Total Lunar Eclipse Visible Sept. 6

The first total lunar eclipse visible from this hemisphere since May 24, 1975, will occur Thursday morning, September 6th, according to Arthur Schneider, Director of the Don Harrington Discovery Center, in Amarillo, Texas. The next scheduled total lunar eclipse will take place July 6, 1982.

The celestial show begins at 4:18 a.m., when the moon passes into the darkest portion of the earth's shadow, called the umbra. At this time the moon is still dimly visible. Depending on how much sunlight is refracted into the earth's shadow by its atmosphere the moon will appear dark grey or brown, deep red or rust colored, brick red, and possibly a bright coppery or orange color. Forest fires and volcanic eruptions can intensify the reddish hue, Schneider said.

Area viewers will have the added attraction of seeing the breathtaking sight of a totally eclipsed moon low in the west during morning twilight, climaxing this celestial display for Panhandle viewers.

Camera enthusiasts are reminded to capture the event on film. Photography is easily done by mounting a camera on a tripod, table, or other stable platform and focused at infinity.

A wide range of exposures should be taken, Schneider said, ranging from 1/4 second to several minutes, to insure a good picture. The use of a cable release to eliminate vibration of the camera is recommended.

SPECIAL TREATMENT -- When Camille Kay Williamson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Max Baggerly of 704 Gibner Drive in Spearman, walked up to receive her diploma from Southwest Texas State University Saturday (Aug. 18), she got a little special treatment. Mrs. Williamson's father-in-law -- Dr. Bobby L. Williamson, an education professor at SWT -- was a graduation marshal. Mrs. Williamson, who maintained a 4.0 grade point average during graduate school at SWT, received a master's of education degree with a major in elementary education.

Light colors generally make an area look larger, while darker ones look smaller. One way to look slender starts with choosing traditional navy-blue denim. However, watch out for the now-fashionable bright, eye-catching colors, unless you want added emphasis. Think texture next. Medium weights are the most flattering. On the other hand, today's shiny looks "adds" pounds. Consider line and shape, too. They're created by seaming. Generally, the slimmer the leg cut, the wider the hips look. For added height, look for lengthwise topstitching, piping and slanted pockets. For more width, choose jeans with crosswise patch pockets, especially those that are brightly decorated. You'll also look shorter in jeans with this feature. Finally, don't overlook the back view -- it's just as important as all other considerations in choosing jeans.

BABY BED SELECTING
Check safety standards before selecting a baby bed. Recent federal standards require beds manufactured since February 1, 1974 to meet certain safety standards. For example, crib slats can be no more than two and three-eighths inches apart so that babies are not able to slip through the slats. Also, no rough edges are permitted on metal hardware. In addition, the locks and latches on the dropside of the crib must be safe and secure accidental release. Strict warnings accompany new beds advising the owner to use only a mattress that fits snugly. When buying or borrowing an older crib, consider the following features: Select a crib with as narrow a space as possible between the slats. Take a tape measure along when shopping. Look for rounded slats rather than squared ones. There are fewer sharp edges to bruise a baby. Be sure that the mattress fits the crib snugly. If more than two fingers fit between the mattress and crib, the mattress is too small. The raised top rail of the crib should be at least 26 inches from the top of the mattress. Look for a foot release that is hard to operate. Avoid on that could be operated by a sibling or the baby himself by reaching from within the crib. Beds without teething rails or any sort of toy plastic balls attached to the headboard are best. Select a sturdy crib with everything firmly attached.

Lone Star Ballet "Stars" Scheduled

From August 30th through the 16th of September, dancers from many parts of the world will be appearing in the Palo Duro Canyon near Canyon and Amarillo, Texas.

They will be gracing the evening of "STARS" produced by the Lone Star Ballet based in Amarillo, Texas and will be appearing against the mammoth cliff and splendid contours of the stage of the Pioneer Amphitheatre in Palo Duro

Canyon which backs up to the towering cliff. This theater is the home of the musical drama "TEXAS" by Paul Green where more than a million, five hundred thousand people have come to watch the moving story of the Texas Panhandle which plays during the summer months. Jillana Hess returns to the Panhandle after a winter in Utah which included several appearances with the Ballet West. A graduate of the School of American Ballet, she was a member of the Chicago Opera Ballet and of the Fedicheva Ballet. She was featured in a story on weddings with Ballerinas as models in MODERN BRIDE magazine. She will dance the lead in ARABIAN NIGHTS and DISCOMANIA.

Mark Lanham and Stacey Swanner of Ballet West are returning to "STARS" for the second season. Since their appearance here last fall, they have been featured in a several page illustrated article in DANCE MAGAZINE. They have appeared with Ballet West as soloists on August 24 which Sakowitz is presenting as a benefit for the Lone Star Ballet.

Numbers which the whole company will present are ARABIAN NIGHTS, ON THE OLD CARS, THE SILVER DOLLAR SALOON, and HANSEL AND GRETEL, and some surprises. Performances at 8:00 PM, CDST.

The season will open August 30 and run through September 16, nightly except Wednesdays. Seats are $3.50 and are not reserved.

For tickets and information write "STARS," P. O. Box 268, Canyon, Texas 79015 or call 806-655-2182. Artistic Director for the Lone Star Ballet Company is Neil Hess, long recognized for his choreography in the musical drama, "TEXAS" which has drawn more than a million people to this theatre in the past fourteen years. His dancers have also produced the NUTCRACKER for eight seasons in Amarillo.

Three have leading parts in the Los Angeles and New York companies of "Chorus Line."

