THE SPEARMAN REPORTER, SPEARMAN, TEXAS 79081

THURSDAY, JUNE 30, 1983

A harvester moves steadily across a field near Gruver during the early stages of wheat harvest Friday. The wheat harvest throughout Hansford County and a broad expanse of the Texas and Oklahoma Panhandles was halted Monday when thunderstorms accompanied by high winds and light and widely scattered hail swept through the area. Some of the heaviest clouds of the year dumped a measured .82 of an inch in Spearman and other areas reported similar rainfall. At presstime no appreciable hail or wind damage to the crops still in the fields had been reported. The rain caught most of the wheat crops still in the field, although some harvesting was done last week and over the weekend before the weather forced delay in the harvest. J.D. Wilbanks reported 69-mile-an-hour gusts at his farm three miles east of Spearman.

Hadley Reed is State Saddle Bronc Rider

Spearman's Hadley Reed is the state champ saddle bronc rider.

Reed won the state saddle bronc title the hard way Sunday in the finals of the Texas High School Rodeo finals in Seguin. After double-barrelled hard luck knocked him out of the finals in his favored event, bareback bronc riding, Hadley came from behind to win the saddle bronc competition.

His friendly and sportsman-like manner also won him another honor. He was awarded the State Sportsmanship award, chosen from among the approximately 300 rodeo competitors for the honor by the adult and student event directors and judges.

By winning the state saddle bronc title, Reed earned a berth in the national finals in the same event.

Hadley's father, A.D. Reed, a former rodeo performer himself, reported his son successfully rode two mounts in earlier go-arounds of the state rodeo, and was in second place going into the finals but drew a horse that would not buck sufficiently in the finals. The judges took this into consideration and awarded Hadley a re-ride.

This time out he got a buck, but just as horse and rider came out of the shoot, "his latigo strap broke and the whole thing came off," his father said.

This dropped Reed to seventh in the bareback bronc riding standings, right behind the six finalists who rode all three of their mounts. It eliminated his chances of winning the bareback riding title, and his shot at the State Best All-Around Cowboy title eventually won by John Brockway of Mesquite.

Before the broken latigo snapped his chances, Reed needed only 47 points to qualify for the national finals in bareback riding, too.

Reed, who will be a Spearman High School senior when school opens in the fall, won the bareback riding competition and the Best

All-Around Cowboy title in the Tri-State High School Rodeo Association finals in Amarillo to qualify for the state meet.

Another Spearman rider, SHS junior-to-be Mark Pearson tied for 11th-12th place in the bareback bronc riding competition at the state rodeo.

Hadley's father said of his son's performance and honors at the state meet, "of course we're proud of him."

Over-the-weekend burglaries

Similar over-the-weekend burglaries of two Spearman implement firms are under investigation by Hansford County Sheriff's Department.

At 9:30 a.m. Monday morning, the Sheriff's office was notified that someone or ones had broken into Hansford Implement Company near the west limit of town on Hwy. 207. Subsequent investigation revealed the burglar or burglars had apparently gained entry to the John Deere dealership building by forcing open a rear door to the shop area.

Reported missing were eight to ten Uncle Henry pocket knives of different sizes, each valued at an estimated $45; four Shrade Brown Heritage knives of different sizes valued at $40 each. Also reportedly taken was $132.10 in various denomination bills taken from a cash drawer. Some money was left in the drawer.

Total take in the burglary was estimated at $652.70. Investigators recorded that the burglary apparently occurred on Saturday.

The Sheriff's office was notified at 1:30 p.m. Monday that the North Plains Implement office and shop, near the west city limits on the Gruver Hwy., had been burglarized over the weekend.

Reported as taken were an AM/FM radio with cassette player, valued at $277.01; various sizes of punches and chisels valued at an estimated $40.32; and three $100 bills from a bank bag from a desk. Smaller bills and change were left in the bag.

Total value of the items taken was estimated at $617.32. Again officers recorded the burglary was believed to have been committed Saturday.

Massengill hired as jailer

Hansford County Commissioners court voted Monday to hire "an old hand" as new jailer in the Sheriff's Department.

Upon the recommendation of Hansford County Sheriff R.L. McFarlin, the commissioners voted unanimously to hire R.A. Massengill as jailer and deputy sheriff. Massengill, now serving with Dumas Police Department is a veteran lawman. He served from 1973 to 1976 as chief deputy here, first under the former sheriff, the late J.B. Cooke, then under McFarlin.

