berchtesgaden.

An American-Russian junction was expected momentarily in the center, splitting Germany.

(Although there were indications early today that the formal announcement of the linkup—to be made from Washington, London and Moscow—was imminent, 11 a. m. CWT passed without indication as to when it would come.)

Troops of the American Third army pressed to within 93 miles of the Austrian strongholds of Linz and Salzburg, eastern gateways to the southern redoubt. The Seventh army closed down the last 50 miles toward Munich and the French First army advanced close to the Austrian frontier and reduced three large pockets behind the lines.

Ulm, second Wurttemberg city of 60,000, is on the Danube. It was the scene of one of Napoleon's most complete victories. It fell after a ten-mile overnight advance. Captured German documents said that Field Marshal Irwin Rommel died at Ulm last Oct. 14 of wounds received in a strafing attack in Normandy.

Travis L. Smith Dies Of Wounds

Another name was added to the growing casualty lists from Howard county Tuesday with receipt of word by Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Smith, 901 Scurry, that their son, Pvt. Travis Lee Smith, 19, had died from effects of wounds received in Germany.

Although they had no official announcement from the war department to this effect, they received word from Pvt. Smith's chaplain saying that he had succumbed to wounds. Previously, the war department had notified them that he had been wounded. The chaplain's letter was dated April 11 and said he had been buried in an American military cemetery near Paris.

Born Feb. 7, 1926, Pvt. Smith was graduated from the Big Spring high school in 1942, attended the University of Texas and had attained the grade of junior before he entered service on June 13, 1943.

He trained at Ft. Riley, Kas., and Ft. Meade, Md., and visited his family here in December, 1943, before going overseas. At first he was stationed in Scotland and then in Belgium as a member of the 87th mechanized cavalry with the First Army.

Besides his parents, Pvt. Smith leaves two sisters, Betty Jane Smith and Lou Ann Smith and one brother, Joe Howard Smith. His grandmother is Mrs. Eva Smith, Big Spring. James Howard Smith, Los Angeles, Calif., is an uncle; and other relatives include Mrs. Ira Proctor, Mrs. George Darnon, Mrs. Lawrence Whitmore and Mrs. Joe Whitmore, Midland; Mrs. D. H. Patrick, Besemer, Ala., and Mrs. Bill Bledsoe, San Angelo.

Piece Goods Scarce - - And They Are Due To Become Scarcer

"Just what in the world are we going to make clothes out of?" This is the cry of local women who are going home from town empty-handed with no piece goods and not much chance of getting materials in the near future.

The picture looks blacker still to store managers and owners who have seen the facts and figures and know that until the war is over their shelves will continue to collect dust.

A survey of local stores indicates that the women have need to worry. Woolen piece goods which were scarce as hen's teeth during the winter season are now on display in some stores, but explanation of this was given by one merchant who sums it up with "we're glad to get anything they will ship up."

Textile mills are now turning out materials for the government and it is taking 75 per cent of the output to meet demands of the military.

Cotton ranks first on the list of scarce yardage, while some spun rayons have been received.

It was only a short time ago that a store here received several bolts of desirable material just before closing time, and WHOOP, women scurried from sock counters and shoe department into the scramble for part of the cloth. In 15 minutes a withered saleslady tossed the empty bolts out the back door.

Most frequent question put to merchants is: "If any happens to come in, could you slip to a telephone and call me?" But think how many calls that would lead to and how unfair it would be to others in rural areas who only get to town once a week.

Puzzling also to perturbed housewives is the apparently adequate supply of ready-to-wear, and "where did the material for them come from?" they ask.

Cutters in factories have an inside track (priorities) on getting materials, even though their quotas have been drastically reduced and still come out of the 25 per cent allocated for civilian use. Inspect materials closely and you will discover the quality of most is inferior.

About the only solution to the problem locally is to make every effort to save your present clothes by cleaning carefully, and to not buy more than you actually need when materials are available.

What Is Wrong When Prayer Fails?

Thirty years ago, in Forbidden Tibet, behind the highest mountains in the world, a young Englishman named Edwin J. Dingle found the answer to this question. A great mystic opened his eyes. A great change came over him. He realized the strange Power that Knowledge gives.

That Power, he says, can transform the life of anyone. Questions, whatever they are, can be answered. The problems of health, death, poverty and wrong, can be solved.

In his own case, he was brought back to splendid health. He acquired wealth, too, as well as world-wide professional recognition. Thirty years ago, he was sick as a man could be and live. Once his coffin was bought, Years of almost continuous tropical fevers, broken bones, near blindness, privation and danger had made a human wreck of him, physically and mentally.

He was about to be sent back to England to die, when a strange message came—"They are waiting for you in Tibet." He wants to tell the whole world what he learned there, under the guidance of the greatest mystic he ever encountered during his twenty-one years in the Far East. He wants everyone to experience the greater health and the Power, which there came to him.

Within ten years, he was able to retire to this country with a fortune. He had been honored by fellowships in the World's leading geographical societies, for his work as a geographer. And today, 30 years later, he is still so athletic, capable of so much work, so young in appearance, it is hard to believe he has lived so long.

As a first step in their progress toward the Power that Knowledge gives, Mr. Dingle wants to send to readers of this paper a 9000-word treatise. He says the time has come for it to be released to the Western World, and offers to send it, free of cost or obligation, to sincere readers of this notice. For your free copy, address The Institute of Mentalphysics, 213 South Hobart Blvd., Dept. R-666, Los Angeles 4, Calif. Readers are urged to write promptly, as only a limited number of the free books have been printed. (adv.)

Morgan Elected Eastex C-C Head

LONGVIEW, April 24 (AP)—Bronson Morgan of Jasper was named to succeed Joe Butler of Corsicana as president of the East Texas chamber of commerce yesterday at a meeting of directors held here in lieu of the organization's annual convention.

Hubert Harrison was re-elected vice president and general manager and C. A. Lottis of Longview was renamed treasurer.

By resolution of the meeting: Asked the earliest possible elimination of wartime controls. "We urge elimination of wartime controls as rapidly as national security will permit; fair, clear, stable rules for business procedure under law and a substantial reduction of marketing agreements, grants-in-aid, and subsidies," one resolution read.

