

Tech Names New Freshman Coach

By RALPH W. CARPENTER
Toreador Editor

Charley Lynch, who played a vital role as a member of Texas Tech's "famous first," has been named freshman basketball coach at Tech.

He will also assist Coach Gene Gibson with the varsity team. The announcement was made Friday night by Polk Robison, Tech athletic director. President R. C. Goodwin approved the appointment Friday.

"It is a distinct pleasure to announce Coach Gibson's choice to head this vital part of our athletic program," Robison said.

Lynch, who played on Tech's first official entry in the Southwest Conference, served as assistant freshman coach last season while working toward his master's degree. He is now in Michigan where he was employed by the Ford Motor Company. The new coach is expected to return to Lubbock in a few days.

"I feel very fortunate to be able to acquire Lynch as my assistant," Gibson said. "His high character and outstanding basketball ability will certainly add to the basketball program at Tech."

Lynch, better known as "Mr. Consistency" during his playing days, was an outstanding performer at a guard position for Coach Robinson. He was named to several All-SWC teams.

In fact, he had such an outstanding career on the hardwoods, sportswriters were prompted to comment:

"The fastest pair of hands in the league. Great on defense. Made many post-season teams. Smooth as silk. Outstanding team man.

He played his high school basketball at Sudan, joining Tech as a freshman in 1955. His teammates, Leon Hill, Gerald Myers, Wade Wolfe, Chuck Key and Don Apple, helped him write one of the most colorful chapters in Tech basketball history.

As freshman they scored in the 90's six times and had to go into a double overtime to beat White Sands. Against Frank Phillips they had four starters with four fouls at halftime and the other had three—yet they won, 76-60.

Lynch's group moved up to the varsity in 1956 and played the first game in the Municipal Coliseum.

Labeled by some as "Robison's whizz kids" that year, the team captured the imagination of the fans and basketball was well on its way to becoming "king" in Lubbock.

During the 1957-58 basketball wars, Lynch and his "buddies" racked up their first seven games, lost a couple of "toughies" to TCU and Arkansas and finished fourth in the standings.

Lynch was still around during the conference campaign of 1958. The Raiders finished in a tie for third, with an 8-6 record. Their season mark was 15-8.

The new Tech coach closed out his college career in 1959. The Raiders won third place in the SWC that year.

"BEAT THE AGGIES!"—Tech's cheerleaders leapt high Friday night as students yelled for a Raider victory over the invading Plowboys from College Station.

By JIM RICHARDSON
Associate Sports Editor

Texas Tech and Texas A&M, both in the process of rebuilding and both sporting winless records, will try to take some of their pentup fury out on each other tonight in Jones Stadium.

Chances are good that a record-breaking crowd will be on hand at 7:30 to watch the conference opener at home for the Raiders. More than 35,000 tickets have been sold and athletic officials expect a near-capacity turnout of 41,000.

The 32,000 attendance record set last year in the homecoming game with Southern Methodist University is certain to be shattered.

Statistics favor a Raider attack against the heavy Aggie line. Tech contains the top passing-receiving combination in the SWC after the first weeks of play. Quarterback Doug Cannon tops all other SWC throwers with 15 completions on 27 attempts for 34 yards.

Bob Witucki holds the top spot in receiving with an average of 9.6 yards per catch on seven receptions. David Parks is sixth ranked in the conference with a 9.0 average on four catches. Both Cannon and Witucki are included in the top 20 individual standings in the nation in their category.

But A&M has a gimmick for opposition passes known as a stiff pass defense. In fact, the latest release from the National Collegiate

All students will need their ID cards to get into the game tonight. Students who have not picked up their cards will find them at Herald Photo, 1405 College.

Athletic Bureau shows Texas A&M ranking fifth in the nation in pass defense. The Aggies have allowed only five completions in two games for an average of 19.5 yards per game through the air.

Only Iowa, Pennsylvania, Illinois and Oregon rank ahead of the Aggies in that department.

Tech has more than a passing attack, however.

If the Aggies take the field against Tech with only passing in their mind, they may be misled. Fullbacks Coolidge Hunt and George Fraser and halfbacks Bake Turner and Roger Gill will be on hand to give the A&M eleven a run for their money—literally. Both Turner and Gill scored against Tech in the Raiders' offensive second half in Austin.

Another motive, traditionally speaking, could have a bearing on the game. The Aggies are sure to have 'Red' in their eye. In the schools' past three meetings, underdog Raider squads took a pair of victories and a tie from A&M.

Tech has met the Aggies 19 times, the tie last year being the only contest counted in conference standings. A&M leads in past games, 13 wins to 5, with the lone tie. The teams are on a home-to-home basis for the first time this year, after playing the past several meetings in the Cotton Bowl in Dallas.

A&M will enter the game tonight with a 0-1-1 season record. The Aggies tied the University of Houston, 7-7, and then bowed to LSU, 16-7, last Saturday at Baton Rouge.