Massengill will replace Mrs. Sara Shufeldt as jailer, and will also serve from 4 p.m. to 12 midnight as a deputy sheriff, McFarlin said. Mrs. Shufeldt, who had been serving as jailer-cook as well as a deputy and a dispatcher, asked to be relieved of her duties as jailer. She cited living in jailer quarters adjacent to the jail as being disadvantageous to her family, Sheriff McFarlin said. He said she told him her husband was dissatisfied with the housing arrangement and that many parents would not allow their children to visit hers, although the apartment itself was completely separated from the cell block.

Mrs. Shufeldt will be retained by the department as a dispatcher, McFarlin said.

After considerable discussion, the commissioners voted, on a motion by Commissioner B.J. Renner and seconded by Garland Head, to hire Massengill as jailer and deputy at a salary of $1,191.80 monthly.

The commissioners decided to wait for further study before deciding on installing a new telephone system in the courthouse. Also postponed, for further input from the district judge, was a request by the judge for a temporary parttime secretary, and a temporary fulltime secretary.

The meeting was called to order by R.M. Crawford.

The Board thanked Wilkerson and suggested that he meet with the hospital administrator.

The results of the recent Medicare survey were presented to the Board.

Zoning Board Meets

By unanimous vote, the City of Spearman Zoning Board of Adjustment granted a temporary variance that will allow a mobile home to be placed on a city lot in an area zoned to preclude mobile homes Monday night.

The variance was granted in a public hearing during a regular meeting of the zoning board of adjustment, at the request of a citizen wishing to locate a mobile home on Lot 1 and the north 27 feet of Lot 2, Block 1, Outlot 24, Sparks Subdivision.

On a motion by board member Kerry Henton and seconded by board member Mary Lou Wyszog, the board agreed to grant the temporary 90-day variance for the mobile home to be placed at 401 S. Hazelwood. This 60-day period would give the Planning and Zoning Commission to review the matter for a possible rezoning change.

Bergtorf speaks to Rotary Club

Jerry Bergtorf, Department of Public Safety safety officer for the eastern 15-counties of the Texas Panhandle, gave some "hot tips" on hot check artists at the Monday noon luncheon of Spearman Rotary Club.

Guest speaker for the noon meeting, Trooper Bergtorf told the Rotarians "what to look for when a person comes in to cash a check."

Bergtorf said there is a growing number of "hot check artists" making a profitable business out of travelling across the country cashing "insufficient funds" checks.

"Watch out for checks numbered 101, 102, 103, and the like," he said. "Fifty percent of all hot, insufficient funds checks are in the 100 series," Bergtorf informed the Rotarians.

"And 85 per cent of all bad checks are numbered 101 through 300," he added.

The highway patrol officer explained a favorite trick of many hot check artists is to open a bank account with a $200 or $300 deposit when they first arrive in a town.

They will get a starter book or two of check blanks, then immediately start making the rounds of local businesses, cashing small denomination checks.

If a businessman questions the authenticity of a $20 to $25 check, the hot check artist can produce a deposit slip, showing he made a deposit that day of $200-$300, Bergtorf related. Then if the merchant calls the bank, the bank will verify that a deposit of $200 or more has been made and that there are sufficient funds to cover a small check—because the checks written that day will not be in and recorded yet.

Off that one $200-$300 checking account, the hot check artist will make the rounds of local businesses that day, write $3,000 to $4,000 in small checks, the skip town. This will be repeated over and over in town after town as the "hot checker" works his way across the country, Bergtorf said.

Those cashing checks should be cautious about cashing those numbered in the 100s through 300s on a local account for someone with out-of-town, and particularly out-of-area, identification, the DPS officer said.

Bergtorf also gave the Rotarians some tips on identification offered by persons cashing checks. He said driver's licenses and DPS issued identification cards are generally acceptable forms of identification. It might pay to suspect check cashers who try to use "flea market, easy to make up, IDs," he commented.

And a birth certificate really proves nothing he said, but should instead make the person asked to cash a check with this for identification be suspicious.

"After all, how many people carry birth certificates around with them?" he asked.

Bergtorf illustrated his talk with slides. Some of these showed counterfeit checks. One tip off would be if the check is not serrated, he said.

