

Parisians egg HHH's goodwill

While Johnson says 'lower ugly walls'

PARIS (AP) — Demonstrators dogged Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey's visit to Paris today with eggs, paint and anti-Vietnam shouts. Twice they clashed violently with police.

SEEKING TO REVITALIZE sagging U.S.-French relations, Humphrey heard the noisy demonstrators but his movement across the city on his official visit was unimpeded and he appeared chipper and relaxed.

The bloodiest fighting between demonstrators and police broke out as Humphrey returned to his hotel on the Place de la Concorde at the end of a busy day "every day as good as I expected," as he put it.

Police had barricaded the place so that Humphrey entered the hotel without incident, but hundreds of demonstrators stood behind the barricades with signs saying "Humphrey murderer" and "Peace in Vietnam."

THE CROWDS GREW UNRULY and exchanged blows with police. Several youths, blood streaming from their faces, were taken away by police. One policeman was knocked down, his face bleeding.

Several youths wrenched metal bars supporting the awning of a florist shop and used them to fight police.

The first fight broke out at the Arch of Triumph when Humphrey arrived from his talks with President Charles de Gaulle to lay a wreath at the tomb of France's unknown soldier.

A CROWD GATHERED AROUND the arch shouted "U.S. murderers" and "Peace in Vietnam." Police waded into the crowd and fighting broke out but in this case there were no serious injuries.

The demonstrators were spurred by the official Communist party organ L'Humanite and by tracts and banners. The instructions were followed from the time Humphrey arrived from Berlin until he retired to his hotel.

For three days L'Humanite had published encouragement for party followers to greet Humphrey in a way that he would know "French public opinion is against American aggression in Vietnam." Most French Communists, and L'Humanite, are pro-Moscow.

HUMPHREY, ON THE NEXT-to-last leg of a seven-nation trip through Europe, did not seem perturbed by the demonstrations which broke out as he toured through the city. On the foreign ministry steps, after a talk with foreign minister Maurice Couve de Murville, he summed up his visit by saying "it was a very helpful and instructive day."

Meanwhile in Washington President Johnson was saying that largely because of NATO's success "we can try to lower that ugly line of walls and watch towers that defaces the map of Europe."

Speaking in the White House Cabinet room to members of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization nuclear planning group, Johnson said the Atlantic nations will continue to be "the mighty force for peace NATO was intended to be" if they can handle the awesome military power of the atom.

HE CALLED NATO a successful deterrent and said its members, together, had made it clear in Europe that military aggression will not pay.

"Largely because of NATO's success," he said, "it is now possible to push ahead together with the positive works of peace."

"WE CAN SEEK TO RESOLVE some of the bitter controversies which for centuries have divided neighbors," he said.

At the same time, he added, the military links in NATO continue to be vital to the security of its members and the security of the rest of the world.

The President met for 30 minutes with representatives of this country, Canada, Great Britain, Turkey, Italy, West Germany and the Netherlands, plus NATO's Secretary General Manlio Brosio. This group is a sort of executive committee set up last December by NATO. It had just closed out its first session—a meeting Johnson called historic.

He told reporters there was no mention of troop strength in Europe or the matter of cutting down on American forces there. Asked whether he used the occasion to offer assurances that the United States, in talks with Russia, will do all it can to end the arms race, Johnson said that did not come up.

DPS ignores court order

Mark Smith, attorney for three men involved in charges of possession of marijuana, told the University Daily that the polygraph test requested by the youths had been ordered by Justice of the Peace George H. McClesky but had been refused them by Department of Public (DPS) officials.

THE ORDER WAS ISSUED Monday, but when the three, accompanied by their attorney, presented themselves for the test the order was not followed, Smith said.

DPS officials said they would not administer the test unless Dist. Atty. Alton Griffin requested it.

Smith said that many state officials—including Sens. A. M. Aiken and Bill Grady Hazelwood of Amarillo and Bill Moore of Bryan—requested DPS Head Homer Garrison to authorize the examinations.

THE CASE WILL REMAIN UP in the air until the 137th grand jury convenes next month. The three were never brought before an examining jury to see if they would be bound over to a grand jury.

Dist. Atty Griffin did not want to make a statement as to why he refused a polygraph test.

"I simply did not see fit to request a polygraph test in this case and that is it," he said.

