Steer Places High At Show

Dressed Carcass Contest For Individual Steers Is Won By Tech

For the fourth consecutive year a steer exhibited by Texas Tech college has won the dressed carcass contest for individual steers at the Southwestern Exposition and Fat Stock show in Fort Worth, it was announced last week. This record has never been surpassed in the history of the contest.

Highest Yield
 Dorr of Tech, an Aberdeen-Angus steer weighing 1,410 pounds, and winner of third prize for steers weighing 1,350 pounds, had the highest dressed yield with a percentage kill of 71.49. This record has never been exceeded, but was tied by a Hereford steer in 1931.

In 1932, Sir Wilson, given the college by Roscoe Wilson of Lubbock, and vice-chairman of the board of directors, won the contest with a percentage of 68.2. The steer weighed 1,470 pounds. In 1933, a senior Hereford calf, weighing 1,075 pounds, won the contest with a percentage of 70.6. In 1934 a junior yearling steer, weighing 1,265 pounds, won for Tech with the percentage of 70.4.

Sold In Fort Worth
 In the 1932 contest, 189 steers were entered; 174 steers entered in 1934 and 137 in 1935.

Tech's winners from 1932 until this year were Hereford Steers. Each of the steers, except Sir Wilson, were bred, fed and exhibited by the college.

Dorr sold to Swift and company, Fort Worth, for $9.50 per 100 pounds.

Sister Of Tech President Dies

Mrs. A. M. Mayo of Lake Charles, La., the sister of President Bradford Knapp, was buried Wednesday afternoon in a Lake Charles cemetery. She died Monday.

The daughter of the late Dr. Seaman Knapp, second president of the Iowa State Agricultural college who was given the credit for founding the government's present agricultural extension service, Mrs. Mayo was an early resident of Lake Charles and a leading club woman.

Besides Doctor Knapp, Mrs. Mayo is survived by her husband, two sons, Seaman A. Mayo and Claudius H. Mayo, Lake Charles; another brother, Major S. Arthur Knapp, Lake Charles; and a sister, Mrs. Helen Fay, Des Moines, Iowa.

Service Will Honor Women

Outstanding Tech Girls Will Be Recognized In Ceremony

Letters were mailed Wednesday to outstanding Tech coeds, notifying them that they are to be honored in the fourth annual Women's Recognition service to be sponsored by the Association of Women Students, May 14 at 5 o'clock. The event will be held on the lawn just south of the administration building, and the public is invited to attend.

Girls who have done outstanding work in various campus activities and who have maintained a high scholastic average will be recognized. Last year 71 girls were honored.

Wear White Dresses
 Those chosen for recognition must select a freshman page from the list of accredited pages in Dean Mary W. Doak's office. Pages must have at least a "C" average. All girls taking part in the service will wear white dresses, and the pages will present the honored girls with flowers.

Dean Doak is in charge of the recognition service. Dean Margaret W. Weeks is chairman of the awards committee and Miss Vivian Johnson is publicity chairman.

Rehearsal for the service will be held the afternoon of May 13. AWS delegates who attended the national AWS convention at the University of Indiana, Bloomington, returned Monday. They are Katherine Leidigh, new AWS president, and Emily Davis, retiring president.

Knapp's Portrait Painter Is Named

John Young-Hunter, artist of Taos, N. M., has tentatively agreed to paint a portrait of President Bradford Knapp as the 1935 senior class gift. The picture will be hung in the library.

The hope that donations of pictures of the college presidents may become a tradition with the future senior classes was expressed by the class, which decided several months ago on this gift.

Young-Hunter is to paint the portrait between May 1 and 14.

A committee of four selected the artist. These are Homer Brumley, Everett Fairchild, Lee Francis York, and Miss Helen Frances Eiland.

Only Four Weeks Of School Remain But 'Tis Spring And 'The Young Man's Fancy Turns To Thoughts Of Love'

By RUTH HURMENCE
 'TIS spring, and students are just beginning to realize that there are only four more weeks of school, that the sandstorms are the worst they've ever been, that the old dark suits and dresses will no longer do, that there will be only four more issues of The Toreador, and that "in the spring a young man's fancy lightly turns to thoughts of love."

