On Falling Heir To Old Clothes—by Elizabeth Forbes.

Did you ever go to Mother and say in your most persuasive tone, "Oh, oh, Mother, I do need a new pair of shoes."

Dair.

Oh, how you long for the time when Janey goes to college and you can get some new clothes. When Janey leaves however, Alice comes. More shoes that are too small or too long for Alice, but just right for you. Also Alice has a beautiful blue suit which she started to destroy but remembered her sister and brought it home. It has only a few worn places which can be patched very neately and inconspiciously with some blue cloth. After trying it on you discover that the sleeves are too short, that the neckline is too low, and that the skirt is too low, when the skirt is too low, and that the skirt is too low, and that the skirt is too low, and the skirt is too low.

"Why? Oh, why, can't mothers realize that all little Janey's and Jill's, even though they are smaller than their older sisters, want a personality of their own, not an offcast one of big sis'? Why can't they realize that even sisters aren't sufficiently alike to make them like the very same colors and types of clothing?

Well, I supose that some day I shall be a mother, but my little Janeys will each choose her own clothing and not have to wear older sister's off-cast models, even though they are the same as new.

Mrs. A. D. Reed and Margaret According to statistical reports that the young folks under nine-teen years of age numbered forty-eight million in 1930, it is expected this number will be reduced to twenty-eight million by 1980, during the same time it is expected that those over sixty five years of age will increase from six and a half million in 19-30 to twenty-two million by 1980.

The revolt against Mr. Roose velt in Congress is rapidly diminishing. A great many of the new members of Congress are finding themselves somewhat bewildered at the volume of Ameriwildered at the volume of can business, and can grasp on-ly in a small way the tremendous amount of needed legislation, resulting in the old game of "fol-lowing the leader." These infants in Congress have been choosing their own leaders from among the older members, and some are ted as saying, "The government will shortly be compelled to adopt some system of old age assistance similar to the one advocated by Dr. Townsend or some other plan that will embody the "pay as you go" principal."

In the column last week, I made the statement that I had heard in Amarillo, "Old Tack" was on-ly running for Congress as a joke. I have received several letters stating that if Tack should hap-pen to be elected the joke would be on him when he ommenced trying to please his constitutents.

Some of the world gamblers in the game of governments have reached for the Czecho-Slovakia jackpot, and it appears now that the game has been won by Hitler.

This Week Happenings
In Washington

The President and his counsellors are still looking across the Atlantic and Pacific oceans. The Senators and Representatives in Congress are sharply divided as to whether external or internal affairs call for the chief attention of the United States.

There is almost a hundred percent agreement that the nation should put its military, naval and air defenses into first-rate condition, proof of which is found in the almost unanimous vote to appropriate 500 million dollars for the War Department, the largest peace-time fund ever granted for that purpose. The President has asked for another 138 millions for supplementary Army purposes, and probably will get it.

The removal of the general headquarters of the Army Air Corps from Langley Field, Virginia, to Scott Field in Illinois, as soon as the new buildings can be finished, is part of the general program of shifting the more vulnerable points of national defense away from the seacoast and into the interior, where they will be safer from air raids from overseas.

Building Huge Reserves Part of that program is the

Also, as part of the great new defense program, interest in the Florida Ship Canal has been revived, on the principle that it will provide a safe, sheltered water route from the Mississippi Valley to the Atlantic Coast in time of war.

The War Department has reported to Congress that the Florida Canal would be of vital importance to commerce in peace

Altogether, the atmosphere of

Altogether, the atmosphere of Washington is more warlike than it has been at any time since 19-18, with all sorts of wild speculation heard everywhere about our foreign relations.

The United States Ambassador to Spain, Claude Bowers, who has been staying in Frane close to the border, has been sent for to make a report to the State Department and the President, presumably bearing on the question whether this country should give official recognition to the new Franco government of Spain, as England and France seem about to do.

Independence Questionable
The question which worries
Washington is whether the new Spanish government will really be Spanish government will really be independent, or merely a puppet with Hitler and Mussolini pulling the strings, and providing in Spain a jumping-off place nearer to the United States than any other part of Europe, where great air bases might be established.

The chance of such legislation The chance of such legislation is increased by the efforts being made by both Administration and Congressional leaders to repeal or modify existing laws which have tended to hamper business expansion.

HOPPERS WILL BE WORSE THIS YEAR

Federal government officials predict that grasshoppers will be more plentiful in Northwest Tex-as in 1939 than in 1938. The damage will spread over a larger ter-ritory unless united action is ta-

Judge Raney states that the Commissioners Court would continue working with the other county officials of the Panhandle in the effort to secure state funds. The importance of quick action in order to save the crops this year will be stressed when the delegation goes to Austin in order to secure this aid.

CHRISTOPHER COLUMBUS

His Sailors Were Afraid of Falling Off the Edge of the

Columbus with his the celebrate one of the most important events in our history, the distant events in our history, the discovery of America by Christopher Columbus.

As a boy in school, Columbus had studied a book by Pythagoras who taught that the world was round. So Columbus got an idea. He figured out that, if it was round, he could find a short cut to India; and that would make him a fortune. him a fortune.

But the learned professors and philosophers in the universities laughed at his silly idea.

They told him that the earth was not round, but flat; and they warned him that he would be committing suicide; that his ships would sail to the edge of the world and then tumble off into unending space.

For seventeen years, Columbus tried to get someone to finance his adventure. Finally, he was ready to give up in despair; and he retired to a monastery in Spain to end his days. He wasn't quite fifty years old then, but he had had so much trouble and so much heart-break that his red so much heart-break that his red

Roll call was answered with a vegetable that could be successfully grown in the frame garden. Miss Locke made a frame garden for Mrs. Uptergrove as follows: A trench 12 inches deep 20 feet long was dug. A piece of 2 inch iron pipe was used for tile. The pipe had holes punched about every 18 inches and covered with tin to keep out the dirt. The pipe was placed in the trench so that the holesw ould be on the sides. A plug was placed in one end of the pipe and the other end had a feed pipe that extended above the ground about 10 inches. A tin can for a lid. The side walls were made of old lumber 2x12. They were 24 inches high with laths aross to strengthen them. The garden was 4 ft wide, it was spaded ready to seed. Only one row of tiling was used in this garden, but if wider garden is The Better Homes demonstra The garden was 4 ft wide, it was spaded ready to seed. Only one row of tiling was used in this garden, but if wider garden is desired more rows of tiling will be needed. It is to be overed with a good grade of muslin or some similiar material. It will be better to roll the ocver side wise so one side can be fastened down securely so the high winds will not blow off and it will be easier to roll back and work or gather the vegetables. The object in having the high side walls is to protect vegetables that might grow tall. The tile should not be deeper than 12 inches and 8 inches is better. It takes less water only deep enough not to bother in the cultivation of the vegetables. Miss Groves reported she had a frame garden tiled with tin cans and was proving successful. Laths may be used to a good advantage. Members present were Mesdames M. Beck, E. Church, J. M. Blodgett, H.

Shedeck, Hix Wilanks, Joe Novak, Carl Hutchison, Deta Blodgett, Ed Uptergrove, Miss Altha Groves, Miss Locke and one visitor Mrs. Jess Riley.