Name change, flag may be board topics

The recently-formed student committee on the name-change issue Friday sent a letter to Board of Directors Chairman Roy Furr requesting a meeting with the board "to learn of plans and recommendations which the board has concerning this matter."

The board meets here today.

The letter said the committee has been "empowered to act as a liaison between the board and the students." It has been given the power to conduct student polls or elections.

The text of the letter follows:

"REALIZING THE DEFINITE need for university status of Texas Technological College, the Student Senate appointed a committee to represent the student body and to present the student body's opinions and views concerning the name-change to the Board of Directors.

"These students have been empowered to work as a liaison between the board and the students, contingent upon the board's acceptance of the committee's right to act in such a capacity.

"We respectfully request an opportunity to meet with the board or some of its members as soon as possible to learn of plans and recommendations which the board has concerning this matter."

A REPLY HAD NOT BEEN received as of late Friday afternoon.

The board is scheduled to meet in the Anniversary Room of the Union to consider the design for the proposed $6 million museum complex and to approve the flag design voted on by the student body.

The board is also expected to consider some possible extensions concerning the mandatory retirement age of 70.

REPORTS FROM ITS COMMITTEES on academic affairs, campus and building, finance and public relations, and the Executive committee will be heard.

Tech President Grover E. Murray also will present a report to the board. The proposed new museum complex, is to include a Central Unit, Agriculture-Industrial Gallery, Planetarium, Main Exhibit Gallery, Auditorium, Sculpture Court, and several outdoor exhibits.

In order to become a board member, a student must enter the Mademoiselle College Board Competition. The first step in the competition is becoming a correspondent and college "informant" for Mademoiselle. The ultimate goal is the Guest Editorship. Twenty girls are chosen from the final entrants.

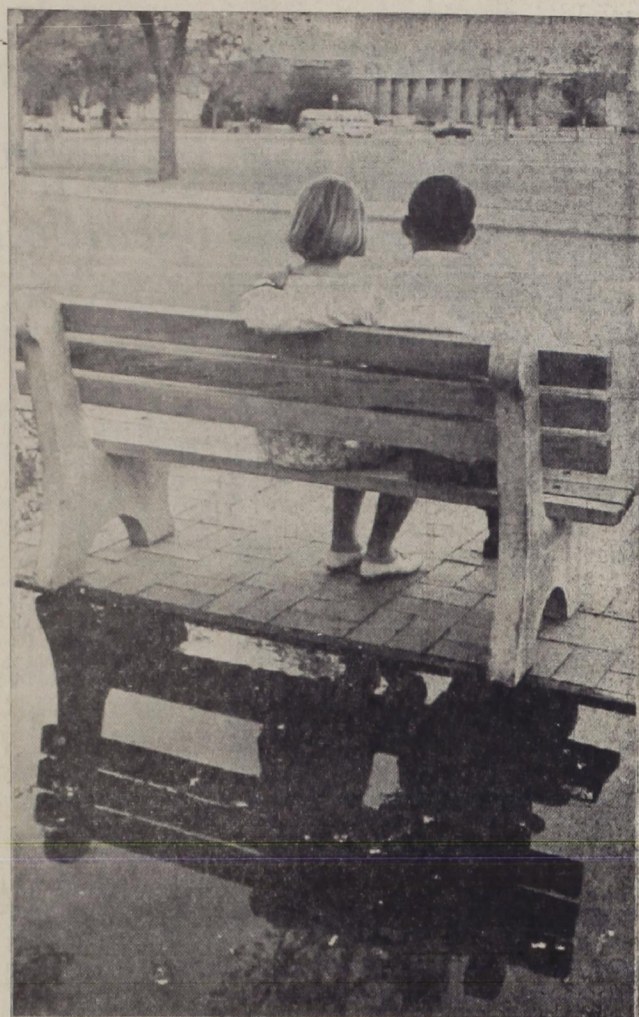

These girls receive paid positions working in MLL's New York office for the summer. They are "wined and dined," and are given a complete beauty make-over. The chosen twenty publish the August issue of the magazine.

TECH'S REPRESENTATIVES ON THE Board are Ann Caldwell, Sue Beauman, Lynne Morgan, Katie O'Neill, and Linda Thorsen. Also attending the luncheon were Dr. Elizabeth Sasser, Mrs. Dorothy Pijan, Mrs. J. H. Jenkins, and Dr. Mary S. Carlock.

