People Have Narrow Escape When Lightning Strikes Residence Setting Fire to It

AND MRS. RAYMOND JARVIS ARE VICTIMS OF TRAGEDY THAT NEARLY TOOK THEIR LIVES

Electricity Burns Holes in Clothes; Bullets in Are Melted

When a bolt of lightning struck their home, 22 miles west of Spearman, on last night, Mr. and Mrs. Jarvis narrowly escaped to death, before they themselves and ex-

Several weeks ago, Mrs. Womble and son and daughter, Joe Douglas and Jaynelle, left for Mineral Wells for an extended visit. They left Womble to be the housekeeper and chief cook and bottle washer.

Womble says he knows now that he would never develop into a cook; that he despises dish washing and has even grown tired of sweeping with a vacuum sweeper.

The county clerk says, despite his many duties as the clerk's office he has kept his house clean and in order. His friends have their doubts about this. One man, who seems to have secretly spied on Womble's chamber maid qualifications, says the house is bestrewn with papers, with only a small alley for a passway and that the dishes are stacked nearly to the ceiling.

Slight wonder that Womble dislikes the task of "batching." And there is not the slightest doubt that he'll be a mighty happy man when Mrs. Womble and the children return July 1.

COUNTY CLERK WOMBLE DON'T LIKE BACHELOR LIFE

Cooking, sweeping and sewing, fails to have a very great appeal for J. E. Womble, county clerk of Hansford County. Besides not liking the idea of "batching," he says he's plumb tired of it.

According to the records of county clerk, J. E. Womble, Dan Cupid is doing his best to shoot harder and with more accuracy to give Texas clerks and parsons a break in the marriage market.

A pursuit of the records of Hansford county show 4 marriage licenses issued in Spearman so far this year. All of these but one were issued in June of this year.

The single was issued in May. In 1930 there were only three marriage licenses issued in Spearman during the entire year.

New Mexico, Oklahoma and other nearby states have been getting more than their share of couples who wanted to get married when they wanted to, and could not wait any reason why they should wait the unendurable time of three days in which to say "I will."

Not that clerks and parsons of this section are offering any complaint. They simply like to do their bit toward making the "word go 'round."

Dan Cupid is trying to cope with the situation and the four marriage licenses that have been issued to date in Spearman, against only three for the entire year of 1930, indicates that Dan is "doing his stuff," in making young folks be a little more patient before they set sail on their marriage voyage.

It seems to work a hardship on men, who want to get married in Texas, because they say that after a girl has said yes, it is so easy for her to change her mind in three days. And that's bad.

Excavation work is continuing on Highway 117, outside the city limits toward Perryton. Brick has been placed for laying all along Collard Street. The caliche surface has been spread over the entire street and is now being settled, getting in condition for the finishing work.

Dr. Gower and Spencer Attend; Spencer, President of Group, Presides at Meet

Dr. J. E. Gower and Dr. R. T. Spencer, well known men of the medical profession of Spearman, were in attendance Wednesday evening at the regular monthly meeting of the North Plains Medical Society that met in an interesting session at Canadian.

The most interesting topic of the meeting was a discussion brought before the body by Dr. G. W. Greer of Miami, on "Abnormal Injuries."

Dr. Spencer, who is president of the society presided. It was unanimously decided to hold the next regular meeting at Higgins.

Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Lee have returned home from Hollis, Okla., where they spent the past week.

W. S. Thomas was in from his farm home in the Kimball community Monday.

Mrs. J. M. Hart and son Warren were shopping in the city Saturday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Simmons, of west Ochiltree county, were business visitors in Spearman Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Reed and Mrs. James Reed were shopping and attending to business matters in the city the first of the week. They report quite a little hail in the Blodgett community.

Dr. Allison has practiced his profession in a number of states, before coming here he was located in Oklahoma. Previous to the establishing of his down town offices Dr. Allison was located at McKay Home Hospital.

Ralph Bort, cashier of the First State Bank of Gruver was a business visitor in the city Tuesday afternoon.

Miss Maudie Holt, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. B. C. Holt, returned to her home here the past week, from the University of Texas, where she has been for the past term.

So far as is known Miss Holt is the only Spearman High school student that attended the University there this year.

Dan Cupid Helping To Give This Part Of Texas Marriage Break

Marriage Law Requiring 3 Days Filing Notice, Still Tough on Clerks and Parsons

Returns From College

MISS MATILDA RIEMER

After having completed a very successful school year at Texas Tech, in Lubbock, Miss Matilda Riemer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Otto Riemer, returned home this week to spend the summer vacation.

It will be remembered that Miss Riemer was valedictorian of the Spearman high school senior class of 1930, making the highest average in her grades. Miss Riemer is taking a Summer correspondence course, adding to her credits for Sprays of Electricity Burns Holes to return to Lubbock this fall to continue her studies.

Work on laying brick on the new pavement continued this week without interruption. Brick has reached the McClellan Grain Co., a distance of approximately three blocks. The brick crew expected to have all pavement on Collard street in the city, completed within the next two weeks.

Excavation work is continuing on Highway 117, outside the city limits toward Perryton. Brick has been placed for laying all along Collard Street. The caliche surface has been spread over the entire street and is now being settled, getting in condition for the finishing work.

Present Manager Has Served The Company For Two Years In An Efficient Way

A. L. Rippey, who has served that company efficiently for the past two years, was re-elected manager of the Spearman Equity Exchange at a meeting recently held by members and directors.

Rippey came to Spearman two years ago to assume his duties with the Equity and has served them efficiently since that time. His re-election to the position of manager is an example of the faith and confidence the company has in his ability.

Miss Vera Campbell was unanimously elected by the company to assume the position of bookkeeper. She has already taken up her duties. Previous to her position with the Equity, she was bookkeeper for the Consumer's Sales Company.

Rev. Felix W. Tarbet, Mable Tarbet, Ruby Hall, Colleen Tower, and Rhoda Tower left Spearman Monday morning of last week for Oklahoma City, where they visited several places of interest including the Oklahoma State Capitol and the large city zoo. The party returned Friday leaving Miss Mable Tarbet at her home in Oklahoma City. Rev. Chas. Lattimer accompanied them back to Spearman, where he will spend several weeks visiting.

Johnie Spivey was in from his farm home near Gruver Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. A. R. Junod were in from their farm home in the Kimball community Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Major Lackey were in the city Wednesday, from their farm home in north Hutchinson county, visiting and shopping.

Friends of Miss Agnes Wilmeth and Cloyd Windom, were agreeably surprised Wednesday, when formal announcement was made that the popular young couple were married last February 14, at Beaver, Oklahoma.

Mrs. Windom, the talented daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Wilmeth of this city and has a host of friends and admirers. Cloyd Windom, who is known in athletic circles over the entire State, made one of the most brilliant records in his track and field achievements this year, that has been accredited to any single athlete.

Mr. and Mrs. Windom left Wednesday for points east for an extended honeymoon. They are expected to make their home in Spearman.

