Clean Up Campaign Extended

Robert Elliot, Chairman, Civic Improvement of the Spearman Chamber of Commerce announced today that the date for the Clean-up Campaign have been extended to May 31. The rainy weather has hindered yard work and the committee felt that this would give everyone an opportunity to complete their clean-up project. The Committee appreciates the co-operation of the community towards making Spearman a clean and attractive town.

Saturday, May 17, has been designated as the official cleanup day. Each businessman is asked to please help by keeping the sidewalk and gutter swept and cleared of trash in front of his place of business. This would help keep our shopping area pleasant and clean for the customers. Let's all work together and make this Spring Clean Up a success. If you have trash that needs to be hauled off call the city and they will leave a truck in the alley for you to load your tree limbs, trash and/or junk, then they will take it to the city dump.

Choirs Give Spring Concert

Spearman schools vocal music department presented their Spring concert on Monday evening, May 12 in the high school auditorium to an appreciative audience. Those who had received awards in various contests were recognized.

Charlotte Angel, accompanied by Wilma Clark, directed the sixth grade choir in a lovely three part harmony number, "I'd Like to Teach the World to Sing," and a very cute, clapping number, "Feel the Beat."

A trio sang a beautiful three part number, "Song at Dusk" and an ensemble of seven boys and girls sang, "Brighten My Soul."

The seventh and eighth grade boys choir did two lovely, three-part sacred numbers, "God of Great and God of Small" and "Sing Unto Him."

The seventh and eighth grade girls choir sang "Prayer" and "Guitar Man," with beautiful blend and lovely three part harmony.

The Spearman High School Chorals stood around the edge of the auditorium and sang acapella, Kyrie Eleison from the 1592 Mass "O Magnum Mysterium" by Thomas Luis de Victoria. Being surrounded by the chorale had a wonderful stereo effect. Then the choir marched up on stage and repeated the number.

The Boys Choir sang the traditional song of male choruses, "Guadeamus Igitur," the very contemporary "The Captain," and the rollicking sea chantey, "My Love Is Like a Rose." The first and third numbers were sung acapella, and only the middle number was accompanied on the piano.

The Madrigal group sang "April Is In My Mistress Face" by the sixteenth century madrigal writer Thomas Morley.

The Girls Choir sang acapella the lovely "Confitemini Domini," the very lovely, "There Is Sweet Music Here," accompanied by James Pierce, and then the very contemporary "Pavane For Spring," accompanied by James Pierce on the piano, Kyle Beedy on the finger cymbals and Jay Comegys on the tambourins. Jay Comegys, one of the many who received a one rating in their solos, sang, "Money O!" accompanied by Carol Pack.

The Celebrate group did a whole group of contemporary show and dance numbers, "Sail Away," "Don't Cry Outloud," "Golden Age of Rock and Roll," and "Doctor Dancin'." It was obvious that this group really enjoyed what they were doing.

The Chorale ended the program with two very lovely, contemporary, acapella numbers, "Flower of Beauty" and "Make a Joyful Noise."

Spearman vocal music department has grown tremendously in the number of participants, the quality of the music performed, the obvious enjoyment of the young people, and the quality of the performance. Travis and Charlotte Angel have made a good vocal music department into an excellent one.

Commissioners Set Budget Hearing Date

Fiscal matters and taxes occupied most of the Hansford County commissioners court session, Monday, with a board of tax equalization being formed and a bid accepted for a pickup for precinct three.

Constituting itself as a board of equalization each May is a statutory obligation. Commissioners take the oath of office as members of the board then it is recessed until July 7 when it will reconvene. At that time, it will hear appeals, if any, on tax bills on both local or residential property and industrial tracts and holdings.

Commissioners have completed their study of the proposed budget for the coming fiscal year and have set June 23 as the date for a public hearing on the budget. The official notice required by law will be duly advertised.

Joe Trayler Fund was the successful low bidder on a pickup for precinct three with a figure of $6,706 with trade-in.

A request for a pipeline easement by Panhandle Eastern was granted. A similar request from Phillips Petroleum Company was denied pending a revision of that company's request. When it was initially presented, Phillips was told by the court it would have to be changed to conform with the county's requirements for such easements. No representative of the company appeared at Monday's session.

The treasurer's quarterly report was presented and approved.

Blister Beetle Poisoning In Livestock

An old, familiar problem has been recently recognized in commercial horse feed, Layton Barton, County Agent with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System, said the problem is not a crisis and, "we do not want people to panic."

Blister beetle poisoning in livestock has been a widespread problem in the southwest for years, but frequency of toxic poisoning is low. Cantharidin is a toxic substance produced in the glands of blister beetles, Barton added.

Livestock poisoning occurs when animals eat fresh-cut forages or hay which was harvested while blister beetles were feeding. Beetles feed in swarms in small areas of a field so generally only a small fraction of the forage is contaminated. Adults should not occur in significant numbers until late July.