In her soft North Carolina drawl, Mrs. Henderson told the girls that the greatest advantage of her visits is that she becomes no longer just "Mademoiselle Magazine" and the school no longer just Texas Tech, but the worlds of fashion and college become real and the board members begin to realize that the staff of a magazine feels and thinks and eats just like themselves.

Mrs. Henderson, the associate College Competitions editor for Mademoiselle, is a 1960 graduate of the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill.

SHE HAS B.A. DEGREES in English and Social Studies and taught school before she went to work for MLL.

Galbraith to outline modern foreign policy

Harvard economist John Kenneth Galbraith will outline his plan for "A Modern Foreign Policy" for Tech students and faculty as the concluding speaker in this year's University Speakers Series.

A NATIVE OF CANADA, Galbraith has lived in the United States since 1931. He received his BA degree from the University of Toronto and his master's and PhD degrees from the University of California at Berkeley.

Recently elected as national chairman of the Americans for Democratic Action, Galbraith's governmental and economic positions and publications

HE SERVED AS DIRECTOR of the State Department of Economic Security Policy, a consultant for the Department of Agriculture and was U.S. ambassador to India from 1961-63.

The program will begin at 7:15 p.m. in the Municipal Auditorium.

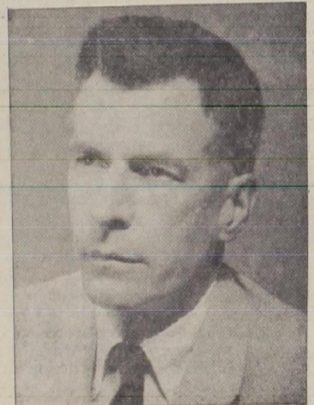

Ex-Techsan cited for duty in Time

Sondra Williams, a 1960 graduate of Tech, was cited in the April 7 edition of Time Magazine for her work in Vietnam.

MISS WILLIAMS, WHO majored in Home Economics, teaches sewing and cooking at Ben Me Thuot, 160 miles northeast of Saigon. She is one of 250 members of International Voluntary Services (IVS), a private edition of the Peace Corps. Before joining IVS, she served two years in the Philippines with the Peace Corps.

IVS was founded in 1953 and, according to Dr. Elle, Peace Corps director in Lubbock, has the same type objectives as the Peace Corps.

THE SAIGON GOVERNMENT contributes $150,000 a year to support IVS. About $1.5 million annually comes from the U.S. AID. The two-year volunteers receive $80 a month plus a small clothing and vacation allowance.

'MLLE' editor visits Tech college board girls

By LINDA THORSEN

Staff Writer

"There just wasn't time to say everything that could be said or see all that there is to see . . ."

Mrs. Jacqueline Henderson from Mademoiselle Magazine could only spend one day in Lubbock

FOR THE FIVE COLLEGE BOARD members at Tech, the afternoon with the magazine representative went too quickly. Mrs. Henderson was pried with questions, rushed around town, and introduced to everyone who happened to walk by her.

Texas Tech was the last stop on the flurried trip she is making to promote Mademoiselle and meet College Board members at various colleges in United States. In the past two weeks, she has visited Brigham Young College, the University of Kansas, several universities in California, and the University of Arizona.

She arrived in Lubbock at 2 a.m. Friday and was greeted at the airport by the news that somewhere her luggage had gone astray. However, she managed to look bright and neat when she met President Murray at 10 a.m. Friday—and her enthusiasm didn't seem to lag as she was ushered all around campus. ("I'll probably fall apart tonight, though," she admitted to her group of admiring followers).

OVER A LUNCHEON IN THE executive room at the Tech Union, she told of the opportunities awaiting promising girls in the magazine field and assured College Board members that their opportunities were greater than non-board members because of their position at Mademoiselle.

In order to become a board member, a student must enter the Mademoiselle College Board Competition. The first step in the competition is becoming a correspondent and college "informant" for Mademoiselle. The ultimate goal is the Guest Editorship. Twenty girls are chosen from the final entrants.

These girls receive paid positions working in MLL's New York office for the summer. They are "wined and dined," and are given a complete beauty make-over. The chosen twenty publish the August issue of the magazine.

Selecting series speakers arduous task for committee

Over a period of months, letters were mailed from the Tech University Speaker Series Committee to Paul Tillich, religious philosopher, requesting him to address Tech students on religion.

