The Spearman Reporter

VOL. 71, NO. 44

(THE SPEARMAN REPORTER, SPEARMAN, TEXAS 79081)

THURSDAY, SEPTEMBER 11, 1980

Roy Bulls, Vice President of Baker-Taylor today praised the Lions Club for its efforts to help the blind citizens of Texas to help themselves and at the same time to raise funds for Spearman through a community-wide sale of blind-made-products.

"There is a definite need for funds to further this very worthwhile project", he stated "and it is most heartening to see the Lions devote so much time and effort to raise these funds". "We are cooperating to the fullest to help the Lions make this year's Broom Sale their biggest and best yet".

Lon Ray Robertson, Chairman of the drive, announced that plans have been made and the Broom Sale will be held on Thursday, October 2, 1980, at the Post office.

The Spearman Lions Club will conduct an all out drive on October 2, 1980, to see quality blind-made products to residents and local businesses, according to an announcement made today by Lon Robertson. The articles are all manufactured by blind workers in the Lighthouses for the Blind which are located throughout the state of Texas. The Lion Club's earnings from this sale will be used for local projects.

The entire membership of the Lions Club has been organized to supply friends and neighbors with this quality merchandise delivered right to their homes. Every household can use some type of household cleaning aid and every item sold helps some blind person to help himself.

Sales of blind-made products held by the Spearman Lions Club in previous years have been most successful and Lon Robertson expressed his confidence in another successful sale this year.

Commissioners Eye Economy Pickup

At the first September meeting of the Hansford County commissioners court, Monday, the panel took a look at some bids on a new pickup truck, increased some insurance coverage, gave the historical commission a "lift" and discussed the courthouse "facelift."

The insurance coverage concerned the county barn coming up on the end of a coverage period with a premium -- and a decision--due. Use conditions at the barn were discussed and it was determined there was no undue hazard in such usage. It was noted that 90 percent of the time, the barn was empty. It is used for some machinery clean-up and repairs and adjustments plus a storage place for units in coldest weather.

The coverage is for $12,000 and the premium is approximately $140. This item was approved.

The commissioners court received three bids for a new pickup truck. In addition to its regular use, the vehicle purchased will become a test machine for commissioners seeking economy. Prices on a six cylinder unit were solicited but there was discussion whether such a unit (six cylinders) would take the hauling precinct chores subject to it.

For this reason, the panel decided to study the bids and the vehicle descriptions before acting on them.

Bids submitted were for Ford, Chevrolet and GMC.

Commissioners took under consideration the request of the Historical Commission a request for additional funds. County Judge R. L. McLellan noted that at county budget time the commission had requested $3,300 but this item was cut to $2,500 when the budget was finalized. Chief outlay by the commission is operation of the museum. Commissioners approved an additional $800 to bring support of the Historical Commission by the county to the level of the original request.

Commissioners entered into a discussion of the "facelift" to the courthouse structure. As Judge McLellan reviewed a tentative summary of work to be done, it became readily apparent there is more to the job contemplated than sandblasting the patina of the years from the face of the stone.

There are expansion joints to be serviced, mortar problems and other technicalities overshadowed by the necessity to protect at every vulnerable point from the serious damage water can do to all facets of the structure exterior.

As discussed, the work contemplated would cost a total of $8,940 with the contracting company supplying all the materials.

The next meeting of the panel will be at 10 a.m., Sept. 22 in the commissioners court room at the courthouse.

The Spearman Lynx are primed to clip the Eagles wings, Friday night, when they host Sanford-Fritch for the first home game of the grid season.

It will be the second tilt of the season for both when Coach Mike Benway brings his birds to town. Both teams will be smarting from -- or learning from opening game defeats. The Eagles bowed to Clarendon and the Spearman Cats lost a squeaker to the Sanford Elks.

The coaches say fans can expect to see pretty much the same lineup used last week with the past week spent in ironing out whatever kinks caused the losses. Defeat is not always traced to errors. Often it is a matter of "thick and thin" when there sure have been power to meet power -- but then, second - guessing is that but, for one team or the other, it has to pay off Friday night.

We have no "stats" on the Eagles-Bronco clash but the Lynx-Elks tussle was a rowser!

The final score of the Lynx-Elks game, Friday night -- 26-14-- says the Elks won. Quality of play as both teams handled the ball says the Lynx out-gunned the Elks.

Turnovers made the difference despite the fact both teams had 'em.

The ball just came into Elks' possession on these fumbles and interceptions at a better field position than for the Lynx. This is not "sour grapes." After all, Coach Jimmy Duncan and his staff are out to eliminate turnovers if possible -- not improve the position at which they come!

It looked like the Elks were "offand running" in the opening minutes of play, scoring twice before the Lynx scratched -- and yet those Spearman Cats were on the board when the half ended.