Barring practice injuries, the A&M group should be at full strength. Probable starters, all openers against LSU, will be Russell Hill and Daryle Keeling at ends, Wayland Simmons and Joe Eilers at tackles, Wayne Freiling and Jim Phillips at guards, Jerry Jenkins at center, Jim Keller at quarterback, George Hargett and Bob Caskey at halfbacks and Lee Roy Caffey at fullback.

Linnstaeder is A&M's leading ground gainer with 58 yards on 13 carries, while Caffey has 50 yards in 14 tries.

The Aggie Band, under the direction of Lt. Col. E. V. Adams, will be on hand, 254 strong.

Voters Name Class Officers, Council Members In Run-Off

Only 1,625 Techsans voted Friday to name the leaders of the entire student body of 10,195.

The election, a run-off resulting from Wednesday's balloting, saw almost a full slate of class officers named, plus student council representatives from Schools of Business Administration, Arts and Sciences and Agriculture.

Student council positions were won by Don Rucker, Agriculture; Charlie Crocker, Business Administration; and Royal Ferguson and Ginger Butler, Arts and Sciences.

Elected to senior class officer posts were George Matson, vice president; Carolyn Maniha, secretary; and Gretchen Gale, AWS representative.

Junior class officers are Wendell Barnett, president; Bill Golightly, vice president; Claudia Austin, secretary; and Robbie Ramsey, AWS representative.

Winning sophomore class officer run-offs were Carolyn Wood, secretary; and Christi Brown, AWS representative.

Freshmen voters named ten members-at-large to their Council in addition to class officers.

Fish class officers will be Robert Legg, president; Mike Horridge, vice president; Nancy Shoemaker, secretary; and Tommie Arnold, AWS representative.

All girls who have a 1.5 or better grade point average and are interested in joining Phi Gamma Nu, honorary business sorority, are invited to a rush tea at 2 p.m. Sunday in the Tech Union Workshop.

LE CERCLE FRANCAIS

Students interested in joining Le Cercle Francais are invited to attend the club's organizational meeting at 7 p.m. Tuesday in Rm. 217 of the Ad Bldg.

CHANNING CLUB

The Channing Club, a discussion group, has scheduled an organizational meeting and general discussion session for 7:30 p.m. Sunday in the Anniversary Room of Tech Union.

Union Record Library Offers Music For Study, Relaxation

By KONNIE CLEARMAN
Toreador Staff Writer

Does Getshwin's "Rhapsody in Blue" put you in the mood to study? Do you find it much easier to get up in the morning to the lively lilt of "Carousel" or "Oklahoma?"

Or if you are having insomnia because of worry and distress over your studies, perhaps the mellow tones of Ray Conniff or Johnny Mathis will lull you to sleep.

Whatever type of music sets the pace for you—the Record Lending Library has just the record.

The Record Lending Library, a part of the Tech Union program since 1956, offers the music lover classical music, mood music, theme music from movies, Broadway and television shows, Christmas music, jazz and rock and roll, popular singers and orchestras, stereo records and language records.

The Record Lending Library will be open from 8-12 MWF, 8-10 TT and 10-12 Saturday in the upstairs lobby cloakroom of the Union.

Students may check out records for 10 cents a record per week.

Three records is the maximum each week for one person. A penalty of 5 cents per record will be charged each day records are overdue.

Stereo records may not be taken from the Tech Union. They may only be played on the stereo player in the lounge.

Among the foreign language records is one entitled "Listen and Learn French"—which can prove a help in French pronunciation. Also in the library—but not so helpful to academic work—is Shelley Berman's "Inside Shelley Berman."

Not everyone has a collection of Christmas music, but anyone of the Christmas selections would see the scene for dorm parties during the Christmas season.

Karen Moore, program director of the Tech Union, urges students to take care of the records. The Library now contains over 100 long-playing records and can be increased in size if students will preserve the records.

Money paid for the use of the records is used to replace broken or damaged records.

Tech's 'Glittering' Majorettes Lead Stereo Band's Activities

By JUDY McROREY
Toreador Staff Writer

"Hey, Look Me Over" will be the song sung by Tech's seven majorettes as they lead the "Band-in-Stereo" onto the gridiron tonight. These high-stepping girls will be the center of attraction in their glittering costumes during the half-time activities.

"We try to be as collegiate as possible, for that is what the spectators are interested in," Jacqueta Cox, junior education major from Bowie, said. Miss Cox, a third year majorette, has had years of experience twirling and dancing which has led to her responsible job as head majorette.

"One week before school started, we began practicing as a group," Cindy Parker, one of the sophomore majorettes, explained. "It is easier to work together but since we all have our own different styles, practice is essential." Miss Parker is a music education major from Hale Center.

"We try never to have the same routine twice," Pam White, a junior industrial management major from Richardson, said. Miss White had several years of experience before she began twirling at Tech. Carolyn Davis, another three

The Baptist Student Union, 2401 13th, will sponsor an after-game fellowship following tonight's game. State BSU President Bill Harrison, an Aggie, will be the guest.

Monday through Friday the Baptist Student Union will sponsor a program of international student emphasis. Morning Watch programs will begin at 7:28 a.m. Vespers will be at 6:30 p.m. The program will feature international students on the Tech campus.