Barton said cantharidin is highly toxic to horses and they may develop colic by eating only two to five beetles. Blister beetles can be found in any type of forage if weeds or other blooming plants are located in the fields. However, beetles are more attracted to alfalfa because of flowering at harvest.

Alfalfa is an excellent horse feed, and the agent does not discourage its use as a livestock feed.

The blister beetle problem is not unique to Texas, and purchasing hay from other states will not solve the problem. The level of toxic cantharidin will vary between individual insects of the same species, and animal reaction depends on the number of beetles consumed.

Barton said a good understanding of the beetle's life cycle and feeding habits will help plan management strategies to reduce financial losses. The female beetle deposits up to 1,000 eggs in the ground where the larvae live and feed on insect eggs. Grasshopper eggs are the main host for developing immatures, and this close association causes concern for the 1980 production season since grasshopper numbers are expected to be up from 1979. Following emergence, adult beetles congregate in swarms and feed on the pollen of flowering plants. Common host plants are potatoes, tomatoes, alfalfa and weed species like nightshade and pigweed.

Blister beetles suspected of causing most cantharidin poisoning are the three-striped blister beetle, Epicauta temexa and E. occidentalis. The critical problem develops when the large swarms of adult beetles are physically incorporated in feed during the harvesting process.

Adult beetles range in size from about 1/2 to 3/4 inch long. General body color is black with longitudinal yellow stripes on the elytra. The bodies are cylindrical, elongated and fairly soft to touch.

Inspection of baled hay for beetles is impractical, according to Barton. Detection of infested feed is difficult because the pest is small and may be found in only a few portions of a given lot of feed. Previous specimen collections and field observations indicate that hay cut before June 1 should be relatively free from adult blister beetles.

Beetle-infested areas should be left unharvested or sprayed with an insecticide. Barton said this approach will not guarantee absence of beetles, but will reduce higher populations in harvested hay. Low-level populations are not as important as abundant adult populations which are suspected of causing the serious problems.

IT'S A FACT!

The physical therapist is an important member of the medical team. All of the more than 32,000 physical therapists in the U.S. have completed at least a baccalaureate degree program and have a specific period of clinical training. Each day, more than 150,000 benefit from their expertise as they seek to overcome pain and physical disability.

Physical therapists do more than restore function to traumatized limbs. They also work with children to overcome crippling birth defects and with stroke victims to restore movement and independent living. For most post-operative patients, they are the link in the health-care team that speeds successful recovery. Because of their importance to total recovery, the American Physical Therapy Assn. points out, it's important that you make sure your health-care insurance includes coverage for recovery health services - the kind provided best by the trained physical therapist.

If money's the root of all evil, how come so many people root for it?

Home Extension Club Meets

The Spearman Home Extension Club met Friday, May 9 in the home of Mrs. Viola Hutton. President, Mrs. B. J. Garnett, called the meeting to order by reading the THDA prayer. The beautiful month of May is National Mental-Health Month. In a national survey of families, 73 percent of the family members (parents and teenagers) felt the mental health would be improved if people were more concerned about others and less concerned about their own problems.

Dr. Karl Menninger, the famous psychiatrist, once gave a lecture on mental health and was answering questions from the audience. "What would you advise a person to do," asked one man, "if that person felt a nervous breakdown coming on?" Most people expected him to reply, "Consult your psychiatrist." To their astonishment he replied, "Lock up your house, go across the railway tracks, find someone in need and do something to help that person."

Although few, if any, of us may be on the verge of a nervous breakdown and still fewer can even find railway tracks to cross, Menninger's advice still rings true.

Much human energy is being spent worrying about how inflation or the energy crisis or the rising food prices are affecting families. When worry engulfs a person, it is easy to forget about the human concerns of those in the family.

Children, regardless of the country's economics, still need parents. They need parents who somehow can find the time and energy to be concerned about them. Children need their parents to help them understand life, the changes that are occurring within their bodies and among their friends. Children, at least most of them, need a parent who can listen to their concerns and help them interpret what is happening. As we worry about what this summer will bring or what the next paycheck won't bring, maybe we can remember Menninger's advice. Lock up the worry and go find your child and do something to help him or her.

How To Take A Soil Sample

Taking a soil sample is not a difficult or complicated job if a few basics "do's and don'ts" are followed. Soil tests can be only as accurate as the samples on which they are made. Proper collection of samples is extremely important. Chemical tests of poorly taken samples may be actually misleading.

Here are three basic steps in the selection of site and actually taking the sample:

1. Take one soil sample from the lawn and one from the garden.
2. The sample should be taken from over all the area. This can be done by taking a small amount of soil from 5 to 10 different places. Place these in a clean container (plastic bucket, paper sack, etc.). Mix thoroughly and take approximately one pint for the composite sample.
3. When taking the small samples, use a spade, soil auger or soil sampling tube. Scrape the litter from the surface. To use an auger or tube, make the boring six inches deep in the soil. To use a spade, dig a v-shaped hole and take a one-half inch slice of soil from the smooth side of the hole. Repeat in 5 to 10 different places.