No reply was received. After resorting to a long distance phone call, Dean of Student Life and committee chairman, James C. Allen received an acceptance from the philosopher. Two weeks later Tillich was dead.

This was not the first time the committee, created in July of 1965 had been disappointed. The process of bringing reputable speakers to Tech in an arduous one, involving many steps.

Committee members prepare personal lists of people they would like to see come to Tech. All suggestions are researched and evaluated before a final list is compiled. Then the process, Allen refers to as "the continuing attack on people we would like to have come to Tech," begins.

AN AVERAGE of eight to 12 letters are written concerning each invitation and acceptance. Allen estimates that, since the committee's beginning, 500 letters have been mailed to possible guests.

"We don't want people who come at the drop of a hat. We want vital, busy people with tight schedules. They represent the creative," said Allen.

SELECTIONS are not limited to national personalities, but include the internationally famous as well. Invitations have been extended to Canada's Marshall McLuhan, an authority on communication problems, and to English author C. P. Snow.

"We won't let anyone pick us," said Allen. "We are suspicious of anyone who volunteers. He may come to exploit us."

SPEAKERS are not invited one week or month and expected to speak the next. They receive an invitation to appear anytime, stated Allen, and they are booked as much as two years in advance. Timing is a necessary element of the committee's strategy. Speaker Series members are waiting for Peggy Guggenheim to return to New York from Italy before inviting her to Tech.

"WE DO NOT expect her to get in her gondola and leave Italy, but we do think that she is back in New York she may consider coming to Lubbock," explained Allen.

ALLEN INDICATED that the committee is not looking for entertainers, but for people who are articulate and can speak on issues significant to students in 1967.

Modern medicine education is theme for Pre-Med Day

"Education for Modern Medicine" is the theme of today's tenth annual Pre-Med Day, on the Tech campus.

The program is planned to give information concerning pre-medical training and work in medical and dental schools to high school and college students.

DISCUSSIONS on topics of interest to prospective medical and dental students will be given throughout the day by many outstanding men in the field of medical education.

They include: DR. JAMES R. Schofield, academic dean at Baylor University College of Medicine in Houston; Billy B. Rankin, assistant to the dean of student affairs at the University of Texas Medical Branch in Galveston; Dr. Ben C. McKinney, associate dean at the University of Texas Dental Branch in Houston.

Dr. Roy F. McCasland, past president of the Texas Dental Association and representative of Baylor University College of Dentistry in Dallas; and Dr. Edward Worthen, representative of the University of Texas Southwestern Medical School at Dallas.

THERE WILL also be conferences for high school, pre-dental and pre-medical students in their respective fields beginning at 2:45 p.m.

Dr. Schofield will be the speaker at the annual awards banquet tonight at 6:30 p.m. in the Coronado Room of the Tech Union. Tickets are $2.25 each and can be purchased from any member of Alpha Epsilon Delta or the Pre-Med Society, who sponsor Pre-Med Day.

a.m. in the Coronado Room of the Tech Union and the discussion programs will begin about 9:45.

Beauty-Beast contest

Next Saturday night the atmosphere in the Union Ballroom will be like "A Night in New Orleans" as Alpha Phi Omega sponsors its annual Beauty and the Beast Dance.

The Vicounts, a seven member brass, string, and percussion group from Amarillo, will play for the non-profit all-school dance, which will complete Beauty and the Beast election week.

Any sponsored Tech man or woman may be a contestant for the title of "Beauty" or "Beast." Entry forms and the $5 entry fee at the Alpha Phi Omega lost and found in the Tech Union by 6 p.m. today.

The service fraternity will have voting polls in the foyer of the Union. Photographs of the contestants will be on display Monday, lasting until 9 p.m. Saturday.

The fraternity raises money for its service projects through the votes cast for the candidates. Every penny placed in the candidate's jar will count one vote for his election.

Johnson chosen grant recipient

Dale Johnson has been named recipient of the Lynn Prater Memorial Scholarship as announced by the Texas Tech Rodeo Association.

The $500 grant is given by the association in memory of Lynn Prater, a Tech student killed in an auto accident between semesters of this year.

PRATER was an active member of the Rodeo Club and took an interest in staging and participating in college rodeos.

"He always made work more enjoyable with his great sense of humor and did quite a bit for the benefit of the club itself. This is the reason we have chosen to award a scholarship in his memory," said Jack Horn, vice-president of the Rodeo Club.

