

Formerly 'unmotivated, marginal pre-law student' ...

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the first of three personality sketches of Regents' Clint Formby, Bill Collins and Frank Junell. Formby was appointed to the Tech board in 1971 and was elected vice chairman in 1972.

By LAYLAN COPELIN
Editor

If you were a Lubbock citizen in the early '40s, you may remember a Tech student, dressed in his finest tuxedo, thumbing a ride back to Tech every Sunday morning.

Just another Tech 'hell-raiser' on his way home after a wild Saturday night?

Hardly. It was just Clint Formby coming home from his custodial night job.

Actually, he worked as a file clerk and janitor for the U.S. Employment Office.

"On Saturday nights when I didn't have a date—and as a freshman there were more times I didn't than I did—I would rent a tuxedo for $3.50 and hitchhike to the dance at the old Hilton Inn," Formby said.

After the dance, he would then change into coveralls and wax and mop the offices.

Later, he would change clothes again and catch a ride with Lubbock families on their way to church.

"I had many a sermon on how the young were going to the dogs and the evils of carousing. And when I would try to explain, nobody would believe me."

Formby originally came to Tech in 1942 as an "unmotivated, marginal pre-law student barely making my grades."

After a three-year interruption in his college career because of World War II, Formby returned a more mature 22-year-old veteran "seeking more student involvement in the administration and decision-making."

He had toyed with the idea of transferring to the University of Texas but two days of the "humidity and unfriendliness" changed his mind.

"There was a great change in student attitudes when I came back because of the returning veterans. In fact, that is when hazing quit. You didn't haze a freshman because some of these boys had been Rangers or commandos.

"And we (students) didn't get at odds with the administration too much, but then again, you suddenly had a different breed of cat.

"The Women Libbers might be upset but not much had been happening on campus during the war when the vast majority of students were female. The veteran changed all that."

At Tech Formby reported the university president's beat for the twice-weekly Toreador but now admits "we (reporters) never got in trouble with the administration because we did not dig into a story. The editor did that; he was the one in the crosswind. Traditionally, we did our in-depth articles about the food in the dorms."

His senior year Formby ran unopposed for student council presidency of the 6,000-member student body.

It was at that time that Formby met his future wife, Margaret, a former Miss Texas Tech, who served as secretary of the student council.

Ms. Formby, who had been dating the student council vice president before she met Formby, recalls, "I had been in a speech class with Clint a couple of years earlier but he never knew me. It always made me so mad when he would stroll into our 11 o'clock class midway through the lecture—having slept late that morning—and the teacher would always stop the discussion just for him. He was always a teacher's pet."

Did she ever ask him what he had been doing the night before? "I didn't know him THAT well," she says.

As student council president, Formby's main project was to get a student on the disciplinary committee.

"In retrospect, I don't think naming a student to the committee made that much difference...because of the pressure it put on that one student. But sometimes you have a feeling that if only you were represented..."

Formby and his uncle, Marshall Formby, own radio stations in Hereford, Temple and Levelland, Tex. He also is involved in cable television and an automated beef feeding lot in Hereford.

Formby has served as president of the Tech Students Association, National Association of Broadcasters board member and president of the Texas Association of Broadcasters.

He flies more than 100,000 miles a year from his hometown, Hereford, for such activities.

Asked if he had ever envisioned himself as a regent, Formby says, "Never. In fact, student council presidents never met the entire board. We would visit the chairman in the president's office."

Now Formby, as regent and father of two Tech students, must react to student demands.

"I feel like student government meant more when I was a student than it does now. I am surprised at the flak that I read in the UD (University Daily) and hear from others

"I am not saying that student government does not speak for the students...because I don't know that."

Although Formby recognizes students as more demanding today, he has been surprised at the lack of contact between regents and students.

"I don't know how you can get more input. But sometimes I wish I knew or could talk to more students. I am not implying in any way that the administration is creating a chasm between us."

Formby said he knew "quite a few" professors but admitted "I haven't even met ten Tech professors as a regent. And sometimes I don't know how they would feel about some topic."

"I probably feel stronger about this than some other regents, but then again a board needs a certain amount of insulation because you become so personally involved you cannot make an objective decision."

He said the "times we live in"—rather than any drastic change in students' attitudes—is the major factor of public pressure on the regents.

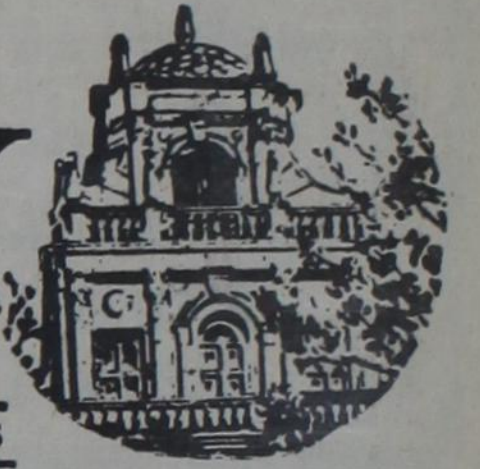

"When I was a student, off-campus fraternity housing would be out of the question. But last summer we passed such a rule, and do you know, nothing happened."

"I was surprised we heard nothing—good or bad."

When the board eliminated the freshman women's dorm hours this spring, Formby received only one telephone call. "And that was from my freshman daughter who thought it was our best decision yet."

...Clint Formby now serves as regents' vice chairman

Agreement ends 37-day Wounded Knee occupation

WOUNDED KNEE, S.D. (AP) — A six-point agreement was signed Thursday between the government and militant Indians to end the 37-day takeover of Wounded Knee, federal officials said.