When the sample has been placed in the sample box, the box should be numbered to correspond with the number on the soil sampling sheet. Be sure to keep a record of sample members and where they were taken.

The sample, along with the information sheet should be mailed to the Soil Teaching Lab, Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Route 3, Box 213AA, Lubbock, Texas 79401.

A few precautions are important in taking the sample:

1. Avoid sampling spots such as small gullies, slight field depressions, and unusual spots.
2. Do not use old vegetable cans, match boxes, etc. to submit samples.
3. Do not use heat to dry samples.
4. Be sure to keep a record for yourself as to the area represented by each sample.
5. Be sure sample numbers on the boxes correspond with sample numbers on the information sheet.

Mental Health Drive

Mrs. Sharon Knudsen of Gruver and Charolette Jackson of Spearman will lead Bellringer workers in a house-to-house drive during May, Mental Health Month.

"Proceeds will benefit the Mental Health Association in Texas," said John Stevens, state President of the voluntary citizens' association.

As a non-governmental agency the association can and does speak for the consumer -- the person who needs professional help for an emotional disturbance.

The number one goal of the association for 1980 is to improve the care for discharged long term mentally disabled persons. The association is promoting self-help groups for families of patients and for former mental health clients.

"The association is a moving force to get services established where there are none. It also serves as a monitoring agency to see that treatment services are doing what they were set up to do," said Stevens.

The Mental Health Association strongly promotes more community-based care as well as more research into the causes of mental illness.

Seeking to prevent mental health problems through education, the association, in cooperation with the Governor's Office of Volunteer Services, sends out the newsletter series "Pierre the Pelican" to first-time parents in the state.

Additionally, the association offers literature to the public on a variety of topics including depression, alcoholism, and positive mental health concepts.

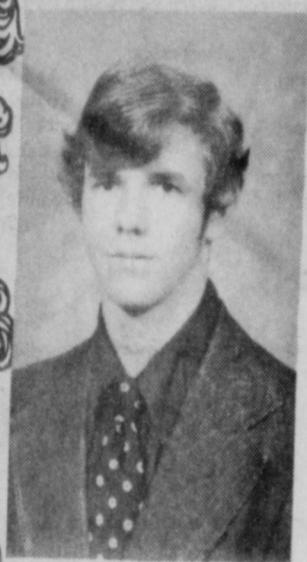

For free information write to the Mental Health Association in Texas, 103 Lantern Lane, Austin, Texas, 512-459-6584.

Steve Gross Speaks At Prayer Breakfast

Steve Gross of the Gruver Drug Store and Baptist layman spoke to the interdenominational men's prayer breakfast Wednesday morning, May 7, at 6:30 a.m. at the garden room of the Cattleman's Restaurant.

Steve said that he was raised in Gruver and accepted Christ as his Saviour when he was eight years old. But he never made Jesus Christ Lord of his life and so backslid.

As a young teen ager he had several close calls when he did foolish things riding his motorcycle. But God preserved his life. When he was eighteen he had given up on God and the church. His father had the Gruver Drug Store, and he sold pills and became a dope addict at eighteen. But God kept him and the devil from destroying himself. When he went to college, he began glue sniffing. Then he left home with a bunch of motorcyclists and was gone from home for a year-and-a-half. He became terribly homesick and knew that he was with the wrong gang. In Phoenix, he prayed that if God would get him home again, he wouldn't do it again.

He received an induction notice, and the cyclists got him back home. When he got home he sealed himself off from cyclists because of their demon possession.

Then he was married and moved to Liberal, Kansas, where he worked. He lived right across the street from an Apostolic Faith Church for four years. That church put him on their prayer list and kept inviting him to church. He kept saying, but I'm a Baptist and I'm saved. I don't need anything else. But he started reading his Bible. He would get up early in the morning and read his Bible before leaving for work at 4:30 a.m. One morning he read Matthew 13:47-50. "Again, the kingdom of heaven is like a net which was thrown into the sea and gathered fish of every kind;

when it was full, men drew it ashore and sat down and sorted the good into vessels but threw away the bad. So it will be at the close of the age. The angels will come out and separate the evil from the righteous, and throw them into the furnace of fire; there men will weep and gnash their teeth." These verses really got to him and the Holy Spirit came into his living room and he began to weep and continued weeping for several days. Each morning he would get up early and read a chapter or two of the Bible before going to work.