Torrential Storm With Rain And Hail Sweeps Over County Sunday

A torrential storm, with rain, hail, and a 50 mile per hour gale, swept ruthlessly over Hansford county and other portions of the North Plains Sunday afternoon. In its wake some destruction was left to wheat and other growing crops. Between one and one-half and two inches of rain fell in about 30 minutes.

The storm was accompanied by an intense electrical display with the heaviest downpour of rain in such a short interval that this section has had for several months.

General businesses reported damages to roofs and a lumber of metal awnings in the business district were destroyed.

Farmers in some sections reported considerable damage to wheat, in few cases were the losses entire.

Blowing in from the north and cutting a swath of about 8 miles wide the storm traversed the county and on into Hutchinson county where damages to wheat crops were also reported.

The heaviest hail was reported to have fallen south and west of Spearman and only extended a few miles east of the city. However another hail storm the same day passed through the Blodgett community in west Ochiltree county, doing considerable damage.

Farmers were of the opinion that over the entire acreage of the county, damages will only be slight.

Poultry raisers sustained some losses with their flocks, because they were unable to get them to shelter on account of the suddenness of the storm.

Gardens in the path of the storm were reported to have been damaged greatly.

NEW LINE INSTALLED TAKES IN NINETEEN MILES IN SOUTHEAST PART OF COUNTY

THANKS NEW READERS WE HOPE YOU WILL LIKE THE REPORTER

Dozen of new subscribers to the Spearman Reporter this week, were added to the growing list of readers. The Reporter is offering a special summer rate on new subscriptions, of only $1.00 for one year. Farmers of Hansford and adjoining counties are sending in their subscriptions in great numbers and many more are expected to take advantage of the special saving before it expires. We thank the new subscribers. We are going to continue to give you an interesting, progressive, variable and "newsy" newspaper, that will clearly mirror the social, economic, civic, and business life and activities of this section of the North Plains. Whatever progress depends on a good newspaper, the Reporter will meet that demand and will use its influence in stable and worthwhile development for the good of every citizen.

Fifteen farmers in the south eastern part of Hansford county and across the line in Ochiltree county, are soon to be served out of Spearman by a new telephone line, which is an indication of the rural progress that farmers are making in this section of the North Plains. Poles and wire have already been installed and it is expected that all boxes will be in operation by the latter part of next week.

Fred Lusk, manager of the Western Telephone corporation, serving Spearman and vicinity, said that the best of service would be given the farmers and a minimum charge made on the monthly rate.

W. M. Deck headed the petitioners in securing enough farmers to justify building the new line. The new project will represent an investment of several thousand dollars.

Farmers who will be served by the new line are W. M. Deck, W. L. Pope, L. P. Brown, D. B. Pearson, Mr. Vasey, R. A. Fuller, E. D. Clement, Ray Skinner, Mrs. A. F. Cook, Walter Daniel, J. N. Traylor, E. A. Greever, W. A. Simmons, J. H. Reudus, and W. A. Schubert.

D. C. Boland Goes To Veterans Hospital Efforts of Legion

D. C. Boland, disabled war veteran, left Sunday for Muskogee, Okla., where he will receive treatment in a government hospital. Boland was in the late world war. He has had poor health for some time.

The Sullivan R. Spivey Post of Spearman has been working to get Boland in the hospital and it was through their efforts that he was finally admitted.

Scores of ex-service men, veterans of both the Spanish American and late world war, are taking advantage of the hospitalization service of government hospitals. Many of them are in need of medical attention.

Any ex-service man of either the Spanish American or late world war, who has incurred any disease since his discharge from the service, is entitled to medical care in government institutions.

Collard Recuperating Tonsillitis Treatment

J. R. Collard, who returned from Amarillo this week, is recuperating from treatment for tonsillitis, where he has been under the care of a physician in that city for more than a week.

Collard said that he was feeling some better and believed he would be thoroughly recuperated in the near future.

Expert Praises R. V. Converse Herd Of Fine Duroc Hogs

Checking over the high grade of Duroc hogs owned by R. Converse, on his Broadview farm, near Spearman last Friday, D. Strickland, field representative of the National Duroc Record Association of Peoria, Ill., classed him as one of the finest in the Midwest.

Particularly did the expert refer comment on Colonel Ray, aged boar, out of Golden gam, who was twice International champion. He stated that Colonel Ray, owned by Converse, is one of the outstanding boars the breed and the best in the Midwest.

Converse was highly complimented by Strickland on his work, establishing a club of eight hogs furnishing them with high grade gilts for the production of the bred Duroc hogs. Together with Converse, Strickland visited number of the boys and inspected the fine club stock. He declared them to be unquestionably as good as could be found anywhere.

Converse has something like 100 head of fine Durocs on his place and is taking particular pains to build up his herd with a still higher strain of stock.

Woodville and Billy Jarvis and H. Word returned the latter part of last week from a pleasant sight-seeing trip to the Rockies. They report visiting many interesting places.

HOW MUCH DAMAGE?

A cross section of information from all over Hansford county, indicates that the damage by hail last Sunday, over the entire acreage of the county, is comparatively small. In some fields, much loss was sustained. In others, slightly noticeable, and in a majority of fields, no loss at all. Some few gardens were damaged and small row crops that had not as yet received cultivation, were reported lost. Most of the larger row crops weathered the storm without loss.

Beneficial rains that varied from one and one-half to two inches fell over the county. Thousands of acres of wheat and small row crops were helped and will produce a much greater yield because of the rain.

In every disaster there seems to be an element of good. Unfortunate farmers who suffered the greatest losses might come out better in the long run by planting row crops at this time. Farmers who received little or no damage will harvest more wheat because of the good rains.

WE THANK MR. RIEMER

The editor of the Reporter for the first time in his life, ate some luscious North Plains strawberries this week. And we have Otto Riemer, one of Hansford county's substantial farmers to thank for the feast. Riemer brought a nice, well filled basket of the fruit that he had grown on his farm near Spearman, to the editor and his family.

Some time ago at the semi-annual farmers banquet in Spearman the editor of the Reporter made a speech and particularly appealed to farmers for an occasional meal. We are glad that Riemer took the editor seriously and brought in some food, because never have we enjoyed anything more than we did those fine, edible strawberries. We only hope that other farmers might be induced to follow Riemer's example, for editors and their families do have to eat-sometimes.

GOVERNORS TOE THE MARK

Tennessee is about to impeach its Governor, Henry Hollis Horton. He is charged with criminal conspiracy, and having used state funds for personal aggrandizement. The Tennessee Legislature has already taken a decisive step toward impeachment. It looks like political ruin for the twice elected, mild-mannered man, who was formerly a village school teacher.

KEEP THE BOYS AND GIRLS BUSY

School boys and girls who have put away their books for another vacation, have a lot of time heavy on their hands. Of course, most of them go in for various forms of outdoor recreation, but even boys and girls become weary of playing. Parents should plan some kind of work for them, something that will keep their minds occupied with constructive thinking.

The Little Fellow Loses

The small country printer is the principal sufferer from government sale of stamped, return-addressed envelopes," says the manufacturers and Industrial New Bureau.

"Government envelopes with return addresses printed on them are sold at the same unit price whether the purchaser takes five hundred or a million. The loss sustained by the government on small orders is made up by high profits on quantity orders. As a result, private envelope manufacturing concerns can furnish the large consumer printed envelopes at less than the government's figures.