"Palo Duro" Story Relived

Canyon--Now the Palo Duro Canyon has a voice. Through the science of Sound and Light the canyon tells its story, revealing the millions of years of its carving out by wind and water from the days when the plains were a pounding sea; the great reptiles which roamed and flew within its walls until they disappeared - victims of climate which could no longer sustain them.

The sounds are there too: Prehistoric Indians chipping at the flint from nearby deposits which was traded from the Panhandle to tribes thousands of miles away 12,000 years ago; the buffalo stampede to the edge of the cliff and the crash over the rim; the drums and flutes of the Plains Indians, and the footsteps of the men and horses of the Spanish march along the floor of the canyon, claiming the land for Spain. The sawing and hammering of the first building by the settlers and cattlemen follows. Finally, the story of the Canyon ends in the present day.

Paul Green wrote the script. Known throughout the world as the author of great musical dramas revealing stories of various parts of the nation, Mr. Green pioneer in the use of Sound and Light technics in connection with his historical shows. In "Palo Duro," he has pioneered, telling a whole story without people so vividly that listeners can see the whole in their imaginations. Improving on the technics of the Sound and Light shows he studied in Europe and Africa, he has made the experience in the canyon an unforgettable one.

To see and hear the story relived against the canyon walls, come to Palo Duro Canyon between August 30 and September 16 - except for Wednesdays.

Plans Underway For MDA Telethon

The 14th Annual Jerry Lewis Labor Day Telethon begins Sunday, Sept. 2 and 6 p.m. and continues until 6:30 p.m. Monday, Sept. 3 and can be viewed on Cable Channel 6 and heard over KRDF radio.

The Old Beedy Furniture Building, donated by Robert Skinner, located in the Plains Shopping Center will serve as the base for all the excitement that will be taking place during the breakaways this Labor Day Weekend.

The original crew of Cable Channel 6, Ron & Bev Antalek and Ronnie & Vicky Bullard, along with many of their friends are working to bring you the best and most exciting telethon yet.

Among the plans this year is a dance-a-thon, which is open to all ages. To participate in the telethon, contact any member of the Spearman High School Cheerleaders and get a special events card from them so that you can get as many sponsors as you can to pledge a certain amount for each hour that you dance. The music for the dance-a-thon will be donated by Rick Kirk and his Music Machine.

Another special event for the 24 hour weekend will be a carnival of booths, which will be set up by different clubs in the Spearman area and will be located in the old Beedy Building. Peggy Carroll is in charge of the carnival and she will be getting in touch with the different clubs. If your club is interested in setting up a booth contact Peggy Carroll at 2185 or Vicky Bullard at 3319.

All proceeds from the special events will go to the Muscular Dystrophy Association.

Betty Bridgman and Carla Kizzar will be going to the different businesses for donations of food and drink for the workers for the 24 hour period. Last year many individuals donated pop, coffee and food and we're hoping for a good response this year due to the many events that we'll be having which will mean a lot more workers.

The Telethon raises funds to support MDA's fight against 38 neuromuscular diseases that kill and cripple thousands of children and adults. The National

1979 Prevent Blindness Child Selected

Bryan Mauk, a five year old soccer enthusiast from Fort Worth, has been selected as the 1979 Prevent Blindness Child. He is one of the more than 36,000 Texas youngsters who were given vision tests last year by volunteers trained by the Texas Society to Prevent Blindness. When Bryan failed his screening, he was referred for a professional eye examination where it was discovered he suffered from amblyopia or "lazy eye".

"In amblyopia one eye functions better than the other so that sight is gradually taken over by the strong eye while the weaker one becomes virtually useless," explained John V. Mumma, M.D., San Antonio ophthalmologist who is chairman of TSPB's Preschool Vision Screening Program.

"At the time Bryan was examined, the vision in his left eye tested 20/400. But three months later with glasses plus the patching of his good eye to force the "lazy" one to work, his vision improved to 20/30."

"This enormous improvement can only be attributed to early detection," he went on. "In that, Bryan is lucky. Too often amblyopia isn't caught in children until too late to be corrected because parents don't realize -- as the Mauk's didn't -- that children do not know whether or not they are seeing as well as they should and so don't complain."

"An estimated one in every 20 children has an eye problem that can be best corrected in the preschool years," he said, "For this reason we encourage parents whose children have never had a vision test to send for the society's free Home Eye Test for preschoolers. The test can alert parents if their child needs the professional eye examination that the society recommends all children have before entering school. For the free test, write Prevent Blindness, P.O. Box 2020, Austin, Texas, 78768.

Bryan is the son of Dr. and Mrs. Richard Mauk of Fort Worth. He loves to play soccer and is proud of his glasses because they help see things that "I never saw before," he says. He's also become a booster of vision testing. When friends comment on his new glasses, his ready reply is "I wear them so I won't be blind. How do you know if you don't need them? Have you ever been tested?"

The Texas Society is an affiliate of the National Society to Prevent Blindness, established in 1908 to prevent blindness through service programs, educational and research.

Know Your Hay's Feeding Value

Stockmen planning to feed their herds only hay this winter should be aware of differences in feeding value.

As long as hay is green and weed-free, many people think it's good. However, these are not the main factors influencing feeding value, points out Layton Barton, County Agent with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System.

Protein contents digestibility and acceptability by the animal determine a hay's feeding value, explains Barton. Feeding value varies considerably from cutting to cutting and due to hay types.

Examination of hay for leafiness, plant maturity, texture and color give an educated guess, but only laboratory analysis or animal performance provide accurate estimates.

A producer must estimate a hay's feeding value to adequately feed his livestock instead of furnishing one bale for every three or four cows, stresses Barton. Furthermore, underfeeding often results because producers over-estimate the feeding value of their hay.