Big Tommy Guthrie, the Elks' "Toe," got off a good kick as soon as the Lynx had won the ball and the Elks had the wind for openers. The kick went deep but that was where Jamie Bulls and Cary Collinsworth were. Bulls gathered it in for a very respectable run-back try. Back Phil Paul could only pick up two yards on the next play and Randall did only a few inches better bringing the Lynx' first possession to an end with a healthy boot by Collinsworth.

Buddy Schertler, 142-pound back for the Elks, picked up some yardage as did a couple of hand-offs from Elks QB Lee Riffe to Back Jim Everson.

Then a sequence of events gave the Lynx team and fans real optimism. Riffe took a "sight-seeing" trip that cost him five yards for delay of the game making it second and nine and when the play finally went, a mob of Cats led by Rocky Randall hit the ball carrier and held the Elks to a one and one-half yard gain and holding Riffe to one yard on the next play.

Then Riffe rifled one of the few passes he used during the game to connect with Everson for the first touchdown of the tilt.

There was still 6:40 to go in the first quarter.

Then on the conversion try, Jimmy Ladd, 210-pound end for the Lynx, got a hand in front of the ball deflecting it.

Once again, Bulls got the kick-off back into good position and the Lynx drew a five-yard fine on the next move for illegal procedure.

From that point, it looked like officials had their own game of "drop-the-handkerchief" going but the set-backs were, for the most part, due to the eagerness of first-of-season play. If our "stat board" is correct, there was one penalty against the Lynx for personal foul and one against the Elks for clipping and the rest were illegal procedures or off-sides charged to first-game tension.

Be that as it may, Lynx Quarterback Steve Tindell connected with Monte George for 15 yards to put the pill over into Elks' territory.

On the Elks' next possession, a march from almost goal line back up field got stuck in the starch the Lynx were pouring into their line and punt-time found Jamie Bulls gathering it in on his knees at the 24 to hold an advanced position.

That 39-yard punt taken by Bulls marked the start of the second period. It was a see-saw action for a time then Everson broke away and looked headed for dirt but Bulls caught up and dropped him holding the gain to 18 yards.

Riffe picked up two on a keeper, Everson made a first down then could go only two yards further on a hand-off. Only Riffe knows what the next might have been because Lynx Center, Jimmy Haden, led a blitz that dumped the Elks' signalman for a loss.

Riffe ran the ball to the seven when all receivers were covered by Cats and a Lynx penalty moved it to the two. A quick hand-off to Everson gave the Elks the second TD. The Elks elected to pass for two after the TD but Lynx Guard Ed Whitefield knocked it down.

So, with less than six minutes left to play in the half, the Cats were being "skunked."

When Tindell aimed a pass at Wayne Meek, Schertler of the Elks and Meek collided sidelining Schertler for a time.

Then Karey Bodey got into the act gathering in two passes in a row from Tindell -- one of them a real juggling act -- but good for gain. This was followed by a play to Jim Ladd for short gain, then....

The Cats started throwing "rocks" at the Elks! Rocky Randall, the 195-pound Lynx fullback got the ball on the next play and steamrolled his way 27 yards for the Lynx' first TD.

Monte George made the point-after and there were less than three minutes left in the half.

Seconds later, Whitefield hit Riffe and Jimmy Haden came up with a loose ball for the Lynx. The two-minute mark found Karey Bodey down to the 14 on a pass play.

Shortly after the third period began, Tindell broke away for a run down to the Elks' 30 to have it called back to the 42. The Lynx put on a real "Cat-fight" and Rocky Randall went over for the second Spearman TD and Monte George made it 14 - 12 and the Lynx were in business for sure!

But, "antler-power" would not be denied. Lee Riffe ran another Elks' TD across and Everson followed a bit later on a hand-off from Riffe. --And finally, the Elks made a conversion, a two-point pass and that was the way the game ended: Elks, 26 - Lynx, 14.

One thing was definitely evident: The Lynx team was not a one or two-man star affair. Performances by Tindell, Randall, Ladd, Haden, Whitefield, Bodey and the others couldn't be missed but their work was the result of team play all the way. They did what they did because they were in their team-play position when the action got there and they did what they were supposed to do.

The new wishbone formation took some getting used to but when it caught on with the Cats, about all the Elks could do, playing their three-man team of Riffe, Everson and Schertler, was use the other fellows to stack a line six seven, eight deep.

The two quarter backs were entirely different generals. Riffe used a subtle roll about that fooled the Lynx defense on a few plays. He also had big wool-gathering moments when he drew those penalties for delay of the game. Even so, he did get the Elks into the end zone.

Tindell was decisive and effective--especially in the air. He developed no specialists but used his troops as they were needed according to position or developments.