Spring on the Tech campus is perhaps not so inspiring as it is on many camps. Tech has few trees and little grass to turn green, and hardly a day goes by without a sand or dust storm.
Courting Suffers Little
 But there is an atmosphere of spring around the campus especially noticeable in the hulls between wind and dust when a Plains sky is clear and blue above the campus buildings. At such times students wander around the campus and hands thinking about picnics at Buffalo Springs and Silver Falls, and singing, "The stars are gonna twinkle and shine." The wind usually goes down at night, and courting under a Texas moon is reported to suffer little from sandstorms.
 The old winter clothes are being hung in closets, and coeds are wearing cotton dresses, while the boys are glad enough to don light suits. Every day more pairs of black shoes are being discarded for white oxfords and sandals. Organdies, chiffons, nets and taffetas are seen at all the dances. The boys are wearing white flannels and dark coats instead of tuxedos for formal affairs. Coeds are curling their hair higher on their heads than ever, and the wind catches straw hats now instead of felt.
 Flowers are blooming around the home management house. Sprinklers are throwing water on dry lawns around the main buildings, and now and then the wind blows a spray of water onto some surprised coed who is naive enough to think it is raining.
 Roller skating and bicycle riding afford amusement for some dormitory students, and when the weather is fair, it is no longer too cold to take the girl friend walking.
 Clubs are electing officers, and banquets and other end-of-the-year social events are being planned by social and professional clubs. Seniors are looking forward to commencement, preparing for early examinations, and ordering invitations. (Continued on page six)

Here Is The Answer

AN editorial, "Just What Is The Answer?" which appeared in The Morning Avalanche of April 17 criticizing both houses of the Legislature for appropriating $3,000,000 for the Texas Centennial, aptly expressed what has been in the minds of those closely connected with the college for years. This measure allots $225,000 for furnishing and equipping the Texas Memorial museum to be erected by the American Legion on the University of Texas campus.

The local paper commented on the injustice of giving the University of Texas this huge sum of the state's money for the construction of a museum while Texas Tech, badly in need of more adequate library facilities, is again left holding the "sack." This is no new experience for the college as almost the same situation has presented itself for the past ten years.

The answer is: Sixty-one graduates, former students and students of the university were included in the membership of the Texas legislature when the Forty-fourth session convened January 8 in Austin. Forty-three of the 150 members of the house of representatives and 18 of the 31 members of the senate are alumni, records show.

It is readily seen that the university has a majority vote in the senate and what might amount to almost a controlling vote in the house of representatives. Tech, with only one representative in the house, has no chance politically as compared with the university.

Tech is not at all envious of the Austin school but it does want fair play. We do want justice. There is nothing, however, we can do about the situation at present. Maybe Tech some day will have enough representatives in the legislature to get its share of the "gravy," including a library.

Profs And Politics

TO promote and preserve peace is one of the big objectives of International Relations clubs. But the Tech IRC seems to ignore this completely, particularly where elections are concerned.

Discussion, bickering, hard feeling and dissatisfaction in general marked the election of IRC officers last week. One of the defeated candidates and the faculty sponsor attempted to suppress a story giving the outcome of the election in The Toreador on the grounds that the election was unconstitutional. Whether it was or not is beside the point and it is not for The Toreador to decide. The paper at the time, was concerned only with the story, and since an election was held it was only logical and natural to assume that the results could and should be published.

It is not and has never been the policy of The Toreador to keep the outcome of an election out of print and to do so would defeat the purpose of the paper. We do not know why these parties wanted the story "killed" but The Toreador refuses to be dictated to regarding publication of a story or anything else. Earlier in the year the staff formulated a definite editorial policy and intends to adhere to it strictly at all times.