"But the small printer is powerless. He would be the natural recipient of the five hundred or one thousand lot orders that large manufacturers would not bother with. It is this kind of business that government competition takes away from him. The government is using all the advantages of its credit and purchasing power, conferred on it by the people, and encroaching on the livelihood of some of its citizens.

Those politicians who are now busy telling us how to bring back prosperity might take time to reflect that a way to bring prosperity to the country printer would be to give him a chance to pursue his business without government competition."

TEXAS TECH COACHING SCHOOL AUGUST FIRST

LUBBOCK, June 18.—Texas Technological College's first coaching school continues to attract nation wide interest.

Applications from all parts of the country have been received by P. W. Cawthon, athletic director, for study under Wallace Wade and Jimmy Phelan here during the first two weeks of August. Wade and Phelan will conduct the football coaching classes while Jimmy Kitts and Sad Sam Burton will instruct coaches in basketball. The addition of Kitts and Bur-

Annual Census of Texas Farms Plan of New State Law

AUSTIN, Texas, June 11.—Plans were laid here today by the federal department of agriculture officials for administration of Texas' new farm census law, just approved by Governor Ross Sterling.

The law will be administered jointly by Carl Robinson, senior statistician for the bureau of crop economics, U. S. Department of Agriculture, and J. E. McDonald, commissioner of the Texas department. Some eighteen other states already have joint state-federal bureaus of statistics.

The law provided for an annual and continuous farm census, to include acreages, production, and livestock. It was sponsored in the legislature by Representatives Westbrook, Olsen and Tarwater, at the request of state and federal agriculture departments, Texas A. & M. College and the Bureau of Business Research, University of Texas.

Cylinder Sections connected through Universal Joints

TURN AS ONE

EXPERIENCED farmers prefer the Case Wheatland Disk Plow for many good reasons. This is why—

A patented feature of the Case Wheatland is the Universal Joint connections between the disk gangs. The cylinder can bend in hard ground without gang bolt breakage or additional draft. One gang can be removed if soil conditions require it. When connected, all gang turn as one.

A sturdy, well-braced and trussed I-beam frame, made of high carbon steel, directly over and supports disks. Gives strength and stability to the plow, and proper angle of weight above the disks. Positive penetration is assured. The frame's high location of disks eliminates clogging. Come in and see this Case disk plow that cuts fields rapidly, conserves moisture and increases crop yields. We have a complete line of quality implements. We're your service.

Chevrolet six-cylinder trucks cost less to operate

CHEVROLET It is a matter of record, among more and more large fleet operators, that Chevrolet six-cylinder trucks give a lower transportation cost than any other truck of equal capacity in the market.

These firms are finding, through experience, that Chevrolet's can deliver more capable of 20 miles or better to the gallon of gasoline; that Chevrolet 1 1/2-ton trucks are making fuel records which are relatively just as high. That it costs very little to keep Chevrolet trucks in first class working order. That Chevrolet service charges on both parts and labor are exceptionally low. That the active life of Chevrolet trucks extends well past the 50,000 mileage mark.

To place your hauling on a minimum-cost basis—and keep it there—put Chevrolet six-cylinder trucks to work. A wide variety of Chevrolet-built bodies is now available. And delivered prices of Chevrolet trucks, complete and ready for work, are based on low chassis-cost and low body-cost, plus only reasonable charges for handling and financing.

Chevrolet 1 1/2-ton chassis with 131" wheelbase (Dual wheels optional, $50 extra) $520
1 1/2-ton chassis with 157" wheelbase, (Dual wheels standard) $590
Commercial chassis, $355

Truck chassis prices f. o. b. Flint, Michigan. All truck body prices f. o. b. Indianapolis, Indiana. Special equipment extra. Low delivered prices and easy terms.

National Sunday School Lesson

By DR. J. E. NUNN

JUNE 21, 1931

Topic:—The Sin of Others to Stumble.
Lesson:—Romans 14:

Let us not therefore judge one another any more: but judge rather, that no man put a block in his brother's way on an occasion of falling. For we know, and am persuaded, that nothing is saved by itself: save that to accounteth anything to man, to him it is unclean. For if because of meat thy brother is grieved, thou walkest in love. Destroy not with him from whom Christ the great debated question in Christian circles of his day, "Shall we eat meat that has been consecrated to an idol?" Virtually all the meat sold in the shops in Greek and Roman countries was the unburned portion of heathen sacrifices, and had been dedicated to some of the degrading heathen deities. Paul said that, so far as he was concerned, an idol was a mere nothing, the dedication of the meat in a heathen temple did not change it in the least; it was entirely "clean" to him. But he realized that to some one recently come out of heathenism the act of eating meat known to have been thus dedicated was likely to bring back in a rush all his old heathen impulses, the longing for the licentious scenes and lustful or cruel acts of the heathen worship to such a person meat once dedicated to idols was indeed "unclean" and spiritually unsafe.

Abstinence for the Sake of Others

Let not then your good be eaten of; for the kingdom of God is not in eating and drinking, but in peace and joy by the Holy Spirit. For he that herein serveth his well-pleasing to God, and not of men. So then let us follow after which make for peace, and whereby we may edify one another.

"For if because of meat thy brother is grieved." "Is not only displeased for the moment, but led by the example to do that on account of which he will afterward be grieved with himself."—Rev. Albert N. Arnold, D. D. "Thou walkest no longer in love." No lover of mankind will indulge in intoxicants; only the egoist, the selfish, the careless of others.

Overthrow not for meat's sake the work of God. All things are clean; howbeit it is evil to eat with offence. It is good not to eat flesh, drink wine, nor to do anything whereby thy brother stumbleth.—Rom. 14:

Among those who make up the real minority in opposition to the drink-prohibition adventure in the United States are "the self-privileged," who regard themselves as in position to pick the laws for others. Many such find and advance a philosophy of their own to justify their claims to privilege. Among these are often people of influence, wealth, and social standing, and especially others who desire to climb into an exclusive class as quickly as possible. Such are not willing to recognize the rule of the majority. They claim for themselves the privilege of ruling but not of being ruled. Chief Justice Taft well described their attitude when he said: "One who holds his claim to personal liberty to be of higher sanction than this overwhelming constitutional expression of the people is a disciple of pure Bolshevism." Their own enjoyments stand first—the welfare of society second, or not at all.—Harry S. Warner.

"Righteousness and Peace and Joy" v. 17

Paul wrote his letter to Roman Christians, A. D. 57. He wrote it at Corinth, and a three-months stay there on his third missionary tour.

