SEASON SUM MAY REACH 20,000 BALES

SEVEN BIG SPRING GIN ACCOUNT FOR 7,839 BALES

Ginnings of cotton from the 1929 crop in Howard county was to the 12,000-bale mark Wednesday night, according to reports to The Herald.

Counting round bales as half bales the total was 11,202 not counting the Vincent gin and one of the local plants. The two had ginned 675 bales a week ago, and based on the average increase per week for the season, were figured to have ginned 30 bales Wednesday night. Local prognosticators are now predicting a total crop of 17,000 to 20,000 bales for Howard county.

Six of the seven local gins had accounted for 7,839 bales. The three Coahoma plants had ginned 2144 bales. The two Knott plants had ginned 967 bales.

HAMILTON AND WALTON GRAPPLED, WITNESS SAYS

WEATHERFORD, Tex., Oct. 31 (AP)—Immediately after Tom Walton, Jr., 21, was shot to death in R. H. Hamilton's office last May 4, Hamilton said:

"Mr. Burks, I hated to have to do that, but I had to save my own life," a witness testified late today in Hamilton murder trial.

J. W. Burks, real estate agent, said he was in Hamilton's office and saw Hamilton and Walton, the accused man's son-in-law, scuffling while the shots were fired. After five shots had been fired Walton fell to the floor, and Hamilton returned to the adjoining office and put the pistol in his desk drawer. Then he said he "had to" do it to save his own life.

WATERFORD, Tex., Oct. 31 (AP)—After the state had complained it had not been able to see all defense witnesses, attorneys for R. H. Hamilton today began introducing character witnesses for their client, charged with having slain his son-in-law, Tom Walton, Jr., 21.

When court opened, District Attorney Edward Thomerson of Amarillo asked District Judge J. E. Carter to instruct defense witnesses to make themselves available for questioning by the prosecution. Defense counsel promised to aid the state in its efforts to confer with all witnesses.

The first witness was Thomas H. Taylor, president of Howard Payne College at Brownwood. He said he had known Hamilton since the defendant was president of Howard Payne from 1910 to 1911 and that Hamilton's reputation was "absolutely good."

Big Tinkle and Charles H. DeLaforce, both of Corsicana, said Hamilton's reputation as a "peaceable and law-abiding citizen" in Navarro county had been good.

AMARILLO

"The first witness to discuss Hamilton's reputation in Amarillo, the town where he allegedly slew his 17-year-old daughter's husband, was J. F. Riggs, who declared he met Hamilton in an Amarillo Baptist church," Hamilton said, was of such character he could be believed under oath.

Another resident of Waco, where Hamilton was a professor in Baylor University, Nat Harris, was the eleventh character witness.

PROBERS HEAR TEXAS MAN

JOHN HENRY KIRBY AP-PROVES BINGHAM EXPLANATION

WASHINGTON, Oct. 31 (AP)—John Henry Kirby of Houston, president of the Southern Tariff association, testified before the senate lobby committee today he thought Representative Garner of Texas, house democratic leader, should be defeated for congress because of his attitude toward fiscal legislation.

Chairman Caraway asked the witness if he knew that J. A. Arnold, secretary of the association, and R. E. Creager, republican national committeeman from Texas, sought to have C. C. Belcher, who was not identified further, run against Garner.

"No, I don't believe that," replied Kirby.

The chairman then said Creager had written Arnold he believed Belcher could make things "hot" for Garner and was "sorry we could not get Belcher into this district."

Kirby said he knew nothing about this.

"Does it come as a surprise to you to know that Arnold has attempted to join an alliance with the republicans to defeat democrats," Caraway asked.

"I think some of them ought to be defeated," he said, "on account of their tariff views."

Kirby then named Garner as one he thought should be beaten.

Caraway asked if Arnold's duty in Washington was to see members of congress and try to fix up legislation.

"I think some one ought to present our views," he answered. Adding that he approved Senator Bingham's action in employing Charles L. Eganston to aid him in tariff matters.

"I thought Bingham's explanation was honorable and fine and I approved his action in getting help from a trade association," Kirby said.

"Does Arnold set for your association," Casaway continued.

"Yes."

"Do you approve of his activities?"

"I'd have to know what they were before I answered."

Kirby then said the membership of his association was about 95 percent democratic and had members all over the South, "even in Arkansas."

Kirby added one conference of the association was addressed by Calvin Coolidge when he was president.

"We had the happiness in seeing the democratic platform last time take our position in tariff matters," he went on.

He said the association stood for a "competitive tariff" which would enable producers to retain the home market.

Senator Robinson, Republican, Indiana, asked if he approved hiring a man from an association who continued to receive his salary to help a senator.

"I approve of members of congress getting technical information from those who know," replied Kirby.

"If it's a good thing to stand for it openly, isn't it," Robinson asked.

"Yes, sir," he said, but added he had heard Bingham's explanation and approved it.

Senator Walsh, Democrat, Montana, asked if the primary purpose of the association was to aid agriculture and Kirby replied it was.

"What is your investment in lumber?" Walsh asked.

"About $30,000,000."

"Have you advocated a lower tariff on lumber?"

"No, and neither has the association."

Kirby said his home was in Houston; that he was a manufacturer of lumber and also a farmer; that he contributed about $2,000 a year to the association since its organization 10 years ago; and that the association's total resources amounted to between $40,000 and $80,000 annually.

The work of the association, he added, was to try and educate the public in promoting the interest of the farmer and stock raiser.

In reply to Caraway he said he had contributed "about a thousand dollars a year" to the Texas taxpayers league.