The meeting asked also that "any policies to encourage the United States participation in world trade be very careful in committing our goods and credits abroad, that world cartels be shunned and any acts be avoided which would provide jobs abroad at the expense of jobs at home."

MAY GET DISCHARGES WASHINGTON, April 24 (AP)—

Do They Call You OLD MAN?

Why feel old at 40, 60 or more—why be the victim of the older years? If life apparently has lost its zest, you again may be able to enjoy life as you did in your youth. If added years have slowed down your vim, vitality and youthful pleasures, here is a simple, inexpensive method that may change your whole outlook on life. Why not try and regain the pleasures of living you once enjoyed. Why be discouraged—why not regain the verve and zest of a much younger man?

Just ask your druggist for Casella Tablets, either 48 tablets or 200. (The 200 size bottle costs much less per dose.) There is nothing harmful in these tablets. Take as long as you feel that you need them. Women, too, find Casella beneficial.

If the very first bottle of 48 tablets does not completely satisfy you that Casella is just what you need, return the empty bottle and get your money back. Ask for and get genuine CASELLA.

Just As We Thought—Gene Only Funning

PHOENIX, Ariz., April 24 (AP)—Publisher Gene Howe of the Amarillo, Tex., Globe, has admitted he's only been kidding about Arizona.

The feud between Howe and Arizona began when Hollywood selected a site near Tucson to film "Duel in the Sun," which has a Texas Panhandle theme. Howe didn't like it, and said so.

But a soldier from Arizona on the Italian front, Cpl. Ray J. Judd, Tempe, didn't like Howe's remarks about his home state and wrote him so.

In his reply, Howe allowed Arizona is okay and so are its people and his column was done in fun.

Charles DeVries and Pvt. Warren Vettow. Consolation prize was given to Pvt. and Mrs. Herbie Tanenbaum.

The fifth in this series of tournaments will be held Saturday, May 5, at 8 o'clock. All reservations should be made by calling Mrs. Ann Houser at the center.

Mrs. Roy Stice and daughter, Barbara Sue of Pasadena and Mrs. J. C. Fields of San Angelo have been visiting in the home of Mr. and Mrs. R. R. Fields and other relatives for the past week.

Franklin D. Roosevelt—

Times When Late Chief Was Downright Impish

(Second of Six Articles) By DOUGLAS B. CORNELL (Associated Press staff writer who "covered" Mr. Roosevelt for 10 years)

WASHINGTON, April 24 (AP)—There were moments when Franklin D. Roosevelt was downright impish.

He loved a joke and roared loudly whether it was on himself or someone else. Usually it was on someone else. When Crown Princess Martha of Norway was a guest one weekend at his home at Hyde Park, N. Y., a servant brought a tray of canapés and hors d'oeuvres, and the conversation turned to snacks and unusual foods.

Mr. Roosevelt remarked that rattlesnake meat is tasty, that considerable quantities are exported from this country, even though most Americans never have tried it.

A few weeks later the crown princess was back at Hyde Park, and a tray of delicious-looking canapés was offered her and her lady-in-waiting. Intently, Mr. Roosevelt watched them nibble.

"How do you like that rattlesnake?" he asked. "Good, isn't it?"

They bolted out of the room and returned a bit later, looking a trifle green. And there he sat, chuckling and chortling.

Mr. Roosevelt's first bodyguard, the late Gus Gennerich, was the butt of many a presidential joke. Gus, who died on a Roosevelt trip to South America in 1936, rather enjoyed the bright lights of an evening. Sometimes the president would get word about Gus' plans and call him in.

"Gus," he would say, "I think I'll spend the evening in the library cataloging books. How'd you like to help?"

Representing a sigh, Gus would reply "Sure, Boss."

Gus would haul down from the shelves. Mr. Roosevelt, an eye on the clock when Gus wasn't looking, would record whatever goes into a book catalog.

Ten minutes before the hour Gus had picked for his excursion "the boss" as he was known in his own circle, would raise his arms, stretch, yawn and remark:

"I don't want to go through these books any more. Go on, get out of here."

On Iwo Jima— Nisei Talk Or Blast Japs Out

By ELMONT WHITE

IWO JIMA, April 23 (AP)—Down on the ripped up end of Iwo Island nearest Japan infantry patrols were blowing up caves daily as late as mid-April.

There still were live—and fighting—Japanese in the caves, too. Sometimes they surrendered. At other times they were mute when Japanese-language appeals were shouted into the cave mouths.

Then they were blown up. As many as 120 within one four-day period surrendered in answer to such appeals. No one knows exactly how many others died in the blast of cave-sealing high explosives.

American-born Japanese boys—the Nisei—are responsible for the surrender of practically all of the scores and scores of prisoners taken on Iwo Jima; and each new prisoner has volunteered to help persuade his companions to yield.

"Americans are building an airport right over your head," they shout into the silent cave mouths. "The war on Iwo Jima is over. Bulldozers are waiting to close up your cave . . ."

One patrol had three Japanese interpreters waiting outside a cavern entrance—when one came a note written mostly in French! It had been written by a Japanese captain, the son of a lieutenant general of the Iwo defenders. An officer recalled enough French to translate most of the note.

"I realize the war on Iwo is ended," it said. "I want to give up. Will you shoot me at sundown? What do you wish me to do?"

Eagle Roping Cowboy Gets Bird, Loses Mule

SAN ANTONIO, April 24 (AP)—The federal fish and wildlife service is authority for this story about the cowboy who roped an eagle, but lost his mule.

Says the wildlife service's quarterly memorandum: "Jack Rawls, who owns and operates a ranch some 50 miles southeast of Marfa in Presidio county, reports that on March 15 one of his riders observed a large eagle feeding on a recently killed lamb.

"This rider, being mounted on a mule, thought himself to be at a considerable disadvantage, although he immediately gave chase and roped the eagle. his mule but was successful in killing the eagle. This bird had a "Needless to say, the rider lost wing spread of seven feet."