Forged Medicare checks are commonplace, he said. And enterprising souls have been known to take premium notices on IBM cards from insurance agencies to stores and, cash them like checks.

Another sample he showed was where some unwary clerk "cashed a coupon clipped from a newspaper offering a couple of dollars off an item as if it were a check.

Then there was a W-2 form IBM card from Internal Revenue, cashed as a check, still another wrinkle in the hot check game, he said.

During the meeting, Rotarian Albert Graves was presented a plaque, a "service above self" award for 1982-83. Newly installed President Larry Trosper presided

49 persons estimated to die over weekend

AUSTIN—The Texas Department of Public Safety has estimated that as many as 49 persons could die in traffic accidents across the state during the Fourth of July holiday period.

Colonel Jim Adams, DPS director, said the estimate is based on the anticipated volume of traffic and the previous holiday deaths.

"Independence Day can bring more motorists to our streets and highways compared to a regular weekend. We are estimating fewer deaths than we had during the Fourth of July holiday last year because thus far this year we have experienced a decline in traffic fatalities," Adams said.

Last year, 55 fatalities were recorded during the 78-hour period, but subsequent deaths from serious injuries brought the final count to 64 for the three-day holiday.

Adams said if drivers would stay sober, slow down and use seat belts, their chances for survival would increase.

"Drivers who speed or are intoxicated pose the greatest threat to law abiding motorists," Adams said. "Some people will insist upon drinking excessively and attempting to drive during this period. We will do our best to remove these individuals from the roads," he said. "If a person drinks, that is his personal business, but if he drives drunk—that's police business."

Adams encouraged motorists who observe drunken drivers to report them to the nearest police agency or Highway Patrol.

DPS commanders throughout the state will utilize additional troopers in areas they deem appropriate. DPS will also conduct "Operation Motorcade" to inform the public of the number of traffic deaths occurring during the 78-hour holiday period. Periodic reports will be communicated statewide relating the tabulation of the number of deaths that occur during the 78-hour holiday period.

over the session, and outgoing President Mike Schnell was praised for the method in which he guided the club during the past year.

Appropriate

A photographer was taking a picture of a farmer and his college-boy son. The photographer suggested that the boy stand with his hand on his father's shoulder.

"It would be more appropriate," said the long-suffering parent, "if he stood with his hand in my pocket."

Our Alaskan Tour

By Eulalie Greever

Since several people have requested I write and have an article printed about our trip to Alaska, I have tried to touch on the highlights of the trip.

Our tour was arranged by Trailways, but booked through Holland America Westours. There were eleven people in our group, but it was unescorted. We left Amarillo airport at 7 a.m. on May 30th. Flew to Dallas, then to Seattle, where we picked up passengers, then on the Anchorage. Actual flight time was eight hours. Got settled in our hotel and our room faced the mountains. A most beautiful view. Snow capped mountains came right down to the edge of town. We arrived there at 3:30 their time, which was a four hour difference by home time. By six o'clock I was sleepy, so in bed by 6:30 - 10:30 our time. During the night I would wake up and it was always light. Found out the sun set for two hours, but never got really dark. By 4:30, I was awake-8:30 our time, so sat by the window and watched until the city began to stir. At nine that morning we took a tour of Anchorage. Learned the historical background of the city. Visited Earthquake Park, which is a monument to all the people and homes that were washed out to sea when Anchorage had their bad earthquake in 1964. Visited Cook Inlet Lake Spenard and Lake Hood.

The two lakes are one of the largest amphibian plane bases in the world. Every little nook, on the lakes, were filled with planes, with pontoons on them. I was amazed at the small planes that flew over the mountains, as the sky was full of them all the time, coming and going, landing in the lakes.

That afternoon we traveled south over the Seward highway, which took us to the ski resort of Alyeska. It began to rain before we got there, but we didn't let that deter us as far as riding the ski lift. We were loaned raincoats, but we got wet anyway. Where we got on the ski lift it was 270 ft. Where we got off, it was 3,925 ft. After we got off the lift, we had to climb a 20 ft. snowbank before we reached the little cabin on top, where they served coffee and hot chocolate. I would take a step and slide back two-fell down three times, but I finally made it. I was disappointed that I didn't get to take any pictures of the beautiful country from the ski lift. After getting back to our bus, we continued to the Pontage Glacier, which was one of the most beautiful sights I have ever seen. The atmosphere was just right for it to be a beautiful blue color. Our bus driver broke off a big piece and when you see it up close it is clear, but in the glacier it is blue. I even ate a piece of it.