All in all, the Lynx squad is a team to watch. Hear that, Sanford-Fritch? --Remember that, Lynx fans who missed the first game.

Anne Riley Foster
... banking career

Spearman Native Joins Bank Staff

"Local girl (or boy) makes good!" is a well-worn expression but it is about the only one that is appropriate to open the story of the former Anne Riley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Riley, Spearman.

Anne Riley Foster has joined the trust division of First National Bank, Amarillo, according to a recent announcement by Kenneth Sloan, executive vice president and trust officer of the bank.

"Mrs. Foster will provide personal service to both established and potential customers of our trust department," Sloan explained. "Our trust department has a number of services—revocable trust, estate planning, investment management, property supervision, administration of trusts and estates and others—but these cannot be displayed as a merchant displays clothing or shoes.

"So, Mrs. Foster will have the task of marketing these services for us.

"Our trust department has always placed a strong emphasis on personal service," explained Sloan. "Trust is just what it implies and we feel that, in Mrs. Foster, we have a person to inspire that trust."

But this is not the story of the bank. It is the story of Anne Riley Foster.

Attending North Texas State University, Denton; Trinity University, San Antonio and West Texas State, Canyon, she earned a Bachelor and a Masters degree in Education and Counseling. She had an enviable career as a teacher with the Amarillo Independent School District five years before she went into the field of residential real estate sales.

Now, she has embarked on a third career in banking, one in which her early beginnings at Spearman contribute a knowledge of farming and ranching that will stand her in good stead in her current field of endeavor.

She has still found time for civic activities in the 24 years she has made her home at Amarillo, working with St. Andrew's Day School, a vestry member of St. Andrew's Episcopal Church, the Amarillo Art Alliance, Amarillo Symphony Guild, Junior League Garden Club, Chi Omega Alumni Association, Amarillo Cancer Society, Amarillo Speech and Hearing Center, Junior League of Amarillo, Panhandle Fine Arts Council, Texas Fine Arts Council and the Texas Heritage Foundation.

She and daughter, Jamie Anne, make their home together in Amarillo.

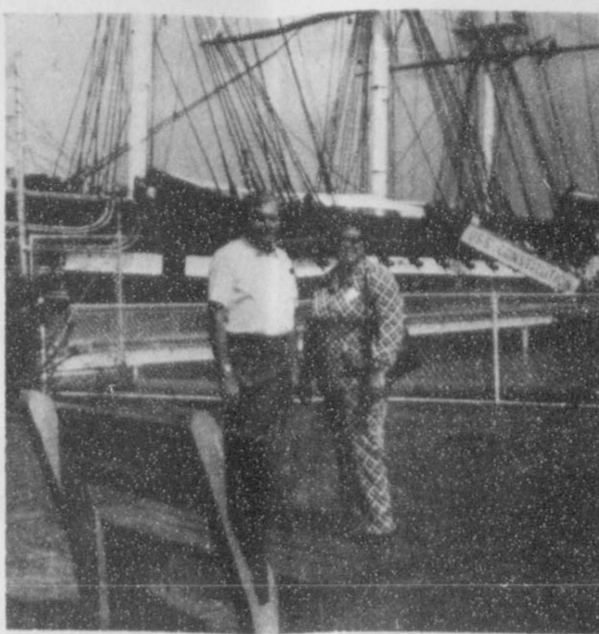

A son, Tab, is a student at the University of Texas, Austin and son, Tim, is a student at West Texas State University.

More September Days

The 15th is the birth anniversary of William Howard Taft, born in Cincinnati, in 1857—elected President in 1908.

Baron Friedrich Wilhelm Rudolph Gerhand Augustin von Steuben was born in Prussia on the 17th in 1730, years later came to America and trained George Washington's army and helped the Colonies win their independence. On the 18th in 1793 the cornerstone of the capitol was laid by George Washington with Masonic ceremonies. Fall arrives on September 22, at 4:09 p.m., EST. And the 23rd is the birthday anniversary of William McGuffey (Claysville, Pennsylvania) in 1800, whose school readers were to be read by millions of American youngsters.

SPEARMAN COUPLE TOUR AMERICANA—Mr. and Mrs. Elroy Wisian stand before a landmark of liberty, the USS Constitution, the nation's first commissioned fighting vessel. The picture was made on a recent Boston trip.

Wisians Visit Freedom Sites On Boston Trip

A Spearman couple, Elroy Wisian, National Farmers Union representative and his wife, Mable, recently returned from a trip to Boston where they visited many of the shrines of American Democracy in this cradle of Liberty.

Basic purpose of the trip was to attend a conclave of NFU insurance people who had earned the trip by becoming "Mile-High" representatives.

