Delegates To Boys And Girls State To Learn Citizenship Responsibilities

Come June, eight boys and girls from Spearman and Gruver High Schools will be boarding a chartered bus for Austin where they will attend Boys and Girls State.

The purpose of Boys and Girls State is to educate youth in the duties, privileges, rights and responsibilities of American citizenship. Its purpose is to awaken within the youth of our nation the sincere conviction that a well informed, intelligent, participating citizenry is most vitally needed to protect and preserve our American institutions and American democracy.

They will make up a mythical "51st state" while in Austin. For a period of time the citizens of Boys and Girls State organize their own government that is a city, county and state in accordance with regular election procedures. The youth learn by doing.

The program is carefully planned so that every hour of the day they will have a definite and integral part in the functions of the State. They will learn that their government is what they make it.

The program, which is non-partisan and non-denominational, is counseled by well trained and experienced leaders of youth.

Locally the program is sponsored by the American Legion and the American Legion Auxiliary Sullivan R. Spivey Post 154 of Hansford County. Other sponsors include Bill Gurney Agency, Lee McClellan, Ralph Blodgett, Linn and Helms, Diamond Cattle Co. and Spearman High School Student Council.

Delegates are: Maelynn Cator, Diane Stejda, Rickey Barkley &

Jay Taylor of Gruver; Debra Brock, Cloetta Fullbright, Carol Day and Hal Schufeldt of Spearman. Jan Roper, counselor of Gruver, will go to Austin two days before Girls and Boys State.

Superintendents and Principals at Gruver and Spearman helped to select delegates who were chosen mainly on their leadership abilities.

Another of his bills, Price said, would give either the House or Senate Agriculture Committees authority by resolution to direct the Tariff Commission to conduct hearings and set quotas on any imports determined to be harmful to a domestic industry including beef imports. "Only the President now has this authority," Price added.

"I will introduce a bill next week," Price told the group, "that will amend the Meat Import Act of 1964 to include all cured and canned meats which were not included in that act. Also," he added, "under my bill, quotas would be applied when imports reached 100 percent of the base formula rather than 110

Congressman Visits City

Congressman Bob Price speaking to a Farm Bureau Federation meeting in Spearman Saturday night lambasted imports as one of agriculture's big problems.

The new Panhandle Congressman, a member of the House Agriculture Committee and also a Republican Task Force on Agriculture is a rancher himself and holds a college degree in agriculture.

He said he had introduced bills to restrict dairy imports which increased 300 percent last year and are still going up this year. He blamed imports for low returns to dairy farmers and the recent milk-dumping by a national farm organization.

"Total imports of all beef and veal are having a most depressing effect on cattle prices and it is imperative that these loopholes in the law be tightened. Our livestock industry that has survived the ups and downs of the market and droughts and is still unsubsidized is entitled to some reasonable protection from cheaply produced foreign imports."

"Beef imports in January of this year increased more than 51 percent over the same month the year before."

"Textile imports are wrecking our cotton and wool industries," Price continued. "Senator Dirksen recently made a point of the fallacy of our assistance to developing nations."

"One of the first things we do," the Senator said, "is to furnish the machinery for the new and underdeveloped nations to set up a textile industry to clothe its people. Then the next thing we know they have a surplus and are demanding a part of our domestic market for the products they produce with cheap labor and unsubsidized cotton and wool they buy at world market prices. It doesn't make sense."

"Certainly we must have reciprocal trade but we cannot continue to sell the farmer and anchor down the river in the interest of manufactured products we export to these countries," Price concluded.

ENGAGEMENT

Mrs. James C. Gray of Canadian, Texas announce the engagement and approaching wedding of Roy Lee Anderson, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Anderson of Canadian.

The wedding will be solemnized June 14 at Central Baptist Church in Canadian at 8 p.m. Reception will follow at the WCTU building.

IN EXPLANATION

This newspaper carried a story in last week's paper about Mrs. Joe Sutphen of Berger (owner of Sutphen's Barberies) to give a book review to benefit the Twentieth Century club. We stated that Mrs. Sutphen was going to sell her barbecue place and move to Lubbock.

Early Monday morning Mrs. Sutphen called the office and asked us to see what we could do to correct the error. Well, the ladies who turned in the news story about the review related to us this news. In fact they said Mrs. Sutphen was so busy packing to leave she was unable to see what we could do to correct the error. She would be available to Spearman Thursday night.

Knowing this our story urged citizens to take advantage of this opportunity to meet Mrs. S. for the last time. She is really a noted reviewer artist and has been asked to give many reviews to fine arts clubs in this area.

Mrs. Sutphen was surprised to say the least. Several Spearman customers at her fine barbecue place expressed to her their sorrow because she was leaving. Her son (who is in the barbecue business in Lubbock) called her. He had an issue of the Reporter and asked her when she decided to sell out and move to Lubbock.

Which goes to show you always LOOK before you LEAP.