Feeling became so strong among some of the club members and the faculty sponsor that fistfights were narrowly averted. It is regrettable that a club election cannot be held without causing petty differences and bitter feelings, and more so that a faculty member has to become involved. It is bad enough for students to become involved in such a situation, but The Toreador believes that a faculty member should not dabble in campus politics and elections. The whole affair smacks more of high school than of college and is not characteristic of Tech at all.

A Worthwhile Project

WEST Texas has an appeal of its own in spite of the unpleasantness of sandstorms and drought. Not the least part of this appeal is embodied in the individuality of the Plains' topography and vegetation.

For this reason the plan of the Tech Botany club to plant a collection of West Texas shrubs, flowers, trees and grass in a botanical garden on the campus should be of interest to native West Texans and visitors to this section of the country. The Tech board of directors has granted the club a plot of ground behind the chemistry building for the garden.

Tech, with a student body made up for the most part of young men and women from all parts of Texas, from Oklahoma and New Mexico, is not by any means exclusively a West Texas school; but located as it is in the heart of the South Plains, it has an immediate opportunity to aid in the advancement of science, agriculture and industry in West Texas which no college should overlook.

A college is not only an institution where facts are disseminated among several hundred young people but also an institution which offers opportunity for research, invention, pioneering in many fields and innovations, all of which involve a real service to humanity.

Every project of the college which takes advantage of this opportunity indirectly brings fame and prestige to the institution. Not only is the project of the Botany club significant from a scientific point of view, but it has a direct appeal for West Texans who are interested in learning more about their home.

The botanists are to be congratulated on not overlooking this opportunity to be of service to West Texas.

How Are Our Manners?

WOULD it seem odd if a parent filed suit against one of his children? But if the child caused other people to suppose that his, or her, parents were also of low-breeding, would the mother and father not be justified?

College students are not of as select a type as they were 30 or more years ago. Students of Tech are probably as high in quality as the average college student of America today, but why can't we become better? Courteous, considerate manners usually accompany the higher type of person. How are the manners at Tech?

The best place to see how refined we are, or how refined we are not, is at the two dormitories on our campus. Several parents would be entitled to bring suit against their children if they would do so. We wonder when we hear boys yelling in the halls if their parents would yell the same way at their homes; if they throw bread across the table when someone asks for it; if the parents are absolutely indifferent to the interests of other residents of the home.

In the boy's dorm, light-globes cannot be kept in the telephone booths or on the stairways; as soon as they are put in some one steals them. Is this indicative of personal refinement, of consideration of the rights of others?

One of the purposes of college is to instill culture in the minds of its students. Culture, the appreciation of the finer things in life, is our aim. Tech students, as a whole, may be as cultured as other college students of America, but may The Toreador suggest that every resident of the dormitories and other students of Tech consider the question: "What kind of parents does my roommate or my neighbor think I have?"

FROM OTHER CAMPI

A New Way Of Teaching

THE social studies, geography, economics and the like, have always occupied a debatable position in the field of education. To many educators, the subjects under consideration supplement the cultural background, necessary, of course, to a well-rounded college education, but of little influence in the students' life after graduation. Those professors enrolled in the modern school of thought, however, are of the opinion that if a student gains a thorough knowledge of everyday problems as analyzed economically, politically and socially in the classroom, he will be far more able to cope with the rapidly changing conditions of the present day.

Commendable therefore is the plan of Professor John J. Mahoney of Boston university, who urges a wholesale change in the methods of teaching the social sciences in schools and colleges. The first step in this direction would be a change in the method of teaching the social studies in grade and high schools. History, for example, would be radically revised. "A discarding of the old world background, so-called, as at present handled in grades 6 and 7; a soft peddling of much of the history of secondary schools that deals with issues and problems of a by-gone day, and a strong emphasis on materials that throw light on present-day affairs; the inclusion of a block of work in social psychology; of a block of work in race relations; of a block of work in anthropology."

By placing importance on civic affairs Professor Mahoney is confident that American youth will enter democratic politics, society and industry with greater ease and a better understanding of the problems confronting each field. To a certain extent this is already being accomplished in a number of educational institutions; but there is a definite need for broadening the practice.