Then he decided he needed to go to church. Because the people of the church across the street had been inviting him, they decided they would try out that church once. The boss wanted him to paint a rendering plant on Sunday and it would be an eight hour job. He got up at 2:30 and painted for several hours, went home and got his wife and went to church. He wanted to go down to the altar and repent but he was wearing funny shoes and wondered what people would think. The next Sunday, they went back. This time he was wearing new, proper shoes. But all through the service, sitting in the back row, he was debating with the devil over his shoes, so that he didn't even hear the sermon and has no idea what the preacher was preaching about. But when the invitation was given, he went forward and apologized to God. He felt a burden lifted off of him and felt cleansed. He began to praise God with everything within him. God immediately delivered him from his drinking.

Then he heard Billy Graham on TV. It seemed that Billy pointed right at him when he said that we might not be allowing the Holy Spirit to speak to us, and as a result he felt let by the Holy Spirit to flush a package of marijuana down the commode. It took the Lord three more weeks to deliver him from cigarettes. But he got a release in his spirit and threw them away. He gave away his pipes and ask trays.

He started teaching Sunday School and began enjoying an active relationship with God and His church.

His dad offered him a job back in Gruver. He wanted to be sure that this was of the Lord and that he was in God's will. He had a nice home in Liberal with three bedrooms. He asked God that if he wanted him to go to Gruver that a three bedroom home in Gruver would come up for sale and it did. He had prayed specifically and God answered specifically.

Steve gives Jesus the glory. He knows that it was the combination of his mother's prayers and the prayers of the people in the neighborhood Apostolic Church that brought him back to God. He knows that it was the getting back into the Word that brought him back into a right relationship with God and His church. Since then God has been opening opportunities for him to share his witness.

Johnny Pate, who works at the High Plains Conoco and is active in the Assembly of God, will be the speaker at the interdenominational men's prayer breakfast on Wednesday, June 4, at 6:30 a.m. in the garden room of the Cattleman's Restaurant.

National Public Works Week To Be Observed Here

The week of May 18 through 24 is National Public Works Week -- and will be observed in Spearman.

"Public works are a part of our every day lives," said City Manager Jim Murray. "Every time we drive on paved streets, draw water, use indoor disposal facilities and bask in our beautiful parks but mostly, we take them for granted."

"So, we are dedicating this week to a special realization of the importance of public works to our day-by-day health, safety and comfort."

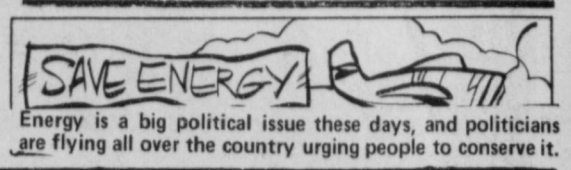

Murray observed that most citizens of Spearman know these public works facilities exist by the payment of their bills if no other way but he hopes that, through a special week set aside for pride and emphasis, all citizens will come to realize paying for these facilities and services would be of no avail without the men and women who, with skill and time, work at making them work.

"The support and understanding of an informed and appreciative citizenry is vital to the efficient operation of these systems which contribute to our health, safety and comfort," the city manager said. "Public works services provided in our community are an integral part of every citizen's daily life. The quality of life in this community and others across American depends on these facilities and services."

Their efficiency is dependent on public investment in timely and effective maintenance. Citizens and civic organizations are encouraged to acquaint themselves with the problems involved in providing our public services and to give special recognition to the systems that support health safety and comfort every day and the constant effort and involvement required to make them work."

Farmers Union Makes Economic Proposals

WACO, TX, April 29, 1980 -- Texas Farmers Union has proposed its plan for immediate action to restore financial stability to America's family farms according to TFU State President Jay Naman of Waco.

At the April 25th Waco meeting of all TFU county presidents, the economy and its impact on Texas agriculture was of primary concern. After agreeing that high interest rates and the so-called embargo on grain sales to Russia have pushed small farmers and ranchers to the brink of financial destruction, the TFU leaders voted unanimously to support the following emergency measures:

1. All Federal lending agencies should declare a six-month moratorium on all loans owed by farmers and ranchers who can demonstrate a need for emergency assistance.

2. The U.S. Department of Agriculture through its Commodity Credit Corporation should provide qualified farmers with advance loans of up to 50% of the value of their 1980 normal crop yields. This should be contingent on the producer signing up for a voluntary acreage diversion program.

3. The President should use his authority under the Emergency Credit Control Act of 1969 to roll back interest rates to not more than 8% on long term loans and 10% on short term loans. First priority for credit resources should be given to agriculture, food, housing, and small businesses.

TFU State President Jay Naman said, "Evidently the Administration is unaware of how seriously small farmers are being impacted by the current tight money situation. Unless the measures which Texas Farmers Union proposes are implemented soon, a record number of farms and ranches will face liquidation or bankruptcy this year."

The group also called on the U.S. Senate and House Agriculture Committees to begin oversight hearings on the effectiveness of the Russian grain embargo. According to Naman, "The Carter Administration has completely failed to meet its commitment to protect U.S. farmers from the adverse effects of the embargo."