Double 'T' Assn. Sponsors Dance After A&M Game

All Tech students and Aggies visiting Red Raider Land are invited by the Double "T" Assn. to attend a "Howdy Dance" tonight after the football game.

The dance begins at 10 p.m. and will end at midnight. Charlie Hatchett and the Raiders furnish the dance music in the Tech Union Ballroom.

Admission is $1 per couple.

To Recover

Pulling For Sam Rayburn

It would appear that America is in the process of losing another great statesman—Sam Rayburn. The 79-year-old Rayburn, House Speaker for almost 17 years, is dying of cancer in a Dallas hospital.

Medical tests indicate "a spreading cancer" and that usually means the worst can be expected. Rayburn is a fighter. Perhaps he can win this, his hardest fight of all. We're sure that all good Americans everywhere are pulling for Mr. Sam.

While we can share but few of Rayburn's political beliefs, he is a good American and has had a lot to do with shaping the course of our nation.

For that reason, we hope Rayburn recovers and is able to return to his post in Washington.

Pedestrians Create Problems

Pedestrians are becoming a problem on the campus.

They're ignoring the traffic lights. Perhaps it is some kind of game they're playing with the motorists. We don't know, and care less.

One thing is certain. There should be some sort of regulation applied to these "mad walkers." Everybody is in a hurry from time to time, but there is no use endangering your life and the lives of others by charging out into the traffic against the lights.

Perhaps a security patrol officer can be placed at each of the "trouble" spots during rush periods. The main trouble areas seem to be around the circle and near the Tech Bookstore. A good time to stop this nonsense is right now.

Toreador Mail Call...

Dear Editor,

What kind of school is this that will take our money for room and board, yet will not turn on the heat in the dorms when the temperature drops to a record low for this time of year?

Half the people we know have made frequent visits to the infirmary and the rest are too weak to go. It is not a strange event to walk into some one's room and see him studying in an overcoat.

It seems to us that this school is cutting down on a fuel bill only to add to an infirmary bill.

Grades will also suffer due to the fact that it is extremely difficult to concentrate when one is freezing.

Yours truly,

News Analyst Speculates

By J. M. ROBERTS

Associated Press News Analyst
Some thoughts after scanning a week's news:

Will it be any the less appeasement if Bonn makes concessions to the East German Communists instead of the Big Three doing it themselves?

In 1948 the Communists set up blockades outside Vienna the same as outside of Berlin. The British drove an armed column through, and there was no blockade of Vienna as there was of Berlin. Can't help wondering what would have happened if the Allies had started knocking down the wall through Berlin on Aug. 13. Probably nothing.

Soviets are now buying off their newsstands more than 3,000,000 copies of each issue of America Illustrated, the U. S. Information Agency's Russian-language magazine.

Twenty years ago this week Adolf Hitler shouted that Russia had been defeated and would never rise again. The historical miscalculations of men of despotic temperament have always been appalling.

Mexico furnishes sanctuary and financial headquarters for half a dozen sects of Communists operating throughout Latin America, and has a sizeable Red front of her own. She doesn't know how to meet the problem without undermining some of the democratic principles she has fought for so long and so hard. Perhaps she needs a legal mission from the United States to explain the restrictive laws passed here at the height of the Communist menace.

It Didn't Happen At Tech: A towering tackle was big, fast and vicious in line play but was so dumb that he couldn't learn his blocking assignments. Charged on the idea of all this natural talent going to waste and sitting out the game because of stupidity, the coach decided that some drastic action had to be taken.

Working nights after the rest of the team had gone, the coach tutored the bruiser on blocking assignments.

To show off what he had accomplished, the mentor quizzed the boy during a chalk talk one day. He suddenly turned to him and demanded:

"You there. It's fourth down, we have the ball on their five-yard line and there are 30 seconds left to play. What would you do?"

Carried away with the colorful description of the situation, the boy shouted nervously:

"Why, I'd move to the end of the bench so I could see better."

THE FUTURE GENERATION: Just a note to let you know how a segment of today's youngsters in high school are doing.

Wednesday in an assembly program at a San Angelo high school, an Air Force officer was booed and hissed off the stage by the student body. School officials couldn't do anything with the mob.

To quiet them, an American flag was brought on stage. These "clean-cut" little monsters booed and cat-called it. Explanation from a school spokesman: "I just don't know what got into them."

Boy!

A congressman from Illinois has come up with a plan which he says will save the U.S. billions while, at the same time, flooding the economy with millions of dollars.

The congressman, Roman C. Pucinski, spells out his scheme this way:

The Treasury would issue special $25 noninterest-bearing bonds. Each citizen would be permitted to buy a maximum of four a year, which means he would be lending the government up to $100 a year without interest.

To encourage such a patriotic gesture Pucinski would have the Treasury Department hold four drawings a year, using the serial numbers of the bonds sold. The holder of the first number drawn would get $1 million tax free. The second person would get $750,000, the third, $500,000 and the next thousand would get $1,000 each.

