Health Workers Begin Second Term Of Study

Twenty-Eight Register For Course As Local And State Officials Plan Lectures, Inspection Trips Next Week

INTERRUPTED only long enough for registration procedure Tech's summer course for public health workers and sanitation officers continues this week with inspection trips and special lectures planned.

Total enrollment of the class is 28, three new members having started study the second term. Twenty of those registered are full time students.

G. W. Parkhill, assistant professor of civil engineering has charge of all classes for this semester. He announces that several health authorities have been scheduled for lectures for the next week.

Bellamy Appears
Appearing as a lecturer on "Rodent Control" tomorrow morning will be W. D. Bellamy, district sanitary engineer of Public Health district number 4. A representative of the U. S. Biological Survey will also conduct a class on "Rodent Control-Poisoning, Bating and Trapping". Tomorrow afternoon Parkhill will head an inspection trip to the water works, sewage farm, and swimming pool.

"Elementary Water and Sewerage-Well Construction" is the subject of a discussion by M. R. Smith, jr., city engineer, next Monday morning. "Insect Control" is the subject which C. C. Jobson, county agent of Lubbock, will lecture on next Wednesday morning.

Dr. Nau To Lecture
Beginning next Friday there will be two state health officials that are scheduled to appear before the class. H. N. Roberts, consulting engineer of Lubbock, will discuss "Elementary Water and Sewerage-Purification and Laboratory Work", Thursday.

Dr. Carl A. Nau, director of industrial hygiene of the State Health department, is to be on the campus Friday to discuss work in his field, "Industrial Hygiene". Saturday the officials of the health course have scheduled Dr. W. L. Baugh, jr., district sanitarian of Public Health district number 1.

Adopt New Plan
The board of education, he said, has adopted a recommendation plan to the automatic tax board this year different from last year. A need of approximately $37,000,000 for the public schools will be necessary this year, the education group has reported. This would mean, Sanderford explained, a per capita allotment of $24. The final figure, however, remains to be determined.

Reveals Incident
Sanderford recalled an incident which happened several years ago regarding the financial stability of the Lubbock independent district. He had been speaking of the excellent condition of the local schools.

Seizing an opportunity to purchase some of its own bonds at 84 cents on the $1 during the depth of the depression trustees of Lubbock independent school district did so. The state board purchased the bonds the net result being that Lubbock independent district benefited by the difference between the 84 cents paid and the $1 face value of the bonds, which totaled in value $110,000, according to A. C. Jackson, business manager of the district.

Sanderford termed the city school system of Lubbock "the equal of any to be found in Texas". Praise was also given rural schools which, he declared, have made those of the county models for the state.

Biology Group Returns From Mexico Field Trip

Reporting a successful trip, Dr. R. A. Studhalter, head professor of biology, botany, and zoology, and a class of 20 students returned last week from a field trip in the Gallinas canyons near Las Vegas, N. M. The group had been studying natural history of plants and animals.

This course has been offered by the biology department for several years. Those taking it receive six-semester hours college credit.

Board Names Woman Acting Head Of Tech

Mrs. J. A. Haley Chosen To Sign Diplomas Of August Graduates

MRS. J. A. HALEY of Midland was appointed as acting president of Texas Tech, succeeding the late President Bradford Knapp in so far as diploma signing is needed, by the directors of the college at a called meeting of the board in Fort Worth last Saturday.

Mrs. Haley is the second acting president ever appointed for the college. The late Mrs. F. N. Drane of Corsicana served in that position for a short time after the death of Dr. Paul W. Horn, the first president of Tech, in 1932.

Approve Dormitory
Approval of a grant and loan contract with the PWA and plans for the $350,909 boys' dormitory was formally given by the board. Wyatt C. Hedrick was the architect who submitted plans for the new structure.

The resolution passed unanimously by the board naming Mrs. Haley as acting president limiting her duties to the executing of diplomas for the graduating class of summer school. A report from the meeting stated that she was selected as a tribute to her in honor of her long and "distinguished service" to the college as a director. A six-year term she is serving as director expires in 1939.

Committee In Charge
Continuing in the running of administrative affairs of the college until a new president is chosen will be the three member executive committee, announced Clifford B. Jones, of Spur, who is directorate chairman. Dr. James M. Gordon, dean of the arts and sciences division, is chairman of the executive committee. The other two members are Dr. Harry L. Kent, director of administrative research, and W. T. Gaston, business manager and secretary of the board.