The faculty for seeing things circumspectly can only be gained through a trained and experienced eye. That training and experience should be acquired during the college years. By having as an objective the relationships between the social studies and present-day affairs, not only would interest in the subjects be widened but they would attract a more capable and alert group of students.—The Minnesota Daily.

IT must have been a thrill—in fact we are positive it was a most overwhelming sensation, when two coeds at Syracuse university (Syracuse, N. Y.) tripped along the corridors of the anthropology department and ran smack up against a five-foot alligator which had escaped from his cage.

On the campus of Marshall college (Huntington, W. Va.) the strangest sort of a controversy finds students and professors splitting ranks in the argument, it has all arisen out of the sudden bantering for knitting which has swept the coed world. At Marshall they are knitting right in lectures. One professor likes the idea, since he feels it will be a good alternative to finger nail biting, desk drumming and nail filing.

Latest college humor: "Who was Talleyrand?"
"Oh, she is a fan dancer and don't talk baby talk."

Now Hollywood claims it will set the modes of American speech, and of course the speech and English professors of the land rise in ridicule of the assertion.

"Ah," sighed one man at the University of California (Berkeley) "such an effort would have to be directed with intelligence, but intelligence is the last thing anyone would look to Hollywood for."

Hollywood points to the dictation of Lewis Stone and Conrad Nagel for its proof, but the professors point out that these people had developed perfect dictation long before they saw the roofs of Hollywood.

The tired-out student is temporarily insane, declares Prof. Floyd C. Docketery, of Ohio State university (Columbus).

"After a long day of classes, he is nervous and jumpy and all the

RECALLING THE PAST

SIX YEARS AGO—
The Matador club in its meeting last Thursday night gave a vigorous indication of its determination to back clean athletics in Tech. The club plans to initiate a membership drive within a short time for the purpose of furthering Tech support.

A chapter of Alpha Psi Omega, the national dramatic fraternity, has been offered to Tech by the national headquarters. This offer has been accepted by Miss Ruth Pirtle, head of the speech department, and plans are underway for the formation of the local chapter.

The prize of $25 for a peppy college song which was offered last year by the Tech Chamber of Commerce is being offered again.

FIVE YEARS AGO—
The original Oberammergau Passion play will be shown in moving pictures at the gymnasium Monday and Tuesday nights at 7.30. The film, in color, is the first which has been taken from the play given every ten years in the little Bavarian village of Oberammergau.

symptoms are identical to those experienced by the insane," Prof. Docketery points out.

Which will make a swell alibi to boys and girls who write home to explain their bad marks. They may now just explain that they had gone insane.

College columnists are still commenting upon the idea tried out at Stanford university (Palo Alto, Calif.), where all students are supposed to say "hello" to each other when they meet, whether they have been introduced or not.

And immediately each columnist jumps into print to say something like this:

"That would be swell—that blond in French 22 I have been trying to meet."

Plans Are Announced For Annual Fish Day Program At Silver Falls Lake

With only a limited number and time, eighteen freshmen class members are selling tickets for the annual Fish Day, which will be held May 11 at Silver Falls, near Crosbyton.

Deadline for buying these tickets, which are $2, is Monday afternoon at 5 o'clock. At a class meeting Monday evening in the gymnasium, Henry Meredith, class president, urged that the picnic be a "Dutch" affair.

Monday Is Deadline

"Unless 500 freshmen buy their tickets by Monday, we will not be able to secure the special train," Meredith stated. "As this is the only freshman class activity, every member should back the affair," the president declared. Tickets are cheaper this year than ever before, he said.

On the scheduled day, freshmen will leave here at 7 a. m. and arrive at the park about 9 o'clock. Skating, swimming, kodaking and hiking will be the morning's diversions. Lunch will be served at 12 o'clock and from 2 to 5 o'clock that afternoon, dancing will be in the pavilion. Ned Bradley's orchestra will furnish music.