"The kingdom of God is not a matter of externals, but has to do rather with inward life." "In view of the argument of the Epistle it is best to explain these sacred words by Rom. 5:1-15. 'Righteousness' is the state of the justified in the eye of the Holy Law; 'peace' is the reconciliation of God and believing man; 'joy in the Holy Spirit' is the blissful realization of this state of peace and mercy, by the hearts in which 'the love of God is poured out by the Holy Spirit given unto us. These divine gifts stand here in supreme contrast to the petty gains of temporal and bodily freedom of choice and pleasure."—Bishop H. C. G. Moule. "In 'righteousness, peace, joy' we can recognize 'equality, liberty, fraternity,' interpreted, purified, extended. They tell us that the community and not the individual is the central thought in the life of men. They tell us that the fulfillment of duties and not the assertion of rights is the foundation of the social structure. They tell us that the end of labor is not material well being, but that larger, deeper, more abiding delight which comes from successfully ministering to the good of others."

National Prohibition at Present

"A Stumbling-block." v. 13. But judge ye this rather, that you should come to this judgment—that we must not put a stumbling-block in our brother's way. "That no man put a stumbling-block in his brother's way, or an occasion of falling." The Greek word translated by the four words is the origin of the word "scandal," and means snare; primarily, it is the trap on which the bait is placed. Every saloon and every seller of strong drink breaks the divine law, and incurs the condemnation of Hab. 2:12: "Woe unto him that giveth his neighbor drink, to make that addeth thy venom, and steepest him drunken also!" "No personal liberty can make me independent of the social law. None rests to himself. None can lose sight of the fact that he is among the weak, the young, the tempted. There is a duty each good man owes to the community, not recklessly to infringe on the customs that are safeguards of thousands, and if he do not himself need their restraint."—Rev. E. A. Washburn, D. D.

Professor Irvin Fisher, of Yale, thus sums up the present state of national prohibition in the United States: (1) Present conditions of law enforcement and national prohibition are intolerable and must be corrected. (2) Even so, they are not so dark as they have been painted. (3) Prohibition has already accomplished incalculable good, hygienically, economically, and socially. (4) Real personal liberty, the liberty to live and enjoy the full use of our faculties, is increased by prohibition. (5) Light wines and beer can-

(7) All the wets can possibly accomplish is laxity of enforcement or nullification; in other words, enormously to increase the very disrespect for law which they profess to deplore. (8) Therefore the only satisfactory solution lies in fuller enforcement."

The Evil of Strong Drink

The use of strong drink tears down one's body, mind, and soul; it ruins one's worldly fortune and destroys one's inheritance in the kingdom of heaven. "Alcohol damages body tissues and impairs functions to such a degree that it is unwise to use it as a beverage, unsafe to depend upon it for stimulation. It is not a tonic; it is a narcotic. It weakens the heart. It lowers resistance to disease. It shortens life. It impairs one's judgment. It reduces one's earning power. It is harmful in even the smallest doses. It delays and prevents digestion. It is a race poison. It has become obsolete as a remedy. It kills everything that lives. It preserves anything that's dead."—Horsley and Sturge.

LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE

CALIFORNIA

The question asked us most frequently is "How Do You Like California?" We answer "fine." When we came home last year we liked it so much that we could not stay away. This year we are more than ever entranced with it, and hope that we will not be obliged to stay away.

sea, go to Santa Monica; walk along the shore and look up at the palisades, or stroll along the beautiful walks among the palms and flowers. If you are a sport other beaches may please you better. Go on to San Pedro; see the harbor, the ships great and small; see point Termini, a portion of which cracked two years ago and appears to be slipping off and has been condemned. The crack had widened when we saw it, to about six feet and was about sixty feet deep. If space permitted we could tell you some interesting features connected with this phenomena.

Follow the coast highway to Long Beach; it's dinner time and we are hungry, so let us go to the "Merry-go-Round" on First St., just off American Avenue. We are treated courteously and sit down at the round table; the waiter takes your meet or fish order, brings all hot dishes and hot drinks and says, "Help yourselves, eat all you want." Now as the Merry-go-Round passes, tempting salads of all kinds, breads, hot and cold, pickles, relishes, puddings, pies, cakes and cookies. Now pay your bill—it's forty-five cents, no more, no less. Is it good? You ask Bud Cox, he knows. Walk one block to the pike, see the oriental shops, hear a lecture or go into some of the exhibits of fish, birds or reptiles. Walk out on the pier and watch the launches unload from the large ships. Now drive over Signal Hill and see the forest of derricks.

Farnsworth, June 18.—With a wool market about 10c lower than last year, wool growers here are putting a larger amount of this year's clip through the National Wool Marketing Corporation. A shipment of 115,000 pounds was billed from Farnsworth to Boston, Thursday.

The difference in price from last year makes a loss to growers of nearly $7,000, if the wool were sold on the present market. Should the market improve and the National Marketing Corporation be able to make additional returns to the members of the Regional Association for the 1931 clip, as is hoped, cooperative marketing as fostered by the Federal Marketing Act, will be further justified in the opinion of producers.

M. L. Norris, of Clovis N. M., Asst. Sec. for the National Wool Marketing Corp., received the wool at Farnsworth and made shipment direct to Draper & Sons of Boston, who are selling agents for the National Wool Marketing Corporation. An advance payment of approximately 8c per pound was made to the growers, this being about 75 per cent of the present market price. The amount of wool put thru the National Corporation exceeds the amount last year by 10,000 pounds. How much of this increase use of the cooperative set-up may be attributed to the influence of the recently organized Granges in Ochiltree County is a topic of local discussion. The largest producers of wool in this locality include, J. W.

piloting her new Chevrolet coach on the long road between Detroit and San Pedro, California. She left the Motor City a few days ago and expects to cover the 2,800 mile journey in about thirteen days.

And Mrs. Stewart—alho she speaks of herself, and is known to a host of friends and relatives as Grandma Stewart—will drive every foot of the way. She has made the trip five times, usually alone, and although she has two friends with her on this journey neither of them can drive.

Mrs. Stewart, whose home is in California, has been visiting her son in Detroit. With her visit drawing to a close, she decided to "shop around for a new car" to make the long trip back home.

In shopping around, Mrs. Stewart was so favorably impressed with the performance of the new six cylinder Chevrolet coach and its reputation for economy that she decided on its purchase after a thorough demonstration by a Detroit dealer.

Although a native daughter of Illinois, Mrs. Stewart has lived in California, where she operates a chicken farm, since 1916.

KIMBALL KLIPPINGS

By Mrs. W. C. Nollner

This vicinity was visited by a wonderful rain Sunday afternoon. Some hail fell but not a great loss was caused by it, however a few reported as much as fifty percent loss. The rain came too late to do the wheat much good but it was great for the row crops and gardens. That means a great deal as it seems we're at the place where if we farm folks eat next winter, we'll have to raise the eats, so we're planning on raising all the garden truck possible and "eating all we can, and canning all we can't."

R. D. D. A. and Paul Tomlinson have returned from a trip to Manhattan, Kansas, where they attended the Institute of Co-operation. They report a most enjoyable and instructive time. There were thirty-two states represented and thirteen hundred delegates present. Secretary Hyde and Secretary Stone were among the dignitaries in attendance, besides many professors of economics from various Universities over the U. S. Mr. Tomlinson was impressed with the fact that the Co-ops. of Washington and Oregon are now handling 80 per cent of the egg production of these states, with a capital of $4,000,000.

Misses Louis, Margaret and Althea Harvey attended a lawn social Thursday evening at the home of Mrs. W. N. Fletcher, in Gruver.

