Lynx loose heartbreaker 21-14 to Sunray

One big play often determines the outcome of a football game.

And that was the case Friday night at Bobcat Stadium when Sunray rolled to a cliff-hanging 21-14 District 1-AA victory over the visiting Spearman Lynx.

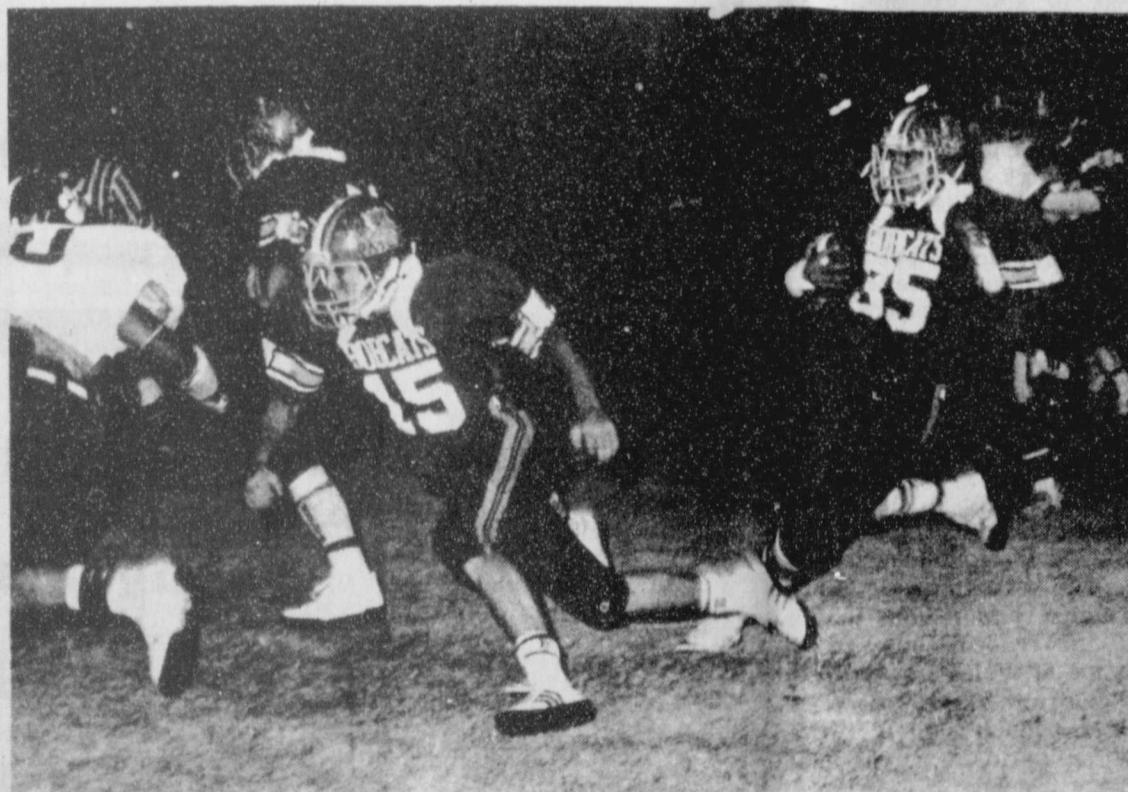

The go-ahead touchdown came on the bounce of the football and an alert Bobcat defense in the waning minutes of the third period.

With the Bobcats owning a 14-touchdown lead, 13-7, the stage was set at the Spearman 7 with less than four minutes of the quarter remaining. The Lynx were facing second down and 18 yards to go when they tried a bit of razzle-dazzle, producing the loose football.

On a reverse, Spearman runningbacks couldn't find the handle on the football and it rolled free in the Lynx end zone. A trio of Bobcat defenders were there with linebacker-quarterback Steve Moore falling on the ball for six.

Following the touchdown with 3:41 left in the quarter, he went in untouched for the 2-point conversion.

Sunray was out front 21-7, but the remaining minutes of the third period and the fourth quarter produced some anxious moments. Tension increased especially when the Lynx drove in for a TD and the extra point with 8:10 remaining in the game.

Spearman's fine Lynx played one of the best games of the year at Sunray Friday night. The game was so close, fans named this as the best game of the year from a spectator's view. The Lynx will host Sanford Fritch Saturday nite, at 7:30 p. m.

The score was 21-14 with plenty of time left.

