Partial Annihilation Faces Tech Pigeons

The annual pigeon shoot for 1957 will be Saturday from 4-6 p.m.

The event, which is held annually to help rid Tech of its overabundance of pigeons and supply Christmas dinner at Milan Children's home, will be limited to Military Science, Air Science, faculty, city police and members of the Lubbock Gun Club.

LT. COL. Newton B. Wilkerson and Lieutenant Colonel Carvey are faculty sponsors. The cadet leaders of the Air Force Wing and Army Brigade will be in charge of the shoot.

All shooters must agree to comply with safety regulations and sign a waiver releasing the college from any liability in case of an accident.

PARTICIPANTS ARE to report to the traffic circle in front of the Ad Building between 3:15 and 3:45 p.m. for registration and assignment of positions.

Firing will begin at the first sounding of the Tech bells and close at the next sounding of the bell.

Shooters will be given a bag by the commander of the hunt. A one dollar deposit on the bag is required and will be returned when the bag is returned.

PARTICIPANTS MAY keep all birds desired. Excess birds may be turned in when the bags are and will be carried to the Children's Home.

Only shotguns will be used for the hunt, and these will be limited to 12, 16 and 20 gauges. Ammunition is limited to 4, 5, 6, and 7½.

Last year's shoot needed an unofficial count of 300 or more. Some shooters used as much as two boxes of ammunition.

Seeking Advice?

Students planning to seek educational and occupational advisement prior to the beginning of the spring semester are asked to come to the Testing and Counseling Center as soon as possible in order to miss the last minute rush of students who are changing majors.

Students should set aside two to three weeks for completing the counseling process according to Dr. James E. Kuntz, director of the Testing and Counseling Center.

Service Scheduled

A campus-wide Christmas Morning Worship will be conducted by the Rev. Mr. David M. H. Richmond, Presbyterian University Pastor, in the Tech Union Ballroom tomorrow between 7:25 and 7:50 a.m.

Sponsored by the Student Religious Council, this annual program will be an interplay of scriptural passages prophesying and describing the birth of Jesus Christ and traditional Christmas hymns and carols.

Anna Wheeler and Joe Ben Hudgens will assist as scripture readers.

The Christmas Morning Worship is one in a series of traditional religious services presented each year at Texas Tech.

The Religious Council consists of representatives from all student denominations with the purpose of helping each group strengthen its program and work out its problems.

Main event the Council will sponsor this year is Religious Emphasis Week in the spring. Speaker will be Dr. John Newport of the Southwestern Baptist Theological Seminary at Fort Worth.

Publications Committee Will Discuss La Ventana

The Student Publications Committee will meet today at 5 p.m. in Dean Allen's conference room for further discussion on the controversy arising from departmental organization representation in the La Ventana. Departmental clubs are at present allotted one page.

In a meeting last Wednesday, the committee discussed a BSO resolution calling for equal representation for all clubs.

THE COMMITTEE also discussed the problems rising from any changes in plans at this late date.

If the March 10 deadline is not met, there will be additional expense, a delay in getting out the annual and the probable loss of some of the students working on La Ventana.

In the words of Wick Alexander, publications committee member, all these points must be considered before a decision is worked out.

PAT CULLUM, La Ventana editor says that the problem would be helped by more student workers.

The BSO recommendation, besides calling for equal allotment of La Ventana pages, stated that individual pictures rather than group pictures would better represent its member organizations.

The board also recommended that a representative from BSO be consulted by the person or persons responsible for planning student organizational coverage in La Ventana.

SOME POINTS offered in defense of the La Ventana's position by B. J. Whitted, faculty sponsor, are:

Cost to advertisers and students buying space in La Ventana hasn't kept pace with production costs. La Ventana loses $53.81 for every organizational page.

The La Ventana has grown so big it is hard to bind, and the time limit is pressing for a May delivery.

There is difficulty in getting enough student help.

Men's Press Club Publishes Toreador

This Christmas edition of the TOREADOR has been sponsored and published as a project of the Tech Men's Journalism Club, which is petitioning for an undergraduate chapter of Sigma Delta Chi, Men's professional journalism fraternity. Copy editor for today's issue was James Hamm, regular Tuesday editor.

Officers of the newly-organized club are Billy Ellis, president; Bill Dean, vice president; Ben McCarty, secretary; Mitch Mayborn, quill correspondent and Tommy Schmidt, treasurer.