The bonds would always be redeemable at face value and as long as they were held they would be eligible for the drawing. Pucinski feels his plan would be so irresistible people would stand in line to buy the bonds, with the result that much of the national debt would be shifted to an interest-free base. Since interest costs on the debt now run about $9.5 billion a year, he thinks it would be irresistible to the government, too.

There would be still another bonus, he feels: Four times a year a powerful dream would sweep America and all its cares would be forgotten.

"Think of the scene in each home on the eve of a drawing with each family wondering whether they will be millionaires tomorrow," he says. "Under my bill Americans could dream such dreams again."

Anything for a vote!

Garland Weeks Receives Award And Trip To National Congress

Garland Weeks, "Mr. 4-H in Wichita County" and Tech freshman, received one of Texas' highest 4-H awards in boys' leadership. The announcement was made at College Station.

Weeks is to receive an all-expense trip to the National 4-H Congress in Chicago. Donor for the leadership program is the Sears-Roebuck Foundation.

In the past, Weeks has been elected to every office in his local and county 4-H organizations, secretary of the district 4-H council, vice chairman of the Texas 4-H council, chairman of the Texas 4-H Roundup Committee and a long list of other accomplishments.

Weeks was an honor graduate of Wichita Falls High School where he was an officer and leader in many clubs and groups.

In his record narrative Weeks said, "My eight years in 4-H have been the best and fullest of my life. They have been a determining factor in my choice of a career."

Powder Poses Problems: Will Cannon Be Tradition?

Is the firing of the cannon at Tech's games to become a tradition?

This question faces Tech students this fall with the first home game tonight.

The 1960 season saw the first use of the gun and at that time the question of the cannon's becoming a tradition was first discussed. Problems of buying powder for ammunition and paying for it arose. Finally donations were taken in order to buy enough black powder to last out the season.

These problems persist this year. Black powder is hard to buy since it is seldom used any more. It is expensive and even though loads have been cut in half, it still costs a dollar a round.

Previously the gun has been transported to out of town games by the gun crew in an ROTC truck. About this problem, Capt. Charles Brown, assistant professor of military science, said, "Dean Allen is very interested in the cannon and is investigating possibilities of paying for the ammunition and transportation costs."

James G. Allen, Dean of Student Life, concerning the same problem, said, "No one organization should be expected to pay the cannon's expense. We are looking at possibilities for the athletic department to pay the costs."

"Also, we feel that it would be best to wait till the end of the season to see how the cannon and the Saddle Tramps' Spirit Bell work together. The bell has precedence and we want to see if it and the cannon compete against each other."

Don Cox, 1960 gun crew commander, said the crew had 30 rounds on hand and could reload 30 more. He thinks that the sixty rounds ought to last the season.

Plans to paint the cannon red and black have been discussed. No decision has been reached as yet, however, since no one can decide which parts should be red and which should be black.

"It is entirely up to the students whether they want to establish the cannon as a tradition," Capt. Brown said. "Our boys are willing to handle it and will do anything the students want to keep the tradition alive."

Of the "magnificent seven" Billie King is the only senior. She, like the others, finds twirling a full-time job, but the excitement of being a majorette makes up for the hard work. Miss King has been a majorette at Tech for the past two years.

Winning a scholarship to Tech was the most exciting experience Sandy Bell, a freshman from Clovis, N.M., has had.

"Last year during Band Day, I twirled a solo and in the following weeks I received an offer for a scholarship," Miss Bell stated. Starting at the age of six, she has twirled and danced her way to this position.

Carole Brashear, a freshman from Petersburg, was another majorette chosen by the board. Girls are judged on appearance, interest in band and show personality.

Wouldn't Tech's majorettes be an addition to the Aggie Band?

Frogs Face 'Biggest Yet' In Ozarks

Despite surprising performances against both highly-regarded Kansas and Ohio State, the TCU Horned Frogs point to today's Southwest Conference opener with Arkansas as the "biggest" one yet.

Predicted for a sixth-place finish in an expected-heated Southwest Conference race, the Frogs have proved spoilers in their first two outings, whipping Kansas, 17-16, and rallying for a 7-7 tie with Ohio State. Kansas was the pre-season favorite to cop the Big Eight title while the Bucks were everybody's choice in the Big Ten fight. And both were predicted for national titles on some pre-season dope sheets.

But Head Coach Abe Martin and his players know about those Hills in Arkansas, with the defending champion Forkers next at Little Rock.

"That's the toughest place in the world to win a football game," drawled the pleasant Martin. "No matter what we've done to now, we know we will have to play our best game yet to have a chance against those Hogs. They're quick, hit hard and just play darn good fundamental football."

Martin has made just one other trip to Memorial Stadium since taking over the head job at TCU in 1953. That came in 1957 on the heels of the 18-14 upset of Ohio State. Arkansas literally smothered the Frogs with a 20-7 defeat. In 1953, Abe lost a 13-6 game at Fayetteville, also the scene of a 3-0 loss in 1959. Only TCU victory in the "Hills" came in 1955, when the Jim Swink-led Frogs scored a 26-0 smash at Fayetteville.

In fact, Arkansas is the only club in the Southwest Conference to hold an edge over Martin, winning five of the eight battles.

