

Manager of Dreamland Camp Talks About Wife's Troubles

Suffered For 10 Years—Gains on Orgatone And Never Complains Now

Mr. C. D. Wolfe, well known manager of the Dreamland Cottage Camp 724 N. Filmore, and is well known all over this section, made the interesting statement regarding the benefits his wife has obtained from use of Orgatone, my wife is much stronger, and she now looks like a different woman. About ten years ago she began suffering with indigestion, and although she used many different medicines trying to get relief, she gradually grew worse. She got so she couldn't eat anything scarcely, and what she did eat caused her almost constant suffering. Gas would form on her stomach right after meals, and she would suffer with bloating spells that were very severe. She had terrible headaches and would get very nervous. She was badly run-down and a few months before she started on Orgatone she got so she couldn't hardly sleep.

"We read in the papers about Orgatone and she decided to take it, and honestly I wouldn't see her back in the same condition she was in before taking medicine for any amount of money that could be offered. She got better before she finished her first bottle, and nothing she has eaten in several weeks has troubled her in the least. She has taken two bottles and says it's been many a day since she felt as well as she does now. The headaches and nervousness has disappeared, she sleeps fine, enjoys her meals and work and never complains of any trouble at all. Orgatone has certainly proven its worth in my wife's case, and we think it's without an equal."

Genuine Orgatone is manufactured by one of the world's greatest laboratories and is not a so-called secret or patent remedy but a new scientific bile treatment and is sold in Spearman by the Hastings Drug Co.

ONE BORN EVERY MINUTE

If you want to catch 'em, get out with the graft and the more apparent the graft, the quicker they bite. The other day a guy came into town and in a few hours time had solicited $70. worth of show card advertising. He then came to the Hermes office and tried to bet us down on our price for printing the cards. Well, he paid our price, but the advertisers received very doubtful value for the money they paid. The same money would have sent their advertisement into 1200 homes in Stevens County every week for a whole year if placed with their local paper.—Bill Hubbard in The Hugoton Hermes.

The same high pressure bird lit in Elkhardt and having secured the endorsement of a local merchant went forth to harvest and within two hours had collected $72.00 from six good business men at the rate of $12 each. For this consideration, the sales artist promised to put a small advertisement on an appliance in a store and leave it there for the next six years. The local printer did all the work on the job except the sales labor for $6.00; the quick sale's expert left town without even writing the advertisements.

If a resident printer tried to sell advertising and collect in advance he would get a hearty laugh for his pain and if he tried to ask a third of what these fly-by-night fellows get he would be drawn and quartered. Most of the advertisers who went in on the proposition, did so for the sake of the local merchant who is a splendid fellow but it was the solicitor rather than the merchant who profited from the deal.

The extraordinary prosperity of the Southwest has converted it into a rich feeding ground for innumerable grafters and the dealer in hokum advertising is one of the most energetic and robust of these. Their schemes injure legitimate advertising and sour the users on the whole institution.

When you spend money with these transient ad men, don't charge it to sport.—Elkhart News.

SMALL UNIT INDUSTRY

A Hansford county farmer offered the editor some interesting ideas on farming, and future trend. His ideas, though somewhat rephrased are about as follows:

There is a wave of opinion in favor of large scale farming, and some of those who see consolidation and big organization as the solution of every economic problem have an effective set of ideas and arguments to advance.

But farming should and probably will remain a small scale enterprise indefinitely. From my observation most large scale farming operations do not pay. Theoretically they are fine, with scientific capable management, division of labor, and so forth. But they lack one essential.

The men who work the farms are not vitally interested in the work. They do it in a hit and miss way, and in handling a farm such an attitude will not produce satisfactory results.

The men who succeed with cattle, are men who like cattle, and take a keen interest in how to feed and care for them properly. Likewise the fruit grower, the hog raiser, the dairy farmer—all must enjoy their particular line of farming and get some satisfaction out of it. They are not the men who are merely working by the clock.

In no business is this matter of personal interest of greater significance. Those who question it need merely to look about at the number of failures on farms through absentee ownership. It is common knowledge that a farm runs down as soon as it is left to the tender mercies of tenants.

Until this condition changes we shall find that farming in most lines is an industry made up for small units as at present—we shall find that it is a way to life rather than a means of getting grain or hay or potatoes out of the soil.

It's a terrible world sighs a friend of ours. When your still poor you can't afford the sort of foods you like and when you're rich the doctors won't let you have it.

