

Bids Due For Dorm Projects

Bids for the first phase of Texas Tech's new six-tower dormitory complex opened Thursday and today in the Agriculture Auditorium, Vice President for Business Affairs M. L. Pennington announced.

Sub-contractor bids opened at 10 a.m. Thursday, with general contractor bids scheduled at 2 p.m. today.

Tech's Board of Directors will meet in a special session Saturday to consider the bids.

Three towers of the complex, already named for former Tech President Dossie M. Wiggins, are expected to be completed by September of 1967 with the others slated for the fall of 1969. The complex will be located at 19th Street and Flint Avenue.

YEARBOOK COMPLETED—La Ventana co-editor Diane Weddige marks off the last page of the yearbook on a giant board which has a block for each of the 598 pages in the 1966 yearbook. The book is scheduled for release in September.

— Faces Contempt Charge —

Oregon Coed Refuses To Cite Marijuana Users

(AP)—Despite a court order that she talk, a brown-haired coed refused again Thursday to identify students she interviewed for an article on use of marijuana.

Annette Buchanan, 20, a University of Oregon junior from Seattle, Wash., now faces a June 27 trial on whether she will be held in contempt of court.

Refusing to answer grand jury questions earlier this month, she was ordered Monday by Circuit Judge Edward Leavy to reveal the names Wednesday morning. Again she refused, claiming among other things that it would violate journalistic ethics. She is managing editor of the campus newspaper, the Oregon Daily Emerald.

Contempt Asked

Minutes after the second refusal, she was taken before Judge Leavy again. In a courtroom filled with students, lawyers, newsmen and teachers, Dist. Atty. William Frye asked the judge to hold her in contempt of court, which carries a penalty of up to six months in jail and a fine of $300.

Her attorney, Arthur Johnson, asked for 10 days to prepare arguments. Then Judge Leavy set the June 27 date.

Wearing a sleeveless blouse and a plaid skirt, Miss Buchanan said after the session that she had received "countless phone calls and telegrams of encouragement from all over the country," and she had received no critical mail.

Only Tuesday, Miss Buchanan had said she would again refuse to name the students she interviewed.

Johnson said an appeal would be made to the Oregon Supreme Court if she was held in contempt of Judge Leavy's order.

Miss Buchanan's article appeared in the campus newspaper May 24. Miss Buchanan quoted five unnamed persons who said they were students, used marijuana and were critical of laws against its use.

Dr. Murray, vice president for academic affairs at Louisiana State University system, will assume his position at Tech on September 1.

'66 Yearbook Release Set For Sept. 20

The 1966 La Ventana will go to press this weekend in Dallas as co-editors Diane Weddige and Winston Odom met the final deadline of the year this week.

The '66 yearbook will have 598 pages as compared to 578 in the 1965 La Ventana.

This year, for the first time, the ten Tech Beauties will appear in full-color photographs in the Mademoiselle section of the yearbook.

They are Pam Munson, Susan Logan, Sherrill Reagan, Sherry Barton, Denise Humphries, Shirley Stafford, Joan Reynolds, Jan Glenn, Judy Formby and Darlene Curtis.

Miss Munson, Miss Mademoiselle, Tech's most beautiful coed, will also appear on the cover of the Mademoiselle section in color.

Joan Reynolds will be featured in a three page color foldout as Miss Playmate 1966 in the Playboy section.

Morley Jennings, professor of health, physical education and recreation, will be featured on the cover of the Tyme section. The '66 La Ventana was dedicated to Jennings in a February ceremony in the men's gym.

Phil Orman, director of student publications said the yearbook will be released the first day of registration during the fall semester.

A new feature of the La Ventana this year will be pictures of the 32 Top Techs—eight from each class—in the View sections of the yearbook.

Anita Pratt, sophomore from Ft. Worth, will appear on the cover of Playboy.

Two-time All-American Donny Anderson will be featured on the cover of Sports Illustrated with a special feature on Tech's Gator Bowl game.

A painting by Clarence Kincaid, professor of allied arts, will appear on the cover of the Post section, which features the school of Arts and Sciences.

of Town and Country section. The couple are pictured on a sailboat excursion at Buffalo Lakes. Town and Country spotlights the schools of Agriculture and Home Economics.

