All Day Festivities Planned

Bi-Centennial Celebration Complete

Plans for the celebration of our nation's 200th birthday for area residents have been finalized.

The Festival Committee, for the Bi-Centennial celebration, of the Chamber of Commerce, members of the Ministerial Alliance, and the Jaycees made final plans for the celebration on Tuesday morning.

Activities for July 4 will begin at 10:30 with a community worship service at the high school. Pastor David Nuckles of the Assembly of God Church, will deliver the sermon, with all members of the Ministerial Alliance, taking part in this special service. The community choir will present a couple of numbers from the musical that will be presented that evening.

The community picnic will begin between 12:30 and 1 p.m. at the swimming pool park. Families are asked to bring their own food. Drinks will be sold by the Jaycee Wives and ice cream by the various Home Demonstration Clubs. These items will be sold at a minimal fee.

After the picnic the Spearman Jaycees will be in charge of the afternoon activities. There will be fun and games for everyone during the afternoon, as well as music and other entertainment.

At 5 p.m. the Jaycees will have their free watermelon feed at the swimming pool park.

At 8 p.m. the Community Choir, of approximately 35 members, which is directed by Glen Harris, will present the musical, "I Love America" in the high school auditorium.

This is a patriotic religious musical. There is no charge. Choir members have been practicing on this musical for several weeks now. Solo parts in the musical will be by Glen Harris, Bonita Reimer, Karen Counts, Kent Guthrie, Mary Brock and Re. Ed Freeman.

After the musical, you are invited to Lynx Stadium for the drawings and free fireworks display.

Drawings will be held for a handmade quilt and an afghan for which the Stationmaster's Museum is taking donations and for a miniature fire truck which the volunteer Fire Fighters is giving away. The handmade quilt can be seen in Reed's Family Shoes window. The fire truck was also in the Hansford Roundup parade. Tickets may be purchased at the Chamber of Commerce office on Main street or from members of sponsoring organizations.

The quilt was made by Mrs. Virgil Hull and the afghan, which is red, white and blue, was made by Mrs. Elzey Vanderburg. The afghan is on display in Gruver this week.

The fireworks display, which is an annual affair sponsored by the Spearman Chamber of Commerce will begin at approximately 9:45 p.m. at Lynx Stadium.

People involved in this Bi-Centennial celebration have worked many hours in order for it to be a success. Your participation is all that is needed to make July 4, 1976 in Spearman a day for all to remember.

Dr. Thomas To Continue Practice

In telephone conversations during the past week with Bill Eiling and Chalmers Porter, Dr. James Thomas confirmed that he would be continuing his medical practice in Spearman. He also stated that he anticipated a pleasant working relationship with the hospital board and hospital personnel, and that he and his family were enjoying their vacation! Dr. Thomas will probably return to Spearman between June 25 and July 1st.

Flour Power

Some wheat is being brought in to local elevators as the 1976 Hansford County wheat crop harvest is beginning to get underway.

A spokesman at the Equity Elevator said they had 60 loads Monday and Tuesday but expect by the last of the week, provided it does not rain, that harvest will be on in a big way. Wheat being brought in is heavy this year, one load tested .64 and a test weight of .61 is not uncommon. Monday and Tuesday the cutters did not begin until about noon and cut until about 10 p. m.

Some of the wheat is dryland and some irrigated. Estimates of 20 bushels per acre have been made on some dryland in the county and as much as 50 or better on irrigated wheat.

4-Tex Grain, a new facility south of Spearman, reported good runs both Monday and Tuesday. They received their first load on June 13.

J. K. Hicks of R. L. McClellan Grain Co., Inc. said harvest is well underway for his customers. Most of the wheat is good and heavy that they have received.