Matador Tracksters Meet New Mexico University Tomorrow

Coach Ballard And Squad Leave Today For Dual With Lobos In Albuquerque

UNDER the direction of Brax Gilmore, club president, the Double T association has assembled a neat display of footballs used in the outstanding grid conflicts of the past three seasons. These pigskins dressed in the school colors of the opposition, give the year and result of the game.

Two of the highlights of the '35 campaign are given in the collection. Colored in red and gold, one of the footballs reads: "Tech 32, New Mexico university 7." Another conflict of the same year is represented by a purple and yellow oval. It tells the final count, 6-0, of the Hardin-Simmons skirmish.

MOVING on to '32 a red ball takes us back to the rainy night when the Matadors made history by repulsing the SMU Mustangs, 6-0. A green and yellow ball tells the result of the Baylor contest. Tech won, 14-12.

Climaxing game results of the '35 chase are told on footballs painted purple and white, Kansas State's colors, and green and yellow, Baylor's symbols. All-American selections of Graham and Russell, luminaries of Bo McMillan's team, were shattered at the Mats captured the game with (Continued on page six)

Henry Pits Hays, Holder Of Loop Mile Record, Against John Case

THIRTEEN strong, Texas Tech's track squad and their coach Virgil Ballard, leave this morning via bus for their dual meet with New Mexico university in Albuquerque tomorrow. They will return Sunday.

Entering 15 events, the Matadors face a weak Lobo squad with one outstanding performer, Guyton Hays, Border conference mile champion, has been rounding into shape rather slowly, though steadily this spring and should reach the record mark when he faces the Case brothers tomorrow. John Case, also entered in the two mile run, has lowered the conference mile and two mile records in exhibition runs this spring. Case clocked off the two mile in 10:22.5. The loop record is 10:31.

Cowan Brothers Compete
Another brother combination is expected to register several points for Tech. The Cowan boys are due to win the pole vaulting honors, as none of Gwynn Henry's thimble clads have reached the altitude of that ascended by them. Maurice set a new record of 12 feet, 6 inches at the Great Plains track and field meet at Canyon last Saturday.

Henry's sprint aqua seems mediocre. Bill Dennard, century dash, 220, quarter mile and low hurdle star, is recuperating from an injured leg and has turned in a couple of 10.2 hundreds lately. He will be opposed in the afore named events by McElroy, Laine, Matthews, Maurice Cowan and Loflin of Tech.

Trouble In Weights
Dowell and Holcomb may run into some trouble in the weight division. Bowyer, all-conference football star, has tossed the discus and 16-pound weight for distances near the conference weights records.

Warren Gunter, and Gordon Graves loom as the best middle distance men on the Lobo squad. The former has twice turned in half miles in the time of 2:2.5.

Tech Is Third In Plains Meet

Maurice Cowan Sets New Pole Vaulting Record Of 12 Feet 6 Inches

Maurice Cowan smashed the record for the pole vault by a jump of 12 feet six inches as Texas Tech took third place in Great Plains track and field meet at Canyon Saturday. The old record, set in 1928, was 12 feet four.

Central State Teachers college of Edmond, Okla. breezed to victory as A. Jacobson annexed individual honors with 11 1/4 points. Abilene Christian college was second with 29 points followed by Tech. The Matadors registered 26 markers and the winners made 76 points.

Two First Places
Coach Ballard's spikesters took two first places, three second positions, two third places and three Tech came in fourth.

Gwynn Dowell was the other Matador to capture a leading place. He tossed the shot 41 feet one inch. John Case placed third in the mile and second in the two-mile run. Robert Case was fourth in the 880. Coleman Cowan followed his brother in pole vaulting. Maurice was second and J. W. West tied for fourth in the high jump. Coleman Cowan took third position in the broad jump. The Tech relay team broke the tape fourth.

Dumas First
In the high school division Dumas won first with 47 1/2 points with Pampa Harvesters in the second position. Brownfield High was fifth.

Freshmen of W. T. S. T. C., unopposed in many events, scored 79 1/2 points to win easily the junior college-freshmen division. Amarillo junior college placed second and Abilene Christian came third.