In 1932 Mrs. Drane signed the diplomas of the June graduating class. Mrs. Drane's service as acting president was ended with her death July 11, 1932. She too was a member of the board of directors.

Other lectures will be Dave R. Cawfield, associate soil technologist of region 6; Dr. Claude L. Fly, associate soil technologist of region 6; D. A. Dobkins, in charge of flood control surveys; R. R. Hinde, associate agronomist of region 6; Fred Sykes, regional agronomist; Ray Watson, associate range examiner of region 6; Dr. Ralph Caird, assistant range examiner of region 6; James C. Wilcox, assistant agricultural engineer of region 6; Eugene C. Buie, associate agricultural engineer of region 6; R. C. Nelson, regional engineer; James E. Smith, regional nurseryman; H. E. Petheram, regional forester; Phillip Allen, regional biologist; H. H. Finerell, regional director; and B. H. Hopkins, head of erosion control practices of region 6.

Business Manager Calls For New Dormitory Bids

Call for bids on construction work of a new dormitory to be built with $350,909 PWA loan and grant may be issued in a few days, said W. T. Gaston, business manager of the college.

The college board of directors officially accepted the PWA allocation at a meeting in Fort Worth Friday and authorized Wyatt C. Hedrick, Fort Worth architect, to go forward with final plans.

Board Invites Suggestions From Staff In Selecting New President

SELECTION of a president for Texas Tech is not to be left entirely up to the board of directors. Suggestions of faculty members of the college will also be considered.

Clifford B. Jones, chairman of the board, has recently requested that Dr. James M. Gordon notify faculty members that their opinions will be welcomed by the board when it makes its selection.

A letter from Chairman Jones to Dr. Gordon, chairman of the executive committee states that "the board will be glad to receive any thought which any of them may care to express relative to a successor to President Knapp."

Letter Quoted
"Needless to say, this suggestion is born not only of a desire to encourage a close cooperation between faculty and board but in order that we may have the benefit of the opinions and judgment of our own people upon a matter of such

Registration Increase Noted For Final Term

Complete Summer Total Reaches 1798 Mark Wednesday

REGISTRATION totals Wednesday showed that 1798 students had been issued permits to register, a report from W. P. Clement, registrar, stated. Of this number, 218 are new students.

As yet uncompleted, this years total indicates a substantial increase over that for last summer, which was 1695. Registration will continue through this week, Mr. Clement said, with late fees being assessed Saturday.

Procedure Is Same
Enrollment procedure remained unchanged from that of the first term. Registration permits were granted in the Administration building, men in the east rotunda and women in the west. New students must be photographed for identification purposes and each new enrollee must have a physical examination.

After approval of registration and housing, enrollees go to their respective buildings to continue registration procedure. Fees were to be paid at the business office in the Administration building.

Several students are enrolled in field trips being sponsored by the English department, the botany department, and the history and geology departments.

Classes officially began Wednesday morning at 7 o'clock. Summer school commencement and graduation exercises are scheduled for August 24, on which date final examinations for the second term will begin. Summer school closes Thursday, August 25.

Leading Netters Of City To Open Tournament Soon

Leading netters of Lubbock will participate in the city tennis tournament, an announcement of advance entries indicates.

Marshall Gordon, three-time winner of the event and defending champion, will be unable to protect his title, but an array of experienced racketeers have filed entries. Wilson Chapman, member of Texas Tech's net team and co-holder with Harry Jordan of the 1937 doubles championship, probably will rank favorite.

New Cup Offered
H. L. Burgess, Dub Rushing, Newt Walton, and others plan to go after the title. A new cup will be offered this year, Gordon's triple conquest having won him permanent possession of the original challenge trophy.

Deadline for entries will be at 7 o'clock Saturday night, when pairing will be made at the Varsity bookstore. One dollar entrance fee will be charged each singles entry and each doubles team.

A college education within prison walls appears in prospect for a 19-year-old prisoner at Walla Walla, Wash., who became a life-term convict at the age of 12. Arrangements will probably be made to bring colleges studies to the youth.