As hay protein and total digestible nutrients decrease, the need for supplemental protein and energy for livestock increase. However, the need for salt and steamed bone meal (phosphorus) remain relatively constant.

Minerals are the only supplement needed with excellent quality hay.

Because of slower digestion, livestock can't physically eat enough poor quality hay to meet their requirements. Therefore, a forage analysis is a good investment for a producer who is planning on feeding only hay through the winter, advises Barton.

Producers may obtain information and forms for a forage analysis at the County Extension office.

Farmers Union Seeks Raise In Grain Supports

Washington, D.C., August 13, 1979—The Farmers Union charged today that the federal government has "suspended" sales of grain to the Soviet Union and demanded that the price support loan rate for wheat and corn be raised immediately to 90 percent of parity in accordance with Section 1002 of the Food and Agriculture Act of 1977.

In a statement issued simultaneously in Denver, Colorado, and Washington, D.C., Tony Dechant, National President of the Farmer's Union, declared that the Farmers Union is contemplating legal action to compel the government to raise the price support loans under terms of the law, or to cease its restriction against additional sales of corn and wheat to the USSR.

Ninety percent of parity would be $5.38 a bushel for wheat and $3.75 a bushel for corn. Average prices received by Farmers in the U.S. in July were $3.95 for wheat and $2.73 for corn.

Dechant noted that Section 1002 of the 1977 Act provided that "Whenever the president or any other member of the executive branch of the federal government causes to be suspended, based upon a determination of short supply, the commercial export sales of any commodity (wheat, corn, grain sorghum, soybeans, oats, rye, barley, rice, flaxseed and cotton) to any country or area with which the United States otherwise continues commercial trade, the Secretary of Agriculture shall, on the day the suspension is initiated, set the loan level for such commodity...

at 90 per centum of the parity price for the commodity." "This isn't a question of whether the president has authority under the Export Administration Act or the Five-Year Russian Grain Agreement to limit shipments when supplies are deemed to be short," he explained. "But the law is clear that when there is such interference on the grounds that supplies are short, the support rate must at once be lifted to 90 percent of parity."

Dechant said that it is obvious from the legislative history of Section 1002 that it was not the intent that this should be applicable only when there is a total embargo on shipments of a commodity.

He noted that the House Agriculture Committee Report on the Farm Bill, said in its reference to the language of Section 1002 that the provision is intended to apply whenever the suspension is made "directly or indirectly."

The committee report also explains that "this provision is intended to discourage embargoes or the suspension of export sales by the executive branch of government. It does not, of course, prevent such action where an overriding national interest exists. However, the committee feels that if the public interest is served by such drastic and disruptive action, then the public, not just grain producers, should pay for that public policy."

Section 1002 was proposed originally in the House Agriculture Committee by Rep. Glenn English (Ola.) who termed it necessary "to protect producers from government interference with the export of American wheat."

Originally, the English amendment was to require a raise in supports to 100% of parity and this was the provision when the bill went to the House floor. And manager of the bill, said in presenting the bill to the House that the price support adjustment would be required "if the executive branch or the federal government should suspend or cause suspension of exports."

The House approved the English provision and it was later scaled down in conference committee to 90% of parity. The conference committee report declares that "the provision is to be operative whenever any member of the executive branch causes to be suspended—based on a determination of short supply—the commercial export sales of any of the above named commodities."

"There is no question that the executive branch has suspended grain sales to the Soviet Union because of concern about supply conditions," Dechant explained. "In making his announcement on August 1 (one), following the consultations, Secretary Bergland explicitly

Field Water Conservation Report

Techniques and management practices for water conservation in the Texas High Plains area are included in a report just completed as a joint project of the High Plains Underground Water Conservation District No. 1 and the Texas Department of Water Resources.

Titled "Summary of Techniques and Management Practices for Profitable Water Conservation on the Texas High Plains," the report provides combinations of physical and managerial practices for High Plains farmers designed to increase water use efficiency in the area, and to protect the productive life of the Ogallala aquifer, as well as offering a possibility for increased farm income.

The report examines three major areas of field water conservation. The first, rainfall and moisture utilization, discusses limited and basin tillage practices, terracing and leveling measures, and playa lake water storage. A number of types of irrigation equipment systems and efficiency guidelines are offered, and the report also suggests a variety of management practices to be used by High Plains farmers for improved water use efficiency.

Intended to serve, in part, as a "how to" guide, the report includes information about estimating and comparing energy sources, costs and consumptions of four different systems, and examines efficiency capabilities of side roll, center pivot, and hand moved sprinkler systems, as well as furrow irrigation.

Supporting graphs are included to document and illustrate the results of application and conservation techniques for a variety of High Plains crops.

Copies of the report may be obtained free of charge from the High Plains Underground reported that quantity limits imposed by the U.S. on grain sales and further stated that any consideration of increasing those limits would be delayed to October. In Bergland's own words, "by that time, we will have more precise information on the size of this year's corn and other feed grain crops."

Dechant added that it is common knowledge from trade sources that the Soviet Union wants to buy more grain in the fourth year of the Grain Agreement, which begins October 1, than it has so far been given permission to purchase.

Brown also visited with officials of the Department of Interior to discuss methods of predator control in sheep and goat ranching areas of Texas.

"We hope to develop means of protecting our livestock herds that will be acceptable to both environmental groups and ranchers," Brown said.

Report Reveals Foreigners Own Only Small Part of Texas Land

AUSTIN—Foreigners own a total of 53,002.09 acres of Texas land with an estimated value of $27,291,493.

Estimates of non-citizen ownership of Texas land, included in the first official reports of foreign investment, show that only .044 per cent of the arable land in the state has been purchased by out-of-country buyers.