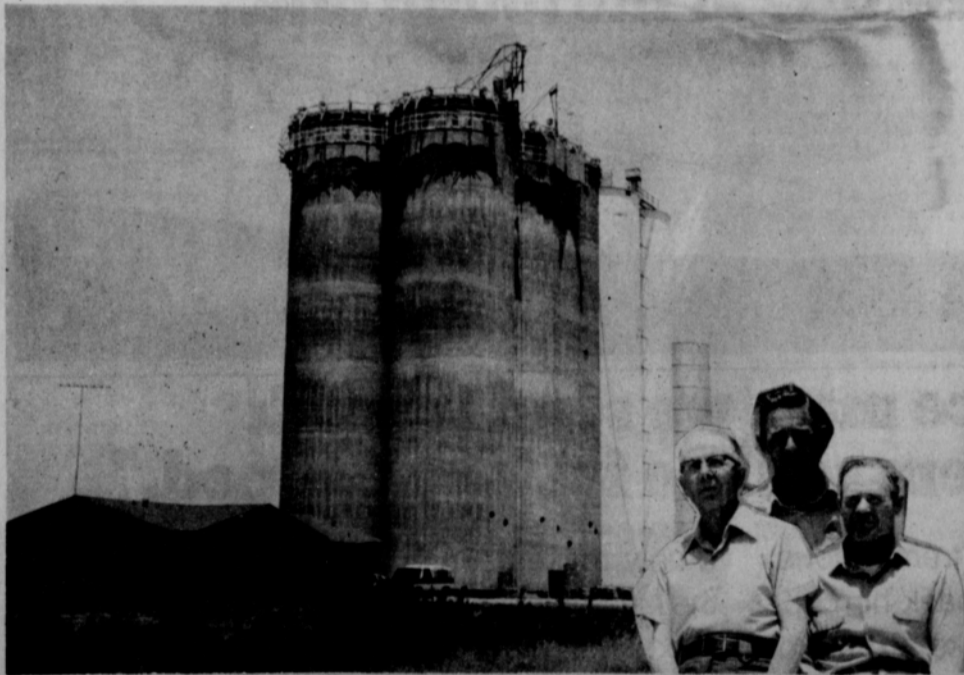

Speartex Grain received their first load on June 15 and expect harvest to be going full force by the end of the week, with proper weather conditions.

The final outcome of this year's harvest will be determined by how well the wheat's recovered due to the good rains this spring, how much the hot winds of recent days have affected the grain, and how much of the wheat is affected by crop disease.

The market is up a few cents over last week's, wheat as well as corn and milo. Wheat was $3.44 Tuesday.

Hansford County was second in the entire state in grain production in 1975 being outdone by Deaf Smith County.

Equity Has New Facility At Holt!

WORK is progressing on the Holt Equity elevator, South of Spearman. Pictured beside the Holt Elevator, is Mr. Groves, Mr. Poole and Mr. Holt. This one of the many Equity Elevators serving farmers in the Panhandle area.

President of the entire Equity Elevator system, Marvin Groves was on hand Tuesday of this week, for picture taking at the new Holt Elevator. Also present was the director from the Holt community, Nolan Holt. Other directors in this area, are Fred Groves and L. M. Womble is the secretary of the large organization. Lloyd E. Poole is the manager of the Holt Elevator, and he is able assisted by Leslie Alexander, Carrie Clark, Scott Janzen, and David Ochoa. Also on hand is a crew of construction engineers who are adding concrete facilities to up the storage facilities of the elevator from 359,000 bushels to 876,000 bushels; the new additional concrete facilities will add 477,000 bushels. The Equity also has a large facility, downtown Spearman, and is ably managed by E. J. Copeland, and his fine crew. Mr. Groves informed us that the Equity chain is the biggest in U. S. on the local level, dollar wise, and bushels! Wheat is arriving daily at both the downtown Equity, and the Holt facility. Farmers in the Hansford County area, have now put Hansford County in 2nd place in the state of Texas, in total grain production. Only Deaf Smith county leads Hansford County in total production, and as one farmer said, "just give us time, they are running out of water down there, and we still have a good water supply!"

Win a fire truck... This fire truck will be given away by the Spearman Fire Department in the near future.... Tickets are now available...!!

DUMP GROUNDS
Nothing was more exciting and just plain fun, to this kid anyhow, than finding a dump ground I didn't know about. Most of the people who lived around us just hauled their trash down into the pasture away from their house and dumped it in some low place where it couldn't be seen from the main road. POSTED and NO TRESPASSING signs were unheard of then so we roamed around all over the countryside.

What a treat it was to discover a new dumping place! Most every trash pile would yield something that with just a little imagination and work could be turned into a fine plaything. If you had a tricycle back home that was missing a wheel you could most likely find a replacement in the dump. Though it wouldn't usually match the others it didn't matter, so long as it worked.

You could spend hours at a good dump ground, turning over every rusty can, breaking jars and bottles, rummaging through old boxes, barrels and containers full of old rags, papers, mechanical parts, half of a toy, a pan with a hole in the bottom, pieces of rope, an old tire that could be rolled down a hill, a shiny chrome-plated hood ornament.

To find a good dump ground was like having a huge toy store at your disposal. You could have anything you wanted because the people it had belonged to had thrown it away. We would wag home an indescribable assortment of junk and upon sight of it Mother would go into shock. She would finally agree that we could keep the stuff for a couple of days if we would throw it away when we were tired of playing with it. I remember one project I made out of junk one time — a suit of armor. I took a large metal container of some sort that fitted over my head and half way down my chest when I removed its bottom and cut slots for my shoulders. A discarded paint brush made a fine tassel. An eye slot was cut in the front and covered over with screen wire. My shield was an old garbage can lid. With bottoms and tops removed, appropriate sized tin cans covered my arms and legs. Dad's galoshes and blacksmith gloves provided protection for my hands and feet and a whittled out sword added the finishing touch to my outfit. I must have looked fearsome clanking around in that suit of armor, trying to see where I was going.