Former Tech Student Dies

Mrs. Dollie Feagan Jones To Be Buried Today In San Angelo

Notice of the death of Mrs. Dollie Feagan Jones, 20, former Tech student, was received here yesterday. Mrs. Jones died Tuesday in a San Angelo hospital after a 19-day illness.

She underwent a major operation July 8 and was in a critical condition for several weeks, but was reported to be improving at the time of her death. Death was caused by pulmonary emolism, a clot in the blood stream.

Burial This Morning
Funeral services will be conducted this morning at 10 o'clock at Johnson chapel in San Angelo. She is survived by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Feagan, and her husband, Mr. Johnny Jones.

Mrs. Jones attended Tech for two years, where she was a popular member of campus circles. She was last enrolled during the 1936-37 long term session. In 1935-36, she was one of the eight campus beauties. For the past year, she had been employed in the editorial department of the San Angelo Standard-Times.

Five sons have been sent to the United States Naval Academy at Annapolis by John G. Crommelin, Alabama planter. The fifth and youngest son entered the academy last fall.

Noah Otto Cunningham of Quail will act as temporary chairman of the meeting. Dean Gordon requested that all seniors attend the meeting.

Is Your Recreation Program Planned?

WHAT shall we do tonight? That question is asked many hundreds of times each day on this campus. The answer has been found!

Did anyone ever offer you a planned program of entertainment, and at a price that ordinarily would be charged for admission to one of the individual performances itself? Regardless of whether students registered for the second term of this summer session have been approached with such an idea or not they now have the opportunity to take advantage of it—at a profit to themselves.

The Texas Tech summer recreation committee has released a complete entertainment program for the next term which includes talking pictures, lectures by noted authorities, watermelon feast, dances, and local talent plays. Fourteen entertainment features are listed, each worth the fee for the entire group.

Over two thirds of those enrolled for the first term bought recreation tickets and from their general attendance and applause of each program every one of them enjoyed the nightly affairs.

As was stated at the beginning of the summer session in this paper, "One of the chief aims of any institution of higher learning is to teach its students how to live fully, and completely. Facts and problems and sentence construction do not form a complete education" as many seem to believe.

Looking over the program for the next term one finds a variety of every type of entertainment that possibly could be offered. Beginning next Monday the first feature sees Bob Jones, jr., presenting Shakespearean characterizations in the local high school auditorium. The following evening J. Frank Dobie, Texas University lecturer and author will be on a program on the Administration building green.

Wednesday, W. G. McMillan lectures and shows pictures on "Wild Animal Life in the Southwest". Thursday, a full length motion talking picture is scheduled; and Friday, a dance will be given in the Women's dormitory.

That's the program for only one week. The entertainment will be entirely new and just as good the succeeding weeks. This course is not striving to make a financial success but instead is attempting to offer to the student a complete summer of release from academics. "In short, it strives to make him more cultured thus making him more fit to live among his fellows. No aim could be more fitting."

Tech Again Leads The State

THE way of a leader is to lead. That may sound like a commonplace expression, but how many educational institutions can attach that sentence to their name as a motto?

Tech can justly be proud of the fact that is one of those few schools of higher learning that does lead in more than just mere academic fields. This summer has seen this college step into the top ranks in more than one line of civic and academic study.

The best example of this leadership is the new health workers and sanitation officers short course being offered on the campus. It is the first such course to be given by a Texas college or university.

Nation-wide publicity has been given the study. Newspapers over the state hailed the beginning of the course as a worthwhile venture and a progressive step that should be taken by all such institutions. But this is only one of the short courses which have been drawing the praise of civic-minded leaders everywhere.

For the second consecutive year a course in Traffic Safety and Automobile Operation is being presented on the campus. Letters from high state officials all over the United States have been received by the college asking for information concerning the progress noted here. Safety magazines have published stories of the method of study; and scholarships have been offered those who wish to continue this field of study.

Yes, it is often that theories are offered to the public, but it is seldom that such "dreams" become realities. Tech took these "dreams" and made them of practical value—not only to those who are taking the course but to the future of the college also.

A survey taken among 220 coeds at Oregon State College showed that students with an average above "C" spent less time studying and more time relaxing than the majority of those receiving lower grades. It also indicated that coeds spend almost as much time at their dressing tables as they do studying.