JOHNSON, a senior animal husbandry major from Tribune, Kans., was selected on the basis of his competitive ability, need, and deservance.

Last year, Johnson was the all-around cowboy of the Southwestern region competition in five events. This year he is in second place for the all-around honors.

CHOSEN by the Association's Board of Directors, the recipient need not be a senior, but must have at least a 2.5 GPA. The scholarship will be given annually.

NEW UNION OFFICERS—Lorry Pleasant and Sandra Start have been elected to positions in the Student Union. Pleasant was elected secretary-treasurer and Miss Start, director of the arts and design council.

SING A SONG OF ICASALS—A touch of controversy fills the air as a pair of Texas Techsons raise their voices in song about ICASALS and football helmets. All of the frolic is just a sample of the goings on that will be tonight's Hootenanny in the Tech Union.

In addition to detecting possible tuberculosis, the chest x-ray is sensitive to certain heart ailments, tumors, and emphysema.

ALTHOUGH there is no charge for the x-ray service, donations are appreciated by the association. The actual expense for taking and processing each x-ray is 97 cents.

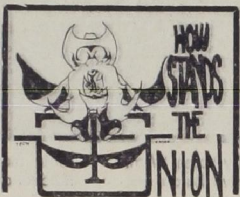

Today the x-ray unit will be in front of the Tech Union and Monday it will move to the front of the West Engineering Building.

— An editorial — Unify the effort

Texas Tech will have a medical school, the Coordinating Board said earlier this week, but no one's saying where or when. Although the message was a definite setback to those working toward an immediate medical school in Lubbock, it is encouraging in the long run.

The Board recommended that Tech become the "university base" for medical teaching facilities in West Texas using "clinical facilities as they are built and staffed in appropriate cities." What this means has not definitely been made clear, but it apparently refers to a multi-city medical school, possibly including Amarillo, Lubbock and El Paso under direction of the Tech Board of Directors. Such a system would be something new in medical education, and it would keep any one city from being entirely left out of medical school "benefits."

The Board made no indication as to when such an operation would begin other than when "clinical facilities are built and staffed." Presumably, this points to Lubbock's proposed hospital district and charity hospital and means that establishment of a medical school here is contingent upon these events. The Board apparently was not satisfied with temporary facilities at Methodist Hospital. The City of Lubbock is working toward separate facilities, but they are still several years in the future.

The Coordinating Board seems to be trying to pull together all offers for a medical school in West Texas. This is a notable request, and we hope those involved will make every attempt to comply. It appears such a unified effort is needed before a medical school and/or clinics are established anywhere.

Law Dean participating in Canadian law meet

Dean of Law Richard B. Armandes is attending the Conference of Western Law Schools at the University of British Columbia, Vancouver, Canada.

The conference is composed of law schools from 11 western states.

IT IS designed to deal with comparisons between Canadian and American law and legal education. Just as there are differences in law among the various states in this country, there are differences between general law in the United States and that of Canada.

This year's meeting, in Vancouver, also provides the setting for a comparison of the position of legal education within universities of America and Canada.

TOPICS to be covered are appointment procedure, promotion and tenure, salary and leave policies.

Others are fringe benefits, outside consultation, and employment policies of the university.

Raiders scrimmage today

John Q. Public will get his first chance to catch a glimpse of a preview showing of the 1967 Red Raider grid team at 4 p.m. today in Jones Stadium.

THE SCRIMMAGE, originally scheduled for 2:30 p.m., was set back to 4 so the Tech coaching staff could attend the funeral of J.E. (Buddy) Gillham, a long-time supporter of Tech athletics, in Brownfield.

It will be "amateur hour" this afternoon as the younger grid aspirants will have the game to themselves. The senior team members will put on pads Tuesday and participate in their first scrimmage April 22.

THE TITLE "Amateur Hour" is pretty much misleading, however, since the combined talent of Coach JT King's junior charges is the best Tech has had in many a year.

Among the ninety men out for spring training, 32 are returning lettermen. Then there are the members of an undefeated freshman team. Added to this batch are several top prospects from last season's red shirt squad and a few top notch junior college transfer students.

The scrimmage will closely resemble a formal football game except for a few points. First, instead of kickoffs, the ball will be placed on the 35-yard line following touch-downs and at the first of each half. Second, a fair catch will be made on all punts.