Circle K Campaign Reaches Deadline

"If anything done on our part will cause a small child to receive a toy for Christmas then we feel good," stated Bob Sewell, station manager of KTTC, Tech's radio station.

Student response to KTTC's marathon for the "Toys for Tots" campaign was "good, but there is still much to be desired."

HAVE YOU DONE your part for the "Toys" drive? Can you claim the comfortable feeling that comes from giving to someone who is less fortunate than you?

"Participation in the drive has picked up the last few days, but we could always use more toys, and the deadline is today," said Don Avery, Circle K chairman of the "Toys for Tots" campaign.

TOYS FILTERED in steadily during the hours that the tent set up by KTTC was located on the Circle.

Broadcasting during the marathon originated at the tent from 9 p.m. Tuesday until 1 a.m. this morning when KTTC ended its marathon.

AT THIS TIME the broadcasting equipment was moved back to KTTC's regular headquarters in the Speech Building.

Prior to the marathon, KTTC publicized the drive by broadcasting a "Toys for Tots" weather campaign.

Board Appoints Lewis Sponsor

Miss Quanah Lewis, Texas Tech English instructor, was chosen yesterday by the Varsity Show Advisory Board as sponsor of the Varsity Show which will take place in the spring.

Tomorrow afternoon a producer, director and business manager will be chosen. Script will be written as soon after Christmas as possible and tryouts will be conducted the first week in February.

Other faculty members will also attend rehearsals.

Members of the Advisory Board include Don Ledwig, business manager of the Student Council; Betty Byerly, Tech Union Program Council; Nelson Longley, Tech Union director and Bob Huff, Tech Union treasurer.

"LET'S SEE SOME Christmas Spirit!", Anne Stovall, KTTC sophomore disc jockey from Norman Okla., seems to be saying as she sets before the KTTC microphone. KTTC held a radio marathon from nine night before last until one this morning.

Wishing You a MERRY CHRISTMAS

Young Wins Alpha Tau Award

Malcolm P. Young has been awarded a $150 scholarship by the Board of Directors of Alpha Tau Omega National Foundation Fund at its meeting in Chicago last month.

Young is a senior industrial engineering major from Lubbock. To receive such an award is indeed an honor, according to Wiltoughby C. Williams, chief of Province 15 of Alpha Tau Omega.

Kappa Alpha Theta Presents Pledges

Between drapes of gold and white and before a background of solid gold lame Kappa Alpha Theta pledges were presented in the Union ballroom Saturday night.

Les Ready was master of ceremonies for the occasion, and music was provided by Harold Ralley and his orchestra.

Beneath white clouds of angel hair and circulating lights the pledges were presented by fathers, uncles or escorts.

Following the Presentation Dance, parents, members, pledges and their dates were served coffee at the Theta Lodge, 2316 Broadway.

Spring pledges and recently initiated members presented are Glenda Keith, Borger; Amanda Ward, Lubbock; Wanda Murray, Pampa; Helen Locke, Miami, Texas and Delores Battles, Dimmitt.

Fall pledges presented are Janice Aikman, Fort Worth; Cynthia Carroll, Gainesville; Jeanie Davidson, Amarillo; Elsa Dockray, Lubbock; Ann Fursman, Dallas; Nancy Hector, Coleman; Judy Hunt, Plainview; Carolyn Jenkins, Dallas and Carol McWilliams, Lubbock.

Gay Scoggin, Abernathy; Nan Scott, Waco; Ann Seleman, Amarillo; Judy Short, Gonzales; Marie Spiars, Midland; Sarah Lee Storey, Cotulla; Joanne Sweet, Houston; Susan Veltman, Houston; Suzie Wetsel, Wichita Falls and Barbara Wood, Dallas.

Around the Circle

by Carolyn Mimms

The days have been sunny and Christmas is just around the corner. That old Christmas spirit is even creeping into some students, but if it isn't Christmas they are anxious for, it is the vacation.

Yule time does bring an opportunity for parties though. With all the trees trimmed, organizations around the Circle are entertaining and celebrating the holidays.

Horn Hall residents will go caroling tonight and then be served refreshments afterwards. Also, Weeks Hall will celebrate with a Christmas party in its dining hall tonight.

Sneed Hall is planning a Christmas party dance from 7 to 8:30 p.m. today in its dining room. The affair is either stag or date and music will be by records. Refreshments will be served.

Gifts will be given by the dorm to its supervisor, dietitian, maids and other dorm workers. The Commode Bowl Award will also be presented to third east for winning a dorm football contest in which the wings competed against each other. Clark Hampton will accept the award for the wing. It is a traveling award.