"It is a strange feeling of being heir to the most important legacy in the world when you view Old North Church, the "Boston Tea Party" ship and the U.S.S. Constitution, the oldest battleship still in commission in the world," Wisian observed.

Old North Church still raises the steeple or "tower" where Paul Revere waited beside his horse watching for "one if by sea and two if by land."

"It might have been the other way around," Wisian said. "Imagination drowns out the memory of history lessons as you stand there and think you hear the hoofbeats of destiny's great ride vanishing in the distance."

More than 200 years old, the Constitution is still considered seaworthy though she has remained at anchor for some years now. At certain periods, she is a training unit for Navy "pleges" and Coastguard "frosh" but mostly serves as a shrine visited daily by sightseers in groups of 20 taking the guided tour.

The complex which houses the Sheraton-Boston Hotel where the Wisians stayed and where the AFU meeting convened, is an impressive example of the growth of America. One of the first of Boston's urban renewal projects, it is now the Prudential Center.

For all the hospitality features it provides the most talked-about is the joggers' course around the complex. First conceived for those guests of the various hotels, it has also become the last stage of the famed Boston Marathon.

"We are High Plains folks," Wisian said. "But it is impressive to see where some of the men sat and dreamed of the progress that pushed the United States out here where we live."

STATE CAPITAL HIGHLIGHTS

By Lyndell Williams

TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

AUSTIN—A new tax revolt may be brewing in Texas.

At the grassroots level, taxpayers are upset with local tax increases—and their complaints are communicated to the State Capitol along with the question: what happened to the promised tax relief?

In 1978 voters approved the Tax Relief Amendment which authorized the Legislature to follow up in 1979 with tax relief legislation. Taxpayers were expecting to benefit from new tax breaks this year, but they are enraged to find their property valuations are going up, in most places.

Find the Scapegoat

For the average taxpayer, no explanation is readily available, which adds to the frustration.

As a general rule, when the taxpayer inquires at the local tax office, he is told the blame lies with the Texas Legislature, a charge which many legislators are quietly preparing to throw back into the faces of local officials.

Another scapegoat is the newly-enacted property tax reform law, also known as the Peveto Bill, after its author, Rep. Wayne Peveto of Orange.

The Peveto Bill was already somewhat of a legend on the day of its passage last season. Peveto had worked on the property tax code reform for six years, researching and polishing after each defeat until it was finally approved by two House votes and one Senate vote last year.

Clements Endorsement

The bill was hailed as both a blessing and a curse at the same time. Governor Clements listed it as his foremost legislative achievement of the session, and it had the backing of several labor groups as well. Other legislators felt the reform might cause confusion which would inevitably lead to higher taxes, not lower taxes.

The Peveto Bill definitely contains some advantages for taxpayers, notably a provision for a local referendum to roll-back taxes and provisions for truth-in-taxation.

The controversial part is the creation of a central property appraisal district for each county. Each county is required to create one by 1982, and many counties are already setting up such offices.

The central appraisal board will value local property for all local taxing entities, such as school boards, city councils, county commissioners' courts, etc.

These central appraisal boards must also evaluate all property at 100 percent by 1982, but may choose the option of valuing at 100 percent this year.

Evaluations Up

Many new boards opted to go to 100 percent evaluation this year, and the results are startling. When taxpayers open their notices, they are shocked, in many cases, to find the value of their property has been driven up considerably. Their first reaction is to wonder how much higher their property taxes will be this year . . . and they begin to seek the answer.

The answer is this: the amount of tax will depend on the tax rate set by local officials. Although the property valuation is hiked, actual taxes can be kept at last year's dollar figure if local officials opt to drop the tax rate low enough.

Here's the rub: in this period of inflation, local governments are as hard-pressed to meet rising costs as local homeowners. To acquire extra revenue, local governments cannot go out and moonlight . . . they must raise taxes, and that is not a popular action these days.

Blame Anyone Else

Hence, the tendency by some local officials, not all, to place the blame on the Legislature.

Unfortunately, legislators are up for re-election in two months, and they do not like being saddled with what they feel is an undeserved stigma.

They have, up to now, avoided throwing the charge back on local officials, much out of sympathy for fellow elected officeholders. However, activity in Capitol offices indicates several legislators are preparing to fight back.

As one solon put it, the legislature did its best to cut taxes in 1979. Now it's the time for local officials to tighten the belt and hold down spending.

And it may happen that spending will be held down.

It's easier for a taxpayer to attend a city council or school trustee meeting than to wait four months and travel to Austin to argue with the Texas Legislature.

Prairie View plans dairy goat program

PRAIRIE VIEW — A program designed to make Prairie View A&M University the national leader in dairy goat research will receive a substantial boost this fall when contractors bid on an 11-acre facility.

Officials say the program could start as early as mid-1982 with up to 400 head of goats and six professional researchers.