With the Lynx controlling the football through most of the quarter, Sunray defenders were called upon to stop the Spearman attack on the ground and in the air.

And the defensive charge produced a rash of penalties, primarily holding calls when Lynx linemen sought to protect their quarterback.

That effort by Sunray defenders resulted in a series of long-yardage situations that the Lynx were unable to overcome.

The District 1-AA game opened with a scoreless first quarter.

Sunray, however, began its first scoring drive of the night -- a 93-yard march -- in the closing minutes of the initial period. Starting at their own 7-yard line, the Bobcats marched upfield on a series of runs by fullback Les Langley, runningback Stacy Nelson and Moore.

A key play at the Spearman 24 was a short pass to wingback Michael Lamb that got the football to the Spearman 9-yard line. From there it was Langley going in for the TD.

Gary Don Easley kicked the extra point for a 7-0 lead with 7:35 showing in the quarter.

Spearman answered quickly with 3:27 on the clock with a 69-yard pass play from quarterback Bret Davis to halfback Carl Urban. The kick was good and the score stood at 7-7 at the halftime.

The Bobcats opened the second half with a 75-yard march with Moore and Langley doing the damage on the ground.

A fourth down pass at the Spearman 38 from Moore to split end Steve Mireles was the big play of the series and carried to the Lynx 9. From there, Langley drove into the end zone but the conversion failed. With 8:42 left in the third period, Sunray led 13-7.

SANFORD FRITCH HERE FRIDAY NITE

The Spearman Lynx will meet the Sanford Fritch Eagles in Spearman Friday nite, 7:30 p. m. This will be an excellent game so plan to attend.

Both football teams handled the ball twice following the touchdown but failed to produce any offense.

It was the second time that Spearman got the football that the costly fumble occurred.

The Lynx started at their own 3 yard line, following a Sunray punt and got the football out to their 13. On a second down, a holding penalty moved them back half the distance to the goal line and the play call set up the winning Bobcat TD.

Spearman scored once more to draw within seven of the Bobcats. However, the Sunray defense controlled the final eight minutes of play.

The Farm Credit System

There is much concern in Washington, rightly so, about the future health of the Farm Credit System (FCS).

The FCS was born in the depression thirties, when agricultural financing had just about dried up. Many banks had closed, partly as result of rapidly-falling land values. Today the FCS has over 800 farmer-owned lending units. They now hold about a third of agriculture's estimated $210 billion debt.

There is now about $77 billion in loans outstanding from all the FCS outlets. Officials fear that $11 billion is uncollectable at the present time. And that may be a conservative estimate.

The situation is expected to get worse before it gets better. A crisis is expected soon, in 1986 or in 1987. The serious trouble began in the 1970's. Farm prices rose, land values soared and the future looked very good, with a strong dollar, new sales prospects in China and Russia, and low interest rates.

But prices soon fell, for land, farm machinery and buildings, and interest rates rose sharply. Often farmers found their properties worth only about half what they had been valued at a year or two earlier.

In the optimistic seventies, the FCS retired all federal funds and became one of the nation's largest banking institutions, with 37 regional banks supervising the 800 lending units. It has since depended on funds from the sale of bonds in the financial markets. (The system doesn't receive savings and checking deposits.)

It seems certain the FCS will have to have federal help, and relatively soon. It cannot be allowed to go under. Just what the full repercussions would be is not known (who owns the bonds for example) but results in the farm belt would be ruinous.

The situation is so serious the governor of Iowa has already declared an economic emergency, halting farm mortgage foreclosures under certain conditions. This is the first time that has happened since the depression.

As Congress wastes billions on defense, sends billions overseas, and refuses to curtail COLA's--because of political pressure--it would do better to route some of these billions to bolstering the FCS.

There are encouraging signs that agriculture will rebound, with today's lower land prices, but it takes time for new farmers to get started, and time the FCS, and the nation, do not have.

Inevitable Revolutions

Harper and Row has just published "Inevitable Revolutions"--perhaps the most important book about Central America to emerge in the century.

Former ambassador to El Salvador Murat Williams calls it "the best book on Central America in over 100 years." Others say it might be the most important book about that region ever published.

Every American interested in foreign policy, or who wants to have an informed background about the backyard of this continent should become familiar with the story of our treatment of the five Central American nations earlier in this century.

The disturbing thing about Central America is that most Americans have no idea of the history of this country and those--like Nicaragua and Guatemala, for example. One or two giant U.S. firms dominated these countries for decades.