I declared to my brother that absolutely nothing could hurt me as long as I wore that suit, even if someone threw rocks or clods at me they would just bounce off. My brother tried one rock, just to find out. It bounced off my helmet, making such a ringing sound inside that my earlobes vibrated. I jerked off the can but the echo lasted for some time inside my head.

Garage sales of today are not much different from trash piles back then. The thing is, people sell their junk now instead of throwing it away.

BULLETIN: Troy Sloan was named as Lion of the Year at the annual Ladies nite banquet held in Spearman Tues. nite.

County Residents Accumulate Savings

Because residents of Hansford County accumulated a record amount of savings in the past year, they are in better financial shape now than they have been for some time.

They salted away a greater proportion of their income than normally, putting much of it into savings banks, savings and loan accounts, U. S. savings bonds and the like.

A considerable part of their unspent cash went, also, toward reducing their outstanding consumer debt, thus improving their financial stability still more.

The amount of new money that the Hansford County population stowed away during the year in the various types of savings came to an estimated $2,834,000.

The finding is based upon national data gathered by the Federal Reserve Board, the Conference Board and others and upon income and spending figures for each area of the country. The reports show that, for the United States as a whole, personal savings during the past year amounted to nearly $91 billion, or about 8.3 percent of disposable income after taxes. This compares with $74 billion the year before, when the rate of saving was 7.5 percent.

The large nest egg of saving in the hands of local families represents a treasure trove of additional spending power. When their confidence in the stability of the present economic recovery returns and they decide the time is right, this pent-up money could spark a big buying surge.

Just how much a family saves or can save depends upon its income, its needs and the amount it has left after taking care of the essentials.

Those with very small incomes find it difficult to save anything. Families with $7,500 left after taxes have been putting away about 3.5 percent, on average, those with $12,000 net, 7.4 percent, and those with $15,000, close to 8.6 percent.

In Hansford County, in line with the general findings the amount saved came to an estimated $1,370 per family, based on average earnings in the local area in the past year. In the United States, the average saving was $1,270 and, in the State of Texas, $1,160.

SETH RALSTON Seth Ralston Is Assistant Agent

Seth Ralston, a 1972 graduate of Spearman High School has been named as the new Assistant Extension Agent of Castro County. He assumed his duties in Dimmitt on May 16, following his graduation from Texas A&M University on May 8, 1976. He received a BS degree in Agricultural Education and graduated with honors. Ralston will primarily be working with the 4-H club programs, but will also be involved with the total extension program in Castro County.

At Spearman High School, Seth was chapter president of the Future Farmers of America. While attending Clarendon Junior College, he was president of the sophomore class and on the dean's list for grades. At Texas A&M, he was secretary of the collegiate FFA and a member of Alpha Zeta honorary-professional fraternity for people in agriculture.

His wife is the former Anita Smith, also of Spearman. They have one daughter, Donna, who is 4 years old.

Controlling Ants and Termites

Before you call a pest control operator for termite problems, make sure your "termites" aren't really winged ants.

Jim Kuykendall, a county agent for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, says winged ants are often mistaken for termites, but there are several ways to tell them apart.

Winged ants are pinched in at the abdomen and their front pair of wings is much larger than the rear pair. Termites are not pinched in at the abdomen and both pairs of wings are about the same size.

"If you think you've definitely got termites, call a licensed pest control operator as soon as possible," Kuykendall advises. "You can usually control ants yourself but termites require the services of a professional."

Ants, which damage trees and shrubs by boring into rotten wood, are attracted to shade and fruit trees and ornamental shrubs. They are also attracted to trees that have insects that excrete honeydew or trees that are exuding sap. They may enter trees through wounds, scars or decayed limbs, says the county agent.

"To control ants, pour insecticide down the ant's nest and within a foot radius of the nest area. Then soak the entire area with water to wash the insecticide into the soil and nest," Kuykendall says.

The payoff with a Valley Corner System profits from idle acres

You can make more money with a Valley Corner System.

That's because total cost per acre is equal to or less than ordinary center pivots and you are putting idle acres into production for profit. In a square quarter, 150 acres versus 131. In a long rectangle, 165 acres versus 131. On odd-shaped fields, it may be the only efficient way.

Basically, the cost of your land, well or water system is practically the same whether you're irrigating 150 acres or 131. With the Valley, you spread that big cost over more acres. You profit from more acres, and you stop wasting valuable land.

Solid-state, space-age reliability.

Solid-state controls direct the system, because solid-state reliability has been proven over many years. There are no moving parts and only micro-electrical currents. There is great precision in water distribution and in uniform tracking. Guidance controls are modular, using plug-in components, greatly simplifying servicing, if needed.

Utmost flexibility.

If you want to skip a corner, it's simple. If a field is odd-shaped, the track can be laid for maximum coverage. If you wish to sweep both ends of a long rectangle, you can cover up to 165 acres. The system is instantly reversible. It has excellent rough-ground capability — slopes up to 15%.