Texas is the leading state and a world center for the raising of Angora goats for mohair, an industry that brought in over $37 million to Texans in 1979.

However, the state ranks behind California in dairy goats, a gap the program is designed to close, say Prairie View A&M officials.

The research program will work in four main areas: nutrition, reproduction, veterinary health care and commercial habits, while devoting time to market and product development.

Bicycles have a place in our society, but as more Texans bicycle for exercise and to get to work and school, accidents are keeping pace with this increase. Many people are injured because the bicycles they ride don't fit them properly. They don't know how to bicycle properly, or they are careless, according to the Texas Department of Health.

"More than 460,000 people in the country are seriously injured each year in bicycle-related accidents," said Harold R. Ray, director of the Department's Product Safety Division. "In addition, more than a thousand die yearly in bicycle-related accidents," said Ray.

In Texas last year, 69 persons were killed and another 2,603 were reported hurt in bicycle accidents, according to the Department of Public Safety. In addition, 350 motorcyclists were killed and 9,432 injured, many for the same reasons involving bicycle accidents. Of the motorcyclists killed, only 100 were wearing safety helmets and 250 weren't.

Ray said there are five major accident patterns associated with bicycles. These are loss of control, mechanical and structural problems, entanglement, foot slippage from the pedal, and collision with a car or another bicycle.

Ray offers several safety tips. "If your bike has sharp edges, file these down and then cover them with a heavy, protective tape. Since even a hairline crack can cause metal to break under a sudden jolt, look for improperly welded joints or fractures that can weaken a frame."

Chain guards are so important that there are federal regulations requiring them on bicycles having single front and rear sprockets. "Shoe laces and loose clothing can catch between the chain and sprocket and cause a serious accident," Ray warned.

The bicycle should be visible from every angle at night. It should have a front reflector, rear reflector, and pedal and spoke reflectors. Other good ideas include using a headlight and taillight, and sewing reflectorized tape on your clothes.

When buying a bicycle, check for two types of clearances. There should be at least three and a half inches of clearance between the pedal and front fender or tire. This is important to prevent a toe from getting caught between the frame and the front wheel or impeding turning. In addition, pedals should not touch the ground when the bike is tilted at least 25 degrees on a turn. This is to prevent the pedal from striking the ground and causing a spill.

"You should always road test a bike before buying it," Ray warned. "Be sure the brakes give you quick, smooth, easy stops. If the bike has handbrakes, be sure the levers move easily. If the handbrakes have extensions, be sure they brake the bike before the levers touch the handlebars."

Ray cautions against buying a bicycle that cannot be adjusted to fit or one that the

On Nutrition

How much do you know about the foods you eat, which foods give you which vitamins and minerals for proper nutrition? The following test questions might provide the answer.

What vitamin is graciously abundant in citrus fruit? What vitamin does one seek in greens and carrots? What primary vitamin is contained in breads and cereals? What is the sunshine vitamin?

The answers to those four questions are vitamins C, A, B and D. If you missed any of these questions, you'd do well to study foods and nutrition.

Golden Spread Center is open Monday through Friday from 9:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m. for all people who are fifty-five years of age or older without discrimination as to sex, color, race, ethnic background, national origin, religion, denominational preference, church membership, political party, or handicap.

News Conference

AUSTIN--At a State Capitol news conference Tuesday, the executive director of the State Property Tax Board (SPTB) released preliminary findings of the agency's just-completed study of 1979 market and index values of school districts.

Kenneth E. Graeber, head of the state's property tax administration agency, said the study provides the basis on which state funding will be allocated to public schools throughout Texas in the 1982-83 biennium.

MX Missile In Texas Panhandle Questions

PRPC -- If the U.S. Air Force decides to put its controversial MX missile in the Texas Panhandle-Eastern New Mexico border area, it will have the most dramatic impact of any government project in the area or the nation's history.

During construction, over 16,000 workers will be involved. Their paychecks, which comprise a large share of the total project expenditure, will turn over three times before leaving the area.

When roads and private property are concerned, the Air Force says access to the roads that missile shuttle carriers will use will be practically unlimited. Only the administrative areas and missile storage sites will be off limits.

viewpoint of directors, there are more pressing problems than providing new facilities in older portions of their cities. Older parks, for example, need renovation, and that's what UPARR is designed to do," Taylor said.

Sources Of Energy

LUBBOCK--The availability of various sources of energy, and its effects upon agriculture's use of chemicals, will be the center of interest for the 28th annual West Texas Agricultural Chemicals Conference.

Wesley Masters, president of Center Plains Industries, Inc., Amarillo, will examine the potential nitrogen supply for the '80s. The financial picture for agriculture will be discussed by J. B. Potts, senior vice president of Lubbock National Bank.

