

Phi Deltas are charged for alleged infractions

The Office of the Dean of Student Life Wednesday night charged Phi Delta Theta with infraction of one provision of the Code of Student Affairs and one provision of the Interfraternity Council Constitution during an open IFC meeting.

Max Blakney, chief justice of the IFC court, said the tribunal would conduct a hearing in the case early next week. The court met in closed session following the IFC meeting in Kappa Sigma lodge to set a time for the hearing.

SPECIFIC CHARGES brought against the fraternity were for alleged violation of the following:

- A provision of the Code of Student Affairs (page 8) and The Student Handbook (page 20) which says "All other forms of interfering with the liberty, safety and comfort of others are strictly forbidden by the College."

- That part of article V, Section 1 of the IFC Constitution which reads "In addition, any situation that might lead to unfavorable public or student opinion that is brought to Council Court by the method prescribed in the IFC Constitution will become subject to the prescribed procedure outlined in this Article."

"Under this part of the charge is the creation of a situation which has led or might lead to unfavorable public or student opinion of the charged fraternity, the fraternity system at Texas Tech and Texas Tech as an institution."

DETAILS OF THE CASE were not released by the Court.

Other members of the court are Carl Ray, Jack Andrews, Jim Killen and Gary Knust. Knust will replace John Scovell, a member of Phi Delta Theta, for this particular case as provided by the IFC Constitution.

In other action during the meeting:

- Blakney announced the IFC Court would conduct an organizational meeting for the purpose of determining the exact status of the court. He said any recommendation for changes would be presented to the IFC later this semester.

- President Allan Murray appointed a four member committee headed by Chris Alford to look into the possibility of new fraternities on campus.

- Fraternity Advisor Thomas Stover suggested a study by IFC of the regulation of ticket sales, distribution of tickets and disposition of income from ticket sales for all-school functions. He also mentioned a need for a self-study by the IFC court.

- The 11-member council of Tech fraternities voted to send Murray and Knust to the National IFC convention in New Orleans.

Speech meet begins today

Tech's Invitational Fall Forensic Festival opens today with more than 200 speech students from 23 colleges and universities from Arizona, New Mexico, Colorado, and Texas participating.

The three-day program will include events in oral interpretation, persuasive speaking, extemporaneous speaking and six rounds of debate.

Registration begins at 8 a.m. today in Tech Union. Oral interpretation events, including individual competition, are scheduled to begin at this time.

Students from area colleges will present demonstration productions at a Readers Theater Workshop conducted by Dr. Kleinau from 8:30 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. Friday in the University Theater.

The events will be coordinated by Tech Speech Prof. Vernon McGuire in a public address at 8 a.m. Friday. The debate tournament will get underway at 1 p.m. Friday and continue through Saturday.

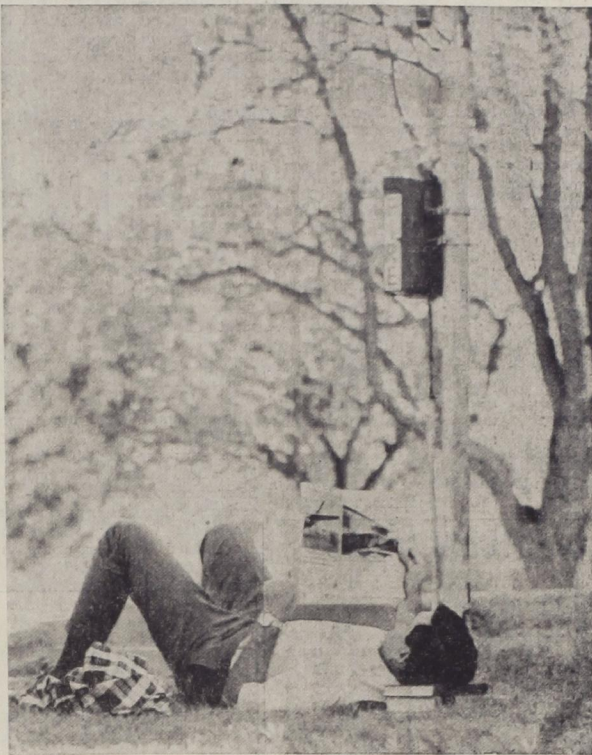

Debaters will present the pros and cons of this year's national collegiate debate topic: "Resolved—That the United States should substantially reduce its foreign policy commitments."