RESTRICTION OF MEXICAN IMMIGRATION SOUGHT BY LOCAL UNION CARPENTERS

Local carpenters of the Big Spring local have declared, in resolution recently adopted, for application to Mexicans of the provisions of the Federal Restrictive Immigration Law which, as it now exists, does not apply to peoples of the western hemisphere.

Influx of Mexican labor without restriction as to number, education or health, is creating a serious aggravation to the unemployment problem, the resolutions declare.

The local union's resolutions, a copy of which was ordered sent each member of the Texas delegation in congress, follows:

Whereas, unemployment, in the United States is daily becoming more acute, due partly to mass production of goods by perfected machinery which is constantly displacing thousands of workers, and forcing them to seek employment in other lines of work, and also due to the influx of cheap foreign labor, especially that cheapest of all labor, the Mexican, and;

Whereas the Mexican standards of living and of morals are so much lower than are those of the American people among whom they have chosen to live, that they can and will work for a wage, and under conditions, on which no American can decently, live and maintain himself and family, according to American living standards, thereby being deprived due to unequal competition of employment of that which is justly his and thus adding to our already serious unemployment problem, and;

Whereas the aforesaid lower living standards and conditions are so much inferior to those of the American people, that they by their presence in a community create conditions closely akin to the slums of our great cities, a condition which should be eradicated but so long as they exist create an environment that is detrimental to the moral and mental welfare of our children who are forced to come in contact with them, and;

Whereas it is most difficult to compel many Mexicans to send their children to school, as American parents are compelled to send theirs, that they may receive an education as all children should be educated, said lack of education will eventually give us a large number of illiterate adults to become a problem for future consideration, and;

Whereas many are, during certain times of each year, without funds with which to provide for themselves and are therefore forced to seek aid, thereby becoming a burden to our philanthropic and charitable organizations and;

Whereas statistics taken in many of our western and southwestern cities show that the greater per cent of said charitable work done in said cities is expended on the Mexicans, and;

Whereas congress in session some few years ago recognized the necessity of curtailing foreign immigration and took steps to do so by passing the present Restrictive Immigration Law, and;

Whereas said law failed to include those people from western hemisphere countries thereby allowing Mexicans to enter the United States in unlimited numbers to aggravate the already serious employment problem the Restrictive Immigration Law was designed to relieve, therefore be it:

Resolved that Local Union No. 1-634 of the United Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners of America, in executive session here assembled does go on record as being in favor of applying the restrictive clauses of our present immigration law to those immigrants that enter the United States from Mexico and other Central and South American countries, and be it further:

Resolved, that a copy of this resolution be sent to each member of the Texas state delegation at Washington and a copy to each of the senate and house immigration committees notifying them of our actions and desires in this matter and requesting them to support any measure which may come before congress to suppress or restrict Mexican emigration and also to notify said senators and representatives that we shall continue to use our influence to get them to support such measures or if one be not yet introduced to have it done at once.

Physicians Tell Of Walton's Wounds

WEATHERFORD, Texas, Oct. 30. (AP)—After two physicians had disagreed as to whether Tom Walton, Jr., 21, was shot in the back while in R. H. Hamilton's office last May 4, district Judge J. E. Carter ruled Walton's last conversation before he was slain could not be admitted as evidence "at this time."

WATHERFORD, Tex., Oct. 30. (AP)—The state today continued presenting its case against R. H. Hamilton, Amarillo lawyer charged with having slain his son-in-law, Tom Walton, Jr., last May 4.

The first witness was Dr. J. R. Wrather of Amarillo. He said his office is in the same building as the Hamilton-Hendricks law firm where young Walton was slain and that he went into Hamilton's office when the elevator girl called: "Dr. Wrather, come quick; a man has been killed down there!"

"Did you say anything when you went in?"

"Judge Hamilton said: 'Good morning, Doctor Wrather.'"

"I asked him how he was feeling, and he said something about being a little nervous after having to kill a man or something of that sort."

The physician said that, after observing Hamilton was sitting behind his desk, he went into an adjoining office where Walton's body lay.

"Did you examine Walton's body?" District Attorney Edward Thomerson asked.

Three Wounds
"Yes, and found three wounds, one just below his right collar bone, one a little lower in the chest and a third in the abdomen."

Asked whether Hamilton seemed disturbed, Dr. Wrather said: "He was a little nervous. I didn't notice any disarrangement of his clothes."

"In making your examination of Walton's body did you find any weapon of any sort?"

"I did not."

"When you turned him over did you find a weapon?"

"I did not."

The physician declared Walton was breathing when he made his first examination and continued breathing for about five minutes.

Cross-examined by C. B. Reeder, Dr. Wrather said he did not hear any conversation between the sheriff, W. N. Thompson, and any other person in the office.

Thompson, on the stand yesterday, quoted Hamilton as having said: "I would rather be killed than kill a man except to protect my family."

Reeder also had Dr. Wrather enlarge on a statement made in direct testimony that Miss Florence Hendricks seemed to have a sprained ankle.

"Was there anything said about her being shot?" Reeder queried.

"Yes, after I had looked at young Walton someone seemed to think she had been shot."

Dr. Wrather said he did not examine Miss Hendricks' ankle.

The physician also said he saw Sheriff Thompson get the pistol from Hamilton's desk drawer.

"That was at least 15 or 20 minutes after the shooting, and Walton's body had been removed?"

"Yes, I believe it was at least 15 minutes."

The sheriff testified he got the pistol, a .44 calibre revolver, and arrested Hamilton before the body was removed.

"You observed some powder burns about those clothes? Didn't you?"

