

Tracksters take third and fourth at state meet

Heather Murrell

Krista Kirkland

Both Spearman girls and boys high school track teams excelled at state competition last Saturday, May 13 at Memorial Stadium in Austin. The Spearman boys finished the year with a third place at the meet, making the community exceptionally proud and also speaking well of the high school coaching staff. The Spearman high school girls track team came in fourth place overall in the Class 2-A meet.

Some events had to be delayed at the meet due to the weather conditions. It began a cool day, but the wet track gave tracksters the most problems. Spearman still shined taking the most golds in the Class 2-A competition. Matt Tucker took a gold with the shot with a put of 57' 3 3/4". This was more than ten inches better than the next runner-up. Lance Swan also captured a gold in the discus. He had a throw of 169' 4". Tucker took third in that event, throwing 165' 6".

The brightest showing on the Spearman girls team came when Senior Heather Murrell won her fourth consecutive state title in the 400 with a time of 55.8. This win places her in the company of only two other girls who have recently won four years in a row in the same event. Murrell also took third in the 110 hurdles, 15.1.

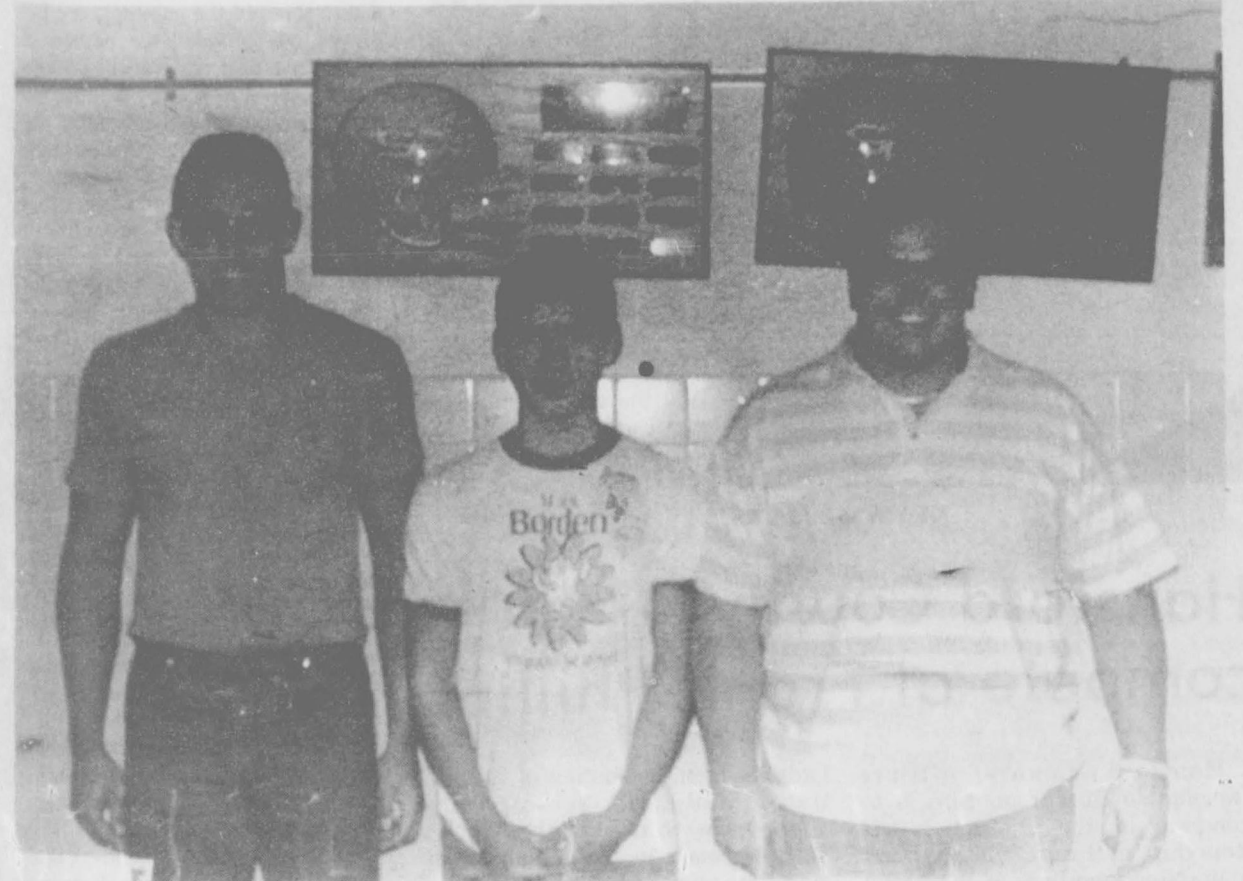

Krista Kirkland took third in the 1600. Her time was 5:35.1. Jerold

Blan took fifth place for Spearman in the 3200 meter run with a time of 10:06.2.

The 1600-meter relay team of Murrell, Laci Lasater (junior), and freshman Shannon Holton and Sonya Nitschke claimed fourth place for Spearman with a time of 4:30.7. Joy Gafford, also a freshman, was alternate to the 1600 relay team.

City council meets

The Spearman City Council met Tuesday evening, May 9 in their first regularly scheduled meeting of the month. After considering the minutes of the last meeting, the council canvassed the ballots of the city election which was held Saturday, May 6 and administered the oaths of office to the three re-elected aldermen, Mike Cudd, Burl Buchanan, and Wilson McClellan.

After the oaths of office, the councilmen considered the removal of the three meter (high) diving board at the Spearman Municipal Swimming Pool. Council agreed that removal was necessary due to the fact that the swimming pool does not meet all of the Texas Department of Health's minimum design standards to have the three meter board.

Next, the on-going status report from the city council's committee reviewing the Spearman Volunteer Fire Department's organization was heard. The committee is still gathering information from area fire department's to decide on possible improvements for the Spearman VFD.

Next a status report was heard on the problems with the failure of the paint system on the water storage tanks. The City has engaged Brandt Engineering Services who in turn have employed Southwest Laboratories of Houston to make an inspection of the problem. Employees of Southwest