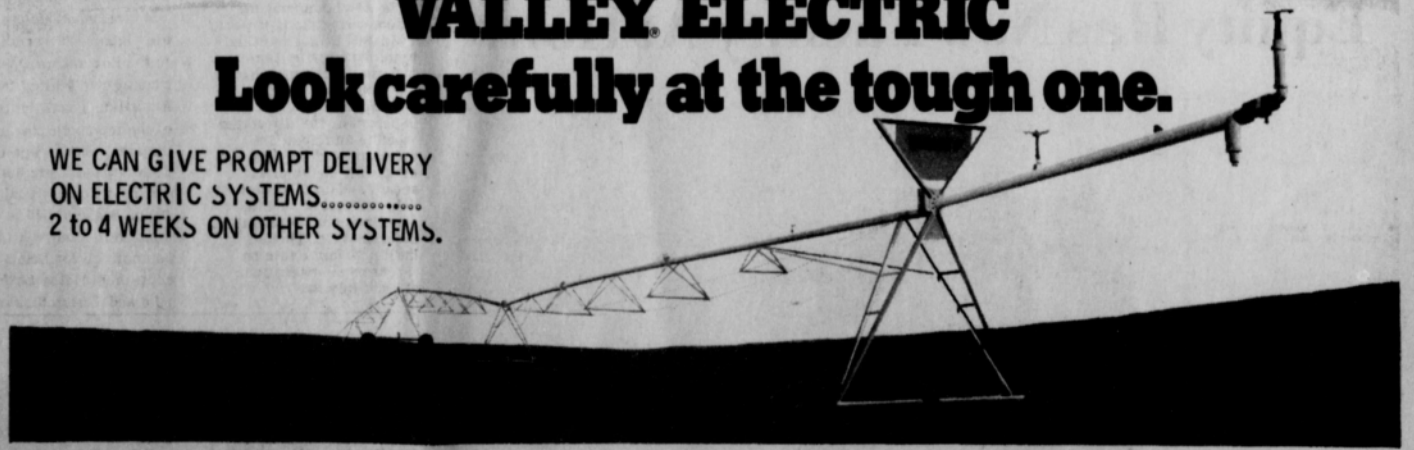

Long-term leases at low net cost.

You don't have to wait to have the benefits of a Corner System. Bank-rate money is available to you for long-term leases, including pump, power unit, lead-in, insurance, installation and optional equipment. Make a minimal down payment and pay as you go in tomorrow's cheaper dollars. Other finance plans also in effect, including the Early Bird.

OUR FLAG

The first Stars and Stripes, whose birthday we observe on June 14, was created on that date, in 1777, when, according to the U.S. Marine Corps Reserve, the Continental Congress resolved: "That the flag of the thirteen United States be thirteen stripes, alternate red and white; that the union be thirteen stars, white in a blue field, representing a new constellation."

The first flags adopted by our Colonial forefathers were symbolic of their struggles with the wilderness of a new land, according to the U.S. Marine Corps Reserve. Beavers, pine trees, rattlesnakes, anchors, and various like insignia with mottoes such as "Hope," "Liberty," "Appeal to Heaven" or "Don't Tread on Me" were affixed to the different banners of Colonial America.

"Being happy is a virtue too." Ludwig Borne

Screwworm Story Is "Bad News"

It's "bad news" as far as the story on the screwworm situation in Texas is concerned. The year got off to a bad start with early outbreaks of the flesh-eating pest in South Texas, and things have gotten progressively worse, points out Jim Kuykendall, county agent for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

Tight now, screwworm cases in Texas are running ahead of the record-setting pace of 1972," notes Kuykendall. "The main concern is that the cases are spreading rapidly to the north, west and east. Through May 29 more than 60 counties have reported one or more screwworm infestations."

A primary reason for the higher infestations this early in the year is that the past winter was quite mild, thereby allowing more of the screwworm flies to overwinter in southern Texas and northern Mexico. And the number of overwintering flies was larger than usual due to the screwworm explosion last fall in South Texas that was triggered by a massive infestation of Gulf Coast carterisks.

Webb County has been the screwworm hotspot this year with three times as many infestations as in 1972. Other heavily infested counties have been Zapata, Starr, Hidalgo, Jim Hogg and Dimmitt.

Screwworm cases have already been confirmed as far north as Baylor County, as far west as Pecos and Terrell counties, and as far east as Colorado County.

All counties with confirmed screwworm cases have been bombarded with sterile flies to break up the reproductive cycle of the female screwworm flies. Screwworm flies that mate with the sterile ones will not produce fertile eggs, explains Kuykendall.

"Although the situation looks bleak, some help appears on the way although it may not arrive until this fall," notes Kuykendall. "That's when the new insectary at Tuxtla Gutierrez in southern Mexico should be in operation to produce sterile flies to wage the war against the costly screwworm throughout the country of Mexico. This will mean that more of the sterile flies produced at the Mission Lab will be used to battle screwworm infestations north of the Rio Grande."