Our Navy and Army are costly, but here's hoping that we never get our money's worth out of them.

JIMMY JOHNSON'S DADDY

"Jimmy Johnson's daddy is an awful lot of fun. He's a peacherino pitcher and can hit a real home run. I know my dad could play as well but when I ask him to. He's always awful busy and got something else to do."

"Jimmy Johnson's daddy knows a lot of dandy games— And he plays 'em with us fellers and he don't call Jimmy 'James'. I'll bet my dad knows lots of things that's fun fer fellers too— But he's always awful busy and got something else to do."

"Some kid's dads seem glad to have a chance to play with boys— And even if they're readin' they don't mind a little noise."

"I'll bet my dad would beat 'em all if he just only knew How I miss him when he's busy and got something else to do!"

"BLOWED-UP"

We have been in Post since '18 and not a single year can we remember that people in general haven't thought we were "ruined." We have either too much dry weather, or too much rain, or too much sand, or too much something. We can't remember any year when we haven't made a crop of some kind and the majority of them have been good yields, so there is no need for people to always be looking for troubles.

About ninety-five per cent of our troubles never materialize so why cross the bridge until we come to it. West Texans are spoiled. We are accustomed to so many of the good things of life and expect the clouds to have a silver lining all of the time. Let us remember to count our blessings and stop crying before we are really hurt. Our section will produce some kind of a crop this year without rain if we are not badly fooled, and there is still plenty of moisture that can be showered on us before it is too late. There are many sections in the state that have already received beneficial rains and we feel that we are next in line. So cheer up and let's stop this yelling about everything "blowed-up."—Post Dispatch.

Instead of abolishing armies, we ought to increase them and train them to fight against insects, vermin, floods, fires, earthquakes, storms.—Woman's Home Companion.

You Wouldn't Plant Your Corn With a Flat Land Planter—

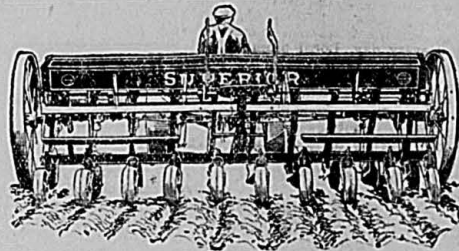

Of course not! You plant it in lister rows to conserve every bit of moisture, to protect it from blowing, and to put the seed in moist ground where it can quickly germinate. This is the time proved, sensible thing to do.

GIVE YOUR WHEAT THE SAME CHANCE THAT YOU GIVE YOUR CORN. USE THE SUPERIOR DEEP FURROW DRILL AND TAKE 75% OF THE GAMBLE OUT OF WHEAT RAISING! This drill makes deep furrows that retain the snow and protect the seedlings from cold winds, reducing the danger from winter killing.

The rigid profile of the soil produced by the DEEP FURROW DRILL reduces loss from soil blowing to a minimum. The deep furrows retain the snow which melts, insuring a plentiful supply of moisture during the growing season.

Give your wheat the best possible start. USE THE SUPERIOR DEEP FURROW DRILL FOR YOUR NEXT JOB OF SEEDING. Get the best stand of wheat you have ever had. LET THE DRILL PAY FOR ITSELF WITH PART OF THE EXTRA BUSHEL YOU WILL GET AT HARVEST TIME.

We have the SUPERIOR DEEP FURROW DRILL on display at our place of business. Come in today and let us tell and show you all about it.

A Fingerprint

A. Conan Doyle and other writers of detective stories who have, through the years, enjoyed a large reading public, delight to have their hero unravel his case from finding of a button, a thread, some ashes, etc., but no stranger story will ever be told than that of the single fingerprint on the car of Dr. W. W. Wineinger and how it led to the unraveling of the Lamar bank robbery mystery.

Sheriff L. E. Alderman's story of the roundup of the Fleagles, told to a newspaper reporter a few days before the arrests of Friday and the disclosures published in the extra edition of the Lamar Daily News this morning is as follows:

"The expert in the Washington bureau of identification discovered that the thumbprint of Jake Fleagle, who had served a term in the Oklahoma penitentiary some years ago, was the same as that on the glass of the murdered doctor's car.

"So here, after fourteen months of work and toil and travel, of disappointment, was a tangible clue at last. I rushed off to the Oklahoma prison to learn who Jake Fleagle was, whom he had corresponded with while in prison, where he came from and all I could about him.