"I did."

"Where were they?"

His conclusion, as expressed in the Daily Chronicle, is that she does not exist; that she was a very ancient myth among the Hanging Gardens of Babylon; that in Asplasia's set in Athens there were girls who did the equivalent of dangling jade cigarette holders and chain wrinking; that the Victorian grandmother would have been outraged by her 18th century grandmother.

MISS CANTRELL URGES SCHOOLS STANDARDIZE

Rural Students Placed On Same Level And Have Same Advantages As Those In City Educational Systems

By PAULINE CANTRELL, County Superintendent

We are entering the second year of making the rural schools of Howard county, standard schools. Since the majority of our rural children are in small schools of one, two, and three teachers, we should all be more concerned with the problem of making the small school the best possible agency for educating these children.

To parents, trustees, teachers and others interested in this problem, the state department of education offers the plan of standardization as a guide in the direction of giving the country child an equal opportunity with the city child. Certain minimum requirements have been organized in a score-card whereby any community may find the standing of its school.

The schools of Howard county were scored last year for the first time. The official score card for Texas rural schools was used to determine the rank of the respective schools. We were rather liberal in the scoring of some items, but this year a more rigid test will be made. Only one school, the Midway school, was standardized and received the certificate of standardization from the state department of education. All schools which are applying for standardization this year will be scored by December first, but those which are just building toward standardization will not be scored until February.

Raising the standard of a school can not be done by the teachers alone, neither by the trustees, nor by the county superintendent; it must be a cooperative enterprise. The children, patrons, trustees, teachers, and county superintendent must all have a share in this work.

Let every one of us get to work and do our best to raise the standing of every school in the county.

Witches and choice spirits of darkness will hold high carnival on Saturday night, Nov. 2 at the home of Miss Twila Lomax. Miss Lomax is entertaining the two young people's Sunday school classes and their teachers.

L. E. Lomax Recovering
Mr. L. E. Lomax, who has been confined to his bed for the past week, is much better now. He and Mrs. Lomax have an apartment near the doctor's office in Big Spring. It is thought that Mr. Lomax will be able to return home by the latter part of the week.

Glimpses Of Midway School

Essie and Merle Robinson reported a pleasant trip to Dallas last week where they attended the state fair. Merle was one of the 4-H Club girls to win a trip on her home work.

Mrs. M. R. Showalter, county health nurse, visited the Midway school Thursday and posted the gold stars and red stars on the charts of each room. The nurse gave an interesting talk on cleanliness and health habits. The report on Midway this month reveals that 25 per cent of the students are overweight, 25 per cent normal and 50 per cent under weight.

38 Pupils On Roll Of Lomax' Active School

The Lomax school has been in session three weeks. The enrollment now is thirty-eight, and it is probable that this number will not be increased as most of the families in the community are located for another year.

Miss Arsh Phillips, principal, and Miss Twila Lomax, assistant, are teaching their second term at Lomax.

Gym Plans
The P. T. A. will meet Friday night of this week for the purpose of determining whether or not a gymnasium will be constructed. The proposed building will be 90 by 40 feet. It will be built to serve as an auditorium and will be used as a community center for all religious and social gatherings. The building will be thoroughly modern, having stage equipment, shower baths, lockers, etc., included in its furnishings.

Basket Ball
Seven boys ranging in ages from fourteen to eighteen years of age have come out for basketball practice. The community has hopes of a fast team, although none of the boys have had more than one year's experience. The line-up is the same as we had last year. It will be remembered that the Lomax five won runner-up place in the basketball tournament last year in spite of the fact that the team was developed of altogether green and inexperienced material.

The community has already shown their interest in the boys by presenting them with new wool uniforms and sweat suits.

Club Named
The basketball club has adopted the name "Hornet" and the uniform will bear this emblem. The Hornets will play their first game Friday afternoon, Nov. 8 on the home court. We will have to play this game on the ground court but hope to have the gym ready to invite our neighboring schools to hereafter.

Miss Pauline Cantrell will be present Friday night to speak in interest of the gym project and to discuss other business with school patrons.

Primary Room Organizes Club
The primary room met Oct. 18 for the purpose of organizing a Story-Telling club. Dorothy McGinnis was elected president and Rosa Lee Rice, secretary. The Tell-Story club was decided on as a name for the club which meets on Friday of every week at the regular English periods. The club had its first meeting Friday, Oct. 25. Three pupils told stories which the entire room enjoyed. A short play will be given at the next meeting.

Expecting Model Store Equipment
We are expecting a new shipment of model-store and equipment. Both teachers and pupils are very anxious for this material to arrive as our supply is inadequate to meet our needs.

County Agent
Mr. J. V. Bush will speak to the school on Friday afternoon, Nov. 1, on work which he anticipates in this community.

Home Demonstration Club Meets
The Home Demonstration club will meet at Mrs. J. P. Riddle's Friday afternoon of this week. Mrs. Lucille Allgood will be present at this meeting.

Halloween Social
Witches and choice spirits of darkness will hold high carnival on Saturday night, Nov. 2 at the home of Miss Twila Lomax. Miss Lomax is entertaining the two young people's Sunday school classes and their teachers.

L. E. Lomax Recovering
Mr. L. E. Lomax, who has been confined to his bed for the past week, is much better now. He and Mrs. Lomax have an apartment near the doctor's office in Big Spring. It is thought that Mr. Lomax will be able to return home by the latter part of the week.