Make This Home Recipe To Take Off Ugly Fat

It's simple. It's amazing, how quickly one may lose pounds of bulky, unsightly fat right in your own home. Make this recipe yourself. It's easy—no trouble at all and costs little. It contains nothing harmful. Just go to your druggist and ask for four ounces of liquid Barcol-Concentrate. Pour this into a pint bottle and add enough grapefruit juice to fill bottle. Then take two tablespoonsful twice a day. That's all there is to it. If the very first bottle doesn't show you the simple, easy way to lose bulky fat and help regain slender, more graceful curves; if reducible pounds and inches of excess fat don't just seem to disappear almost like magic from neck, chin, arms, bust, abdomen, hips, calves and ankles, just return the empty bottle for your money back. Follow the easy way endorsed by many who have tried this plan and help bring back alluring curves and graceful slenderness. Note how quickly blight disappears—how much better you feel. More alive, youthful appearing and active. (adv)

Torrential Rains

NEW ORLEANS, April 23 (AP)—Torrential weekend rainfall was reported from at least two widely separated Louisiana cities but river observers expressed doubt that flooded streams in the state would be affected. Shreveport reported 3.24 inches of rain and at New Orleans 2.36 inches fell within a few hours Saturday, and Sunday's precipitation was .37 of an inch.

Norway was neutral in World War I but lost 1,000,000 tons of shipping and about 2,000 seamen as a result of submarine warfare.

Steers To Have Initial Scrimmage On Thursday

Workouts for the Steer football team will get progressively rougher in anticipation of the first inter-squad scrimmage Thursday, John Dibrell, coach, announced today.

Thus far, his boys have been going through light exercises, have done some dummy blocking and a slight amount of three-quarter speed blocking for plays in addition to the usual charging the sled, kicking, running and passing. Calisthenics have been done out in an abundance during the first week.

Dibrell said most of his hopefuls were rounding into condition nicely and he was particularly pleased with the amount of spirit and hustle being exhibited.

On the basis of snap, speed and assurance exhibited thus far, his first string backfield next autumn will be the best since Dibrell took over direction of the Steer corral.

Horace Rankin will be quarterback. Peete Cook at fullback, Hugh Cochran at left half, and Hugo Hardy at right half. Rankin is the only one not a starter last year, and at the end of the season his passing was earning him a berth.

First choices on the end crop are Darrell D. Douglass, whose reckless and rough brand of play stamped him as a likely candidate last year, and Marvin Wright, Jimmy Shaffer and Gerald Harris, who did a pretty good job last year, will be tackles. Like Robb and Pete Fugliar are top picks for guards and Tommy Clinkscales the leading pivot hope. Other backs who will be fighting for berths are Jackie Barron, Robert Miller, Paul Shaffer, B. B. Lees, Don Webb, George Worrell and Gordon Madison.

At end, Dibrell will draw reserves from Larry Hall, Don Williams, Murph Thorp, Jimmy Jones, James Thomas, Cecil Heath and Robert Burns.

A. J. Cain and Tom Amerson, a new comer, are in line for considerable play at tackle, with Red Collins, Bobby Hollis, Ensor Puckett and Billy Casey fighting for a chance to break into the lineup.

Wesley Rogers, Walter Carrington and Pat Lamb are the ranking subs at the guard spot. Roy Lee Reeves will understudy Clinkscales at center, but when Gerald Burrus, a 170-pounder, becomes eligible in November, he may mix it for the position.

Thus far the coach has given his charges nine plays and will have four or five more by scrimmage time Thursday afternoon.

line of scrimmage, instead of having to be five yards back, would make this section really pass-happy.

But there are a couple of authorities on football air raids who disagree. Dutch Meyer, who produced such flingers as Sammy Baugh and Davey O'Brien at Texas Christian, declares the new rule may help the running game but he doesn't believe it will make much difference in the aerial attack.

Baugh, who was a pretty fair country tosser when he played with T.C.U. and who hasn't done so badly in the pro game, backs me up in the opinion that any real pass play necessitates the passer backing up and taking enough time for his receivers to get down the field," declares Meyer. "I believe that protection for the passer and maneuverability of receivers will continue to be the key points of the air attack—and that most forwards will still be launched from behind the scrimmage line."

Ailing Stars Plague Majors

By JACK HAND Associated Press Sports Writer

Baseball's iodine list assumed serious proportions today with such key men as Joe Cronin of the Red Sox, Joe Medwick of the Giants, Jimmy Foxx of the Phillies, Eddie Miller of the Reds and Hershel Martin and Mike Garbark of the Yankees on the sidelines.

Loss of Cronin, perhaps for the season, upset Boston's infield plans. When the skipper broke his leg Thursday he was playing third base.

Medwick was unable to open the season in left field for the New York Nationals, yielding to freshman Steve Filippowicz because of a back injury.

Foxx, first sacker, was able to play in few of the exhibition games because of sore feet and appeared only as a pinch hitter during the first week of the season. Regular Phil second baseman Fred Danleys was out as the result of a back operation.

Martin collided with center fielder Johnny Lindell chasing a long fly during the same game in which Cronin was hurt. Lindell's spikes clipped Martin a nasty cut across the nose and he was out of the weekend series in Washington.

Catcher Mike Garbark of the Yanks had to take a rest because of an ear infection.

Boston's Braves were hardest hit when third baseman Tom Nelson, shortstop Whitely Wietelmann and second sacker Frank Drews and Eddie Joost were injured.

International Tennis Meet At Wimbledon LONDON, April 24 (AP)—The first major international tennis tournament of the war will be held soon at Wimbledon. The army newspaper Stars and Stripes said the U. S. army's united kingdom base athletic office is planning championship matches between six-man teams representing America and Britain. Among those ready to appear are Sgt. Frankie Parker, U. S. national champion, George Lott, Tom Falkenburg and S/Sgt. Charles Hare.

Poor Gunder—A Golfer PHILADELPHIA, April 24 (AP)—Gunder Haegg, who accepted an invitation to compete in the 51st annual University of Pennsylvania relay carnival Friday and Saturday, has fallen under the baneful influence of golf, carnival officials have learned. Haegg, staying with a friend at Greenwich, Conn., loves to run on grass. He found the golf links ideal and then started to play the game.

Texans In Washington— Elevation Of Truman To Presidency Accentuated Connally's Key Role

By TEX EASLEY
WASHINGTON, April 24 (AP)—Tom Connally's role in the creation of a postwar world order became even more important with the succession of Harry S. Truman to the presidency.

The influence of the Texan undoubtedly will be felt, not alone because of his chairmanship of the powerful senate foreign relations committee and his participation in the forthcoming San Francisco conference, but because of his close personal relationship with Mr. Roosevelt and Mr. Truman.