"Maybe you can imagine how startled I was when I learned that Fleagle was his right name; he lived with his father on a farm north of Garden City in Kansas, and he had several brothers who lived there too, right in the very district in Kansas toward which the bandit's car had driven after the crime in Lamar and the Fleagle home was within 20 miles of the home of the murdered Dr. Wineinger.

"I went to Garden City and told my story to Lee Richardson, chief of police there. He jumped in, with all his might to help me. We drove north of Garden City twenty miles to the home of Jack Fleagle and his wife, a 10-room frame house. Fleagle is a pioneer of that district; has lived there forty years; has 160 acres of land, but here is a significant thing: "Since 1914 not an acre of ground has been cultivated.

"The Fleagles did not associate with their neighbors. They resented and repelled any attempt of their neighbors to become familiar. They always had plenty of money and neighbors suspected they were bootleggers.

"We arrested the old man and the two sons, Walter and Fred. We put Walter in jail in Colorado Springs, where he is yet, and put Fred and his father in jail in Garden City.

"We found that the Fleagles had postoffice boxes in Garden City and in Dodge City under assumed names, and that packages of money had come to them through these boxes.

"We found that under different names the Fleagles had had $150,000 on deposit in Garden City banks in the last nine years. They had had $80,000 on deposit there last spring, and then it was all withdrawn. Under assumed names they had $10,000 on deposits in Dodge City banks and several thousand in banks in Scott City.

"After we put Fred Fleagle in jail in Garden City we watched the box he had in the postoffice there under an assumed name. In a day or two a letter came addressed to that name and box. We opened and read it.

"We learned it had been read in Kankakee, Illinois, and the letter asked for an immediate reply.

"We had kept secret the arrest of the Fleagles. We knew the letter was from Ralph Fleagle; he did not know of the arrests of his father and brother.

"I guessed that Ralph Fleagle would go to the general deliver in the postoffice in Kankakee for an answer, so I got aboard the fast air transport in Garden City, flew to Kankakee, got a car and hurried to Kankakee, told the postmaster who I was, and took up a position to watch that window.

Within ten minutes a man came in, walked up to the window and asked for a letter. From his resemblance to Fred Fleagle, I took him to be Ralph, the brother I was after. I followed him to a bank and when he went in I telephoned to police headquarters for help. It came quickly and we arrested Ralph. We opened a safety deposit box he had there under an assumed name and found $1,200 in cash and $6,500 in Liberty bonds, but they were not the bonds stolen from the Lamar bank. We found his car with a California license under the seat and an Illinois license on it, and in that car were three large six-shooters and 140 pounds of cartridges.

"I hurried to Peoria. There I found that the man under arrest had given the name of Dr. George DeMoss. I did not know him but at the door of the police station was his car—and imagine how my heart leaped into my throat when I saw that. It was the same blue Buick sedan in which the bandits rode away from Lamar.

"I learned that Jake Fleagle was living there with DeMoss and the woman! that in some way they learned of the arrest of the Fleagles in Garden City and DeMoss and the woman drove downtown to call Ralph Fleagle in Kankakee and tell him of the arrest; that as soon as the police let the woman go she had gone straight to the apartment and warned Jake and I missed him by just ten minutes. He had flown in such a hurry that he left his hat behind.

"In the DeMoss apartment I found five rifles, one automatic shotgun, four six-shooters and 2,000 rounds of ammunition. "I have all of these guns and ammunition here in Lamar. They make the finest collection of shooting irons I ever saw.

"I also have here in Lamar the blue Buick sedan I found with DeMoss in Peoria. I have proof positive that the Fleagles stole it, that they used it in the bank robbery in Lamar, that they fled in it and that it was at the Fleagle farm after the robbery and murder. It is a Master Six and its speedometer shows that it has gone 30,000 miles.

"I have positive proof that Jake and Ralph Fleagle were two of the five men who robbed the Lamar bank and who murdered the two Parrishes, and Kesinger and Dr. Wineinger. I can take them before any jury and convict them without using a single identification witness who saw them in Lamar.

"Now, I have no desire to brag. I have worked hard in my own crude way to solve this mystery, and you can say for me that the man hunt on which I started fourteen months ago is drawing to a close. I have one of the murders in custody. I think I have two more of them. That is all I can say about that now, and if we get Jake Fleagle we will have four of them. I can't say how deeply DeMoss is in it. But I am going to get them all and we are going to hang them, according to law, in the penitentiary in Canon City, Colorado."