Schools Grouped To Gather News

Rural schools of Howard county have been divided into two groups for the purpose of organizing a rural school news page in The Weekly Herald. That the activity may not become a burden and may not interfere in any way with regular curriculum work, the groups will alternate. In other words groups will have two weeks in which to prepare its news "copy" for its page in The Weekly Herald.

Washington's Burial Described In 129-Year-Old Paper Owned By Sam Lamar Of Big Spring

What is believed to be the oldest copy of a newspaper existing in Howard and adjoining counties is in the possession of Sam Lamar of Big Spring, who purchased the priceless bit of yellow paper from a veteran of the Confederate army 25 years ago.

It is Volume 2, Number 88 of The Ulster County Gazette, published in Kingston, Ulster county, New York. It was issued Saturday, January 4, 190, nearly 130 years ago.

Momentous news "broke" for this issue of The Gazette; for it chronicles in detail the death and funeral of George Washington.

Page One is devoted largely to deliberations of "The American Congress". But the two inside pages are bordered with heaviest "mourning" slugs, honoring the nation's first president.

"Washington Entombed" is the small heading over an article detailing the funeral service, the long procession to banks of the Potomac. It is dated "Georgetown, Dec. 20," and reads: "On Wednesday last the mortal part of WASHINGTON, The Great—the Father of his country and the Friend of man, was consigned to the tomb with solemn honors and funeral pomp.

"A multitude of persons assembled from many miles around, at Mount Vernon, the choice abode and last residence of the illustrious chief. There were the groves—the spacious avenues, the noble mansion—but alas! the august inhabitant was now no more. That great soul was gone. His mortal part was there indeed; but ah! how affecting! how awful the spectacle of such worth and greatness, thus, to mortal eyes, fallen! — Yes, fallen! fallen!

"In the long and lofty Portico where of the Hero walked in all his glory, now lay the shrouded corpse. The countenance still composed and serene seemed to depress the dignity of the spirit, which lately dwelt in that lifeless form. There those who paid the last sad honors to the benefactor of his country took and impressive — a farewell look.

"On the ornament at the head of the coffin was inscribed George and Julia—about the middle of the coffin, Gloria Deo—and on the silver plate.

GENERAL GEORGE WASHINGTON
Departed this life, on the 14th December, 1799, Oct. 88.

"Between three and four o'clock, the sound of artillery from a vessel in the river firing minute guns, awake fresh our solemn sorrow—the corpse was removed—a band of music with mournful melody melted the soul into all the tenderness of woe.

"The procession was formed & moved on in the following order: Cavalry, Infantry With Arms Reserved, Guard, Music.

The General's Horse with his saddle, holsters and pistols.
Pall Bearers
Cols. Simms.
Ramsay.
Payne.
Mourning
Mittell's Brethren.
Pall Bearers
Cols. Gilpin.
Märteller.
Little.

"When the procession had arrived at the bottom of the elevated lawn, where the family vault is placed, and cavalry halted, the infantry marched toward the Mount and formed their lines—the Clergy, the Music Brothers and the Citizens, descended to the Vault, and the funeral service of the Church was preached. The firing was repeated from the vessel in the river, and the sounds echoed from the woods and hills around.

"Three general discharges by the infantry—the cavalry, and 11 pieces of artillery, which lined the banks of the Potomac back of the Vault, paid the last tribute to the eminent Commander in Chief of the Armies of the United States and to the departed Hero.

"The sun was now setting. Alas! the Sun of Glory was set forever. No the name of WASHINGTON—the American President and general—will triumph over Death. The unclouded brightness of his Glory will illuminate the future ages!

For the Ulster County Gazette On the Death of George Washington (By A Young Lady)

What Means that solemn dirge that strikes my ear?
What means those mournful sounds—why shines the awful knell of fate?

Why toll the bells the awful knell of fate?
Ah! why those signs that do my fancy sate!

Where'er I turn the general gloom appears,
Those mournful bodes fill my soul

with tears:
Hark!—Yonder rueful noise!—'tis done!—'tis done!—
The silent tomb invades our WASHINGTON!
Must virtue exalted, yield their breath?
Must bright perfects find relief in death?
Must mortal greatness fall? — a glorious name!
What then is riches, honor, and true fame?

The august chief, the father and the friend,
The generous patriot — Let the muse commend;
Columbia's glory, and Mount Vernon's pride,
There lies enshrined with numbers at his side!

There let the sigh respondent from his breast,
Heave in rich numbers!—let the glowing zest,
Of tears' refulgent beam with grateful love!
And the sable mourning our afflictions prove.

Weep!—kindred mortals—weep—no more you'll find,
A man so just, so pure, so firm in mind!
Rejoicing Angels hail the heavenly sage!
Celestial Spirits greet the wonder of the Age.

In Congress
The congressional picture following burial of Washington is given in detail; House of Representatives, Thursday, December 19, 1799.

Mr. Goode from Virginia was qualified and took his seat in the House.
Mr. Marshall, with deep sorrow on his countenance, and in a low pathetic tone of voice, rose and addressed the House as follows:
The melancholy event which was yesterday announced without doubt has been rendered but too certain. Our Washington is no more. The hero, the sage, and the patriot of America—the man on whom in time of danger every eye was turned and all hopes were placed lies now only in his own great actions, and in the hearts of an afflicted people.

MIDWAY HAS FULL TIME SESSIONS

SCHOOL REPORT BULGES WITH ACTIVITY ALONG EDUCATIONAL LINES

After halting school activity one week for cotton picking, the Midway school is again at its regular class duties at the close of the second month. Instructors claim the early fall opening is far more desirable than a late start in spite of the fact that one or two weeks is often lost during the cotton picking season.