"In the meantime, the burden is on livestock producers to keep a watchful eye on their stock, to follow a regular spraying program to control flies and other insects, and to treat all wounds with a protective smear," advises Kuykendall. "Both Colfal and Korlan afford some protection for about two weeks."

Women's Division C of C Meeting

The Women's Division of the Chamber of Commerce met Monday, June 21st in the Library Club Room. President, Mrs. John Sutterfield presided over the business meeting. General business was discussed. Mrs. C. D. Riggins has moved to Perryton and resigned as secretary. A new secretary will be appointed at a later date. The group decided not to meet in July or August, due to vacations and summer activities. If a project arises which needs the Women's Divisions help, a called meeting will be held. Those present were guest, Mrs. Jack Kemper and members, Mesdames: Russell Townsend, R. E. Lee, Belle Crawford, Vance Snider, Albert Mackle, Ronnie Schaefer, and John Sutterfield. Next regular business meeting will be in Sept. Installation of Perryton and Spearman Rotary officers. Several inspirational musical selections were presented by "The Searchlights" from Denver, Colorado. The group consists of Dennis and Pattie Bankson and their four children. Guests present were the Searchlights of Denver, Colorado and Don Pavillard of Borger. Members present were Carrie Marie Berry, Junior

Hog-Calling Time At Ranger Stadium

Agriculture Commissioner John C. White reports that it's hog-calling and cow-milking time again at Ranger Stadium. On June 25, Farm and Ranch Night at the Ranger-White Sox double-header will feature drawings for boots, a lawn mower, hams, lamb, turkey, hanging baskets, and whatever else can be rounded up in the Dallas-Fort Worth area. The TAP (Texas Agricultural Products) people from the Texas Department of Agriculture and Delta Airlines are coordinating the activities with 50 other companies donating farm products. Grand prizes between games will be a half-side of beef and a trip for two to San Francisco from Delta Airlines. White said in addition to the drawings between innings, there will be a prize for the longest and loudest and most unique hog call. Rangers, whose hands are usually cupped around a baseball, will be trying to fill the buckets full in the cow-milking

New Eligibility Standards For Food Program

New income poverty guidelines for determining eligibility for free and reduced price meals and free milk under the child nutrition programs of the U. S. Department of Agriculture (USDA) were announced today. The new guidelines apply to schools and institutions participating in the National School Lunch and Breakfast programs, Child Care Food Program, Special Milk Program or receiving federally donated foods. Income guidelines are effective from July 1 to June 30 of next year and are being issued in advance to assist school boards and administrators in advance planning and budgeting. Guidelines increase income eligibility by about 14 percent over last year and reflect the increase in the Consumer Price Index from 1974 through April 1976. For a family of four, this means that the base level of income eligibility increased from $5,010 to $5,700. Based on these national income poverty guidelines, each state's education agency issues guidelines for determining whether or not children are eligible for of need for free or reduced price meals or free milk. When judging a family's income level, local administrators can also allow for specified hardship situations such as unusually high medical expenses, housing costs which exceed 30 percent of income, special education expenses due to child's physical or mental condition and disaster or casualty losses.

County Agent's Report

Beef cattle selection programs should include consideration of the lifetime growth pattern for weight and for other measures of size, such as height. No single growth pattern, says Dr. Charles R. Long, animal scientist with the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station, is optimal for all beef production systems, or even for all phases of a single system. Long advises producers to identify "growth curves" and characteristics which will help them reach breeding goals. What's a growth curve? The scientist defines the term as a lifetime sequence of measures of animal size plotted against age. "A more general term would be size-age curve, such as weight-age, height-age, length-age or other size measure plotted against age," Long explains. The most commonly used measures, he points out, are weight at weaning, post-weaning average daily gain and yearling weight. Few selection programs consider other measures of size, such as height, or weights at other ages, such as maturity. "While weight at or near the usual selling age is important, since payment is usually based on weight, other considerations are critical to long term success of a selection program, or of a beef production system," Long notes. Experiment Station studies which show that, because of relationships among cattle weights at different ages, selection for weight at one age will affect weights at other ages. Therefore, the cattleman should consider the lifetime growth pattern in deciding upon a specific selection program, believes Long. After the best growth patterns are identified, breeds should be chosen and combined, breedingstock selected, and the cattle managed to correspond to the optimal growth patterns. Life is a call to share in the world's making. Anonymous

54.3% or... 12%

April 1975 compared to April 1976, we experienced a 54.3% increase from our suppliers due to rising fuel costs. In that same period of time, our residential electric customer experienced an average kilowatt hour cost increase of 12% due to fuel costs. In reality, neither we nor our customers had much of a choice. Like it or not, the fuel situation has hit us all where it hurts most... in our pocketbook! But who wants to go back to the times when candles were all the light we could buy... wash tubs and scrub boards along with lots of elbow grease provided clean clothes... air conditioning was nothing more than a dream on a hot summer's day? The fact is that electricity provides us all with many comforts in our daily lives. Unfortunately, the price we have to pay for these comforts has risen, and will probably continue to rise as long as fuel costs do. We will always strive to provide our customers with good, dependable electric service as economically as the fluctuating fuel prices will allow.