Top schools in overall competition will be awarded sweepstakes trophies. Trophies will go to debate teams in both the undergraduate and upperclass divisions, and to individual public address and oral interpretation events entrants.

Participating colleges are the University of New Mexico, U.S. Air Force Academy, Eastern New Mexico University, SMU, North Texas State, TCU, Midwestern University, Angelo State, Odessa Junior College and McMurry.

Hardin-Simmons, West Texas State, Lubbock Christian College, Colorado College, University of Arizona, Southern Colorado State, University of Texas, Arizona State, Baylor, Abilene Christian College, University of Texas at El Paso, Wayland Baptist College and Christian College of the Southwest.

Tech, as host school, will not participate in judged events.

ON A LAZY AFTERNOON—A Tech student took full advantage of the shade of a tree, a patch of soft grass and an unusually warm afternoon Wednesday to catch up on his reading. Ignoring the stares of bystanders, the young man was even oblivious to the clicking camera of University Daily photographer Kyle Morse.

Home Ec chapters here for three-day workshop

"Forward with the Flame" will be the theme of the Texas Home Economics College Chapters' annual meeting and workshop hosted by the Tech School of Home Economics today through Saturday.

Last August Dr. Lamb gave a research report concerning the establishment of a formula to determine body frame size at the International Congress on Nutrition in Hamburg, Germany.

WORKSHOP SESSIONS will begin at 2 p.m. Friday in the Tech Union. The workshop is directed primarily toward training college chapter leaders in chapter procedures and functions.

A get-acquainted party will begin the activities today at the Villa Inn where delegates will be staying during the three-day workshop.

OTHER ACTIVITIES SCHEDULED include a tea in the Home Economics Building dining room followed by a tour of the building and a look at the Tech campus.

Sharon Baumgardner, president of the Tech chapter of THEEC, is chairman of the event. Mrs. Anthony Brittin, instructor in the department of food and nutrition, is workshop advisor.

Censoring of student paper

AAUP slams action at A&M

By KYLE MORSE
Staff Writer

The Texas Chapter of the American Association of University Professors passed a resolution generally disapproving of unwarranted interference with student publications.

The resolution did not refer to any specific campus and was sent to the national chapter for further consideration.

THE MOVE WAS PASSED following discussion of the action of the student publications department at Texas A&M University earlier this month.

The student newspaper, The Battalion, is now edited by the publications director of A&M, Jim Lindsey, former editor of The Toreador at Tech.

THE STUDENT EDITOR, Tommy DeFrank of Fort Worth, was fired following Lindsey's cancellation of a story by DeFrank about a proposed political forum on campus and publication of an unsigned letter that was critical of the administration.

Dr. Lawrence L. Graves, Tech professor of history and president of the A.A.U.P., said that the convention was upset with A&M and felt that the students there should have academic freedom.

GRAVES SAID THE A.A.U.P. doesn't intervene on a campus without a thorough investigation of the matter and this investigation will have to start at the national level.

The action will probably take several months because the convention is made up of professors from the entire nation and does not meet often.

According to Graves, it is possible the A&M matter will not be brought up until the A.A.U.P. national convention in April.

THE A.A.U.P. MADE the resolution because it was concerned with the rights of both students and professors. Graves said that an administration published newspaper ceases to be a student newspaper.

"Students have a right to express their opinions and a true university is a collection of scholars, including students, who have a right to express their opinions," Graves said.

La Ventana pictures

All students wishing to have their pictures in the 1967 La Ventana must have them taken by Friday. Avalon Studio requests that students do not call the studio or try to make appointments.

Hours are from 8:30-11:30 a.m. and 1-5 p.m. today and Friday. Avalon Studios are located at 2414 Broadway.

LBJ goes on after jaunt to Viet Nam

MANILA (AP)—Safely back from Viet Nam, President Johnson left today for a personal look at Thailand, the nation many believe is next on the Communist timetable for conquest in Asia.

He went first to an airbase in Thailand, and Friday will begin his state visit to Bangkok. Next week he goes on to Malaysia, and later South Korea, before returning home.