The pupils are going good work and a list of those on the honor roll will be compiled by Midway school reporters each month. The honor roll includes students who have perfect attendance and tardy records and who have made a grade of 90 per cent or more on all subjects including deportment. On the honor roll "B" a grade of 80 or more is required for all subjects.

Midway has just received its certificate of standardization from S. M. N. Marrs, superintendent of the state department of education. Last year Midway scored more than 900 points, more than 100 points above the minimum requirement for standardization. Faculty and students are attempting to score a perfect card this year. The greatest handicap Midway experienced last year was a deficient and inadequate building, but there may be a correction soon in that matter.

All teachers in the Midway school belong to the National Educational Association and in the Texas State Teachers Association and the school, collectively, is a member of the interscholastic league. There is also an active Parent Teachers Association functioning in Midway school.

Plans are now developing to increase Midway's standing in the University Interscholastic League this year. The league speller will be taken up from the fourth grade through the ninth immediately.

hand some resolutions which I take the liberty to offer to the house.

"Resolved, That this House will wait on the President of the United States, in condolence of this mournful event.

"Resolved, That the Speaker's chair be shrouded in black, and that the Members and Officers of the House wear black, during the session.

"Resolved, That a committee, in conjunction with one from the Senate, be appointed to consider on the most suitable manner of paying honor to the memory of the man, first in war, first in peace and first in the hearts of his countrymen.

"Resolved, That this House when it adjourns do adjourn to Monday.

These resolutions were unanimously agreed to. Sixteen members were appointed on the third resolution.

Generals Marshall and Smith were appointed to wait on the President to know at what time it would be convenient to receive the House.

General Marshall and Smith having waited on the President with the first resolution, reported that the President would be ready to receive them at 1 o'clock this day. The House accordingly waited on him.

To President
The Speaker addresses the President in the following words:

To which the President made the following answer:

Gentlemen of the House of Representatives:

Editorial

Say, folks, how about this new "Rural Chronicle"? Don't you think we can make it a worth while publication for Howard county rural school students? Don't you think it can become just a jim dandy exchange for interesting events in the every day life of every county school?

The Big Spring Weekly Herald, big brother of The Rural Chronicle, believes all those questions in the first paragraph can be answered with a big "yes," but this business of putting out a small paper takes the same cooperation necessary to a large paper.

It takes news to make a paper worth reading and if the Rural Chronicle is to become the paper we hope it will, every rural student in Howard county must do his part toward that end. It doesn't take long to write down names of your young friends who are out of school sick or who make a trip and after we get started there will be no stopping and no end of fun.

Now let's see. Next week Forsan, Chalk, Elbow, Morris, Hart Wells, Moore, Richland, Soash, Gay Hill, R-Bar and Cauble schools have their turn at furnishing news for the Rural Chronicle. Suppose this group just does its level best to furnish more news about what is happening at school and what will happen in the future than the other group. Don't you think that will be fun? All right, let's go, then. Just mail your news to Miss Pauline Cantrell, county superintendent of schools or to The Big Spring Herald in care of the Rural Chronicle editor.

ton—This event, so distressing to all our fellow citizens, must be peculiarly heavy to you, who have been long associated with him in deeds of patriotism. Permit us, sir, to mingle our tears with yours; on this occasion it is mainly to weep. To lose such a man at such a crisis, is so common calamity to the world, our country mourns her Father, The Almighty disposer of human events has taken from us our greatest Benefactor and ornament. It becomes us to submit with reverence to him who "maketh dark his pavilion."

Patriotic Pride
With patriotic pride we review the life of our Washington and compare him with those of other countries, who have been pre-eminent in fame. Ancient and modern famies are diminished before him. Greatness and filth whiter than it is brilliant. The destroyers of nations stood abashed at the majesty of his virtue. It reprieved the temperance of their ambition, and darkened the splendor of victory. The scenes closes and we are no longer anxious lest misfortune should sully his glory; he has traveled to the end of his journey and carried with him an increasing weight of honour; he has deposited it safely, where misfortune cannot tarnish it where malice cannot blast it. Favoured of heaven, he departed without exhibiting the weakness of humanity; magnanimous in death, the darkness of the grave could not obscure his brightness.

Such was the man whom we deplore—Thanks to God, his glory is consummated, Washington yet lives upon earth in his spotless example—his spirit is in Heaven.

Let his countrymen consecrate the memory of the heroic General, the patriotic Statesman and the virtuous sage; let them teach their children never to forget that the fruits of his labours, and his example are their inheritance.

PRESIDENT'S ANSWER
Gentlemen of the Senate:
I receive with the most respectful and affectionate sentiments, in this impressive address, the bolting expressions of your regret for the loss our country has sustained in the death of her most esteemed, beloved and admired Citizen.

In the multitude of my thoughts and recollections, on this melancholy event, you will permit me only to say that I have seen him in the days of Adversity in some of the scenes of his despair and most trying perplexities I have also attended him in the highest elevation and most prosperous felicity; with uniform admiration of his wisdom, moderation and constancy.

Among all our original associates, in the memorable League of the Continent in 1774, which first expressed the sovereign will of a Free Nation in America, he was the only one remaining in the General Government. Although with a constitution so more feeble, at an age when he thought it necessary to prepare for retirement, I feel myself alone, bereaved of my last brother; yet I deliver strong consolation from the Unanimous disposition, which appears in all ages and classes, to mingle their sorrows with mine, on this common calamity to the world.