"The only farmers helped were the ones in Argentina and other foreign countries that ended up selling their grain to Russia," he concluded.

Texas Farmers Union also adopted a resolution calling for a ten cent per gallon credit on gasoline and diesel fuel used by farmers and ranchers to offset the proposed Crude Oil Import Fee. Unless such a credit or refund is provided, Texas' farmers and ranchers will pay an additional $50 million a year for gasoline and diesel.

In addition, the organization went on record in favor of trucking deregulation (provided that processes foods would not be trucked as "agricultural products"), bargaining rights for farmers in dealing with food processors, and doubling the amount of corn that can be placed in the farmer-held reserve program.

Not too bright but very enthusiastic, Navin Johnson (STEVE MARTIN) is "The Jerk." In Universal's rags to riches to rags story, which opens 5:14 at the AFRIC Theatre.

Rifle, Pistol, Black Powder Shoot Set

At 1 p.m. Sunday the 18th, there will be a variety of shooting matches held at the Willie Seitz caliche pit located on the Gruver Hwy. next door to the electric power station at Old Hansford. This is a family event with matches for the young and old, men and women. Any kind of rifle or pistol is welcome with .22 pistols and rifles being encouraged for the young shooters. Muzzle loaders are encouraged to bring their hardware and try their skill at shooting. There will be three shooting distances of 25, 50 and 100 yards.

There will be tables and sandbags set up to bench rest shoot for those who think they can shoot the wings off a fly at 100 yards or want to try some fancy pistol shooting at any of the other distances.

The events will be flexible with the interested shooters deciding on shooting positions and distances. The minimum range for high power rifles will be 100 yards. 10 shooters will compete for a money prize by scoring the closest to a perfect Bull's eye.

The Gruver fire department will receive a share of the money collected. A portion of the money collected may go toward the beginning of a rifle and pistol club for Hansford County.

Provisions have been made for refreshments and a large area behind the range has been left for cars to park and youngsters to play.

Once again any rifle or pistol is welcome and all weapons will be classed against similar weapons. Scoped rifles against like rifles and open sighted rifles will be pitted only against similar weapons. A group of judges will decide on unusual cases such as scoped pistols and anyone who wins more than two matches with a particular weapon will be classified as a mean hombre and be asked to compete against similar calibered individuals. This is to keep everyone interested in shooting and provide an opportunity for everyone to have a fair chance to win. There will be several good shooters from both Gruver and Spearman as well as other nearby communities and the competition will be good in the varmint rifle class. The pistol shooting tends to be half lady luck and half skill while the black powder matches will be the most fun to watch.

Doris Meyer Exhibits Art

Hobbies develop for many people in different ways. For Doris Meyer of Gruver, Texas, raising a family and helping her husband, Fred, with their farming interests left little time for hobbies. In 1965 they moved from their native Texhoma, Oklahoma, to Gruver, Texas, due to their farming interests. When their three children married (all in the same year), Mrs. Meyer found she had time to develop a hobby. Her first endeavor was to enroll in a tole painting class taught by Ann Thom of Gruver. After tole painting she enrolled in water color then oil classes. Her instructors have included Ruth Hutton, Spearman, Texas and Dr. Emilio Caballero, Ben Konis, and Stefin Kramer, all from Amarillo, Texas.

She has shown her work in art shows in Texhoma, Oklahoma, and Spearman and Gruver, Texas. She states "I love all mediums, but water color is my favorite."

Included in her exhibit in the Art Gallery of the No Man's Land Historical Museum during May are flowers, landscapes, rustic buildings, birds, and still life.

The in 1973, Mrs. Meyer began the craft of decorating egg shells or Eggeury. The art of egg decorating goes back to ancient days but the most fabulously decorated eggs were designed by Karl Faberge, a Russian jeweler during the reign of the last Tsar.

Mrs. Meyer's collection includes hand painted eggs with hinged doors, different linings, some with mini-scenes, music boxes, lighted insides and fancy cuts, and eggs decorated for any occasion. She has learned the craft by trial and error until last February when she attended her first workshop in Phoenix, Arizona, which was sponsored by The Golden Egg Inc., of Millerville, Maryland.