We apologize to Mrs. Sutphen and quickly advise all her good Spearman customers that this story is in ERROR and remind them that she is still in business in Berger and intends to remain there.

We do hope, however, that the story drew a good crowd to hear her book review. In fact this gives us several ideas for the future (?) and proves that people from here to Lubbock read the fine print in the weekly edition of the SPEARMAN REPORTER. Oh yes and Mrs. Sutphen has an advertisement in this issue too. She found out how many people would miss her.

Mr. Adamson will report any additional information he receives concerning yellow wheat, etc.

dozen lower than a year ago. New crop potatoes are expected to overflow local markets in May because of a late winter freeze in Florida. This cold weather delayed the Florida harvest, so it will move to market at the same time new potatoes will move from California, Arizona, and Alabama.

In addition to the new potatoes, there is an ample supply of winter potatoes moving from storage.

Orange juice, that essential flavor and binding for creative cookery, is in peak supply. The pack of frozen orange juice concentrate in Florida has topped 60 million gallons - about 64 percent more than was packed last season at this date.

Production of single strength canned orange juice and chilled orange juice is heavy, too.

Lot of food eating awaits you at very attractive prices.

Pruning makes the difference between an expert gardener and an amateur; Good pruning is essential to keep your property attractive and to keep ornamental plants healthy. However, you won't need to prune as much if you put plants in the best locations.

Early spring - before growth begins, is the best time to prune evergreens and late flowering shrubs. Early flowering plants, blooming in March, April May and early June, should be pruned immediately after flowering. Avoid early fall pruning. It tends to produce late, immature growth, which is less tolerant to winter cold.

Prune or remove completely any dead, diseased, broken or injured branches at any season. And prune all plants when you are transplanting.

Ornamental plants can be pruned several different ways. Shearing or clipping the ends results in a symmetrical shape which is usually very different from the plant's natural shape. These geometric outlines are usually undesirable, and shearing often results in a bushy plant with a brown or bare interior due to shading. Hedge plants are an exception; they lend themselves to this type of pruning.

Most ornamental plants are pruned to keep their natural shape as much as possible. This means thinning, removing old branches at ground level, cutting back some branches, and removing dead, diseased, and broken wood. It's more difficult and time consuming than shearing, but it improves flowering, natural beauty and plant health.

For more details on pruning, ask your County Extension agent for B-977, "Modern Pruning Methods."

Lt. Billy Miller Receives Award

MONTGOMERY, Ala. - First Lieutenant Billy D. Miller, whose mother, Mrs. Clara I. Sloan, lives at 4601 30th, Lubbock, Tex., has been awarded the U. S. Air Force Outstanding Unit Award at Maxwell AFB, Ala.

Lieutenant Miller, a base disaster control officer with the 3800th Air Base Wing at Maxwell, will wear a permanent blue ribbon decoration for helping the wing achieve an exceptionally meritorious rating for the period covering January 1965 through December 1966.

The lieutenant's unit also was cited for winning the Rex Riley Award for excellence in all phases of transient aircraft operations and maintenance and for its ability during the two-year period in accepting heavy influxes of aircraft on short notice due to special air missions. The unit's passenger traffic increased 440 percent during the period, and it provided aircraft for the training of 4,500 crew members during 1965, 1966.

A graduate of Lubbock High School, Lieutenant Miller received a B.A. degree in mathematics in 1963 from Texas Technological College.

He was commissioned in 1964 upon completion of Officer Training School at Lackland AFB, Tex.

His wife, Glennia, is the daughter of William Wright of Spearman, Texas.

The 3800th is part of the Air University which conducts officer military education programs and provides more than 100 military correspondence courses for 365,000 students.

WASHINGTON REPORT No. 11

The Armed Services have done a commendable job in helping indoctrinate new Congressmen in the defense posture of our country for a better understanding of the need for authorization and appropriations for present and new weapons, systems and methods.

A group of us were recently flown from Washington to a submarine base in Connecticut early one Saturday morning where we boarded one of the new Polaris submarines for a test run. These nuclear-powered submarines are one of our greatest deterrent systems in that even should an enemy nuclear missile attack knock out some of our launching installations, the long range submarines are still capable of a massive retaliation instantly from wherever they might be. This is undoubtedly the mightiest submarine force in the world in spite of any numerical superiority the Soviet Union might have.

The Polaris force is augmented by a fleet of fast nuclear-powered attack submarines whose main objective would probably be in defending our shipping lanes from enemy submarines.

The Air Force has also conducted inspection and acquaintance tours for the new Congressmen in groups. As a former Air Force jet pilot myself, these tours were extremely interesting and informative especially because I would like very much someday to serve on the Armed Services Committee in addition to the Agriculture Committee.

On the weekend Air Force tour we visited the Strategic Air Force Command Headquarters at Offutt AF Base, Nebraska, the nerve center of SAC. We were briefed there on AF capabilities of countering an attack by a foreign country, the role of SAC in the Viet Nam war, the types of ordnance employed in Viet Nam and the effects of bombing in Viet Nam and future plans in that war.