According to the agreement: —Russell Means, leader of the occupying Indians, will go to Washington Saturday to meet with White House representatives.

— Once that meeting starts, the Indians will leave Wounded Knee, submit to arrest and be taken to Rapid City for arraignment.

— There will be a federal investigation of Indian affairs throughout the Pine Ridge reservation and an audit of tribal funds.

— The Department of Justice is to consider, and where appropriate, bring civil suits to protect the legal rights of all individual Oglala Sioux Indians against unlawful uses or abuses by tribal government or federal authority.

— A presidential treaty commission will be set up to re-examine the 1868 government treaty with the Sioux Nation.

— Indian leaders and White House representatives will meet next month in Washington to consider Indian affairs.

The agreement serves as the basis for the Indians laying down their arms and the evacuation of all bunkers and roadblocks in and around Wounded Knee.

It provides that the disarming will be implemented by government law enforcement officers with the cooperation of the American Indian Movement (AIM) leadership.

Means called the occupation "a minor preliminary victory. The real victory will be when the traditional chiefs and head men of the Sioux tribes meet with representatives of the White House." He called the agreement "a small victory in the Indian war with the United States over our treaty rights."

Asst. U.S. Atty. Gen. Kent Frizzell, who signed the agreement for the government, said, "I don't think any great victory has been won by anyone at Wounded Knee. I think we have all learned something here and now hope we will go on and improve conditions between whites and Indians. I think what we have learned is that all of us have failed in the past to live up to our agreements. We're going to do a better job in the future to see that these agreements are kept."

Frizzell said the truce does not provide for amnesty for anyone connected with the takeover.

"All persons for whom warrants are outstanding will be arrested," he said.

The agreement was signed by three AIM leaders, Means, Clyde Bellecourt and Carter Camp; by Pedro Bissonette, vice president of the Oglala Sioux Civil Rights Organization, and by Chief Tom Bad Cobb, a traditional Oglala Sioux chief.

The pact was signed in the tepee on a hill overlooking the village.

A Sioux religious ceremony and smoking of a peace pipe preceded the signing, with all AIM leaders, including Banks, participating, along with Frizzell.

The agreement came after six straight days of talks to end the takeover of the historic site.

More than 250 Indians, led by AIM, moved into the village the night of Feb. 27, ransacked the Wounded Knee Trading Post and told the 11 residents they were political prisoners.

Means has said Oglala Sioux villagers in Wounded Knee invited the occupation force and that the hamlet was chosen because of its symbolism to the American Indian.

Wounded Knee was the site where, in 1890, 146 Sioux men, women and children were killed by soldiers of the U.S. 7th Cavalry in the last major incident of the U.S.-Indian wars.

Besieged Daily Texan prints on

By NENE FOXHALL
Special Reporter

A temporary restraining order to halt publication of the Daily Texan, campus newspaper at the University of Texas (UT) at Austin, was denied Wednesday by Dist. Court Judge Herman Jones in Austin.

A UT law student had gone to court to stop publication of the paper which he said violated state law by taking sides in a city council race.

Jack W. Gullahorn, a member of the conservative campus group Young Americans for Freedom, had requested a temporary restraining order against publication until after April 7, the date of the city election.

Defending the Daily Texan was State Attorney General John Hill, who argued that state law prohibiting use of state funds for political purposes was intended to affect state money used in lobbying and campaigns.

The Texan receives part of its budget from a mandatory fee paid by all students.

Steve Renfrow, assistant managing editor of the Texan, reported Thursday that University President Steven Spurr testified in favor of the Texan.

Jones, Renfrow said, ruled that the court would not judge legislative intent.

David Powell, editor of the Texan, was "relieved and pleased" about the outcome of the hearing, especially "since it has been so long since the press won in court."

Gullahorn, who was his own counsel, said he may take the question to federal court, Renfrow said.

The conservative group of which Gullahorn is a member has said it will go to court if necessary to question the legality of forcing students to pay for the paper.

State senate votes to shield reporters' secret sources

By JACK KEEVER
Associated Press Writer

AUSTIN (AP) — Senators voted 25-6 Thursday to shield reporters' secret sources from the prying eyes of investigators.

Only the Texas Supreme Court could pierce the shield.

The House sponsor, a former newsman, rejected the Senate version, however, in favor of a conference committee to work out a compromise.

"I am still for an absolute privilege. I think we ought to be able to offer this to the good citizens who want to come forward and report on dishonesty," said Rep. Dave Allred, D-Wichita Falls, referring to anonymity for tipsters.

The bill would allow professional newsmen to keep confidential news sources to themselves unless the Supreme Court found that withholding the information "would cause or threaten substantial harm or injury, endanger public health and welfare, or cause substantial injustice."

Senators tentatively approved a bill to allow Harris and Bexar County voters to set up a mass transportation system, to ease jammed streets and freeways.

In debate on the newsman's "shield" bill, Sen. Bill Moore, D-Bryan, objected that reporters "attack public officials" and he said an official has "no defense 'cept to kill him."

"It would be justifiable homicide," Moore muttered.

Sen. H. J. Blanchard, D-Lubbock, said he thought the shield bill was neither wanted nor needed by reporters and he added some newsmen would rather "take their chances" on protection from the First Amendment to the U.S. Constitution.

"Show me one member of the press in this state who has been denied...the right to investigate corruption, the use of stamps for illegal purchases, the actions of any member of this body, the executive, the judiciary, then I can say, 'Yes, there is some basis for the bill'. But they have not been denied...nor is there a burning desire at this time for a shield."