"A White Raiderland" is the cover theme for the Student Life section of the La Ventana. Students playing in the January snow points out an unusual winter for Techsians.

All of the magazine covers are in color plus the ten beauty pictures.

Publisher of the Tech yearbook is Taylor Publishing Company in Dallas.

LBJ Taps Tech Prof For Board

President Lyndon B. Johnson Wednesday announced the appointment of Tech Prof. John E. Binnion to an eight-member Advisory Council on Insured Loans to Vocational Students.

Council members were selected by Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare John W. Garner to advise the U.S. Commissioner of Education on regulations and administrative matters. Education Commissioner Harold Howell is chairman of the Council.

Dr. Binnion, professor of business education and secretarial administration in the School of Business Administration, joined the Tech faculty last fall coming from the University of Denver.

He holds a bachelor's degree from the University of Texas, master's from Highlands University in Las Vegas, N.M., and his doctorate from Oklahoma State University.

He was the only Texan and the only educator from the Southwest named to the Council.

The Council was established under the National Vocational Student Loan Act of 1965 to encourage loan insurance programs for students desiring vocational training in business, trade and technical schools. Students may borrow up to $1,000 annually for two years to cover costs of books, tuition and fees.

Noon Forum

Frank Simpson, teaching assistant in history, will be the speaker at Thursday's Noon Forum discussion in the Tech Union Blue Room.

Simpson's topic will be "Modern Populist Rhetoric in Texas."

Reservations for the $1 buffet meal must be made no later than 5 p.m. Wednesday at the Union program office.

The forum series is being sponsored by the Union Ideas and Issues Committee.

Classes Set For Saturday

Saturday will be a full day of classes this week to make up for July 4 when classes will be dismissed to observe Independence Day.

It is necessary that classes meet Saturday because of a statute in creditation which provides for a certain amount of hours of class attendance.

Finals for the first term are scheduled July 7 and 8.

King Captures Championship

Tech head football coach J T King captured the championship title in the second annual Coaches-Sports Writers golf tournament last weekend in Cherokee Village, Ark.

Placing third behind King and was Texas University coach Darrell Royal, who finished nine strokes off the pace.

Glenn Dobbs of Tulsa won the first flight trophy bettering Oklahoma's Jim MacKenzie by one shot with a 171. Jess Neely of Rice compiled a 176 to win the second flight.

Allen Gilbert of the Northwest Arkansas Times won the Sports

Writers division, beating out Dick Wade of the Kansas City Star by seven strokes with a 173.

Wayne Thompson of the Jackson (Miss.) Clarion won the Writers second flight with a 197, ahead of Bill Van Fleet of the Fort Worth Star-Telegram with a 200.

Jim Jones

On page one, there is the item about the University of Oregon coed who refuses to identify students she interviewed for a story on marijuana users. Miss Buchanan faces a six month jail sentence plus a possible fine of $300.

In several states there are laws protecting journalists and their sources in such stories. These are known as "shield laws," which 13 states now have in effect. There are no such "shield laws" in Texas and, obviously, Oregon either.

The need for laws protecting sources of information are badly needed in today's world of complex and probing news coverage.

We can only hope Miss Buchanan wins her case, which she probably will, and a further hope, that such a case will be tested in Texas courts soon to make Texas citizens aware of the need for such "shield laws."

Regarding the usual enrollment figures pointing out the number of men students over women students . . . Perhaps the various name-change committees, both organized and unorganized, could use this for one of their arguments in getting the name of this "university" changed to something more suitable. If we were not a technological school, more women might be attracted to the South Plains.

This was suggested to us by an avid newspaper reader. After thinking it over and noticing the progress the name-change committees are making, we decided the committees just might have to resort to such an argument before their ultimate goal is reached.

Since summer school leaves us with a newspaper staff of three, we alternate between the various jobs, this week the fine arts editor position falling to me. So we will now make an attempt to keep all readers up on the world of art.

If you can believe your eyes and ears, and don't look at the album cover, you may find the best singing group to come out of California in a many a day. Known as the Mammias and Pappas, this singing aggregation of four and a half (one of the young ladies is equal to one and a half) somehow come out with the best in pop, rock and folk we have heard in a long time.

Best known for their singles, "Monday, Monday" and "California Dreaming," this amazing group of two men and two(?) women have an album released entitled "If you can believe your eyes and ears," which, to coin a fine arts editor's phrase, is tremendous.