A container of contributions to the Goodfellow Needy Children campaign will be available.

Committee chairmen for the party are Eddie Carpenter, in charge of dance arrangements; Kelly Mac Sears, record chairman; Joe Dorsey, gifts and Charles Terrell, program emcee.

Double T Assn. will have a Christmas party for Tech's athletes from 7 to 8:30 p.m. today in West Hall's lounge. Following the party, Double T members will carol for the women in Weeks Hall.

The Dairy Industry Club has scheduled a Christmas party from 6:30 to 8:30 p.m. in the Faculty Club lounge.

Alpha Phi Omega will celebrate its Founder's Day from 7 to 8:30 p.m. at Underwoods tonight. Following the banquet, they will install next semester's officers.

Alpha Phi Omega was founded Dec. 16, 1924, in eastern Pennsylvania at Lafayette College.

Officers to be installed are Charles Isbell, president; Bob Ford, first vice president; Ken Ballaw, second vice president; Larry Pinson, recording secretary; Tommy Sanders, treasurer; Pat Withers, corresponding secretary and Jim Doherty, chaplain.

Casa Linda will join in the festivities tomorrow from 6:30 to 10 p.m. with a caroling party for the women and their dates. Following the caroling trip they will have refreshments and games at Casa Linda.

Tech Vets will have Christmas party at the VFW.

In spite of the holiday regular activities are still going on. Kappa Kappa Gamma pledge officers have been selected to serve for December. They are Cheryl Allen, president; Marcia McNeill, activities; Karen Kuhlman, music and Sandra Stewart, secretary.

Donna Sue Christopher has been named Pi Beta Phi's "Best Pledge" for December. She is a freshman journalism major from Brownwood. The "Traveling" gold "Best Pledge" bracelet was presented to her at a chapter meeting.

Kappa Sigma fraternity has initiated a new member, Max Grimes. He is a senior marketing major from Coleman.

Last weekend, Kappa Sigma had a mixer with Kappa Kappa Gamma at which they entertained orphans from the Lubbock Children's Home. Santa Claus gave toys to the Children and a record dance followed at the Kappa Sig Lodge.

That winds it up for this year. Have a very merry Christmas and a profitable new year.

Humanities To Solve Problems Predicts Dr. William Pasewark

by RALPH W. CARPENTER

The black-haired man with handsome features raised his hand above his head in an emphatic gesture and said:

"From the long-range point of view it will probably be the humanities that eventually solve our world problems. Unfortunately we may be annihilated while contemplating the long-range point of view. So, it becomes necessary to concentrate on missiles. It takes longer to build men than to build missiles."

Those were the words of Dr. William R. Pasewark, young head of Tech's Business Education and Secretarial Administration Department, as he appraised world affairs.

Dr. Pasewark came to Tech two years ago after teaching four years at Michigan State University. He has taught at New York University, Pennsylvania State University and an all-girl college in North Carolina.

"I lasted only a year at the all-girl school," Pasewark smiled. When queried about Lubbock and Texas Tech the popular professor was quick to reply, "You know, Ralph, I am impressed by the wide streets, numerous churches and drive-in movies, mustard instead of catsup on hamburgers, superior service at super markets and the merchants' 'hurry back.' The businessmen in this town really hustle. That's good."

"At Tech the administration is understanding, the faculty congenial and the students receptive. All this makes for a good teaching atmosphere. I admire Tech's school spirit. Students here back a losing team better than some Big Ten schools support a winning team."

Since coming to Tech, Pasewark has been active in campus and civic affairs. He heads the inter-departmental Data Processing Committee that is investigating the application of electronic computer equipment and procedures at Tech.

His main sources of recreation are golf and travel. Several years ago he toured nine European countries as graduate work studying education, business and government.

"How do you compare college football in Texas to Big Ten play?" I asked.

"I'm no expert on football, but teams that I am acquainted with in the Big Ten seem to play the game in a more 'professional' manner. Of course they have been at it longer. From what I have been able to observe 'recruiting' in Texas is not as aggressive as in the Big Ten. One coach said that football games are often won in the recruiting season rather than the football season. This is unfortunate."

by DEANIE KILLION

Schools in Mexico were unsatisfactory, weather conditions at Canadian schools too cold, but Tech was just right for 16-year-old sophomore Rose Marie Hill. Home is San Francisco Del Oro, Chihuahua, Mexico, where she plans to spend Christmas. It is almost an established fact that she will not have a white Christmas, but this is enlightening because of her distinct dislike for cold weather.