Adopting any kind of regulation, Blanchard said, could lead to more regulations and ultimately to censorship.

An amendment, adopted 17-14, would authorize the Supreme Court to order any of the district courts in Travis County (Austin) to act as fact-finding bodies for the high court's decision on whether to require a newsman to tell his sources.

The bill originally would have permitted any district court in the state, other than the presiding judge in which the suit was pending, to take testimony.

The Senate sponsor, Chet Brooks, D-Pasadena, a former newsman, said reporters needed legal protection because the U.S. Supreme Court had "pierced" the "shield" with a December 1971 ruling.

The court said the constitutional right to free press does not allow reporters to keep sources and notes to themselves if an investigative body, such as a grand jury or legislative committee, tells them to speak up.

Joining Moore and Blanchard in voting against the bill on final passage were Sens. Tom Creighton of Mineral Wells, Roy Harrington of Port Arthur, Great Jones of Abilene and Bill Patman of Ganado.

All are Democrats.

Brooks and Sen. Jack Ogg, D-Houston, led the opposition of the mass transit bill, claiming it could expand far beyond the boundaries of Harris and Bexar counties.

"God only knows where it will stop," Brooks said. "We might have a new state government before they are through," implying the mass transit authority would become all-powerful.

Nixon, who did not say who he would name to succeed Gray as head of the FBI, did say he has asked Gray to remain as acting director until a nominee is confirmed.

The President said, after talking to Gray by telephone for five minutes, "it is obvious that Mr. Gray's nomination will not be confirmed by the Senate."

To bolster this contention, Nixon cited, without elaborating, action Thursday by the Senate Judiciary Committee which had been handling the matter.

The committee earlier Thursday agreed to a showdown vote next week on the nomination after Democrats moved to postpone action indefinitely.

In his statement, Nixon described Gray as "an able, honest and dedicated American" who had been exposed to "totally unfair innuendo and suspicion" because he had cooperated with White House counsel John Dean III in making available FBI reports on the Watergate conspiracy.

Nixon said Gray's "compliance with this completely proper and necessary request" caused the innuendo and suspicion "and thereby seriously tarnished his fine record as acting director and promising future at the bureau."

In Washington, Gray had announced he had asked that his nomination be withdrawn shortly before Nixon made his formal announcement.

Atty. Gen. Richard G. Kleindienst said through a spokesman he was deeply disappointed by what he called "the turn of events."

"He is one of the most loyal Americans I know," said Kleindienst. "He was an excellent choice to be permanent director and should have been confirmed."

The spokesman said Gray telephoned Kleindienst and told him of his decision about an hour before he issued his statement.

"I have asked the President to withdraw my nomination for the position of director of the Federal Bureau of Investigation," Gray said in a brief statement. "The basis for this decision is my deep conviction that the FBI, a great and unique American institution of vital service to the President and the American people, is entitled to permanent leadership at the earliest possible time."

Gray's statement was released by a FBI spokesman.

Gray, who has headed the giant law-enforcement bureau since the death of J. Edgar Hoover last May, has become entangled in the controversy over the bugging of Democratic national headquarters in the Watergate office-apartment complex.

Senators have criticized Gray for turning over FBI reports on the probe of the incident to Dean.

Others have accused Gray of making speeches of a political nature during last fall's election campaign.

Gray denied this, saying the speeches were in line with his job as temporary head of the FBI.

Earlier Thursday, the Senate Judiciary Committee agreed to a showdown vote next week on Gray's nomination.

Sen. Robert C. Byrd, D-W.Va., forced the issue at a hastily called afternoon meeting by moving to postpone action indefinitely — a motion tantamount to killing it.

Republican Leader Hugh Scott of Pennsylvania invoked a committee rule allowing any member to delay a vote for a week.

However, Byrd said agreement was reached to vote Tuesday unless someone objects to a meeting before Thursday.

Sen. Roman L. Hruska, R-Neb., made a substitute motion to postpone a vote on Gray's nomination until after completion of the Senate's investigation of the Watergate affair.

Byrd interpreted this as an admission by supporters of Gray's nomination, made on Feb. 21 by President Nixon, that they do not command a majority within the committee.