GLASSCOCK FIELD GETS EXTENSION

Shell's No. 1 Coffee Stands 1,700 Feet In Crude Oil

The new northern Glasscock county field received its second western extension within two weeks when Shell Petroleum Corporation's No. 1 Coffee, the most western test in the field, was drilled in pay Wednesday below 2,115 feet with 1,700 feet of oil standing in the hole. Day was topped in the extension well around 2,094 feet. Samples and logs have not been completed by Shell geologists, but it was stated that test of pay was approximately 2,094 feet.

By completion of the Shell well, the field, discovered by Kirby-Atlantic and Black Arrow interests several months ago, will be extended two locations west and will increase the known productive strip to nearly one mile in length.

Shell's No. 1 Coffee is 1,650 feet from the east line and 330 feet from the south line of section 15, block 33, township 2 south, T. & P. Ry. Co., survey and is a direct west offset to E. L. Smith's No. 2 Coffee and a north offset to Simons Oil Company's No. 1 Coffee down in section 22. Shell's producer is the second in section 15, E. L. Smith having completed his No. 1 Coffee nearly two weeks ago.

The fact that extreme eastern producers are now slightly more than one half mile southwest of extreme southern producers in the Klob, Runsey and Abrams area of southern Howard county, is substantiating geologists' theories that Glasscock county production is a continuation of the Howard county field.

Exploration in the area is still partially suppressed by a reduction of proration allowance from 75 per cent of potential gauges to 40 per cent. Pipe line companies are running the 40 per cent, but the arrangement is not encouraging extensive development.

Failure Looms In Landreth's McDowell Test

A second failure within a week loomed in Landreth Production Company's No. 3 Houston, Glasscock county wildcat, which encountered a hole full of sulphur water at 3,420 feet in lime.

The well is located 330 feet from the south line and 2,310 feet from the east line of section 29, block 35, township 2 south, T. & P. Ry. Co., survey.

The first well to fail in Glasscock county this week was Fuhrman Petroleum Company's No. 1 L. S. McDowell, 330 feet from the south line and 1,850 feet from the east line of section 24, block 24, township 2 south, T. & P. Ry. Co., survey, which encountered a hole full of sulphur water at 2,618 feet and drilled to a total depth of 2,623 feet. Operators expect to plug the well when equipment arrives.

Hamilton

would have had to wedge himself between a safe in the office and a bookcase, the witness declared, after the defense had withdrawn an objection to the question. Holloway said he believed that bullet was discharged from a pistol held in the left hand.

The fourth bullet was found under the safe, without any indication as to its route, Holloway said. When he first entered the office, Miss Florence Hendricks was standing near the desk, the witness declared, while H. L. Gaither, police chief, was with her.

Before Holloway left the stand, Thomerson asked him whether he would pose as an "expert" on the line a bullet would follow.

He said he would not since there were so many points from which a bullet could ricochet.

When Holloway left the stand, Judge Carter declared a short recess and as the jury returned Chief Justice C. M. Cureton of the Texas supreme court was called to the stand as a character witness.

Then the defense called Florence Hendricks to the stand. She was said to have been the only eye witness to the shooting.

She was working in her father's office, she said, her desk in the room in which Walton was slain. Harry Hendricks, her father, and Hamilton, were partners.

Miss Hendricks said she had not known Walton before the shooting but that she saw him when he came to the office. She was at her typewriter when he appeared.

Although she told Walton "Good morning," she said nothing except to ask for Hamilton. At that moment her father entered, Miss Hendricks said.

Then Hendricks left, Hamilton

entered and he and Walton were standing there.

"I heard some shots," she was wailing and sobbing and declared.

C. B. Reeder had difficulty in getting Miss Hendricks to state she objected.

"They were going some," she would say.

"Were they facing each other?" "Yes, sir."

"Did they have hold of each other?" "Yes, sir."

"Now, just tell the jury what happened."

"When I looked up I saw Hamilton standing there with a gun in his hand, and then he came going around and then there were some shots."

"That ended her direct examination."

"Did Walton and Hamilton have their hands on each other when the gun was fired?" the district attorney asked on cross examination.

"Yes, sir, I think so."

"You don't remember heard either one say anything?" "Not that I remember."

"And you saw Judge Hamilton standing there with a pistol in his hand?" "Yes, sir."

"You didn't see Walton moving of any kind or looking up and then you were looking?"

"That is right," District Attorney Thomerson standing up with County V. P. Craven, attempted to witness to show how Hamilton had scuffed, but she "couldn't remember."

BIG SPRING, TEXAS, FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 1, 1929

NUMBER 8

STARTS DRILLING IN OIL WELL

Drilling Corporation secured the field well extended west

The Big Spring high school safe was demolished and $75 to $100 in cash belonging to the First Baptist Sunday School stolen by thieves sometime Saturday night.

BAPTIST SUNDAY SCHOOL'S FUNDS TAKEN BY THIEVES AFTER DEMOLISHING SAFE

The money had been placed in the high school safe in the superintendent's office by officials of the church. Prof. W. C. Blankenship, superintendent of city schools, also is superintendent of the Baptist Sunday School. Miss Helen Beavers, a school teacher, is church secretary.

Discovered by janitor W. C. Ward, a janitor at the high school building, notified Mrs. Blankenship, who in turn called George Gentry, principal of the high school, early Sunday morning. Mr. Ward had gone to the building to fire furnaces, preparing the building for Baptist church services, which are held in the high school, pending completion of the congregation's new building at Sixth and Main streets.

The safe was demolished completely by thieves, which probably constitutes a more severe loss than the actual cash involved. Members of the Howard county sheriff's department investigating the crime said that heavy instruments had been used to pry open the safe door and that the work was apparently done by amateurs in the safe cracking business.