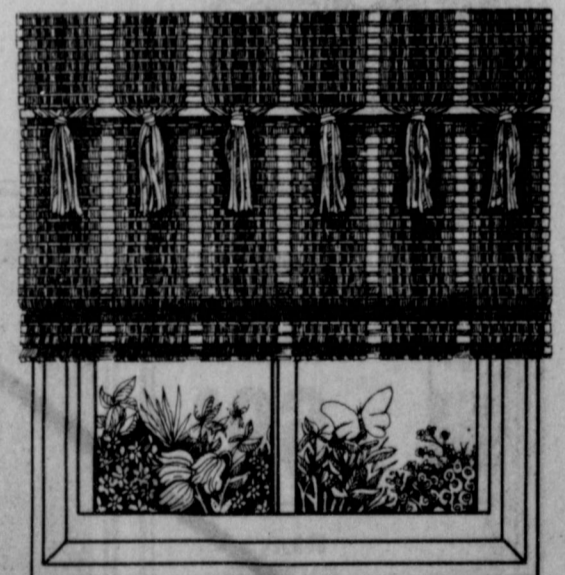

She is in great demand to present lectures and demonstrations on Eggeury throughout the Texas and Oklahoma Panhandles. Exhibits of her eggs include the XIT Museum, Dalhart; Square House Museum, Panhandle; Hansford County Library, Spearman; and Gruver Library, Gruver.

For her exhibit at the Groven Memorial Display in the No Man's Land Historical Museum during May she selected examples using most of her techniques. They range from a large ostrich egg clock to a small quail egg necklace. Mrs. Meyer is deeply grateful to her teachers and helpful friends, but especially to Fred "for having to admire them all."

Importation Routes Presented

LUBBOCK--At a meeting of the Water, Inc., board of directors here Friday, the director of planning and development for the Texas Department of Water Resources will give a detailed briefing on potential water importation routes bringing surplus water to the High Plains.

Dr. Herb Grubb will outline these alternative routes in a report on the work of the High Plains Study Council, which is overseeing a six-state, $6 million study on the economic impact of declining ground-water supplies in portions of Texas, New Mexico, Oklahoma, Colorado, Kansas and Nebraska.

The Water, Inc., board meeting will begin at 1:30 p.m. in the Conference Room of the Lubbock Chamber of Commerce at 14th Street and Avenue K. The session is open to all interested individuals.

Late last month the High Plains Study Council directed the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers to make additional studies on four of six importation routes that have been proposed in recent years as alternatives for supplementing the Ogallala aquifer. All four of those alternative importation routes as envisioned would provide water to the High Plains of Texas and New Mexico with a major storage reservoir near Littlefield.

Although the High Plains Study is primarily an economic study to evaluate what declines in the Ophallala will mean to local and national economies, in setting up the effort. Congress appropriated $750,000 to further evaluate the feasibility of importing water to augment the Ogallala, which has no source of replenishment except for the small amount of rainfall that percolates down to the formation. Since much of the region produces agricultural commodities and relies heavily on irrigation, the decline of the area's water supply has national and global implications.

Water, Inc., is a non-profit organization which has been working nonstop for the last decade to secure a supplemental water supply for the High Plains and to assure the continued agricultural productivity of the region.

New Short Form

For Estate Taxes

AUSTIN--State Comptroller Bob Bullock Wednesday said he plans to change his agency's tax rules to allow beneficiaries to use a simpler shorter return to report inheritance taxes.

The new rule, which is not expected to be formally adopted until mid-summer, will raise the dollar limit for taxpayers using the small estate return from $60,000 to $200,000.

"There will be less paperwork and, therefore, it will be easier and quicker to settle estates," Bullock said.

The two-page short form being suggested can be used instead of a longer and more complicated form that sometimes runs as much as 15 pages, he said.

The rule will have no effect on tax exemptions that beneficiaries are entitled under state law. Bullock said that an additional 8,000 inheritance returns a year would be eligible to file the short form. The Comptroller's office processes about 40,000 inheritance tax returns annually and about half of those are already settled with the filing of a simple declaration that no tax is due.

A surviving spouse, children, grandchildren, great-grandchildren, sons-in-law and daughters-in-law may inherit up to $200,000 before state inheritance tax is due.

Taxes are due and a tax return must be filed on all estates within nine months of the date of death.

Julius ('Dr. J') Erving, Debuts in 'The Fish That Saved Pittsburgh'

Julius Erving has set his sights on more goals than most people would consider accomplishing in the course of a lifetime, but "Dr. J." doesn't believe in setting limits, especially when it comes to himself.

Recently Julius played pro basketball—not as the superstar of the NBA Philadelphia 76ers—but in his film debut starring as Moses Guthrie, the "Million Dollar Bonus Baby" of the hapless Pittsburgh Pythons basketball team, in Lorimar Production's feature film, "The Fish That Saved Pittsburgh." And his fellow actors and the thousands of fans who jammed the Pittsburgh Civic Auditorium to watch Julius shoot were in mutual agreement that he was in peak performance on all courts.

Lorimar Presents "The Fish That Saved Pittsburgh" starring Julius Erving, Jonathan Winters, Meadowlark Lemon, Jack Kehoe, Kareem Abdul-Jabbar, Margaret Avery, James Bond III, Michael V. Gazzo, Peter Isaksen, Nicholas Pryor, M. Emmet Walsh and with special appearances by Stockard Channing as Mona and Flip Wilson as Coach Delaney. It is a Stromberg/Dashev Production released by United Artists, a Transamerica

Still FSP-19
JULIUS ERVING

Company. The film was directed by Gilbert Moses and produced by Gary Stromberg and David Dashev from a screenplay by Jason Starakes and Edmond Stevens from a story by Stromberg and Dashev. Music was produced, arranged and conducted by Thom Bell. It opens at the HOLIDAY DRIVE-IN.