Washington, often using military force or overwhelming economic power (after World War II all five countries were almost totally dependent on the U.S. for markets and economic health) has not always given the welfare of the peoples of the five countries top priority.

Walter LaFeber, author of "Inevitable Revolutions" is obviously sympathetic with the tragic plight of these peoples, but he is historically accurate. One might disagree with some of his conclusions and interpretations but the facts and history he cites are must reading for anyone trying to understand the region.

The difficulty today with Nicaragua is not of recent origin. U.S. troops occupied that country early in the century--for many years. We intereved with military force in other Central American countries. We dictated the price of the major crops of some of these countries for decades. Sometimes that was ruinous to their economies.

Of course, we often tried to help, and did help in ways, and we have encouraged democracy there. Often we have been disappointed, and may be again.

A grateful nation remembers

Administrator of Veterans Affairs Harry N. Walters has announced that this year's Veterans Day theme is "A Grateful Nation Remembers." The VA chief urged Americans to pay tribute to the more than 28 million living veterans who have served their country in uniform and the more than one million who died during wartime service. Walters said that the 32nd annual Veterans Day observance at Arlington National Cemetery on Monday, Nov. 11, 1985, will begin at 11 a.m. with the traditional Presidential wreath-laying ceremony at the Tomb of the Unknowns. A program, of speeches and patriotic music and displays will follow in the cemetery amphitheatre. The national veterans organization AMVETS is the host of this year's Veterans Day activities at Arlington. Walters, who serves as Veterans Day national Committee Chairman, said that while Arlington captures much of the national attention on Veterans Day, the rest of the nation's observances are just as meaningful. "While the Veterans Administration is the means by which all Americans are able to express the spirit of Veterans Day year-round," Walters said, "it is on this special day that we all can gather to voice our thankfulness and appreciation." To support nationwide activities, the VA Administrator has asked all state governors to name Veterans Day chairpersons for activities in their respective states. The person appointed will coordinate Veterans Day activities throughout the state and will represent the governor in dealing with veterans organizations, military officials, and communities planning parades, ceremonies and other observances. The Veterans Day Committee has designated Atlanta; Albany, Ore.; Auburn, Wash.; Birmingham; Hayward, Calif.; Indianapolis; Milwaukee; Nashville and St. Louis as sites for official regional Veterans Day observances. The Committee has also sent a variety of materials to state offices and to schools encouraging greater awareness of the involvement in Veterans Day.

You Can Cut Down On Dry Skin, Scratchy Throats During The Winter

If your home or apartment has dry indoor air during the winter, you probably know about it - from your dry skin and hair, and rough, scratchy throat.

But you don't have to suffer from excessive dryness during the cold months of the year. There's an easy way to change dry air into moist air that's comfortable for you and your family.

Humidity is the answer. Although most people don't understand humidity, its presence can make a big difference in their comfort.

Humidity is the amount of moisture in the air. Relative humidity is the percentage of water vapor the air is holding compared to the amount of water it's capable of holding.

Heated air has greater ability to hold extra moisture. But if extra moisture isn't present, the indoor relative humidity is very low. And low indoor humidity can play havoc with your personal comfort.

When there isn't enough humidity present, warm air tries to get moisture from anything it can. Furniture, walls, even the human body. When this happens you can wind up with brittle furniture, shrinking wood moulding around doors and windows, a scratchy throat, and dry skin and hair.

But you can stop this from happening by installing a humidifier on your household heating/cooling system.

Before deciding on a particular model, be sure your humidifier has these capabilities:

- Provides a relative humidity of at least 35 percent throughout the entire home;

• Has an accurate humidistat installed to measure the humidity level and control operation of the humidifier;
 • Provides humidity in vapor form, not water (which leaves a residue of mineral deposits in the home);
 • Requires little maintenance;
 • Requires reasonable installation costs.

A free booklet on the need for humidity in the home is available by writing to Mr. Floyd Carlstrom, 1015 East Washington Avenue, Madison, Wisconsin 53701. Or call toll free 1-800-356-9652. In Wisconsin call 608-257-8801. Ask for the Humidification Facts booklet.

November 7

In 1942, American troops made their first thrust at Germany in World War II on November 7. Hitler had declared war on America several days after Pearl Harbor, in December of 1941.

United States military forces were not ready for war, especially a two ocean war. But there was a desire to do something. U.S. Marines invaded Guadalcanal in August of 1942 (after the naval victory at Midway in June) and U.S. forces landed in French-administered North Africa November 7.