Virtually all the cash missed was from small denominations ranging from 5 cents to $1 and was sealed in small church envelopes. The secretary had deposited envelopes in the safe and they had not been molested until the robbery occurred Saturday night.

Work Deliberately

Thieves were apparently familiar with their ground as each envelope was torn in half, the contents extracted and torn bits left in a neat pile on the floor. Officers stated there was approximately 150 envelopes opened in that manner and that professional safe crackers and robbers would have secured the loot and fled to a less public spot before making a minute investigation.

Although no arrests have been made, officers continued their investigation Monday with the assistance of school officials. Officers believe they have found the tools used in opening the safe, but could not state positively until other clues are investigated.

STORE TO ENLARGE ITS SPACE

United Dry Goods, Inc., Leases Space Adjoining

Since it was established here in September, the United Dry Goods Store on West Third street has done such a thriving business that it now leads 30 other stores of the same chain in sales and in the increase in volume of business.

To adequately handle the business of the local store, the United Dry Goods Stores, Inc., leased from Wilcox and Ellis, the storeroom just east of the present location and will convert the two store spaces into a 50 by 100 foot store, according to J. W. Carriger, manager. The store at present occupies a 25 by 100 store space in the Wilcox-Ellis building just east of the Montgomery Ward and Co. store.

Remodeling plans for the larger store include a new front and more pretentious show windows. The display cases will include a feature center display arrangement.

A larger stock has been ordered from the company headquarters and is already on its way to Big Spring. The new addition will be converted into a ladies' ready to wear, household linens and furnishings and piece goods department, while the space now occupied by the store will accommodate men's furnishings and the shoe department.

With the addition of new fixtures and new display cases, the United Dry Goods store will be one of the leading business houses in Big Spring and will handle one of the most complete lines of medium priced goods in the city.

Airplane Apiece Used By Couple, Visitors In City

The first instance of a man and his wife visiting Big Spring in an individual airplane piece was recorded on the log book of the Big Spring airport over the week end.

Lieutenant Frankle, piloting a Douglass army ship and Mrs. Frankle, flying a Stearman, landed in Big Spring Saturday afternoon. The couple started another lap of their trip to Boston, Mass., early Sunday morning, but were forced to return within an hour. The man and wife pilot team made another start Monday morning for Amarillo and as no word had been received at the airport early Monday afternoon, attendants presumed their second trial had been successful.

Lt. and Mrs. Frankle were in the air over and around Big Spring several times Sunday. Both were complimentary of Big Spring's airport and expressed surprise at the modern equipment and complete facilities offered.

The couple was returning from California where Lt. Frankle secured the army ship. The couple made the trip to California several days ago in the Stearman.

R. E. THOMASON SUPPORTED IN EL PASO FOR CONGRESS

Mayor's Friends List Counties Expected To Vote For Him Against Belcher

EL PASO, Oct. 26.—Mayor R. E. Thomason of El Paso is going to be the next congressman from this district.

The mayor himself will not say that but the political prognosticators around the court house and city here so picture the situation and have it all down in black and white for the benefit of the skeptical. The statistics relate to the voting strength of the counties that make up the sprawling congressional district and these political forecasters claim that Mayor Thomason is known to be favored in those populous ones which can swing the election, no matter how the great ranch country of Southwest Texas votes.

That isn't Mayor Thomason's analysis of the situation, however. He intends to make an active campaign for Congress and an especially hard drive in the ranch area counties.

Mayor Thomason has declined to state the platform upon which he will run or to outline the plan of his campaign against C. G. Belcher of Del Rio, other than to state that he plans to make a tour of the entire district within the next four weeks.

To Tour District He will leave here and visit Marfa and Alpine, going from there to Fort Stockton and then through the oil counties to San Angelo. From San Angelo he will go south to the end of the district. He will return along the T. and P.

No political speeches will be made made by the congressional candidate on that trip, in fact he says he does not intend to make any speeches at all, and no campaigning will be done. He says he merely wants to meet more people in the district and renew old acquaintances made during his stay in the legislature and during his campaign for governor several years ago.

"There is no reason to start a campaign this early in the contest," Mayor Thomason said. "When the proper times come I intend to make a full statement of the principles upon which I will seek election and to campaign in earnest."

To Announce "I'm going to have a definite announcement on every controversial issue of importance to this section of the country and I'm not going to make my drive for the election from my desk in El Paso. I'm going to get out and speak to the people and carry the campaign into every corner of the district."

The mayor, incidentally, has the reputation here in his home town of being one of the best campaigners that ever took the stump in West Texas. He is a forceful public speaker, has a pleasing personality and a warm smile that accompanies his firm handshake. And, the mayor never forgets a man he has met. The friendly eyes beam through his thick glasses for a few moments at a stranger and the stranger is henceforth catalogued in Thomason's mind.

During the West Texas Chamber of Commerce convention this week, a regular homecoming reception was held continually at the mayor's office in the city hall and on the convention floor when he appeared there. From the Big Bend, from the farthest eastern edges of the district, from the towns and cities along the Texas and Pacific, visitors thronged about Mayor Thomason shaking his hand and pledging him support. He called nearly every one of them by name and he had a personal word for each.

Long In Politics Mayor Thomason has taken an active part in political life in this part of the state every since he left East Texas years ago to come out here and there is not a single town in the area in which he has not friends.

The delegates to the West Texas Chamber of Commerce cheered lustily when he was introduced by H. L. Binney, president of the Chamber of Commerce here. Thomason welcomed the convention city.

