OFF TO THE RIO GRANDE

Mr. and Mrs. S. H. Higgs left Tuesday morning for Mercedes Texas, in the lower Rio Grande Valley. They are driving through in their car. Mr. and Mrs. Higgs own a nice little home two and one-half miles east of Mercedes, which they intend to improve, and where they expect to make their future home These fine old folks will be greatly missed by their Hansford county friends, especially out in the Grand Plains country, where they have resided for many years. But however greatly their friends regret to see them go, they wish for Mr. and Mrs. Higgs much happiness, down in that land of soft breezes, sunshine, flow-

SHOULD VISIT THE FAIR

Hansford county folks should visit the Tri-State-Fair now on in full swing at Amarillo. The exhibits this year are far above the average, and the amusements are great. The management has a real fair; a real exhibit in all lines and plenty of good, wholesome amusement and entertainment. In fact the Tri State Fair has always been good and is growing in interest and importance every year. If you have not visited the Fair, do so today, Friday or Saturday. It will close Saturday early this week, lots one, two and three in block 40, of T. B. Finley. The location will be used as a church building site. This is a very desirable location for a church home. The lots face the square, and are located just across the street east from the Methodist church. The congregation plans to erect a beautiful and substantial church edifice on these lots in the near future. The congregation, though young, is growing, and now holds a very substantial place in the community life of Spearman They recently closed a successful revival. Jasker Bogue, district superintendent of Missions, for the Chris tian churches, is giving his personal attention to this work. The congre gation at present meets for worship in the I. O. O. F. hall.

AUTO DISCOURTESY

Some observers think automobiles are ruining American manners, but perhaps some of these folks who are showing discourtesy did not have any to ruin.

There are many drivers who act differently when they get behind a steering wheel than they do any where else. If they went to a party or dance and pushed their way down the center of the room, jostling the guests as they went, treading on their toes, making them jump to avoid collision and calling to them to to get out of their way, they would commonly be called roughnecks.

Yet they do about that thing in a crowded street. The public is so used to such exhibitions that it tolcrates them, makes but little complaint, and does its best to jump for safety.

It seems strange that a good many persons who are ordinarily well mannered, will yet act in this course and arrogant way. They seem to think it is everyone's duty to wait for them and get out of their way. If they toot their horns violently, they feel that they have done all that is required of them. The law is doing what it can to correct such violations of the public regulations and of ordinary common sense and courtesy, but community sentiment ought to call upon some of these people to display better manners.

Real gentlemen and ladies come autiously down a crowded street, just as mindful of the people in the way as if they were in someone's rarlor, glad to stop to let pedestrians pass, preferring to yield a probable right of way rather than show any crowding disposition.—Paducha Post.

UNDUE RISKS

Seven live apparently have been lost in the effort to conquer the Pacific. Six men and one women, all competitors in the Dole air derby, are missing and doubtless met the same fate as Nungesser and Coli, the two Frenchmen who were lost in the attempt to cross the Atlantic.

While the endeavor to fly from San Francisco to Honolulu was praisewrothy and required courage,

RETAIL MERCHANTS MET THURSDAY NIGHT

The Retail Merchants Association of Spearman held an interesting meeting at the Chamber of Commerce rooms on Tuesday night of this week. This association is formed for the purpose of strengthening the credit of those who deserve credit and to see that the fellow who habitually beats his bills has no credit at all. The money saved in chasing after bad bills is a big item, to say nothing of the bad bill itself. This saving will have a tendency to lower the cost of merchandise to the man who pays. And that is what the merchants of Spearman are striving for-to give their customers the very best at the lowest possible price.

YOUTH

Youth is not a time of life-it is a state of mind. It is not a matter of ripe cheeks, red lips and supple knees! it is a temper of the will, a quality of the imagination, a vigor the deep springs of life.

Youth means a tempermental pre dominance of courage over timidity, and down; in spite of his supercilliof the appetite for adventure over ous manner and his uneatable carlove of ease. This often exists in a cass-in spite of all these frailties, man of fifty more than in a boy of we love him still. There is sometwenty. Anon.

Mrs. J. F. Mitts and children arrived from Independence, Missouri, Sunday to visit a short time in the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Mitts.

The "Womanless Style Show" held at the high school auditorium on Friday night of last week, under auspices of the Woman's Missionary. Society, was a success from every angle. The styles shown were the very latest creations from the style factories, according to announcement made by A. F. Barkley. It is impossible to call attention to all those who deserve special mention in these columns, but Dave Hester as Little Orphant Annie, and Don Wakeman as Mrs. Katzenjammer, were knockouts. The audience enjoyed the demonstartions and the ladies were well pleased with the success of their venture.

The Missionary Ladies wish to take this means of thanking the "girls" who modeled in the style show, they sponsored last Friday evening. They further wish to express appreciation of all who contri-buted to its decided success.