WEDNESDAY, WITH THE Manila conference wound up, Johnson went first to the historic island of Corregidor, the "Rock" of World War II. Then, in effect, he disappeared from public view, and amidst great secrecy took off across the South China Sea. He turned up at Cam Ranh Bay, a huge U.S. military complex in South Viet Nam north of Saigon. That was his only stop in Viet Nam.

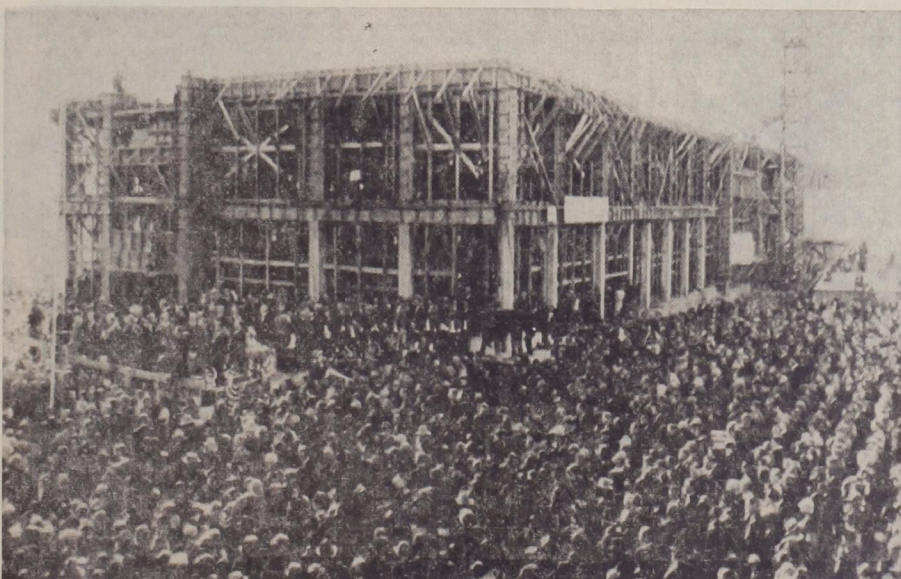

He went to Viet Nam, he told the GIs there, because he "could not come to this part of the world and not come to see you."

THE PRESIDENT SPENT two hours and 24 minutes on Vietnamese soil, and got closer to an actual U.S. battlefield than any president since Abraham Lincoln.

He ate with the troops, visited with the wounded, pinned medals on heroes, signed dozens of autographs, shook hundreds of hands and delivered an emotional speech, telling the soldiers they were fighting "a vicious and illegal aggression across this little nation's frontier."

MAKE NO MISTAKE about it," he told the troops, "The American people whom you serve are proud of you. There are some who may disagree with what we are doing here, but that is not the way most of us feel, and act, when freedom and the nation's security are in danger."

Tech preserves past through pictures

Tech Board Chairman Amon G. Carter, publisher of the Fort Worth Star-Telegram; and State Senator William H. Bledsoe, author of the bill which created Tech.

Texas Tech, young as universities are reckoned, is keeping an eye on its past through a unique pictorial collection as it plunges headlong into the future.

The institution, which admitted its first class of 910 students just 41 years ago this fall, is mindful that it must preserve its heritage on a current basis; or run the risk of losing some priceless records forever.

THE ANSWER? "Pictures for Posterity."

Vice President for Business Affairs M. L. Pennington, a prime mover behind the project, explains the concept this way, "Through 'Pictures for Posterity,' we are attempting to bring together as many original prints and negatives as possible which depict the early days of Tech.

THE CONCEPT, NOW entering its second full year of realization, has received the wholehearted support of campus groups and organizations, as well as friends of the university.

Mortar Board, women's senior honorary, the Southwest Collection, the Department of Student Publications and the Department of Public Information, all play key roles in keeping the idea alive and vibrant.

Mortar Board, with Nan Faulkner of Lubbock serving as chairman of its 'Pictures for Posterity' committee, devotes many hours each week to recording and documenting contributions to the collection. In addition, the group actively solicits new contributions and attempts to explain the project to prospective donors.

ONE IDEA STILL in the planning stage is the preparation and distribution of an illustrated brochure on 'Pictures for Posterity' that would inspire further contributions to the collection.