On Wednesday, we left Anchorage and flew to Kotzebue, where you enter the realm of the Midnight Sun. We were very lucky, as the day was perfect and we saw Mt. McKinley. We flew across the Arctic Circle and as we did, the pilot gave a dip of the planes' wings. When we landed we were given a personalized certificate, to prove we had crossed the Arctic Circle.

Kotzebue is the second largest Eskimo village in Alaska. We were taken to the Nul-luk-vik hotel, which proved to be very comfortable, altho we had to carry our luggage up the stairs. We had buffet style of eating, with fresh vegetables and selections of meats, which surprised me, as it all has to be flown in. To me Kotzebue was an intriguing place. When we arrived it was 70 degrees, but as the day progressed it got cooler. We were loaned parkas to use while we were there. We were welcomed by a young man from Seattle, that was our guide. The only way in was by air, as the ice was just starting to break up in the Kotzebue Sound. In July and August, it will be where large barges can come to the dock. The big ships can't come in the channel, so barges bring the supplies in. That is the only supplies that the people can get until next summer, unless it comes by air. There is a construction company from the lower states, so they do have a few trucks, pick-ups and 3-wheelers are getting popular, altho there is only eight miles of road. The village had three or four streets of gravel. Small shacks, as a rule, but larger buildings are being built. Each place has several husky dogs. We wondered why it was so junky, until we learned, they do not get rid of anything, since nothing comes in for ten months, by ship, so if anyone needs anything, it is passed around for someone to use. Nothing can be buried because of the perma-frost. Dig down about 16 inches and it is solid ice. No trees, as no deep soil, but they do have pretty little wild flowers. Perma-frost was such an interesting topic. We learned why certain things can't be done, such as bury their dead, until the land thaws. There are no good paved roads, as they crumble and sink when the land thaws. We walked out on the tundra, which is covered by a short grass, which was very spongy. When this thaws, a person has to be careful, as it sinks and makes the ground uneven.

About 1 o'clock, the sun dipped behind a mountain but was back up in an hour. Always light enough to see to read. Next morning we visited their small museum, which told the history of their land and a great display of the animals that lived there. Saw lots of seal meat and fish hanging out to dry. The older people could not speak English, but the young ones could. We had an elderly woman and teen-age granddaughter ride the bus with us. She gave us a welcome in her native tongue and the granddaughter translated it into English. The Eskimos performed their native dances and had the blanket toss, which W.R. participated in, while I took pictures. The natives told us that on a clear day they can see Russia.

We left Kotzebue and flew to Nome. It was a more modern, larger town. We took a tour, where we saw a 16 husky dog team run over a trail, to show us how they performed. The owner got on our bus and explained all about his dogs and how he trained them. We got to hold the little

Something Proud is Happening in Perryton

The Whirlybird Skate Center

The Whirlybird Skate Center is a family roller skating facility owned and operated by Paul and Terry Bixler. The Bixlers are father and son from Alva, Oklahoma. When it opens in late July, the Center will offer 14,000 square feet of recreation fun and exercise to families and young people in this area. It is located on the south loop road in Perryton.

The Center will feature a computerized music and lighting system, snack bar, free skating lessons, and a pro shop to buy skates and supplies. The Bixlers and their manager, Larry Johnson, will make special reservations for school groups, parties and church groups.

First National Bank arranged the long-term loan for the Skate Center. Working with the Bixlers and their realtor, we came up with a location. Then we came up with a way to finance their plans. Our community needs quality, family recreation, and we're proud to make it happen.

husky pups. Then we were taken to an old gold mine where we panned for gold. We had gold in our pans, but to our dismay we didn't get to keep it. At the present there is still some mining going on, but at a slow pace. The owner of the mine let us hold a little brick (1 1/4 x 3/4 x 3/16) that was worth $1000. Also got to hold a gold nugget that was worth between 5 to 6 thousand dollars. Nome is noted for its ivory. They get their ivory from Walrus tusks. Beautiful carved items and most, very expensive.

Flew back to Anchorage, then the next morning we boarded a bus and were taken to Daneli National Park, which used to be called Mount McKinley National Park. We spent the night at the entrance of the park and next day were taken on a six hour tour through the park. It is in its original wilderness state. We saw caribou, mountain sheep, moose and grizzlies.