Veteran's News

A special Veterans Administration effort to remind more than half a million pension recipients that an 18-month-old change in the pension law might be beneficial to them has begun paying off--for the veterans and their survivors.

VA officials say that since July 1 after an explanation of the "improved pension plan" was sent to them, approximately 150,000 pensioners told the agency they wanted to enroll in the new program.

The shift was made possible under a law that went into effect January 1, 1979. It provides higher monthly pension rates, but counts all income received by veterans and their dependents in calculating pension eligibility. The rates are automatically increased when social security benefits are raised due to cost-of-living changes. There have been two increases since January 1979, the latest being a 14.3 percent boost on June 1, 1980.

Under the old pension programs, certain family income was excluded in calculating pension eligibility, so that under some circumstances, it would not be beneficial for the veteran to change to the new program.

In each case where an election is made, VA officials, before accepting the election, make a careful check of all factors and advise the pensioner when it is found he would lose money by changing.

At the time of the pension law change VA launched an extensive publicity program to alert pension recipients to the features of the new program and has issued periodic reminders since then.

The latest alert took the form of a detailed explanation of the current pension program which was mailed to all pension recipients with their July check.

To date, officials said, approximately 60 percent of the 150,000 applications received in the month following the mailing have been processed.

About two-thirds of the applications processed have been converted to the new program with monthly pension increases averaging just over $80.

IRS NEWS

Individuals who do not have enough tax withheld, must make the third installment of estimated 1980 federal income tax no later than September 15, 1980, the Internal Revenue Service said.

Generally, taxpayers having estimated tax of $100 or more and estimated gross income not subject to withholding exceeding $500 must file Form 1040-ES, "Declaration of Estimated Tax for Individuals." Taxpayers who filed estimated income tax last year will receive Form 1040-ES tax packages by mail. The package includes a set of instructions, an estimated tax worksheet, and declaration vouchers, the IRS said.

Those persons who do not receive Form 1040-ES tax packages, but are required to file a declaration of estimated tax, may obtain them from local IRS offices.

A handy IRS pamphlet, Publication 505, "Tax Withholding and Declaration of Estimated Tax" is available free from local IRS offices.

Kennedy's Guess In 1980

Senator Ted Kennedy's decision to base his nomination campaign this year on the same basic liberal approaches of the sixties and seventies aroused intense enthusiasm among some intellectuals, minorities and liberals.

But was it the smart, long-term approach? Did it almost assure for Senator Kennedy the 1984 nomination or did it place him to the left of reality and out of step with the times in the eighties? There are those who feel the next four years will show that Kennedy guessed wrong (and President Carter right) in 1980.

This view is shared, at least in part, by some liberal Democratic colleagues of the Massachusetts Senator. One, Colorado's Gary Hart, suggests Democrats must develop a new, conceptual framework, emphasizing economic incentives rather than handout programs and more government control.

Says Hart: "There is no longer an assumption that creating a government program is the best way to go." And even Kennedy's Massachusetts colleague, Sen. Paul Tsongas, feels today's liberalism must extricate itself from the liberalism of the 1960's.

With Mr. Carter moving toward the center, Kennedy this year seized his only political alternative. But it placed him far left. If the national trend is in the other direction, Kennedy could have doomed his chances of winning in 1984 (if not the nomination, then the election, or perhaps both). If the trend is toward more liberalism, government control and spending, Kennedy is well placed.

FOOTBALL *****

By Pete Fritchie

WASHINGTON, D. C. -- The pro football season is underway and once again fans must watch athletes suffer permanent injuries and even paralysis in the violent American game. Europeans who visit this country are invariably appalled at the spectacle of ambulances in waiting, stretchers to carry off the wounded, etc.

Pro football is the most exciting of sports, possibly excepting boxing (also excessively violent). That's because the danger of serious injury and excessive violence is always present.

Spearing is taking a heavy toll, as is the "sandwiching" of pass receivers and other forms of brutal physical contact--and these aspects of football must be cleaned up. President Theodore Roosevelt was the first to start cleaning up the game and the process must continue--until no player is killed or permanently injured in this "sport."

All of that notwithstanding, the 1980 season promises to be the best ever. Can the Steelers make it four in a row? Can Dallas, without Roger Staubach, be the team it has been in recent years? Is Miami, or Washington, this year's sleeper? Or San Diego? Or the Jets? Or Oakland? Or the Chiefs, or Saints, or Oilers? Etc.

And while on the subject, let's see more of the cheerleaders. Last year orders went out to minimize the showing of cheerleader charms. Why? That's part of the fall spectacle. Why penalize the girls for being cute and sexy?

