They Call Us Poor Risks . . .

They call us poor risks! Traffic experts, police commissioners, insurance underwriters—in fact, everyone whose job is SAFETY says that college students are terrible automobile drivers.

Are we? Are Techs, as a representative cross-section of the college group, bad or indifferent drivers? The experts say that we are poor risks because last year 32,300 men, women, and children were killed by motor vehicles in the United States, and drivers between the ages of 18 and 24 were involved in 27 per cent of these fatal accidents.

And that's just part of the story. Our records as drivers have been so consistently bad that more than 40 states have raised the premium that insurance companies are allowed to charge for automobile coverage if a person under 25 is operator of the insured car.

That's why they call us poor risks.

We think it is a challenge—a collective challenge that each Techsman must meet individually. The holiday season is just around the corner. Many Tech students will be driving home for Christmas. Others will drive family cars during the vacation. Individually we must drive carefully because only in that way can we prevent accidents. And only by avoiding accidents can we get rid of the label each of us, whether deserved or not, wears when driving.

Remember these words as you start driving home this Christmas: "It's your presence and not your presents, the folks at home most enjoy."

Good Hunting Grounds? . . .

Have you been approached by a salesman lately? Not more than two months ago a majority of Tech students probably could have answered this question in the affirmative.

Swarming like bees over the campus at the end of the past school year and at the beginning of this semester, salesmen and saleswomen usually approached a student with the "we are making a survey" routine which eventually led to sales promotion of practically every known periodical.

An alert school administration, along with several student organizations have attempted to stamp out Tech as good hunting grounds for salesmen, but occasionally the "we are making a survey" people still appear in the various campus buildings.

We don't suggest that every Tech student should be a sleuth, but each Techsman should concern himself enough to pleasantly ask them to solicit off the campus.

This is not, we believe, an unjust attitude. Several unsuspecting students who subscribed for magazines months ago are still awaiting the first issue. If such sales must occur at Tech, why not let a worthwhile campus organization sponsor subscriptions? Better still, why not let the campus remain "limited" to a place of learning and of school activities?

El Toro Grande

By ORLIN BREWER

The editor of this paper has from various sources received criticism for being what was called an "ultra-conservative." Admittedly we have been reluctant to lash forth with stinging criticism of various campus policies because we thought the action would do more harm than good . . .

Quite to the contrary, however, the Saturday guest column was created in order that The Toreador might present a viewpoint much broader than possible with only the editor giving opinions garnered by limited contact with friends and students.

We try to choose guest columnist who will have something constructive to offer the student body. It is inevitable that the guest shall differ at times with Toreador policy on what should be printed. When this difference does occur, however, The Toreador feels compelled, in most instances, to print whatever the current writer has to offer. To present his views as the declared purpose of the guest series in the first place. No, we do not like to be classed either as conservative or ultra-conservative. We have adopted a policy which we prefer to call "Controlled Progressivism". Generally this means giving recognition to those we think have done a good job. It means an occasional question of "Why?" to others. It does NOT mean a continuous whacking away at policies or persons with which we do not agree.

Joe Kelley, Sports editor of A-J, in his Sunday column expressed a basic view which we have held for some time. . . Just why keep trying to get in the Southwest conference?

It seems to us that one of the main purposes of a football team is to focus attention of potential students and the public in general on the school it represents. Besides presenting a recreational drawing card for local fans, it is the job of any team or coach to sell the school to as many people in as wide an area as possible.

With this in mind for the past twenty years or so, Tech has been trying to gain admittance to the Southwest conference, fully realizing it would up the prestige of the school a great deal.

We are not suggesting that Tech in its annual games with SWC schools, now that it has been denied a berth in the circuit, but we would like to see a definite improvement in the scheduling of the

Dear Pot,
What is the sweetest music,
The most heavenly you can hear?
The laughter of a baby
Or singing of a bud?
The sweetest music, girlie
Isn't sung by Frank or Bing—
It's when you fear a stand-up
And hear the doorbell ring.

Blessed are the pure, for they shall inherit the earth.

SPORTS GRAPEVINE

Tech tried it again and failed again. This has been the same story for 21 years during which Tech has applied for admission to the Southwest conference six times. Seems to us that the officials of Tech and those interested would sooner or later get the idea. The SWC wants no part of Tech in the conference. Why should Tech bow its head every three years and humbly beg the powers that be in the SWC, to gain admittance, when Tech is not given enough thought by the powers to even be given a fair vote. A secret vote is all right in politics but in athletics—could it be one and the same in the SWC? We are not only angry with SWC officials but we will be at Tech officials if they wait for the SWC. Plans should be made for something else. It is entirely possible for a new conference to be formed including far better teams than are in the Border conference. Tech's average attendance this year was slightly over 14,000. Let us play Tulsa, Oklahoma A&M and Oklahoma university and watch the attendance grow. This idea is no pipe dream; it could be done and fairly easily, too.