Julius was raised in New York and attended the University of Massachusetts. Later, as a player with the New York Nets, Julius won the ABA scoring title three times. This past season marked "Dr. J's" third NBA and Philadelphia 76ers season and his eighth pro campaign.

In addition to being acclaimed the Most Exciting Player in the NBA, Julius led the Sixers in scoring for the second straight year with a 20.6 average; he had the team-high of 43 points and led the team in free throw percentage (74.5) and was third in blocked shots (97). "Dr. J." shattered the All-Star individual vote record last season.

Julius is famous—or infamous, depending upon whom you hear it from—for his spectacular slam dunks. As of today, no one has stopped his offense. PET FACTS & FIGURES Kittens must be "litter box" trained. In the meantime, they'll probably have "accidents," and any cat lover knows how that can odor-up a house. Luckily, there's Lestoil Deodorizing Rug Shampoo, the clean way to keep odors away. You just spread the shampoo's foam on the rug, let it dry about 15 minutes, then vacuum. Results: a clean, odor-free rug.

In choosing a kitten, look for one with clear, bright, wide-open eyes, a soft and silky coat, a cool, moist nose and pink tongue. These are the signs of health.

Ag Loan Demands Slow

High interest rates and declining farm commodity prices have slowed activity in the Northern Texas High Plains agricultural economy, according to an April survey of area agribankers by the Federal Reserve Bank of Dallas. Many farmers and ranchers have delayed or cancelled plans to purchase land, replacement cattle, and machinery, thus reducing demands for agricultural loans at area banks.

Ranchers were generally reported to be in a poorer financial condition than they were a year ago, and most banks surveyed were not optimistic about the profit picture for their farmer customers. More than half of those surveyed expect agricultural loan volume to continue to be lower than normal in the second quarter of the year, with feeder cattle and machinery loan volume being the most adversely affected. Referrals to non-bank credit agencies such as the Farmers Home Administration remains high.

Among the survey results reported by Don A. Riffe, agricultural economist for the Dallas Bank, were these:

The percent of respondents reporting less than usual demand for farm loans increased from 0 to 56 percent since April 1979.

This year's survey indicates a decrease in bankers reporting less than usual availability of funds from 50 to 22 percent since 1979.

The percent of responding bankers reporting that ranchers were in worse financial conditions since the January 1980 survey has increased from 24 to 72 percent.

Bankers estimated that the value of "good" dryland farmland has risen 23 percent, irrigated land 5 percent, and ranchland 23 percent since April 1979. Dryland values in some areas have been boosted by a gradual shift away from irrigated farming. Rising fuel prices have made relative returns from dryland farming more attractive during the past year. However, future gains may be somewhat slower in coming. Forty-four percent of those surveyed expect land values to decline in the next few months.

Reported interest rates averaged 17.1 percent for feeder cattle and farm operating loans, and 16.9 percent for intermediate-term loans (1 to 7 years).

Carter Increases Gasoline Prices 10¢

Texas consumers will be faced with the largest single gasoline price increase in history on May 15, when President Carter implements his 10 cents per gallon conservation fee.

"The public is going to be outraged over this ill-advised and unnecessary fee and they have every right to be," says John Calhoun, president of the Texas Oil Marketers Association.

TOMA is a trade association composed of more than 800 small independent businessmen which own petroleum marketing companies. The firms supply chains of branded and unbranded service stations in Texas, as well as the vast majority of petroleum products for agriculture and commercial use.

Calhoun points out that there is a massive movement in Washington to try to "kill" the conservation fee, but that the legislative process to prevent the President from taking this action will take until mid-June, at the earliest.

"One of the unfortunate problems is that the public will not realize the impact of this program until they see the signs at the service stations go up by 10 cents per gallon," Calhoun noted. "Many will automatically blame gasoline distributors or oil companies for this, when they should be pointing their finger at President Carter and demanding that he end this unfair measure."

In announcing the plan to assess a conservation fee on gasoline, President Carter stated that the level of our nation's consumption of gasoline is the single most important cause of the nation's dependence on foreign oil. Therefore, the President has determined to shift the entire cost of the fee to gasoline.

"It is difficult for us to accept the statement that President Carter is initiating this fee in order to reduce consumption, that will in turn reduce imports," Calhoun says. "The public has already reduced their use of gasoline by over 10% during the first few months of 1980 and an additional dime is not going to do anything but increase inflation."

The TOMA president also explained that only 45% of a barrel of crude is used to refine gasoline. He noted that 21% of a barrel is used for making distillates and 11% residual fuel.