Only the day before Mr. Roosevelt died, it was my privilege to intimately observe the ties between Mr. Truman and Senator Connally. At their invitation, I sat between them in a ride from the Capitol to the Willard hotel, where the senator spoke at a Rotary luncheon before practically all of the ambassadors and ministers to this country.

The conversation was as free and easy as that of old cronies basking their feet before a fireplace. Some of it was idle chatter, some very serious.

Mr. Truman mentioned that he had just received a letter from John Nance Garner. In it the former vice president told of his chickens and garden at his home in Uvalde.

The problem of absenteeism in the senate worried Mr. Truman. Little did the modest Missourian dream that 369 hours later he was to become the nation's 32nd president. In fact, he was playing second fiddle then to his old friend, Senator Connally. When they walked into the crowded ballroom the orchestra struck up "The Eyes of Texas." With no fanfare the toastmaster later simply introduced him as the vice president.

The principal address was made by Senator Connally. He discussed world peace aims. It was a fine speech, and Mr. Truman didn't hesitate to say so as we drove back to the Capitol.

The tieup between Mr. Truman and the Texan isn't anything new. Last summer before he was nominated for the vice presidency, Mr. Truman was guest of honor at the Texas congressional luncheon.

Turning toward Connally, Mr. Truman expressed his deep affection for the Texas senator, and gratitude for the latter's help during the 1940 political campaigns. The speeches that Connally made in Missouri for him probably were responsible for his successful fight for re-election to the senate, he said.

It was Connally who made the notification speech in Truman's home town of Lamar, Mo., in which the Missourian was officially informed that he had been chosen to run on the democratic ticket with Roosevelt.

The Letterkenny Ordnance depot, Chambersburg, Pa., claims to be the leading tonnage depot in the world. It handled more than 1,000,000 tons of ammunition and battles supplies in 11 months.

Private Breger Abroad By Dave Breger

"That's the last time he jumps with us till he learns to swim!"

Stranded Japs Problem Children Of Pacific

By HAROLD STREETER
GUAM (AP)—The problem child of the Pacific war is the bypassed Japanese.

Stranded on islands as far as 3,500 miles behind the fighting at Okinawa, his food cut off except for what he can grow, American planes dropping overhead, American warships cutting the seas, he still won't give up.

So a soft of aerial MP (military police) has to be used against him—as, for example, at Rota.

A group of war correspondents taken for a sweeping bird's eye view of America's progress against the Japanese in the Pacific were flown past Rota in an air transport command plane during a tour of the Marianas.

Rota is a mere fly speck on a map, squeezed in between Guam and Tinian. In outward appearance, it seems so peaceful you could walk ashore.

But if you fly too low, you will draw pistol and rifle fire, perhaps some anti-aircraft fire too. There are an estimated 2,000 Japanese on Rota. They are caught smack in the middle of America's most bustling war bases.

When they can't sleep at night, they don't need to count sheep. They can count B-29s. The superforts practice bombing by aiming at Rota's well created and long inactive air strip. These test runs improve the bombardier's skill without killing anybody inasmuch as the Rota Japanese keep well out of range.

On the large island of Guam, so secure that it now is headquarters of Adm. Chester W. Nimitz and of the 21st Bomber Command, Yank riflemen improve their aim by periodic Japanese hunts in the hills. It is about like Jack Rabbit hunting. You'd better get in your first shots because after the prey had scurried to cover. On Saipan, Japanese still steal down from hill and cave hideouts at times to forage for food at farm houses of chamorros.

GOOD NEWS FROM THE PRODUCTION FRONT

GENERAL MOTORS REPORTS TO THE NATION

on its 1944 Production, Employment and Earnings

Production

Total deliveries of General Motors products in 1944 amounted to $4,300,000,000. Of this volume of materials produced by General Motors with the assistance of many thousands of subcontractors and suppliers, 90.2% were war products and the remainder authorized as essential to the war economy.

The actual physical volume of war products was increased by some 15% over the preceding year. The high quality of GM war production has been tested in combat on all fronts.

Employment

Employment in General Motors for 1944 reached a new high, with an average of 465,617 people employed. Payrolls rose to more than $1,380,000,000! In 1943, average employment was 448,848; payrolls totaled $1,322,000,000.

Earnings

In line with our wartime pricing and profit limitation policy initiated early in 1942, price reductions on war products have been passed on to the Government as cost reductions were achieved. In 1944, only 2.8% of GM war deliveries were made on a cost-plus-fixed-fee basis. Before providing for taxes, the over-all profit margin from manufacturing operations, expressed as a percentage of sales, was limited to about one-half that of 1941, the last prewar year. As a result, net income available to stockholders was $170,995,865. Net income per share of common stock was $3.68. Dividends per share were $3. Income taxes and excess profit taxes amounted to $264,413,156.

Out of every 100 GM employees in the United States 95 were enrolled in 1944 in the GM War Bond Payroll Savings Plan. 1944 War Bond purchases through the corporation had a maturity value of $229 million. GM folks are producing for victory, and investing for victory. Buy MORE War Bonds!

GM as a Wartime Producer

The value of GM war production deliveries to the end of 1944 was 10 billion dollars. GM has produced more than 3,600 different war products—ranging from huge tanks to tiny ball bearings. Output in the U. S. from the beginning of the defense program to the end of 1944 included:

- More than—140,000,000 shells and shell casings;
- 180,000 cannons;
- 1,000,000 .30-cal. and .50-cal. machine guns;
- 2,400,000 carbines;
- 180,000 airplane engines;
- 9,000 complete bomber and fighter planes;
- 245,000 gyroscopes;
- 740,000 tanks, tank destroyers and armored cars;
- 3,200,000 trucks, including amphibious "Ducks";
- 11,000,000 electric motors of all sizes;
- 300,000,000 ball and roller bearings;
- and a major part of all the Diesel engines produced for U. S. Army and Navy use.

Its cooperation with thousands of subcontractors and effort during 1944, Postwar plans are being made to renew peacetime relationships with thousands of suppliers and subcontractors with whom GM did business prewar. In a great many instances these concerns are among those cooperating with GM in its war production program.