Next day we boarded the bus and went to Fairbanks. On Sunday afternoon we took a tour of Fairbanks. We visited the museum, which had an outstanding display of Eskimo artifacts. Also toured around the University of Alaska. Made a stop at the Trans-Alaska pipeline, where we learned why the line cost so much and took so long to build. Besides the mountains and wilderness they had to make a way through, they had to build some of the line on perma-frost ground. This line is built above the ground and about every 10 feet there is a freezing unit to keep the ground from freezing, so the structure the line is built on will not sink and break the structure. Where the ground didn't have perma-frost, the line was built underground. That night we went to a salmon bake. Fresh salmon and halibut, cooked on the grill was delicious.

For the next 3 days, we motored over the Alaska highway. Our driver was a good one, as the highways are not the best, because of the perma-frost. Their gravel roads were usually better than the paved ones. We had beautiful scenery all the way. Our driver was talking most of the 3 day trip, giving us information and stories of the country we were traveling through and the hardships of the early pioneers during the gold rush. The fallen down shacks and ghost villages told their story. Ever so often a mama moose, with a calf or two would cross the road. No large towns along the way, small villages, here and there, where we stopped for drinks and sandwiches. Our first nights stop was in Beaver Creek. Next night was at White Horse, which was in the Yukon territory. The third night at Skagway. These were all nice places to spend the night. The highway terminates at Skagway, which is at the head of the Lynn Canal.

On June 9, we left Skagway and journeyed aboard the M.V. Fairweather ship for a 100 mile waterway, through the Lynn Canal to Juneau. This was really magnificent scenery, glaciers and waterfalls-some falling 500-600 feet. Saw the sea lions or seals sunning on big boulders. As we would go by, they would slide off into the water. We arrived in Juneau, where we were met and taken on a tour to the Mendenhall Glacier. This river of ice is said to be the largest glacier accessible by road. Next morning we took a tour of the city, where we visited a Russian Orthodox Church, crossed the Gastineau Channel to Douglas Island and visited the Alaska State Museum. We saw several American bald eagles, as that is their state bird. The guide said they had so many that they were really a nuisance.

On June 10, about noon, we were taken by launches out to our cruise ship, the Rhapsody, beginning a four day cruise to Vancouver. The next morning, the grandeur that is Alaska unfolds as we entered Glacier Bay National Monument. We cruised all day past some of the most extraordinary scenery in the world. Abundant wildlife, icebergs and 20 major glaciers, which came down to the waters edge. As we went through this area, the ship would stop or go slow, so we could take pictures. These glaciers had the blue coloring and jagged peaks. Huge pieces would break from the glacier and fall into the water. The atmosphere was so quiet, that the breaking sounded like thunder rumbling in the distance and when it hit the water, it made a big spray into the air. The ship was going through big broken pieces of ice. On the big slabs of ice, there were seals with their babies, and killer whales coming up out of the water.

On Sunday, the ship stopped and the launches took us to the town of Sitka, a little town rich in Russian-American history, dating back to the 1700's. Only way to get to it is by water or plane, but it was a very modern little place. We visited a Russian Church, where they hold services. At the town center the Russian dancers gave a program for the tourists. Back to the ship, where all kinds of activities were going on. Each morning we got an itinerary of what the days activity would be. I enjoyed the ice carving by a young man from Portugal and trying to talk with the waiter of our table, which was from Columbia, South America.

We sailed under the Lions Gate Bridge in Vancouver at 9:00 a.m. on June 14. Took a tour of Vancouver that afternoon. Spent the night and took off for home next morning. On our flight we saw Mount Ranier and Mount St. Helen. We arrived in Amarillo at 11:05 that night - tired but happy.

This trip was not only a pleasurable one, but a very educational one. The weather varies more than I realized. Can get from 95 to 100 degrees in summer to 40 or 50 degrees below in winter. For warmth we only wore a jacket or long sleeves, unless it rained. We had good weather most of the time, which made it enjoyable. The interior of Alaska, around Fairbanks, averages from 12 to 14 inches of moisture a year. The trees are not large enough to be used for lumber so they are considered very dry. Along the coast, they have 40 to 50 inches of rain a year, which makes for lush vegetation. A state that is great to visit.