The largest single tract of land purchased is in Pecos County, 14,030 acres used as pasture by a citizen of Mexico.

Under the Agricultural Foreign Investment Disclosure Act of 1978, the U. S. Department of Agriculture is responsible for gathering reports which must be completed by foreign owners on the acreage, estimated value, the use of the land, and

Brown To D.C. To Discuss National Issues

AUSTIN — Agriculture Commissioner Reagan V. Brown made a dual purpose visit to Washington D. C. August 14-15, meeting with various officials on economic and environmental problems.

Brown was among 100 to 150 Texas business and government leaders invited by President Carter to a White House meeting. Topics on the agenda were those concerned with energy, employment, and other foreign and domestic issues.

Brown also visited with officials of the Department of Interior to discuss methods of predator control in sheep and goat ranching areas of Texas.

"We hope to develop means of protecting our livestock herds that will be acceptable to both environmental groups and ranchers," Brown said.

Gasohol Producers Gearing Up To Utilize Texas Farm Products

AUSTIN—Some 70 applications by Texans for alcohol distilling plants or installations for the production of gasohol fuel have been approved in the state by the Alcoholic Beverage Commission.

Agriculture Commissioner Reagan V. Brown recently chaired a meeting of the Texas Energy Advisory Council (TEAC) Subcommittee on Agriculturally-Derived Fuels where members studied various biomass energy resources available, including gasohol.

At the meeting, leading gasohol authority Holly Hodge contended that liquid fuel produced from farm products could supply at least five per cent of this country's gasoline needs by 1985.

"But we've got to get in high gear," Hodge cautioned members of the TEAC Subcommittee.

"The goal of producing 5 billion gallons of alcohol a year from farm products by 1985 is not unrealistic," said Hodge, president of the National Gasohol Council of Lincoln, Nebraska.

"Renewable agricultural resources are the only short-term solution to our energy problem. We have the raw materials and the technology, but we must implement them in an effective manner. The benefits of developing a gasohol industry in Texas and other states could be tremendous," Hodge stated.

One area often overlooked is the wide range of useful by-products which result from the distillation of alcohol from organic substances, commented W. W. "Bill" Walton, president of W. W. Oil Company of Breckenridge.

Walton stated that one very valuable by-product of the distillation process at the present time is carbon dioxide. One bushel of grain will produce, in addition to 18 pounds of ethyl alcohol, 18 pounds of high-protein livestock feed and 18 pounds of carbon dioxide.

Walton stressed that carbon dioxide is in great demand for injection into old oil wells and those with high viscosity oil to help recover hard-to-get petroleum. At an estimated net value of $7 per ton, this by-product could bring in an additional $550,000 per year to a distilling plant with 75,000-gallons-per-day capacity.

Share Recipes In TDA Quarterly

AUSTIN—The Texas Department of Agriculture is looking for Texas cooks willing to share some of their favorite recipes with the readers of the TDA Quarterly.

Recipes from the readers is a regular feature in the general-interest magazine, which includes articles about Texas food and fiber. The upcoming October issue will feature sweet potatoes, citrus juice, peanuts, pecans, and chilies.

"With the great variety of foods to choose from in our state, there's nothing to beat Texas cooking," Agriculture Commissioner Reagan V. Brown said, "and we'd like to help pass along some of those recipes which help our state maintain its culinary reputation."

TDA Quarterly magazine is available for $3.00 a year. To subscribe to the magazine and submit recipes for inclusion in the October issue, write TDA Quarterly, Texas Department of Agriculture, P. O. Box 12847, Austin, Texas 78711.

Feasibility Study Launched For Texas Gasohol Plant

A group of Central Texas farmers have worked out an agreement to enter into a feasibility study for the design, construction and operation of a plant to produce alcohol from milo for use in gasohol, it was announced this week.

Kenneth Johnson, a farmer near Hutto and chairman of the Board for Central Texas GPI Cooperative, Inc., made the announcement following signing of a contract with GPI, Inc., a marketing and management consulting firm.

The plant would process 4,200 carloads of grain sorghum into 20 million gallons of alcohol and sizeable amounts of high quality food protein. The cost of the plant will be approximately $30 million and would take 18 months to construct, following groundbreaking. The feasibility study will take approximately three months, and if favorable, an additional two or three months would be needed for site selection and engineering. Officials are hopeful the plant can be in the Hutto area.

The Central Texas plant is one of 25 plants all farmer-owned cooperatives--to be built in the grain producing states of the nation. Discussions are already proceeding in other areas of Texas and the upper midwest. The Central Texas agreement was the first signed to proceed with the feasibility study.

"If everything goes according to our plan," Johnson said, "we would be producing alcohol for gasohol fuel within two years."

Other members of the executive board of the Central Texas GPI Cooperative are Roland Wieland, Vice President, of Pflugerville, and Wayne Decker, Secretary, of Hutto.

"When the 25 plants are completed, farmer owned cooperatives would be producing 500 million gallons of alcohol annually and would materially reduce our dependence on Arab oil imports and improve our balance of trade deficits," Ron Wood, Texas Coordinator for GPI, Inc., said.

The gasohol concept is not a new one, but has become more economically feasible with recent increases in the cost of oil imports and resulting increases in cost of gasoline. In the past two years, refining systems for this alternative source of fuel have been developed, processing the grain into alcohol with a yield of fuel far in excess of the fuel consumed in the process.

The mixture of 10% alcohol and 90% gasoline will fuel any car which normally operates on regular gasoline, leaded or unleaded. It does not require any modification of the automobile and therefore can be readily marketed as soon as production can be attained.