THERE ARE two main reasons for this. The Raiders haven't worked on punt returns or kickoff returns as of yet. Besides, there is more of a threat of injuries on both kick-offs and returns.

The only other thing that will be different is that six periods will be played instead of four. This will give the coaching staff more of a chance to look over the team.

In case the coaching staff misses out on seeing something, films of the scrimmage will be made so King and his assistants will be able to scrutinize each man.

"I EXPECT things will be pretty ragged for this first outing," King said. "We've only had six workouts and we're still in the process of deciding who should play what position."

Defense, the area hardest hit by graduation, will be one of the key areas for evaluation.

"THIS IS an area where we will be doing a lot of switching around," King said. "We've got plenty of men with the potential to be starters, but we've got to figure out where they are best suited to play. Of course we've got some men from last season's squad such as Bill Adams, Gene Darr, Pat Knight, Jim Moylan and Ronnie Rhoades who we know can play good defensive ball, so we're not as bad off defensively as some folks think."

WITH the absence of seniors John Scovell, Mike Leinert and Kenny Baker, several offensive hopefuls such as Roger Freeman, Kevin Ormes, Jimmy Bennet and Alan Schriewer will be gunning for a top spot.

Blessed with a strong line, good ends and plenty of depth in the backfield the '67 Raiders could well be molded into another top offensive team.

Golf pros falter in Masters

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP) Erratic Bert Yancey clung to a shaky one-stroke lead as Jack Nicklaus collapsed under an avalanche of bogeys and Arnold Palmer failed to find his putting fire Friday in the second round of the 31st Masters Golf Tournament.

The heavily favored Nicklaus, record holder and bidder for an unprecedented third straight title, skied to a 79, with nine bogeys, for 151, which failed to survive the midway cut.

IT MARKED the first time in the tournament's history a champion had missed playing the final two rounds.

"Everything I did was wrong," Big Jack said. "My luck left me."

Palmer had a different kind of desertion — his famous Army, he said — as he shot his second straight 73 for 146. "I've had only two birdies in two days," he said.

YANCEY, the 28-year-old former West Pointer playing in the Masters for the first time, had a crazy-quilt collection of seven bogeys, six birdies and five pars for a 73 and a 36-hole score of 140.

Bunched just a shot back of him at 141 were red hot Gay Brewer, the sensation of the spring tour, with a 68; 48-year-old Julius Boros, two-time winner of the American Open; Bobby Nichols, strapping ex-footballer and former PGA king from Louisville, Ky., and England's boy wonder, 22-year-old Tony Jacklin, all with 70s.

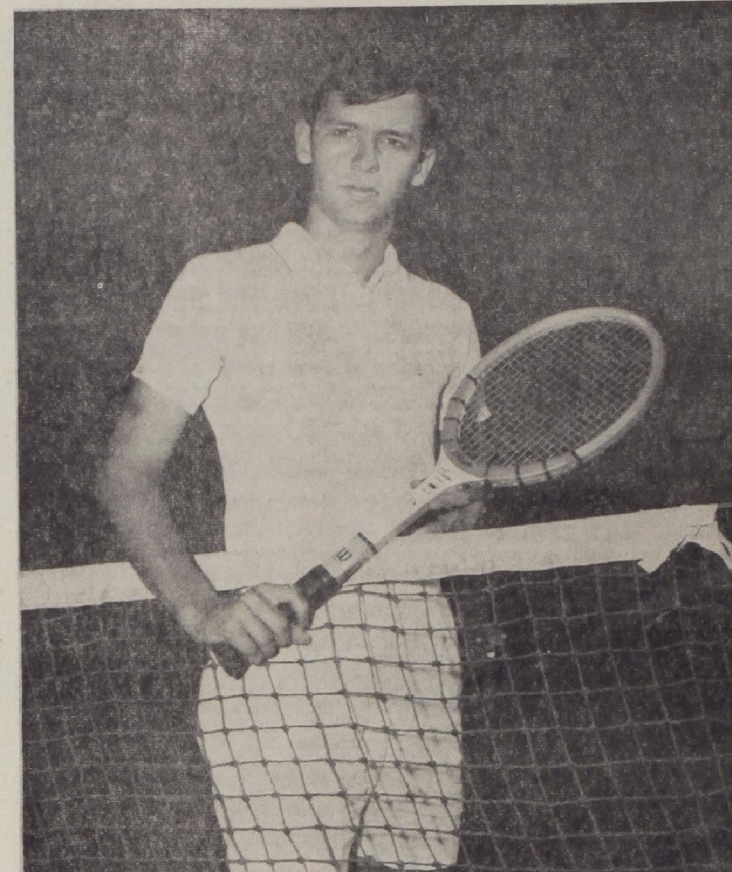

THE DAY'S best round—a 67—went to stringbean George Archer, winner of last week's Greater Greensboro Open and a Masters first timer, who moved within two strokes of first place at 142.