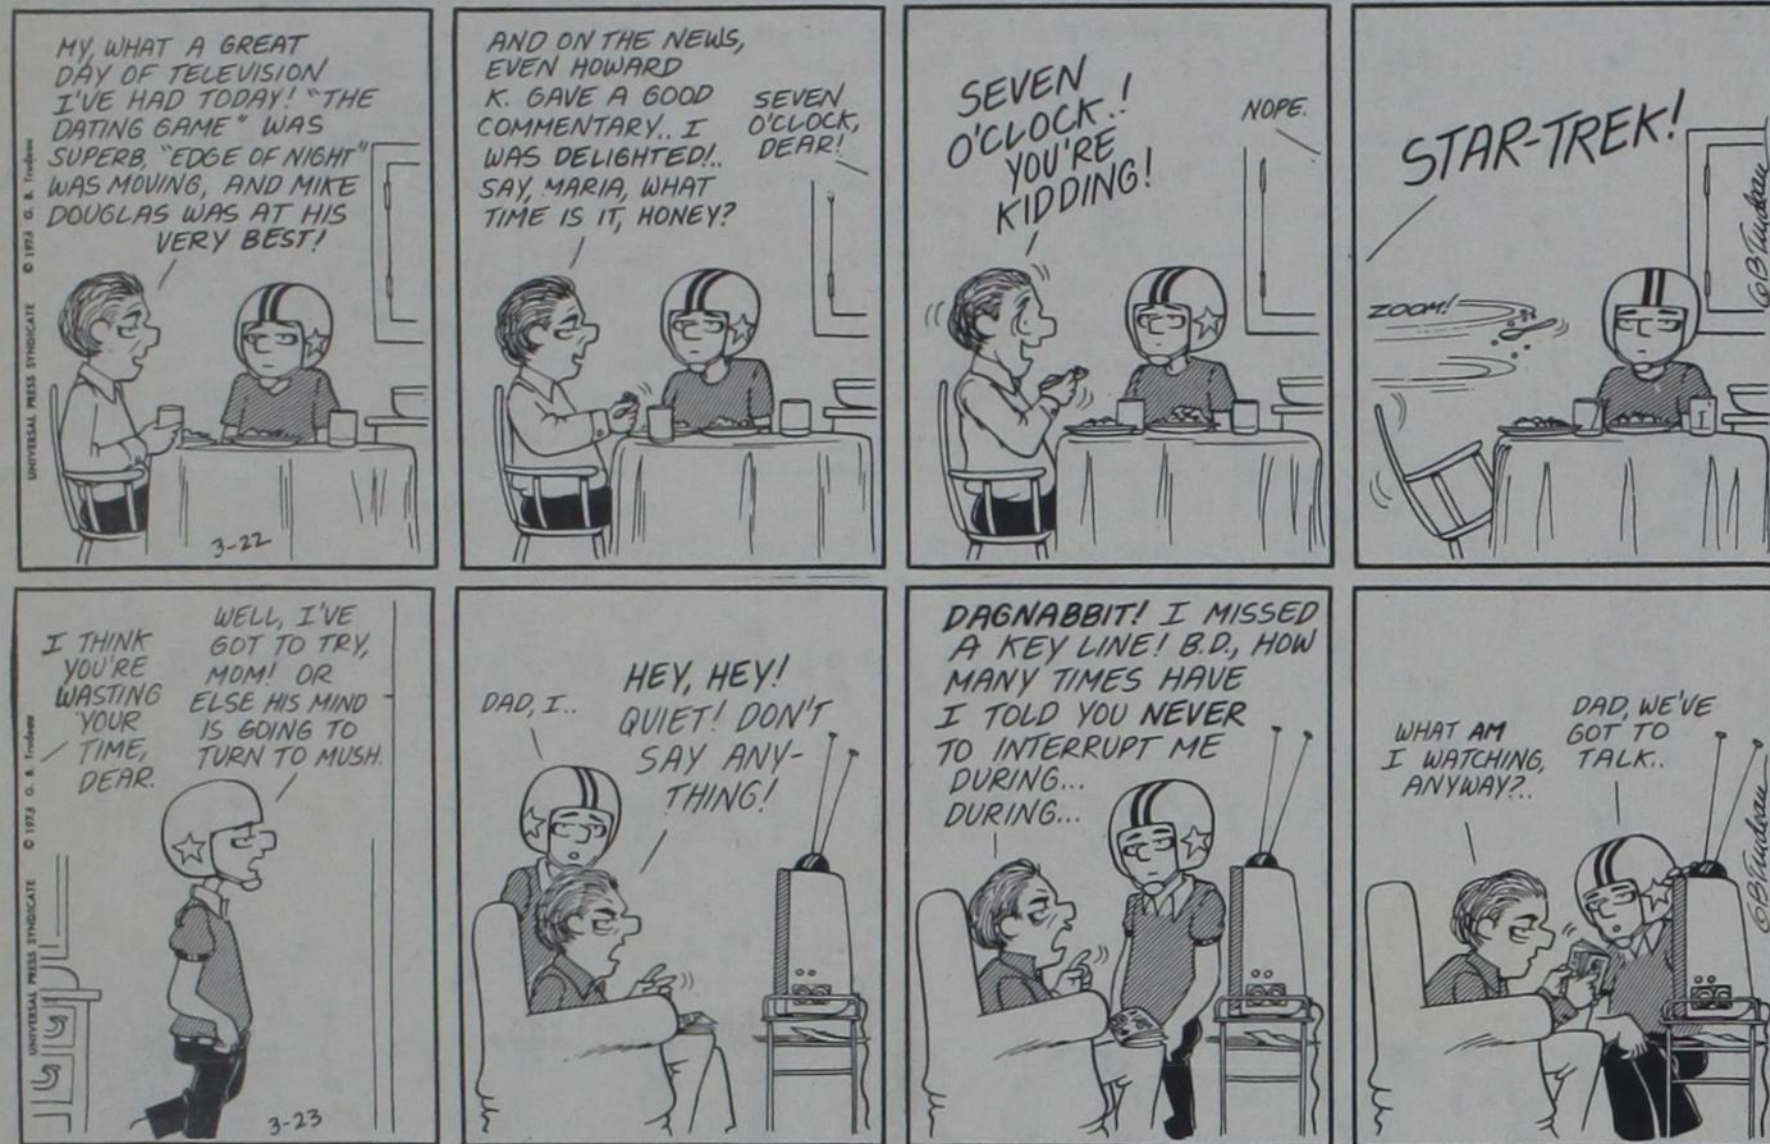

The committee has appeared closely divided on Gray.

Its hearings on his nomination were suspended March 22.