GPI, Inc., is an organization of Midwestern grain farmers headquartered in Foreman, N. D. who have conducted extensive research into the economics and marketing of alcohol fuels and related food products. The purpose of the organization is to assist farmers in developing production and marketing of alcohol to be used as a fuel in a mixture with gasoline.

"This is a real opportunity for farmers, through their cooperatives, to produce fuel, as well as food, with all the resulting benefits," Wood said. "If the farmers do not do it, some of the corporate giants will."

SEVERAL KINDS OF ICY ENTERTAINMENT ARE SEEN IN "ICE CASTLES"

Virtually every kind of ice skating — from the graceful beauty of competitive figure skating to the brawling action of ice hockey — is featured in "Ice Castles." Columbia Pictures' sensitive romantic drama which opens 8-22 at the Lyric Theatre.

The film's young co-stars typify two different forms of icy entertainment. Beautiful 19-year-old Lynn-Holly Johnson makes her motion picture bow as "Lexie," a gifted small town figure skater whose dreams of Olympic stardom are darkened in a bizarre accident. A novice champion who went on to headline the "Ice Capades," the flaxen-haired actress naturally does her own spectacular skating routines throughout "Ice Castles."

Robby Benson, star of "Ode to Billy Joe" and "One on One," plays her home-town boy-friend, a high school hockey star, trying for a career in the pros. When Lexie is virtually blinded, their love makes the difference between tragedy and triumph.

Unlike Lynn-Holly Johnson, Benson had never skated before "Ice Castles." But by the time he finished a month's training with the New York Islanders and the Minneapolis North Stars, under the watchful eye of three-time Gold Medalist Richard Vraa and the National Hockey League's Barbara Williams, he was skating and cross-checking like a seasoned player.

"Originally, they were going to use a stunt double," says Benson. "But after the cuts and contusions I took, preparing for the role, I wasn't about to let that happen."

In filming "Ice Castles" on location in Minnesota and Colorado, producer John Keel and director Donald Wrye received vital assistance from the United States Figure Skating Association and the Ice Skating Institute of America. The U.S.F.S.A. had a representative on hand during all skating sequences to assure their authenticity. Equally crucial, the Association issued a waiver which allowed some of the nation's foremost skaters to appear in the movie without risking their amateur standing.

Among them was Staci Loop — that's her real name — one of only five skaters in the world who can perform the Triple Loop, a difficult, dangerous acrobatic leap. The 17-year-old high school student from Colorado Springs not only performed it flawlessly, but did it several times over as cameras were re-set and new angles called for.

Chuck DeMore, president of the U.S.F.S.A., voiced the organization's enthusiasm. "There hasn't been a movie like this, which focused on the beauty and exhilaration of competitive ice skating, in a long time. We believe that it will make the sport more popular than ever."

Oddly enough, one of the foremost contributions to "Ice Castles" came from a man who has never been on skates. Choreographer Brian Foley, who designed Lynn-Holly Johnson's dazzling routines, is the Canadian who created Dorothy Hamill's gold-winning Olympic program and choreographed such frosty hits as Broadway's "Ice Show" and Las Vegas' "Ice Fantasy."

"It's true," he admits, "I don't skate and never intend to. But it's not a handicap. The 'ice dancing' you enjoy when you watch the Olympics is an extension of classical ballet and modern dance. There's nothing you can do on a dance floor that you can't do on the ice."

There was only one person whose assistance was needed for "Ice Castles" who failed to respond, recalls Kemenu.

"The weatherman was our nemesis," he now smiles. "We chose Minnesota, as a site because it's famous for cold, snowy weather into the early spring. But while the East was enduring blizzards, Minneapolis was basking in a mild, sunny winter. At one point, after a brief snowstorm, the sun came out. We hated to lose all that marvelous snow, so we took thirty truckloads from nearby fields, mixed it with chemicals and brought it with us to the next several locations."

"Ice Castles" also stars Colleen Dewhurst, Tom Skerritt, Jennifer Warren and David Huffman. Donald Wrye directed the movie from a screenplay he wrote with Gary Baim and a story by Baim.

C-37 Robby Benson never skated before he began training for his role in "Ice Castles." But he shows an aggressive style, as a small-town hockey star who gets a try-out in the pros, in the Columbia Pictures release which opens 8-22 at the Lyric Theatre.

Two Spearman Boys On PSU Aggie Team

The 1979 Edition of the Panhandle State Aggies opened fall drills on Tuesday, August 14, with 69 freshmen hopefuls. Among the new collegians were participants in 4 different bowl games, 9 in all who played in some type of all star game.

The rookies were joined on Friday by 30 returning veterans, with hopes of improving on last year's 2-7 record. Among the top returnees were: All American candidate, David Flowers; All District IX candidates Gary Gibson, Michael Johnson and George Molinar.

Making a good impression on the coaches through early drills, were freshmen tailbacks: Autrey Polley, Amarillo Palo Duro ace; and Oil Bowlers, Donnie King of Burkburnett. Also impressive during early going were quarterbacks: Kenny Hughes, a freshman from Lewisville; and Tim Barker, the returning starter from Laverne, Oklahoma.

Two a day drills will continue for the Aggies through this week with a scrimmage set for 8 p.m., August 25, at Garden City Community College.

Jim Kenney, 6'11", 220 lbs, Spearman, served in a back-up capacity last season for the Aggies. With continued hard work and dedication, Jim could make improvements necessary in becoming a good offensive lineman. Jim will be a junior. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J.M. Kenney of Spearman.

David Steele, 6'2", 185 lb., Spearman, shared duties at quarterback last season but could possibly find a home in the secondary this season. David is a fine leader and a good athlete and will see plenty of action this season. David is also a junior. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Chuck Steele, of Boys Ranch, formerly of Spearman. Both of these young men are former Spearman Lynx.