Martin and staff point to the reason of early success as a result of a tremendous team effort.

"I've never had a bunch of kids give so much with so little experience," reminds the veteran coach. "They've played above their heads, but I hope they keep on doing just that. This is a great group to coach, I'll tell you that."

By CHARLES RICHARDS
Toreador Sports Editor

Tonight would be a most opportune time for Tech students to show whether they have the same great spirit this year that they did last year.

Techsians jammed Municipal Coliseum time after time last year to cheer on the Red Raider cagers to a Southwest Conference championship. The night Tech defeated Texas here to take the title, Polk Robinson told the audience, "You can't beat the spirit of Texas Tech."

Is it that way this year?

"Third time's the charm."

Both the Red Raiders and the Aggies will have this on their minds when they meet in Jones Stadium tonight.

J T King's Raiders are winless in two outings, and Jim Meyers' A&M clan has only a tie in two decisions.

In Doug Cannon and Bob Witucki, Tech has both the leading passer and top receiver in Southwest Conference action this season. To offset this, A&M has the fifth best pass defense in the nation.

Most of the grid "experts" have the Aggies winning by a touchdown, but I feel the Raiders will make a mild upset out of this one.

Despite the presence of A&M's "Twelfth Man"—the huge corps band—the crowd will be partisan to the Red Raiders for the first time of the season. That plus the fact that Tech does have the potential to set the Aggies back on their heels should give the Raiders a big black entry onto the win side of the SWC ledger.

It's no secret that the Aggies play the role of Tech's most bitter rival in SWC grid play. And 43,000 fans who share the same feeling aren't going to lessen excitement in the game any. Everything points to a great game... for the Raiders.

John Petty and I broke even again last week on football predictions with 5-4-1 each, so we're trying again this week to break the deadlock. Here's the way they look:

Crosstown Coach Helps In Victory Over Rival

GARY, Ind. (AP) — A rival coach came out of the stands to recover from a severe stomach ailment.

Thursday night to help guide Horace Mann High School to a 20-14 upset football victory over East Chicago Roosevelt.

Mann's head coach, Don Elser, fell ill at halftime with his team behind 14-13. He was taken home

Eddy Herbert, head coach of Gary Lew Wallace High School—whose team had lost 7-6 to Mann earlier this year—received a standing ovation when he climbed out of the stands to help assistant Coach Doug Oppman run the Horseman squad.

SAIL ON, SAIL ON!

I suppose October 12 is just another day to you. You get up in the ordinary way and do all the ordinary things you ordinarily do. You have your breakfast, you walk your ocelot, you go to classes, you write home for money, you burn the dean in effigy, you watch Howdy-Doody, and you go to bed. And do you give one little thought to the fact that October 12 is Columbus Day? No, you do not.

Nobody thinks about Columbus these days. Let us, therefore, pause for a moment and retell his ever-glorious, endlessly stirring saga.

Columbus never wanted to clap eyes on a horse again.

Christopher Columbus was born in Genoa on August 25, 1451. His father, Ralph T. Columbus, was in the three-minute auto wash game. His mother, Eleanor (Swiftly) Columbus, was a sprinter. Christopher was an only child, except for his four brothers and eight sisters. With his father busy all day at the auto wash and his mother constantly away at track meets, young Columbus was left pretty much to his own devices. However, the lad did not sulk or brood. He was an avid reader and spent all his waking hours immersed in a book. Unfortunately, there was only one book in Genoa at the time—Care of the Horse by Aristotle—and after several years of reading Care of the Horse, Columbus grew restless. So when rumor reached him that there was another book in Barcelona, off he ran as fast as his fat little legs would carry him.

The rumor, alas, proved false. The only book in Barcelona was Cuidar un Caballo by Aristotle, which proved to be nothing more than a Spanish translation of Care of the Horse. Bitterly disappointed, Columbus began to dream of going to India where, according to legend, there were thousands of books. But the only way to go to India was on horseback, and after so many years of reading Care of the Horse, Columbus never wanted to clap eyes on a horse again. Then a new thought struck him: perhaps it was possible to get to India by sea!

Fired with his revolutionary new idea, Columbus raced to the court of Ferdinand and Isabella on his little fat legs (Columbus, though six feet tall, was plagued with little fat legs all his life) and pleaded his case with such fervor that the rulers were persuaded.

On October 12, 1492, Columbus set foot on the New World. The following year he returned to Spain with a cargo of wonders never before seen in Europe—spices and metals and plants and flowers and—most wondrous of all—tobacco! Oh, what a sensation tobacco caused in Europe! The filter had long since been invented (by Aristotle, curiously enough) but nobody knew what to do with it. Now Columbus, the Great Discoverer, made still another great discovery: he took a filter, put tobacco in front of it, and invented the world's first filter cigarette!

Through the centuries filters have been steadily improved and so has tobacco, until today we have achieved the ultimate in the filter cigarette—Marlboro, of course! Oh, what a piece of work is Marlboro! Great tobacco, great filter, great smoke! And so, good friends, when next you enjoy a fine Marlboro Cigarette, give a thought to the plucky Genoese, Christopher Columbus, whose vision and perseverance made the whole lovely thing possible.