This distaste for low temperature developed while attending school in Canada where winter sports are popular extracurricular activities. Miss Hill explains her Canadian born father wanted his daughter to experience skiing and ice-skating he had once enjoyed. Since there are only grade schools in her home in Mexico, she landed at Alma School at St. Thomas, Ontario, Canada. Here she stayed until completion of one year of college before coming to Tech for the warm weather and good educational program.

Even though Tech has lived up to her expectations, she is looking forward to returning home for Christmas. This is an occasion especially enjoyed by Miss Hill and is different in many ways from an American Christmas.

An "open house" Christmas may well be the title of festival occasion she experiences at that time. Their house is located in a small mining colony which is part of the town, Christmas day is "open house day" where visits are made into all the homes for refreshments. It is generally a known fact what time each family will have their open house.

Santa makes his appearance Christmas eve at an annual party, where all the colony attends.

Thoughts on Christmas

by DALE JOHNSON

Now is the time for everyone to have the supposed "Christmas Spirit."

Just what is this spirit and how do you get it? From a bottle? Well, spirits may come from a jug, but not the authentic Christmas kind.

DURING THE season people supposedly are kind to others, and this frequently is the case.

Characters otherwise of a fowl nature take on the appearance of saints, so to speak. People with uncouth manners take the opportunity to display their better side. Why should this type of behavior be limited to the last few weeks of December? Why not engage in such practices all through the year?

Make each day a time of joy and peace with kindness to others. Make each day a Christmas Day.

by BILLY ELLIS

This year, as the eyes of the world turn once again to the Star of Bethlehem, they are confronted with an unfamiliar, awe-inspiring competitor. It is the Red Russian star, in the form of USSR's earth satellite, Sputnik.

The "Star of Peace," though still shining forth with the enduring radiance it has possessed for almost 2,000 years, this Christmas will have to share its prominence with the ominous Russian Star.

THE RED STAR is the cause of much concern this Christmas, because it carries the boasts of the Communists for world dominance as it circles the globe. The Red star is a belligerent one—it would destroy the Star of Peace and shatter all it stands for.

But Americans need not panic at the sight of this newcomer to the heavenly realms. They need but to turn to the Star of Bethlehem for renewed hope, because the Star stands for One who came into a troubled world to give it peace and hope.

THE RED STAR is a human conception. It cannot hope to outshine one which has been a heavenly sign of everlasting peace. The Star of Peace is the only hope for a hectic world. As long as Americans continue to put faith in its wondrous rays, it will still be there to add its cheer, as Christmas time comes 'round each year.

HAZEL CASEY ADMIRES the door that won first prize in Horn Hall's best decorated door contest. The door is decorated with a representation of the Madonna and the Child. Barbara Bryant, creator of the door, received the first prize of $5. Cora Jo Lilly and Marjorie Royse won second place, $2.50. The best-decorated wing award was presented to Karen Noteware's wing. Prize was $7.50. Results of the contest were announced at the dorm Christmas party Tuesday night.

Lottie Moon Goal Set by Baptists

The members of the Baptist Student Union are striving to reach a goal of $2,585 for the Lottie Moon Christmas party.

Plans have been made for the Wesley Foundation Christmas party to be held Thursday night.

The Christian Science Organization will meet at a member's home Tuesday night to begin a caroling party.

Refreshments will be served when the group returns.

At 6:30 Thursday evening in their Student Center, the members of the Disciple Student Fellowship will be host to handicapped and retarded children. There is to be a Christmas party given in their honor.

The Newman Club will have a caroling party on Thursday, and all members are invited to attend. All the religious groups on campus have had a Christmas get-together. Most of the organizations lent time to caroling and Christmas services.

Cotton Maid Leaves New Year's Eve

New Year's eve will find Tech's Nan Kelly enroute to Memphis, Tenn., for the national Maid of Cotton contest.

Miss Kelly, pre-med sophomore from Lubbock, is currently finding time for fashion and good will tours on behalf of the cotton growing area for the South Plains. All this and classes and quizzes too.

She is minoring in music and lists Maria Callas as her favorite artists, but she admits that she enjoys rock and roll.

On weekends she sings with the "Keynotes", a Tech combo.

Undefeated Broncs to Buck Raiders

by MITCH MAYBORN

Still battling 1,000 after five grueling basketball games, Tech's Raiders come face to face with another unbeaten squad tomorrow night in the Coliseum.