Welcome Tea Planned

The Servitors Club is sponsoring a welcome tea for all teachers and administrative personnel of Spearman schools and their spouses. The tea will be Friday, August 24, at B&B Farm Industries from 7 to 8:30 p.m.

Boys Ranch Rodeo to spark Labor Day

At Cal Farley's Boys Ranch, nearly 300 pint-sized cowboys are getting ready for their thirty-fifth annual Boys Ranch Rodeo, a traditional Labor Day weekend event.

In anticipation of record-setting crowds for the two performances on September 2 and 3, the Ranch rodeo arena has enlarged general admission sections that will accommodate an extra 1,500 people. Most sections of the arena have been covered to provide for the comfort of the rodeo guests. Another added attraction will be Texas-sized barbecue beef plates that will be prepared and sold by the boys for only $2.00.

About 150 boys will be contestants in the rodeo. They will compete in bareback bronc riding, and also be trying for the best time on Brahma bulls, steers, calves and stick horses.

It is the only rodeo of its kind in the nation, as the only contestants are boys riding professional rodeo stock under R. C. A. rules. The rodeo is also a reunion for the approximately 1,000 boys who have lived at the Ranch since 1898.

Reserve box seat tickets for $3.50 are on sale at the Boys Ranch office at 909 West 11th Street in Amarillo. The tickets can also be ordered by calling 806-373-2341. General admission tickets are $2.50 for adults and $1.00 for children under twelve. Performances are scheduled for 2:30 each afternoon.

Five Men Seek Positions On TGSPB

Four directors will be elected to the Texas Grain Sorghum Producers Board in an election which is currently under way. Ballots are being mailed to grain sorghum producers throughout the 29-county TGSPB area of the Texas High Plains.

Every two years, the terms of four members of the Board expire. Current members of the Board who have chosen not to seek re-election are: A. W. "Dub" Anthony, Jr. of Friona; E. C. Witten, Edmonson; and Don Nelson of Tulia.

The producers whose names have been placed in nomination are: Dennis Anthony, Friona, Texas; Olan "Jack" Crowl, Morse, Texas; John Gilbreath, Hart, Texas; Steve Lee, Hale Center, Texas; and Albert Scheele, Lockney, Texas. John Gilbreath is the only incumbent candidate.

All grain sorghum producers within the 29-county area of the Texas High Plains (served by the Texas Grain Sorghum Producers Board) are eligible to vote. Any producer who does not receive a ballot through the mail may obtain one at his county agent's office.

The biennial election deadline is September 15, 1979. Any ballot that is postmarked after that date will not be valid. In addition to the five candidates listed on the ballot, a producer may also vote for any grain sorghum producer who has agreed to serve on the Texas Grain Sorghum Producers Board, provided he write in the preferred name in the space provided for write-in candidates.

TGSPB chairman, Larry Witten of Olton, Texas encourages all grain sorghum farmers to exercise their right in this election by marking their ballots and returning them to the TGSPB office as quickly as possible.

It's the kids that count

THINGS YOU SHOULD KNOW TO HELP YOUR CHILD

For parents of 2 to 5 year olds
When parents read to pre-schoolers, it makes it easier for the youngsters to read later. Obtain books and read to your child often. Introduce your child to the library early.

For parents of 6 to 10 year olds
You can enhance your child's interest during early school years. Include your child in activities, such as museums, trips, plays, the zoo.

For parents of 11 to 14 year olds
Junior High School students want to know the "why" of what they're learning. Encourage family discussions and explore the facts.

For parents of 15 to 17 year olds
Teenagers often worry about their life plans and occupations. Discuss decisions openly with your teenager. Talk to teachers and counselors to find out how you can help your child make important choices.

Teachers care about kids. Help them. Get involved in your school.

Wheat and Feedgrain outlook improves

FOOD AND FIBER

Wheat and feedgrain prices have moved to higher levels in the last several weeks. "Is this market for real?" The answer appears to be--yes, it is--primarily because world demand for grain continues to increase.

No doubt, the prospects of a world grain crop below last year's amount was the spark that sent prices upward from May levels. However, the 1979 crop still may be the third largest on record.

World consumption of grain from the 1978 crops jumped dramatically. According to preliminary figures, the world used 65 million metric tons more grain than the previous year. That is more than the total U.S. projected wheat crop for 1979! We cannot expect this increase again in 1979-80, but it does reflect a growing world population and the need for more food.

Russia Needs Grain

The Russian crop situation continues at the forefront in the assessment of worldwide grain production. A hard winter, late spring, and early summer drought have sharply lowered potential grain production in the Soviet Union. The second USDA estimate of the Russian crop released July 11 was 185 million tons. This is down 5 million tons from the June estimate and more than 500 million tons below their 1978 record harvest.

The U.S. Department of Agriculture indicated this shortfall could result in Russia's importing 30 million tons of grain in 1979-80. Since only about 10 million tons are available from other countries, the implication is that Russia will need to import a minimum of 20 million tons from the U.S. Ocean freight bookings and recent large sales to "unknown" destinations for 1979-80 point to Russia's intention to import large quantities of grain next year. This potential has added fuel to the market. Although, our grain prices have increased, the purchasing power of the Soviet's gold has more than kept pace. For example, in early July gold prices were up 52 percent from a year ago, whereas corn prices were up just 29 percent.

However, a problem exists on export projections to Russia--the five-year grain agreement. The real question is how much we will allow Russia to purchase from the 1979 crops. Agreement states that Russia must have approval to buy above 8 million tons. So far, that approval has not been given, and the decision is not scheduled until October. Precedent has been set for at least 15 million tons (the permissive level of the last two years), but the U.S. inflation problem might prevent a higher limit for 1979-80.