STAMPS & STORIES

RURAL AMERICA

By Stanley James

"You must pick only the largest grains, which have a reddish-gold color," said Mennonite Peter Barkman to his eight-year-old daughter, Anna. "If the grains are pale in color, small or soft, throw them aside. Next month we will start for Kansas to make our home there. We should take only the finest of wheat for seed."

The year was 1873 and the seed later planted in the rich dry land of Kansas was indeed the finest. The warm climate and sunshine of the Kansas prairie were perfect for growing the wheat and were very much like the conditions the Mennonites had left in Crimea when they emigrated from Russia.

What the Barkmans brought to America was a strain of wheat they called "Turkey Red" (so-named because they found the seed in Turkey and because of its reddish-gold color.) The wheat was far superior to anything which was being grown in America at that time. It was welcomed by the farmers and is the grandfather of what we now know as Kansas Hard Winter Wheat or Hard Red Winter Wheat.

On the 100th anniversary of Hard Red Winter Wheat in Kansas and as part of its Rural America series, the U.S. Postal Service issued a stamp in August, 1974, which depicts a field of the reddish-gold grain.

Elysian Field in Hoboken, N.J., on June 19, 1846. Three seasons later the Knickerbockers became the first team to be outfitted uniformly, in blue and white suits. At the time of its first game, though, there were no standard baseball rules. Each team supplied its own ball, which often varied in size, elasticity and composition.

An exciting moment in American baseball history occurred when Don Larsen of the American League's New York Yankees pitched the first perfect no-hit, no-run, no-walk World Series game. It happened Oct. 8, 1956, in the fifth game of the World Series played with the National League's Brooklyn Dodgers at Yankee Stadium. The final score was New York 2, Brooklyn 0.

TV COMMENTARY

By Bente Christensen

ABC has finally agreed, after a 10-year court fight, to lessen its control over prime time on affiliate stations. NBC and CBS are expected to follow suit.

THIS is a step in the trend toward reducing the near-monopolistic power of the commercial networks over programming and shows.

THE expanding cable TV systems all over the country are also furthering this trend. But some cable operations are overly expensive--for the average family. And much of their appeal is X-rated films.

THE trend of the future seems to be full use of all VHF channels, with one channel continuously airing news, one constantly covering sports, etc. Cable systems will provide much of this variety.

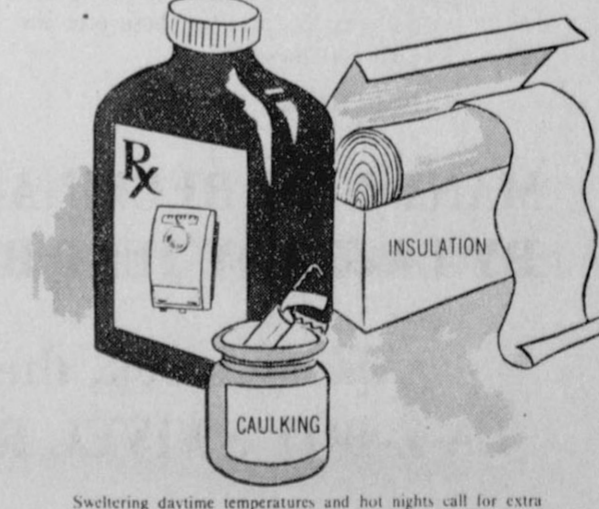

AN additional four million dollar TV campaign is being programmed to help Ronald Reagan in the current presidential campaign. The added time is now being bought.

THE presidential campaign TV debates between Reagan and President Carter are still an if as this is written. Whether John Anderson will be included is one of the sticky points, as is the timing of the debates, and sponsors.

DICK Cavett, if not exactly a he-man, comes up with the most interesting interviews on television, and his sense of humor, like that of oldtimer Jack Paar, is what carries his PBS show.

ONE gets the feeling Jerry Lewis' only means of keeping his face in the public eye is through his Labor Day telethon. It's for a good cause, of course.

Plans Completed For 7th Annual Institute

PRPC -- Plans are now complete for the Seventh Annual Institute on Alcohol and Drug Abuse, co-sponsored by the Panhandle Regional Planning Commission and several other area agencies. The institute is scheduled for Thursday, September 25, in the West Texas State University Activities Center.

Featured speaker for this year's institute is Father Joseph Martin, an internationally known expert on alcoholism. Father Martin is especially well-known for his famous "chalk talks" and inspirational messages about recovery from alcoholism. He divides his time between a round of international speaking engagements and work on his own treatment center in North Carolina. Father Martin will be presented at 3:30 in the afternoon during the institute and at 8:00 at night in the First Presbyterian Church in Amarillo. The 8:00 p.m. session is open to the general public.

Another prominent feature of the institute will be presentations by a number of regional and state experts in alcoholism and drug addiction. Included are workshops on family communications, teenage drinking and alcohol education, the doctors' approach to alcoholic recovery, and the role of confidentiality laws in protecting the family, the client, and the treatment program.