"If the President was strictly trying to reduce crude oil imports, he should have distributed the fee equally over all petroleum products. This will mean that consumers would only pay a 4.5 cents fee on gasoline, and the remainder on other refined products," he said.

Calhoun pointed out that by shifting the entire fee onto gasoline, Texas and the Southwest is paying a disproportionate share. He feels that the President has implemented the program in this manner because he does not want the Eastern states to have to pay higher bills for heating oil.

Texas is the second largest gasoline consuming state in the nation. Because of the vast distances that consumers must travel and the lack of subways and mass transit systems, the 10 cents per gallon fee is expected to impact this area heavier than other parts of the country.

According to some groups and business publications, the President's import fee could result in spot gasoline shortages. Gasoline inventories are at near record levels which could mean that refiners may not be able to fully recoup the 10 cents for each gallon of gasoline that goes to the government. According to a recent article in BUSINESS WEEK, instead of swallowing some of the costs, "refiners will probably try to adjust by cutting back refinery runs until gasoline supplies are back in line with demand." Many believe this cutback could result in shortages in certain areas.

The National Oil Jobbers Council, the national affiliate of TOMA, maintains that the 10 cents per gallon charge by President Carter will also bring about a cash flow problem for the small business petroleum marketers who are responsible for getting product from refiners to service stations and consumers.

"The imposition of this fee will bring a mass slaughter to the independent small business magnet of the petroleum marketing industry which could result in serious gasoline supply shortages in rural and farming communities across the nation since independent jobbers provide 90% of the country's agriculture gasoline supply," a NOJC spokesman said.

The average marketer—a jobber, consignee or chain retailer—will have to pay as much as $35,000 per month more for the same amount of product. This will stretch already tight marketer credit limitations beyond the breaking point, which will in turn effect these firms' abilities to grant credit to farm and rural accounts, many of whom are already experiencing serious cash flow problems.

"Almost 80% of the petroleum products distributed in Texas is sold through small business petroleum marketers," TOMA President Calhoun noted. "These firms may buy product from a major oil company or refiner, but they are on their own after they receive the product. They are independent businessmen who have been confronted with burdensome controls which tell them how much product they can sell and for what price...I'm afraid that the President's gasoline fee could be the final blow for many of them."

The Texas Oil Marketers Association and other groups around the nation have been urging Congress to rescind the President's authority to impose this fee. The U.S. House of Representatives Ways and Means Committee is currently considering a resolution which would prohibit President Carter from assessing the 10 cents, but final action is not expected until sometime in June.

Thus, consumers will see the largest single price increase they have ever known on May 15.

Donations Needed For Fireworks

This year, the Chamber of Commerce has NOT budgeted monies to finance the fireworks for the 4th of July. If we, the community, do desire fireworks, the money must come from private contributions.

However, the Chamber of Commerce is thinking of having a watermelon feed free to the public before the start of the fireworks display.

In conjunction with this, on the 4th, the YMCA is planning an afternoon of fun and games.

We feel that altogether, a full afternoon and evening would keep our local people at home and even draw in people from the surrounding areas.

We will need approximately $2,500.00 for the Chamber of Commerce to accomplish the watermelon and fireworks festival.

If you would be interested in having the Chamber of Commerce sponsor a July 4th festival, please call the Chamber Office and state your position and your contribution.

Affidavits Needed For

Hearing On Nursing Home

The Hansford Hospital District and the Spearman Ministerial Alliance are asking for affidavits to support their documentation of need for the 54 bed convalescent center for the hospital district at a hearing June 3, 1980 in Austin before the Texas Health Facilities Commission.

Persons wishing to use such a facility or persons who have any members of their family who will be needing this facility are asked to call Hansford Hospital, 659-2535 or 733-2954 for an affidavit to be filled out. The deadline for receiving these affidavits is May 19.

It is very important for all persons who may be using this facility in the future to fill out an affidavit so that the Hansford Hospital District will have proper documentation for a certificate of need for the convalescent center.

Let's Clean Up

As your representatives on the Chamber of Commerce Civic Improvement Committee, we are writing to ask each of you to help us make Spearman the prettiest and cleanest town in the Panhandle.

During this month let's all pitch in together to:

1. Clean up trash in the yards, sidewalks, vacant lots, alleys and street of our homes and businesses.
2. Chop, pull, mow and spray weeds.
3. Fix and paint up broken down fences and buildings.
4. Mow and edge lawns.
5. Haul away junk vehicles, junk machinery and appliances, dead tree limbs and branches.
6. Plant grass, shrubs and flowers in bare soil.
7. Help a neighbor who is handicapped, elderly, or otherwise unable to participate in our cleanup campaign.

After the initial "Spring Cleaning," let's keep the areas where we live and work maintained in a clean, attractive condition.

Let us hear your suggestions for how we can work together to make Spearman the most beautiful town it can be.