If not, why not try free lancing for awhile. We didn't do so bad in the thirties. It would definitely be better to play well-known teams from the North and East than to compete with outclassed Border conference teams that can't fill a brand new stadium.

Two things are sure. We don't agree with the people who are content to wait three years for another try at the SWC. We don't think that a school with Tech's enrollment and gridiron possibilities should be hidden in a minor con-

Raider Quint Meets Tempe Friday Night

By JERRY HENDERSON
Toreador Sports Writer

Tech's Red Raiders will meet their second Border conference team Friday night at 8 p. m., when they tangle with Tempe.

Tempe has a veteran team and is expected to give Tech a battle as well as show up well in the conference. The Tempe team has a new coach, Bill Kajikawa, who was elevated from assistant coach this year. Kajikawa, a Japanese, was one of the greatest athletes of Phoenix high school.

This will be the sixth game of the season for the Raiders, who have gone against McMurray, SMU twice, Rice, and Flagstaff. So far Jiggs Jackson has stood out as the principle offensive star of the Raiders. He should be at his best Friday against the deep defense of the Tempe team. The fast-charging Ardis Barton has been playing his usual brand of ball along with Gene Gibson, Wimpy Hill and Don Grove. Grove has seen action most of the previous games except with Rice when Bill Banks played center most of the time to compete with the short, fast Rice center that was used supposedly to break away from Grove.

The Raider team has shown up well for the most part, although all of the rough spots have not been worked out. How the team will fare in the Border conference may be shown tonight.

Techsan Wins In Tenth Pro Fight

Bill Henderson, in his first appearance since his return from fistie circles in the East, TKO'ed Tony Olivas in the third round of a six-rounder Friday night in El Paso.

Henderson's timing was off and his punches were falling short in the first two rounds but in the third round he came back to send Olivas to the canvas three times before the referee stopped the fight.

The bout in El Paso was Henderson's tenth fight in the professional ranks, eight of which were in the East and one on the Jaycee fight card in Lubbock in the summer. Olivas appeared in the main event on the same card against Jose Andres.

Henderson weighed in at 126 and Olivas with a one pound advantage at 127.

ference, Tech officials should look ahead for once and do something constructive for the school outside of participating in wishful thinking.—Jerry Henderson.

Tech Places Six Players On All-Border Conference Squad

Texas Tech placed more men than anyone else on the All-Border conference football team according to an official release from the office of Dr. Emil Larsen, Border Conference commissioner.

The Red Raiders, who remained unbeaten for the second straight year in conference play, had three men named to the first string and three men on the second string. Next in line was fifth place Hardin-Simmons with five men on the mythical elevens. The University of Arizona had four players on the 25 man honor roll. Texas Mines and New Mexico each had three men on the squad and West Texas State had two. Tempe and Flagstaff had one man each named. Only New Mexico A&M failed to land a man on the squad.

Bill Kelley, Dan Pursel and Marshall Gettys, all linemen were the three Raiders on the first team. Kelley, an end, and Pursel, a guard, were mentioned on the Associated Press honor roll two weeks ago. Gettys, a tackle, was a sparkplug in the light Tech line all season. Ernest Hawkins, a back, John Andrews, a tackle, and Dorrell McCurry, a guard, were the three Techsans on the second string.

The complete teams:

- First Team
- End—Robert McChesney—H-SU
 - End—Bill Kelley—Texas Tech
 - TKI—Raymond Evans—Texas Mines

Spanish, French And German Clubs Give Tri-Lingual Christmas Program

Members of Sigma Delta Pi, honorary Spanish fraternity, French, Spanish and German clubs will present a Christmas program in the language of the native country at 8 p.m. tomorrow in Ad-202, consisting of plays, pantomimes and carols, sponsors of the organizations have announced.

The French club, Le Cercle Français, will present first "Haut Les Mains", a mystery which takes place in Paris on Christmas eve in the home of M. Sigismund Upstart, a wealthy manufacturer who made his money by making musical sardine boxes. Upstart's part is played by Robert Feynn. Other members of the play include Jerry Wilson, Irma Ratliff, John Norcross, Frances Evans, Mary Ann Goddard, Myrl Padfield, James Block, Billy Bufkin, Jack Wilson, Jack Sloan, Tommy Bond and Richard Stuart. Following the play a group will sing a French carol, "Cantique de Noel".

The Spanish club, Capa y Espada, and Sigma Delta Pi will present "Alicia", a short comedy dealing with the prudence of Alicia and her marriage to Juan, a world traveler. Characters in this play include Guierlmo Pearea as Padre, Socoro Rangel as Madre, Senora Sally Augierre de Witte as Alicia, Guido Rodriguez as Juan and Levora Manning as the maid. An English synopsis will be given by Billy Bufkin, vice president of Capa y Espada. "Noche de Paz" will be sung in the play by members of the cast.