Lab. will be in Spearman today (Thursday) to evaluate the problem.

Then council decided to join with the Spearman Independent School District and Hansford Hospital in an auction that will enable the City to dispose of surplus equipment. Some of the larger items that the City will have in the auction include a 1979 Chevrolet pickup, a 4-wheel drive jeep, and a dozer and scraper. Other items, and the time and place of the auction will be decided at a later time.

Councilmembers then authorized the city manager to accept bids on a mowing contract at the Municipal Airport. Council decided not to authorize the city manager to accept bids on group health insurance for city employees at this time. They will wait and see how the correct coverage plans costs may change.

The City council then agreed to a contract with Southwest Aerial Services, Inc., to perform aerial application of a chemical mosquito control program. This contract will be at the same cost that the city paid last year for the service.

Reports were then heard from the fire, ambulance and police departments, as well as the municipal court and animal control shelter. Before adjourning, council considered the monthly revenue and expense report. Council was within budget for the month of April.

Historical painter may have sold works in area

The strange and exciting story of an artist who sold her works all over the Southwest at the turn of the century to help free her doctor son from a Mexican prison, may very well have a Spearman connection, because some of the paintings are believed to be privately owned here.

Her beautiful pastoral oil-on-tapestry paintings have brightened homes and churches and brought joy to their owners throughout the Southwest since the turn of the century.

Very few know of the despair that accompanied every painstaking stroke of her brush. Certainly every painting had its message, but the strange, remarkable, untold story of the artist and the calamity in her life that motivated her for years is a much greater picture. She painted with a purpose.

And before her story was finally played out over international borders, she would have become involved in the sphere of diplomatic relations, political lobbying and even into the areas of helping finance a foreign revolution.

Texas and American national officials up to and even including the President got to know her well, and foreign revolutionaries felt her influence. She was a mother praying, fighting and laboring for one of her children who she believed had been wronged.

Mexican legend Pancho Villa would prove to be the pivotal key in re-uniting the fragile artist and her physician son who had been a long-time prisoner in a Mexican dungeon. Putting all the pieces of the strange puzzle together began with a modern woman's determination to identify the artist of a large painting she had bought during the disposal of furnishings from a large nearby home.