Of the 104,000 GM men and women who have entered the armed forces, more than 9,000 have already come back to GM. In addition, 16,000 veterans of this war not previously employed by General Motors have been hired.

Almost 116,000 written suggestions were received by GM Divisions in 1944 under the GM plan of encouraging suggestions for facilitating production and improving working conditions. Awards of $1,138,656 in War Bonds and Stamps were paid to employees for 28,393 suggestions in 1944.

General Motors units engaged in the war effort:

CHEVROLET • PONTIAC • OLDSMOBILE • BUICK
CADILLAC • FISHER BODY • FRIGIDAIRE • GMC TRUCK & COACH
AC Spark Plug • Aeroproducts • Allison • Cleveland Diesel • Delco Appliance • Delco Products • Delco-Remy • Detroit Diesel Eastern Aircraft • Electro-Motive • Guide Lamp • Hyatt • New Departure • Brown-Lipe-Chapin • Delco Radio • Detroit Transmission • Diesel Equipment • Harrison Radiator Inland • Moraine Products • Packard Electric • Proving Ground • Research Laboratories • Rochester Products • Saginaw Malleable Iron • Saginaw Steering Gear Ternstedt • United Motors Service • GM Overseas Operations • General Motors Parts • General Motors Institute • General Motors of Canada, Ltd. • McKinnon Industries, Ltd.

Donate To Cancer Fund

Over the nation efforts are being made to raise ample funds to combat one of the major menaces to the well being of Americans—cancer. Texas has been asked to raise half a million dollars of this fund.

It has been pointed out that war fatalities for Americans in this war have passed the 122,000 mark. During the same period of time, cancer has killed 495,000 Americans.

No violence accompanies the treacherous march of cancer. It quietly lays hold of its victims and because means of spreading information about it are equally as limited as the means of combatting it, the dread malady grimly progresses until life is gone.

The heartaches of war are multitudinous. The shock and sorrow of casualty messages have awakened every heart of the land to the inevitability of death and injury. Because of it, leaders of all United Nations are getting together in an effort to find some means of efficient machinery which will find ways of settling international differences other than by war.

But what of the killer cancer? Shall we let it go on unobtrusively about its ghastly business of killing far more of our people than war has claimed?

April has been designated as cancer control month, and Texans are urged to participate in it by their gifts. Last year in the United States various health drives raised around $10,000,000 but cancer programs only got $750,000 of the amount. This was in the face of the fact that cancer annually kills 167,000 and that under this trend 17,000,000 Americans are now earmarked for a cancerous death. Moreover, this slighting of financial aid ignores the fact that cancer attacks young quite as well as the old, for in 1944 no less than 18,000 children under 14 died from the disease; that the infection is the No. 1 killer of women between 35 and 55, and the No. 2 killer of men.

How can you give to a campaign for fighting the dread disease? Simply by putting your money in an envelope addressed to "cancer." No postoffice designation is necessary, for the envelope will find its way to the state headquarters. If you don't wish to handle it in this manner, then mail your check or contribution to The Herald, and it will be acknowledged and forwarded to proper authorities.

Ernie Pyle Reports—

Troops Carry Odd Things On Move

(This is another of the articles Ernie Pyle had written before he was killed on Ie Island a week ago today by a Jap machine gunner.—Ed.)

By ERNIE PYLE
OKINAWA (By Navy Radio)—My company of marines started moving just after breakfast. We were to march about a mile and a half, then dig in and stay in one place for several days, patrolling and routing out the few hidden Japs in that area.

We were in no danger on the march—at least we thought we weren't, so not all the marines wore steel helmets. Some wore green twill caps. Some wore steel caps, some even wore civilian felt hats they had found in Japanese homes.

For some reason soldiers the world over like to put on odd local headgear. I've seen soldiers in Italy wearing black silk opera hats. And over here I've seen marines in combat uniform wearing Panama hats.

I've always enjoyed going along with an infantry company on the move, even some of the horrible moves such as we had in Italy and France. But the move we made that morning here on Okinawa was really a pleasant one.

It was early morning and the air was good. The temperature was perfect. The country was pretty. We all felt that sense of ease when you know nothing very bad is ahead of you. There is no weight on your spirit. Some of the boys were even smoking cigars.

There are always funny sights in a column of soldiers moving along. Our mortar platoon had commandeered a dozen local horses to carry heavy pieces. One of the marines had tied the pack onto his horse with a Japanese oboe—one of those brightly colored reams of sash Japanese women wear on their backs.

And here came this marine, dirty and unshaven, leading a sorrel horse with a big bottle of black and white silk, three feet wide, tied across his chest and another similar one tied under its belly, the ends standing out on both sides.

Troops carry the oddest things when they move. One marine had a Jap photo album in his hand. One had a wicker basket. Another had a lacquered serving tray. They even had a Columbia phonograph with Jap records, strapped onto a horse.

Lots of them wore Japanese insignia or pieces of uniform. Later an order came out that any marine caught wearing Jap clothing would be put on burial detail. I guess that was to keep marines from shooting each other by mistake.

There were frequent holdups ahead of us and we would stop and sit down every hundred yards or so. One marine commented on the slow progress said: "Sometimes we take off like a ruptured duck, and other times we just creep along."

The word was passed down the line, "Keep your eyes open for planes." About every sixth man would turn his head and repeat it

Hollywood—

Jarman Actually Was Picked

By BOB THOMAS
HOLLYWOOD—I asked Claude Jarman to remember after he became a movie star that I was the first person to interview him.

There is little doubt that he will become a star. He has been selected for the role of Jody in MGM's "The Yearling."

But I doubt if he will remember my request. He is too preoccupied with (1) the excitement of playing a movie role and (2) football.

I met Claude, who is ten years old, in the office of Clarence Brown, who made "The Human Comedy" and "National Velvet." Brown will direct "The Yearling."

"At first I toured southern cities and announced that I was looking for a young boy to play the Jody part," he said. "Then I realized that the only children I saw were the precocious type who were pushed forward by their mothers."

"So I arranged with the boards of education that I would pose as a building inspector. I would walk into a classroom and inspect the ceiling. Then I would glance around the room for a boy who looked right for the Jody role."

In a school in Nashville, Tenn., Brown came upon Claude, a dead ringer for the Jody illustrated in Marjorie Kinnan Rawlings' book. Claude was called to the principal's office and the director talked to him. Brown offered him a screen test and instructed him to tell no one but his family.