BYE, BYE JACK RABBIT

Our grotesque old friend, the prairie jack rabbit, is on his way. And we hate to see him go. He is of the emotions; it is a freshness of one of the left-overs of the time when the west was young. In spite of the silly way he flops one ear up rolling swells of buffalo grass, angl-

Years ago buffalo hides became a_ ycars that bow the head and turn marketable commodity and the western prairies that were once picturesque with vast loitering herds became is in every being's heart the love of ghastly with bleaching bones. The wonder, the sweet amazement at the tragic chapter in the history of the stars and the starlike things and plains.

Within the past few months jack rabbit hides have found favor with eastern furriers and in western Kanas the guns are booming. Hides are moving by the thousands. Many a New York debutante will wear around her neck this summer a strip

IMPORTANT TO TREAT SMALL GRAINS FOR SMUT

Not only should every farmer prepare his soil well but he should treat his seed for smut and other controllable diseases, states E. A. Miller, Agronomist, Extension Service, A. M. College. Millions of dollars are lost each year by smut, in reducing yields and reducing prices at the markets. Practically all of this loss is preven table by sowing only treated seed It is unwise to depend upon seed carried from one farm to another by threashing machines, wagons, ect. Therefore, seed from grain fields that were entirely free from smut this year, develop smut next year. Ail wheat that is sown should be run through a fanning mill to take out all light grain and chaff after which the seed should be treated for smut. Loose Smut Loose smut destroyes the chaff as well as the grain, and is most noticeable just after the wheat has come to head. Fortunately this disease rarely causes serious loss. Treatment

Soak the seed from five to seven hours in cold water; then immerse for ten minutes in water at 129 to 130 degrees Fahrenheit and dry. It is important that the hot water be of the right temperature. If it is too low, the smut spores will not be killed, and if too high the vitality of the seed will be imparied.

Stinking Smut or Bunt

Stinking smut or bunt is the most serious disease of wheat. The discase changes the grain into masses of spores called "smut balls" which have an offensive odor, but inasmuch as it does not destroy chaff, the disease is not readily observed except for the odor. Indeed, many farmers fail to observe it until threashing

The disease is carried over to next year's crop by sowing seed infected with the spores from the balls roken in threashing.

Treatment

Stinking smut in wheat is easily to 2 bushels of wheat should be controlled by treating the seed with copper carbonate dust. Until recently the formaldehyde treatment was used but now the copper carbonate treatment is rapidly taking its place, as it has several advantages, viz., (1) it is cheaper, (2) it is a dry treatment and easily applied, (3) it does not injure the germination, (4) treated seed can be handled, stored, and planted in the same way as untreated seed, making it possible to treat it whenever convenient, and the treatment helps to protect the stored seed against weevils, rats and #### conclusive that the early sown grain the most profitable, since it furnishes a good deal more grazing than late sown crops. Small grain pasture, when planted early, will be the means of saving a good many dollars in feed, especially since cotton seed meal and grain will no doubt be rather high this year. For early planting, oats, barley or other small grain may be drilled in with a small grain drill between the cotton rows or even corn rows, where they are clean, or the seed may be broadcast and then covered with a five tooth, one row cultivator, harrow, or some other form of "scratcher". If a grain or hay crop is desired, the oat and barley seed should be sprayed with a formaldehyde solution at the rate of one pint of formaldehyde to 10 gallons of water to per cent smut. This amount will be sufficient to treat 40 to 50 bushels. The seed are sprinkled with the solution and shoveled over two or three times; then it is placed in a pile and covered with a wagon sheet or other cover for several hours, after which they should be spread out to

SOW SMALL GRAINS FOR PASTURE EARLY

On account of the value of small rye for winter pasture over a large part of Texas, as well as for cover crops, every farmer who has any

INSURANCE AGAINST WHEAT SMUT DIDN'T MAKE FLAG

American flag, Dr. G. E. Hastings, professor of English at the University of Arkansas and visiting professor during the summer session at the University of Texas, has found evidence which he believes disproves the legend of Betsy Ross as maker of the first flag, a story which for ycars has been familiar to every school child. Dr. Hastings has found evidence which he believes indicates that the actual designer of the flag was Francis Hopkinson, "a distin-guished citizen of Philadelphia, a member of the Second Continental Congress and a signer of the Declaration of Independence. A man well known among his contemporaries as an artist and authority on the subect of heraldry," said Dr. Hastings. Dr. Hasings has made considerable research on the subject in the Congressional Library at Washington, D. C., and has read thoroughly the papers of the Continental Congress for

The Continental Congress, in session at Philadelphia, adopted the re-solution for the flag June 14, 1777, according to Dr. Hastings, but it was not until 1870, ninety-three years after the flag was adopted, that the honor of having designed it was claimed for any individual. The beginning of the story of Betsy Ross, according to Dr. Hastings, was in a paper read in 1870 William S. Canby of Philadelphia before the Historical Society of Pennsylvania. The paper was on the history of the American Flag and in it he asserted that his maternal grandmother, Mrs. Elizabeth Ross, was "the first maker and partial designer of the Stars and Stripes."