The trail took many turns, including the National Archives, crumbling newspaper files, fading memories, interview, letter writing and days of library and cemetery research. None of the informants knew the whole story. A piece was added here; a new name turned up there; many other paintings came to light and, little by little, the story of Anna Laurie Harle unfolded.

Truly, it was a classic example of international intrigue that was so much a part of the Southwestern History in the early 1900's. The thoroughly documented account reads today like pure fiction, but its principals actually lived it.

There are believed to be hundreds of the paintings by Mrs. Harle throughout the Southwestern States, many hung in major churches, and were proud, prized possessions of those who had decorated stately homes. Since then, they have been passed from generation to generation. Now with the publication of this material, their value will be enhanced by knowledge of the story behind the paintings.

County selected for economic development

Hansford County is one of the eight counties in the Texas Panhandle that has been selected for a new economic development initiative by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service of The Texas A&M University System.

The other counties of Dallam, Sherman, Hartley, Moore, Ochiltree, Lipscomb, and Hutchinson will also be the focus of a new effort to aid rural communities hampered by adverse economic conditions, said Dr. Ronald D. Knutson, an Extension economist who will help coordinate the project.

Knutson said the year-long process will include development of a demographic and economic profile of the counties prior to development of a comprehensive strategic plan for economic development.

The new initiative will be jointly sponsored by the Texas Bankers Association with funding from the Extension Service, the Kellogg Foundation and the Farm Foundation.

Knutson and Extension Economist Dr. Dennis U. Fisher will direct an Extension team that will work with community leaders in each county to develop a long-range rural development plan.

Knutson said the counties have been divided into two economic development regions emphasizing a growth center surrounded by outlying communities that can feed into and profit from development of the growth center.

Both Dalhart and Dumas tentatively have been identified as growth centers for the four-county area of Dallam, Sherman, Hartley and Moore counties while Perryton and Borger tentatively will be the growth center focus of a four-county effort in Ochiltree, Lipscomb, Hansford and Hutchinson counties.

"We'll work with community leaders to help them evaluate the region's economic potential," Knutson said. "We'll also review the economic development alternatives that are available, consequences of these alternatives and support sources for implementing their strategic plan."

Harrington Cancer Center to co-sponsor free clinic

Amarillo and the High Plains region lie in the area of the country where skin cancer is prevalent. Being aware of the effects of sun on human skin makes it possible for a person to learn to control skin cancer by the use of sun screens, covering the exposed parts of the body and staying out of the direct sunlight whenever possible.

Specific populations are more at risk for being skin cancer patients. Heavy sun tanners, farmers and construction workers who spend their days in the sun and those who use tanning booths often show signs of skin cancer. Sun exposure can happen even when the body is covered when the rays of the sun penetrate light-weight or light-colored clothing or the rays are reflected from clothing onto the face even though a person is wearing a hat for protection.

The skin cancer screening, done in a private exam room, covers mole checks in exposed and unexposed areas. Physicians will check any part of the skin for abnormalities. If an abnormality is found, the participant is referred to his or her doctor for additional examination.

The physicians will ask for a family history of skin cancer when they examine a person who participates in the free clinic. They will also check on a history of x-ray treatments for acne or other skin conditions. And they will look for any pigmented spots which have changed size recently, and they will determine each participant's skin type in its ability to tan or burn.

Information on skin cancer will be provided, and registered nurses will be available to teach skin self-examination. Dermatologists will also be present to answer any questions.

For information, call The Harrington Cancer Center at (806) 359-HOPE, or The American Cancer Society at (806) 353-4306.

Mrs. Ernestine Gray spent Mother's Day weekend at Dumas in the home of her son, Gary, and his family. Her entire family met her there. Her daughter, Carole Watts and family from Tulia, and another son, Don, and his family of Hooker. All three of the Gray children finished high school here.

Jean Ann also enjoyed the One Time exhibit of the Italian Classical Paintings at the Kimball Museum. She kept feeling that she had been there before - but it finally dawned on her that she had seen these same huge, spectacular paintings in Italy several years ago while she was in Italy.

Because of these people and many businesses in Spearman, we were able to raise over $3,000. This amount allows extra money to be donated to the school after taking our trip. Thank you.