DON'T GROW OLD

Secretary of Labor Davis offers some good advice for men who grow old—who refuse to keep space the times—whose mental development stops before the prime of life is past.

Men over forty years of age, he gathers from statistics, are constant in finding it more and more difficult to get jobs. Consolidations and mergers are taking place daily. These all eliminate the so called "moss backs" who are finding it difficult to fit into the modern scheme of things.

Companies find it easier to train young men to their way of doing business than to get on with the old heads who refuse to learn new methods.

Logically there is no reason why an experienced man of forty or more years should be crowded out by young men. He should have every possible advantage. By his long experience he has learned something that youth cannot master without

Treat Your Seed Wheat

—With—

Cupro - Jabonite

COVERED OR STINKING SMUT OF WHEAT

"Stinking smut is one of the most serious. For each per cent of smut damaged to the South Dakota wheat crop each year, there is lost over $300,000 considering average production and farm price for the past five years.

"The use of Copper Carbonate Dust is recommended to control this disease. This is a very fine, light green powder. The Copper Carbonate Dust of about 20 per cent copper equivalent or the so-called 'extended form' is recommended.

"USING COPPER CARBONATE—Use two or three ounces per bushel depending upon the severity of infection. Avoid heavy, bluish or coarse powders. It is very essential that each kernel of wheat be thoroughly coated with the copper carbonate dust. This means that the dust must be very fine and the wheat and dust be thoroughly mixed. From one to two minutes of mixing should be sufficient. If possible, use a home-made machine, a churn or a special manufactured dusting machine. A concrete mixer with a tight fitting, temporary cover is satisfactory."

CAUTION—Cupro-Jabonite is poisonous. When treating wheat a mask or at least a dampened handkerchief should be tied over the nose or mouth. Copper-carbonate dusts irritate the mucous membranes of the nose, eyes and throat, and inhaling the dust for any length of time should be avoided.

The Farm and Factory Have Same Problem

The difference between profit and loss to the farmer, like modern industrial management, is often just a matter of production costs. Modern competition necessitates modern business methods, and the farmer is no exception.

The feeding of live-stock for market, agricultural experts agree, has many aspects which face the manufacturer of any commodity. The farmer's live stock presents his outlay for productive machinery. His raw materials are his grains and his feeds. His finished product is his milk, his beef, or his pork. And his profit is represented by the margin between the cost of feeding and upkeep of the animal as against the selling price of his product.

Linseed meal and other concentrates. Mr. Vrooman, whose name is signed to the bulletin, points out, when fed with roughage such as straw or clover, gives twice the food value as the same amount of corn, and while linseed meal and roughage cannot actually be substituted for corn; as a supplement, it can to an appreciable extent be used to cut down his feed bills.

In a series of experiments carried on by the agricultural experiment station at Wooster, Ohio, C. G. Williams, director, states that he increased the gain in hogs from .75 pounds per day to 1.02 pounds daily and at the same time cut the costs per 100 pounds of gain from $6.45 to $6.22 by supplementing his ration of corn, tankage, salt and limestone with linseed meal.

The pigs that were fed linseed meal ate only 406.4 pounds of feed per 100 pounds of gain, whereas hogs on the ration from which linseed meal was eliminated ate 421.1 pounds of feed per 100 pounds of gain, a saving of nearly 15 pounds of feed for each 100 pounds of gain.

Savings in production costs just such as these, agricultural experts explain, are the factors which enable modern manufacturers to earn dividends. The farmer, they say, must learn them if he wants to make money in this modern day of lowered marginal profits.

OUR GREATEST INSTITUTION

Among all the countless institutions in this land of ours formed for the purpose of improving us mentally, morally and socially one stands forth with great promise.

It is the American public school system.

Institutions, committees, commissions, and leagues may influence legislation and have some effect upon the surface of life. But they cannot get down to fundamentals, for the character of our civilization tomorrow is determined now by the character of the children of today. And today's children are largely the product of home and school environment.

For this reason we feel that the opening of public schools in Spearman marks a resumption of activity in the greatest of all local institutions. It is in the kind of education that we give our children that we classify our city as a forward or backward community.