Tommy Aaron, a hard luck pro regular, and former winner Doug Ford were next at 143 after rounds of 68 and 69, respectively, and the foreign menace occupied the 144 bracket where South Africa's Gary Player, Australia's Bruce Devlin and grayling Paul Harney of Sutton, Mass., were in a three-way tie.

PLAYER, who interrupted Palmer-Nicklaus monopoly with a victory in 1961, came off the course steaming mad over the condition of the fairways, sharply criticized Thursday by the other two members of the Big Three.

"Never in a major championship have I seen the grass so high," Player said. "It grabs the ball and you get a flier on every shot. It's impossible."

"But I still think I'm going to win here. Two 68s will win, and I can do it."

RAIDERS' BIG GUN—Murphy Yates, Wichita Falls junior, is one of five Raider netmen slated to see action in today's round-robin match with Baylor University. The Raiders are 6-1 in dual match play.

Tennis team tackles Baylor Bears today

By GEORGE CHAFFEE
Sports Editor

If Coach George Philbrick needed anything to motivate his tennis team for their match with the Baylor Bears today, he could always resort to revenge.

For last year, Baylor handed the Red Raiders a 4-2 defeat, the Bears' first triumph ever in Southwest Conference play over Tech. The loss resulted in the Raiders finishing in the lower division for the first time since beginning SWC play in 1958.

However, motivating the team should be Philbrick's easiest job at the 2 p.m. match today. The Raider netmen were buoyed by a startling 4-2 victory over Rice—the first in history by a Tech team over the Owl netters—in the conference opener here last Saturday.

The win—to say the least—has been a tremendous shot in the arm for the Red Raiders.

"I can't remember when I've ever coached a team so high in spirit," Philbrick claimed. "They've been working hard all season; in fact, I'm worried they might get overworked."

While Philbrick isn't fretting over his team's spirit, he is concerned over Baylor.

"This match could have a big bearing on the SWC championship," he said. "I'm sure it will be a key match for us. Baylor's been hot so far in dual matches, and if they're hot tomorrow, we'll have a tough time."

Looking at the record book, Philbrick's fears are well based. Baylor defeated Texas, the pre-season pick to run off with the SWC crown, 4-2 in the first SWC dual match, then whipped TCU, another conference tennis power, 5-1. Lloyd Carl, the Bear's top singles man, defeated the defending SWC singles champion Ted Gorski in the Texas match.

"I think both teams are evenly matched," Philbrick said. "As a matter of fact, we could win it 6-0 or they could win by the same score. It's just that close."

The Raiders are faced with a slight injury problem going into their second SWC dual match. Junior Pat Acton, the No. 3 man, has re-strained some muscles in his "tennis arm" and may only play one match. Acton will play his singles match, then if his arm is too sore, will sit out the doubles competition. Texas Tech is 6-1 in dual match play, having downed Hardin-Simmons twice, Oklahoma, Oklahoma City, Rice and Abilene Christian. The Raiders only loss came at the hands of New Mexico.

Although comments of this type are usually left out of a game story, Philbrick made it clear the team needed some support when he said, "Would you say something to get folks to come out to the match? These kids have worked too hard this season to play before just a handful of people. Besides, tennis is a great spectator sport."

SPORTS

SWC thinclads set new marks

Nineteen sixty-six was recognized as a vintage year in Southwest Conference track and field (five SWC meet records fell), yet in 20 events common to the 1966 and 1967 seasons current top performances are superior in 13, equal in three and trailing only in four! (This includes 2-mile relay, which inadvertently was omitted from accompanying best marks for 1967).

Led by Randy Matson, leading field performers are ahead of the 1966 pace in all six events, and the 1966 full-season bests have been surpassed in all but the shot put. Matson's 69-2½ at the 1966 Coliseum Relays surpasses his 1967 best by a mere 5¼ inches.