Inflation Slows Recovery

Contributing to the depth and duration of the recent recession—the worst since the Depression—was the coincidence of the fastest rise in prices in the memory of living Americans. Although prices are nearly always rising when recessions set in—and often continue rising awhile as production and employment taper off—the rate of rise is usually quickly dampened. Until 1973, there were no exceptions in the second half of the century. Typically, in fact, further price increases were soon brought to a near halt until after the recovery was pretty well established. When the recent downturn came in late 1973, probably November, consumer prices were rising an average annual rate of over 10 percent. And the rate eventually exceeded 12 percent. But when the trough of the recession came, about March 1975, prices were still rising 6.8 percent a year. And last fall, the rate was back up to 7.7 percent. By the end of 1975, consumer prices in Houston, for example, averaged 11.6

percent higher than a year before. In Dallas, they were up an average of 8.9 percent. The result was a damper on recovery new to postwar cycles. In the past, with prices fairly stable in the early stages of recovery and production and employment picking up, consumers, who account for about two-thirds of the nation's spending, could take advantage of improvements in income relative to prices. By increasing their purchases, they provided fresh stimulus to recovery. As consumer demands increased, businessmen expanded production and inventories and, eventually, plant and equipment. Within a few months after the trough, spending was always running well ahead of when the recession began. Typically, final sales reached an annual rate in the first year more than 4 percent higher than the previous peak. And as fallout, new jobs were created. The process could often be kept going many months before demands on the country's production capabilities became excessive, bringing pressures that, in time, caused prices to rise fast enough to stall out the expansion. The essential difference this time was that while price increases eventually slowed, the rate of increase never dropped to even the fastest rises of previous cycles. Even with an easing in price advances from an annual rate of well over 12 percent about mid-1974 to just over 6 percent in late 1975, the rise in prices was too great for consumers to have their usual buying power at that stage of recovery. Late last year, personal income was running 8.3 percent higher than a year before. And with tax cuts that had been made to spur recovery, disposable income was 9.7 percent higher. But adjusted for prices, the gain in disposable personal income amounted to only 3.5 percent. Compared with two years before, that was a gain of only 1 percent. Gains would appear much better in Texas. From December to December, personal income in Texas rose 14.1 percent. That put the state among the top ten in income gains. But the over 10 percent average rise in Dallas and Houston prices was probably fairly close to the increase in prices for the state as a whole. If so, the increase in real income in Texas was about in line with gains for the rest of the country. Since then, the situation has continued to improve. In the first quarter this year, aggregate output increased half again more than in the fourth quarter last year. And half this increase was attributed to inventory investment, marking a change in the nature of the recovery. Although the unemployment rate averaged 7.6 percent in the first quarter, total employment continued to expand and personal income increased at an annual rate of 11.4 percent. All this was accomplished with a further slowing in the increase in prices. Where consumer prices rose 8.3 percent in the third quarter last year and 6.8 percent in the fourth, they were up at an average annual rate

PEGGY'S POINTERS

As the home canning season is at hand, I will be running a series of articles on various tips and topics relating to Home Food Preservation. Perhaps you will find it useful to clip these notes and keep them with your canning books for future reference.

The first thought is to be sure your pressure canner produces a product safe to eat. A temperature of 240 degrees F. is necessary to destroy bacteria spores present in low-acid foods, which include vegetables other than tomatoes and tubers.

If the bacteria is not destroyed, it grows in jars or cans of food in the absence of air. It produces a toxin that causes the deadly botulism poisoning.

When selecting a pressure canner, look for features that assure adequate pressure can be safely reached and maintained.

Look for these features: --An accurate dial or weighted gauge that give 10 pounds pressure at sea level and up to 15 pounds in areas of Texas with 2,000 feet and above sea level. Hansford County is 3,100 feet above sea level, therefore process food in your pressure canner at 15 pounds pressure.

--rubber gasket or lugs that enable the canner to be airtight to help maintain pressure.

--a vent tube or petcock for exhausting air from the canner prior to sealing. Air is a poor conductor of heat.

--Petcock or other safety device for allowing steam to escape automatically if pressure goes above the level for which the canner was developed.

--metal used that is strong enough to withstand adequate pressure needed.

--handles on lid and kettle that enable safe handling.

--rack to hold jars off bottom of canner to allow for steam circulation.

YOU NAME IT!