A former Arizona athlete, Lieber, stands in for an outfielding post with New York Giants.

They Tangle With Lobos Tomorrow

Tech Gridmen Climax Spring Practice By Defeating Sul Ross Teachers, 14-0

The Matadors—past and present—went on parade! But two teams were sent into the game before next year's probable eleven pushed across two touchdowns in the last half to defeat Sul Ross Teachers college, 14-0.

After a complete team of last year's graduates brought 4,000 fans to their feet with spectacular plays, Coach Cawthon sent in Team No. 1 near the end of the opening half. Duval kicked 50 yards over the goal line early in the third quarter.

Neill, Baze, and Beauchamp carried the ball to the 13 after the Mats took a Lobo punt on the 40. Baze then hit the middle of the line for a touchdown. Davis kicked a perfect goal. Jim Neill, destined to become one of the best backs in Tech gridiron history, showed his heels for 21 yards and another marker for the Scarlet and Black. Davis repeated conversion. Tech's luminaries travelled 256 yards from scrimmage while the visitors made 87. The Matadors registered 15 first downs to 5 for the opposition. Penalties were scarce with the visitors getting 30 yards and the Teachers receiving only a 5 yard assessment.

The Cornell university (Ithaca, N. Y.) polo team was forced to give a regular place on the squad to a coed, because she outplayed the men.

Carson Is Only Victor In Golf Meet Against Southern Methodist

One victory in the singles matches was the best Tech golfers could do against Southern Methodist at Lubbock country club Saturday. The Mustang linksmen took both four-ball matches and three of the four singles matches. J. P. Carson gave Tech its only victory by defeating Bruce LaRoche, 3 and 1.

In the other singles competition, Gore of SMU defeated Cooper, Tech, 5 and 4; Jett of the Mustangs took Bell of Tech, 4 and 3, and Finneburgh of the visitors beat Stevenson of locals 3 and 1. Gore and Jett defeated Cooper and Bell, up, and Finneburgh and LaRoche won from Robert Hale and Carson 1 up, in close doubles matches.

Netmen Prepare For Border Meet

After an excellent showing on Abilene courts last week, the Texas Tech netters took up practice in earnest on their return Monday for the Border conference meet where they expect to display their wares in the same style. The loop matches will be held in Albuquerque May 11 and 12.

The Techsters defeated teams of Abilene Christian and McMurray colleges and divided honors with the Hardin-Simmons Cowboys.

Science Is The Field In Which Girls Will Lead

Poets And Dreamers Are Essential For The Rise Of Science

New York, May 2.—Science is the means by which women finally will obtain equality with men, in the opinion of Dr. Francis Carter Wood, professor of clinical pathology at Columbia university.

"Certain things which women have gained," he says, "will have to be fought for again, and it may take a long time before they regain what they have lost.

Coupled Men's Colleges

"The girls' colleges have been far too much modeled upon those of men; they have tended to copy the defects of men's colleges, rather than their superior points; defects not so much of principle, but defects due to the enormous number of students which are forced upon our public institutions and crowd the private ones, making it impossible to give the good students the special training which they can use.

"It is true that in hospitals women have long since replaced men in the laboratories. They do the routine chemistry, bacteriology, and other phases of laboratory work much better than the average men. They are, as a rule, more accurate and painstaking.

Will Play Big Part

"With the growth of such institutions and the wider demands for technical methods of analysis in diagnosis this is a very large field in which women will unquestionably in the future play an important part, but at present the tendency for women is to not have a very wide training, so that while they rapidly learn the routine technique of a given chemical analysis, for instance, they are not likely to improve upon the present methods or add new ones, because they have no fundamental knowledge of chemistry and therefore they are usually doomed always to remain technicians and to have no wider range of activity.

"What we need in science today are the poets and dreamers. Never mind about the mathematics, if there are ideas the mathematics can be fitted to those ideas later, but without the ideas, mathematics is a machine which can never produce anything."