FOUR SWC meet records have been bettered in four events: by Baylor's Walter Reyna in the three-mile, 14:22.3 (14:32.0), by Rice in the mile relay, 3:08.2 (3:08.5), by Matson in the discus throw, 201-1 (199-7½) and by Mark King of Texas in the pole vault, 16-2¼ (16-0).

Top performances for the season were accomplished last week by Rice in the 880 and mile relays and by Ricki Jacobs in the javelin throw, by Baylor in the distance medley, by Texas in the two-mile relay, by Baylor's Joe Ratliff in the intermediate hurdles, by Mark King in the pole vault, by Bill Elliott of Texas in the broad jump, by Matson in the discus throw and by Rice's Jimmy Wilkerson in the high hurdles.

HENRY ROLLINS, Texas A&M junior, established a school record of 15 feet in the pole vault with his fifth place in the Texas Relays. Rollins came to A&M from Mobile, Alabama, as a half-miler, having placed third in that event in 1:58.0 at the Alabama State Meet.

In the Friday night discus throw finals Matson bettered his old record on each of his three attempts but could not improve on the 201-1 mark he set in the afternoon prelims.

Raiders sign NM cage star

Texas Tech announced its third basketball signing in the past week recently in Daniel Shelley, a talented star from Clovis High School in New Mexico.

Tech assistant basketball coach Charles Lynch secured Shelley's signature on a letter of intent to attend Texas Tech on a basketball scholarship.

ONE OF the most sought-after players in New Mexico, Shelley was an all-district 2-AA, Class AA all-state and all-star game selection this past season.

Shelley, a 6-6, 185-pound forward, averaged 21.8 points a game and pulled down an average of 13 rebounds per contest.

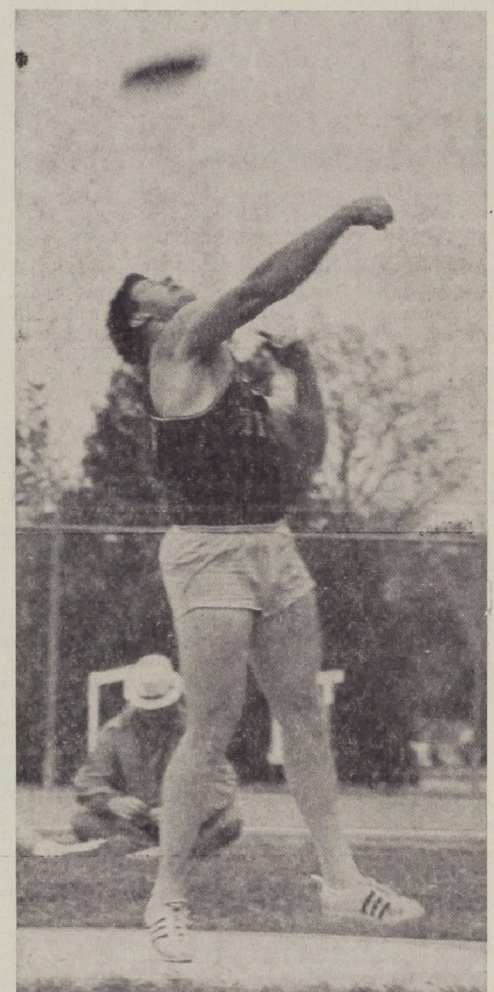

This brings to three the number of signees thus far by Texas Tech. Earlier head coach Gene Gibson had announced the signings of 6-7 Wayne Schneider of Kilgore Junior College and 6-0 Clay Van Loozen, outstanding playmaker from Houston Memorial.

Raiders play series with New Mexico

Bert Huffman, one-time Albuquerque citizen, returned home yesterday with his Tech baseball squad for a three-game series with the University of New Mexico.

A double header was played yesterday and a single game is set today. The game was finished after press time yesterday.

Huffman coached at the University of New Mexico in the late 40's and early 50's and later was manager of the Albuquerque Chamber of Commerce.

Texas Tech is currently 4-10 for the season. The Red Raiders snapped a five-game losing streak Tuesday as David Callerman pitched Tech to a 6-4 victory over Texas A&M. The Aggies had downed Tech the previous night 10-1.

New Mexico has won five of the last six games played between the Raiders and the Lobos lead in the rivalry 6-3. Callerman, a right-handed junior, is now 3-1 for the season.

The Raiders will play their next game at home, April 21, when they meet Sul Ross for a three-game series.