Wow! Did I have a big week-end last Saturday! Me and the Kirby Kid, went to Raton, and almost won enough money to burn a wet dog! I got into several photo finishes at the race, and (four of them) ended up losing, but almost hit the jack pot! If all of our photo finishes would have won, I could have come home with a big roll of bills! But, I must admit, that the Raton race track is just "out of this world" for sheer fun and entertainment! As I said, me and the Kirby Kid left at 7 a.m., in his old '62 Ford Saturday morning, for Raton. We left several hours early, because the odds in Spearman were 62-1, that we wouldn't ever get back in that old rig! But, that is one bet we won, cause that old Ford didn't miss a beat. In fact, it ran as good as one of them Kirby vacuum cleaners, according to Claude Newell. I looked under the hood and he had a Kirby in it!

Back to my story! We departed from Spearman at 6:45, made it on to Gruber then Stratford. After leaving Stratford, we headed for Dalhart, and then on to Texline, where we stopped and had coffee with Janice Bannister at her restaurant in Texline! The food was great, and we enjoyed our coffee break. We left Texline, and it was so cold, we had to stop and put on our leather coats! I noticed that what little hay fever I had when I left Hansford County, had already cleared up and I knew I would be in great shape for the races.

We arrived in Raton at about 11:00 a.m., and drove up to the top of the city where the RATON sign is, and the view was beautiful. We had dinner and then headed for the tracks. The Raton Race track had sent me a press pass to use, and I must admit they were very gracious in honoring this pass, as me and Claude went right to the top of the track, and began studying our race forms. Several of the local people had sent $2 bets with us, so we picked what we thought would be a cinch race for them, and sure enough we lost their money first! But it was very close!

After the races, which were enjoyable, we headed up to the Raton City Lake, called Lake Maloya! We had to inspect the lake, and check it out for future visits. Sure enough, some of the fellows had caught some nice trout. This lake is located deep in a canyon, and it is really a nice place to take the family on the weekend. Only about 225 miles from downtown Spearman, and good camping facilities below the lake. We looked the lake over, and then went on up to the ski-lodge. They warned us at the ski-lodge to not try and cross on over to Trinidad, and of course this was just like waving a red flag at Mr. Newell. He informed them that his Ford could go over Pikes Peak. However, we talked him out of crossing the pass, and headed back to Folsom, N. M., which has a fine museum. We arrived in Folsom too late to go through the Museum, but did pick up some food at the local store, and headed back through the mountains to Kenton and Boise City. This is a beautiful drive, if you aren't in a hurry, and we weren't. We made it to Kenton just as it was getting dark, and on to Boise City where we stopped at Allsups and visited a spell! Left Boise city at about 9 p.m., and headed for the Dairy Queen in Stratford. I always stop by there to see if Mires will feed us on the credit. Sure enough Mires had worked hard all day, and was already in bed somewhere in Stratford. We wanted to find him and wake him up, but decided we would just come on in to Spearman. We arrived in the capital city at 11:55, and this ended a perfect day! We had our tents etc., but it was so cold in the mountains we decided to come on home Saturday night. So, in closing, I might remind you if you want a fine week-end drive, just get up early and head for Raton, it isn't far, and you can have some real fun!

Summer Reading Club Here

Young readers at Hansford County Library are participating this summer in the Summer Reading Club, sponsored by the library and the Texas State Library.

They are among more than 100,000 youngsters from throughout the state who will be spending part of their summer vacations reading for fun this year. They will be keeping records of what they have read in red, white, and blue reading logs.

"Movin' On...Then and Now" is the theme for 1976. Children dressed in appropriate costumes are shown in a conch, horse-drawn trolley, balloon, early train, stagecoach, early automobile, steamboat, biplane, helicopter, and moon rover. These pictures appear on the posters as well as on the reading log/activity books that each participant will receive. Each reading log also includes a cut-out figure that may be used to move across a time line that shows vehicles in their proper place in history.

Public library summer reading programs focus upon reading for enjoyment. Public library collections include a wide range of both informational materials and fiction. In addition to the books they read as participants in the Reading Club, youngsters will also see films, puppet shows, and other programs that will be carried on in the libraries.

Crop Reports From Farmers Needed

In early July, about 24, 700 Texas farmers will receive an acreage and production questionnaire from W. H. Walther, Agricultural Statistician for the Texas Crop and Livestock Reporting Service, Austin, Texas.

Information from this survey will be used to determine harvested acreage and production of early harvested crops for the state of Texas and for each county. Farmers who receive questionnaires are urged to complete and return them by mail. All individual reports are confidential and will be used only for state and county totals.

This survey is a cooperative effort of USDA's Statistical Reporting Service and the Texas Department of Agriculture.

Our Heritage of Faith

notes from Faith Lutheran Church

With the beginning of summer time the activities for church slow down. We do not have that many activities going on. So it is therefore very important we have regular attendance at worship. Worship is always to be the center of our religious experience but it is even more so in the summer when that is basically the only activity going on. Be regular in your service to others and to God.