© 1961 Max Shulman

And thank Columbus too for the king-size Philip Morris Commander. If unfiltered cigarettes are your choice, you'll find Commander the choice of the unfiltered. Welcome aboard.

Vets Office Delays Educational Check

Educational benefit checks for Korean War veterans and war orphans who registered at Tech from Aug. 20 to Sept. 19 will not be mailed until Oct. 31 this year.

These checks are usually mailed by the 20th of the month following that in which the training was completed. This is delayed every fall because of the number of trainees who register in September.

Several years ago the Veterans Administration Central Office, working in conjunction with the Treasury Dept. set up the system of mailing checks ten days late in October in order to give them more time for the preparation of records. This change applies to October checks only; those due in November will be mailed on or before Nov. 20.

According to Mrs. Margaret Godfrey of the Tech Veterans office, "Each year many students forget about this delay and are left without money for a period of a week or more."

"We hope that all Korean War veterans and war orphans will be notified of this change so that no one will make the mistake this year," Mrs. Godfrey stressed.

'Trust Predicts Close Contest

A 72-man "braintrust" of military science students have a special interest in tonight's Aggie-Red Raider clash, since the outcome may have some bearing on their grade.

Capt. Robert E. Weber's military science 421 students have been devoutly scouring football magazines and sports pages, in an attempt to correlate military intelligence tactics with the scouting of "enemy" football teams.

"The project will serve to motivate students as well as teach them to collect and evaluate information for the purpose of forming a justifiable opinion," Capt. Weber said.

After studying and discussing both teams' statistics the "braintrust" predicted a three touchdown contest with the outcome hinging on the breaks.

Pictorial History Shows Tech Athletes In Lounge

A pictorial history of Texas Tech athletic organizations is to be a new addition to the Double T Lounge in the athletic building.

The folding-panel display will picture Tech athletes from 1925, when the first Raider football and basketball teams were organized, until the present time. Each year there will be new additions to the display.

The picture will have the won-lost record and the players and their positions written below the team. These pictures were acquired from the athletic files, from reproductions in the La Ventana and from the exes of Tech.

The idea of the panel was brought to a reality by coaches Polk Robison and Gene Gibson. The project was begun last spring after basketball season and was completed Friday in time for the first home game with the Aggies.

Big Hello From Tech Awaits Ags

Techsans are rolling out the red and black carpet for the Texas Aggies this weekend.

In an effort to promote SWC sportsmanship and boost Tech's school spirit, members of various campus organizations will welcome the Aggies as well as teams that visit Lubbock in the future.

Commenting on the plan, Wayne Underwood, vice president of the Student Assn., said "We want to give everyone the kind of welcome we would want if we visited his school."

Representatives from the Saddle Tramps and the Hospitality Committee of the Tech Union met the Aggie football team at the Lubbock Municipal Airport last night.

The corps will be welcomed this afternoon at the Santa Fe Train Depot by representatives from the Student Council, Saddle Tramps, Union Program Council, Hospitality Committee, Junior Council and Town Girls. Coffee will be served.

This afternoon before the game, cheerleaders and campus officers of Tech and A&M will meet to discuss sportsmanship, student government and other items.

The Aggies will spend tonight at Reese AFB and return to College Station tomorrow.

Deadline Nears For 'Murals

Entries for women's volleyball intramurals are now being accepted. Dorms and organizations interested in sponsoring a team should contact their sports manager by Oct. 9.

The volleyball tournament is set for Oct. 16. Those teams wishing to practice this week and next should sign up on the Intramural Board in the Women's Gym.

Archery and tennis events are now under way, with the first round of archery having been shot. The deadline for first rounds in the tennis event is Oct. 10.

Other intramural events scheduled for this semester are badminton, table tennis, and bowling. For additional information, contact Miss Carol Baughman, Rm. 115, Women's Gym.

New Magazine Makes Debut

Campus Illustrated, a new magazine printed with the college student in mind, has recently gone on sale.

Articles in the September issue cover subjects ranging from a debate on the merits of the Peace Corps to a picture story of our two newest universities — Alaska and Hawaii.

Sports cars, music, books, bridge and college news from all parts of the country are topics which will receive regular coverage in Campus Illustrated.

This magazine is being sold at colleges throughout the country by student representatives on a commission basis. A sales representative is still needed at Tech. For further information students may write to Campus Illustrated, 805 15th St., N. W., Washington 5, D. C.

Union-Sponsored Field Day Features Egg, Sack Races

Students will have a chance to watch fellow Techsans running down a field in burlap sacks and balancing eggs in spoons at the Raider Olympics today.

The Olympics, the first All-School Field Day sponsored by the Tech Union, will begin at 1 p.m. at the Intramural Football Fields 1 and 2.

Teams representing dorms and off-campus groups will compete in events such as the Egg and Spoon

Relay, Three-Legged Race and Dizzy Izzy Race.

Each men's dorm is allowed two teams and the women's dorms are allowed three.

"The Olympics should promise some good, old-fashioned fun and a lot of good spirit for all," Jack Shisler, chairman of the Tech Union Public Relations Committee, said.