-Dances In Chorus-

Coed Becomes Part of Las Vegas Life

by CHERYL TARVER
Staff Writer

The mention of colorful night clubs, pulsating neon lights, and noisy, crowded casinos describes Las Vegas to many people. To them the U.S. gambling capitol means roulette wheels, slot machines and a frenzied effort for a quick fortune. Tech freshman Sherry Smith became a part of Las Vegas last summer and discovered the reality that lay beneath the surface of the glamour spot.

Last summer Sherry auditioned in a dance contest in Dallas sponsored by representatives of the swank Riviera Hotel in Las Vegas. After winning the contest, the shapely blonde became one of the 11 Texas girls chosen for a chorus line billed at the Riviera as the Rangerettes. They were flown to Las Vegas and were quickly trained. Invitations to their premiere were mailed to a list of distinguished Texans, headed by Governor John Connally.

Most Beautiful Girls

"I thought I was pretty until I went to Vegas," Sherry said, "but when I got there I was afraid my boss wanted to send me home because I wasn't pretty after all . . . they have the most beautiful girls in the world in Las Vegas!"

The Rangerettes appeared in the hotel's Johnny Rivers-Nancy Wilson show, dancing approximately four minutes a night for $175 a week.

"We couldn't leave the hotel until closing time, two in the morning, even though we had finished our act. At first I didn't mind it because we went to parties after the hotel closed." "People treated us like movie stars," Sherry laughed, "and I even signed autographs!"

T.V. Guest Appearances

During the first weeks of Las Vegas, there were publicity pictures, guest appearances on television and even posing for post cards. Sherry said the worst part about it was she had to be looking nice every minute of the day. "We caked our make-up on to hide the dark circles that began to come around our eyes . . . ugh! It was awful!"

The girls worked hard to learn their routine. "I had to do kicks for three hours, and bends for three more hours. I got so tired of practicing that I thought I just couldn't make it," she said as she turned through her scrapbook. It contained numerous pictures of the Texas girls wearing big smiles and little else.

First Night Horrible

"The first night the show opened was horrible. We all had huge blisters on our feet that were bleeding from all our practicing in those awful high heels. One girl had to bite her lip to pieces to keep from screaming the four minutes the show lasted because her feet hurt so bad. When we got backstage, we gave her a sedative so she wouldn't notice her bleeding feet."

The Riviera Hotel where Sherry danced was located on Las Vegas' famous six-mile "strip" in "Casino Center." This area is two blocks of neon dazzle in downtown Las Vegas where all the hotels, casinos and tourists are.

Chips Good As 'Gold'

Sherry said chips are as good as money in Las Vegas because they can be easily cashed. They can be used to buy clothes, gas, food and anything else.

The Riviera's boss arranged for Sherry to have dates with such prominent people as Jimmy Hoffa Jr., while she was in Las Vegas.

"My roommate, Cookie, was terrified of Jimmy. Sometimes I would turn down a date with him and Cookie would cry, because she was afraid he would blow our apartment up or something."

"My boss was the real gambler type," Sherry added. "He wore a white suit, black shirt, white tie and a diamond tie clasp in the shape of a dollar sign."

The excitement of Las Vegas included meeting such people as Eddie Fisher, Zsa Zsa Gabor, Red Skelton, Ray Anthony and Dinah Shore. But by the time Sherry's picture had appeared in 127 papers in the U.S. and 16 magazines, the glitter began to wear off.

Sherry cringed as she thought back on the other side of the glamorous gambling city. "My hairdresser was a man. One night while I was in the hotel, a woman kept smiling at me. Finally she said hello and asked if I recognized her. She turned out to be my hairdresser posing as a woman to pick up some man!"

Las Vegas...

(Continued from Page 5) As the summer wore on, auditions for the hotel's production of "Hello Dolly" with Betty Grable were coming up. Sherry was asked to be in the show, but she chose instead to give up the late hours, hot days, easy money and slot machines and come to Tech.

"Vegas became a circus arena in a neon disguise to me. I had to get out of there and find some reason for my life. All those performers had to show for their lives were big cars, mansions, lawsuits . . . and a lot of emptiness, it seemed to me."