North Africa gave U.S. military forces the breathing time needed for tougher fighting that lay ahead. U.S. fighters, P-39's, P-40's and P-38's, were roughly handled by the Luftwaffe's Me

U.S. ground troops suffered sharp defeats in early tests--though out-numbering the enemy.

In landing at North African ports, American troops posed French authorities with a difficult decision. The French had to decide on short notice whether to oppose the landings militarily, and vigorously.

Though Washington and London assured the French there was no design on their territory, many French military commanders opened fire on the Americans; and it required several days to defeat the French.

From North Africa, U.S. troops moved on to Sicily in 1943 and then into Italy, one of the enemy countries, and into France and Germany in 1944.

To God: A note of thanks

by Mrs. E.A. Greever

Friends before commencing our study this week I want to tell you I failed to fully explain about the mock wedding. It was put on by a Christian group and the bride was a preacher so it is plain to see why the Holy Ghost departed and next my ears have heard I said I was going to live until Jesus comes. I surely have never said that, but I have said "I would love to." The will of the Lord be done. Today we are going to study some scriptures concerning "Vengeance." What does this word mean? Answer. The return of an injury of some kind for an injury. In the holy Bible we read, Vengeance is mine I will repay saith the Lord. Rom. 12:19 We read if we expect to reign or be glorified with Jesus we will suffer with him. 1 Tim. 3:12 Yea and all that will live godly in Christ Jesus shall suffer persecution. 1 John 3:13 Mavel not my brethem if the world hate you. With no more scriptures along this line we are made to know if a follower of Jesus we will suffer with him. Now what does the word tell us to do about such treatment? Love your enemies bless them that curse you do good to them that hate you and persecute you Matt 5:44, the words of Jesus and the next verse tells us why. That ye may be the children of your Father which is in heaven. Another scripture. If your enemy hunger feed him if he thirst give him drink. The Bible instructs us because the Lord does not at this time repay them for their evil deeds they continue to carry on with their evil work. I saish one of the major prophets of Old Testament days says the Spirit of the Lord is upon him to proclaim the day of vengeance of our God so beyond a single doubt the day is coming when our enemies will give an account of their deeds and their reward the lake of fire, forever destroyed from the presence of the Lord and the glory of his power. Now we go to 11 Thess. the first chapter where Paul, Silas, and Timotheas with comforting words for the church of the Thessalonians in God our Father and the Lord Jesus Christ, and the same words will comfort us in 1985. We are bound to thank God always for you brethem as it is meet because that your faith groweth exceedingly and the charity (love) of every one of you toward each other aboundeth. So that we ourselves glory in you in the churches of God for your patience and faith in all your persecutions and tribulations that ye endure. Which is a manifest token of the righteous judgment of God that ye may be counted worthy of the kingdom of God for which ye also suffer. Seeing is a righteous thing with God to recompense tribulation to them that trouble you. And to you who are troubled rest with us when the Lord Jesus shall be revealed from heaven with his mighty angels. In flaming fire taking vengeance on them that know not God and that obey not the gospel of our Lord Jesus Christ who shall be punished with everlasting destruction from the presence of the Lord and the glory of his power. When he shall come to be glorified in his saints and to be admired in all them that believe. So my dear friends. Beloved of the Lord, faithful followers of Christ Jesus may we be faithful even unto death that we may be given a crown of life. May there never be a trace of formality but with sincere reality serving God with godly fear for the forms of false godliness will be made manifest when standing before Jesus the mighty judge. Truly may cup reuns over with joy today becaus of the sweet presence of the Lord and the glorious hope of immortality Eternal life.

Special Sesquicentennial folder available

Just in time for Texas's forth coming Sesquicentennial year, when Texans will be looking back on their colorful heritage, the folks at the travel division of the state highway department have come up with a new folder capturing the very meat of the state's epic heritage.

Titled "The Flags of Texas," the folder pictures in high-quality detail the famous six flags of Texas history, and for good measure includes bits about the state seal, bird, tree, flower, grass, gem, stone, and dish. (The official Texas state dish is - what else - chili.)

"Speaking of birds," said Tom Taylor, director of the highway department's Travel and Information Division, "this little folder may well get two or three with the same proverbial toss. It's not only timely for next year's sesquicentennial, but it'll answer a lot of questions we get from millions of travelers at our Texas Tourist Bureaus."

Taylor explained that most of the state's 12 tourist bureaus began flying all six of the historical flags in recent years. Among non-Texans, they generate perpetual questions about what they are and which is which.