Says Billy Jack enemy of the establishment

DOONESBURY

The University Center's weekend movies have been going on for a long time, and some people may simply overlook their own university for entertainment. This weekend, however, the center is screening a movie which should be required for every American and every man just as government and American history are required now in our curriculum. A movie that no one should go without seeing, a movie from which no one walks away untouched. The movie that I am speaking of is "Billy Jack." The movie's been around, shown all over the country, but its message is still as fresh and as vital as the day the projectors first started showing its title.

No movie ever touched my feelings as much as "Billy Jack." It is the kind of movie that can be seen two, three, four or more times and not lose any of its original impact. The blunders, the prejudices, the misconceptions of Americans still stand out as glaring errors in the American dream. Tom Laughlin as Billy Jack portrays the children's saviour to the hilt. Saving wild horses from the rifle blasts of a small town sheriff to tracking down a murderer and administering his own justice, Billy Jack can do it all.

Perhaps the coincidences are overdone, perhaps no one can really believe there could be a Billy Jack (I wish to God there was...), perhaps the plot is a little weak at times, the photography

Billy Jack is an American hero. All the events are believable and most have already happened over country. Long haired men have been beaten and even killed, girls have been raped, animals are slaughtered every day, even when protected by law. There are corrupt sheriffs; there are those who persecute the Indian and steal from him. There are certainly those Americans to whom anything strange is a menace. To these people, and these alone, Billy Jack poses a threat.

Rex Reed said of "Billy Jack": "Its points come through because it is an honest, loving film that teaches peace through a way of life so meticulously detailed in the eyes of its characters and situations that you want to get into the film and be part of it. I never had the feeling while watching it that I was seeing a movie, but that I was spending some time with friends I cared about. Their problems and mistakes become mine. With ease and natural freshness, it accomplishes what most movies dream about: it becomes life." To sum this emotional recommendation up, here are a few lines from the theme song, "Tin Soldier" by Dennis Lambert: "Go ahead and hate your neighbor Go ahead and cheat a friend Do it in the name of heaven You can justify it in the end There won't be any trumpets blowing Come the judgement day On the bloody morning after One tin soldier rides away." Think hard about these lines and then go see the movie at the UC. The 75 cents you spend may change your life, and only for the better. Tell your friends, and tell your enemies too, for they are the ones who need to see "Billy Jack".

Q. What major programs or changes do you see that need to be made, that you will push for in Tech student government?

A. I advocate the forming and utilizing of effective college councils to provide academic services and communication among students. Improvement of existing services such as the bus system and the health center is a top priority. A more open and cooperative relationship with the administration is necessary.

Q. Should Tech senate have accepted or rejected the administration's legal aid program without litigation?

A. The program was not the one designed by students, but it was a step in the right direction. Although our present program does not include litigation, it is a possibility in the future.

Q. What would you, as a student government representative, have done during the recent apartment guide controversy?

A. The controversy was solved in the best way possible, but mistakes made cannot be ignored. Had legal aspects been discussed before the guide went to press, problems could have been avoided.

Property ID project begins

"Operation Identification (OI)," a public service project of the Lubbock Realtors Board and Alpha Phi Omega (APO), national service fraternity, will begin its 1973 crime prevention campaign at Tech April 6.

"O.I." is a program designed to alleviate the problems of offenses against property. The Lubbock Realtors Board "O.I." solicits the cooperation of citizens in marking their valuable property by engraving a driver's license number on the items. The property owner not possessing a driver's license may use either a Department of Public Safety identification number or his social security number.

Omega at Tech have recently received several hundred electric engraving pens which are loaned to Lubbock citizens free of charge. In the city, the pens are currently available at neighborhood realtor offices. At Tech, APO members, with the help of the Women's Service Organization, will canvass the residence halls to provide the service with pens donated by the Realtor's Board.

When the engravers are checked out to an individual, a card bearing his name, address, and license (or other) number is prepared. The citizen receives a brochure with instructions on the use of the pen. The brochure is also designed for the citizen to record the description of certain valuable properties and to be retained as a permanent record.

When an individual returns the engraver to the realtor's office, he is given some stickers to attach to his home and auto. The stickers then serve to warn burglars and thieves that the property has been marked, recorded and filed with the Lubbock Police Department. The file card, bearing the name, address, phone number and driver's license number is then filed by number in a master file at the Lubbock Police Department. It serves as a reference to officers who are checking ownership of property under suspicious circumstances.

At Tech, arrangements have been made for separate file system to be kept by the University Police. The campus file will operate in conjunction with city records.

Engraving pens will be available at the dorms at the following times: April 6 from 3 to 5 p.m. at Doak and Weeks; April 9 from 8 to 9 p.m. at Horn and Knapp; April 10 from 5 to 8 p.m. at Wells and Carpenter; April 12 from 5 to 8 p.m. at Stangel and Murdough; April 13 from 3 to 5 p.m. at Stangel and Murdough; April 16 from 8 to 9 p.m. at Sneed, Hulen and Clement; April 17 from 5 to 8 p.m. at Hulen and Clement and April 18 from 5 to 8 p.m. at Gates and Wall.

BILLY JACK, an anti-establishment story of a young Indian half-breed and an idealistic teacher struggling to maintain a Freedom school against the violent opposition of the entire township, will be shown at 7 p.m. and 9 p.m. Friday and at 7 p.m. Sunday in the Coronado Room of the University Center. Admission is 75c with a Tech I.D.

Fashion show on tap for Sunday afternoon

"Up, Up and Away—Spring Fashions" is the theme for a fashion show to be held in the Garden Room of St. Mary of the Plains Hospital Sunday at 2 p.m. Women's Auxiliary to the Student American Medical Association (WASAMA) is sponsoring the show. Tickets are $1 and are available at the Tech School of Medicine or at the door.