Spectators may enjoy the events as much as the participants, if they manage to dodge galloping racers and flying eggs.

Tech's Friendliness Impresses Teacher

By BRONSON HAVARD
Toreador Staff Writer

"The friendly atmosphere, I noticed that right away," replied William T. Patterson, assistant professor of foreign language, when asked what impressed him most about Tech on his arrival here to begin his first year of college teaching.

Patterson, who holds a BA degree from the University of Kansas and M.Ed. in French from Pennsylvania State University, explained, "The students are very friendly. It's quite different from the cold impersonal atmosphere of student life at Penn State." As if almost in disbelief he added, "You don't even have to know them for them to speak to you."

In speaking of all the people he has met, he said, "I have always thought that southern hospitality was a myth. I feel the expression 'southern hospitality' is more applicable to Texans than most other southerners."

Born in Mississippi but reared in Leavenworth, Kan., Patterson comes to Tech after completion of a two-year hitch in the Air Force. He received Fulbright and French fellowships to attend the French university and was awarded a "Certificate de Etudes Francaise" on completing his studies. In the Air Force he was assigned to psychological research.

Now firmly established as an instructor of French, he has enthusiastically taken up various activities here. He's the sponsor of Le Cercle Francais and the faculty supervisor of the language laboratory.

"I am extremely interested in phonetics. I believe especially in French it is very necessary to learn the phonetics involved," he added.

On commenting on his observations of Tech students he said, "I expected the students to have had a wider cultural development in high school. I think that most students have a tendency to follow too close along their major studies instead of attaining a more liberal education."

About the maturity of Techsans, Patterson noted, "I can't see from the maturity standpoint that they are not equal to other college students." After explaining that Tech students are like students everywhere on this point, he concluded, "I don't think students have been given the responsibility by parents and teachers that they are capable of assuming."

As the interview grew to an end, Patterson left this thought: "The students are now attaining more and the opportunities to acquire more in a short time are greater now than their predecessors had in a life time."

UNION ADDITION WORK PROGRESSES
... workmen install modern cooling system

Newer, Larger Union Opens In February

By JIM ARGO
Toreador Staff Writer

From the drawing board in 1957 to the final completion, now tentatively set for February of 1962, marks the progress of the addition to the Tech Union.

The project, which started five years ago, will be like a dream-come-true to Tech students and faculty members.

The new addition will house a large ballroom, a cafeteria, several new offices and meeting rooms, a faculty room, a game room and a second newsstand.

The expansion was designed to meet the growing needs of the campus and provide better facilities for the students.

The ground-breaking ceremonies were held last September, at which both college officials and students took part. The day was designated as "Big Day" and the members of the Student Union Program Council did the actual ground-breaking.

However the planning goes back to November of 1957 when the board of directors authorized the drafting of plans for a $1 million expansion program for the crowded Tech Union.

In drafting the plans, the board authorized the work to be done by Atcheson, Atkinson and Cartwright of Lubbock and the designers of the present structure, Davis, Foster, Thorpe and Associates, El Paso.

In April 1960, Lyndon B. Johnson, then just a senator, Senator Ralph Yarborough and Representative George Mahon, notified Tech officials that a federal loan application had been approved for $910,000.

The remaining balance would be paid from the accumulation of money through the college book store and campus concessions.

The expanded wing will display the same style of Spanish architecture that has been used in the past. However the inside will show a new, clean and modern look.

The addition is attached to the southwest side of the Union building and extends south toward the Music Building. An aerial view would show the completed Union in the shape of an "L."

The overall project will increase the building to almost three times its present size. Presently, the Union contains 33,000 sq. ft. and the addition will bring the overall size to 88,000 sq. ft.

The lower floor of the new structure will house a new ballroom, quarters for the Tech Faculty Club, a cafeteria, offices, a large foyer, a patio and a second newsstand.

The second floor will contain seven meeting rooms, which will double the number of rooms used for smaller group meetings.

The basement will house a game room and two 800-ton air conditioners, which will be used to cool both the Union and new library across the street.

The new ballroom will be twice the size of the present one. It will seat up to 500 people and can be divided by a curtain to accommodate a crowd two-thirds that size.

Luncheon can be served in the ballroom from the new cafeteria, located adjacent to it.

The old ballroom will still be used for smaller group functions. Second run movies will be shown here because of the permanent projection booth.

The new cafeteria, situated on the west side of the new wing, will be able to serve better-prepared meals to the students. More than $16,000 will be spent on new kitchen equipment.

The new rooms on the first floor will contain offices for the Ex-Students Assn. and their staffs.

The game area, located in the basement, will offer students six pool tables, eight table tennis tables and several shuffle boards.

The older wing, which was built in 1953, will show a slightly remodeled appearance.

Enlarged and newly decorated offices will house the student union director's office and program director's office.

The old newsstand will be moved directly opposite from its present location. It will be the same size as the new one, which will be in the new foyer.

The present snack bar will be used only to serve coffee, soft drinks, rolls and sandwiches.

A new feature will be taped music played throughout the Union.