Congratulations To Mrs. J. A. Haley

CONGRATULATIONS are in order for Mrs. J. A. Haley of Midland who was named acting president of the college at the recent meeting of the board of directors.

It is not so much that an honor has been bestowed upon some one for a limited time but that a person who has given much of her time and effort to the progress of this rapidly growing Texas institution has been publicly recognized. Mrs. Haley was unanimously selected as a tribute to her in honor of her long and "distinguished service" to the college as a director, the board reported. A better choice could not have been made.

Of course, it is impossible to give individual credit for every piece of work contributed toward the progress of Texas Tech. There are thousands of friends of the college who will never receive recognition for their efforts. But where possible such recognition should be given. That is the reason THE SUMMER SESSION TOREADOR commends the action of the board of directors.

Mrs. Haley's duties have been limited to the executing of diplomas for the graduation class of the summer school. She is the second acting president ever named, the late Mrs. F. N. Drane of Corsicana having served in that capacity for a short while after the death of Dr. Paul W. Horn, the first president of Tech, in 1932.

The new acting president is serving a six year term as director which expires in 1939. During the past eight years Mrs. Haley has always had the interest of Tech uppermost in her mind and has aided in every worthwhile venture in which she was able. It is unselfish persons like Mrs. Haley that have been a contributing factor in the unparalleled growth of Texas Tech. Her appointment as acting president is only a small tribute for a great job well done.

(ACP Feature Service)

"It is probably the prevailing conservatism of our colleges and universities which is in large part responsible for their reputation for radicalism. Far from being red, or even liberal, they are, on the whole, strongholds of conservatism and important agencies in maintaining the status quo." University of Michigan's President Ruthven believes this conservatism should "give grave concern to every person interested in human welfare."

"Good English is that which will pass current in any part of the English speaking world, will please cultivated listeners and will not disclose too much native or geographical origins." This new definition of Northwestern University's Ralph Dennis is a speech standardizer.

Intellectual progress note: Temple university undergraduates defeated their faculty elders in a spelling bee. Final score: student errors, 22; faculty errors, 29.

"There is only one way to prove a university education for the promising youths who are now debarred by economic and geographic factors, and that is by a generous subsidy—by large scholarships providing opportunities for earning a sizeable amount of money." Harvard's president James Bryant Conant voices the hopes of many a present and prospective collegian.

"Hundreds of thousands of hours in our educational institutions are wasted because the training goes almost to the point where the things become permanent, but not quite." President William Allan Neilson, of Smith College, advises women at the Packer Collegiate Institute that if they would raise the intellectual level of the United States, they must aim at definite mastery of whatever they are trying to do.

"Although there is a much-lauded American tradition of 'working one's way through college,' the frequency with which students have actually been able to earn their maintenance during the four-year period in which they completed the Bachelor's Degree is so small that to attempt to do so may... be considered poor judgment—C. L. Murray, Registrar, Ball State Teachers' College, Indiana.

And now you can insure yourself against flunking a course! At Emory University in Georgia two students have started an agency that will insure passing a course—or even making an "A" in it.

"The problems of today can be solved and will be solved through an intelligent and trained leadership," said acting Pres. Herman B. Wells of Indiana University to freshmen.

The new register of Harvard alumni published recently lists alumni living in 84 countries.

John L. Lewis, Jr., assured the registrar at Princeton University, where he is a freshman, that his father is an "executive." He has enrolled as a candidate for the degree of bachelor of science.

Red Raiders May Play In East Bowl Contest

Tech Receives "Feeler" Regarding Possible December Game

TEXAS TECH'S travelling Red Raiders have scored again. The goal in this case is the possibility of a post-season game to be played in the East December 10 against a strong representative team of the section.

Recent communication between officials of the New York "Eastern Bowl" and Head Coach Pete Cawthon indicates that Tech is being considered for such a game. First communication was in the form of a "feeler" from John McAndrews president of the Eastern Bowl. The letter inquired of the Texas Tech athletic director whether Tech would be interested in coming to New York to play an eastern team on December 10, 1938.

First "Bowl" Game The contest would be the first "Eastern Bowl" game played, and would be a charity affair benefiting Mrs. William Randolph Hearst's Free Milk Fund. The Eastern Bowl association has been definitely organized and will invite an outstanding team of that section to play host against a club from another part of the country.