Modern education is expensive, to be sure. Schools cost the community more today by far than they did twenty-five years ago. But the reason for this is to be found in the increased demand for education that exists today as compared with that of a few years ago. Hence, the value of education to the individual and the importance of education to society should prompt a more active interest and enthusiasm in the work among the rank and file of citizens of Spearman.

The opening of the local schools is an opportune time, we feel, to emphasize their importance to the community, and to urge you to exhibit greater interest in their work. Visit the schools occasionally, and come to an understanding of the problems they are meeting and the great work they are doing.

Our town may well be rated by the educational opportunities it gives to its boys and girls.

THE MATTER OF DRESS

This summer heat has taught us something. We have more respect for the sagacity of the feminine sex. While our first vote was cast about the same time women were granted their franchise, we have never thought much about the matter. We heard the old frost-beards deplore modern times—prate of the days when women were women—and stayed at home tending their young and cooking three meals per diem over a hot stove.

But our hat comes off to the ladies. We stand one hundred per cent on the conviction that they have plenty of sense—common or otherwise—especially at this season of the year. Take the matter of clothes. Place the sweet young thing's raiment on the scales and the beam will tip at about one and a half pounds. Place the total with which this editor is invested—wool, straw, leather and cotton—on the scales, and the weight will be slightly under ten pounds.

Ask anybody if the difference between one and one-half and nine and one-half pounds don't make a whale of a difference when the thermometer stands 104 in the shade.

Why should man shrivel and drip with perspiration these hot summer days? The answer is easy—because of custom. But does woman pay any attention to custom? Years ago custom decreed voluminous skirts, numerous petticoats, high neck bands. But modern Eve does not care a fig for custom. She goes clad in backless, sleeveless, sheer creations, two thin undergarments, chiffon hose. But man, the head of the household, the brains of business, the ruler of the world, sticks to custom, the conventions of his fathers, and shrivels and sweats.

Of course man might not appear to the best advantage in a pair of track pants, sleeveless, low neck shirt, a straw hat and a smile—but by the eternals he would be cooler.—Collingsworth Standard.

MAT MADE BY HASSELL MAY BE SEEN AT BUCKNERS

George J. Hassell, who paid the death penalty a year ago upon being convicted of slaying his wife and nine step-children, made mats from crocheted yarn as he sat in his death cell. Before he paid the penalty, Hassell presented one of these to the district attorney and one each to members of the jury.

Hulon Buckner has just received the one presented to Juror No. 11, who was Clyde Goodwine of Friona, Texas. The mat is woven from red, yellow, pink and blue crocheted yarn. It may be seen at Buckner's store.

During the trial of Hassell, F. N. Sawyer, now superintendent of Canadian schools, the superintendent of the Farwell public schools, was called in as a witness by the defense. He testified, at that time, that he in company with others saw Hassell in jail, and made a study of his life and condition. The purpose of the study was to determine if possible the hereditary condition and environments under which Hassell lived.—Canadian Record.

It is a tedious thing to be always beginning life; they live badly who always begin to live.—Seneca.

Guilt is present in the very hesitation, even though the deed be not committed.—Cicero.

Young People Enjoy Picnic

The members of the B. Y. P. U. and the young peoples class of the Baptist church enjoyed a picnic and weiner roast nine miles west of town on the Palo Duro creek last Wednesday evening. Various outdoor games and amusements were indulged in before the spreading of the feast, which was the regular picnic and weiner roasting variety. A most pleasant time was reported by all who attended, who were: Misses Lucile and Louise Buchanan, Thelma Maize, Aline Rippey, Lucile Cecil, Mae Raney, Ona Fae Ownbey, Lily Hazelwood, and Sibyl Bailey and Bob Bundy, Doc Cecil, Halsey Halbur, Louis McAlpin, C. A. Robinson, Paul Gill, Orville Rippey and Virgil Floyd.

Baptist Church

With summer vacations drawing to a close, people moving in for school, which opens in a few days, and a lowering of the thermometer, attendance at church and Sunday school is on the increase. The Sunday school has been reorganized, twelve additions have been made to the church the past two Sundays and 102 were present at Sunday school last Sunday. Now that the work, worry, rush and heat of the summer is about a thing of the past the churches should be well filled every Sunday for all the services. We extend an invitation to everyone to attend our church services, and take part in the church work. Improvements are being made in the building. A ceiling has been put in and some new seats have been installed. Also, remember that the District Association meets here in September.