Mortar Board also has formed a Heritage Club which honors donors with a handsomely engraved citation upon receipt of their contribution.

TECH ARCHIVIST Roy Sylvan Dunn, director of the Southwest Collection which houses 'Pictures for Posterity', is another enthusiastic backer of the project.

"We try to render technical assistance when needed," Dunn points out, "but the Mortar Board girls do the work, and we help out in any way we can." He pointed to one example of the organization's zeal in setting up an attractive display of some of the collection's most striking examples which was exhibited at the Tech Union during the Oct. 22-23 Homecoming weekend.

ALTHOUGH THE PROJECT still is in the embryonic stages, Dunn points with pride to an outstanding record of achievement during the first 12 months. "One-hundred-fifty-eight photographs have been donated," he notes, "and an additional 59 have been loaned for copying. Thirty-five persons have qualified for charter membership in the Heritage Club as a result of their interest and assistance."

THE PROJECT RECEIVED a big boost last year when Tech purchased the files of prints and negatives accumulated by early day Lubbock photographer W. L. Daniels, who now lives in Fort Worth.

Some of these photos, many of them the only ones in existence, show the laying of the cornerstone for the Administration Building, the opening day ceremonies and first football workouts.

A BEGINNING HAS been made, but Dunn and Miss Faulkner are certain many other rare photos of the first years of Tech still remain in a now forgotten picture album or tucked away in a musty attic.

It remains, then, the goal of the various individuals and organizations concerned with the project that these photos find their way to 'Pictures for Posterity.'

School of Business will offer Ph.D.s

In Sept. 1967 the School of Business Administration will begin a full curriculum of courses leading to a Ph.D.

It is designed for men and women who wish to become more effective collegiate business teachers, to become competent executives in business and public service, or to become research specialists.

The Doctoral Program has three emphases. The first emphasis is directed toward a broad knowledge of business. The candidate is expected to understand the interrelationships of the six fields of study in the program and the interaction of the firm and its environment.

The second emphasis consists of concentrated study of two specialized fields. Normally the fields within the School of Business Administration are Accounting, Business Education, Economics, Finance, Management, and Marketing.

The third emphasis is concerned with the development of the candidate as a researcher. This is stressed in class assignments and the preparation of a dissertation.

Regardless of the amount of graduate work completed elsewhere, every applicant is required to complete at least one year of graduate study beyond the Master's degree within the Tech graduate school.

Residence is normally completed with a minimum of 12 hours of graduate work in each of the two consecutive semesters of a long session.

Teaching assistants, research assistants, and instructors at Tech may fulfill residence by being continuously enrolled for 12 months for a minimum of 24 semester hours of graduate work.

Candidates should complete degree requirements with two years of full-time study beyond the Master's degree.

All work for the doctorate should be completed within four years after the applicant has been admitted to candidacy.

For additional information contact the dean of the School of B.A., B. A. Building.

Pearson previews Festival silent film

"Intolerance" is a film dealing with man's inhumanity to man," said Tony Pearson yesterday at the Sandwich Seminar sponsored by the Union Ideas and Issues Committee. "Intolerance" is D. W. Griffith's silent movie which will be shown at 7:30 p.m. Sunday as part of the Fine Arts Festival this week.

Pearson's speech, a preface to the film, said "Intolerance" portrays the evil man does to man on a grand scale. The theme embodies four stories which point to the fact man hasn't changed much through history.

The four themes are segments of the life of Christ, the massacre of the French protestants in Bordeaux, a modern story of social injustice, and the ancient inhumanity in Babylon.

"Intolerance" was in production from 1915 to 1916 at a cost of $2 million. This was the most ever spent on a film up until that time.

Griffith also introduced parallel editing. Pearson said the tension was greatly built up when all four stories were told simultaneously.

Only a few copies of "Intolerance" are extant today, and one of these will be shown at the Union Sunday. Pearson recommended "Intolerance" to anyone who doesn't mind doing a little thinking.

Placement Service helps job seekers

Jobless Tech students are finding work through the Placement Service.

Maxine Willingham, Employment Assistant of the Placement Service, said Lubbock employers have listed many job openings with the service. Most positions are quickly filled, but experienced and full-time employment are in demand.