"As I boarded the plane, my boss said, 'You'll be back, they all come back.' I just looked at him and thought if he could see himself as I saw him, he might have gotten on that plane with me."

Sherry came to Tech in September 1965, with $5,000 she had made from three months in Las Vegas of dancing, performing and appearing on television.

1966 Southwest Conference Football Schedule Released

Five schools that finished among the Nation's Top Ten last fall, three of which scored major bowl victories, glamourize the 1966 inter-sectional schedule for Southwest Conference football teams.

The 22 institutions that comprise the non-conference schedules for eight SWC schools represent five conference, three champions, and five independents who boast of treasured records. Only two outsiders—Louisiana State and Oklahoma State—will line up twice against SWC teams.

UCLA, Nebraska, Tennessee, LSU and Southern California ranked among the Associated Press' final Top Ten. All but LSU, surprise Cotton Bowl winner over Arkansas, were recognized in the final United Press ratings, which were made before the bowl games. SWC Champion Arkansas ranked second in UPI and third with AP.

Rice University has unenviable distinction of facing three of the four major bowl winners that appear on the SWC inter-sectional schedule. The Owls meet LSU; Tennessee, the Blue Bonnet Bowl champion; and UCLA, the Rose Bowl king, on successive Saturdays, before facing three Conference foes who likewise participated in bowl games: Arkansas, Texas Tech and Texas Christian.

A&M To Meet Georgia

Texas A&M is only slightly less ambitious, as the Aggies challenge LSU and Georgia Tech, the Gator Bowl victor over Texas Tech, in inter-sectional play.

The 1966 schedule provides an opportunity for SWC representatives to attain wide-scale recognition from the start, as Baylor and Texas are principals in the first two NCAA nationally-televised games. Baylor will be host to Syracuse in the Sept. 10 game at Waco, while Texas challenges Southern California in Austin, the following Saturday, September 17.

In regionally-televised games the SWC will present Texas-Arkansas, October 15 at Austin, and Baylor-A&M in Waco, October 22.

Other independents, in addition to Syracuse, facing SWC teams include Navy, Georgia Tech, Florida State and Tulane.

Three of the opponents are facing their SWC rival for the first time. They are Syracuse, carrying a 2-1-0 Cotton Bowl record, against Baylor; Auburn, hosting TCU, Oct. 22, and Florida State, facing Texas Tech, October 15 in Lubbock. In competition against other SWC teams Auburn owns a 1-7-0 record, while Florida State stands 2-2-0 in four appearances against SWC teams.

Southwest Conference teams and their composite and series records against their 1966 inter-sectional foes:

Arkansas (41-23-2) — Oklahoma State (17-11-0) Tulsa (22-12-3) and Wichita (2-0-0).

Baylor (3-0-0)—Syracuse (0-0-0), Colorado (2-0-0) and Washington State (1-0-0).

Rice (12-21-3) — LSU (11-20-3), Tennessee (1-0-0) and UCLA (0-1-0).

SMU (4-2-1) — Illinois (1-1-0), Navy (4-1-0) and Purdue (0-0-1).

Texas A&M (11-18-1)—Georgia Tech (1-0-0), Tulane (3-4-0) and LSU (7-14-1).

TCU (2-2-1)—Nebraska (1-1-0), Ohio State (1-1-1) and Auburn (0-0-0).

Texas Tech (9-5-3)—Kansas (1-0-0), Florida State (0-0-0) and Oklahoma State (8-5-3).

Texas (29-17-1)—Southern Cal (0-2-0), Indiana (2-0-0) and Oklahoma (27-15-1).

SWC Holds .541%

The record for the SWC in the 538 games its members have played against the 1966 inter-sectional opponents is 276-232-30, which provides a percentage of .541, quite similar to that the outsiders have compiled against this year's rivals.

Intramural Deadline Set

Final deadline for registering for the summer intramural program is noon tomorrow according to Edsel Buchanan, director of intramurals.

Activities offered during both summer terms include table tennis, golf, horseshoes, spaceball, tennis, badminton, handball and paddleball.

All play is scheduled to start Monday and continue through both the first and second terms. Anyone wishing to sign up may do so in the Intramural Gym directly behind the Men's Gym and south of Jones Stadium.

Buchanan noted that graduate students also may participate in the summer program.