This paper, according to Dr. Hastings, is the only evidence that Betsy Ross was maker of the first flag. The statement by Mr. Canby is weakened by a fault in the chronology since she is asserted to have made the flag at least a week before the Declaration of Independence and a full year before the adoption of the flag by the Continental Congress. Francis Hopkinson's claim to being the designer of the flag, Dr. Hastirgs says, lies in documents in which Hopkinson himself asserted "that he made several seals for the United States government and that he designed the Flag of the United

A letter from Hopkinson in 1780 to the Board of Admiralty suggesting humorously that he be presented with a quarter cask of wine for his services and a final resolution by Congress "That the report relative to the fancy-work of F. Hopkinson cught not to be acted on" are the beginning and end of the controversy by Dr Hastings in the records and from which he draws his conclusion that Hopkinson actually was the originator of the flag. "In the first place," says Dr Hastings, "it is certain that Hopkinson submitted to Congress sundry drawings, devices and mottoes, some of which were accepted. The Commissioners of Accounts accepted his statement, approved his bill and asserted that they believed that his charge was reasonable and ought to be paid. The auditor general also approved the account and presented it to the Board of Treasury for pay

The objections of the Board of Treasury to the payment of Hopkinson's bill form interesting history and cause one to wonder whether or not their motives were exclusively patriotic, according to Dr. Hastings. Thus, Dr. Hastings contends, that although a great deal has been written and said about the American Flag, no one but Mr. Canby and however, Dr. Hastings, points out, ninety-three years after the flag's edoption, whereas Francis Hopkinson's assertion was made only three years after its adoption," Dr. Hast-ings said, "he made to men to whom the facts were know or easily accessible. The Commissioners of Accepted his statement and recom-mended that he be paid for his de-signs. In the Board of Treasury it is probable that some members opposed him because they did not like him. Others may have conscientiously believed that money should never be paid to a. man who cannot show vouchers and that a government employe should not ask pay for artistic labors which they called 'fancy work'. None of them denied that he had made the designs."

"Farmers all over the wheat belt consider it good business to take out crop insurance against fire, wind and hail, and at the same time they overlook insurance against wheat smut, which is likely to do more damage to their wheat than all the other hazards combined". says H. M. Bainer, Director, Southwestern Wheat Asso-ciation. Continuing he says, "Seed disinfection, properly applied, will insure wheat against smut at very little expense. Last year, for example the average loss in wheat yield in Kansas, on account of smut, was three bushels per acre, all of which could have been prevented through the use of from three to five cents worth of copper carbonate dust and two minutes labor to apply the treat ment. Cheap insurance, isn't it? A return for the labor expended, saving three bushels of wheat per acre, of about $.75 per minute or $105.00 per hour. With this saving what farmer can say that he does not have time enough to treat his wheat for smut or cannot afford to do it? It is definitely known that smut is sown with the seed and with so much of it all over the country, no one can afford to risk sowing seed without disinfecting it with copper carbonate dust, unless it is known to be absolutely free from smut. To prevent smut, copper corbinate dust must be throughly coated over seed, at the rate of two to four ounces per bushel, depending on the smuttiness. On account of the fine-ness of this dust and the difficulty of throughly mixing it with the seed, without the operator inhaling it, it it impossible to do the mixing by shoveling; it must be done in some kind of a tightly closed mechanical mixer, either home-made or commercial. If a commercial mixer is not available, then an old barrel churn with baffle plates fixed on the inside, a concrete mixer, a barrel or a box, made to revolve by means of a crank or a gas engine, will do the work. Two minutes turning of the mixer should do the work throughly."

Are You a Slave To the Washboard?

The history of the world bears several important dates of people being liberated from the rule of oppressors, But yet there's altogether too many women who still devote one day a week to the tyrant Washday.

A "Haag" washing machine will free you. You'll save more in health and gain more in happiness if you do the weekly wash in the modern way.

Grow only one crop. Keep no live stock. Regard chickens and garden as a nuisance.

4. Don't plan your farming op-erations. It's hard work thinkingrust to luck.

5. Take everything from the soil and return nothing. 6. Hold fast to the idea that methods employed by your grandpa are good enough for you. 7. Be independent-don't join with your neighbors in any form of co-operation. Mortgage your farm for every dollar it will stand to buy things you would have the cash to buy if you followed a good farming system .--Canyon News.