Openings are available for key punch, linotype, offset and letter press operators with experience. Stenographers and secretaries with or without short hand experience are needed full-time by Lubbock businesses. Part-time jobs are available for licensed hairdressers and barbers.

Butchers and full-time registered nurses are positions difficult to fill. These and other openings are available for more than a week.

Mrs. Willingham said there were also the usual assortment of delivery boy, service station and fountain jobs which can be filled by Tech students.

Applications for full or part-time jobs are available at the Placement Service Office in the Electrical Engineering Bldg.

The prices roll back

Public opinion can be a powerful force when it is united and given sufficient publicity. Just ask anyone in the Lubbock supermarket business.

Following a nation-wide trend, prices in many of the cities' supermarkets have been rolled back this week to combat the "high cost of living." Apparently, it is the result of a campaign by housewives in many of the nation's larger cities who have banded together to picket and/or boycott what they consider "high" food prices.

And they must be right. If stores can afford to cut prices on a storewide scale, their prices must have been above the "normal" rate of profit to begin with. No business would slash prices if it meant taking an overall loss.

Also, storewide reductions furnish material for a grand promotional gimmick. Whether prices remain at their present low level remains to be seen.

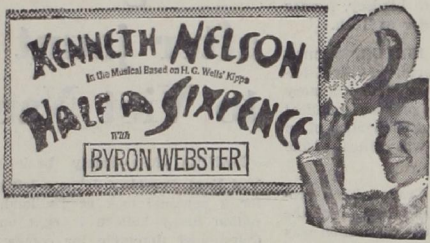

Meanwhile, Tech students—at least the 60 percent of them who live off campus—and faculty and staff members are ringing up the reductions.

And stocking up their pantries.

Due to a lack of space, the following explanatory note was omitted from a Wednesday column entitled "Tower, lesser of evils," which presented the liberal's reasons for supporting John Tower in the upcoming senatorial election: The University Daily will welcome a conservative column supporting Waggoner Carr and also a conservative column in support of Tower since the above column actually points out the author's opinion of Tower's shortcomings, although he presents them as reasons for voting for the candidate. Following the election a regular exchange of ideas between liberal and conservative views will be presented on various issues. Columns do not necessarily present the views of The University Daily.

FRIDAY FORUM

Dr. Mary Louise Brewer will speak on "Eleanor of Aquitaine and the Courts of Love" at a free noon luncheon Friday at the Christian Student Center, 2318 13th. Call PO 2-8094 for reservations.

He has appeared extensively since the age of nine with orchestras including the New York Philharmonic Youth Concert, Boston Symphony, Esplanade Concert, Clarion Concerts and Juilliard Orchestra.

In 1960 he participated in the Marlboro Music Festival and in 1964 he made his debut in Vienna while studying with Dr. Josef Dichler at the Vienna Academy.

TONIGHT'S PROGRAM includes: Prelude & Fugue in E Major, Book 11, The Well-Tempered Clavier, Bach; "Unser Dummer Pobel Meint," Mozart; Sonata in E Flat Major, Beethoven; Sonata (1939-41), Copland and Schezso No. 3 in C Minor, Chopin.

There is no admission charge for the program.

A LINE HERE, A LINE THERE—Roland Myers applies facial make-up for his role in the upcoming University Theater production "Richard III." The theater's first major production of the year will run Nov. 11 through 16.

Richard III' crew works on make-up

Make-up and costumes for Shakespeare's "Richard III," the next production at the Tech University Theater November 11-16, are taking up many hours of time with 50 cast members to clothe and make-up.

Members of the make-up crew are attending classes taught by Dave Morgan, crew head, who studied the subject last summer at Northwestern University in Chicago.

Every member of the crew must be made up, from the sunburnt look of people, as if they were farm workers, in the crowd scenes to washed-out, pale complexions for the monks in the cast that were never in the sun but inside continually.

Iris Osmond, who plays the Duchess of York, will wear make-up that will age her 85 years. Her chin and nose are being built up with putty covered with latex, and the entire job will take four hours to finish before play time.

G. W. Bailey, as Richard III, will wear one shoe built up so that he will walk with a limp. Richard's disinterest in clothes will be reflected by his costumes which will be out of style with the others in the show. The elaborateness of his clothing after his coronation will reflect his acquisition of vanity with acquisition of the crown.