Gratitude for the consideration shown Texas Tech by the Eastern Bowl officials was expressed by Coach Cawthon who said that he felt sure that the athletic council of the college would look with favor upon such a post-season game, especially if the Red Raiders "make a good showing" through the regular season.

No Opponent Named The Raider head coach also reminded the Eastern Bowl officials that the Red Raiders played before a capacity crowd against the University of West

Hindsley Directs Final Concert Of Band Last Friday

Final band concert of the summer school band was conducted on the Administration building lawn last Friday night under the direction of Mark H. Hindsley, assistant director of University and Illinois bands and a guest conductor.

The band school which attracted one of the largest enrollments in the history of the affair ended Saturday. Milburn E. Carey, director of the Phillips university band at Enid, Okla., and twice winner of national oboe solo contests, presented two oboe solos. A baritone trio composed of R. L. Floyd of McLean, Harold Tucker of Slaton, and Elmer Hinkle of Altus, Okla., played with the band accompaniment.

Hindsley served on the staff during the last week of the school and offered demonstrations before both concert and marching bands.

Carolyn Whitworth of Athens, Ga., former Tech student and member of Ko Shari club, will be on the campus for several days next week. She is employed as secretary in the Oconee Textile Mills at White Hall, Ga.

Virginia in the Sun Bowl game at El Paso last New Year's Day.

A possible opponent for the Tech eleven was not mentioned in McAndrews' communication, but the letter stated that a "well known club of the East" would be invited.

Coach Cawthon expressed the belief that should the eastern invitation become definite that Texas Tech would accept it.

All-Stars Prepare For Crucial Game August 6

Southern Squad Boasts Veterans Of State Championship

A PREVIEW of hysterical crowds, flying footballs, and speeding feet—that's the program lined up for some 15,000 gridiron fanatics of this West Texas area Aug. 6 when the shining football stars of last year battle in this year's biggest show.

It will be a hot mid-summer night but they'll be playing as if the championship pennant of Texas were at stake. The occasion of all this blocking, passing, and tackling will be the North-South All-Star football game which is to be played as a climax to the Texas High School Coaches Association's coaching school scheduled for the campus from Aug. 1-6.

Many Expected Approximately 400 coaches and players are expected to participate in this school which sees Lubbock vaulted back into top ranks as the nation's coaching center.

Definite arrangements and alignments of the two all-star picked squads was announced early this week by L. C. Wood, president of the T. H. S. C. A. of Texas. And according to observers who followed last year's race quite closely the South may have its chance to win for the first time in three years.

Headline manufacturers who galloped over the Interscholastic horizon of fame last year and who will perform in this game include such well known players as Dick Miller, the elusive streak from the championship Longview eleven, Waco's Fred Hall, and Preacher Fleming of Wichita Falls. Coach Lynn Waldorf of Northwestern, instructor for the South will have besides Miller and Hall, such stalwarts as Temple's touchdown twins, Euel Wesson and Dutchman Doss; Cam Powder of Conroe and Harvey Haskett of Robstown.

Has Strong Line A line that would take many a grey hair from a coach's head has been picked for the downstate team. Presenting the stone wall for the south will be such veterans as Chal Daniel, Jack McMahon and Ted Brannon, the All-State forwards from Longview; Joe Schwarting, Waco end; J. M. Russell of Cleburne, and Durwood Peveto, Port Arthur tackle.

Harry Stuhldreher, University of Wisconsin's well-known coach, is instructor of the Northern forces and has a strong and seasoned team at his disposal. He should have at least three starting players from the Wichita Falls Coyotes, runnersup to Longview in the state races last fall.

North Has Veterans Representing the Coloyte eleven on the team will be Fleming, All-State fullback; "Double Ugg" Gofforth, Ed Brand, tackle, and Odell Damerall, center. Lining up as the forward wall of the North will be Jay Lowry of Paschal at a guard, Bill Crawford of North Side at Tackle, and Ronald Brumbaugh of Riverside, all from Fort Worth schools.

Among the lads who probably will be toting the mail behind this line will be Dan Reese of North Side, Fleming, Jack Crain of Nocona, R. B. Patrick of Olney and others.

The Northern All-Stars won the contest played in Waco last year. Marion Pugh of North Side in Fort Worth scored the only touchdown.