THE SANTA CLARA cagers have won four. This will be the second meeting to the two schools. In 1954 at the National Collegiate playoff tournament in Corvallis, Oregon, the Broncs dropped the Raiders 73-64.

Coach of the Broncs, Bob Fee-riek has three starters returning from last year's team. The only common opponent of both Tech and Santa Clara is West Texas State. Tech slaughtered the Buffaloes 95-73 in a wild offensive game while the Santa Clara five won 58-46.

THE GAME TOMORROW will be Tech's last home appearance before they head off to the Southwest Conference preseason tournament in Houston Dec. 26-28. Tech's first game is against SMU, the defending SWC champion, at 2 p.m. Dec. 26.

With four wins under their belt, the Broncs will be looking for blood. Both Tech and Santa Clara were considered to be at least one year away from being contending clubs. Each has but one senior. Tech has five juniors and eight sophomores, while Santa Clara has seven juniors and six sophomores.

COACH POLK ROBISON warns that the Raiders' early victories do not mean that his team is a year ahead of the schedule and are top contenders. "In nearly every instance," he points out, "we caught the opposing team below its best. Just the same, I'm proud of my boys. They're playing good basketball, but not quite so well as some of the Southwest Conference teams who have been meeting tougher competition."

However when the Tech squad dropped a strong Georgia Tech team, the value of their stock went up.

Gene Arrington, 6-4, sophomore from Palo Duro High School earned a starting berth for the 79-72 win over Louisiana State. He has now made 29 points for an average of 5.8 points per game.

A SIZZLING 27 points against LSU pulled Gerald Myers total up to 78 points. Myers is second high in scoring total with 156 points per game average.

Still leader in the Tech scoring department is Pod Hill. Hill had a cold night against LSU but retained his lead with a total of 91 points scored in five games. This is an average of 18.2 points per game.

WADE WOLFE and Charlie Lynch are two more of Tech's high scoring men. Wolf has hit for a total of 58 points or 11.6 per game while Lynch is but three points behind. Lynch has put away 53 points for a 11.0 average per game.

Chuck Key has scored a total of 32 points, Pat Noakes has 27. Noakes, working the backboard against LSU, put away 16 rebounds. Dale McKeehan has scored 19 points. The Tech team as a whole has tallied up 402 points to their opponents 313.

WITH LITTLE, IF ANY, rest for the weary, the Raiders will open their 1958 season with a Jan. 4 game against Rice in Houston. Rice is a big favorite to win the Southwest Conference this year.

Close on the heels of the Rice game, but at nomet this time, the Tech cagers take on TCU and then SMU three days later, Jan. 7 marks the TCU date and SMU is played the 10th.

A SCHEDULE for the rest of the year, after the SMU game, starts off with Arkansas at Fayetteville on Jan. 13. A few days off for rest and exams and play is resumed the 25th when Baylor is played here.

Texas A&M at College Station on Feb. 1. Texas University at Austin Feb. 8. Baylor at Waco Feb. 11. Then two home games when on Feb. 15 the Raiders play Arkansas, and Feb. 18 when Texas comes to Lubbock.

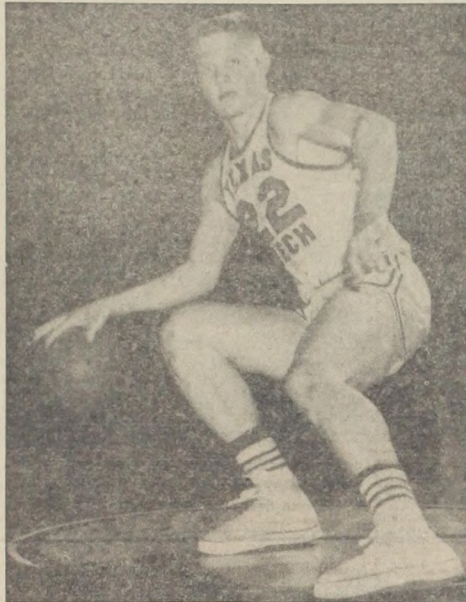

Feb. 22, play goes to Dallas and SMU. Feb. 25, Texas A&M at Lubbock. TCU in Fort Worth Mar. 1. Last game of the season is against the Rice Owls on Mar. 4 in Lubbock.

It is expected that there will be plenty of seats for the game. Students without Saturday classes will probably leave for the holidays Friday in order to take full advantage of the short holidays.