Navy coach eyes upset

Navy Coach Bill Elias predicted Wednesday that his sky-high Middle football team would beat No. 1 ranked Notre Dame Saturday.

NAVY, which is 3-3 for the season, has revved up so for the clash Saturday that Elias went out on a limb with the prediction, adding: "In all sincerity, I've never seen a team as high as this team since I've been here. "I HAVE SO much faith in this group of young men I'm confident that nothing is impossible. I think we'll win it."

Notre Dame Coach Ara Parseghian, in a long-distance chat with Elias and writers, would not predict victory and even said that service academy teams have so much spirit that anything could happen on any given weekend.

ELIAS and his staff feel that there are other plus factors the oddsmakers have overlooked in the 26-point spread favoring Notre Dame.

The biggest is that spectacular sophomore end Jim Seymour has an injured ankle and will probably not play—though Parseghian would not commit himself on that question when asked by Elias.

Another is a report that quarterback Terry Hanratty's tossing arm is not in the best shape following a mild sprain.

folks real good today, too. All in all it was a real good team effort," said King.

Redshirts Fred Warren and Pete Norwood were also pointed out, by King, as having a good practice.

The team stressed short yardage, goal line offense and defense and pass protection during the workout.

"Tomorrow we're going to polish in a few areas and then we should be ready for Saturday's game against Rice," said King.

Raiders continue Rice preparations

A losing season isn't dampening the spirits of the Raiders, as was shown in workout yesterday.

"We were doing a lot of good things today," was the comment of Coach J T King after the afternoon's practice.

King pointed out Kenny Baker, Mike Leinert, Jackie Stewart, Bobby Davis and Stan Edwards as having "real good" workouts.

'Shirts - Frosh tangle tonight

By GEORGE CHAFFEE Sports Editor

Inexperienced youth is the word tonight as the unbeaten Tech Picadors renew acquaintances with the Varsity Redshirts under the lights of Jones Stadium.

Freshmen who haven't seen any action as of yet should see plenty tonight as Coach Berl Huffman plans to look over some of his non-scholarship material.

"WE HAVEN'T been able to use everybody yet and we hope to take the opportunity against the Redshirts tonight," Huffman said.

The surprising frosh have won games over the Rice Owls, Arkansas Shoats, and Redshirts. In last Thursday's contest, Jerry Don Sanders kicked a 22-yard field goal to steal a win from the Redshirts, 15-14.

A WIDE SMILE covers Huffman's face every time he's asked to comment on the frosh.

"I believe this is the smartest bunch of boys I've had the pleasure of coaching," Huffman said. "When you tell them to do something, they do it and keep on doing it without making many mistakes. Shucks,

The kickoff is scheduled for they almost take th' fun out of coaching 'cause you can't chew anybody out," he said. OVER ON THE other side of the practice field, the Redshirts were taking their lumps and bruises as they ran plays frequently used by Rice against the varsity.

Head Coach J T King appeared pleased at the efforts of the 'Shirts as he watched them go through their paces. "YOU KNOW," he said, "It really is hard on those guys to go out every day and get hit time after time not having anything to show for it, but there are still a few who really put out a good effort."

Although Huffman plans to look over some new material, he plans to start the same group that usually opens the Picador tilts.

OFFENSIVELY, Huffman plans to start Jimmy Bennett, Randy Bowlin, Clay Brumley, 15-14. Tony Butler, Charlie Evans, Mike Holladay, Rick Mareum, Kevin Ormes, Gary Vaughn and Walter Yarbrough.

Starting on defense for the Picadors will be Bennett, Brusse, Bevers, Brumley, Evans and Craig Evans, David Fisher, Holladay, Ormes, Carroll Sullivan and Larry Zientek.

She had rather have an Anderson Diamond

All diamonds are exciting, but some are more exciting than others! An Anderson diamond, for instance. She knows its quality is unquestionably finer. It whispers, it sings, it dances with a myriad light reflecting secret joys and meanings. Shown here from our extensive fall collection is the new three prong diamond solitaire of exceptional simplicity and grace. The asymmetrical design is a departure from the conventional and serves to put all emphasis on the sparkling gem itself. So beautiful, it has to be an Anderson diamond! In 14K white or yellow gold in a price range from $150 to $500 Downtown and in Monterey Center.