Willie Ray Gay of Morse was a guest of Carl Nollner Thursday night.

Mrs. Eldon Bolinger of Knowles, Okla., and Mrs. Robert Girard of Booker, Texas were visiting in the home of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Tompison and sisters, Mrs. R. D. Tomlinson and Mrs. E. O. Johnson, the past week.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Nollner, Metty Lois and Nella Beth, were Sunday visitors a the Earl Kizzair home.

A. J. Wilbanks and mother, Mrs. A. M. Wilbanks were callers in the Kimball district one day this week.

Mae Buckley called on Eloise Gamble Thursday morning.

Why Own Marketing Facilities

Owing to the rapid growth of the Pool Elevator system, a reasonable local handling charge is assured. In the face of adverse conditions, we are operating fifty additional elevators this year. Our organization, through the Farmers National Grain Corporation, is now bending every effort to break the stranglehold of the Chicago Grain Exchange. The most practical way to do this is through control of all the facilities touched by the producer's wheat on its route to the consumer buyers. It is to the vital interest of every producer to help in this effort through patronizing our branch of the Farmers National. If you fail to do so, the weight of your wheat is on the side of cheap wheat and world prices for the American producer.

Cheap wheat is essential to the Chicago wheat gamblers, for wheat must be forced down before people will be tempted to gamble, and then must be forced lower in order to make their money. Wheat must be cheap to bring profits to the private owners of public storage houses. If it is not cheap, people will not pay storage. If it is not held cheap, they will not continue to pay storage. Cheap wheat fits the interest of the country dealers, as it takes less money to handle it, and he has less loss through shrinkage and freight claims. There is one solution—producer control of handling facilities from top to bottom. The holder of our contracts will be entitled to a substantial advance on their wheat at a low rate of interest. If you wish to sell outright, you will participate in equities built up in handling facilities as they are acquired, which in turn pay dividends in higher prices for wheat.

THE CAT'S EYE

M. A. Wilbanks
 The Cat's Eye is worried. Did you see so many get the Cat's Eye? It is taking its toll on the people of Spearman. Surely must be a sign of depression is over. I talk to a few boys Wednesday to get their opinions on it. I told Wesley Hanson this matrimonial situation growing into serious things. He seemed not to worry over it in the least. All the while that he was going brave for my benefit. "There's no use for you for anyone can marry. Even I'm just waiting until you get out of office, or my come in." I don't know what he meant all this or do not like to quote anything without a witness but I am sure. Marvin Chambers told me all of this. This is one who has recently into matrimony, and his well worth listening to. He is a young man of judgment. Tip and Agnes had been married about months before they let anybody out about it. Marvin said a good way to get some word for the bride from the bride-in-law.
 The new paving sure is smooth. Finished from the North end of the street nearly to McClellan street.
 The new Gulf Service Station is in formal opening today. Cook is going to be man-
 Copeland bought a new yesterday. It sure is a pretty Sport coupe, with folding shield, let-down top, rumble spare tire, bumpers and one tank. Herbert Campbell went riding with him, and the honor of being his first passenger. He wouldn't break a bottle of champagne to christen it, because he was afraid that it would mar the car. We didn't care, because we had no champagne in the first place.
 The Cat's Eye saw Rev. J. W. late last night wrestling a ladder and after watching more closely finally figured out what he was doing. He is giving his house a new coat of paint by himself. It sure is going to be good when he gets it finished. Little paint helps almost anything.
 Pat Barbour stopped in Spearman Monday afternoon a few minutes. He was on his way from Muskogee, Oklahoma to his home in Dalhart.
 Star Harbison tried to do a act in lifting a big Kelvinator this week and caught something on his back. Since then he has been down and up quite slowly. His whole lot improved now.
 E. C. Nickell and Roscoe Baggett of Panhandle were business visitors in the city Wednesday.
 L. P. Baggerly, owner of the Steeple-Jungle store was in Spearman, Wednesday afternoon attending to business matters.
 Wm. Conway, traveling Freight Agent and J. C. Jones Claim Agent for the Rock Island Railroad, of Amarillo, were visitors in Spearman Thursday morning.

Chamber Commerce Serve Farmers In Securing Laborers

A bulletin was issued this week, in which J. W. Ratekin, secretary of the Spearman Chamber of Commerce, told farmers of this section that his organization was in a position to render them the best of service in securing laborers for harvest.
 A list of applicants are kept on file at the Chamber of Commerce, Ratekin said, giving each man's specific qualifications and the work he is best adapted to do. Men can be secured on short notice, Ratekin said. He urges farmers to call on his organization when in need of this service.

D. 1927, the defendant made, executed and delivered to Delbert Hughes certain promissory notes in writing bearing date on the day and year last aforesaid. Payable to the order of Delbert Hughes, payable at the First National Bank of Spearman, Spearman, Hansford County, Texas, said notes being numbered from One to Eight inclusive, and for the amounts and due as follows: Note No. 1 to Note No. 8 inclusive for the principal amount of One Hundred Dollars each and payable in twenty-five dollar monthly installments, the first installment being due and payable on or before the first day of November, 1928, and the last installment being due and payable on or before the first day of November, 1930, and note No. Eight for the principal amount of thirty-two dollars and seventy cents, and due in one installment, March First, 1931. Each of said notes bearing interest from date at the rate of Eight per cent per annum from date and said notes providing for ten per cent additional on the amount of principal and interest as attorney's fees.

 Said notes were given as part payment of lot No. Nine in Block No. Forty-seven, in the City of Spearman, Hansford County, Texas.
 Plaintiff alleging that Delbert Hughes and wife Daisey Hughes reserved a vendors lien on said land to secure the payment of said notes in their deed to the defendant dated July 30, 1927. And further alleges that Delbert Hughes and wife Daisey Hughes sold said notes and lien to I. E. Cameron; and further alleges that Alice E. Cameron, administratrix of the estate of I. E. Cameron deceased, sold said notes and lien to the plaintiff; and further alleges said notes are due and unpaid, and that the defendant refuses to pay the same to the plain-tiff's damage the principal, interest and attorney's fees on said notes and cost of court.

 Plaintiff prays for a judgment for his debt and damages and for the foreclosure of his Vendors Lien against the above described property.
 Herein Fail not but have before-said Court, at its aforesaid regular term, this writ with your return thereon, showing how you have executed the same.
 Given under my hand and the seal of said Court, at office in Spearman, Texas, on this 6th day of June, A. D. 1931.
 (Seal) J. E. WOMBLE, Clerk, District Court, 28th. Hansford, County, Texas.

NORTH PLAINS FARMER-STOCKMAN

Devoted to the Agricultural Interests of Hansford and Adjoining Counties

OTTO RIEMER, PIONEER FARMER OF THIS SECTION BELIEVES SALVATION OF NORTH PLAINS IS MORE FARMERS AND LESS ACRES

The Farm Filosafer Says

Well, we had a rain, a hail and a wind. It tore up things pretty bad in some sections of the country and it looks like some of us farmers will not have to give some of these hankering wheat buyers our years work at 35 cents a bushel.