Mrs. David Layland member of WASAMA said proceeds from the show will help finance future community service projects of WASAMA.

TREY AUTRY PORTRAYS an old man who doubles as a housekeeper and guard for an ancient estate and Rosendo De Leon, left, is cast as the supervisor in the Tech Lab Theatre production of "The Attendant." The play, which runs Friday through Tuesday in the Lab Theatre, employs a dramatic technique in which ideas and concepts will be presented concerning the distortion of reality. Tickets are 75 cents for Tech students with ID and $1.50 for non-students.

State may allow aid for kidney treatments

AUSTIN (AP) — A Senate bill to aid Texans who cannot afford the high cost of kidney transplants and dialysis treatments has cleared what could be its next to last legislative hurdle.

The House Human Resources Committee approved 14-0 a bill setting up a state aid program that would cost an estimated $1.1 million next year.

State funds would enable Texans, who could not otherwise pay, to take advantage of a federal program paying up to 80 per cent of the cost of transplants and kidney machine-hemodialysis-treatments. The aid would be available starting the third month after initiating treatment.

The state would help patients pay for their first three months of treatment and for their 20 per cent share of the cost of treatment thereafter. Patients would have to reimburse the state up to five per cent of their adjusted gross income.

Mrs. Ann Miller received a plaque from the West Texas Water Institute in gratitude to her late husband Dr. William D. Miller for his leadership and service. The plaque was presented during the 11th annual West Texas Water Conference. Miller was chairman of the Institute and chairman of the Tech department of geosciences at the time of his death in June 1972.

The Tech School of Medicine has received authorization to begin its first residency physician training program. The residency program, approved by the Combined Residency Review Committee of the American Medical Association, authorizes a total of 12 resident physicians for training in the department of family practice.

Theme explores history

SOBU plans Black Week

By JOANNA VERNETTI
Staff Writer
"We Are an Afrikan People" is the theme of the third annual Black Week, which begins Monday and continues through Saturday. The observance is sponsored by the Student Organization for Black Unity (SOBU).

According to Ken Baker, president of SOBU, this will be the largest celebration of Black Week in Tech history. The Tech celebration is patterned after Black Weeks which occur throughout the nation.

A general assembly at 12:30 p.m. Monday will open Black Week. Baker will deliver the keynote address, "Because We Are an Afrikan People."

At 3 p.m. a film, "Black History: Lost, Stolen, or Strayed?", will be shown, and at 8 p.m. a musical presentation, "Black Voices Past and Present," will be performed. Baker described it as a "historical survey of black gospel music in America." Black students from SOBU, and choirs from Lubbock and Fort Worth will sing.

lecture relevant to the week's theme will be presented in the Mesa room of the University Center (UC). The lecture Tuesday will feature Charles Mathis, past president of SOBU, discussing "The State of the Revolution."

SOBU members will model African flavor fashions in the South Plains Mall Tuesday at 8 p.m.

The highlight of the week will be an address Wednesday by A. K. D. Appiah, counselor and minister of the Embassy of Ghana, on "Pan-Africanism: Unity and Diversity." After the noon speech in the UC Ballroom a reception honoring Appiah is scheduled.

Wednesday at 8 p.m. a variety show, "Wantu Wazuri", will feature area talent. Thursday's lecture will be by freshman Sherry Watkins, psychology major, on "Colored, Negro, and Black: Transitions in Identity."

Comedian and civil rights activist Dick Gregory will appear in the Municipal Auditorium at 8 p.m. as part of SOBU celebration, he will caucus with black students during a reception following his performance.

A lecture Friday on "The Black Male and Black Female" will be given by Dr. Vivian Davis, English professor. At 7:30 p.m. in room 202 of the BA Building Dr. Harry Edwards, associate professor of sociology of the University of California at Berkeley, will discuss black athletes and their participation in collegiate and professional sports.

Edwards, author of several books, gained national recognition during the controversy over black athletes' participation in the 1968 Mexico Olympics.

At 9 p.m., following Edward's speech, an African ball, "Uhuru Na Omoja," is planned in the Palm Room.

Tracksters tackle Baylor

The continuing long jump duel between Tech's Ken Ford and Baylor's Danny Bradham will doubtless continue at Saturday's Raider-Bruin dual meet, with an added third dimension also present.

Field events start at noon and running events at 1 p.m. Ford and Bradham have been competing ever since their freshman years, producing some top performances in the process. This year the Baylor ace has the top jump in the South-west Conference, a 26-9½ mark.

Ford, still rounding into shape, has a top leap of 23-10½. But neither Ford nor Bradham is assured of the gold medal since Bruin freshman sensation Ricky Thompson has gone 25-6½, which happens to be the second best jump in the conference this year.

Tech's 440 relay team consists of Mike McCasland, Tony Harris, Gerald Stewart, and Joe Aldridge. Their best time of the year is a 42.3.

In the mile run, Hugh Jones' 4:11.9 is Tech's best. James Cresap will also compete. His best time is 4:24.0.

Paul Sims and Ken Ford will be Tech's hopes in the 120-high hurdles. Both have an identical best time of 15.1. Philip Sims has a best time of 15.2 and will be a factor.

Aldridge and Harris both have a best time of 49.0 in the 440-yard dash. McCasland will run the 100-yard dash as will Stewart. Their best times are 9.8 and 10-flat respectively.