"I didn't tell anyone but Mom and Dad and my sister," Claude said in a pleasant Tennessee drawl. "But the next day everyone in school knew about it. I guess my sister spread the news."

Claude came to Hollywood and a test showed that he was a bright young actor, even though he had no previous experience. He was hastily signed.

During our conversation, it became apparent that Claude was devoted to football. He played on a team called the Nashville Volunteers. I asked him which interested him more, becoming a movie actor or playing football.

"Well," he replied, "I like the money that comes from acting. But I like football a lot too. I'd like to have both."

But it appeared that the pigskin sport predominated. For soon he was saying, "Gee, I hope the U. of Tennessee can beat Vanderbilt this year."

Life's Darkest Moment

With The AEF: With Hitler To Thank Germany Already Has Lost Generation

By HAL BOYLE
IN SAXONY (AP) — Germany—Thanks to Adolf Hitler—already has its "lost generation" from the second world war.

It consists of its boys and young men—and a large percentage of its girls—from ages 10 to 20.

It is hard to see how any policy that the allies can design to rebuild Germany along democratic lines can find mass support among these groups of young people, who have been fed in their most formative years on the Fuehrer's "blood and muscle" doctrine of race superiority.

The Nazi party had a very careful system for grooming its future leaders, and the most aggressive and talented young men and women have drunk so deeply and so long of its propaganda that they are permanently affected. Their country's defeat apparently has made most of them only more romantically and fanatically devoted to the leader who led their nation to ruin.

They have been taught to be hard and cruel and ruthless—and as a class they are. There is more hate in the eyes of these knee pants legions than in all the army's millions of trained soldiers. Soldiers know when they are licked, but these Hitler Jugend lads haven't developed enough sense to realize what has happened to their country because of Hitler, Himmler, Goering and Goebbels.

Our troops despise Hitler's boy soldiers like they do the Japanese because they are unpredictable. These 12 to 16 year old boys are more dangerous than ordinary soldiers because they do not realize the hopeless situation and likely is not will try to saute from the roadside at armored columns — which is the surest way of committing military suicide. The Americans hate to shoot and kill boys, but a crazy boy with a rifle is even more of a menace than a trained soldier.

I have seen scores of these dirty faced boys in prison camps and pens and their only reaction is one of sullen pride at being grouped with other soldiers in defense of their fatherland.

Washington In Wartime— Navy Takes Its Music Seriously

By POPE HALEY
(Jack Stinnett Is Ill)
WASHINGTON — The Navy is about to observe its tenth anniversary.

In June, 1935, the official order was signed creating the United States Navy School of Music at the Washington Navy Yard. Through music training and band organization, the school gives the service an ever-increasing supply of balanced, efficient music organizations.

With good music recognized as a morale factor, the smoothly functioning ship's band of today is a far cry from the old days when musical entertainment was haphazardly organized, ill-equipped and sometimes frowned upon by skippers who objected to "so much noise."

The school is housed in a specially designed building with every facility needed for a musical education. It boasts a faculty enviable to a private conservatory.

The school is in charge of Lieut. James M. Thurmond, of Dallas, Tex., who played several seasons with the Dallas symphony before winning a scholarship in horn at the Curtis Institute of Music in Philadelphia. After leaving Curtis, he was hornist with the Philadelphia orchestra. He joined the navy in 1932 as first horn in the Navy Band and three years later was assigned the job of organizing the school.

Official orders stipulate that all Navy musicians must have completed a course of study at the school to win a musician's rating. Bands are graduated by the school at intervals which coincide with the demand for bands from ships and shore stations. Over eighty of the approximately 300 organized bands were graduated as units from the school.

All Navy bands will ultimately be transferred to the school for reorganizations, so that every Navy musician will one day hold a music school diploma or certificate.

Approximately 400 men are being admitted to the school every month. Each student is required to master two instruments. Study of a minor band instrument is required for those who major in an instrument not normally in a band, such as piano and violin.

Bands graduated by the school may function as a military band, a dance or concert orchestra or as a small string ensemble.

The school's equipment includes every modern development

Roosevelt's Last Address

Probably the last bit of writing of the late President Franklin D. Roosevelt was a speech designed for delivery at the annual Jefferson Day Dinner, an annual affair among democrats throughout the country. The late president finished his speech the night before his death and corrections he penciled in on the manuscript show how carefully he had weighed its content, perhaps, as some suggested, with an eye on history. On the eve of the opening of the San Francisco conference, it is most timely to reproduce the full text.

Americans are gathered together this evening in communities all over the country to pay tribute to the living memorial of Thomas Jefferson—one of the greatest of all democrats; and I want to make it clear that I am spelling the word 'democrats' with a small 'd.'

I wish I had the power, just for this evening, to be present at all of these gatherings.

In this historic year, more than ever before, we do well to consider the character of Thomas Jefferson as an American citizen of the world.

As minister to France, then as our first secretary of state and as our third President, Jefferson was instrumental in the establishment of the United States as a vital factor in international affairs.

It was he who first sent our Navy into far distant waters to defend our rights. And the promulgation of the Monroe Doctrine was the logical development of the Jeffersonian policy.

Today this nation which Jefferson helped so greatly to build is playing a tremendous part in the battle for the rights of man all over the world.

Today we are part of the vast Allied force — a force composed of flesh and blood and steel and spirit—which is today destroying the makers of war, the breeders of hatred, in Europe and in Asia.

In Jefferson's time our Navy consisted of only a handful of frigates headed by the gallant U.S.S. Constitution—"Old Ironsides"—but that tiny Navy taught nations across the Atlantic that piracy in the Mediterranean—acts of aggression against peaceful commerce and the enslavement of their crews was one of those things which, among neighbors, simply was not done.

Today we have learned in the agony of war that great power involves great responsibility. Today we can no more escape the consequences of German and Japanese aggression than could we avoid the consequences of attacks by the Barbary corsairs a century and a half before.

We, as Americans, do not choose to deny our responsibility.

Nor do we intend to abandon our determination that, within the lives of our children and our children's children, there will not be a third World War.

We seek peace—enduring peace. More than an end to war, we want an end to the beginning of all wars—yes; an end to this brutal inhuman and thoroughly impractical method of settling the differences between governments.