Faith will not have church services on the 4th of July so all can attend the Ministerial Alliance Worship Service at 10:30 in the High School Auditorium. At 8:00 in the evening of the 4th the musical, "I Love America" will be conducted. We hope that the people of Spearman and Hansford County will join in on all the events planned for the Bicentennial.

Just a final note on Vacation Church School. It was a very successful week because of all the work put in by the teachers, helpers, and students. The theme of Shalom now has meaning for many more children and adults. The program on Sunday gave the children a chance to sing and tell how Shalom has come into the world. Special thanks goes to the Presbyterians and Pastor Freeman for once again working with us on the adventure. May God grant Shalom to all.

If you have no home of worship we invite you to Faith and worship with us. Victor Andersen is the Pastor and Bruce Loewenbagen is the Intern. Morning worship is at 9:30 and Sunday School is at 10:30.

Correct Soil Acidity Important For Gardens

The acid or alkaline condition of the soil (whether it's sour or sweet) has an important effect on the growth of vegetables. Two important reasons for this are that aluminum and manganese can be toxic to plant roots in acid soils and that acidity affects the availability of some nutrients, explains Jim Kuykendall, county agent for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

The "pH" scale is a practical and easily understood method of expressing the acid or alkaline level of a soil, points out Kuykendall. A value of pH 7.0 is neutral while lower values are acid and higher values are alkaline or basic.

The "pH" actually means "active" hydrogen in the soil solution. It is a logarithmic scale which means that each unit change represents a 10-fold change in the hydrogen ion concentration. The lower the pH, the more hydrogen ions, indicating a more acid soil. For example, a pH 6.0 is slightly acid but has 10 times as much active hydrogen as pH 7.0. Likewise, a soil with a pH of 5.0 is strongly acid and has 10 times more active hydrogen than pH 6.0 and 100 times more than pH 7.0. This emphasizes the importance of small differences in the pH for different soils.

Most garden vegetables will grow best in slightly acid soil with a pH of 6.0 to 6.5, explains Kuykendall. However, plants will make satisfactory growth in soils with higher pH values if the supply of plant nutrients is adequate.

A few plants grow best in more acid soils, largely due to the availability of iron or other minor nutrients. However, adding this nutrient overcomes the need for a low pH.

A soil test will determine the soil pH, adds Kuykendall. No soil should be limed without knowing that the pH is low enough to justify adding lime. Limestone neutralizes soil acidity and increases the pH.

For flowers and vegetables that desire alkaline soils, add ground limestone to reduce the acidity. About 10 pounds per 100 square feet is needed to raise the pH of a sandy loam soil one unit. Mix limestone thoroughly with the top 6 to 8 inches of soil. If this is not possible, reduce the rate by one-half and scratch the limestone into the soil surface where it can be moved into the soil with rain water or irrigation.

To reduce the pH of an alkaline soil, Kuykendall suggests applying aluminum sulfate or sulfur. Use about two pounds of aluminum sulfate or one pound of sulfur per 100 square feet. Mix with the top 6 to 8 inches of soil. Test the soil again in about six months to determine the effectiveness of the treatment.

It is best to retreat rather than risk adding too much acidifying material in one application.

Soils do not need to be limed every year, advises Kuykendall. Having a soil sample tested every three to four years should be sufficient to determine the lime requirement. Since too much lime can cause problems, it is important to know the pH of a soil before applying lime.

Even if you are on the right track, you'll get run over if you just sit there. Anonymous.

John Wayne Hit Slated For Showing

It has been quite a spell since there were weekend movies in Gruver but one of John Wayne's action-packed westerns has been secured for showing at the Junior High UMY-sponsored "Friday Night at the Movies" and "Saturday Night at the Movies" with a special Saturday morning matinee also scheduled.

"The Duke" heads the cast of "Rio Lobo" for this fast moving saga of the west. It is a role uniquely tailored to Wayne's special talents, a tough, brawling ex-Civil War officer who frees a Texas town of carpetbaggers and settles an old score with a war-time informer.

All the ingredients which have led to an Oscar Award for Wayne are intact in this film, lots of hard riding, an explosive train robbery, nerve shattering gunfights, and even a few fist fights (for which he is famous) for good measure in this outstanding film fare rated "G", A-1. Along with Wayne, other stellar members of the cast include

Jennifer O'Neill and Jack Elam.

Three cartoons will also be featured in this movie fare, two of which are "Road Runner" and one a "Bugs Bunny". Popcorn and soft drinks will be available at each of the three showings.

The Friday evening show will begin at 7:30 P.M. in the Fellowship Hall of the Gruver United Methodist Church; Saturday at 9:30 A.M. and 7:30 P.M. Du-cat prices are 75 cents for children 12 or under and $1.25 for adults.

Save your gas, time, and money by attending one of these weekend movie dates. Relax and enjoy a night at the movies Friday and Saturday evenings.