The second stop was at Vandenberg AFB, California, where we witnessed a regular scheduled launching of a ballistic missile in a test-firing to a distant Pacific range. We were able to follow the pin-point accuracy of the shot by radio communications with the target area. We also inspected some of the missile silos and discussed their capabilities.

We visited the First Strategic Aerospace Division at Vandenberg AFB, where we were briefed on the mission of the Space Systems Division, launch and orbiting vehicles, unmanned satellite programs and advanced planning and technology of the program.

At the Tactical Fighter Weapons Center at Nellis AFB, Nevada, we observed and were briefed on the latest types of aircraft and ordnance now being used by our fighter & attack bombers in Viet Nam as well as new type trainers. Inasmuch as I have kept my hand in flying, I arranged for a later check-out in one of the newer Phantom, F42 fighter bombers used by both the AF and Navy in Viet Nam. Earlier this year, I checked out in one of the new tactical jet trainers. The F42 is a much faster and more versatile plane than the F100's I flew in Korea and the one by which most of the Russian-built MIG's have been shot down in Viet Nam. The Navy version operates from carriers as well as land bases.

The stop-over at the Air Force Academy on the way back to Washington was also most interesting and especially because of the appointments each Congressman is allowed for outstanding applicants from his district. The AF curriculum is impressive as both a liberal education and the making of AF officers and pilots.

Although I have been critical at times of the conduct of the war in Viet Nam and some Department of Defense decisions, I am greatly encouraged with what I have seen and learned of our military preparedness and defense capabilities and confident that the United States can meet any aggressor at any time.

We were assured that there is no shortage of pilots for fighters, bombers or other types of aircraft nor of any type of ordnance, material or supplies necessary to present or possible missions of any of the services.

I hope we may keep it so, even though the cost is astronomical. Freedom once lost might never be bought back at any price.

N. F. Renner of Spearman, Texas recently visited the Washington office.

COUNTY AGENTS REPORT

April 20, 1967. - Robt Adanson SOYBEAN VARIETY TRIAL AT ETTER

Results of the 1966 soybean variety trials at the North Plains Research Field show higher yields from the medium early maturing group (Wayne, Clark and Patterson) than the medium late and full season group (Hill, Hinn and Lee). Wayne, Clark and Patterson produced an average of 40.8, 40.3 and 37.2 bushels per acre, respectively. Wayne matured 5.7 days earlier than Hill and 10 days earlier than Clark.

In 1966, there were no significant differences in yield between single and double row soybeans planted at 60 pounds per acre on 40-inch beds.

Moisture stress trials indicate the need for adequate moisture from bloom to maturity. Moisture stress induced at various stages of growth resulted in yield reductions in each case; however, the most critical stage was during the bloom stage.

Soybeans planted in mid-May produced yields that were significantly higher than those planted in June.

Results of this first year's data indicate that the potential yield from the medium early maturing group of soybeans decrease approximately 5 bushels per acre for each 10 day delay in planting after May 20.

Mrs. Harvey Whitefield and children went to Amarillo to spend the week-end with her sister.

HOMEMAKING NOTES

By Linda Garnett

How well do you know the aristocrat of the fresh vegetable world - asparagus?

It has a short season - just about two months - so many people never get fully acquainted with this green vegetable.

Supplies at local markets are the most plentiful during April and May, reports the Consumer and Marketing Service. Even the supplies are limited because asparagus is a speciality crop requiring a lot of hard labor.

Also, it is highly perishable. It must be harvested at the peak of tenderness or it is tough and fibrous.

When you shop for asparagus, look for closed, compact, deep green or bluish-green colored tips. A wilted appearance or a spreading tip often indicates considerable time has elapsed since cutting. Avoid excessive amount of white on the tips. The white should be tough and stringy.

Keep your asparagus cold and moist. Prepare for serving as soon as possible.

How much to buy? One pound of fresh asparagus makes 3 to 4 servings or about 2 cups when cut.

Prepare the asparagus by bending the stalk so it snaps at the tender spot. Wash well.

Here is the secret to cooking asparagus. Tie the stalks together loosely. Stand them upright in 2 or 3 inches of boiling water. Cook 10 minutes, then cover and let tips cook in steam.

Serve with lemon butter or a Hollandaise sauce. For a special, try asparagus Polonaise. Sprinkle the asparagus stalks with a mixture of grated hard-cooked eggs and chopped parsley. Add butter combined with very fine bread crumbs.

Beef, eggs, potatoes and orange juice are the only items to rate the May plentiful foods list of the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

So far this year, this amount of beef is running about 5 percent above last year. So look for attractive beef prices during May.

Eggs continue in heavy supply, as there are many more layers than last year at this season. As a result, farm prices are running 6 to 7 cents per