One thing you can say about our chamber of commerce is that they spend a lot of time working with us old farmers. And the Lord only knows, we need it.

We noticed that in President Hoover's memorial address when he was talking about how George Washington give the Red Coats a licking at Valley Forge, he said Washington was "steadfast" and the country's go to be "steadfast." He did ride a chunk of ice across the Delaware. You've got to give George credit for some action. We're a little afraid our Pres. has got "steadfast" mixed up with "setfast." Just what a lot of his hi-powered politicians are doing now.

Even the farmer knows its better to give than to receive. But, by golly, he's just about "give out."

Greatest Poultry Loss By Disease Says Dr. Dunn

College Station, Texas, June 18. "Nothing steals poultry profits like outbreaks of disease," says Dr. R. C. Dunn, school of veterinary medicine, Texas A & M College, whose discussions of poultry diseases at the twenty-second annual Farmers Short Course at the college the week of July 27 will be among the features of the poultry program.

"To make poultry a dependable source of income the average farm has increased the number of chickens and this has brought about greater contamination of the yards, making disease prevention an important item to be considered. Frequent and thorough cleaning of the house is the first requirement of good sanitation. A double yarding system aids greatly in keeping down the contamination of the range as it permits one side to be plowed up and reseeded to green feed while the flock is ranging on the other portion. Water vessels are often the cause of spreading disease unless they are of a type that prevents germs from getting into them and that can be easily cleaned."

The short course poultry program Thursday, July 30, will be devoted exclusively to sanitation and poultry diseases of chickens and turkeys, including insinuating worms. Other topics of discussion during the week will include economics of the Texas poultry situation in relation to United States and world-wide conditions; methods of reducing cost of production taken from actual farm records; methods of brooding, feeding and managing baby chicks; and hatching, raising and finishing quality turkeys for market.

"Hot Air" Wheat Reports Lowers Price

The long winded "hot air" artists who write some of these bumper wheat crop stories for the daily and weekly papers of the Panhandle, should be taken out by some of our wheat farmers and treated to a good kick in the rear. Some of these high powered God gifted writers think it their sublime duty to eternally boost and report bumper crops whether they are actually produced or not. At the present time nearly every issue of the Amarillo News has a story about the enormous wheat crop in the Panhandle and every one of these stories just serves to have the market a little lower.

The truth about the matter is that the 1931 crop in the Panhandle is going to be far below the average. We would just like to take some of these boosting stories out into the wheat fields and show them the real condition of the wheat. It looks fine from the high-ways, but step out into the fields and examine the heads, and you will find that many of them have not a single grain in them. We do not know just what is the cause of this condition, probably the dry or winds that came before the recent rains, or the late freeze. A case examination will prove that any fields have as much as twenty-five per cent heads with no grain. We like and admire a boost-

"If we had more farmers living on the farms of the north plains, which would mean more good farmers on less acres, then I believe you would see the North Plains develop rapidly and become a thickly populated country, with beautiful homes and a prosperous people."

This is the sum total of an opinion expressed by Otto Riemer, successful pioneer farmer who lives seven miles Northeast of Spearman. Riemer has lived on the North Plains for 32 years and has seen this section of the country in its transformation from a cattle country to the horse-drawn implement farm days and now to the power farming days.

Despite the fact that farmers have felt and are still feeling the tide of depression due to low prices and short crops, Mr. Riemer thinks this is the best country on earth.

"I've lived in many portions of Texas and have travelled in many states," he said "but to my mind, the North Plains of Texas is the greatest agricultural country on earth."

The tendency of the plow and tractor to completely annihilate cattle raising has not worked in its entirety in Riemer. He still has a good herd of white-faced Hereford cattle, that he attends to and divides his time in raising wheat, strawberries, vegetables, hogs, dairy cattle and row crops.

"Of course, I adopt a simple policy of growing everything that I can grow for food, so that I can live at home. Any farmer can do that if he will only take the time and work. I think it is the most disastrous thing that could ever happen to this country for people to get the idea that they must grow only wheat. There are times when wheat will fail. We have had that experience in the past. And there are times when overproduction will cut down a fair profit. To my notion, there is but one way to bring a steady prosperity to Hansford county and the north plains and that is for farmers to farm less acres, farm them right, and plant a number of crops that we know will grow here.

Riemer has been a cowboy in his days. He has "punched" cattle from Oklahoma to Abilene and knew the great plains when it was the open range. He says that he has seen times that "were really hard times—such as this generation could not possibly conceive of."

Big scale farming, where thousands of acres are planted to wheat, and where there is no home improvement or beautification, will never develop "the greatest agricultural country on earth," Riemer contends.

"Cut up the land into reasonable tracts," Riemer said, "and let men who really enjoy living on the farm make their homes there, and there is nothing under the sun to keep this great country from continuing to be the greatest agricultural country on earth, and the best place in which to live."

CROP FIGURES DO INJUSTICE J. E. HILL SAYS

Condemnation of chambers of commerce and newspapers for over-estimating Panhandle wheat crops and a plea for accuracy in such estimates was made by John E. Hill of the Panhandle Lumber Company in a talk Wednesday noon before the Amarillo Real Estate Board.

He challenged the accuracy of the estimate on this year's wheat crop as published in a recent issue of the Dallas News, and the statement in which that paper was said to have inferred that harvesting of the Panhandle crop would begin his week, declaring that such over estimates and misstatements are injurious to wheat farmers.

Just returned from a survey of the Panhandle wheat belt, Mr. Hill predicted, barring unforeseen happenings, there will be a splendid average yield this year.

"But the constant publishing if guesses to the effect that the Panhandle will produce such and such an amount of wheat, when such figures are not properly compiled, is doing a serious harm to the producers," he stated.

"The basic reason for these mistakes lie in the fact that we here in the Panhandle frequently take in too much territory. When talking about 'our' wheat yield we include the Panhandle of Oklahoma and a section of Eastern New Mexico. Then when each of these states make estimates they likewise include their own territories, resulting in an over estimated yield when the figures are headed up at Washington.

"The prediction that Oklahoma will have a yield of 55 to 70 million bushels and that the Panhandle region will have a 45 to 50 million bushel yield cause an injustice to the farmer."

The speaker urged the Real Estate Board to create a committee to compile such data

Magda's dazed mind grasped that her manager wanted her to break up the performance.

Magda scanned the paper which Graustein had just brought her, engaged in bitterness. She knew even before she read it what the vitriolic sheet would say about her. It would berate her vehemently. Since her disastrous recital a week ago all the papers had done that. They had not been too engrossed in the imminent thunders of war to scant her. Inuendoes had been flung at her, reckless of libel. She had been the subject of tart editorials. Invidious articles were written about her, raking over her musical past with unsparring hand. One ingenious reporter even assembled the number of times that she had played Serbian pieces in the past year. In the absence of any other straw figure within immediate reach which journalistic denunciation could blacken, she came to be almost a symbol of the enemy. Every time she shuddered over an article about herself she had a feeling she was being hung in effigy. Colonel Mannlicher, busy though he was with martial preparations, nevertheless seemed to find time to feed the flames. But for the fact that her family had lived in Austria for many generations, and one of them had even held a high post in the Vienna government, she might have been clapped into jail.