In the 880-yard dash Hugh Jones' 1:56.1 is Tech's best. Louis Pearl has a 1:56.7, Mike Worsham's best is 1:58.1 and Cresap the two-minutes flat.

Paul Sims will run the intermediate hurdles. His best is 56.0. Harris' 21.8 is the best 220-yard dash. He is followed by Stewart, 21.9, McCasland, 22.0 and Aldridge, 22.1.

Tops in the three-mile run is Jones with a 15:15.5. Cresap follows with a 15:30.4 and Pearl's best is 15:30.8.

Tech's mile relay of Stewart, Ralph Tidwell, Harris and Aldridge has posted a 3:18.5.

Steve Nelson is tops in the pole vault with a 14-0 vault. Ken Ford is the leading long jumper with a 23-10½ while McCaslin has thrown the javelin for 187-4½ feet. Pierce is second in the javelin with a 179-10.

Netters invade Houston

The Tech tennis team will find it hard to do an encore when it meets Houston Saturday at 2 p.m. Coach George Philbrick's netters had one of their great moments in upsetting Rice Tuesday, in Lubbock, 4-3.

The Red Raiders trailed the Owls, 3-2, at the end of singles competition despite wins by Walter Hammerick and John Moffett. Tech swept both doubles matches, however, to squeeze past Rice.

"They played the best I've ever seen them," Philbrick said of his team. "It was a long, hard-fought battle and all the matches were close."

Making the Houston trip will be Hammerick, Moffett, Stan Morris, James Chisholm and Terry Bennett, all of whom will play in singles.

Hammerick and Bennett will form the No. 1 doubles team and Moffett and Chisholm the No. 2 unit.

Women's track meet

Tech Women's Invitational Track Meet will be held Saturday, Apr. 7, at 9 a.m. at Estacado High School.

There will be 28 area high schools and ten colleges participating in the meet. Among the colleges sending representatives are Oklahoma State, Southwest Texas, Texas Women's, and West Texas State.

Events include shot put, high jump, the discus, long jump, hurdles, two mile run, and other running events.

Track and field students are responsible for running the meet.

Special Olympics slated

The annual Special Olympics will be held Saturday, beginning at 9 a.m. at Chapman Field. The Olympics are for the mentally retarded and handicapped children from around the Lubbock area.

Some 300 children are expected to take part in the activities under the direction of Tech's Saddle Tramps.

AAU-NCAA settle feud over US-Russia series

WASHINGTON (AP) — The National Collegiate Athletic Association said last Monday it will allow college basketball players, including All-American Bill Walton of UCLA, to compete in the upcoming basketball series between the United States and the Soviet Union.

Walter Byers, executive director of the NCAA, said his organization, under rules already established, could in effect sanction the tour if the Amateur Athletic Union made a formal request.

23 teams entered

Little 500 set for Saturday

By MIKE HALLMARK
Sports Writer

Tech's annual Little 500 bike race rolls into action Saturday with 18 men's teams and 5 women's teams entered in four divisions. Races will be run on the commuter parking lot north of the law building.

Women's multi-speed division finds three teams vying for the first place trophy. Splash, Tau Beta Sigma, and Doak-Weeks will be engaging in the battle of the gearshift on the ten-speeds.

On the single speed bikes Splash and Gamma Phi Beta will be engaged in a match race. Starting time for the women's events will be 1 p.m. Both races in the women's division will be run at that time.

The men's multi-speed race will start at 2 p.m. Seven teams will be entered, four fraternities and three independents. Fraternities entered are the Fijis, Phi Psis, Alpha Phi Omega, and Chi Rho. Independents will be Die Spielen, AFROTC, and the Flower Pickers.

Men's single speed division drew the greatest number of entrants as eleven turned out for the event. Five fraternities and six independents form the field for the 3 p.m. race. The fraternities are ATO "A" and "B", Sigma Nu, Phi Epsilon Kappa "A" and "B", while the independents are the Dolphins "A" and "B", AFROTC, Fat Dawgs, the Nads and the Flower Pickers.

Women's races will be 11 laps while men will struggle through 24. Each team will have seven entrants, five starters, one pit man and one alternate.

This will be the first year that the Little 500 has been completely under intramural control. In the past, Chi Rho was the sponsor of the event, but this year the Intramural Department is the sole sponsor. Chi Rho will be helping with the event and WSO will be holding a penny vote contest for Little 500 queen.

Last year's champion was a team called the Wheelmen. They edged the Dolphin's "A" for the victory with John Baird peddling 11 of the 24 laps.

Marilyn Guest was elected Little 500 Queen amassing almost $100. Almost 1000 people attended the affair at its old home on Memorial Circle. However, this year, due to the closing of Memorial Circle, the bike race will have a new home at the commuter lot.

Tech athletes to be honored

The annual All-Sports banquet, sponsored by the Red Raider Club, will be held Tuesday night at 6:30 p.m. in the Lubbock Coliseum. Tickets are priced at $3.50 apiece and should be obtained by Saturday from the Red Raider Club.

Featured speaker for this year's banquet will be John Ralston, Head Coach and General Manager of the professional football Denver Broncos. Ralston took the head job in Denver last year after leading the Stanford Indians to two consecutive wins in the Rose Bowl.

Coach Berl Huffman, a living legend with Tech athletics, will be the emcee for the night. Entertainment for the night will be provided by the Court Jesters, under the direction of Dean Killian.

Some of the awards to be presented will be the Pete Cawthorn Memorial Award, which goes to the best all-round football player, and the Dell Morgan Award, given to the football player displaying the most courage.