The mayor said later that one reason he had given little thought to politics was because he had been so busy making preparations for the regional organization gathering and also because he is engrossed right now in handling the sale of an El Paso bond issue.

The amateur political expert base their assertion that "Thomason will win in a walk" largely on the peculiar distribution of the voting strength in the district. El Paso cast more than 12,000 votes in its last presidential election. Tom Green county was second in the list, but way down the line with a little more than 4,000.

METHODIST WOMEN HEAR THEIR LEADER

MRS. ROLLINS, CONFERENCE W. M. S. PRESIDENT ENTERTAINED

Methodist women of Big Spring entertained Mrs. Nat G. Rollins, of Abilene, president of the Northwest Texas Conference of Women's Missionary Society of the Methodist church, South, who is at present making a tour of the Lubbock district.

Mrs. Rollins not only is a fluent speaker, but a brilliant conversationalist and her visit here Saturday was enjoyed by a large group of ladies. Mrs. Rollins spoke at 2 o'clock Saturday afternoon in the auditorium of the Methodist church, and was honored with a tea in the church basement, following her speech. Mrs. R. H. Jones and Mrs. D. E. Waggoner poured tea. The speaker was introduced by Mrs. W. A. Miller, president of the Women's Missionary society of the church. Rev. W. G. Bailey, pastor, opened the meeting with prayer. Mrs. Miller led the singing a hymn "The Kingdom Coming" with Miss Roberta Gay at the piano.

Mrs. Rollins commended the women of the church upon their part in aiding in the building of the church, and said that she believed that God had women in mind when he told his disciples to go out to all parts of the universe and preach the gospel.

Taking as theme, the power of the gospel to compel the chosen to follow in the work of the Lord and carry the word to all parts of the earth, and the transforming power of the gospel to recreate individuals, the speaker visualized the lives of great leaders in the church through the strength, two-fold power she described.

The part that women must play in the word of the kingdom is to aid in bringing the kingdoms of this earth to the kingdoms of Jesus Christ, he told his hearers.

Mrs. Rollins urged each auxiliary to send at least one delegate to the council meeting of the Methodist church South in Amarillo next March. This will be the first time that the council has voted to meet on Texas soil and it will be a great opportunity for members of that church to attend a council meeting.

Mrs. Rollins was entertained by Mrs. T. S. Jenkins at luncheon Saturday when Mrs. W. D. McDonald and Mrs. W. A. Miller were also guests.

Telephone Folk Given Gay Party

The vacant store space in the Wilcox-Ellis building on Third street was converted into a play ground for employes of the local exchange of the Southwestern Bell Telephone Company, Saturday evening, when they were joined by a large gathering of wives, children and sweethearts of employes.

Games of bridge, "42" and less serious games were played beneath a ceiling from which were suspended streamers, black cats and witches. Following games, the merry crowd danced to radio music.

Two heavily loaded tables in the rear of the building supplied ample food for the most hearty appetites.

R. C. Cayton, manager of the exchange, was in charge of plans for the party. The frolic was originally planned to be held on the lawn of the exchange but the cooler weather of the last few days made it necessary that it be held indoors.

C. H. Victor, manager of the Montgomery Ward and Company store in Sweetwater, was in Big Spring Monday.

Construction of a landing field has been begun at Fairbanks, Alaska, in the expectation of a visit from the Graf Zeppelin next April.

AUSTRIAN VIOLINIST, SUCCESSFUL COMPOSER OF SONGS, BECOMES RESIDENT OF BIG SPRING

By CAROLYN EARLEY

"Smile Baby," the latest composition by one of the most popular song writers of the country, soon to come from the press, will bear the signature, "By Otto Schick, Big Spring, Texas."

For Otto Schick, native Austrian, who was a child prodigy with the violin and, after being graduated from the national conservatory of his fatherland, became not only a successful teacher of violin and a composer but a member of the Austrian Army Symphony Orchestra, now is a resident of Big Spring.

Prof. Schick's family long has been prominent in musical circles of Europe. His mother was a noted harpist and his sister, Miss Henrietta Schick, now is singing in the opera of Vienna. His two daughters, Charlotte, pianist, and Henrietta, violinist, although but 19 and 20, are being featured now on the Keith-Orpheum circuit. Their father is proud of them to the nth degree, because the foundation of their musical training was formed under his instruction. Later they studied in Europe.

At the age of six Otto Schick began the study of violin. His native talents were polished in the government conservatory and later in others. He is a pupil of the internationally known Austrian, Oskar Serrick.

"Music not only is a requisite to the cultural development of the child but to his moral well being also," declares Big Spring's new citizen. The teaching of music is certain to be stressed more thoroughly in the future, he added.

Schick came to America in 1902 and for several years taught violin in Chicago, playing the French horn with the Academy Theatre orchestra. In 1915 he went to Fort Worth and was a prominent figure in musical circles there until June 1927 when he went to Pampa as orchestra director and supervisor of music in the public schools. Returning to Fort Worth he engaged in publishing songs. He is the author of twelve instrumental pieces and 44 songs. His compositions are being used by radio artists throughout the nation, as well as from a station in Honolulu.

His song, "After Sundown I'll Be Waiting For You," is being featured on the Keith-Orpheum circuit. "I Wish I Could Be A Baby Again," was sung on the Mother's Day program of the First Methodist church this year. "Morning Glories Bloom For You," and "Sweetheart of Mine" are being used by Eva Munster Banks, "The Southern Nightingale" of station KRLD, Dallas.

"Smile Baby," his latest, now being printed, bears his new home address on the cover of the sheet.