Robert Schenk, the manager of Owens-Corning Fiberglas' Employee Assistance Program, will talk about his industry's response to employees' personal problems. Others on the program include Monsignor Francis Smyer, Judges Howard Wanick and David Gleason, Reverend Allen Connally of Houston, and Dr. James Carroll, minister of Amarillo's Presbyterian Church.

The day-long institute begins at 8:00 on the morning of the 25th with registration and runs through 3:15. Most of the sessions will be repeated once for the participants, counselors, and volunteers in drug and alcoholism programs. Members of the medical community and others involved in alcoholism and drug areas are invited to the institute. Last year 250 persons from across the region and the state attended. This year, over 400 are expected.

Nursing Education

The first continuing nursing education program to be accredited in Texas is at Texas Tech University Health Sciences Center. Accreditation was awarded by the Western Regional Accrediting Committee of the American Nurses' Association for four years, the maximum period granted before review for accreditation.

Helen Cox, R.N., Ed. D., associate director, School of Nursing, Methodist Hospital and chairperson of the continuing nursing education (CNE) program's advisory committee said, "Since the inception of the program in September 1979 at the Health Sciences Center, we have all worked with the goal of national accreditation in mind." Cox also said that accreditation helps insure quality through external evaluation according to national standards.

The CNE program at the Health Sciences Center is advised by a committee composed of nurses from various fields and levels of practice, health care administrators, physicians and health consumers. In addition, a needs assessment survey was conducted in December, 1979, in Lubbock and surrounding areas. This same survey is being cosponsored through the Health Sciences Center and other universities in parts of West Texas.

Cox praised the CNE program in its efforts to help nurses maintain current practice levels or increase or redirect their practice interests. Cox emphasized the need for continuing education because, "Knowledge in the health professions is increasing so rapidly that many skills and techniques of 3-5 years ago are almost obsolete today. A fully accredited program in West Texas will provide more opportunities for area nurses to continue their professional development as well as enable them to earn credit for their work which will be accepted throughout the U.S."

One of the clear advantages to having an accredited program relates to nurses who maintain a license in states which require proof of continuing education for re-registration. Nearly one third of the states have such a requirement. Because participation in an accredited program is usually recognized by the licensing board, the nurse can easily submit proof of meeting the continuing education requirement.

The accreditation program evolved from national standards on continuing education in nursing and began operation in 1975. The program at the Health Sciences Center was reviewed and site-inspected to determine its ability to meet educational and administrative requirements. This fall, the CNE program will offer a variety of courses including a series on basic assessment skills, nursing management and teaching.

Car cooling systems need special mixture for hot weather care

COLLEGE STATION — An automobile can withstand hot summer temperatures if the owner provides common sense care, says a research engineer for the Texas Transportation Institute at Texas A&M University.

"The single biggest neglect is the cooling system and Sun Belt drivers are the worst offenders," said Rick Tonda. "Water is not the only coolant. The recommended mixture is glycol and water."

He said the mixture matters most when temperatures are very cold or very hot. "In the latter instance, the right proportion of glycol to water raises the boiling point of the water, on the average to 230 degrees in a pressurized system. That adds 20 to 30 degrees to the operating range," the engineer said. "The owner's manual gives the best proportion for the car."

Seed varieties are dwindling, scientist warns

COLLEGE STATION — Some species of food crops are threatened with extinction as a result of a dwindling variety of plant seeds, says a genetic scientist at Texas A&M University.

"Scientists have been narrowing the gene pool through hybridization, making it difficult to find the old genetic varieties that could be used if the modern seed strains become diseased or are changed by the environment," said Dr. Homer Blackhurst, professor emeritus of horticulture.

Blackhurst explained the newer food crops have been developed to make mechanical harvesting easier to permit the highest possible output for large-scale production.

The horticulturist said it's not advantageous to narrow gene pools of plant species, because as time, the environment, the economy and people change, there may be future need for plants that are at present looked upon as weeds. Many crop plants were weeds a short time ago, he said.

A&M archaeologists identify British ship

COLLEGE STATION — Texas A&M nautical archaeologists have discovered that a jumbled mass of scorched timber and metal was a British flagship from the Revolutionary War Battle of Yorktown.

Archaeologist Richard Steffy, who is ship reconstructor for the Institute of Nautical Archaeology headquartered at Texas A&M, led nine graduate students in a project which confirmed a shipwreck in Virginia's York River was HMS Charon, flagship of Lord Charles Cornwallis.

Researchers from INA and Texas A&M became involved because the institute is the world leader in training underwater archaeologists and landlocked Texas A&M is the only American university offering a master's degree in anthropology with a speciality in nautical archaeology.