There were no relatives now to intercede for her. The only one who understood by her was Graustein. The round little manager, for all his peppery bluster, had a staunch heart. His efforts to arrange another concert at which Magda could play nothing but spirited national airs were unavailing. His desperate endeavors to obtain any sort of booking for her at all had come to naught. The war fever vented its virus on her. The hot-headed stalling of the heir to the Austrian throne which was precipitating Europe into the frightful maelstrom of war served also to ruin Magda's career.

She forced herself, indomitable but flinching of eye, to finish reading this latest battering of her reputation. When she looked up Graustein's gaze was cast uneasily upon her, and he was clearing his throat uncertainly.

Chapter II

"H'm!" he rasped. "I have received an intimation from a certain quarter."

"Colonel Mannlicher?" she demanded.

"Well... yes," he admitted uncomfortably. "He has conveyed word to me that if you will become friendly again, he will do his part to reinstate you in."

"Never!" she flashed at him. "I'd rather rot in the street first!"

He shrugged dismally. "It may come to that. After all, it was only a little lapse... just trifling with a servant girl..."

"Yes... that's his way of looking at it. It only shows the contemptible way that his kind look upon all women."

"But, Magdachen, he has much power!"

"Which he uses in a cowardly way! Persuading those officers to stay there—even when they knew the Archduke had been killed, and they might have gone to the War Department—keeping them there just to wreck my performance—my whole livelihood. I hate him—I hate all that coterie of pompous, self-centered officers—I want nothing more to do with them!"

Graustein threw up his hands dejectedly. "Herr Gott, you have an obstinacy! It must be in your blood!"

"I want no more about my blood!" she broke in turbently. "That cad has said enough about that!" She was pacing the room now, tumultuously. "I might—yes, I might have forgiven him the escapade with Otilie. I might have gone back to him, if he had not tried to destroy my art. My work was sacred to me—it was my life. Like every aristocrat of his type, he thought it was something that he could break and toes away if he chose!"

The manager seemed shrunken together now, a little weary and old. "But Gott in Himmel, what are you going to do?"

She paused, brushing the shimmering hair from her brows with a gesture tired and distraught. Her forehead still held that immaculate smoothness which made so many men turn avid glances toward her. But the eyes beneath seemed to have dropped down a well of misery.

"I think," she said slowly, "I'll apply for a place in one of the hospitals."

His head bobbed up, hope and inspiration springing to his eyes. "Good! That is splendid! When you get it, tell me and I will inform the papers—you can doubtless get some easy post—this will convince them of your patriotism—while you can go on playing—giving concerts for the wounded—winning back!"

"No!" she said, finding him almost ghoulish in his readiness to use the maiming of men for her exploitation. "I don't want to do this for my own advantage. I'm a little sick of playing before audiences—before a public that was ready to turn and rend me on such a flimsy excuse. No! I want to do this to help out—to take my place. They will need help soon, I'm afraid."

She went to the leading hospital. She was met with a curt refusal. They already had more volunteers than they needed, she was told. She tried other hospitals. Always the same response. An evasive shifting of the eyes, a fumbling answer. They were full up. She even applied to be put on the waiting list, ready to step forward when the women who had enrolled in the first lot were there dwindled. She was assured that there was already such a long waiting list that it would be useless to add her to it.

With a growing depression she applied to the Red Cross for service for which they could not use anyone whose faithfulness was open to question.

having placed high in the state contest at Amarillo and the National Contest at Tulsa. This group of accomplished musicians will play before the main program starts, as well as during the time that trick and fancy riding and roping events are in progress.

The Public Address system will be used again this year, insuring everyone in the grandstands hearing every word of the announcements and events as they are carried on. Floyd Studer of Amarillo will be at the "mike."

Morris Brothers of Gainesville will amuse those from 6 to 60 with their clowning. Lonnie Rooney, of Ardmore, Okla., will direct the show. At considerable expense, Ted "Suicide" Elder has been acquired to trick ride, and to do the sensational act of jumping two horses, Roman, over a car during the performance. This act was with Ringling Bros. and Barnum and Bailey Shows and also 101 Ranch Wild West Show the last two years.

Anvil Park at Canadian is ideally situated for the staging of such an event. Beautiful camp grounds with plenty of shade and excellent water await the traveler and is free to all visitors. Hotel and room accommodations are amply provided for in Canadian.

Anvil Park Rodeo, staging its ninth anniversary on July 4th, began with a few hundred attendants and has grown steadily each year until it has become a recognized summer event in the Texas Panhandle, drawing thousands of visitors, not only from Texas, but also from adjoining states and beyond, who have directly encouraged the rodeo management in the maintenance of an A-No. 1 attraction.

Like tobacco... the best Gasoline is Blended

There are many kinds of tobacco... there are soils and climates in which the plant is grown. Every smoker knows that no single tobacco makes a pleasant smoke. You may prefer Burley with a touch of Turkish or a mixture which includes Perique. Whatever the preference, the popularity of your favorite brand rests entirely on the adeptness of the blender.

There are various types of gasoline. No one of them contains all the properties you want in motor fuel. The proper balance of proper balance do contain them. That's why CONOCO refiners developed their balanced-blend, triple-test gasoline. Three types of gasoline are used: Natural Gasoline, for quick starting; Straight-run Gasoline, for power and long mileage; Cracked Gasoline, for its anti-knock properties.

As expertly as the tobacco leaves are mellowed and combined, these three elements are produced and blended in balanced proportions to make CONOCO Gasoline. CONOCO refiners are masters of the art of blending.

You will find this better gasoline wherever you see the CONOCO Red Triangle. Try it today.

Killing And Dangerous Sports Will Feature Anvil Park Rodeo

Canadian, June 18.—A portrayal of the fascinating, thrilling and even dangerous sports as practiced by the true cowboy type during the range of a half century ago, a contest demanding the best skill, horsemanship, plain city and nerve, will be commencing in the staging of the Ninth Annual Rodeo and Cowboy Reunion at Canadian on July 4.

The only sport of the great west that has been brought about as direct result of an industry, Rodeo, which differs materially from the Wild West Shows with horses, cattle, calves, are grained and fitted for each year's show—doing nothing else throughout the year. All animals are carefully selected as to quality and type. Longhorned Mexican steers for the bulldogging act, Brahma steers for riding, all are of the highest type obtainable.

Canadian's rodeo, as with other similar events, confines itself to a purely competitive contest held to determine the best men performing these daring feats. The riders have to pay all their expenses from one rodeo to another. They receive no pay for their services and their only remuneration is such prizes as they win.

The Canadian High School band will play during the Rodeo. This band has made an enviable reputation for itself in the last year, which is often confused, is the outgrowth of gathering from neighboring ranches in the days when fences were a curiosity, where riders and workers from one ranch vied with a group from an adjoining ranch in close contest and rigid rules, for the right of honors and supremacy in their particular art of bronc riding, calf roping, bulldogging, steer riding and many other feats requiring years of applied effort to master.