The Union expansion is part of an extensive construction program for new academic and general purpose buildings, totaling more than $8 million.

State Discusses Proposed Textbooks

Austin (P)—The State Textbook Committee discussed in secret session Friday books proposed for use by Texas public schools. The book list included volumes opposed by an ultra-conservative society, the Texans for America.

A spokesman said the group's choice of five books for each of several school courses will be announced in a public meeting Thursday.

The committee recommendations must be approved by the State Board of Education.

Guy West, assistant director of the Texas education agency's textbook division, said to his knowledge J. Evetts Haley, spokesman for the Texans for America, was not in town during the meeting.

Haley spoke against 14 proposed texts at the committee's public hearing Sept. 14.

Booklet Outlines Events In Texas

AUSTIN (AP)—The Highway Department has released a new edition of the booklet, Texas Calendar of Events.

The calendar contains comprehensive listings of cultural and sports events that will take place in Texas from October through April. Published twice annually by the department, the pamphlet is compiled with the cooperation of the Texas Chamber of Commerce.

Tom H. Taylor, director of travel and information, said the calendar of events is part of the state travel promotion program.

Politics And Bridge Confusing Ain't It?

By BILL HEARD
Toreador Staff Writer

"... and don't come back till you do," the editor screamed at me as I scurried from the J-building in search of a story for a copy-less Saturday edition.

Slowing down to a walk by the Chemistry Bldg., I scanned my brains for ideas. "The Union," I thought to myself, "is a gathering place for the intelligentsia. Surely there I can get opinions on the world situation."

Spying a table of four students in a dim corner I hid myself over, whipped out my notes and began the interview.

"Do you think the Russians had a hand in the Dag plane crash?" I asked North.

"One spade," she said.

"What kind of answer is that?" I thought and turning to East, "Do you . . ."

"I pass."

"Oh . . . South, who do you think did it?"

"Two clubs."

"Two clubs? Which two clubs? You mean like the Mau Mau or something?"

No answer from him except a glassy look. West, however was kind enough to add, "I pass."

Trying another tactac, I asked, "Who do you favor for the next United Nations secretary-general?"

"Two hearts."

"Pass."

"Three diamonds."

Florida State Adopts New Absence Rule

TALLAHASSEE, FLA. (IP)—A more liberal policy on absences from classes before and after holidays was adopted by the Council of Deans at Florida State University. Students who plan to be absent more than one day at vacations will no longer need permission from their dean. Absences before and after holidays will be treated just as any other absence, Dean of Students R. R. Oglesby announced here. He pointed out the policy change actually puts dealing with absences back into the hands of the professors involved.

As with other absences, class attendance is voluntary on the part of the student, with no limit on cuts set by the administration. However, professors may report extreme numbers of absences to the deans of men and women, who may put the student involved on required attendance.

Dean Oglesby promised that the administration would support any reasonable measure adopted by a professor to combat excessive absences at holidays. Two years ago a policy of automatically cutting one-sixth course credit for anyone absent before or after holidays was discontinued.

Abolishment of the 'horsecollar rule' meant students could miss a class without suffering if his professor agreed but needed permission of a dean to miss more than one day.

"Pass."
Obviously I had lost control of the interview. How could anyone get such answers to perfectly simple questions? Glancing around the table I noticed plates of cold food and dirty cards dripping barbeque sauce that had been part of the day's menu.

Perhaps I was in the Twilight Zone and these people couldn't see or hear me. This was frightening. I decided to hit them with a barrage of questions; maybe that way I could attract some attention.

"Do you think Nixon will beat Brown for governor of California? Is Cuba near collapse, in your opinion? Do you think Tech's enrolling 10,000 students will help it gain the title of University? Do you think the Berlin wall will cause the East Germans to revolt?"

"Three no trump."

"Pass."

"Four clubs."

"Well, did you get a story? Huh, did you?" my editor asked as I staggered into the press room.

"I pass," I mumbled, and collapsed into a chair.

RAIDER APPEARS SATURDAY NIGHT—Tech's 1961 Red Raider will make his initial appearance in Jones Stadium when the Tech football squad clashes with A&M Saturday night. Kelley Waggoner, senior agricultural student from Henderson, will ride as the Red Raider—Tech's official mascot—this year.

LUCKY STRIKE presents:

LUCKY STRIKE TUFFERS

"THE FRESHMEN"

"Get a kid away from home, send him off to college, and right away, look what happens."

"I'd keep out of there, Frosh. That's the School of Pyrotechnics."

"Hurry up, Harry. You'll be late for the Freshman Smoker."

"This is your dormitory, Clyde. You'll share it with 19 other boys."

SOPHOMORES, JUNIORS, SENIORS: DON'T TREAD ON FRESHMEN! They have been known to become employers. A freshman wants, above all, to be inaugurated into your world. Walk him to class, teach him longhand, explain how the Ph.D. wears his tassel, introduce him to Luckies (and tell him how college students smoke more Luckies than any other regular). You'll be a bigger man, and you'll be able to borrow Luckies from him any time.

CHANGE TO LUCKIES and get some taste for a change!