Following the Spanish play the German club, Liederkranz, will present a pantomime entitled "Twas The Night Before Christmas". The principals are Dick Roark as Santa Claus, Ralph Fellbaum as the father, Molly Ogg as the mother, R. H. Condron as the little boy and Jo Frances Neal as the little girl. James Block will be the narrator and Martha Pace will provide sound effects. The program will close with the singing of "Stille Nacht" and "Morgen Kommt Der Weihnachtsman" by the members of the German pantomime.

Student Center Activities

Activities for the week at the Methodist Student center include a forum, a sub-district meeting and a caroling party, Rev. Cecil Matthews, director of the center said Monday.

At 7:15 tonight a panel forum will be held in the center. The subject will be "Festival of Lights". The young people of the Lubbock sub-district will meet in a regular monthly meeting at 8 p.m. Thursday in the center, Rev. Matthews said.

The St. John's college group will have a carol singing Sunday. They will meet at the center at 7:30 p.m., carol at various locations in the city and return to the center for a program and refreshments.

RODEO ASSOC. WILL SPONSOR SPORTS DANCE FRIDAY

A sport dance sponsored by members of the Tech Rodeo Association will be from 9 to 12 p.m. Friday at the Larrymore studio, Helen Calcote, secretary, stated Monday.

Special guests will be Archie Leonard, associate professor of agricultural economics, W. T. Miller, assistant dean of agriculture, Dr. F. G. Harbaugh, professor in animal husbandry, and Mrs. Harbaugh.

Recreation Hall To Have Christmas Party Friday

Christmas games will be featured at the Recreation hall's party from 8 to 10 o'clock Friday night, stated Troy A. Enis, Recreation hall director.

Following the games, students will sing Christmas carols and dance to music provided by the nickelodeon. Cookies and punch will be served.

Enis emphasized that stags are invited to attend and that no admission will be charged.

Seasonal decorations were placed in the Recreation hall this week. A Christmas tree, wreaths, and greenery tied with red bows are being used to carry out the holiday theme.

Christmas Party Honors DFD Members, Pledges

DFD members and pledges will be given a Christmas party tonight from 8:30 to 9:30 o'clock in the Navajo room of the Hilton hotel. Mary Jane Hinchey, president of the club, has announced. Hostesses for the party will be Misses Ina Bacon and Akte Rogers, club patronesses.

Gifts will be exchanged and a Christmas program will be presented by the pledges. A Christmas tree will decorate the room.

Las Chaps To Have Annual Christmas Party Tonight

Active members and pledges of Las Chaparritas will have their annual Christmas party beginning at 7:00 p.m. tonight at 2109 Seventeenth street in the home of Mrs. R. S. Rodgers Sr.

Entertainment rooms will be decorated in a yuletide theme. Gifts will be exchanged, and each pledge group will present an original club song. Refreshments will be served after the program.

Drane Hall To Hold Open House Sun.

Drane hall will hold open house from 3 to 5 p.m. Sunday, Nadyne Brewer, chairman of the open house committee, said Monday.

Hostesses will accompany guests through the dormitory, where rooms and halls will be open to visitors, Miss Brewer said. The lounge will be decorated with a Christmas theme and a musical program will be presented.

Special invitations have been sent to Pres and Mrs. D. M. Wiggins, Vice Pres and Mrs. E. N. Jones, Messrs. and Mesdames William T. Gaston and W. P. Clement, all college clubs; departmental deans; Dr. Embree Rose, college physician, and staff of the college infirmary.

Wranglers Hold Annual Christmas Dance Friday

Wranglers, men's social club, will entertain members, pledges and dates at its annual Christmas semi-formal dance Friday night from 9 to 12 o'clock at the Lubbock hotel. This was announced Monday by Gene Greathouse, president of the club.

Decorations will carry out a Christmas theme.

Music for the dance will be furnished by Lloyd Jenkins and his orchestra.

MEN'S DORM TO HAVE DANCE

Men's Dormitory IV will hold a Christmas sport dance from 8:30 to 11:30 p.m. Friday, H. E. Mizell, social director of the dorm, said Monday. David Clinton, social chairman of the dorm and various committees are planning the dance.

Burl Hubbard's orchestra will furnish the music for the dance, Mizell said.

Kappa Kappa Psi To Have Annual Christmas Dance

Members of the Tech band and their dates are to be honored at the annual Christmas dance from 8 to 11:30 p.m. at the band hall Dec. 18. The dance is sponsored by the Kappa Kappa Psi, honorary band fraternity, stated Wayne McDonald, president.

Yuletide theme will be featured in decorations, including a tree and Santa Claus.

Chaperones will be D. O. Wiley, professor and director of band, Mrs. Wiley, Joe Haddon, assistant band professor, and Mrs. Haddon.