The game will be at 8 p.m. Friday. Prices are $2 for reserved seats and $1.50 for general admission.

OUTLOOK

by BILL DEAN
 Ah yes, it's that festive time again — holly, mistletoe and hour exams. And with it all you sit back and review what has transpired in the past 365.

Early in 1957 the Raider cagers of Folk Robison opened Lubbock's Municipal Coliseum and while they didn't tear the roof off percentage-wise they did win more than they lost, including that famous upset of SMU.

THE FRESHMEN basketball squad gave promise of great things to come with a fine, almost perfect year.

In baseball, again the varsity won more than they lost and the freshmen gave Beattie Feathers hope for the future with an undefeated year.

The freshman track squad, the only one that operated last spring, participated in SWC freshman competition and finished second in the spring meet to the Texas frosh. Again, the performances of this squad gave Delmer Brown cause for joy.

TENNIS, UNDER George Philbrick, began to pick up with some wins against SWC competition. Golf was stronger with Warren Cantrell's boys proving to be rough competitors and the fencing team won the Southwestern United States Championship.

Swimming, with Ray Kirelis, showed improvement and with the addition of a new pool and some promising freshmen things are looking up there also.

IT WAS A GOOD spring — but oh the fall. Enough said.

May 1958 bring more victories, more improvements and less headaches.

POLK ROBISON'S RAIDERS have just completed a most important road trip with two wins and no losses to remain undefeated.

Against Georgia Tech the Raiders proved that they can come back to win and against LSU they demonstrated that they can hang on to a lead when the going gets tough.

As both games were on foreign courts the Raiders had to overcome the advantage of the home court, crowd, officials, etc. This they did in fine style.

BEFORE CLOSING I want to ruin my average for all time with predictions for New Year's Day. So, let's go bowling!

Orange Bowl: Oklahoma over Duke — Oldahoma, OK

Gator Bowl: Texas A&M over Tennessee — Bear's last blowout

Sugar Bowl: Texas over Mississippi — "Darrell's Dandies" hang on to the rebels — well burn my black peas, huh!

Cotton Bowl: Rice over Navy — an outsider might think I was prejudiced.

Rose Bowl: Ohio State over Oregon — the worst slaughter since Waterloo!

Frosh, Mountaineers Feud Set

Having won four out of four for a perfect 1957 cage season, Tech's Picadors will take on the Schreiner Institute Mountaineers Friday at 6 p.m. just prior to the varsity game.

COACH OF THE Schreiner Mountaineers is Verdell Turner, ex-Raider cage star and teammate of the Picador mentor Gene Gibson.

Gibson's freshmen are still undefeated, having added the hide of the West Texas State Calves to their belts. They won 66-56 in a hard fought game. Immediately after that victory the Raiders dropped the Buffaloes of West Texas State 95-73.

IN ADDITION to the calves, the Picadors have downed the Clarendon College five and the Ince Oilers.

Former South Plains and Panhandle basketball stand-outs will be in the lineup for Schreiner Institute in the game with the freshmen.

REPRESENTED are Lubbock

by Dale Glaze, Rails by George Pierot, Pampa by Carroll Cole and Big Spring by Charles Johnson. Coach of the Mountaineers, Verdell Turner, played high school ball for Lubbock before starring for Texas Tech's Red Raiders.

Plenty of seats are expected to be available to the general public, since Tech students without Saturday classes probably will have left Friday afternoon for the Christmas holidays.

CHAMPIONS OF TENNIS and handball. Left to right are: Maurice Williams, second in the intramural tennis program; Bill Pfluger, winner of the tennis tournament; Woody Kelley was second in intramural handball and Ken Anglin was first. The trophies were presented by W. C. Cole of the Tech Bookstore. (Staff Photo)

Ski Club Issues Call for Members

Persons interested in joining the Texas Tech Ski Club should contact Udo Strasilla in the game room of the Rec Hall today or Friday between 5:30 and 10 p.m.

Membership in the club will allow students to take advantage of reduced rates for ski equipment at ski areas during the Christmas holidays according to Bob Dyer, Ski Club president.

Also slated for members of the club is the annual ski festival to be held between semesters.

Cost of membership is $2 and the initiative fee includes the club's official card and sleeve patch.

Fencing Tourney

An intramural fencing tournament will be held in January. Primarily for students in the fencing classes, it will be open to former fencing students. Entries are due at the Intramural office by Tuesday, Jan. 7.