So you plan to spend the Summer in Europe this year. Great. Two things are mandatory. A ticket to Europe. And a Student-Railpass. The first gets you over there, the second gives you unlimited Second Class rail travel for two months for a modest $150 in Austria, Belgium, Denmark, France, Germany, Holland, Italy, Luxembourg, Norway, Portugal, Spain, Sweden, and Switzerland! All you need to qualify is to be a full-time student up to 25 years of age, registered at a North American school, college or university.

And the trains of Europe are a sensational way to travel. Over 100,000 miles of track links cities, towns and ports all over Europe. The trains are fast (some over 100 mph), frequent, modern, clean, convenient and very comfortable. They have to be. So you'll meet us on our trains. It really is the way to get to know Europeans in Europe.

But there's one catch. You must buy your Student-Railpass in North America before you go. They're not on sale in Europe because they are meant strictly for visitors to Europe—hence the incredibly low price. Of course if you're loaded you can buy a regular Eurailpass meant for visitors of all ages. It gives you First Class travel if that's what you want.

Either way if you're going to zip off to Europe, see a Travel Agent before you go, and in the meantime, rip off the coupon. It can't hurt and it'll get you a better time in Europe than you ever thought possible.

Start your hope chest.

Raiders travel to Austin for Texas treat

By LES MOORHEAD
Sports Writer

Tech's series with the Texas Longhorns viewed from Austin could result in either the beginning of the beginning or the beginning of the end.

Just two games off the pace set by the perennials, the Raiders plan to open fire today with a doubleheader at 1 p.m. and a single game Saturday at 1 p.m. Texas is 7-2 in league competition while Tech rests in fourth place at 4-3. The 'Horns own a remarkable 27-4 record for the year, losing to Baylor and Houston in conference.

The Raiders, weathered out of nine games this year, have a 10-9 season record, and sport the league's best lefthander, Ruben Garcia.

Garcia, out for more than a month with a collapsed lung, may see action this weekend against the 'Horns. Coach Kal Segrist said Garcia will likely pitch in relief.

Segrist said, "We'll be pretty much the same, except possibly we will change our starting pitching rotation with Garcia being able to throw some."

Randy Prince (2-0, 0.00 ERA), Louis Avery (3-3, 2.96 ERA), Monty Barnes (3-1, 3.19 ERA) and John Bickley (1-2, 2.24 ERA), will join Garcia on the mound corps.

Behind the plate, John Wilkes (.333) and David Voegel (.250) will switch playing time. Rick Weaver (.222), David Drown (.500) and Robin Kilmer (.100) will split first base duties.

Elsewhere around the infield, Bobby Lewis (.238) will be at second base, Ronnie Mattson (.240) at shortstop and Bob Wiebe (.143) at third base.

The outfield trio will come from among Cecil Norris (.313) in right, Jim Horton (.263), Gary Barrick (.125), John Reese (.333), Eddie Cervantes (.333) and Drown (.500).

As crucial as this series is and as highly favored the Longhorns are, the outlook for the rest of the season rests in Tech's performance. Should Tech sweep Texas, the Raiders would be atop the league, and the 'Horns would be unseated for the first time in a long while.

Rice and A&M have but two losses. The owls will be hosted by SMU this weekend while TCU entertains the Aggies in Fort Worth. Elsewhere, Houston takes on Baylor at Waco.

The Longhorns will go on the mound with Ron Rozovsky and Martin Flores, with Zane Grubbs in relief.

Daryl Anderson along with David Pierce will broadcast the games.

Tech soccer team in tourney

By JEFF KLOTZMAN
Sports Writer

Tech's soccer team will be in Denton this weekend to participate in the third annual North Texas Invitational Soccer Tournament.

The Raiders will tackle the University of Texas at El Paso UTEP today at 3 p.m. in the opening round of action. Should Tech get by the Miners they will advance to the semi-final round Saturday at 2:30 p.m. A victory in the semi-finals will send the Raiders into Sunday's 2:30 p.m. championship match.

Tech will send an experienced squad into action against the Miners. Starting for the Raiders on the forward line will be Tom Schutz, Geoff Harley, Jimmy

Raiders set next scrimmage for Saturday

Coach Jim Carlen will send his Red Raider charges through the third controlled scrimmage of the spring practices Saturday. The scrimmage is set for a 2 p.m. starting time in Tech's Jones Stadium.

Carlen and assistants will be hoping to get a good look at many players in preparation for the annual Red-White spring game. This game will be played Saturday night, Apr. 28.

So far this spring, Raider quarterbacks Joe Barnes, Jim Carmichael and Tommy Duniven have been impressive with their passing while the defense is doing a good job of holding down the running game.

Wheeler and David Collins. Johnny Spiegelberg, Tom Jarmon and Mike Benson will man the full-back slots while George Saunero, Gary Koerner and Carlos Pinada line up at half-backs. Dave Fordon and Bill Jacks will handle the goattending chores. Making the trip as reserves will be David Buckberry, Dennis Helman, Tom Hurley, Doug Bruton, Bob Evans and Hank Pochyla.

Other schools entered in this years competition besides Tech and UTEP are Tulane, West Texas State, Houston, University of Texas at Arlington and Monterey Tech. Monterey Tech, defending champions from last year's tourney, will loom as the tournament favorite while Tech, Tulane and Houston should make strong challenges for the title.

Tech has faced four of the seven teams entered in the tourney and sport winning records in each matchup. The Raiders have defeated West Texas four times, North Texas two times, UTA two times, and UTEP once.