"We Texans took it for granted that everyone would recognize the flags of Spain, France, Mexico, and so forth," said Taylor, "but after

Comment On Sports

FOOTBALL ****

By Pete Fritchle

WASHINGTON, D.C. -- It's hard for sports fans to understand how a team as all-powerful as the 1984 San Francisco Forty-Niners could lose so many games at the onset of the 1985 season.

Watching this year's Superbowl, the Forty-Niners almost appeared invincible. Their defensive and offensive lines were awesome. Joe Montana was sharp, hungry and deadly effective.

How could that same team lose four out of seven of its first games in 1985? Hard to believe--and to foes expected to have little chance?

Of course, football is a game of so many ifs, injuries, breaks, condition and psychology one can never be sure about games. Washington, with George

Rogers added, was expected to be stronger.

Hank Stram, the former coach, may have been on to something when he questioned, recently, why John Riggins is being taken out for much of the game in recent contests. Despite that $850,000 one-year contract, Riggins' back is suspect. And Rogers isn't taking up all the slack.

Chicago and the L.A. Rams are burning up the league and teams like Philadelphia are big surprises and success stories, while the Forty-Niners are not playing like champions.

They remind one of baseball's steamroller Detroit Tigers of last year, unstoppable. This year the team showed nothing. These are mysteries one can't quite explain.

A poor credit report can make it difficult for you to buy a house or car, or get certain jobs. Yet, until recently consumers had little protection against credit reports containing erroneous, incomplete or dated information.

The federal Trade Commission's Fair Credit Reporting Act now gives consumers some rights that can help them clear a poor credit report.

For example, if you have been denied credit or employment because of information in a credit report, you have the right to be told the name and address of the reporting agency.

Then that agency must tell you the nature, content, and source of all the information in your credit file, except medical information.

The agency must also reveal who has received a consumer report on you within the last six months, or the last two years if the report was for employment purposes.

You should get this information free of charge if you request it within 30 days of being denied credit. After that, you may be charged a fee for the disclosure.

You can also request in writing a telephone interview or visit the agency in person. The agency may require some information for identification purposes, but you are not required to furnish any information other than to establish who you are.

Most importantly, you can challenge incorrect, unverified or incomplete information in your files, and it must be removed.

If the issue is not resolved, you may explain your side of the story in 100 words to be included in future reports.

The agency must also inform those who have recently received the report of any item which the agency deletes, without any charge to you.

The best policy is to maintain a good credit record and when there is a problem, exercising your consumer rights may help you resolve it. FCIC set up Hearings

Responding to the need for farmer input, the Federal Crop Insurance Corporation (FCIC) has set up a series of producer hearings across the U.S.

The action was taken as a result of Board of Directors resolution delaying a change in unit definitions for insurance purposes, and comes after similar sessions held in Washington to hear insurance industry and agricultural interest representatives.

FCIC Manager Merritt W. Sprague commented that, "These sessions will give producers an opportunity to tell us how the Crop Insurance program meets their needs and what they would do to improve the program."

Two teams of FCIC representatives, one headed by Manager Sprague and the other led by Deputy Manager, Edward D. Haws, will begin conducting public forums November 7, in twelve cities across the country. The sites were chosen to geographically represent the insurance now available. The scheduled local site is the Community Center, Nazareth, Texas, on November 14 at 1:30 p.m.

"During our public forum in Washington," FCIC Manager Sprague noted, "the needs of the producer, the reactions of the producer, the willingness of the producer, and the problems of the producer as they relate to Crop Insurance were all represented by others in response to FCIC proposals. We hope that these listening sessions will give the producer the opportunity to speak for himself."

Deputy FCIC Manager Haws commented that the sessions would also, "Provide us, Board members and managers, who have responsibility for the program a chance to exchange ideas with producers. We look to sharing views which will contribute to a stronger and more effective crop insurance program."

Too Much

Senator Alfonse D'Amato of New York, seeking reelection next year, and Congressman Theodore Weiss of New York, one a Republican and one a Democrat, have proposed that Congress vote the Congressional Medal of Honor to Leon Klinghoffer.

This is such a political and inappropriate gesture one must comment on it, in spite of sympathy for Klinghoffer's surviving family members.

A precedent like this would be very bad. The Medal of Honor was instituted by Congress in 1918 as the nation's highest "military" award, to be awarded for extraordinary acts of heroism.