With other roods of the type held at Cheyenne, Pendleton, Fort Worth, established institutions, the Anvil Park Rodeo is strictly a Texas Panhandle production, organized and financed by the Anvil Park Rodeo Co., Inc., with headquarters at Canadian, Texas. A good stock of animals, including

Churches and Society

Married

Dewey D. Faus and Miss Ella Fullbright were united in marriage Tuesday afternoon at the Methodist parsonage, Rev. H. A. Nichols officiating. Both the contracting parties are well known in Spearman, having lived here for many years.

Surprise Party

C. H. Ging was very agreeably surprised upon arriving home from church Sunday, to find a number of relatives and friends gathered to celebrate his birthday. One o'clock luncheon was served to the following guests: Rev. and Mrs. H. A. Nichols, Mr. and Mrs. Claude Tackitt, Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Hill and children, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Lewis and son Jack, of Dallas. All left in the late evening, wishing Mr. Ging many happy returns of the day.

T. E. L. Class Party

The T. E. L. Class of the Baptist church and their husbands had an apron party at the church Thursday evening, June 11.

The T. E. L. class was re-organized last February and in order to get some funds in the treasury Mrs. N. L. Beck made an apron and each member sewed a patch on and in this patch was an offering. So at this party the husbands were invited to share in the fun of tearing the patches off and counting the offerings which amounted to $23.95. Then the president, Mrs. Collins auctioned the beautiful hand embroidered apron off to the highest bidder, Rex Sanders being the highest got the apron for $6.00. So the total amount being $30.80. Old fashioned games were played and a jolly time had by all. Elaborate refreshments were served to the following:

Messrs. and Mesdames Rex Sanders, C. R. Kern, W. M. Glover, J. H. Richards, C. A. Hitt, W. L. DeArmond, Carl E. Hutchinson, Clyde Hazelwood, J. M. Sparks, Mrs. O. G. Collins, Mrs. H. B. Tewe, Mrs. E. W. Babb, Martha Babb.

Presbyterian Church

Our Sunday school meets at 10 a. m. each Sunday. Worship services at 11 a. m. and 3 p. m. of the third and fourth Sundays of each month. Don't forget to attend the services next Sunday. We believe in the "Old Time Religion." The world has improved on many things, but not along religious lines. Science has made many discoveries, but it has not found anything as good as the "Old Time Religion." The Bible, God, and Salvation can't be improved. The church is the place to learn of the best things.

Come and worship with us.
B. W. BAKER, Pastor.

Missionary Society

The Missionary Society of the Methodist church met Wednesday afternoon at the parsonage with Mesdames H. A. Nichols, F. M. Maize, R. W. Maples and D. B. Kirk hostesses. A Missionary Voice program was given. Mrs. J. W. Hekin gave the devotional, using Prayer as the topic of worship. Interesting news items were read by Mrs. John Hays. Mrs. P. A. Lyon told of the changes in our educational in China. Mrs. H. P. Bailey answered the question, "Are we threatened with uncertainty in our conception of Missions." Mrs. Sid Clark gave an interesting story on the "Border of Romance." Women's new day was told of by Mrs. Pope Gibner. In conclusion Mrs. Ratekin read a Spiritual Message entitled "Bringing the Easter Spirit Into Our Home." The next meeting will be with Mrs. R. E. Lee and will be a business meeting. The officers and committee from our Society who are a part of the Federated Society will please meet Friday afternoon at three thirty o'clock at the Baptist church. Mesdames R. E. Lee, R. L. McClellan, S. B. Hale and J. W. Ratekin are the committee. We were glad to have Mrs. Cockrell as a visitor. The following answered roll call: Mesdames Ging, Gerber, Kirk, Nichols, Cameron, C. P. Gibner, Caldwell, Pope, Gibner, Maples, Hays, Chambers, Trower, Bailey, Clark, Buchner, P. A. Lyon, McClellan, Higgs, Hester, Jackson, Maize, F. M. Lyon, Ratekin.

Methodist Church

Sunday school at 10 a. m.; Preaching at 11 a. m.; League at 7:45 p. m.; Evening worship at 8:15. A hearty welcome awaits all who come this way. We had new faces in the congregation last Sunday and we were glad to have you. Come back often. We begin on time and will dismiss promptly on time—so don't let that keep you away from the services of the day.

H. E. James Home Scene of Pretty Wedding

Miss Elsie Mae James, daughter of county surveyor T. O. James, recently became the bride of C. E. Park of Waco. The following account of the wedding, which occurred at the home of Miss James' cousins, Mr. and Mrs. Hugh James, former residents of Spearman, was taken from the Temple Daily Herald:

The marriage of Miss Elsie Mae James of Des Moines, N. M., to C. E. Park of Waco took place Friday at the home of the bride's cousins, Mr. and Mrs. H. E. James of Pendleton, with Rev. L. M. Walker of Fort Worth officiating.

The bride wore a rose beige chiffon with harmonizing accessories and carried an arm bouquet of pink rosebuds. She was attended by Miss Evelyn Kruger of Ilaton, N. M., as maid of honor, who wore a yellow net frock with a corsage of sweet peas. The bridegroom was attended by John Hurtik of West as best man.

Preceding the ceremony Mrs. L. M. Walker of Fort Worth sang "At Dawning" and "I Love You Truly." She was accompanied by Miss Katey Frederick of Clovis, N. M., who also played the wedding march.

Mrs. Walker wore a gown of green flat crepe, and Miss Frederic a yellow embroidered organdie with a corsage of sweet peas.

The reception rooms were decorated with ferns and summer flowers in pastel shades. The altar was improvised of ferns and tall floor baskets holding flowers in the chosen colors.

Following the ceremony a two course wedding breakfast was served to the wedding party and guests. The bride's cake was in a ring shaped design and was decorated with pink roses and lilies of the valley.

Guests, other than the wedding party, were T. O. James, Des Moines, N. M., father of the bride; Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Park, West; parents of the bridegroom; Mrs. Dawson G. Park and son, Billy Gray Park, of West; Ruth Aileen Walker, Fort Worth; Mrs. G. E. James, Caldwell; Mrs. M. F. Broadus and son, Billy Caldwell; Mr. and Mrs. H. E. James and children, Denzel, Lee, Hugh and Willard of Pendleton.

All the members of the wedding party with the exception of Mr. Hurtik of West, were classmates in Montezuma Baptist college at Montezuma, N. M.

The NEW SIX-SPEED SPECIAL

THE "Six-Speed Special" has swept the country. Now you can see these sturdy trucks everywhere, working on steep hills, through mud and gum in heavy timber operations, in farm fields, in the rough oil fields, and in and out of gravel pits and building excavations. And you can see them speeding along the highways everywhere.

We now offer a handsome new model retaining the "Six-Speed Special" feature—a still finer truck in every way. Increased power, increased capacity, 1 1/2-ton ratings, smoother operation and handling, greater comfort, improvements throughout making for sturdiness and long life; and handsome hood, radiator, cab and body design. Come and watch this truck perform! You'll admire its trim lines and speed, and its plucky work on the heavy grade will amaze you. We will demonstrate the new "Six-Speed Special" at your convenience and without obligation.