The once powerful, malignant Nazi state is crumbling. The Japanese war lords are receiving, in their own homeland, the retribution for which they asked when they attacked Pearl Harbor.

But the mere conquest of our enemies is not enough.

We must go on to do all in our power to conquer the doubts and the fears, the ignorance and the greed, which made this horror possible.

Thomas Jefferson, himself a distinguished scientist, once spoke of "the brotherly spirit of science, which unites into one family all votaries of whatever grade, and however widely dispersed throughout the different quarters of the globe."

Today science has brought all the different quarters of the globe so close together that it is impossible to isolate them one from another.

Today we are faced with the pre-eminence fact that, if civilization is to survive, we must cultivate the science of human relationship—the ability to all peoples, of all kinds, to live together and work together, in the same world, at peace.

Let me assure you that my hand is the steadier for the work that is to be done, that I move more firmly into the task, knowing that you—millions and millions of you—are joined with me in the resolve to make this work endure.

The work my friends, is peace. More than an end of this war—in end to the beginning of all wars. Yes, an end, forever to this impractical, unrealistic settlement of the differences between governments by the mass killing of peoples.

Today as we move against the terrible source of war—as we go forward toward the greatest contribution that any generation of human beings can make in this world—the contribution of lasting peace, I ask you to keep your faith. I measure the sound, solid achievement that can be made at this time by the straightedge of your own confidence and your resolve. And to you, and to all Americans who dedicate themselves with us to the making of an abiding peace, I say:

The only limit to our realization of tomorrow will be our doubts of today. Let us move forward with strong and active faith.

Let me assure you that my hand is the steadier for the work that is to be done, that I move more firmly into the task, knowing that you—millions and millions of you—are joined with me in the resolve to make this work endure.

Illustrated Lecture Set For Wednesday At Parish House

An invitation has been extended to school students, church groups, clubs and study groups to attend an illustrated lecture entitled "How to Conquer War" which will be presented Wednesday at 8 p. m. in the parish hall at St. Mary's Episcopal church.

The film shows how people can go about establishing democratic federal world government to keep the horrors from the children of the world, and also shows how man first developed government to settle disputes with his neighbors.

The slide film has been widely acclaimed by Margaret Kneerim, film consultant of the New York University film library; William H. Hall, advertising and promotion manager of T. Y. Crowell, publishers; Kirtley F. Mather, member of the American Association for Adult Education; and Mary G. Little, of the Federated Women's clubs in Massachusetts.

The Rev. Charles Abele, St. Mary's pastor, hopes for a large attendance at the educational presentation.

May 15 Set As Crop Reporting Deadline

May 15 has been designated as the deadline for reporting performances on winter cover crops seeded in the fall of 1944 as a conservation practice, the local AAA office has been notified.

It was announced that all producers will be notified by letter or postcards not later than May 1, and all county administrative officers are required to furnish the state office with a report certifying that all farm operators in the county have been notified of the closing date.

SURVIVORS PICKED UP OKINAWA, April 23 (Delayed AP)—Four gunboats, probing waters in the area where the Japanese sank an unidentified light U.S. vessel in an air raid Sunday, have picked up 105 survivors, it was reported today.

Cold Weather And Rain Touch Texas

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
A cold front that moved down through the Panhandle brought brisk temperatures and rainfall today to North and Central Texas.

The cold wave brought heavy rains, high winds, hail and vivid lightning displays to many areas last night. Fruits and crops probably were damaged at some points, the Dallas weather bureau said.

Burleson, near Fort Worth, recorded 2.37 inches of rainfall, hail and high winds. Fort Worth got only .14 inches of rain and Dallas got less than an inch but both cities reported high winds.

Amarillo recorded a 36-degree temperature today, Pampa 36 and Lubbock 35.

At mid-morning heavy rains were reported around San Antonio. Austin had 1.25 inches.

Red Artillerymen Send Adolf Shells

MOSCOW, April 24 (AP)—Russian artillerymen in Berlin, finding copies of a capital newspaper showing pictures of the offices of Hitler, Goering and Goebbels, "addressed" their shells to those locations, a frontline correspondent said today.

Some were designated "Leipzigstrasse Nos. 3 to 7 for Minister of Aviation Goering," and then fired in hopes they would hit somewhere near the mark.

The Long Island summer resort of Southampton was an important whaling center in colonial times.

Between 100 and 150 superforts attacking Tokyo in daylight today bombed the western industrial section, concentrating on the Hitachi airplane engine plant. It was the first time it had been hit.

Using flame throwers and supported by direct fire of big guns the 7th and 27th divisions made small, painful advances down the 96th division in the center.

Chungking reported two Japanese thrusts toward Chihkiang were checked 75 miles from that U. S. air base in central China.

The main enemy column was repulsed as it drove down the principal highway and another force was attacked after it infiltrated Chinese lines. Chihkiang is 250 miles southeast of Chungking.

"SEEING EYE" FEAT SAVES PILOT TEMPORARILY BLINDED BY BLOOD

By S/SGT. CHAS. CALLAHAN
Marine combat correspondent; distributed by Associated Press

OKINAWA — A carrier pilot, blinded by blood from flak wounds, was guided to a safe landing at Yontan airfield by two Navy fliers who performed a "seeing eye" aerial feat.

Pulling out of a dive on a Japanese-held airfield, Lt. C. J. Chambers of Bakersfield, Calif., and Lt. Ralph K. Cocanougher of (1711 14th St.) Lubbock, Tex., saw a plane flying aimlessly in a dangerous area. They approached and found the pilot had been temporarily blinded.

Cocanougher flew ahead of the flier, who was not identified, and Chambers took the rear position. The wounded pilot was guided by their plane radio to Yontan, since they felt a carrier landing would be impossible.

Although it made a crash landing he was not injured further.

UNIVERSITY AFFAIR FLARES IN SENATE DEBATE ON AMENDMENT

AUSTIN, April 24 (AP) — The University of Texas controversy that led to the discharge of Dr. Homer P. Rainey as president echoed on the floor of the senate today during debate on a proposed constitutional amendment under which the University and Texas A. and M. could use income from their permanent funds to finance bonds for building.

This debate was touched off when Sen. A. M. Aikin Jr., of Paris charged that the board of regents was asking for improvements which were not needed.