Prices Sensitive
Bullish markets are particularly sensitive to changes in market news and production prospects. Therefore, although general outlook is for strong prices, short-term price declines could easily occur. Markets will be quite volatile. Care should be taken in marketing commodities near important report dates. Close attention to price outlook will be needed. Other factors to watch include price levels relative to reserve call prices, announcements on farm programs, and U.S. and world production prospects.

WHEAT

The Texas wheat harvest is now complete. Although the harvest was delayed by wet weather, the market price often moved up during the delays. Therefore, producers gained some higher prices on the average. The outlook also was good. If the July estimate holds, 1979 will be a year of record wheat production for Texas. Yield for the state will be the record also, at 30 bushels per acre. This is up 10 bushels an acre from last year's drought reduced crop.

Texas contributed substantially to the sharp increase in winter wheat expected. Thanks to a larger harvested acreage and better yields, it now appears that we will produce 2.1 billion bushels nationally--up 16 percent from 1978. However, increased world demand for wheat likely will more than offset the larger U.S. crop.

World Conditions

World wheat production is forecast to decline considerably from last year's record level of 438 million tons to about 406 million tons this year. This level of production would reduce global wheat stocks. Problems continue with crop developments in Russia and Europe, and Australia's harvest probably will not match last year's level. Lower quality of Russian wheat also could enhance our position.

The U.S. will be the main wheat supplier the next few months because of transportation and labor problems in Canada and Australia, and Argentina has sold out of wheat until the next harvest. The largest export sales in several years in the week that ended July 1 were evidence of the strong U.S. role in world trade. As a result, USDA has projected wheat exports to increase to 1.3 billion bushels from the 1.2 billion in the year just ended.

Carryover Reduced

With the larger exports and domestic use about equal to last year, total use would exceed production again. Carryover may fall to 860 million bushels. Although not exceptionally low, the smaller stocks imply stronger prices over last year through the rest of 1979.

Producers have redeemed about one-fourth of the reserve wheat at this time. The reserve remains in release status and storage payments have stopped. Orderly marketing of grain from the reserve has supported the market.

The 1980 wheat program will be announced by the USDA in August. It appears that they are leaning toward no set-aside for the 1980 crop. If so, the target price for wheat will revert back to the cost-of-production adjustment which is about $3.11 per bushel. Producers are encouraged to carefully analyze program provisions before making their 1980 planting decisions.

SORGHUM/CORN

The vulnerability of the late-planted U.S. feedgrain crop and the deteriorating world crop situation caused sharp price increases of sorghum and corn in June and early July. Corn was released from the reserve on June 19, and sorghum was released on June 22. However, the market impact of the release was about nil as prices surged through those levels. Prices approached the call level from the reserve ($2.80 per bushel for corn at farm, U.S. average) in late June. A change in the formula for assessing the farm price has made higher terminal market prices necessary before the call price is touched.

Crop prospects still hold a key to prices in July-August. Markets will be especially supply sensitive to U.S. and world prospects because of high level of current use. This volatility was evidenced by market fluctuations following the July crop report.

The June acreage report showed a one percent increase of corn from the April intentions report. Sorghum acreage dropped again to 6 percent below 1978. However, the drop in harvested acreage is much less. In fact, even though Texas sorghum planted acreage is down one-half million acres, harvested acreage is expected to increase 50 thousand above 1978.

Domestic Demand Strong

The recent grain stocks report showed continued large feed usage of sorghum and corn. USDA raised the feed use estimates as a result, further lowering anticipated carryover this October. The Hog Report indicated large farrowings in the previous quarter and strong intentions for the rest of 1979. Thus, the large demand base for feedgrain is just not going to disappear. However, livestock-feed price ratios are not nearly as profitable as they were, which could slow down domestic use going into 1980.

Export Demand Brisk

It is anticipated that exports of both corn and sorghum will increase substantially in 1979-80 primarily due to reduced crops in major countries. If Russia decides to supplement most of its production short-fall with grain, corn exports could easily exceed this year's exports of 19 million tons. Since sorghum is not included in the 5-year agreement, the USSR could purchase sorghum without affecting their grain limit. Although Russia has not bought much sorghum to date, this may be an opportunity for U.S. sorghum producers.

In order to reach export projections, grain must flow in large, consistent quantities to port locations. Any disruptions could affect prices this summer and fall.

Carryover Lower

If domestic and export use estimates are correct, feedgrain supplies could be quite tight at the end of the 1979-80 marketing year. Prices would have to remain high enough to pull substantial quantities from the reserves for use. Therefore, downside price risk does not appear substantial, although short term declines could occur. Producers should watch August 10 crop report and other news which could change the feed-grain situation.

The most critical decisions to be made by Secretary Bergland in the next few months relate to set-aside provisions for the 1980 crop year. The wheat decision to be announced in mid-August will likely set the tone for the subsequent feed grain and cotton set-aside decisions. With increasing concerns about inflation and food prices, pressures within the Administration to return to a full production posture as a means of rebuilding stocks will likely intensify.

The issue of family farm survival is receiving increasing attention in Washington as preparation for the 1981 farm bill begins. Work is proceeding both within USDA and on Capitol Hill to begin a national dialogue on issue of the changing structure of the farm economy. The center of the controversy relates to increasing concentration of production on large farms. Two percent of the farms having over $200,000 in sales per year now sell over 35 percent of the production.