Poor Little Texas
Call it pride, or arrogance, but nothing makes an Alaskan so happy as the fact that Alaska is our largest state, exceeding Texas in size. In a restaurant in Nome, this sign hangs on the wall: "Clam Chowder 50 cents, Texas size, 25 cents."

Gettysburg, 1863

At Gettysburg, Pennsylvania on July 1, 1863, began a three-day struggle that ended General Robert E. Lee's last chance to force Washington to agree to independence for the South.

General Lee, perhaps the preeminent strategist to emerge from the war, and admired on both sides (he had freed his slaves before the war and like many southerners fought the war because he believed states had a right to secede from the Union), had invaded Union territory once before, in 1862.

But in a bloody battle at Antietam, Maryland, the result of the capture of General Lee's campaign plans by enterprising Union soldiers, Lee had been turned back. Since the U.S. Navy commanded the seas, and its blockade was slowly starving the South, the Confederacy's chance was to strike hard enough to persuade the North to agree to independence for the eleven southern states. (Lincoln had prevented Maryland from seceding only through the arrest of members of that state's legislature.)

Gathering 73,000 men (President Jefferson Davis refused him two more divisions then stationed in the Carolinas which Lee said would mean success), Lee started north in June of 1863.

He had just won one of his greatest victories at Chancellorsville. But there, too, he lost the brilliant Stonewall Jackson.

At first he planned to cross the Susquehanna at Harrisburg, and march on Philadelphia.

Lee met a determined force when he collided with General George Meade's army of about 82,000 defenders, unexpectedly, at Gettysburg.

Both sides rushed in reinforcements and for three days the contest continued, at great loss of life. On the third day, Lee ordered the famous and often second-guessed charge of Pickett's brigade, which was decimated by fierce artillery fire and accurate, determined rifle fire.

Lee retreated on the fourth day. Meade had proved himself the ablest Union commander in the east. The North rejoiced, rightly so. The South brooded about what might have been--had Stonewall Jackson been at Gettysburg.

July 4

Richard Henry Lee, of Virginia, offered a resolution in the Continental Congress in 1776 which was to have worldwide repercussions for centuries. The resolution stated that, "these United Colonies are, and of right ought to be, free and independent." This resolution was adopted by The Congress on July 2, 1776.

Interestingly, Congress adopted another resolution on the 4th explaining its reasons for declaring independence and justifying the action, and this is the resolution which we now celebrate on the 4th.

This resolution was drafted by Thomas Jefferson, chairman of the committee, Benjamin Franklin, John Adams, Roger Sherman and Robert Livingston.

A mass meeting in Philadelphia in Independence Square celebrated the declarations on July 6, 1776--and heard them read by John Nixon. General George Washington, on the 9th, included the declaration in general orders to the army, stating:

"The several brigades are to be drawn up this evening on their respective parades at six o'clock, when the declaration of Congress, showing the grounds and reasons for this measure, is to be read in an audible voice.

"The general hopes this important event will serve as fresh incentive to every officer and soldier to act with fidelity and courage, as knowing now that the peace and safety of his country depends, under God, solely on the success of our arms..."

The declaration is now recognized by scholars as one of the great democratic and humanitarian documents for all time.

EMS gives fireworks safety rules

Panhandle Emergency Medical Services System, Inc., Chairman, Claude Harlow, M.D. of Stratford, stated today that the upcoming Fourth of July holiday celebrations are highlighted with summer fun, but may pose some serious threats to the health and safety of children and adults. Each summer hundreds of people are injured from pyrotechnics commonly called fireworks during this holiday celebration. Dr. Harlow cautioned, "Adults must be especially careful to supervise children who play with fireworks." He offered the following safety tips to remember: Do not hold explosive or burning fireworks in your hand. If a device does not ignite, wait for a minute before checking it. Approach the device carefully. If it appears to be defective do not attempt to light it again. Do not allow children to run with sparklers about their faces. If you receive a minor burn hold the burned area under cold water or immersed in ice water for 5 minutes. If someone gets foreign matter such as dirt in the eye flush the eye with water for a minute to clear out the foreign object. For serious injuries keep the person calm and lying down, stated Dr. Harlow. He said people in the Panhandle can get qualified emergency medical care by calling the toll free Panhandle Emergency Medical Services Number 1-800-692-1331. Not only will they send medical assistance, but they can also provide poison control information should you need it. Dr. Harlow concluded by stating that the Texas Panhandle is one of the safest areas in the country because of our emergency medical services system.