Request Made For ROTC By Students

Milwaukee, May 2.—Angered by alleged communist activities of their college mates, a number of students at the Milwaukee State Teachers college have signed a petition asking the formation of an R. O. T. C. unit, which they said would help remove the label of "radical" from their school.

"We feel," said Fred Pridemore, leader of the students who are circulating the petition, "that an R. O. T. C. unit is just what the school needs. There are only a few radicals in the school and we are fed up on their tactics of branding the college as being one of pacifists and communists."

The college is one of the nine teachers' institutions which, with the University of Wisconsin, will soon be investigated for radical tendencies by the state legislature.

English Professor To Conduct Tour Through Europe

Dr. Alan L. Strout, associate professor of English, will conduct a European tour for West Texans this summer.

Leaving Lubbock July 24, the party of about 20 persons will sail from Montreal July 27 on the Montcalm. They will tour Scotland, England, Holland, Belgium and France, paying special attention to localities of literary significance.

Twelve days will be spent in Scotland and England. Places made famous by Burns, Scott, Wordsworth, Shakespeare and Keats will be visited. Such historical spots as the ancestral home of the Washingtons, Sulgrave Manor, and the battlefield of Waterloo are included in the itinerary.

Among Continental cities to be visited are Amsterdam, Antwerp, Brussels and Paris. The group will return, via Cherbourg, on the Empress of Britain, to Quebec August 29. A sight-seeing trip ov-

Plains Region Is Located In Area Of Highest Climatic Energy, Says Prof

The South Plains of Texas, particularly the Panhandle, is located in the area of highest climatic energy, according to Dr. Archie J. Bahm, instructor of philosophy and sociology at Texas Tech.

"The factors which tend to make western Texas a relative vigorous and activating climate are the moderate altitude, the wide range of variation in temperature, including a predominance of warm days in winter and cool nights in summer seasons, and especially the freedom from high humidity," Dr. Bahm states. "It is the extreme cold, on one hand, and the hot weather—the humid, sultry, languid, lazy weather—on the other hand, that saps one's vitality and leaves his ambition in a state of lethargy," explains Dr. Bahm.

Correspond To Europe

"Historically, it was in areas of this sort that the higher civilizations have developed. At present, the largest of these areas roughly corresponds to the geographical boundaries of Europe and to northern and eastern United States and the southern part of Canada. Studies by Ellsworth Huntington, world famous geographer, that the high climatic energy area in the United States extends through the South Plains," said Dr. Bahm.

This area of high climatic energy is very favorable to the efficient use of human energy. It is an area of "the most stimulating varied climate," one which is conducive to the activity and vigorous exertion. The South Plains is an area in which, if natural resources and other conditions permit, cultural achievements tend to reach their highest stage.

AFTER being held to a 13-13 tie at the half, the Mats began clicking in the last period to defeat DePaul, 48-19 last year. That is the story told by a blue and white football. The oval used in Tech's 13-0 victory over Arizona in Tucson is found in the collection.

We've seen the past! What about the future? Tech's exhibition game with Sul Ross brought forth the conclusion (at least as far as we are concerned) that the Matadors are to be a formidable foe for anybody's ball club. The line punting and end circling of Jim Neill, "Sava" Besoucamp, Charley Duval and Winfred face with able assistance from several backs from the Fish ranks will result in plenty of touchdowns next season.

In front of these secondary men holes large enough to drive a tractor through are bound to open with the Browning brothers, "Red" Ramsey, "Tox" Wightman, Walker Nichols, Gaines Davis, Sam Jones, Bill Holcomb, and "Bull" Katrola clearing the way. Then, there's a score or more to take the burden.

The library is becoming more crowded as students realize with a shudder that the day of reckoning is not far off, when finals and term papers will demand first consideration. Library officials report that less novels are being checked out and there is more concentration on textbook material.

Romance is definitely on the increase. Several Tech exes have been married recently or have announced their engagements. And right here on the campus, some of the hardest bachelors are looking moon-faced.