Family farms are perceived to be producing a lower proportion of total farm output as industrial and large scale farms, depending mostly on hired labor, expand output. Secretary Bergland views these changes with alarm. He suggests that our agricultural policies allocating farm program benefits on the basis of volume of production and providing government services on a first come, first serve basis may be important contributing factors to this structural change. Farmers and their organizations should begin preparation for a series of open meetings as Bergland plans to take the discussion of these issues to the people.

State Employees Candidates For Food Stamps

AUSTIN, Tex.--State Comptroller Bob Bullock Wednesday said that more than 100,000 state employees live on the fringe of qualifying for food stamps.

"Payroll records show that nearly 60 percent of all state employees may be candidates for food stamps," Bullock said.

He said that "these folks who are just a foot away from food stamps represent every kind of state job from carrying bedpans for our relatives in state hospitals to cooking for our kids in college cafeterias to guarding our criminals in prison."

Bullock said his figures came from the actual May payroll when the average gross monthly salary was $963 for 81,000 classified employees, $882 for 8,500 hourly employees and $769 for 30,000 non-academic college employees.

Or looking at it from another angle, Bullock said, 109,000 of the state's 170,000 employees had an average gross pay in May of $963--meaning that if the employee was the breadwinner in a "typical" family of five they would qualify for a handout.

Of those, 58,000 employees had an average monthly pay of $642 and would qualify for food stamps without question, he said.

"The hungry reality of these folks' paychecks is a far cry from the fatcat bureaucratic image that some people try to pin on state workers," Bullock said.

White Deer Homemaker Named "Woman Of The Year"

Mrs. Charles (Proxie) Warminski of White Deer, Texas, was named "Woman of the Year" by the Texas Association of Extension Home Economists (TAEHE) at their 36th annual conference in Temple last week.

Mrs. Warminski, currently president of the Texas Extension Homemakers Association, was named to the honor for almost 40 years of "outstanding contributions toward educational programs of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service--on the local, county, district and state levels, as well as toward Extension education on the international level," according to a TAEHE spokesman.

She began her work in Extension educational programs when she joined a home demonstration club in Gray County just after her marriage in 1940.

After that, she joined the home demonstration club in Carson County, where the Warminskis still reside.

In addition to home demonstration club work, Mrs. Warminski served as an active 4-H leader for 27 years, as the Warminski children participated in 4-H and youth programs sponsored by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

In 4-H, Mrs. Warminski taught projects in foods and nutrition, food preservation, electricity, horticulture and gardening.

She also taught projects in soil and water conservation, bedroom improvement, clothing, poultry marketing and products, safety and others.

As a Carson County Home Demonstration Club member, she taught these same subjects to homemakers groups, senior citizen groups and groups from neighboring counties.

Homemakers Clubs, she has held every office in her club and in the county council, and she served as district director.

On the state level, in addition to her current term as president, she has served as 4-H Committee chairman and vice chairman of the statewide Texas Extension Homemakers Association.

As vice chairman, she organized a special training program for district chairmen, strengthening the overall structure of the state organization and adding strong support to educational programs statewide.

Mrs. Warminski also served six years as a member of the Panhandle Economic Program Family Living and Youth Task Force--and chairman of it three of those years.

During her years as chairman, the task force conducted the following programs: "Healthy Minds, Healthy Bodies," "Communication--Life Line of Family Life," and "Living in an Energy-Conscious World."

She also played an important role in area-wide programs on arthritis, cancer and healthy hearts.

"She is a worker, leader, and organizer--and a beautiful lady in general," says Donna Brauchi of Canadian, Texas, Hemphill County Extension agent and District I chairman, TAEHE.

"She has taken her dream of betterment for her fellow man--through Extension educational programs--across the state, urging Extension Homemakers clubs all over Texas to expand their membership and get involved in this rewarding goal by making it their personal goal," Mrs. Brauchi added.

The Warminskis have five children, Norman, Vivian, Steve, Randy and Joanna.

Our Back-To-School News ... NOW THERE ARE FOUR "Rs" IN SCHOOL GIRL FIGURES.

We all know about READING, RITING and RITHMETIC. Now, Pat Walker's added a fourth "R", REDUCING.

First, we want you to READ what Ms. Barnhart has RITTEN, then we want you to do your RITHMETIC by adding up the facts: namely that Pat Walker's method works, giving you positive results without strenuous exercise, pills, shots or starvation diets. No HICKORY STICKS either, just sensible eating habits, following the guidance of your Pat Walker counselors and enjoying the passive exercise provided by our unit, which relaxes and reduces fatty tissue in all the right places.

Frances Barnhart envied girls who could wear fitted clothes--especially bikinis.

Thanks to Pat Walker's, she now has a 24" waistline

And that, she says, is something she never dreamed was possible.

But then, lots of dreams come true at Pat Walker's Figure Perfection Salons, International--and yours could be among them. Here's Ms. Barnhart's story:

Having been a housewife and mother for 10 years, I decided it was time for a change... to get out of the house and get a job. Hearing that a Pat Walker's Figure Salon was coming to [my] area, I got very excited and knew that I would enjoy that type of work.

I never liked to admit I had a weight problem, so I attributed my 33" waist to a large bone structure.

I envied all the girls who could wear fitted clothes and especially bikinis. I had always worn long blouses and covers to hide my large abdomen. When I did diet, I always lost weight in all the wrong places--my arms, legs and bust--but never where I needed it--my waist and tummy.

[At] Pat Walker's I learned I could still eat all the foods I enjoyed without giving up anything except the 27" I've lost... The beautiful part of it is that I did it with help from my co-workers and most enjoyably with my patrons. It's nice to know there is a place you can go when you need help with a figure problem and where people understand...

Now that I'm manager of our salon I would like to say, "Thank you, Pat Walker's, for giving me satisfaction in my figure, my career and especially myself."