Sen. H. L. Winfield of Fort Stockton then said that while he had great respect for Aikin's judgment, he felt that it had been influenced by his views in the controversy.

"If my judgment had been warped," Aikin retorted, "it is because the board tried to take over and ruin one of the finest faculties in the nation."

To this, Sen. Weaver Moore of Houston responded:

"They did have a fine faculty — with some parts that smelled — but it is better since the smell was removed."

The proposed constitutional amendment was amended before the debate started to give the legislature authority to provide and maintain "a university of the first class" for negroes.

Aikin, opposing the plan of permitting the regents of the university and the directors of A. and M. to pledge income from the permanent fund to finance building bonds, said the board of regents "saw a good chance to spend some more money and A. and M. got on the bandwagon."

The house voted to kill the motion to force committee action on the natural gas tax bill by four votes.

The bill was one by Rep. Pat Wiseman of Jacksonville. Wiseman moved it be referred from the revenue and taxation committee to the committee on counties. His motion was tabled, 67 to 63.

Committee Cuts Interior Budget

WASHINGTON, April 24 (AP) — The house appropriations committee tacked a handful of verbal brickbats and a 25 per cent budget cut at the interior department today.

Sending to the floor a $102,602,628 measure to finance the department for the year starting July 1, the committee criticized many of the agency's activities and trimmed $38,743,419 from its budget estimates.

However, the amount it recommended exceeds by $4,460,629 the funds made available to the department for the current year. The increase, the committee said, was due to the necessity for furnishing reclamation projects more money to spur food production.

Interest Grows In Field Meet

More than 175 entries already are in hand for the junior girls field day set for Friday at 2 p. m. Arah Phillips, in charge of the event, announced Tuesday.

Junior high school, North Ward, Central and West Ward have submitted lists of entries covering around 175 girls, and Miss Phillips believed that other schools within the city would be represented.

She also anticipated that Midway and Lomax would enter the meet and possibly other rural schools would be represented in the contests. The Big Spring Athletic association has posted $80 in prize money for the events, which include basketball free toss, baseball throwing for distance, volleyball serving, and tin can bowling.

All of the contests will be held at the North Ward school grounds and several teachers have volunteered to assist Miss Phillips in conducting the tourney, which may draw over 300 contestants.

LIQUOR CHARGES

Paper Needed To Affain Quota

With only three days remaining in the current Paper Troopers contest, 10,880 pounds of paper must be collected to meet the 300,000 pound goal established at the outset of the drive.

Sgt. E. K. Hendersen, drive director, disclosed Tuesday that more than 5,000 pounds of scrap paper were picked up Monday at Stanton. There was no report on collections at the Big Spring schools for this week, but Hendersen expressed a belief that the quota will be met.

At the present time West Ward is leading in the number of pounds of paper collected.

The sergeant reminded Paper Troopers that although the present contest is almost at an end, and conditions are improving on the battle fronts, tons of paper will be used in the final push to victory in Europe.

Hendersen reminded Troopers not to forget the service medals which are being awarded by the War Production Board for services rendered.

Crude Production Declines Slightly

TULSA, Okla., April 24 (AP) — United States crude oil production for the week ending April 21 dropped 8,050 barrels per day from the previous week's high record to 4,793,750 barrels daily, the Oil and Gas Journal said today.

Texas and Louisiana fields were stationary at 2,170,550 and 366,050, respectively. Mississippi was 52,400 for the week ending April 12 compared to 52,200 for the week ending April 14.

Opening Hours Are Changed For Firm

Opening hours will have to be changed effective Wednesday for the Steak House, its management announced at noon today.

Previously, the hours, but due to a shortage of help and some difficulty in securing quality supplies, business hours had to be reduced. This, said the management, was the decision, reached on the basis of providing top quality in service and food. Hours will be 5 p. m. to 11 p. m.

CONSUMPTION STATIC

Water consumption in Big Spring continued to stand at 2,500,000 gallons daily Tuesday. Water is still being taken from the well supplies, and due to labor shortages the switch to the city lakes will probably not be made, City Manager B. J. McDaniel said Tuesday.

AMENDMENT PASSES

WASHINGTON, April 24 (AP) — The senate adopted an amendment today to the selective service extension bill barring the use of 18-year-olds in combat until trained at least six months.

Neutrals Warned Not To Protect War Criminals

WASHINGTON, April 24 (AP) — A warning to neutral countries against offering sanctuary to perpetrators of Nazi war atrocities came from the house foreign affairs committee today.

The committee approved for floor consideration a resolution making it United States policy to go into neutral countries, regardless of treaties, to pursue and capture enemy war criminals.

The resolution, introduced by Rep. King (D-Calif.) must be approved by both branches of congress.

"The King legislation expresses as 'the sense of the congress' that the United States shall cooperate with other Allies in the arrest, prosecution and punishment of war criminals.

As demands were voiced on Capitol Hill for a harsh Nazi peace, the Germans themselves read a solemn warning that ruthless pursuit and punishment await those who mistreat Allied prisoners.

Quick Look At Conference City

By JAMES MARLOW
SAN FRANCISCO, April 24 (AP) — Here's a quick look at how the United Nations' delegates and their assistants will live and work while they're in San Francisco.

It's a rich, lusty city, rippling with people, with movement, with girls in summer dresses, with flowers, with color: one of the great and wonderful cities of the world.

The delegates are scattered among the big hotels. The food is good, as good as any in America. And all the hotels are only a short trolley or taxi ride from where the delegates will do their work, the war memorial buildings.

If they walk to work they'll be astonished at the abundance and variety of goods and clothing in the stores.

They'll see more cocktail bars than probably in all their lives before and they'll laugh at the dinky, jam-packed cable cars, festooned with human beings hanging on the outside as they bump over the hills.

If they'd like a tattoo as a reminder of the conference, they can duck into a Market street shop for a little fast and fancy needlework; they can drop in for a quick look-see in a nickel peep-show; they can take a gander at real live leg art in one of those places whose blazing red signs announce "burlesque."

And always as they trudge along they'll be conscious of this: San Francisco is the great seaport of the Pacific now, one of the great naval bases. Through it have poured a million men for the war against Japan. And the sea is always just on the other side of these hills.