Jo did very well in her modeling and talent competition. She brought home 14 trophies for her efforts and liked winning the Sweepstakes trophy by 3 points. She placed in almost every event she entered.

Jo turned 9 while there. She was accompanied by her mother Sherry and also her aunt Carrie Shaw. Terry and Shawn came down on Friday night. Sunday they missed the awards breakfast in order to take Shawn and Jo to meet Terry's mother in Dallas so they could spend a week with her. Jo now has a total of 65 trophies to her credit since she started competing.

Tee Ball girls really 'tee off'

My year in Spearman

by Terje Thøerjersen

For the past year I have lived in Spearman and attended Spearman High School as a foreign exchange student.

I have thoroughly enjoyed my stay here.

While in school I participated in the Spearman High School Band and also attended All-Region Band.

While attending Spearman High I have acquired many friends that have made my stay here very memorable.

Being a foreign exchange student here has been a rewarding experience. Learning another country's culture and the American Way has been very interesting. I feel like my stay here has matured me and made me more tolerant.

While attending the Union Church I have also made many friends that I will always remember.

I would have enjoyed being able to see more of the United States during my stay, however this week I am going to New Mexico where I plan to go to Albuquerque, Santa Fe and Taos. This trip I'm sure will be quite interesting.

I leave to go home to Norway June 29, but Spearman will always hold special memories for me as being here has been a rewarding experience.

I would like to take this opportunity to thank all the people who have helped me and have been so kind and friendly.

Special thanks to my families, the Scarboughs and Sumners, the staff at Spearman High School, the Hollis family and the people at the Union Church.

I hope someday to be able to come back and visit the friends that I have made here this past year.

It's time to top off your tanks!

Are you ready for a busy harvest season?
Fill up now!

Once the harvest starts you're going to be mighty busy. And you are going to be using diesel fuel and gasoline in huge quantities, depleting your supplies fast. We do the best we can to give you extra fast service when you need it during harvest, but sometimes we have to face the fact that we can't be everywhere at once.

That's why we urge you to check your diesel fuel and gasoline storage now. Let us top them off if there is the slightest chance you could run low during harvest. It's better to be safe than to sweat it out during the most important time of the year.

So, check those tanks and give us a call today if you need us. Top 'em off now and you'll be ready for harvest when your crops are ready.

Caution needed in holiday driving

The Regional Commander of the Texas Department of Public Safety called on drivers to use extreme caution in traveling the streets and highways in Texas during the July 4th holiday weekend.

Major Vernon Cawthon said, "We realize the added dangers of traveling by motor vehicle during the holiday periods and want to help motorists avoid the tragedy and suffering which could mar this otherwise happy occasion."

He pointed out that the DPS will be conducting its holiday "Operation Motorcade." He said, "We will continue to work with the news media to keep motorists posted on unusual traffic conditions and to advise them on where and why serious holiday accidents are occurring."

Cawthon said, "Excessive speed and driving while intoxicated continue as the primary law violations contributing to fatal accidents," and he warned, "DPS troopers have been directed to be especially watchful for motorists exceeding speed limits or under the influence of alcohol."

Cawthon also reminds motorists that many lives could be saved and serious injuries could be reduced during the crowded driving time through greater utilization of seat belts.

He added, "The DPS will place all available troopers on the state's highways during the holiday, and we urge every Texas driver to join in an all-out effort to make the July 4th holiday as safe as possible."

Defensive Driving

Course Set

A Defensive Driving Course will be held July 5 and 7 at Hansford Library from 6 to 10 p.m.

John R. Collard, Jr., will teach the course.

The Course is sponsored by the Hansford Association of Insurance Agents. Cost of the course is $18.00 per person.

On successful completion of the course persons will receive 10% deduction on their car insurance as well as learning to drive defensively.

Persons wishing to register for the course may contact John R. Collard, Jr., J.L. Brock, Chief of Police, sheriff's office or with either of the 2 judges.

JULY 4th

A Time to Repledge Ourselves . . .

Born of a revolution, this country began with a pledge: liberty and justice for all. Now... we, the American people, are still striving for these goals. It's easy to find fault... but it takes dedication and unity to bring about change, as our forefathers did. We have the freedom now to do it peacefully. Let's celebrate that freedom... and honor our nation for what's been achieved... let's join together... with a renewed sense of purpose... to reach our goals.
